House Holds McDonald Guilty Unbecoming Acts

IMPEACHMENT OF OFFICIAL IS SAID NOT WARRANTED

Department Head of Agriculture Is Censured DENIES CHARGE McDonald Says He Should Receive Exoneration

AMSTON, Nov. 22. (P)—The House of Representatives today held J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, to be guilty of unbecoming acts in a private airplane, but not warranting of impeachment. Sitting as a committee of the whole, the house adopted, 73 to 59, a resolution that in effect censured McDonald for certain official conduct, but stopped impeachment proceedings on the charges. "I have done no wrong," McDonald said. "Every cent of the money is accounted for. I feel that I was entitled to a complete exoneration."

RYAN PRINCIPAL SPEAKER AT PTA SCHOOL MEETING

Bright's Disease Is Called Cause of Many Deaths

In speaking to the South Ward P. T. A. yesterday afternoon Dr. W. E. Ryan named Bright's Disease as the 4th greatest cause of death in the United States, and as his chief partner in crime he indicted recurrent tonsillitis. He also pointed out that most cases could be prevented if every person would do the rational thing and go to their physician at least once a year for a thorough physical examination. "Bright's Disease is a term that includes several kidney diseases," said Dr. Ryan as a prelude to his talk. "This general term has been used since about 1750 when an English doctor named Bright wrote an historical paper describing the disease." Describing it as a secondary thing following some other more or less serious illness, he named, in addition to recurrent tonsillitis, as causes of kidney diseases, acute contagious diseases of childhood, bad teeth and acute exposure to cold. He pointed out that scarlet fever, particularly in the case of young girls, may leave a damaged kidney that later in life will be unable to carry out its function of removing poisons and excess proteins from the blood stream. "Our chief reason for discussing this subject," said Dr. Ryan, "is to learn what may be done about it. We are fortunate in that there is a cure for kidney disease, and still more fortunate in that it may be prevented altogether. However, many patients who come to the doctor's attention have waited until the disease has advanced too greatly for cure." He explained that there are certain tests by which the doctor may discover the earliest signs of kidney disease, and if the patient will follow a simple outline of diet and treatment further development may be prevented. However, the patient who waits until the disease is in an advanced stage before seeking the doctor's advice may do so at cost of much suffering and great expense.

Officers to Dine At Baptist Annex

Officers and teachers of the Baptist Sunday school will be guests at a banquet at the church annex this evening at 7:30 o'clock. An informal program featuring amusement numbers and an inspirational address is being arranged under direction of Claude O. Crane. About 60 people are expected to attend, church officials said.

WOMEN HEAR MRS. BEALL ADDRESS AT COURT HOUSE

Centennial Programs Suggested by Official

Making practical suggestions for Texas Centennial programs, Mrs. Elitha Hamilton Beall, head of the schools and clubs division of the Centennial, spoke to a group of 35 women at the courthouse Thursday afternoon. It was Mrs. Beall's second address of the day as she had previously spoken to the joint luncheon of Lions and Rotary clubs, club women, and various officials at noon in the Hotel Scharbauer. "There is glamor in West Texas," she declared in urging that West Texas be not discouraged in its Centennial observance because it lacks the battlefields and other historical locations and structures which abound in some other portions of the state. Because it does lack these features, she believes West Texas should capitalize on the personalities which were and still are found here. Beautification projects, programs which stress local history and school programs were three chief suggestions made for patriotic activities in honor of Texas' hundredth birthday. The latter included the creation of a "Centennial bookshelf" instruction in use of the Texas flag and the flying of it by every school, and participation in the essay contest which offers $1500 in cash prizes to school children for essays restricted to county subjects. No appropriation will be received and no obligation assumed if a town is designated as a Centennial celebration point it was said. The Centennial organization will, however, publicize the celebration. To the state Centennial publicity committee of which Mrs. Beall is a member has been allotted half a million dollars to publicize Texas throughout the world. The speaker explained briefly something of the organization of the Centennial set-up and the enthusiasm shown by those working on the project. The Centennial, she said, she believes will be just as vast as it was originally conceived to be. Mrs. Foster Proctor, chairman of the local and district Centennial organizations, said in regard to Mrs. Beall's visit: "I want to thank every individual and every organization in Midland or Midland county who in any way contributed to make the luncheon and the afternoon meeting for Mrs. Elitha Hamilton Beall a success. I especially want to thank Mr. Phillips of the Scharbauer Coffee Shop for the lovely turkey dinner he served us. "I think the Federated club has started an idea that will really place Midland far in the lead as a place of celebration in honor of the one hundredth birthday of Texas in 1936."

FORT WORTH, Nov. 21. (P)—In a majority opinion of the second court of civil appeals today it was held that the state cannot collect taxes on packages of cigarettes shipped into Texas in interstate commerce, and cannot impose a tax on the purchaser for his consumption of them. The ruling was a victory for Glenn Musser, who sought to prevent the state comptroller and his agents from interfering with Musser's business of taking orders from Texas smokers and shipping from warehouses in Oklahoma to fill orders.

PRISON BOARD MOVE STOPPED

Injunction Restraining Move Of Pardon, Parole Board Is Granted Thursday

AMSTON, Nov. 22.—District Judge W. F. Robertson Thursday granted a temporary injunction restraining removal of the Board of Pardons and Paroles from Amston to Huntsville. The injunction was granted after the legislature passed a law changing the board's headquarters. W. R. Smith, Austin taxpayer, sought the injunction on allegations the proposed removal was contrary to the requirements that the seat of government be maintained in Amston. He also sought an injunction to prevent the board from moving to an additional $16,000 annually to maintain the board in Huntsville. Attorney General William McCray filed a counter action to force removal. No date was set for hearing on a motion for a permanent injunction.

ROGERS DAY RACE. DRAWS THOUSANDS

Friends From All Over State Attend Memorial Show For Humorist

ARLINGTON, Nov. 22. (Sp.)—Thousands of friends of Will Rogers poured into Arlington Downs Thursday afternoon to attend the one-day Memorial Race for the Humorist. The race, which was held at the Downs in a swirl of color and pageantry. Many of the cars, moving in an endless stream of double file, along the Fort Worth-Dallas Pike, were from dozens of West Texas cities, bearing citizens anxious to have a share in the tribute to the humorist. A great American, and Fort Worth, too, responded with a great outpouring. Sunny skies gave assurance of an ideal background for the eight attractive races which drew debutantes, social, business and professional leaders of this section of Texas to the magnificent plant of Guy and Paul Waggoner, who are paying all expenses of the day's meet. Full proceeds of the ticket sale will go to the fund to perpetuate "Rogers, humorist-philosopher and lover of fine horses." Debating the winning horse in each of the races with ribbons and flowers. Post time for the first race was advanced from 2 to 1:45 o'clock. At noon the city hall and the courthouse closed and numerous stores operated with skeleton forces, so that the attendees at the memorial meet might be swelled. Box holders included many social leaders of this section and the occasion was in the nature of an outdoor fashion review.

Secretary Ickes Calls Upon Oil Companies Not to Sell To Ethiopia and Italians

U.S. Without Power to End Shipments to Belligerents

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. (P)—Secretary Ickes called on the oil industry Thursday to obey the "letter and spirit" of President Roosevelt's neutrality proclamation by halting shipments to warring Italy and Ethiopia. Acknowledging that he had no authority to restrain shipments of petroleum and its products, the oil administrator expressed a belief that loss of this export trade would not force prices downward. The price of crude petroleum has remained around $1 a barrel, the figure prevailing before the supreme court NEA decision wiped out federal authority to control production. A commerce department report showed coincidentally that oil exports were slightly smaller in October than in September. It listed exports of crude petroleum in September at 4,971 barrels compared with 4,810 in October. Shipments of refined mineral oils were 7,097 and 5,101 barrels respectively, gasoline 2,678 and 2,195, lubricating oil 691 and 632. For the first 10 months, however, 1935 showed increases in all classifications over 1934. The bureau of mines' estimate of December demand, which formerly constituted production "allowables" but is now only advisory, put daily average crude oil production at 2,540,000 barrels, a decline from November but a 10 per cent increase over a year ago. "Exports in September, 1935," the bureau said, "were higher than in August, 1935, indicating that the stimulation in this trade due to the war scares and other factors outweighs the usual seasonal decline. The estimates of exports of gasoline, including natural gasoline, for December, 1935, has accordingly been raised again this time to 2,400,000 barrels, from 2,310,000 barrels in November."

The predicted export demand compared with 32,750,000 barrels of gasoline for domestic consumption. But it was emphasized that oil is one of the chief commodities shut off by application of league of nations sanctions against Italy. Ickes' statement that American oil industries "ought to cooperate both in the letter and spirit with efforts of the government to prevent furnishing war materials to either of the belligerents followed several statements by President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull, aimed at discouraging such American exports. The articles covered by the mandatory embargo on exports to either Italy or Ethiopia are strictly "implements of war." The president recently said he had advised a prominent shoe manufacturer not to accept an Italian order.

SPEECH BY ICKES CAUSES U.S. TO BE PUT IN JEOPARDY

Oil Companies Asked To Stop Their Shipments SEYOUM LOSES Ethiopian Leader Is Again Defeated In Battle

By Associated Press. Italy today viewed with suspicion, and threatened reprisals, for the action of Secretary Ickes in asking American oil companies to withhold shipments to Italy. The Italians said that the action brings America close to the ranks of "sanctionist" nations. Meanwhile, the United States is keeping a close watch on exports to the belligerents. The first real fighting "on any scale" was reported in the Adis Ababa in the Womberta region November 12th. The Italian losses were placed at 300, the Ethiopian losses were not given. Ras Seyoum, beaten off at Aharo pass yesterday, circled and attacked an Italian rear guard today but was repulsed after a hot skirmish. EAGER FOR DICTATOR? JUST LOOK AT EUROPE

When the going gets really tough and the tax collector stalks abroad in the land like an advance agent of the seven plagues, the honest American is apt to get his cronies off in a corner and remark, soulfully: "What this country needs is a dictator."

Much of the willingness to say this, no doubt, comes from the fact that we have never yet had one. Certainly the things that have been happening to those lands which do have dictators do not make the best of testimonials.

John T. Flynn, widely known economist and publicist, pointed out recently that the two European nations which are having the most trouble these days are the two which have gone farthest with this dictator idea.

There's Italy, for instance. Mussolini, as everybody knows, made the trains run on time; but like so many other wonder-workers, he did it with borrowed money, and his present actions have a remarkable likeness to the antics of a man who is striving desperately to keep one jump ahead of the sheriff.

Italy's war in Ethiopia is a war of desperation. The country's economic position has been getting steadily worse for years. The budget is so far out of balance that it makes our own look like an exercise in frugal finance drawn up by an old-fashioned banker for the instruction of the young.

Win, lose, or draw, the Italian nation can expect to get nothing out of its Ethiopian venture but more grief.

In Germany the condition is little better. Unemployment is still going up, retail prices are painfully high, and only a spurt of orders for war materials keeps the bottom from falling away down to the realm of the departed.

As in Italy, the desperation born of a tightening economic crisis is leading people to look on war as the only hope of salvation—and when a nation begins thinking that way it is almost time to notify a few close friends and prepare for a simple but impressive service at home.

Now all this worth thinking about twice.

A dictatorship is the sort of thing that is resorted to as a last hope. It comes when people feel that their situation is so bad that it couldn't possibly be any worse.

And here we have the two leading examples of dictatorship, proving that that idea is utterly cock-eyed—that the one sure way to make a bad situation worse is to hand everything over to one man and tell him to shoot the works.

In bad times we may say that we need a dictator. It is not hard to imagine oppressed citizens of Italy and Germany getting off in a corner and saying, furtively: "What this country needs is a republic."

FOR WANT OF A CAUSE

A new all-time low in something or other seems to have been set by the attempt to have Gov. Clyde L. Herring of Iowa arrested for betting a pig on the Iowa-Minnesota football game.

Governor Herring made his bet with Gov. Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota, and when his team lost he paid like a man, personally conducting a bewildered porker to the office of the Minnesota governor. And then some busy-body back in Iowa sought to prosecute him for gambling!

It is not, perhaps, wholly dignified for the chief executive of a great state to make a bet on a football game. Maybe it can be argued that a governor has weightier matters to think about than a football game.

But this attempt to prosecute the man, as if he had opened a bookie joint and was accepting wagers from all corners, is one of the silliest stunts of the year.

STORIES IN STAMPS

THE French language, laws, and customs prevail on the mountainous island of Mauritius that lies some distance east of Madagascar in the Indian Ocean. But Great Britain has owned this bleak spot since 1814, and now is considering its use as a naval base.

Discovered in 1507 by the Portuguese, the island was left uninhabited until the Dutch came along in 1598. They named it Mauritius, after Count Maurice of Nassau. But they left in 1710, after several failures to colonize.

Soon the French took over the island, imported thousands of Africans, and introduced sugar planting. They changed the name to Ile de France, but the British restored the former name when they took control. Today, Port Louis, principal city, is a melting pot of French, English, Indians, Africans, Chinese, Malays, and others.

Mauritius was one of the earliest countries to issue postage stamps. The first stamp was marked "Post Office," instead of "Post Paid," in error, and is worth several thousand dollars, as a result. The stamp shown here pictures the island's coat of arms and is quite common.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By JULIAN CAPERS, JR.

AUSTIN.—Massed in the east gallery of the house of representatives, lobbying brains that are paid perhaps $250,000 a year and expenses to influence Texas lawmakers, smirked at each other last Thursday night, as they watched the hands of the big house clock move ponderously to the midnight adjournment hour. Throughout the evening, they watched the house anti-sales tax majority, snarled in a parliamentary tangle, struggle futilely to extricate the revenue bill from a hopeless conference deadlock. Speaker Coke Stevenson ruled that nothing could be done about the dying tax bill unless the conference committee reported formally a deadlock, so a new committee could be named that would bring in a tax bill without a sales tax, as the house had instructed its conferees.

The lobbyists cheered as they heard this ruling, they cheered as they heard Bob Calvert, Hillsboro legislator, regarded as an administration spokesman, who has always opposed the sales tax, waver and offer a resolution instructing the conference committee to take a "reasonable sales tax on luxuries." They cheered again as Calvert's resolution went down to defeat, but by a narrow margin of only eight votes. They had cheered previously, when Walter Woodul, lieutenant governor, broke a tie vote in the senate, and put the sales tax into the revenue bill. These developments marked the denouement of the lobbyists' plan, of offering the house the alternative of accepting a sales tax or passing no tax bill at all. The house took no tax bill. The governor announced another special session for January to raise revenue. The lobbyists immediately began making plans for their biggest push in January. Opponents of the sales tax began making plans to force thru an income tax along with the sales tax. They recognized that Texas will have a sales tax next year, unless a miracle happens and the people turn loose tremendous pressure on the legislators in the next 60 days. They do not believe that will happen, because the people are unorganized and the sales tax lobby is highly organized.

The house, which changes its mind oftener than the most fickle woman, will indulge its mania again for investigating, by probing the public safety commission and its administration of the rangers. It first voted down a resolution by Sam Hanna of Dallas, a former house clerk, and next day adopted one by Lon Alsup of Carthage. Anti-administration forces were elated at their "victory" until they learned that Albert Sidney Johnson, commission chairman, had quietly passed the word to Austin that the commission was fully prepared to take care of itself in any legislative investigation of its official acts. Enough administrative votes were quietly shifted to pass the probe resolution. Now the investigation sponsors are wondering if they have been trapped. The dismissal of Tom Hickman, ex-senior ranger captain, brought on the investigation resolution. Hint of possible friction in another state department was seen in the action of Rep. J. W. Youngblood, Fort Worth, who put into the record in connection with House Resolution 25, as the session closed, a vigorous denunciation of Ohio Highway Engineer Gibb Gilchrist, whom he accused of "lobbying to death a bill providing for establishment of a minimum wage on state highway work" defeated in the regular session. Meanwhile, the highway department let another $1,800,000 of contracts. Tuesday, and the commissioners declared they will have 35,000 to 40,000 recently jobless men at work by Jan. 1 on the highway program.

The death from pneumonia last week of Dave Nelson, Orange business executive and civic leader, after only two weeks at his new job as manager of the prison system, leaves a large gap for the prison board to fill. It cut short a sweeping experiment in rehabilitation of felons, planned in detail by Nelson, by which he hoped to return hundreds of one-time offenders back to useful citizenship. Nelson was no dreamer, but a practical executive and an ex-soldier who demanded discipline, but knew how to get it without brutality. His passing was mourned by all who knew anything about the complicated prison problem.

Local option elections thruout Texas will probably be in order during the next few months, so that communities may determine their status under the new liquor law. Many obviously dry communities probably will remain dry without a test, but changes of sentiment have occurred during the lapse of years since national prohibition came, and many local tests of the will of the voters will be ordered by commissioners' courts on their own motion or by petitions of electors. Saloons are closing in all communities where local officials are willing to enforce the laws. Package sales only may be made in licensed stores where local option permits.

Final requiem for federal oil control agitation was sung last week at Los Angeles, when the American Petroleum Institute seconded the sentiment of the Independent Petroleum Association at its earlier Dallas convention, declaring the state impact plan, the best practical method of achieving conservation of oil. Col. E. O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas oil industry commission and original proponent of state control of oil back in the days when it wasn't popular—was accorded the place on the API program occupied at the 1935 Dallas convention by Secretary of the Interior, Harold I. Green, father of the federal dictatorship for oil plan. Thompson reported the Texas oil industry prospering under the compact, written by Gov. Alfred, and administered by representatives of the oil producing states, with Thompson as Texas representative.

to advise him against running.

And, nine times out of ten if you advise a man not to run for an office he will run anyway and will be mad at you for not wanting to support him.

Every time an election is over, some defeated candidate will say, "At least, I found out how many liars there are around here."

He has nobody to blame but himself. He shouldn't try to make the voters come out and tell him the sad truth. None of them want to make him mad, so they probably answer him in such a way that he thinks he has them on his hip.

And another thing, when you see a candidate who is not ready to express himself, you can put it down that he is waiting to see which way the wind blows.

Fredda Fae Turner Crowned Queen of Catoico Thursday

Color and Music Mark "Court of Jewels" Where Ceremonious Pageant Is Held for Winner in Recent High School Contest

Offering something new in the way of school programs, the ceremony crowning Fredda Fae Turner Queen of the 1936 "Catoico," Midland High School year book, was held in the high school auditorium Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, before an audience of several hundred persons.

Groups of colored lights above the thrones occupied by the King and Queen and their attendants and the varied hues of the court ladies' gowns combined with the costumes of the dancers and singers who performed before the throne to make a scene of brilliance and pageantry befitting the "Court of Jewels." The ceremony was outstanding among school entertainments for its courtliness and beauty.

Joyce Beauchamp and Jessa Lynn Tuttle, clad as heralds and carrying bannered trumpets, opened the "Court of Jewels" by proclamation and announced the entrance of the members of the royal party.

Each lady-in-waiting entered on the arm of her escort, the couple advancing the entire length of the auditorium to the stage where places were taken on the thrones which rose in tiers to the double-throne of the royal couple.

Following the entrance of the Queen who was crowned with appropriate words of praise by her King, Billy Noble, a brief program of costumed dances and songs was presented after which came the grand recession of the entire court.

The order of entrance of the royal party and the program follows:

Escort—The Viscount Lige Irwin of the House of Midkiff
The Countess Alice Elizabeth of the House of Minter
Escort—The Count Robert of the House of Frothingo
The Marchioness Anna Beth of the House of Bedford
Escort—The Marquis Beaumont Clifford of the House of Girdley
The Duchess Marcell of the House of Scarborough
Escort—The Duke Samuel Preston of the House of Midkiff
The Princess La Moine of the House of Sinoirt
Escort—The Prince James Franklyn of the House of Cowden
His Serene Majesty, The King William Graves of the House of Noble
The Crown Bearer, Ann Ulmer
Her Highness, The Queen Fredda Fae of the House of Turner
The Train Bearer: Alma Fay Cowden and Dorothy Fay Holt
Coronation of Queen Fredda Fae of the House of Turner—By King William Graves of the House of Noble
In Honor of Her Majesty, The Queen:

- Star Dance: Dorothy Bewley, Elaine Hedrick, Janice Pope, Betty Lou Sims, Mattie Lois Thurman
- Aerobic Dance—Evelyn Myers
- Tap Dance—Wanda George
- Song—"Chasing Shadows" Silver—Janette Hays, Mary Elizabeth Newman, Wanda Ticknor, Jane Dumanag
- Oriental Dance—Marcelline Wyatt
- Dance of the Flowers: Fay Doris Douglas, Mary Nila Hananford, Hazel King, Dorothy Castle, Mildred Montgomery, Edna Jean Roberts, Joye Rosendbaum, Margie Nell Curdie
- Toe Dance—Doris June Bayless
- Chinese Dance: Jane Bounds, Mildred Connor, Catherine Dumanag, Bertha Flournoy, Lois Guffey, Joyce Heard, Jean Lewis, Margaret Maness, Evelyn Myers, Granada Saye, Cleo Edwell, Eleanor Wood
- Tap Dance—Margaret Ann West
- Song—"The Broadway Gondolier" Warren—James Walker
- Recession: Her Highness, The Queen Fredda Fae of the House of Turner and Her Court of Jewels

The Queen's attendants were the six contestants ranking below the winner in the recently-closed High School contest for election of this year's annual queen.

Adding to the beauty of the color-filled spectacle were the gowns chosen by the participants, contrasting with the dark clothes of their escorts.

Her Highness, the Queen, wore a coronation robe of silver brocade with long train and elaborate, glittering headdress.

Of her small attendants, the crown bearer, Ann Ulmer, wore a long white gown, while Alma Fay Cowden and Dorothy Fay Holt, as train bearers, wore long costumes of golden taffeta.

His Majesty, the King, wore the scarlet robes of royalty with accompanying crown and carried an imperial scepter.

In charge of the ceremony were: Miss Jessie Belle Cummings, director of the pageant; Miss Mae Vaughn, assistant director of the pageant; Miss Vera Hefner, director of

SMU-BEAR FIGHT TO BE DUEL BETWEEN WILSON, RUSSELL

Two of Most Feared Backs to Show Wares

WACO, Tex., Nov. 22.—Two of the Southwest's swiftest and most elusive backs will be pitted against each other Saturday when the Baylor Bears invade Ownby Stadium at Dallas for their annual battle with the Southern Methodist Mustangs.

Robert Wilson, 150-pound Corsicana flash and prominent candidate for All-American honors, will carry the Mustang banner, while Lloyd Russell, spry little Bruin backfield, will try to match the proven ability of Wilson. Wilson, playing his last year on the Baylor eleven, does a big part of the ball carrying for the Methodists. He plays the safety position on the defense and does a small share of the passing.

Russell, though not supported by such a colorful cast of griders, is the chief threat for Baylor. His multiple duties include carrying the ball, cutting, punting, passing, and holding down the safety position. Russell, a 164-pound lad, is a Dallas product and is playing his second year in the Green and Gold uniform.

Another personal battle that will take place in the Bear-Mustang contest this week-end will be between Finley and Finley. Robert Finley, playing for the Mustangs, is an ace kicker and passer, while Harold Finley, playing for the Bears, does a good part of the ball carrying along with his blocking duties.

Harold and Bob, distant kin, started this rivalry when they were playing high school football. Harold Finley played for Waco. High school while Robert Finley was a star on the Corsicana eleven.

Record Number of Disasters in Year; Relief Given in 128 by Red Cross

OLD Mother Nature visited an annual number of varied calamities on her children during the past year, causing distress all over the nation to many thousands of man, woman and children.

Her repertoire of disastrous occurrences included drought and dust storms in the midwest; explosions, fires, floods, epidemics of disease, shipwrecks, tornadoes and hurricanes in many sections.

As a result, the American Red Cross reports that this year the organization gave relief in 128 of the 48 states and Alaska. Food, housing, clothing and medical aid were given to 119,000 persons in 308 counties—or in almost one-tenth of the territory of the nation.

Two disasters which called into the field every available worker of the relief forces of the Red Cross were the floods in New York state in August, and the Florida hurricane in September, both of which claimed a heavy toll of life, and caused great property damage. In New York state the Red Cross had more than 5,000 families listed for rehabilitation aid, after the storm wreckage was cleared away. In Florida the Red Cross prepared to aid a thousand families, and also to act in problems of the dependents of more than 300 world war veterans in government road construction camps in the keys, who lost their lives or were listed among the missing in the hurricane.

The work of mercy for these many sufferers was directed personally by Admiral Cary T. Grayson, new chairman of the Red Cross. Funds are provided for this type of work by memberships in the Red Cross and by special relief funds raised in a restricted area. Memberships in the Red Cross are sought each year at the annual roll call period, and support both the local chapter work and the national disaster, public health nursing, war veteran and other work of the society.

You have to refer to back issues of the record books to ascertain when Maxie Rosenbloom, Benny Bass, King Tut, and some other mug manglees who still manage to keep busy, received their baptismal fire. Tut turned wrestler for a time but couldn't resist taking pokes at push-overs on the west coast, and is throwing leather again.

Paulino Uzcudun is carted all the way from Spain to Madison Square Garden, Dec. 13. Isidore Gastanaga, slower than Gus Mancuso, is to be sent against Louis in Havana, Dec. 20. The Negro inen will see Charlie Retzlaff either in Detroit or Chicago. Retzlaff takes nine on a dirty look.

Reading all this, and where Johnny Risko is clamoring for a shot at Louis, Jack Sharkey can't be blamed for coming back. Steve Hamas is to take another fling, too, as quickly as his trick knee mends.

Louis Punches Himself Out of First - Rate Job

Louis punched himself out of a first-rate job by bringing the heavyweight division and boxing back during the summer. There is no worthy rival in sight unless you consider Jimmy Braddock and Max Schmeling as such.

The other classes are worse off than the heavyweight. John Henry Lewis is perhaps the most formidable light-heavy monarch in some years, but has not been touched by buxks office magic.

The middleweight wreath hasn't amounted to anything since Walker chucked it for more remunerative heavyweight matches. Teddy Yarozz wouldn't do, and Babe Risko isn't much of an improvement. Marek This evidently intends to close his career in France.

Having run out of bouts with Jimmy McLarin, Barney Ross, the welter ruler finds himself all dressed up with no place to go.

Al Roth's inability to lift the lightweight leadership from the battle-worn Tony Canzoneri further demonstrated the inferiority of the sorry crowd. Indeed, things are so soft among the 135 pounders that the faint-hearted Al Singer was inspired to take another whirl.

Busy Graham, crack bantam of some years ago, is back in the thick of things among the lightweights. He had enough left to outbulge young Eddie Zivic, of Pittsburgh, at Utica the other night.

Customers Lose Interest in Little Fellows

Freddie Miller is a fair sort of a feather, but there is no one with whom he can draw anything approaching important coin.

Lou Salica is making every effort to keep the battlers busy to live, but the customers long ago lost interest in the midjets. Few can name the present flyweight foreman. Remember when Pancho Villa packed ball yards?

While Primo Carnera still can el-

Pearce To Supervise Centennial Anthropological Exhibits of Univ.

AUSTIN.—Anthropological exhibits in the University of Texas Centennial Exposition will be supervised by J. E. Pearce, chairman of the University Department of Anthropology, it has been announced by William L. McGill, exposition director.

Jack Kearns is keeping his Hank Bath a secret.

There won't be anything of an exciting nature until new fellows are developed. Meanwhile, King Levisky has struck upon a bright idea for the older heads. The English is engaging in mixed matches with wrestlers. This is a pastime at which most heavyweight fighters should be perfectly at home.

Radcliffe Girl Honored

MARLBORO, Mass. (U.P.)—Miss Edna Granitass, 22-year-old Radcliffe College student, was elected to the Marlboro School Committee in a recent election here. Miss Granitass is the first woman to hold elective office in Marlboro.

Under his direction there has already been assembled at the university a great variety of museum materials of an anthropological nature. These will form the basis of the exhibition in this field during the Centennial period, it was explained.

Proved in '35 - NOW BETTER THAN EVER! FORD V-8 TRUCKS FOR 1936

TRUCK operators bought nearly 100,000 Ford V-8 Trucks and commercial cars the first 6 months of 1935—58% more than in the same period last year.

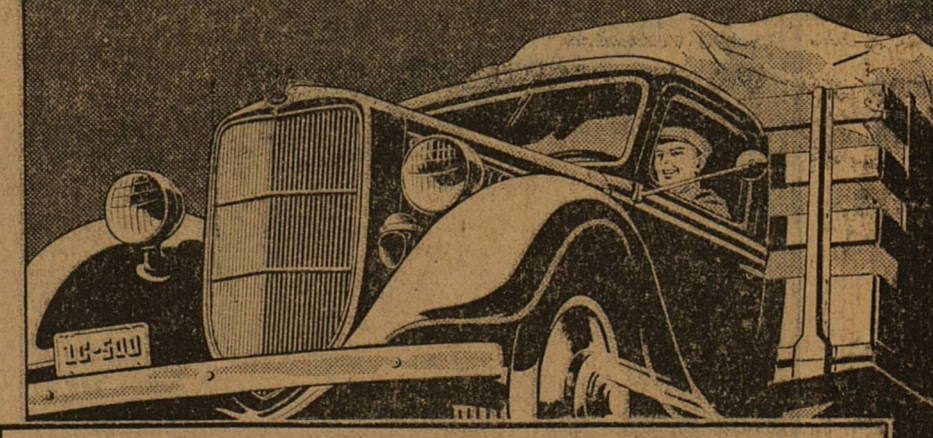

These operators found the 80 h. p. Ford V-8 engine ideal for modern trucking. It has exceptional power, flexibility, stamina—and their records prove that the V-8 is the most economical Ford Truck ever built.

And they prove far more—the Ford's ability to stay on the job, out of the repair shop—its rock-bottom upkeep costs—the tremendous strength of Ford's heavy-duty chassis and frame.

You get these proved qualities in the 1936 Ford V-8 Truck—plus new improvements for even greater efficiency and dependability. Read the features at the right. Think what value they mean at Ford's low prices.

Make Your Own "On-the-job" Test

Ask your Ford Dealer to loan you a 1936 Ford Truck. Let your driver and load prove Ford V-8 value to you with the greatest truck Ford ever built. There's no obligation.

ONLY THE FORD V-8 TRUCK HAS ALL THESE IMPORTANT FEATURES

- 80 HORSEPOWER V-8 ENGINE—downdraft carburetion—exhaust valve seat inserts—improved crankcase ventilation.
- IMPROVED COOLING—with larger, 19-in. fan—exhaust type hood blower—radiator of flat tube and fin construction.
- STRONGER FULL-FLOATING REAR AXLE—heavier shafts, new cone locks between shaft bolts and wheel hub.
- FULL TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE—with radius rods for positive axle and wheel alignments, longer tire wear, surer braking.
- NEW OIL-SEALED MULTIPLE ROLLER BEARINGS for universal joints.
- RIB-COOLED BRAKES—self-centering shoes, reinforced cast alloy non-scoring drums.
- HEAVY DUTY CLUTCH—centriforce action increases capacity 100% at high engine speeds—large diameter plates for long life—pedal pressure reduced 25% at starting and shifting speeds.
- EXTRA HEAVY DUTY FRAME—high carbon pressed steel, with full channel depth cross members.
- CORRECT LOAD DISTRIBUTION—more room in cab—more loading space ahead of rear axle.
- COUPE-TYPE CAB—insulated and lined—seat adjustable to 3 positions.
- GREATLY REDUCED MAINTENANCE with low cost engine and parts exchange plan.

Leads Texas Turkey Derby!

Don't blame this big fellow for strutting! He will represent the Texas Centennial celebrations on President Roosevelt's Thanksgiving table—that is, if he wins over a few thousand like him that are competing for the honor in a section-wide "Turkey Derby" at Brady, West Texas capital of this flourishing industry. The President has just announced his intention of visiting Texas next summer, and here's his reward for "talking turkey" about the Centennial. Anyway, when Texas gives the President the bird—that's news!

Massive Geneva Palace Becomes League's Home

Imposing Limestone Buildings Are Rivals to Versailles in Area

GENEVA, Nov. 22. (U.P.)—Plans are underway to move the Secretariat of the League of Nations into its palatial new home in the beautiful woodland setting of Ariana Park, northeastern suburb of Geneva, late in November.

The Palais des Nations, which housed the League of Nations for the past 15 years during which many a momentous international discussion, is for sale, and if the old palace finds no buyer, the Swiss Confederation will take it over.

In 1929 the first stone of the new League buildings was laid. Construction of the new group was begun in the spring of 1931 and, despite depression handicaps, two and a half years later, on Nov. 6, 1933, the ceremony of crowning the roof with flowers marked the structural completion.

Whatever may be the fate of the League, and though many nations have defaulted in their dues, building plans have gone forward. From the first meeting of the League in 1920 the need for increased accommodation became more evident.

Cost Exceeds $8,000,000

The sum set aside for the new buildings (approved by the Assembly in 1932) amounted to 25,577,170 Swiss francs (9,120,000).

The new palace of the League consists of a series of five-story white limestone buildings, linked together, including the Secretariat, the Council block, the Committee rooms, Assembly Hall, and Library. The Secretariat is a horseshoe shaped building with unequal wings. The Council block is joined on one side to the Secretariat and on the other side, by the left Committee Wing, to the Assembly Hall. The Library is linked to the Assembly Hall by the right Committee Wing.

In the plans, the Council Wing, the Committee Rooms, the Assembly Hall and the Library are grouped around a rectangular court of honor, which will be terraced on two levels. No attempt has been made at ornamentation as the architects are relying for their effects upon the imposing proportions of the several buildings. The total length of the group is about 1,200 feet, the area about 10,000 square yards, and in size they will almost equal the vast group of the Palace of Versailles.

Assembly Hall Seats 1,900

The Assembly Hall will accommodate 600 delegates, experts and secretaries, have seats for 500 working journalists, and provide about 800 seats for the public while the acoustics are the last word in modern science.

Many adornments for the new buildings have been donated by countries and individuals. Although the United States is not a member it is represented by the library, a donation of John D. Rockefeller, Jr. The Woodrow Wilson Foundation has given $25,000 for the monumental bronze doors for the Assembly Hall, and Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant, has donated the telephonic communication apparatus for the Assembly Hall. Some of the other donations are:

New Zealand is panelling one room in native wood, South Africa another. Holland is giving the decorations and furnishings of the Secretary-General's office. India has sent a set of furniture for the office of the President of the Assembly. Sweden is providing furniture for the room of the President of the Council, and Persia has given some native carpets.

Luxemburg Donates Gates

Greece has donated a bronze reproduction of an antique Greek statue. Bolivia, Columbia, Panama, Peru and Venezuela combined to present a bronze tablet bearing an inscription from speeches of the great South American patriot, Simon Bolivar. Little Luxemburg is giving wrought iron gates for the entrance way. Australia has sent a presidential table and furniture.

Materials for the buildings are embodied in the buildings the exterior being mainly of Swiss and French limestone and Italian granite construction.

All the buildings are heated by hot water, a product of German engineering, while beautiful decorative effect is given to the interior archways and sixty staircases by multi-colored Italian marble.

Five Architects Represented

The design of the buildings is the work of five famous European architects: H. P. Nout, who won the Grand Prix of Rome, Inspector General of French national palaces and architect of the Soborne in Paris; M. Boggi, of Rome; M. Fleganheimer, of Geneva; M. Lefevre, also an Inspector General of French national palaces, and M. Vago, of Budapest.

Although the materials and furnishings of the new League palace come from every corner of the globe, the builders have harmonized them all into a balanced whole giving an impression of modernistic simplicity and convenience with a sense of rugged beauty.

Landscape architects are completing driveways, parking spaces and terraces, and when finished this "sapphire in an emerald setting" will undoubtedly be one of the show places of Europe.

Torres Makes College Gift

BELOIT, Wis. (U.P.)—A set of hand-carved furniture to harmonize with the new southwestern Indian murals in Beloit college's Logan museum of anthropology is being prepared by Jesus Torres, Mexican artist. The furniture is made of red oak.

Bolt Spreads Havoc

COLUMBIA, Mo. (U.P.)—A ball of lightning fell from the fuse box at the home of Miss Ava Compton during an electric storm. It set fire to curtains, electrocuted a bird in the attic, blew out all fuses and welded light globes in their sockets.

Fewer Businesses Failures In State Registered In Oct.

AUSTIN—The number of commercial failures in Texas during October was substantially below that of the like month last year, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. Total liabilities of the bankrupt firms showed only a moderate decline. There were eleven failures, declines of 15.4 and 42 per cent respectively from the preceding month and the corresponding month last year. Total liabilities of $160,000 was 32 per cent above the preceding month but 2.4 per cent under October last year.

Ninety statutes under the care of the office of works in London require the constant attention of six men to look after them.

'Grand Exit' Comedy With Lowe, Sothern

When he picked her up, she threw him down! And then the fun started. Racing from car to bar—from jail to jail—she gagged him with his own wisecracks.

The "she" is none other than Ann Sothern, the abused gentleman, Edmund Lowe. They go to blazes together in the new Columbia picture, "Grand Exit," showing Saturday at the Yucca Theatre. Lowe is seen as the G-man of firefighters, who matches clues and kisses with Miss Sothern, as a blonde baby who knows more about arson than love.

Onslow Stevens, heading the supporting cast, plays the role of Lowe's colleague and friend. Others in the cast are Wraymie Birch, Robert Middlemass and Selmer Jackson. Eric Kenton directed from the screen adaptation by Bruce Manning and Lionel Houser of the original story by Gene Towne and Graham Baker.

GE to Have $100,000 Centennial Exhibit

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 22.—The General Electric Company, of Schenectady, N. Y., through its Dallas office, announced today that it will present a $100,000 exhibit at the Texas Centennial Exposition, which opens here June 6.

Chief of the exhibit's feature will be the House of Magic, an up-to-date version of the House of Magic, which was one of the chief features of the Century of Progress at Chicago in 1934. It will be presented in a six-story auditorium occupying more than 6,000 square feet. An additional 1,000 square feet will be occupied by a lounge, E. O. Shreve, of the Schenectady office told Exposition officials.

L. W. Blaisdell, district manager for General Electric here, will have charge of the exhibit, which will incorporate all of the Chicago display with the developments of the past year and a half and future developments of the G. E. laboratories.

Death Rate Reflects Our Indifference to Human Lives In U.S.

NEW YORK.—The high mortality from violent deaths in the United States—100,000 fatalities from accidents alone in some years, while there are about 20,000 suicides and 12,000 homicides each year—reflects a rather general indifference to human values, according to the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. The death rates from accidents and homicides in the United States are the highest in the civilized world, while the country occupies a middle position among the nations of the world with regard to suicides.

Pointing out that the United States has an accident mortality rate almost twice that of England and Wales or Germany and a homicide rate 18 times that of England and Wales and 29 times that of the Netherlands, the statisticians comment:

"It should be entirely possible in a country like ours, with its high standard of living and general spread of education, to bring about a marked reduction in the death rate from suicide, homicide and accidents. To achieve this gain in life conservation it will be necessary primarily to arouse the American people to the value of human life and to its sanctity, and to put knowledge we have on modern methods of prevention into operation."

A comprehensive study on the incidence of death and the trends of the death rates from suicide, homicide and accidents among the millions of industrial policyholders of the Metropolitan during the period 1911 to 1930, shows that during a 20-year period external causes were responsible for one death in every 11 among these insured or, by sexes, for males alone the ratio was one death in seven. Of the deaths from external causes and this insured group, suicide accounted for 10.4 per cent, homicide 8.3 per cent, accidental and unspecified violence for 77.1 per cent, and wounds of war for 4.2 per cent.

During the first decade of the 20-year experience the trend of suicide rate was generally downward and in the last 10 years, generally upward. However, the suicide rate in the last 5 years of this study about one third lower than in the first 5 years. Firearms were the most frequently by men as means of self-destruction, while, among women, poisoning was the method most commonly employed.

The mortality from homicide remained fairly constant during the 20-year period.

The death rates from accidents were at a lower level in the early years of the study, but not continuous over the 20-
