BILLION DOLLAR TAX FIRED ON

Newfoundland Prime Minister Almost Victim of Rioters

ST. JOHNS CONTROLLED BY BIG MOB

15,000 Protest the Blocking of an Investigation

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, April 6. (UP)—Mob rioters ruled St. Johns today after storming parliament buildings, wrecking the governor's offices, and assaulting Prime Minister Sir Richard Squires.

The prime minister's life was saved by a Catholic priest who took him to a nearby house where he escaped through a back door.

Fifteen thousand protested against alleged blocking of a popular demand for an investigation of the government.

The cabinet reported that the governor was ready to resign as soon as he could get in touch with the prime minister.

The rioting was a result of an acute economic situation here and attributed by several prominent leaders to dilatory tactics of the government in dealing with public demands for relief.

Warrant Issue to Follow in B'Spring

BIG SPRING.—A maintenance fund warrant issue of $25,000 will be placed on sale here within the next few days by the Big Spring Independent school district for the purpose of raising a fund which will meet the salary of teachers for the past three months of the school session.

Warrants are in $100 denominations secured by two-thirds of the delinquent school tax totaling $55,000. Warrants will bear 8 per cent interest, maturing in three years.

Rapid growth of scholastic population beginning four years ago making necessary the construction of three ward school buildings and practically doubling the number of teachers caused indebtedness and operation costs of the district to rise out of proportion to tax revenues. During the past year of scholastic enrollment and income was about to become balanced, but the payment for 1931 has made necessary the issuance of these warrants to pay the teachers for the balance of the year.

New Mexico Church Held as Sanctuary

Nestled against the foothills of the Sangre de Cristo mountains in New Mexico, surrounded by the quiet village of Chimayo, 25 miles north of Santa Fe, is the sanctuary (sanctuary), a church built about 1816 upon what is considered sacred ground by the natives.

The sanctuary is not a mission church built for the Christianizing of the Indians, but was erected as a monument of appreciation for temporal prosperity and good health by a pious man of Chimayo, Don Bernardo Abeyta.

A modest little church, 60 feet long and 25 feet wide, with walls of adobe three feet thick, is probably more widely known among the Spanish people throughout the southwest than any other church or cathedral.

Whispers went out that the church and the earth beneath it, were miracles of healing, and the church has become a shrine. Pilgrims come from far and near to pray at the altar and to carry back home a few grains of the precious soil that is supposed to cure all manner of illness.

It is no unusual sight to see from 50 to 100 pilgrims wending their way to the church each day, many footsore and weary, others arriving in state automobiles or wagons. From as far south as Chihuahua, Mexico, to the northern boundaries of Colorado, they come.

For several generations the church was privately owned, Don Bernardo having willed the church to his daughter, Carmen, upon his death. It was the girl's pride and joy, and she kept it in perfect order during her lifetime. Within the past few years it has come into the possession of the Catholic church board.

Never have the natives of Chimayo encouraged the invasion of their shrine by "foreigners." Until recently, one was in grave danger of injury did one dare to even snap a picture of the church. The natives thought it was sacrilege.

She's Hollywood's "Russian Menace"

The blonde beauty of Anna Sten, 22 year old Russian film star soon will grace Hollywood. She first was noted in an imported picture, "The Brothers Karamazov," and then with Emil Jannings in "Tempest." An American cinema producer got on the cables—and she'll head for this country soon. She has been in pictures since she was 15.

WIGGINS BEATS MCKINNEY FOR ODESSA MAYOR

ODESSA, April 6. (UP)—V. C. Wiggins, furniture dealer, was elected mayor of Odessa in elections here Tuesday.

Wiggins defeated S. R. McKinney who has served as mayor since Odessa was incorporated several years ago.

Legion Agrees No Money Is Logical

WASHINGTON, April 6. (UP)—President Hoover's secretary, Theodore Joslin, announced today that Henry L. Stevens, national commander of the American Legion, had informed Hoover that the national organization strongly endorses his opposition to any further appropriations at this time for payment of the soldier bonus.

Williamson Says Scouters Expected

A large attendance of Midland scouters is expected at the executive board meeting of the Buffalo Trail scout council Monday evening at the Settles hotel, Big Spring.

A. C. Williamson, executive, was in Midland this morning, bound for Odessa, Wink and Pecos. He said he had talked with scout leaders of Midland and that they favor attending the meeting and bringing up summer encampment plans.

It will be decided that evening, and the encampment date will be set.

The meeting will begin at 6:30. A refreshment course will be served.

Guards Placed Outside Windows

CHICAGO, April 6. (UP)—Police today placed guards about the exclusive Gold Coast apartment of Wallace F. Kirk, wealthy advertising executive, after hoodlums attempted to obtain information regarding his family.

It is believed that a kidnap plot is planned against two children of the Kirk family.

TEACHER ILL
Mrs. Jack Bernard of Stanton was rushed to a Midland hospital today at noon suffering from an attack of pneumonia. She is a teacher in the Rankin schools.

POSSIBILITY OF ADDITIONAL RACE ENTRIES POINTS TO BIGGER PURSE

Entrance fees on four horses had assured the race at Cowboy park Saturday afternoon and prospects for two or three additional entries were held today by promoters of the event.

Jay H. Floyd, who has arranged a three-eighths mile event, free to the public, for 3 o'clock Saturday, announced that Trammell's Nellie Harrison, Cook's Billy B. Robertson, Molly Malone and Netherlin's Moonlight had been entered.

BELIEVE AVIATORS ASSISTING

Planes Fly Low Over Lindbergh Estate, Dip, Leave

HOPEWELL, April 6. (UP)—Possibility that Col. Lindbergh received signals from his comrades of the air, which might aid in the search for his kidnaped child, arose when three planes circled the mansion twice then disappeared to the north, the direction from which they came.

Renewed activity and a chain of hope-inspiring events during the past 24 hours led to strengthened belief that the child would be returned soon.

No actual basis for such belief was advanced by investigators working with the family.

Restless Raider Can't Settle Down

TROUP. (UP)—The restless spirit that gave him a career as a member of Quantrell's famous outlaw band—outlaw, buffalo hunter, Indian fighter and soldier—still prods Frank Dalton to "move on" even at the age of 84.

"I'm too old to change my habit and settle down," declares Dalton, who claims he is the last survivor of the follower of that colorful Civil war character, Quantrell. "As soon as the weather clears up, I'll move on. Roaming is a sort of habit with me—I like to keep moving."

WELFARE DRIVE DATES SET BY COMMITTEEMEN

By W. ILY PRATT
Dates for the annual drive for funds to support the Midland Welfare association were announced today as April 11, 12, 13, Aubrey S. Legg, general chairman of the drive, made the announcement in a brief concise appeal at the regular meeting of the Lions club at noon.

Chairmen of the various major committees have prepared detailed statements of the vast amount of work that has been done during the past year, and it is confidently expected that the citizenship will respond in a measure sufficient to meet the needs. The various reports reflect the dire need of such an organization, as well as credit upon those who have so willingly done the greater part of the work. It is hoped that every citizen will identify himself in this worthy effort and do his part toward the carrying on of this community duty and responsibility. Midland can well congratulate itself on having such an efficient organization during these times and all are urged to continue their loyal support.

The need has been greater and the consequent workings of the association have been greatly enlarged the past year over any previous year. Every department shows that far more time as well as money has been necessary. The organization has been fortunate in being able to have H. M. Becherer devote so much time to the work. He has given a major portion of his time to the administration of the flood relief and under his supervision the distribution of food has been done in an admirable way. Each morning from 7 to 12 at his office in the city hall, those in need of food make application for help. After investigation is made, if there is an able bodied man in the family he is given an order to report for work. Applicants are paid at the rate of 20 cents an hour and payments are made only in orders to local grocers for a stipulated amount of certain wholesome foods. Workers are used by the city street department and where the work is needed the city reimburses the Welfare association. If the work is not absolutely needed no remuneration is given by the city, but the individual being helped is required to do the work. Experience has proved that in this way the morale of those helped is strengthened as well as those unworthy disposed of. No one is given aid without an investigation being made. And no one gets aid who is unwilling to work.

Oldfield Will Try For New Speed Mark

TULSA, Okla. (UP)—Barney Oldfield, who back in 1910 set the world automobile speed record at the then unheard of speed of 131 miles an hour, will attempt to set a new record of 300 miles an hour next week, he announced.

Oldfield, now 54 years old, was here with his wife and daughter, visiting his sister-in-law, Mrs. S. P. Bobst.

The veteran said he would return to the racing game in an attempt to better the world record of 253 miles an hour set by Sir Malcolm Campbell of Great Britain. He has set his goal at 300 miles an hour and will make the attempt on the Daytona beach course.

Oldfield started race driving in 1902. Shortly after the Indianapolis classic in 1916, he retired and has not done much racing since.

Bybee Given Life By Breck Jury

BRECKKENRIDGE, April 6. (UP)—William Milton Bybee, 26, of Pampa, was given life imprisonment by a jury this morning on a murder charge in connection with the killing of Deputy Constable Ollie Parks at a dance hall last month.

Tear Gas Bombs Stop Mine March

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., April 6. (UP)—Tear gas bombs were used by state police and deputy sheriffs today to halt 1,500 striking miners from Ohio as they attempted to march to a mine near here.

None was hurt and no shots fired as the officers dispersed the crowd.

MIDLAND MAY BE BIG FACTOR WHEN TEXAS OIL HEADS FOR WEST COAST

By HOWARD KEGLEY
Staff Writer Los Angeles Times
LOS ANGELES.—That Texas Panhandle crude oil finally is headed for tidewater on the west coast of Mexico is the assertion of James F. Sadler of Los Angeles, who was for years engaged in the oil business at Amarillo and Houston, Tex.

Sadler was here last week preparing plans for a 640-mile oil and gas line to extend from Presidio, Tex., to Topolobampo on the Gulf

Highest Court with New Member

This is how the members of the highest tribunal in the land appear today. It's the first photograph taken of the United States Supreme Court since the appointment of Benjamin Cardozo (standing, extreme right) of New York as Associate Justice to succeed Oliver Wendell Holmes, retired. Seated, left to right, are Associates Justices Louis Brandeis, Brandeis and Willis Van Devanter; Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes; Associate Justices James Clark McReynolds, and George Sutherland. Standing, left to right, Associate Justices Owen J. Roberts, Pierce Butler, Harlan F. Stone, and Cardozo.

After Years of Ambitious Waiting, the Little Theatre to Play "The Old Soak"

When the curtain goes up at 8:15 Friday night on "The Old Soak," Midland theatre-goers will see a little theatre cast march with sure tread through one of the most remarkable stage plays ever presented on the American stage.

It will also see a cast that was selected with precise regard as to honesty of characterization.

And it will see players who not only have fallen into character themselves, but have convinced other members of the cast they are actually stepping out of the pages of Don Marquis' manuscript—thus insuring a unity of presentation that could be no more pronounced if welded.

Aside from the presenting of this long admired play—something the players have looked forward to but have not dared until now to attempt here—Barney T. Smith and the Midland Melody Makers, Midland orchestra, will be in the orchestra pit of the Yucca and, while the scene shifters sweat and tug and heave at stage property and flats between the acts, will play several numbers that range from wild torch music to the more sedate semi-classics.

Joseph A. Seymour, ace up the sleeve of the Midland Little Theatre for three seasons, has come into his own at last. He has been given a role that would be the despair of the average actor. It is a role of pathos and humor and emotional mobility. He has shown before that he is versatile—but his little role of "The Old Soak" even makes other characters sit quietly and watch him in rehearsal. He plays the dejected and absurdly "bum"-by-turn role much like Gene Lewis did when he made the role famous on the Pan-tages circuit of the south.

The casting of Bryan C. Henderson, popular high school coach, as Al, the bootlegger, was a master stroke. Humorous beyond the ordinary even of face, Henderson is a riot in character. He knows the bootlegging business and doesn't fail to tell anybody not in sympathy with him or his racket just where to get "off."

Sam Warren and Stella Maye Lanham, remembered especially for their work in "Sun Up," are again stage lovers, and their technique is even better than it was in the other productions. Mrs. Edwin C. Calhoun had to learn to "hic" but what it takes to play a tipsy maid's role may be learned from her characterization. Miss Elma Graves plays one of the strongest roles ever brought to the little theatre, as the Old Soak's wife, Howard Dunaway and Dick Morse make for a study in contrast all the way through the production, and Mrs. Barney T. Smith brings in a dash of color and vivaciousness that lends balance to the play.

LEGISLATION IS TERMED BANE OF OIL PROSPERITY

Claudia C. Wilde, secretary of the Texas Independent Petroleum association with offices in Fort Worth, predicted a return of the oil business to prosperity, in his speech before the Lions club at noon today.

The oil secretary vigorously opposes national legislation in the oil business and says that the industry should work out its own solution to its problems.

Aubrey S. Legg, manager of Texas Electric Service company, presented the outline upon which the Midland Community Welfare drive will be made next week.

A humorous reading by Miss Lucille McMullan constituted the entertainment for the meeting.

The club met today in the demonstration room of the court house with women of the Christian church serving. The meeting next week will be held in the same place and ladies of the Methodist church will have charge of the meal.

The membership drive being put on by the club is gaining momentum, according to Lions James Nolan and Howard Peters, captains of the two groups.

Viking Graves Are Found in Ukraine

STOCKHOLM. (UP)—Graves of Swedish Vikings have been found near the town of Chernigov in the Ukraine, according to the Swedish antiquarian, T. J. Arne, in the magazine "Acta Archaeologica."

In one of these ancient graves has been found the skeleton of a Swedish viking. On his left side lay the skeleton of a woman and on his right the warrior's horse with full trappings, weapons and a number of objects destined to serve him on his last journey.

Arne believes that, according to Viking custom, the woman either voluntarily followed the Viking to death, or was killed to provide him with a companion into the unknown realm beyond the grave.

A considerable number of graves have been examined and all bore unmistakable evidence of their Viking origin.

BUSINESS RECOVERY AFFECTED

Secretary Mills Is Critical Before Committee

WASHINGTON, April 6. (UP)—The billion-dollar tax bill passed by the house was criticized today by Secretary of Treasury Mills before the senate finance committee.

It enacted "the bill would tend to retard business recovery," he declared.

Mills attacked the corporation tax rate set by the house and declared the stock transfer tax was excessive. He also urged the senate to eliminate the individual dividend tax.

He declared that many house provisions were usually dealt with by a tariff act.

A NEW SPEED TRIAL

A French inventor has devised an automobile which, he says, will be the fastest car ever built, and he is going to bring it to Daytona Beach, Fla., soon in an attempt to break the record of 253 miles an hour recently set by Sir Malcolm Campbell of England.

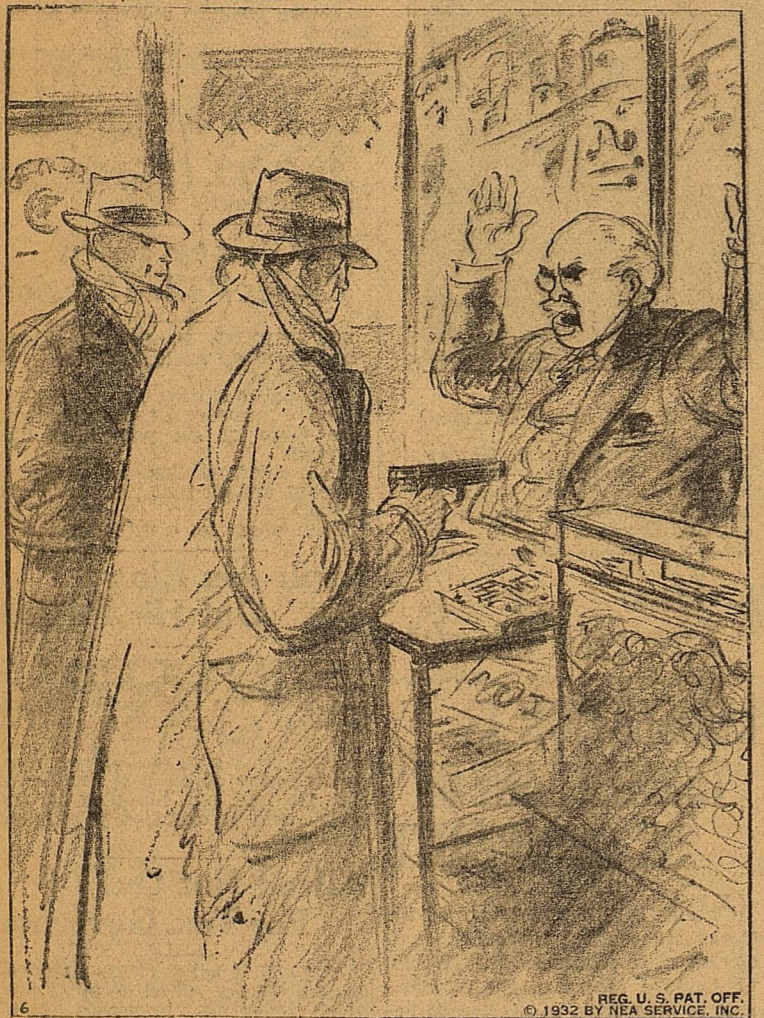

The new car has three engines of 800 horsepower each, and is believed capable of doing something like 350 miles an hour. All of this is mildly interesting, and it probably comes under the head of sport—but what earthly difference does it make? Airplanes can use a speed like that, but automobiles never can.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The newly invented felt-coated steel is undeniably the proper thing for the individual who consistently dents his derby on entering his automobile.

Seed catalogues, robins and the latest reports from the baseball training camps in the South all add to the rumor that spring is already here.

Crossword puzzle grid with clues for horizontal and vertical words. Includes a list of clues and a grid with numbers 1-63.

the HUNTERS BY MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY Susan Carey, 19 and pretty, discourages the attentions of a moody young man, Ben Lammman. She is charmed by the friendship of Robert Dunbar, young millionaire who attends the same downtown business school as Susan. Dunbar courts her one day when she runs away from a would-be employer who becomes affectionate.

Ernest Heath, architect, employs Susan as a temporary secretary. She is delighted at the thought of securing her first job. Mrs. Milton, a friend, upbraids her and all modern girls because of their insistence on entering business.

Susan smiled. Now she knew what she had to do. She had to head before bending over the typewriter in the office across the way. She rose to get the carbon sheet, hoping as she did so that if Mr. Heath happened in he would not mind this artless interchange of courtesies.

"Thanks a lot!" The yellow-haired girl fluttered her mascaraed lashes. "Do something for me today. My name's Flannery—Ray." She gestured to the door across the hall, lettered blackly, "Mayne & Mayne, Real Estate."

"Have lunch with me some day," she offered hospitably. "I'll be on the nose bag together. Know a place down on Adams street."

On the second Monday the chrysanthemum-locked Miss Flannery appeared again. Susan was just leaving, properly hat and gloves for lunch at the exact moment the Flannery girl emerged from the door of her office.

"Hello! Raspberry tinted lips parted in a smile which flashed dazzlingly like that of the beauties of the toothpaste advertisements. Susan smiled shyly in return.

"What's the big idea? There's a bank right across the street." Susan colored, stammering that she had none. The Flannery girl shrugged unbelieving shoulders. She seemed offended.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.) Leo Roberts began to think Monday that there was such a thing as a six day week.

Tom Wilson and Percy Mims were prominent among the voters over at the city hall yesterday. Fred Wemple made one of those flying trips to Dallas early this week. However, he didn't go in an airplane.

Boys have started "playing ketch" in our alley. Hog-Eye Hedges has been showing good form and Dutch Mayfield took a few workouts preparatory to running a horse race.

Hanks came down with a dime this morning, so there was much speculation as to who would get the other cup. JUAZREZ, 4 x 8 = 32.

Dear Quack: A contractor, Long, is doing fine with his business in Big Spring and is now a milkman of the first water. So many lizards are using the fabric slacks at the Scholastic Coffee shop to figure on that George and Harry are having the linen audited by Harry Livingston Haight.

Several candidates for the July primary got back to the job of electing this week after a brief vacation. Susan laughed gayly. "It's a fact!" she cried. The other girls' attitude cheered her. She couldn't be so bad after all!

Ray Flannery gave her rosebud lips an extra coating of lip salve, and looked up. "Maybe you haven't got S. A.," she murmured thoughtfully. "You seem real cute looking to me but maybe that's it. Ever try purple eye shadow?"

"Is he?" asked Susan rather eagerly. "I didn't know that." "You're a queer one," Ray Flannery remarked, raising her plucked eyebrows. "Why do you pump me?" "Pump him?" Susan went scarlet and then smiled. It was no use to explain herself to this girl. Already Ray was rattling on and going for lunch at the exact moment the Flannery girl emerged from the door of her office.

The Mayans Used Jade Fillings

CHICAGO, OIL (UP)—Teeth, inlaid with jade, were among the specimens of aboriginal dentistry uncovered by the Field Museum of Natural History's expedition into British Honduras last year. The most interesting, according to J. Eric Thompson, who headed the expedition that unearthed the Mayan ruins, "is a set from the upper jaw of an ancient Mayan, showing four incisors and two canines inlaid with jade disks, and with their edges filed to form a decorative pattern. The teeth of the lower jaw were undecorated. The owner was in his early thirties at death and lived about 1,000 years ago. "The jade disks are set in cavities drilled in the front of the teeth with hollow bone or bamboo drills, or sand, or possibly with points of jade, or some equally hard stone. The process must have been extremely painful."

Famous Sea Lions To Perform Here

What is claimed to be the most educational entertainment ever staged in Midland, is announced for tonight, tomorrow matinee and night at the Ritz theatre. It is Fred Solomon's famous trained sea lions, and is their first appearance in any small city in the United States, although they have played the cities of almost every state in the union. These famous seals are said to be almost human in their entertainment numbers. They play musical instruments, sing, dance, juggle, do a ladder performance, blow horns, and do many things which will amaze any audience. Mr. Solomon has devoted the past 20 years of his life to training sea lions, and he vouches for the fact that those to be presented on the Ritz stage are the most highly trained of any ever presented by him during that period of time.

The famous sea lion exhibition is in addition to the regular bookings of Richard Barthelmess in "Alias the Doctor." A third feature on the program is a supplemental news reel length special showing all the news of the world including the new V-Eight as well as the regular four cylinder models. Ground tests are brought vividly to you, and the release is done in sound, said to be excellent recording, both as to musical accompaniment and voice interpretation.

ODESSA, April 6.—Mrs. Arminta Aldridge died at the home of her son, J. R. Aldridge, of this city, early Sunday morning of an attack of the heart after an illness of several days.

Mrs. Aldridge had made her home in Odessa for 14 years, coming from Comanche here. She was a member of the Baptist church and had many friends in this city. Funeral services were held Monday morning here in the First Baptist church, after which the body was shipped to Comanche for interment.

Surviving Mrs. Aldridge are three sons and four daughters. They are: J. R. Aldridge and Mrs. L. E. Johnson of Odessa; Ben Aldridge and Fate Aldridge of Comanche, Texas; Mrs. Kate Fagen, Mrs. Pearl Neal, and Mrs. Molly Johnson of Los Angeles, Calif.

Laughs and Drama In "The Big Shot"

For laughs, for drama, and for new, thrilling situations, "The Big Shot," Eddie Quillan's latest starring vehicle, undoubtedly will find a high ranking position among the season's best motion picture offerings. The picture opens its engagement at the Grand theatre today. Quillan's performance as an ambitious young man stamps him as being one of the most versatile of the younger stars and his handling of the dramatic scenes is outstanding.

Supporting the young stars are Maureen O'Sullivan, Mary Nolan, Roscoe Ates, Belle Bennett, Ralph Ince, Arthur Stone, Louis John Bartels, Otis Harlan, William Eugene, Harvey Clark and others.

Sixty-Seven March To Polls in One of Slowest Elections

T. R. Wilson received 65 votes. P. J. Mims polled 59. Sixty-seven folk voted. That's the long and short of it, folks. The city election yesterday was an election in little more than name. Only the names of the two listed above were on the ballot, and both were to be elected.

WOULD-BE DOG POISONER SHOT AT LAST NIGHT

The first shot fired by a secret organization formed to break into the activities of a dog poisoning ring came near claiming a victim last night.

A man in the south side of town saw a car drive by his home and watched from behind a shade as a small ball of meat was tossed on his lawn. He whistled lightly to his dog as the animal went out to sniff the meat, but did not get out to the driver of the car. When the lights of the machine had disappeared, he went out, took the meat and inspected it.

It was poisoned. He waited with his gun. Down the street another dog owner was on the lookout. The car returned and slowed down. The first man fired, but believes he missed his target. The watchman farther down the street did not pull the trigger of his gun as the car sped past, because of several houses being in the line of fire.

Dog owners have organized to stop the trespass activities of poisoners, according to a note which reached The Reporter-Telegram Tuesday. The note warned that poison and ground glass are dangerous when given dogs, but that buckshot administered to poisoners is even worse and that there is plenty of ammunition awaiting those who care to take the risk.

to Chihuahua, where it is reported that a community of 200,000 inhabitants awaits the arrival of natural gas, and a smelter is in a position to use $1,000,000 worth of gas per year.

Refineries Planned. Sadler states that oil refineries will be built at Chihuahua to service that district with gasoline, and that another will be built at Port Topolobampo to make gasoline for export. It is asserted that the Mexican government will exact no import duty on the oil going from Texas into Mexico, but will charge a moderate export duty on refined products shipped by tanker from Topolobampo.

One feature of the proposed oil pipeline is said to be that the Santa Fe, now connecting up its tracks into Topolobampo and having a straight run from there to Chicago, uses fuel oil in its locomotives, and could take it out of the pipe line at division points along the line much cheaper than it could haul it from Texas oil fields in tank cars.

Storage Huge. Sadler says there are now 16,000,000 barrels of crude in storage at Amarillo and 7,000,000 stored at Midland. The latter is a great pipe line gathering point for the Hobbs, Winkler, Pecos, Ranger, Monahan and Crane oil fields. There are at least four great trunk lines running into Hobbs.

Heretofore the crude has had to be run through pipe lines to Port Arthur, loaded into tankers, shipped down to the Panama Canal and through it, with a substantial toll attached, in order to reach the Pacific coast and have a chance at the Pacific export trade which heretofore has been enjoyed by California oil marketers.

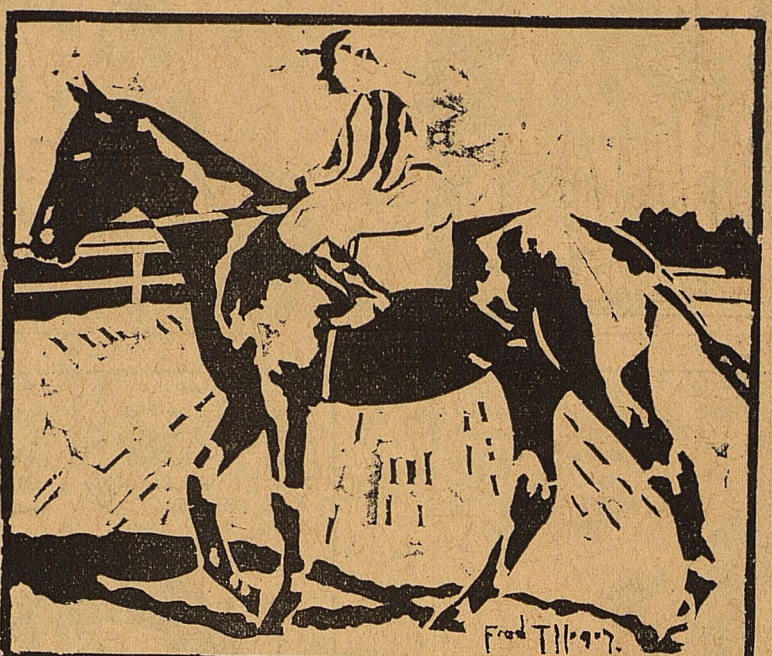

Conditions Favor. Sadler and his associates believe that such a pipe line as they propose can be built to the greatest advantage right now, because of low material prices and cheaper wages. They have surveys on the ground, and although the project has not been entirely financed they hope to have it under way by mid-summer. It is expected that the oil and gas lines will cost $20,000,000, but Sadler declares that this expense is no more than the value

FEEDING GROWING CHICKS

Change gradually from K-B All Mash Starter to K-B Growing Mash when chicks are about six weeks old. Never let your mash hoppers get empty. Feed only as much grain as chicks will clean up in 10 to 15 minutes once a day—in the evening. Do not neglect your chicks at this stage. If they die or if they fail to develop properly, all is lost.

FARMERS CO-OPERATIVE GIN

PHAR LAP, "WONDER HORSE FROM DOWN UNDER," DIES; ANNEXED BIG PURSES

Here is a study of the Australian wonder horse whose earnings were almost certain to exceed those of Sun Beau, but who was cut off from further competition by an untimely death yesterday.

Tests Drilling In Howard County. BIG SPRING, April 6.—Four tests are drilling in the Denman area in Eastern Howard county, which, since recent completion of L. C. Harrison's No. 1 Denman as a good producer, has become the scene of more activity than any other section of the Permian basin.

MENLO PARK, Calif., April 6.—Phar Lap, prize Australian race horse which was brought across the Pacific to win the $50,000 handicap at Agua Caliente recently, died in the racing stables here Tuesday of colic and indigestion.

Phar Lap ran under the name of David J. Davis. Before coming to this country the horse had won $282,000 on tracks in the antipodes. To this he added the $50,000 Agua Caliente purse, the first and only race in which he competed in this country.

Phar Lap, Australian "wonder horse" which died of indigestion and colic at Menlo Park, Calif., won his first start in America at Agua Caliente three weeks ago, the $50,000 Agua Caliente handicap.

Victory in that race boosted the big Australian gelding's earnings to $332,250, exceeded only by the world figure of $376,744 set up by Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Sun Beau.

The six-year-old gelding had won 37 out of 51 racing starts, one of the greatest records ever hung up by any horse anywhere.

Phar Lap had been entered in several stake races in Chicago tracks this summer and plans were going forward to race him in special races at Belmont Park and Saratoga Springs.

Matt Winn, general manager of Churchill Downs, also was considering arranging a series of international races similar to the contests of 1923 when Epinard and Papyrus were in the United States.

The "red terror" as Phar Lap became known was a favorite almost from the time he was hoisted off a ship at San Francisco January 15, and sent southward to compete for the western American at the Mexican race track.

Bandit Farm New Sightseeing Place

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UP)—The Young farm here, where Harry and Jennings Young killed six peace officers last December, has been turned into a source of income for J. D. Farr, new tenant.

Farr charges 25 cents to persons wishing to see the house. He points out the spots where the six officers fell and exhibits bullet holes in the walls.

Farr is living in the house until Mrs. Young, mother of the outlaws, returns from a visit with relatives.

of the stored crude at Amarillo and Midland, which companies are eager to sell.

To provide an additional supply of oil for the line, Sadler and several Los Angeles associates, under the name of Presidio Texas Petroleum Company, Ltd., are prospecting for petroleum in the Big Bend country at Presidio, where they have a well down 3,500 feet. If it finds oil they expect to drill half a dozen other wells there this year. On the Mexican side oil has been found within fourteen miles of Presidio. Sadler is also head of the California-Texas Leasing company.

The pipeline will not be built for several months, however, it is believed here and there will be no use in people applying now for work on it. When the project is about to be started there will be announcements and then the working classes may seek jobs.

Little Theatre-- (Continued from Page 1) production. This presentation will bring more laughs and take the starch out of more handkerchiefs than any play that has ever been attempted in Midland, and the largest crowd ever to see a little theatre play is expected.

California Sets New State Record

SACRAMENTO. (UP)—With a death rate of 11.3 per thousand population, California established the best health record in the history of the nation.

There were 67,513 deaths last year as compared to 66,178, an increase of only 1,335 despite an estimated gain in population of 200,000, records of the state department of public health show.

The states' death rate has decreased steadily since 1906 when the rate was 14.4 per thousand.

Soviet Oil Exports Show Big Increase

MOSCOW. (UP)—Soviet exports of crude oil products in 1931 were nearly 10 per cent higher in volume than the years before, a survey shows.

The exports totalled 5,277,400 tons against 4,803,000 tons in 1930. Detailed statistics for November indicate the relative importance of various countries in this trade. Italy was the largest purchaser that month, taking 83,700 tons, with England in the second place, as purchaser of 70,900 tons.

In November, 1930, the situation was reversed, England being the largest consumer and Italy was in second place.

HERE FROM RANCH. Mrs. Ellison Tom and children of the Tom ranch in Andrews county were visiting in Midland this morning.

San Antonio Has Aged Bird Killed

SAN ANTONIO. (UP)—Nellie, 22 year old ostrich at Brackenridge park zoo here, has been chloroformed to end the pains of old age. The hen had lived 12 years beyond the average life span.

Zoo officials believe Nellie holds the record among ostriches for length of years in captivity. She was born in the zoo here, and narrowly missed the fate of her mates in the flood of 1921. River waters carried her out of the zoo. She was revived and lived another decade.

Texas Sulphur Supplies U. S.

AUSTIN. (UP)—Texas for two years has been the only part of the United States producing sulphur. As no imports of sulphur were made during 1931, the state's production supplied the entire country.

The production, the U. S. department of commerce reports, was 2,128,930 long tons. That is a decrease of 17 per cent from the 2,558,981 tons of the preceding year.

The supply of sulphur came from six mines.

MEET MUSSOLINI. ROME—Premier Mussolini, in an endeavor to establish a regular trans-Atlantic air service, has issued invitations to some of the world's greatest air aces to attend a meeting in Rome some time in May. Delegates from all countries are expected to attend and discuss the ways and means of establishing such a service.
