Building Permits For 4 Months In Midland Are Larger Than $100,000

More Than Forty New Residences Are Being Constructed in Midland Since First of July

Building conditions in Midland, slack for the last few years, have improved so rapidly in the last four months that a new record for all time has been set for that length of time.

Since the first of July city permits have been issued for more than $100,000 worth of residence construction in the city.

Approximately 40 new houses have been built in the city, ranging in cost from $2,000 to $5,000. The influx of oil men into the city has caused a building program reminiscent of the boom days of 1928 and 1929.

Reconstruction of several of the homes already built amounted to several thousand dollars while garages and other small buildings helped to bring up the total.

Following is a list of those applying for building permits in Midland since July 1:

R. S. Downey, a $1400 frame house at 1210 West College; J. M. Crawford, a $2500 frame house at 1807 West Indiana; W. A. Brill, a $2000 residence at 1010 West Missouri;

Rockwell Brothers Lumber company, remodeling program at a cost of $5400.

C. M. Rainbolt, a $900 brick restaurant building at 306 West Texas; J. B. Ford, a $3000 residence at 1010 West Wall; Johnny Butler, $3500 brick residence at 307 North F street; J. B. Carsey, $3000 brick residence at 1601 West Missouri.

Mrs. McReynolds, $2000 remodeling program on residence at 511 North Marienfield; S. S. Stinson, $2500 residence at 1610 West Hollywood; York and Harper, $3700 frame residence at 1010 West Missouri; E. Daniels, $3000 brick residence and garage at 901 West Michigan; J. R. Martin, $3000 brick residence at 903 West Michigan; K. F. Campbell, $4500 brick residence at 901 West Michigan.

Whitaker, $200 residence remodeling at 1000 West Wall; Eli Robertson, residence remodeling in Moody addition at cost of $200.

Not only has the 2,500 daily newspaper circulation in Midland been invited to become collection depots for the fund but 15,000 weekly newspapers also have been urged to accept contributions from their readers.

When Frank Hawks started his tour, newsreel cameramen recorded it with a sound explanation of the funds and its aims. It will play the theatres in every city.

With more than 100,000 posters—official insignia of the campaign—in the mails, Midland people soon will see the most unusual posters ever used in calling attention to any public subscription fund. It was painted by Howard Chandler Christy, who was a good friend of Rogers.

News, Banks Here to Receive Contributions In Nation's Drive

Opening of the Will Rogers Memorial fund campaign is scheduled for Monday, November 4, which would have been the fifty-sixth birthday of the celebrated humorist.

The campaign is nation wide and is designed so that admirers of the great American everywhere may share in a memorial or memorial, which will be a living tribute to his useful life.

The local Will Rogers Memorial committee includes T. Paul Barron, chairman; M. C. Ulmer, R. M. Barron, Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, Clarence Scharbauer, Harvey Sloan and Ralph T. Bucy. The Reporter-Telegram, the First National bank and the Midland National bank are depositories and will receive donations to the memorial fund. Elsewhere in this issue of the paper is a blank convenient for making such remittances.

The campaign which opens tomorrow finds nationally known figures of all walks of life giving their time to the cause. All expense of the campaign is paid by the aviation industry, so that every cent of each donation will go directly to the memorial fund.

Frank Hawks, internationally famous holder of air records, is flying to 78 cities in 40 days covering 16,000 miles to tell the country of the fund. Hawks rode Rogers over the same route in 1931 when Will was staging shows throughout the country, gathering $225,000 for the drought sufferers. Hawks earned his showmanship from Rogers who made the flier a part of the show each time they came out of the air for a performance—often four times a day. Hawks is flying a fast fighting land plane loaned the committee by the U. S. Navy.

Will H. Hays, soft spoken czar of the movies, who was an intimate of Will Rogers, spends a part of each day in earnest contribution to the campaign. He knows somebody in every city in the country and is always helpful in discussing local situations which arise—whether the locale be in Indiana, his home state, New York and California, where he now resides, or in Texas or in Alaska.

Eddie Rickenbacker, who really is a Colonel but who always is designated as a Captain, because it was as a Captain he earned his undying fame as America's Ace of Aces during the World War, is an early riser. So the meetings of the operations committee, of which he is director, starts its session every morning at 8:30 o'clock.

A radio broadcast, featuring the memorial campaign, from New York and California and other points was heard over NBC and Columbia Saturday night.

Not only has the 2,500 daily newspaper circulation in Midland been invited to become collection depots for the fund but 15,000 weekly newspapers also have been urged to accept contributions from their readers.

When Frank Hawks started his tour, newsreel cameramen recorded it with a sound explanation of the funds and its aims. It will play the theatres in every city.

With more than 100,000 posters—official insignia of the campaign—in the mails, Midland people soon will see the most unusual posters ever used in calling attention to any public subscription fund. It was painted by Howard Chandler Christy, who was a good friend of Rogers.

Gene Buck, friend of Rogers in the Ziegfeld days, is heading a committee to stage a gigantic benefit show in Madison Square Garden during the campaign. He promises it will be a cavalcade of stars and Buck is not not given to overstatement.

Seventeen thousands letters went to banks, asking them to be depositories for contributions. To date not one single bank has refused the request.

The New York Times and the Los Angeles Times today are running full page, colored reproductions of the Will Rogers Memorial Fund poster by Howard Chandler Christy.

Thirteen Completions Add 79,372 Potential Barrels

Twelve New Operations for West Texas Are Reported During Past Week; One Location Is Rank Wildcat

Led by the large potential of a new producer of the Yates Pool, West Texas completions during the week past numbered 14 in all, 13 of them adding a total of 79,372 barrels daily potential to the area and one being a dry hole.

During the same period, 12 operations were first reported, nine being field obligations on proven acreage, two seeking to extend the present known limits of production, and one drilling in strictly wildcat territory.

The reported new wildcat, not as yet officially confirmed, is scheduled for location in the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 22, block A-21, public school land, Gaines county. The test, being drilled up by Lon Slogner, according to reports, will test territory midway between the Means pool of northern Andrews county and the present wildcat operations of Walsh and Adams northwest of Seminole, Gaines county. It is about five miles north and slightly west of a dry hole drilled by Gill et al.

Fuhrman No. 2-B Boner, an old well drilled deeper, was put on the completed list this week. Located 420 feet from the north line and 1320 feet from the east line of section 25, block A-43, public school land, Andrews county, the well drilled to a new total depth of 4490 feet and shot. No new gauge was taken.

Only report of the new well in Ector county was a Penn Field location by Simms, their No. 3 University to be drilled 330 feet from the north line and 2970 feet from the east line of section 1, block 35, university land.

Mid-Continent completed another sizeable producer in the Sayre pool of northern Winkler county when their No. B-4 Howe, located 330 feet from the south line and 990 feet from the west line of section 12, block 26, public school land, gauged 750 barrels daily flow through casing after a shot of 100 quarts from 2790 to 2993 feet.

A half mile west of present production of the same pool, Warlickmaier made location for No. 1 Walton, 330 feet from the east line and 990 feet from the south line of section 3, same block. Also on the west side of the pool but within the present production limit line, location was made for Atlantic No. 1-J Hendrick, 330 feet from the north line and 2310 feet from the east line of section 14, block 26. This is an east offset to Westbrook's recently completed producer.

In southern Winkler county, seeking a west extension of the Halley area, Emperor made location for No. 1 Woodley-Halley, 2310 feet from the north line and 1550 feet from the west line of section 12, block B-12, public school land.

A MEMORIAL TO WILL ROGERS

When Will Rogers died, he left millions of friends who had become intimates through the stage, radio, motion pictures, newspapers and magazines. They mourned the man and his philosophy—his kindness to mankind.

Thousands of these friends actively proposed memorials. No less than a score of organizations were formed for the purpose. These were merged and the Will Rogers Memorial Commission was formed—a group of Rogers' nationally prominent and responsible friends, headed by Vice-President John N. Garner.

Now with all local and sectional efforts directed into one whole-hearted, national plan, millions of Will Rogers' friends may participate in a worthy, recognized and responsible contribution to the memory of Will Rogers.

After Rogers' millions of friends had had an opportunity to make their contribution to his memory, the sum will be totalled beside the number of contributors, which it is believed will run into millions of friendships.

Then a group including Dr. J. C. Bushyhead, Amos G. Carter, Harry Chandler, James M. Cox, Charles Curtis, John W. Davis, Charles G. Fawes, Herbert Fleischacker, Henry Ford, John N. Garner, Will H. Hays, Herbert C. Hoover, Patrick J. Hurley, Jesse H. Jones, Mrs. Roberta Campbell, Lawson, E. W. Marland, Frank F. Merriam, Alfred E. Smith, Fred Stone, George Young, Owen D. Young, and other men of prestige and judgment will, with the help of public suggestions, decide on the ultimate form of the memorials.

Naturally, the judgment must be indicated by the total of the subscriptions. But one thing is certain, the Commission will sponsor no cold shaft of marble for this warm, friendly man.

Rather, there will be living, continuing memorials projected to honor the charitable, educational and humanitarian traits which were so beloved in Will Rogers, the living man.

Rogers, who was kind-hearted and sympathetic, a man of the people, in life, must be recalled in memory as he lived.

Money, alone, is not the goal. Naturally, the total subscribed must be reflected in the ultimate choice of memorials. But the real goal in the eyes of the Committee must rest in the number of friendships registered in the campaign—the total number of people who will come forward to honor the memory of their friend with a material token of that friendship. Millions, it is anticipated, will voice their appreciation of Will Rogers in a contribution—millions who have laughed and cried with Rogers in his expressed understanding of mankind.

The Will Rogers Memorial Commission, composed of responsible, respected men and women—all friends of Will Rogers and his family—selected without regard to politics, race or religion, but band together by a mutual love of Will Rogers and a desire to properly perpetuate his spirited memory, will handle all funds collected.

Every single penny subscribed will be used for memorials to Will Rogers. In keeping with his love of flying and those interested in aviation, the expenses of gathering the fund are being borne by the aviation industry.

Subscription of funds will begin on November 4, the fifty-sixth anniversary of Will Rogers' birth. They will continue to Thanksgiving Eve, November 27. Contributions will be received by banks, trust companies and newspapers, designation of which will be made locally.

Letter to Quack

Do you believe in dreams? I don't as a rule but occasionally there comes out of the mysticism of the uncontrolled mind a presentation that compels serious thought. It dreams come true is an old commentary of what should happen if one were awake. By way of illustration I will relate a case in point. Millard Eldson sent me from his home two notes of a fairly large amount signed by a debtor. It became necessary to bring these two notes into a schedule affecting a branch of business that was being prepared for income tax purposes. Those notes could not be located. They were not in their regular place. They seemed to have disappeared. I hunted high and low with no result. I worried over the matter for a week or more. One night Millard stood by my bedside and told me that I would find the notes in the right hand drawer of my safe. I awoke only to find that it was a dream and that Millard was at home in New Mexico more than a hundred miles away. However, I dressed and came to the office in a fever of excitement. I opened the safe and drew out the receipt in which he had told me I could find them and, lo, and behold, there they were. How do you or anyone else account for that? Everyone has had experiences that would prompt a dream premonition. You can be as sarcastic about the matter as you wish but that dog-gone brain of yours that cannot be analyzed does tricks that are bewildering. While you are asleep it keeps on working and, possibly of its own accord and beyond your control, it paints a picture that may not

VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Denton Borger of Pittsburgh, Pa., Mrs. Fred Wilcox, and Mrs. Perriman were guests at the chapel program Friday morning.

SPECIAL PROGRAM

The student body of Midland High are looking forward to the Armistice program because of the special number, the first play directed by Miss Cummings. The play, "On Armistice Day" is full of surprises and will be of special interest to the students because of their immediate association with the actors. The cast as follows, was chosen by Miss Cummings: C. A. Goldsmith, Dorothy Lou Speed, Willie Merle Caffey, Mary Beth Scruggs, James Walker, R. D. Hamlin, James Connor, Elmer Huff, Jane Dunagan.

LITERARY SOCIETY INITIATION

The Literary Society initiation, held Thursday, went off smoothly without a "hitch." It proved to be one of the most interesting initiations conducted in Midland High School for quite some time.

Before classes started, the freshmen and new students were assembled on each side of the building according to whether they were male or female.

Each two girls had their legs tied together and races were held to test their "cooperation." Other girls were humiliated by having to roll peanuts with their noses out on the campus.

The boys were compelled to play indoor baseball with their ankles tied together, and the famous John Rettig had "more fun" rooting a pean around in a circle.

The second part of the initiation was held during the chapel period and was conducted again by the

SPORTS CHATTER

The Midland High School Bulldogs rested this weekend after receiving an embarrassing 19-0 defeat from the Wink Wildcats last weekend. Several of the players are wearing "charlie horses" and injuries, while the remainder of the squad is working out each afternoon preparing for the Stanton-Midland tilt here November 8th.

Unless the Bulldogs improve a lot over what they did at Wink, the Buffaloes are liable to play the Bulldogs a close game. Stanton always plays Midland harder than any other team in the district because they think that if they can beat Midland they have had a successful season.

For many reasons the Stanton-Midland gridiron battle promises to be one of the best games of the season.

Coach "Hindle" of Stanton, a former Midland coach, says his Bison are ready for the Bulldogs.

THE REACTION OF THE "FISH"

Taken as a whole, I believe the "Fish" were great sports in the Literary Society initiation. There was a bit of discomfort on the part of some of the pupils, especially those poor unfortunates who were compelled to wear the attire of the opposite sex. I, for one, believe the "fish" got as much fun out of the initiation as the seniors. They laughed as they went through the races and did not refrain from any comment. Some disobeyed the rules, but fortunately they were seldom caught. Being more in contact with boys, I saw their reaction to the initiation more than that of the girls. However, I heard no complaint, at least no serious ones; therefore the freshmen and new comers were satisfied.

LATIN INITIATION

The Latin initiation will be held sometime in the near future, so this warning to the freshmen and new pupils taking Latin is given. This is to prepare them for one of the most unusual and best initiations ever held in Midland High School. It is reported by the seniors and juniors of the Latin club that the Literary Society initiation will not compare with the one in store for the new Latin students.

BAND GETS NEW UNIFORMS

New uniforms for the Midland High School Band were ordered Wednesday, October 16, and are expected to be here some time in the latter part of November. They are to be of military type with purple coats and white trousers. The drum major's gold uniform with purple trimmings will be especially snappy. The new uniforms will not only add to the beauty of appearance, but will attract new interest among the members.

EVERYDAY

Here goes on another year of the old Midland High News. It's customary to always make the first edition as good as possible, so here goes.

Everyday I'm wondering if this Bearden and Matlock affair has ceased, or was there an affair? (I'll be sure to post my history grade.)

Everyday these "fish" are getting smarter. One told me that it wasn't exactly the high school that he minded, it was just the principle of the thing.

Ah, I see romance sparking in a certain Ed Dorsey's eye. Could it be for that gal that has such pretty black hair and is a sophomore? I think that her initials are B. E. R.

After Italy's war on Ethiopia, I'm wondering if Joe Louis will sign to fight Shirley Temple next.

Has a certain blonde peepsquad leader and a certain black headed boy broken up for good? My advice to the girl is to make up. You might need him in the annual queen race.

Around about the campus we find together: Jimmy and Wanda, Leo and Darlene, Chick and E. B., Bill and Melrose, Lige and Lucille, Thurman and Lucy.

Has "Rip" and Johnny made up for good?

That guy who writes "Poison Ivy" thinks that the moon is made of green cheese. Well, don't let that worry you, Mr. Fuller, the moon thinks the same about you.

How much truth is there in the Dumb-looking fish: "Chicken."

I WONDER WHEN

Chick and E. B. will break up?
Wimpy will get a hair cut?
Some teachers will quit giving demerits?
Gabriel will blow his horn?
We wondered why Cornelia Campbell changes boy friends so often.
"Chick" said E. B. loved her and La Moine fainted. She thought Chick said A. B.

PUBLIC SPEAKING DEPARTMENT

Midland High School is very proud of its new department of public speaking.

Heretofore, public speaking, debating, and dramatics have been directed by teachers of other subjects, but will now come under one department, Miss Cummings, who is director of the department has extensive plans for the year, and results of her efforts are already being seen. Speeches which have been given in chapel this year are among the best that have ever been given in Midland High.

The public speaking classes have two main aims: to develop better speaking, and to bring out the originality of the individual that he may develop a pleasing personality.

Though the speech classes are comparatively small they are very interesting and profitable.

One of the first interesting projects of the students was the making of books. These have very attractive covers which express the individuality of the owner. In these books is kept any material which might be later used in speeches.

The classes are now studying parliamentary law. This is not only for those who aspire to be congressmen, but for anyone who would be a good citizen. In order to conduct any organization properly it is necessary to know parliamentary law, so that business may be quickly and effi-

MIDLAND CITY COUNCIL RULES THAT DELINQUENT WATER AND SEWER BILLS MUST BE PAID OR THE SERVICE SHUT OFF

To avoid working possible hardships on customers, the City for the past several months has been lenient in the collection of water and sewer bills, and refrained from shutting off any one's service, but conditions have improved to the point where it is thought that these bills should be paid. Therefore, the City Council, in session October 17, 1935, ordered that notice be given through the paper and individually that delinquent bills must be paid by November 11th, or the service of such customers discontinued.

According to the Council no exceptions shall be made in carrying out their order, therefore City employees will have no choice in the matter and should not be blamed for any inconvenience that may occur to those failing to pay their bills before the final date. It is sincerely hoped by the City officials and employees that it will not be necessary to cause such inconvenience.

By order of the City Council, Oct. 17, 1935. Oct. 27-Nov. 3-8-10.

Demoralizing Playmate Is Real Peril That Parents Must Face in Child Rearing

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Many letters from mothers tell of their disapproval of the neighbors' children as playmates for their own.

Two from widely separated cities presented almost identical problems. In one case a little boy neighbor acted "as though he was not quite right." The other writer mentioned a small girl who was nervous and silly and full of bad habits.

In both stories these mothers told how their own children had changed from quiet mannerly folk to untidy rowdies, aping the habits of the daily visitors and losing interest in normal play and toys.

"And yet," said both letters in effect, "children need company. There are no other children near and to forbid these undesirable house seems cruel. They won't take telling their own mothers about it. In such matters we have our own property and can't move, what is to be done?"

Must Decide Themselves

I am asked to settle what these worried ladies cannot settle for themselves. If they cannot find an answer, I wonder if Solomon could. In such matters the parent instinct should find a way, because there is no code that covers neighbors or neighbors' children and each case has its intimate bearings that an outsider cannot know.

A woman's house is her castle, her children and their future are hers to look out for—she is responsible and that responsibility gives her authority.

If the daily visitor is a nuisance, if the effect of his presence is a constant risk to the standards she has set for her own children, and mother has the right to say, "Go home and don't come back." And to her own small fry, "Play alone when you are outside."

She may be more tactful about it than that, and maneuver skillfully to bring it about, but determination will find a way.

Years' Training Endangered

Yes, children need company, but this does not mean "any" company. The "other" child, full of bad habits, is always easy to follow. Good children seldom bring the outlaws up to their level. It is almost always the other way about. The things it has taken a mother months and years to build up can be destroyed in a few short weeks by one incorrigible.

She cannot touch the neighbor child. She is absolutely "verbotten." To lecture him is hopeless. She cannot salvage what someone else as persistently ruins. And why should she bother when she is busy enough as it is?

True, there are times, if the material is right, when a kindly effort will reclaim the neglected child. In such cases the child has been saved by the influence of a good neighbor (the mother of his friends), but this is not the type of child in question here.

First and last the duty of any mother is to her own family. Little children not yet in school are easily influenced by example. If too close contact with an undesirable is jeopardizing the four-and-five-year-olds at home, no one will dispute the right of the mother to say to Jimmy, "Here's your hat—what's your hurry?"

Fifty-Five Children Attend Baptist Party Friday

Fifty-five children attended the Halloween party for the Junior department of the Baptist Sunday school teachers Mrs. A. C. Blackburn, 1st annex Friday evening.

Guests came in costume but did not wear masks.

Mr. Claude O. Crane directed the various games and told a ghost story in the dark.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Middleton were honor guests, the former making a talk.

Following the games simple refreshments were served and favors of lollipops were distributed.

Mr. Ronald Morgan was in charge of arrangements for the party.

Adults present besides the honor guests, Mr. Crane and Mr. Morgan, included the following Sunday school teachers: Mrs. A. C. Blackburn, Spurgeon Blackburn, Mrs. Tyson Midkiff, Mrs. D. S. Hughes, Mr. Hursiel Howard.

There was a "swimming match," to the "painless dentist," and last to the witch hut where Mrs. Hursiel Howard, in the guise of a witch, told all comers their fortunes.

The guests were then divided into groups and a number of games were played after which a refreshment plate was served.

Halloween balloons and horns were favors.

Present were: Maxine Thurman, Maxine Hays, Berdian Rains, Wanda George, Kitty Jean Ellis, Dorothy Richardson, Lola Pearl Jones, Marcella Strawn, Lillian Arnett, Vera Webb, Helen Ruth Merrill, Neva Rae Drake, Omara Hobbs, Sybil Bizzell, Louis Fickett, Cleo Pace, Spurgeon Blackburn, Franklin Stickney, Bob Crane, George Walker, Howard Ford, Clifton Lee, Val Burton.

Modern Youth's Recklessness Calls For Return of Social Chaperon

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Nothing makes me so angry as to hear a smug girl of sixteen call her mother old-fashioned. Or a youth too young to shave call his father an old fogey. Young people today have a habit of thinking that anyone born in or previous to 1900 lived in the dark ages before civilization began.

I'm not referring to the usual old bromide about youth and old age, everyone knows that at sixteen he thought his own parents ancient. That's easy to understand.

It is, rather, the misconception about the "slowness" of living when poor mother and dad were young, and the hangover of such sad days at the turn of the century, the idea of by-gone chaperones, dry parties and no cars — incredible to today's children.

The other day a friend went to a football game with her son and daughter. The boy chafed because he wanted to be with his crowd, but he endured the ignominy of escorting a girl and a sister.

How Times Have Changed

As they made their way out, the lady began to notice the empty flasks lying about. By the time they had reached the stadium gate she was shocked beyond belief.

She and her husband had been present at the same game many times, but not once in the old days could she recall seeing so much as a beer bottle after a game.

"If Bill had been with the crowd he'd have been drinking," she thought. "He's just at the age when he wants to be smart. Poor Billy. What chance does a boy have today? Parents have no influence against all this."

She also interested herself in two or three places where Mary and her friends often drove for a few rounds of dancing. "Just the school crowd, half of them neighbors," she had complacently assured herself.

Quietly she and her husband took to dropping in for coffee and a sandwich. Once she saw a man from another table who had been drinking mightily, tap Skip Miller on the shoulder and step off with Mary. Almost every girl at Mary's table danced with one or more of the older strangers, men of a type she would not have admitted to her house.

Mother Tightens Reins

"It's all just fun," insisted Mary. "Mother, you just can't understand, you're so old-fashioned. Young people know what they're doing."

"If you like dancing with a whisky breath down your neck, my dear, you are less fastidious than I thought. If it takes that to give you a thrill, then I consider you just a bit vulgar."

"It's all in the way you look at it," said Mary. "You just can't understand, Mother."

This mother prides herself on understanding and tolerance and broad vision. But she has suddenly changed her point of view and tightened the reins; she refuses permission to roadhouses, and has penalties for a gin-touched breath. "As sure as you're living," she declares, "we're headed straight for the old-time chaperone again, and the dry party, and a higher age-limit for car licenses."

In Star-Studded Hit

One of the highlights of "Broadway Melody of 1936," M. G. M.'s new gay screen jamboree, now playing through Tuesday at the Uccia Theatre, is the singing and dancing of Jane Knight, seen above with Robert Taylor. Heading the cast is Jack Benny, outstanding comedian of radio, and Eleanor Powell, the world's greatest feminine tap dancer. "Broadway Melody of 1936" is one of the first smash hits of the new movie season. Others in the cast include Una Merkel, Sid Silvers, and Frances Langford.

Town Ousts "Hobby"

DELPHOS, O. (U.P.) — The "hobby" of Dr. J. N. Sadler, dentist, has been destroyed by city council. The solons have voted to abolish the office of fingerprint expert, which had been operated by Dr. Sadler as a hobby, saving Delphos $25 a month.

It is said that it is possible to make a razor blade that would keep its edge indefinitely without stropping, but such a blade would cost approximately $25.

Whom Heleh Droppelman is turning her attention to since she is on "disagreeing terms" with Jack Walton. Who is over at the creamery that attracted Willie Merle's attention so much. Whom Dorothy Nell watches so closely. Who has been snitching all the lipstick for the girls. Who came between Phebe Ann and Franklin Manning--and it was a senior boy at that. Whom Clarke Leggett had a date with Sunday night. Who has the best looking physique in the junior class--in fact, in high school. Whom Billy Nobles' flaming moment is. Whom Glen Stephens' has fallen for. Could it be Jean Smith? Whom Lorena Dunagan has eyes for--a junior boy. Who is one of John Rettig's most ardent admirers--junior girl--blonde hair--takes Latin. TEACHERS UNKNOWN

Teachers are queer animals, that is most of them. Sometimes they're not so good and other times "of the ocean they're the gem". I say animals. Well, the way this menagerie is run, I think they all have quite a lot of fun. Now our high school faculty is composed of nineteen. All of them are all right, but some of them are keen. When it comes to assembly they all take great pride in hearing us recite "About Us and Adam" side by side. About the singing, the new teachers say, "Well" (mostly for Mr. Lackey's impression) "that sounds simply swell." As for the old teachers, they're so used to the noise that they just sit and take it like good girls and boys. Mr. Shifflet, the bass and Mr. Lackey does too. And the whole student body sits and wishes for something new. But teachers as a whole are fine. I guess. At least they have never failed to get one of us out of a mess. Our dear English teachers, Misses Burns, Gaden and Gamm, talk fast and furious like they were chewing gum or maybe wax. The way they give demerits is one thing I just forgot to mention. Why, they'll even stay with you hours at a time in detention. Sometimes they look mean, which is a fake; for if we use them for examples, what fine people we'll make. Mrs. Scruggs is the one who teaches shorthand and typing, and never to student, teacher or principal does she do any griping. Mr. Bearden is the hand some one who teaches history. And why he wants to teach is to me a mystery. Miss Cartwright is certainly one who does not have that nasal twang. She takes deep breaths, speaks loudly, but she often uses slang. Our coach is known over north, south, east, and west. His muscles are so large he splits the buttons of his vest. Miss Cummings as you all know is really good at public speaking. One of many aims is to keep the voice from squeaking. Our band director, Mr. Shrader, is very fat, but if you ask him to do you a favor, he'll do just that. All our teachers are better than nearly any other by the looks of our grades, you couldn't prove it by our mothers.

Famous Stars Are United In Cast Of Picture at Ritz

The screen's greatest outdoor heroes unite in RKO Radio's "Powder-smoke Range" now showing through the Ritz. To give that flashing drama of the early cattle country the most brilliant cast in the history of western pictures. Harry Carey, Tom Gibson, Quinn "Big Boy" Williams, Bob Steele, Tom Tyler, Frank Rice, Franklin Farnum, Bill Desmond, William Farnum, Wally Wales, Art Mix, Buffalo Bill, J. E. Barton, Eddie Dunn, Adrian Morris and Ray Mayer are among the hard riding, straight shooting stars of today and yesterday assembled in this round-up of cowboy talent. Carrying the feminine lead in this real western epic is Boots Mallory, blonde beauty who started her acting career as a featured show girl in George White's "Scandals" and Ziegfeld's "Follies," later to become one of the screen's most popular young featured players. She shares the romantic interest of the story with Steele. Sam Hardy, veteran favorite, plays the conspiring menace of the action drama which centers in Los Pinos, California cattle town of the late sixties. Wallace Fox directed the picture, which is based on the novel of the same name by the noted western writer, William Colt MacDonald. Cliff Reid supervised.

Allred Sets Nov. 4 For Honoring Memory Of Beloved Will Rogers

As a part of the nationwide movement to memorialize the nation's best loved character, Will Rogers, Governor James V. Allred this week set aside Nov. 4, as official Will Rogers Day in Texas.

This proclamation follows: "To all to whom these presents shall come: On Friday, August 16, 1935, Will Rogers died, idol of America, beloved by all who knew him, his untimely passing brought a greater sense of individual loss and sorrow to every American citizen than any man who has ever commanded the attention or affection of the people. In the words of Reverend J. Whitcomb Brounger, Sr., who officiated at the Will Rogers memorial services in Glendale, California, "There are many hills, but only here and there a great towering Mt. Shasta; There are many streams, but only here and there a great Mississippi; There are many trees, but only here and there a great Sequoia gigantea; There are many echoes, but only now and then an original voice; There are many musicians, but only now and then a Mendelssohn or a Mozart; There are many politicians, but only now and then a great statesman; There are many people, but only now and then an outstanding individual."

The nation still is stunned and sorrowful. It is impossible to realize that Will Rogers is really gone from us. Will Rogers needs no monument. He built his own monument, he wrote his own epitaph in the hearts and affections of people from every walk of life. He was the greatest apostle of sunshine of jovious humor, of fellowship, the world has never known. He still lives because his work lives. "To live in mankind is far, far more than to live in a name."

To perpetuate his memory, to fittingly attest a nation's love for the ideals Will Rogers represented, a nation-wide movement is under way. It is headed by outstanding citizens everywhere who have agreed to give unselfishly of their time and means, in order that a proper foundation for service to human-kind may be permanently established. Every man, woman and child, from the highest to the lowest walks of life, will be given an opportunity to participate.

As but a small part of the program, on Monday, November 4th, every bank in the nation will open special "Will Rogers Memorial" accounts. Every man, woman or child who has ever chuckled at the homely philosophy of Will Rogers, whose

GENERAL ADVANCE IS SHOWN IN ALL LINES OF BUSINESS

September Sales 41 Per Cent Better Than August

DALLAS, Nov. 2. (P)--A general advance along the united front of business, industry and agriculture is reflected in the monthly business review of the federal reserve bank of Dallas, released today. "A further expansion in retail buying in larger cities and a continuation of generally favorable conditions in the agricultural and livestock industries were significant features of the business and industrial situation in this district during the past month," is the Review's summation of the outlook. September Increase 41 Percent. The September sales of department stores increased 41 per cent as compared with August, the Review continues, and were seven per cent larger than in the same month last year. The bank's adjusted index of department store sales rose to 91.7 per cent of the 1923-25 average during September, which was 3.4 points higher than in August and the highest reported in more than four years.

In the wholesale trade, there was a considerable lack of uniformity in merchandise distribution. September business as affected adversely by the slow movement of the cotton crop and, in some lines, by the heavy early season purchases. While comparisons with a year ago were unfavorable in some lines it should be recalled, the Review explains, that business was unusually heavy at that time. Wholesale collections reflected a seasonal increase over those of the previous month.

In the realm of agriculture and stock raising, the Review says that all growing crops, except cotton, generally were favored by weather conditions during the last month. Heavy rains throughout the district were beneficial to late maturing crops, which was reflected in the increased production forecast by the Department of Agriculture in its Oct. 1 report. "The good surface and subsoil season obtaining has enabled farmers to proceed with fall plowing and seeding operations. On the other hand, the cotton crop showed further deterioration, due largely to insect damage, and the wet weather delayed picking and ginning."

Ranges Show Improvement. The condition of ranges and livestock reflected a marked gain during the past month, the Review reports. Prospects for winter pasturage are good in practically all sections and livestock are in better flesh than usual for this season. Commercial reports indicate that range trading has been very active and that wool and mohair has been moving in volume at increased prices.

Prediction Made Mid-Continent Area Will Lead Drilling

TULSA, Okla. (Sp.)—The Mid-Continent oil area will again lead the United States in well drilling for 1935, according to a prediction of W. B. Way, general manager of the International Petroleum Exposition which will hold its ninth show here May 16 to 23, 1935.

Way points out that the Mid-Continent area drilled 55 per cent of the nation's wells in 1934 and that during the first part of 1935 several sections of the Mid-Continent showed big gains over the like period of 1934.

"Drilling is still an important factor in the oil industry and with so much drilling going on in the Mid-Continent section it is logical that the petroleum industry's world fair, the International Petroleum Exposition, should show the latest trends and the most recent improvements in production equipment," said Way. "Although the ninth exposition is eight months away space has already been sold for the display of six different rigs and drilling outfits, at least three of which will be making hole."

Delinquent Water, Sewer Bills Must Be Paid to City

Water users of the city of Midland have been notified by the city council that delinquent water and sewer bills must be paid up or service will have to be discontinued. Officials pointed out that for several months the city practiced extreme leniency in credits because of the stressed conditions but that now, with the return of employment, the bills must be paid up. November 11 has been set as the final date for payment of the delinquent bills and no exceptions will be made in the stopping of service for unpaid bills, it was announced.

Chevrolet Reduces '36-Model Prices

DETROIT.—The Chevrolet Motor Company announced that, effective with the introduction of its new passenger car models, prices of three of its six Master de luxe models will be reduced below the levels of the 1935 prices, the other prices in this line remaining unchanged. Master de luxe models will be available with either conventional spring suspension or with knee action at slight additional cost. Prices for the new line of Chevrolet Standard models, which introduced fine car completeness at a luxury to the lowest-priced field, range from $495 for the coupe to $600 for the sport sedan. Chevrolet for the first time offers a sport sedan and a town sedan in the Standard line. Like the Master de luxe Chevrolets, the new Standards have perfected hydraulic brakes and solid feel turret top Fisher bodies. They are of longer wheelbase than the 1935 Standard series, and there is a full line of models available. Prices of the two lines are as follows: Master de luxe—Coach $580; sedan, $640; town sedan, $680; sport sedan, $665; business coupe, $560; sport coupe, $590. Standard Coach, $510; coupe, $495; sedan, $575; town sedan, $535; sport sedan, $600; sedan delivery, $535.

Ninety-Year Old Llano Veteran Recalls Deeds Of Texas Pioneer Days

LLANO, Nov. (P).—E. H. Alexander, the only remaining Civil War veteran of Llano county, observed his 90th birthday anniversary here Oct. 27. He is living in the house he moved into when he came to Llano 46 years ago. Alexander, a native Texan and a former Llano county official, enlisted in the Confederate army in 1863, a few days before his eighteenth birthday. He spent the two years he was in the army in Texas and Louisiana.

He was born at Columbus, Texas, under the flag of the Republic and his forebears were closely identified with the early history of the state. His grandfather, Amos Alexander, came from Pennsylvania to Texas in 1833 and settled first at Columbus. He later located at Bastrop where he opened a store and a hotel. Killed by Indians On one of his trips to Galveston to get merchandise for his son, Amos, Jr., who was about 15 years old, were killed by the Indians. The tragedy occurred about two miles from the little town of Ledbetter in Fayette county, and several years ago E. H. Alexander had a monument erected at the place where his grandfather was killed and buried. Mr. Alexander relates that his grandfather and his son were returning from Galveston in a wagon and were riding ahead of two other men accompanying them. As they drove into a little branch, later named Alexander creek, in their memory, the Indians sprang from both sides of the road and fired on them. The father fell dead instantly, but Amos, although shot through the body was able to ride back to the other wagon and tell them what had happened. They started for Moore's fort at La Grange but after they had traveled a short distance the wounded youth, unable to go farther because of his suffering, begged to be left behind. The men placed him under a tree on the roadside, covered him with leaves and moss and fastened on to La Grange. When they returned to the place with Colonel John H. Moore young Amos was dead. They buried him at that spot, then went to the creek and found his father's body and buried it there. Colonel Moore followed the Indians' trail for some distance but was unable to overtake them.

Served Under Houston Alexander's father, L. W. Alexander, served under General Sam Houston in Texas' struggle for independence. He was in the Battle of the Miss Conception in 1835, and was with Houston when he was marching toward San Antonio to reinforce Travis. They were met at Gonzales by Mrs. Dickinson, wife of Lieutenant Dickinson who met death in the battle of the Alamo, and she told them that Travis and all of his men had been killed in the Alamo. General Houston's forces then began to retreat in what is known in Texas history as "The runaway scrape." E. H. Alexander returned to Columbus after the Civil War, bought a farm, and lived there for several years. In 1878 he and his wife moved to Burnet, coming on to Llano a few years later. Mrs. Alexander died here in 1933. They had been married 64 years. The veteran served as county surveyor of Llano county from 1888 to 1894. In 1898 he was elected district and county clerk of Llano county, holding the office six years. He later served several terms as county commissioner. He is in good health except for impaired vision. He has five children: T. H. Alexander of La Pryor, Mrs. L. E. Newberry of Chihuahua, Mexico; Mrs. E. J. Dalrymple of Llano, Mrs. J. F. Buttery of Llano, and Hardy Alexander of Austin.
