REGIMENTING FINGERPRINTS

The Illinois Bar Association makes the sweeping recommendation that Americans be required to equip themselves with certificates of citizenship, flanked by portraits and fingerprints. It is contended that this would facilitate detection of aliens residing unlawfully in the country.

We doubt that the country would or should approve the compulsory feature of the proposal. The idea of force just runs against the American grain.

The wisdom and usefulness of voluntary fingerprinting, however, is unquestionable. The Department of Justice in Washington maintains a large non-criminal file. So, now, do many police departments.

It is good practice to send your prints there for identification records. In death, accidents, kidnappings, and in other emergencies they may become extremely valuable.

EDUCATION'S SAFETY VALUE

That ultra-liberal president of the University of Chicago, Robert Maynard Hutchins, has put his finger square upon a sore spot in American education.

Said the youthful educator in a recent interview: "The greatest dangers to education today lie in attempts, under the guise of patriotism, to suppress freedom of teaching, inquiry, and discussion. Most of the student 'reds' have been manufactured by the hysterical regulations of the institutions in which they were enrolled."

This is an analysis worth passing on. One may disagree with the Hutchins educational plan, but his views, in this instance, seem pretty well grounded. There is nothing that tempers the intellect like freedom of expression.

Then, too, it's always safer to let off the steam than to keep on the lid.

RUSSIA SPEEDS UP

One cannot fail to observe these days the inconsistency of a situation wherein, on one hand, American Communists deplore the speed-up system of our major industries, while on the other Soviet Russia is heaping high reward on its fast workers.

Since the day that Alexei Stakhanoff, rough miner, hewed 102 tons of coal in six hours with a pneumatic drill, sudden fame has come to numerous other Soviet workers, cited for similar feats of maximum production.

They have become symbols of the new industrial Russia and peacemakers for the Stakhanoffite speed-up movement—actually an over-the-top push along all lines to make Russia commercially independent.

"Stakhanoffites," claim the Soviet leaders, "will revolutionize Russian industry, greatly increase production, and improve the workman's standard of living"

And this, in effect, is to say that Communist Russia has been driven to recognize that the collectivist principle will go only so far—that there must be individual reward to inspire initiative.

One thing you have to say for boondoggling: because of it, many rakes have turned over new leaves.

"Congo natives use razor blades to carve their bodies for decorative purposes." They could take a few lessons from Americans on mornings after.

Suing for injuries suffered in accident, New Yorker lost because motion picture showed him swinging sledge on a PWA job. Any other PWA worker would have won the case.

Albertans Vainly Await $25 a Month "Government Gift" From Its Premier

By NEA Service

EDMONTON, Alberta, Feb. 7.—The first showdown on Social Credit is approaching.

During the meeting of the provincial parliament assembling Feb. 6, the huge Social Credit majority must give some indication of what it is going to do about it.

It is now six months since William Aberhart was swept into office by eager voters who were promised "dividends" of $25 a month or more from the government.

There have been no $25 credit books, and no checks in the mail boxes to which many a rural resident trudges daily and hopefully.

Aberhart's government to date has been quite orthodox, and no definite step has been taken to put the "basic dividends for all" plan in effect.

It is very hard for the eager ranchers to remember that Aberhart has said it would take 18 to 24 months to get going on the plan. They know only that six months have passed—and no dividends.

No Quick Action Expected. Few here expect very specific action on the plan at the present legislative session. About the best hope is for general enabling laws, giving Aberhart the power to take steps to arrange the new system.

Scarcely a single member of the present legislature has any previous legislative experience, and many of them have only the vaguest idea of what Social Credit is all about.

Aberhart himself says the province is not yet ready, and that until he has placed it on a firm financial basis, Social Credit and the free dividends might better be delayed.

The dominion government has "bailed out" the hard-pressed province with a loan to refinance debts due in mid-January, but Federal Minister of Finance Dunning has said "this is the last time" without the province accepting some measure of federal control over its finances.

Another maturity of bonds is due April 1, and the financial showdown will come then.

Seeks to Balance Budget. In the meantime, Aberhart has cut the cost of provincial government by shaking up its employees, firing many, made rules against smoking on the job, called in seed loans to farmers, suspended a state health insurance plan, raised liquor taxes, and in other orthodox ways made a strenuous effort to balance the budget.

Some Albertans are already shaking their heads and saying, "Well, at least, we're getting an efficient administration, Social Credit or no Social Credit."

Aberhart's partisans grow restless. They want their dividends. The government's mail is clogged with letters demanding checks. One letter threatened Aberhart's life if he "came through," though it may have been from a practical joker.

The usually bland and imperious Aberhart has been goaded at least once by these complaints into a speech at Calgary, in which he asked the people "to stop your confounded grumbling."

"Mystery Man" Involved. There is considerable mystery here as to the exact relationship between Aberhart and Maj. C. H. Douglas, the Scotch economist and engineer who thought up Social Credit.

Douglas was here some time before the Aberhart regime, and explained his plan to the legislature, which was more mystified than enlightened.

Major Douglas is expected to come here this spring to tell Albertans how to start the plan for which they have voted, but it seems impossible to find the exact date of his arrival.

They have been rumors that Major Douglas is not pleased with Aberhart's version of Social Credit, or that he feels it will not work in a single province.

These can not be verified until and unless Douglas appears here and expounds his views.

To meet grumbling of Aberhart supporters, the Calgary Albertan, an influential newspaper, has been sold to interests allied to the Social Credit party, and united with radio station CJCJ and the Social Credit Chronicle.

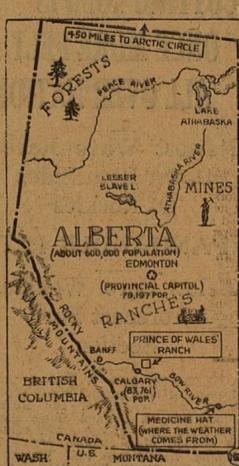

Stock in the merged enterprise will be offered to the public, the first time in Canadian history that controlling stock in a newspaper has been offered to as wide a public as cares to buy it.

Action in Years, or Else.—This should give Aberhart a wider and more consistent approach to his constituents, keeping them informed on the status of Social Credit plans and curbing their impatience.

There will be little surprise here if the present legislative session does nothing very definite in starting Social Credit and its "dividends." But at the session a year or so hence, there will have to be definite and drastic action, or Aberhart will be in trouble—big trouble.

The farmers who haunt their mail boxes, plague the local postmasters, write letters to Calgary and Edmonton, and attend regular meetings of Social Credit clubs, are getting tired of waiting.

They don't care how it's done. They want their "dividends."

William Aberhart, above, apostle of Social Credit, continues confident that he can bring permanent prosperity to Alberta, Canadian province shown at left, as he faces the first show-down on his plan in the legislature. Six months have passed since Aberhart was made premier by a storm of votes of people who wait impatiently for their "dividend" checks.

Relief Rules Going Round and Round While Boys Worry

DALHART, Feb. 6. — (P) — The change from direct retailer to a WPA set-up has left John, Bill and O. C. Hammit, 16, 15 and 13 respectively, in a tough spot, according to Mrs. E. R. Stewart, head of the Dalhart charities.

They have been orphans four years and have been getting relief since last August when Walter, 23, an older brother, went to Oregon after losing seasonal employment at the home here. He is getting by without relief.

However, under the WPA, Mrs. Stewart said, the orphans cannot get any government help unless the head of the family is of age. Walter must come home and go on relief or its equivalent so his brothers can eat, as Mrs. Stewart and A. E. Roark, who has been relief administrator here, construe the new rules.

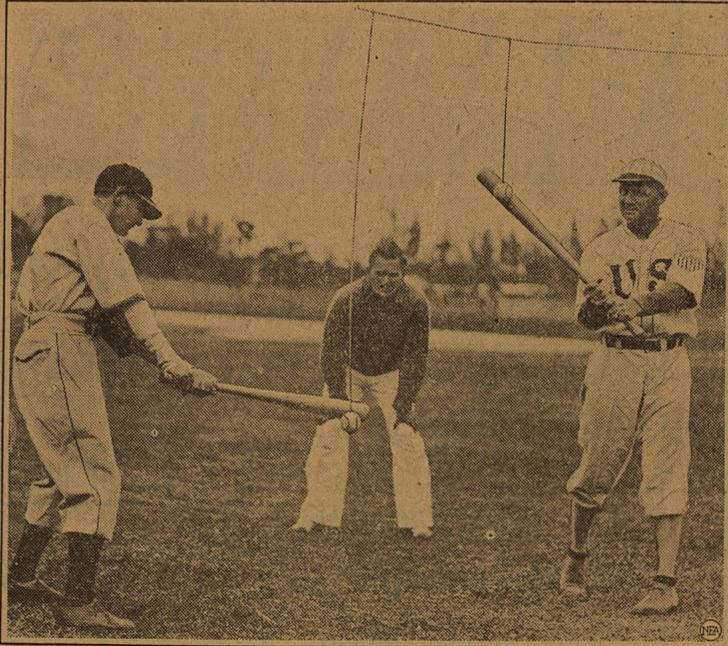

The WPA, they said, cannot give aid through the court-appointed guardian for the boys, a hard-working, non-relief citizen who cannot take care of them out of his own pocket. The boys could go to their sister at Claude, Texas, but if the move should force her and her family on relief there would be no provision made for the three boys since they are of another family, it is said.

These courses see mopey John, being 16, can quit seventh grade schooling and maybe go to work as a PA man on the soil conservation project near here at $29 monthly. The orphans can go to an orphan's home or to their sister, after come home, the boys can shift for themselves or someone can legally adopt them so they could be part of his family.

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 6.—(P)—Pat Conway, "fighting Irishman" of old Fort Concho and the last one to leave the historic San Angelo post when it was abandoned in 1889, observed his 84th birthday here recently.

Conway was transferred to the last detachment to leave the fort and aided in loading out the supplies and equipment to San Antonio. He came to this country in 1874 from Ireland in the middle of a depression. "I got a job at $24 a month on a farm and haven't missed any time since in having something to do," he said.

Mrs. Cornwall Uses Mexican Party Motif

Mrs. John Cornwall chose a Mexican theme for the domestic party appointments for the bridge party with which she entertained the Thursday club and guests at her home, 610 N. Marienfeld, Thursday afternoon. Tables and score pads illustrated the Mexican idea.

Guests for the afternoon were: Mmes. J. M. Armstrong, E. H. Ellison, Paul Oles, and Robert Tucker. High score in the three tables of bridge was held by Mrs. Bert Hemphill, with Mrs. R. W. Hamilton scoring second high.

Refreshments were served at the close of play to the guests and the following club members: Mmes. Geo. Abell, Harvey Conger, O. C. Harper, Hugh McClure, Bob Patterson, Johnson Phillips, Hemphill, Hamilton, Harris E. Eastham Jr., and the hostess.

San Souci Meets At Cowden Home

Mrs. E. W. Cowden entertained the San Souci club and guests with a three-table bridge at her home, 111 North F street, Wednesday afternoon.

The Valentine theme was evident throughout appointments for the party and in the plate which was served before the games.

A variation of the high cut appropriate to the day was that only a cut in hearts was counted with Miss Hoffer cutting high in this suit.

High score for guests went to Mrs. I. E. Daniel and high for club to Mrs. Ed Cole.

Guests for the afternoon were: Mmes. Daniel, Foy Proctor, Tom Nance, Harvey Sloan, and Clyde Cowden.

Members present were: Mmes. Paul Schlosser, Cole, R. B. Cowden, Hoffer, J. G. Harper, Irby Watson, Rea Sindorf and the hostess.

Mrs. Ligon Speaks At Bible Program

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR NATURAL "BULK"

Needed to Correct Constipation*

Most people recognize the seriousness of constipation. But too often they dose themselves with strong cathartics that often actually lead to chronic constipation.

The natural way to check common constipation is to correct the condition which causes it—usually, insufficient "bulk" in meals.

How can you get "bulk"? Fruits and vegetables have some. Bran has more. The most popular product of this kind is Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is gentle in action. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

This delicious cereal is a wholesome food. Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity, with milk or cream—or use in cooking.

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily will usually correct constipation due to insufficient "bulk." If not relieved, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN gives you gentle internal exercise. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ton, D. C., 33 per cent, and in Monroe, La., 1518 per cent. (Police records.)

They promised that repeal would stop drinking among our youth, that under prohibition the youth could get whiskey from the bootlegger but that licensed saloon keepers would obey the law and the youth could not get it. Federal government records reveal that scarcely a licensed liquor joint can be found where they do not sell to minors. Liquor drinking among public school students reached such a point that the board of education in Los Angeles conducted a private survey of licensed liquor joints of that city and in 700 such places 30 per cent of the patrons were minors.

Dr. Alice Aldrich, Chicago welfare superintendent, says: "Chicago present day saloons (and they told us that the saloon would not, could not, come back) are causing delinquency among young people to an extent never equalled—for the saloon came back clothed in robes of respectability. Young people of opposite sexes drink openly in convenient back-room and upstairs until they are not responsible for their acts."

And comes this enlightenment from the American Distillers' convention (quite different from the argument which was heralded all over the land a few years ago) "A generation of people has grown up that has not acquired the taste for liquor. By means of advertisement we can make a drinking America."

Plus—SPORTS News-Cartoon

We must buy space in every possible publication. We must see that saloons are placed as near colleges, universities and high schools as possible; and we must flood the country with free whiskey in order that drinking America may materialize as rapidly as possible.

And, citizens of Midland county, that's the real issue before us to be voted on Saturday. The liquor trade knows that if they are permitted to publicly display their wares in our drug stores, restaurants, and cafes, to say nothing of our already very questionable joints, that if they are permitted to advertise as they please, and give away free drinks, as is always done in a licensed place, that the amount of whiskey destined to be consumed will at least quadruple the present output. That's what you are to decide with your ballot.

The wets said, "vote for repeal and do away with the bootlegger." Repeal was voted, all right, but the treasury department of the U. S. states that bootlegging has increased with the legalizing of whiskey, that more than half the whiskey sold, and it has quadrupled itself, is sold by the bootlegger.

The main argument that I have heard during the past week is along this line: "I am getting sick and tired of knowing that I am selling so much whiskey and we are not receiving any tax from it. That's true enough, I, too, am tired of it. But, can't you understand, my dear deceived friend, that the parties whom you refer to are the main ones that are forcing this election, and for the same reason that we have mentioned, an increase of profit. They have the money as same as I have them, they know as I know that to legalize the stuff will more than quadruple their sales. They can well afford to pay $500 federal license since they already pay even more than that for partial protection."

"Vote the 'licensed ticket' or remain indifferent and see your country turned over to the whiskey interests and thus plundered of thousands of dollars that should go into legitimate business, spent for groceries, milk, food, clothing, housing facilities, etc., and see also our sons and daughters brought to degradation and ruin, with your sanction."

"Whiskey is the undisputed arch enemy of mankind! Whiskey is hell's greatest friend! Can you possibly afford to vote its uncontrolled release in our midst? If you vote its release in Midland county then your hands will be stained with human blood, maybe crimsoned by the blood of your own son or daughter. How can I make such a dogmatic assertion? Listen:

"He had a pint of whiskey, and five gallons of gas. Another car was coming, but he thought that he could pass. He swerved to the left, and then like a flash; Two cars came together, in a terrible crash. Then he reeled from the wreckage, like a man who was wild. For he had killed, instantly, a mother and child."

"Now if that drunken driver bought that pint of whiskey from a bootlegger that bootlegger's hands are crimsoned with that innocent blood. But if he bought that pint of whiskey from a licensed place, made possible by your vote and influence, then it is that you, a private citizen are responsible for that spilled blood. It is upon your hands, He or she who votes for the release of whiskey is responsible for every

Shirley Temple Star In Civil War Picture

Drama and song, pathos and laughter are most effectively blended in "The Littlest Rebel," the Fox picture which offers Shirley Temple her greatest acting opportunity in two years of screen stardom and which comes to the Yucca Theatre for a preview Saturday night, and Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The story centers about the adventures of a bewitching little girl in Virginia, caught between the forces of two invading armies. How her sunny laughter, song and entrancing dance steps bring delight to the hearts of grim and war-worn soldiers is revealed in the stirring scenes of the picture.

John Boles and Karen Morley are cast as little Shirley's parents in the picture, with Jack Holt, Bill Robinson, Guinn Williams and Willie Best prominently featured in the supporting cast. "The Littlest Rebel" was adapted to the screen from the famous play by Frank Peple, and directed by David Butler. B. G. DeSylva acted as associate producer.

"King of Burlesque" Ritz Sunday Feature

New and unrivaled thrills in song, dance, laughter and drama are brought to the screen by "King of Burlesque," the Fox picture coming Sunday, Monday and Tuesday to the Ritz Theatre, which turns the spotlight on a fascinating new world of entertainment.

Featuring Warner Baxter, Alice Faye, Jack Oakie and Arline Judge, at the head of an all-star cast, the picture tells an absorbing love story of the people who make the nation's entertainment.

It follows Baxter's rise from the "flesh" shows of 14th Street to the glittering palaces of Broadway. It traces his decline under the spiteful control of his society wife, played by Mona Barrie.

In the climax, the picture shows how this master of entertainment returns to his most spectacular success and to the realization that he had loved Alice Faye all the time. Sidney Lanfield directed the picture, which features a cluster of grand new tunes from those wizard composers, Jimmy McHugh and Ted Weiler. "Spreadin' Rhythm Around," "Shootin' High," "Lovely Lady" and "Too Good to Be True" are the names of some of them.

fair and just application of the word responsible. "Woe to him that giveth his brother strong drink." "Present existing conditions in Midland are deplorable, I grant you, but that's really not a fault of the law but of its enforcement. The question is: Do we want to see conditions decidedly worse? We must push this issue to the limit. Keep what skeleton of law we happen to have then back up our officers and courts in enforcing the law. If they fail to do so then get busy and elect to office those who will. (Call 673 for free transportation to the polls, if you will help us win this fight for moral defense.)"

G. S. Hamlin Freed By Jury After 55 Hours of Deliberating

FARWELL, Feb. 7. (P.)—George S. Hamlin, 47, former Oakland, Calif., fireman, was acquitted here Thursday of murder in connection with the slaying January 4, 1935, of his wife in Amarillo. Jurors deliberated 55 hours. Hamlin, whose first trial held in Amarillo, resulted in a hung jury, sat silent as the verdict was read. There was no visible change of facial expression. The former fireman's wife of three months was found slain in the Hamlin honeymoon home at Amarillo and he was arrested three days later. Defense counsel entered an insanity plea, but the acquittal was not based on that plea, according to the verdict.

TWO CARLOADS OF WHISKEY

Did you know that the distillers and wholesale liquor dealers have already shipped TWO CARLOADS OF WHISKEY into Midland, and stored it here, waiting for the citizens of Midland County to license the sale of it in tomorrow's election? We are reliably informed that this is true.

What Do You Want Done With These Thousands of Bottles of Whiskey?

Will YOU vote to turn this flood of destruction loose in Midland County? Do you want your husband, or your wife, or your sons and daughters to drink it?

What Would It Do to Our Homes?

Is there a living being foolish enough to think that it would make them happier to legalize the sale of liquor in Midland County? If you vote the wet ticket and husband comes home and drives the car through two panels of the neighbor's fence, or through the back end of the garage, remember that's what you were voting for. Drunk men often reach for the brake and hit the accelerator. Or if son comes staggering in and falls across the threshold of your home and vomits on the living room rug, remember, that's what you were voting for. It's nothing uncommon for drunk sons to do that!

What Would These Two Carloads of Whiskey Do For Business?

If these thousands of bottles of whiskey draw thousands of dollars from the pockets of our citizens to pour destruction down their throats, will there be MORE or LESS money for DRY GOODS AND GROCERIES? Believe us, there will be poorer food on our tables, less clothes in our closets; more sick people, but less money to pay the doctor and the druggist. Is there a human being so foolish as to doubt this? "O judgment, thou art flown to brutish beasts, and men have lost their reason," if they do doubt this.

What Would These Two Carloads of Whiskey Do to Our Civic Life?

We have heard it said that "there will be fewer arrests for drunkenness" if this flood of "100 proof liquor, guaranteed full strength" is poured down the throats of our citizens. If this be so, then there might have been "something rotten in Denmark" in the days of Hamlet the Dane. But there is something more rotten in Midland County today. Something that cries out for remedy at the ballot box.

These Two Carloads of Whiskey

Cannot be drunk by human beings without producing a harvest of tears and blood. Will you vote for that?

What Do You Want Done With This Liquor?

Vote the dry ticket Saturday. Tell the distillers and the liquor dealers to ship the stuff back where it came from, and let their OWN SONS AND DAUGHTERS drink it—if they are fools enough! VOTE THE DRY TICKET and tell them to break the bottles and pour the stuff in our ditches. It will do no harm there, for even our hogs and prairie dogs and skunks will have too much sense to drink it.
