Wendel Detention Being Investigated

Austria Authorizes Conscription

Overheard On The Main Drag

BY JESS RODGERS
Overheard on the Main Drag of Midland today.
M. C. Ulmer: "We have all the money that is needed to supply any would-be borrowers, all they have to do is come to the bank and ask for it. No security will be demanded, no interest will be charged."

Ralph Barron: "Ulmer is too conservative." "For every person that borrows money from us today we will make a 50 per cent gift."
Members of the Pastor's Association: "We are very disappointed in the outcome of the last local option election in the county." Midland county should and must have legalized liquor.

Raymond L. Hughes: "Regardless of what you are told, newspaper advertising is the only reliable kind to use." "Radio advertising is the bunk."

T. Paul Barron: "I disagree altogether with everything said by Hughes." "For direct results do not fail to advertise with the radio stations."

Addison Wadley: "I am exceedingly glad to see so many other dry goods firms moving into Midland." "I realize that our slogan 'Wadley's—A Better Department Store' is just so much bologna, and it is up to the people of the city to realize it."

T. R. Wilson: "Evidently Wadley is not serious." "Everybody in West Texas realizes that he has the best store in this section and all should carry their trade to him." "Other stores in town are only poor imitations of the wonderful firm of Wadley."

W. W. Lackey: "I am wrong." Despite the assurance of the world in general, Midland in particular, I do not rate all the attention I receive over the state and nation. Neither do I know anything about music."

Winston F. Borum: "The pulpit of my church will be turned over to Gilbert Ragsdale next Sunday evening." "I realize that my congregation is tired of hearing my denunciations of Brisbane, etc., and I know they will appreciate having someone in front of them who will not disturb their slumbers."

Tom Nance: "Why will anyone spend good money going to see a bunch of bang tails run when they can see excellent rodeos—the best sport in the world—for half the same amount."

Roy Parks: "Nance must be having pipe dream." Everyone knows that horse racing is the 'Sport of Kings.' Regardless of price, no one should miss an opportunity to see any kind of a race."

Clarence Scharbauer: "New that I have disposed of the Llano hotel I can truthfully say it is the best hotel in the city and no one should think of spending their nights anywhere else." "It is far ahead of any other hotel in Midland, a person is making a grievous mistake by registering in any other."

Frank Fagg: "We are reducing our stock by 90 per cent in order that our customers can have room to dance in the middle of the floor if they so desire." "Hereafter only drugs will be sold."

Andy Norwood: "Where do you think you are lady, still out on the farm?" "You had better come with flour to a drunk driver." "That is quite alright old man, drive as you want to, the traffic laws in this town are just a lot of uselessness."

A. C. Francis: "I am tired of people saying I do not talk enough." "Hereafter I am going to talk all the time for I had rather talk than listen to anyone else."

R. D. Lee: "Officers should not be allowed to carry a gun." "Hereafter I will not carry any weapons other than the gentle force of persuasion." "Diplomacy is far better than force."

Susie Graves Noble: "Please do not take my candidacy for office seriously." "Two terms in office are enough for everyone, and I positively refuse to make an active campaign for re-election."

J. H. Pine: "The statement of Mrs. Noble should not be taken seriously." "She is without doubt the only person in the county that is qualified to hold the position." "By all means cast your vote for her."

Big Ed: "What a bunch of chumps the people of Midland are." "They insist upon buying food from me while everyone should realize that I have only a grease point."
Butler Hurley and Charlie Houpt: "Let's close up for a while and go up to Big Ed's and get something good to eat."
Buster Howard: "Anyone that will spend their money on soft drink palaces on South Main street." "For quite a while I have been selling beer, but my conscience tells me

WILL PRESS EVERY MALE BETWEEN 18; 42 INTO SERVICE

Czechs, French Say Program Breaks Treaty
"NEW LOCARNO"
Hitler's Proposals Are Received Today
By Eden

By Associated Press
The Austrian Diet today authorized the government, in emergency, to conscript every male Austrian citizen between 18 and 42 years of age for labor and military service.
Czech and French officials immediately asserted the conscription of the treaty of Saint Germain under which Austria made peace with the Allies at the end of the World War.
Adolf Hitler proposed to British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden four-months negotiations for a settlement of the Rhineland crisis, during which time representatives of Britain, Italy and a neutral country would control the German, Belgian and French borders. The proposal was termed virtually a "new Locarno."

An Italian army claimed a decisive victory over the Ethiopians under the personal command of Emperor Haile Selassie. They claim 7,000 Ethiopians had been killed, the Italians suffering 1,000 casualties.

DOZEN LANDINGS ARE REPORTED AT MIDLAND AIRPORT

Navy Planes, Bomber Commercial Craft Included
Eight navy ships, two army bombers, and two commercial craft made up the dozen landings for Sloan Field this morning.

The navy ships, all scout land planes, were in two flights of four planes each led by Lieut. Brady and Lieut. Beck. They came from Dallas and after a stay of little more than two hours departed for El Paso.

Major Smith led the two B-10's bomber planes, which came in from Dallas at 11:45 this morning and also departed for El Paso early in the afternoon.

Three more craft scheduled to stop here landed at Big Spring instead and departed from that place for El Paso.

The commercial ships included a Taylor and a Stinson. The former departed for El Paso but was forced to return because of strong winds, the ship being small and light.

The Stinson was owned by R. L. Bowen, pilot, came from Fort Worth and departed for El Paso.

CATTLE SALES

Lay Powell of Colorado bought this week from Sherwood Baker, from Taylor's Warfield ranch, eight head of bulls and will place them on the Brunsion place which he operates south of Stanton.

W. B. Wetzel of Sweetwater has been here this week buying fed cattle. He bought two truck loads of fed heifers from John M. Gist and two mixed truck loads from various owners. The cattle were bought for the packing plant and for butchers in Sweetwater.

HULL SAYS U. S. LEADS WORLD IN ITS EFFORTS TO OUTLAW WAR POSSIBILITY

WASHINGTON, April 1. (AP)—Secretary Hull placed before congress Tuesday an assertion that the United States was leading the world against war through its trade, naval arms reduction and "good neighbor" policies.
"The primary purpose of American foreign policy," he said, "is the maintenance and promotion of peace, not only between the United States and foreign nations but throughout the world."
"Whatever war prevails, the progress of civilization is retarded, commerce and industry are impaired, heavy tax burdens are imposed upon people, and humanity in general suffers."

Boy Scout Troop to Get Carlsbad Cavern Trip

Local Grocery Store Will Award Prize To Winners
Sponsoring an efficiency and advancement contest for Boy Scouts, the Wes-Texas Food Market awarded the winner, Eagle patrol, a free trip to Carlsbad Caverns, it was announced today by Buster Howard, scoutmaster of troop 54.

The entire troop will make the trip to the Caverns, leaving Friday of this week at 4 p. m. The first night will be spent at White's City and the cavern tour will be Saturday. Saturday night will be spent at Carlsbad City, on the Pecos river, the group returning to Midland Sunday.

Cost of the trip has been set at $1.50 per boy, that fee including meals and transportation charges. Howard is in charge of the trip, assisted by G. B. Brock, and patrol leaders will be responsible for each patrol, designating boys for cooking and other details.

The contest which was won by the Eagle patrol of which Goodrich Hejl is winner, was sponsored by John Casselman, manager of the Wes-Texas store. The patrol made 3,695 points.

Other patrol scores follow: Comanche, Val Borum leader, 1,970 points; Black Bears, 1,675 points; Mustang, 1,635 points; Rattlesnakes, 1,465, and Wolves, 720.

The contest brought out more efficient patrol operation than has been shown in the six years of the troop's existence, Scoutmaster Howard said. In the last week, 52 tests were passed and eight badges earned. Points were given on the contest for attending troop and patrol meetings, passing tests, wearing uniform, earning badges and winning games at the meetings.

Troop 54 has recently added several new members, who have completed requirements for the tenderfoot rank, Howard said. The new boys are James Pickering, Bill Hart, John Watson and Hugh Corrigan.

JAPANESE INVADE OUTER MONGOLIA; SOVIET REPORTS

Action Hinted by the Russians to Stop Raidings
WILL NOT WAIT
Energetic Measures Are Suggested by Vice-Commissar

By Associated Press
The 24-hour battle which informed sources said contained danger of another Russo-Japanese war was reported ended today.
The battle was fought on the Manchoukuo-Outer Mongolia border. Both Japanese and Soviet sources claimed the other used airplanes and tanks in the battle. Moscow advised said the Manchoukuos and Japanese were forced to retreat from Mongolia.

Russian advisers said that Japs and Manchoukuos twice had attempted to capture a town 30 miles inside Mongolia but had been forced to retreat.

In Manchoukuo, Japanese military leaders charged a squadron of 12 Outer Mongolian planes had bombed the frontier guard inside Manchoukuo.

Observers said the danger of war was nearing an explosion point. Soviet spokesmen said there was a "serious responsibility" facing Japan if the fighting continues.

MOSCOW, April 1. (AP)—After receipt of Soviet dispatches describing an invasion of Outer Mongolia by Japanese Manchoukuoan forces, B. S. Stomaniakoff, foreign affairs vice commissar, told the Japanese ambassador tonight the situation "does not permit pacific waiting for development of events."

His statement to Tamekichi Ota, Japanese ambassador to Moscow, came after advisers from Ulan Bator, capital of Outer Mongolia, that the invasion had started yesterday leading to heavy fighting.

Stomaniakoff declared it was necessary to take "energetic measures" to put an immediate end to the attacks by Japanese troops against Mongolia. He said "serious responsibility" would fall on the Japanese government in case the actions of its "dependent organization" might lead to the extension of conflicts in Mongolian territory.

The Japanese - Manchoukuoan forces are supported by an artillery battery, tanks, armored cars and airplanes, the dispatches asserted.

The first attack was said to have been launched against the border post of Adykidolon. It was occupied and the invaders proceeded on against Tamsky-Bulak, which is about 45 kilometers (about 30 miles) inside Mongolian territory, the Soviet accounts continued.

The attackers were said to have met strong resistance at Tamsky-Bulak and to have been pushed back beyond Adykidolon. There they received reinforcements and resumed the offensive.

STOKES LEADS IN LITERARY EVENTS

Contests Saturday Night Reverse Standings of Schools
Results of the debates and declamation contests of the County Interscholastic Meet, which were held here Saturday night, reversed the positions of the leading schools in the literary events, giving Stokes 189 points to Prairie Lee's count of 182 1/2.

Decision in the contests, as announced Tuesday by Mrs. Ruby Jamison, director general of the County Meet were as follows with final judgments yet to be made on a few disputed points.

With 3,900 feet of oil in the hole slowing up drilling, swabbing was to be started this morning in Barnsdall Oil Co. No. 1 Frank Foster, proven east offset to the discovery well in Ector's Foster pool. Early this morning, the well was drilling hard line at 4,229 feet, with no increases reported since the main pay section from 4,125 to 4,140. Its first pay from 4,080 to 4,095 is said to correspond with that topped at 4,090 in the discovery, but the main pay section of the offset has not yet been correlated with any in the pool opener or in Stanolind No. 1 J. E. Witcher, the south offset.

In Crane county's Tubb area, Sinclair-Prairie and others No. 1 Tubb, small upper Permian producer, is drilling with rotary at 3,242 feet in lime, still more than 1,000 feet above

31 BARREL HEAD BY YOAKUM WELL

Bennett Discovery Hits New Increase From 5,243 to 5,260
By FRANK GARDNER
An oil head lasting 14 minutes and totaling 31 barrels was made late last night by the Yoakum county discovery, Honohulu and Cascade No. 1 Bennett after operators pulled swab once. The well was bottomed at 5,266 feet, and further swabbing yielded 42 barrels more. It is now drilling again, the last reported depth being 5,277 in line.

Another increase, the second since deepening started, was definitely logged from 5,243 to 5,260. The previous increase was from 5,215 to 5,230. Now producing from three different pay horizons, oil fills up in the No. 1 Bennett at the rate of 4,100 feet in 12 hours. The two additional oil sections appear to have doubled or tripled that coming from the first streak at 5,094 to 5,096 which failed to respond to acid treatment.

With chances for flowing production in commercial amount from the Bennett discovery considerably better, the attention of West Texas operators has swung back to southeastern Yoakum county. Interest had waned because of the disappointing performance of the Honohulu and Cascade well after a 2,000 gallon acid injection. At least two more wildcats are scheduled to start in Yoakum county in the near future, one the Elliott Roosevelt and Lou Stogner No. 1 Roosevelt, slated to be spudded early this month.

Goldsmith Well Tests 2,548 Bbls.
Proving the efficacy of acidizing wells in the Goldsmith pool of Ector, Gulf No. 4 Goldsmith, recent quarter mile southwest extension, flowed 2,548 barrels on the 24-hour perforation test, nearly double its natural rating.

After a nitro shot of 120 quarts had failed to materially increase natural production, the No. 4 Goldsmith was treated with 5,000 gallons of acid and indicated the benefit of the treatment by flowing 721 barrels the first five hours after.

The extension well reached a total depth of 4,145 feet in lime, and is located in section 27, block 44, township 1 south, T. & P. survey.

With 3,900 feet of oil in the hole slowing up drilling, swabbing was to be started this morning in Barnsdall Oil Co. No. 1 Frank Foster, proven east offset to the discovery well in Ector's Foster pool. PROMISES OF NEW "SENSATION" IN CASE REPORTED

All Phases of Case To Come Before Grand Jury
"FEEBLE-MINDED"
Prisoner Has Been Detained in the State Colony

TRENTON, April 1. (AP)—Prosecutor Erwin E. Marshall, Mercer county, announced today that he was investigating the detention of Paul H. Wendel, charged with the murder of the Lindbergh baby in Burlington county.

There were unconfirmed reports that there might be sensational developments in the case.

Marshall said he expected to summon witnesses to testify concerning Wendel's detention at New Lisbon state colony for the feeble-minded before he was charged with murder.

It is apparent that all phases of the case would come before the grand jury, after its session beginning yesterday afternoon, and recessed early this morning without returning a Wendel indictment. They are deferring deliberations until Thursday morning.

Observers believed Bruno Hauptmann's time to live might thus be extended past Thursday night. A two day delay in sending Hauptmann was announced Tuesday night by Warden Mark O. Kimberling to afford the county grand jury additional time to investigate what he called "some interesting new angles in the case."

Wendel has been detained in Burlington county by Ellis Parker, famed detective, who is of the firm belief that Hauptmann is not guilty.

Mrs. Hauptmann visited her husband in the death cell today.

Robert Hicks, investigator for Governor Hoffman, left Trenton today for North New Jersey, where he said he would "check the movements" of Wendel. Hicks repudiated "confessions" that he kidnapped the baby.

William Lagay, secretary of Governor Hoffman, said that telephone calls had been received threatening "an aftermath" if Hauptmann is executed.

FEED, BARN LOST IN BLAZE TODAY

Firemen Save Additional Feed at Bizzell Farm Home
Firemen were called to the Bizzell farm again this afternoon about 1:30 to extinguish a stack of feed which evidently caught fire from sparks from the blaze early this morning that destroyed the barn on the place. The damage has not been ascertained.

Early on an undetermined origin this morning destroyed a barn and feed at the Elmer Bizzell farm approximately two miles south of town.

The fire was discovered about one a. m. by Mrs. Bizzell who immediately notified firemen. However, the barn was swept to the ground before they arrived, having evidently been burning for some time before it was discovered.

Nearly stacks of feed were saved by firemen who connected hoses up with water storage tanks and fought back the blaze preventing it reaching the stacks.

A smouldering cigarette, evidently dropped by someone in the barn earlier in the evening was advanced as a possibility of the cause.

BEHIND THE SCENES

WASHINGTON
By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 1.—While the great floods were attracting nearly everybody's attention, a federal agency began to take the world's largest corporation apart to show what makes it tick.

At the very outset, little Sammy Becker, chief investigator, started tugging at that toga of sanctimony with which for decades the five-billion-dollar American Telephone & Telegraph Company has draped itself every time anyone suggested it ought to be investigated.

Already, little Sammy has exposed several patches of bare skin, to A. T. & T.'s acute embarrassment, and the inside dope is that you ain't seen nothing yet.

The Federal Communications Commission is going at the investigation of the "telephone trust" in thorough manner. Becker, as chief prober and examiner, is just as effective as that other celebrated sleuth, Ferdinand Pecora, which is saying plainly:

More will come out of this investigation than mere "disclosures." Communications Commissioner Paul Atlee Walker, the lightened employment policies, Becker showed that A. T. & T., while maintaining dividends at $9 a share through the last six years, had reduced employment 32 per cent and payrolls 26 per cent while operating revenues dropped only 13 per cent and the average number of daily calls only 8 per cent.

Answering contentions by A. T. & T. that the Graybar Electric Company was an independent concern—and that prices charged for telephone equipment by its own subsidiary, Western Electric, were fair, because they were in line with "competitive" Graybar prices—Becker showed that Graybar was at least sufficiently under Western Electric control to need Western Electric's approval when it wanted to increase a minor official's pay or to lease a parking lot for $150 a month.

And then there was the story of the A. T. & T.'s wire service to illegal horse-race gambling establishments, which Walker called on the Department of Justice to investigate.

It was shown that Gifford was the "czar" of the great system which is engaged in everything from making telephones and sound movies to private banking and manufacture of measuring devices for corpses on mortuary tables.

Gifford's one-man power over a five-billion dollar monopoly has been one of the most striking facts developed.

Another Frankfurter Pupil
A word about Sammy Becker: He is 5 feet 3 inches tall, 33 years old, quite dark, bespectacled, sometimes pugnacious, delicately sarcastic and an expert pinchable player.

He was counsel to Gov. Phil LaFollette when Wisconsin made its telephone investigation, and was once assistant professor of law at Tulane University. He was recommended to FCC by Judge Pecora, who turned down the A. T. & T. job.

Becker turns out to be one more Felix Frankfurter pupil and a member of the class of 1925, Harvard Law School, famous for the number of its men who have become counsel or assistant counsel to New Deal agencies.

Others of the class include Chief Counsel John J. Burns of SEC, Tom Corcoran of RFC, and Victor Rotnem of Resettlement Administration. (Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.)

Arkansas Will Be Featured by Wells In Radio Program

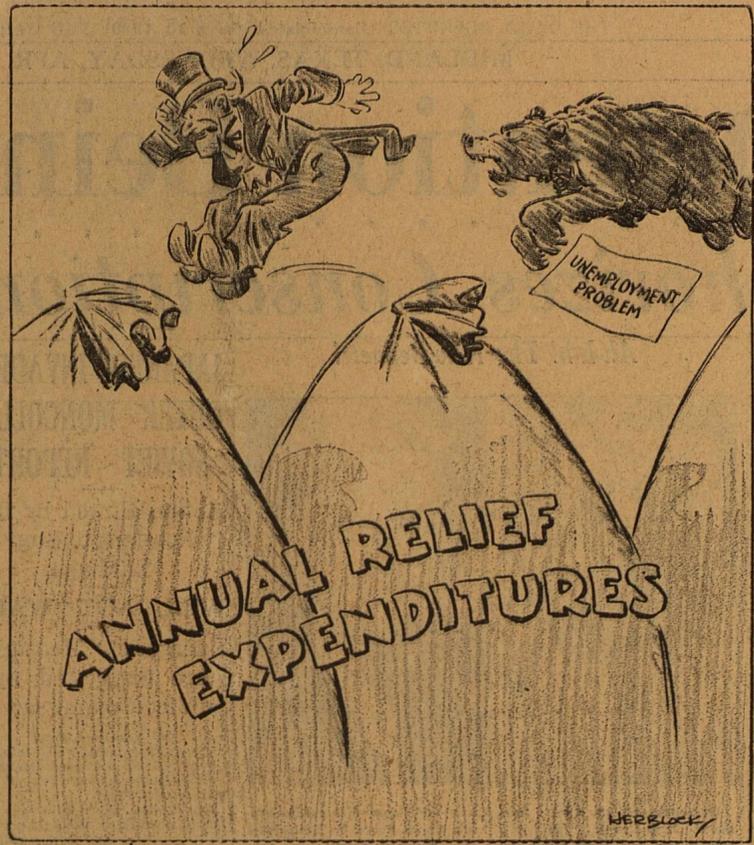

The Arkansas Ozarks and Hot Springs National Park—the fact that Arkansas is the only commercial producer of diamonds in America—the largest peach orchard in the world—the state's vast rice fields—as well as numerous scenic attractions and health resorts—are just a few of the interesting highlights to be featured by Carolyn Wells in his "Exploring America" radio broadcast on Sunday, April 5.

Internationally famous reporter and explorer, Wells is conducting this series of programs for Continental Oil Company and the Conoco Travel Bureau, and his Sunday broadcast on Arkansas is expected to be one of the most interesting in the series.

Local radio listeners who wish to hear Wells on Sunday, April 5, may do so by dialing station WFAA, Dallas, at 12:15 p. m.

The Situation Remains About The Same

SOCIETY

FEMININE FANCIES BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Well, well, well, we always thought the stepping-out of movie stars were of their own free will. Now we discover from the chronicle of a Hollywood column writer that a dating bureau is operated by a major studio which advises the beautiful actresses and handsome actors whom to go out with and when and where. The couples are frequently shifted to keep the observers guessing and the whole thing goes "round and round" until even the aforesaid actresses and actors get rather dizzy.

All for publicity of course, the whole project. Rather a 1936 version of the king who has no liberty.

The National Restaurant association decided, through a vote, that apple pie is the nation's favorite dessert but observers say this is not so in Hollywood. Fruit compote is one of the favorites there. Wonder if the stars think apple pie is too closely-linked with avoirdupois?

But of all the gooey desserts, the prize goes to Alice Faye who ends her meals with a fresh tomato.

It must be more or less disconcerting and tiresome, too, at times to have one's private life so much of a thing of public interest that people even take note of one's favorite dessert.

One advantage in being definitely obscure and unnoticed is that one may go ahead and do so many things he wants to do without any one taking interest in or notice of them. But then, there should be SOME compensation.

Another queer but withal effective idea is to use diminutive padlocks in blue, green, and pale rose on a dress of rose crepe in place of button ornaments.

At Ritz

Louis Pasteur lives again in the great characterization by Paul Muni, star of the Cosmopolitan production, "The Story of Louis Pasteur." Louis Pasteur is portrayed by Paul Muni, supported by a cast including Anita Louise, Josephine Hutchinson, Donald Wood, Fritz Leiber and Porter Hall. Be sure to see this real life drama of a man who braved a thousand deaths that countless millions might live, showing today and tomorrow at the Ritz.

"F Man" Comedy Featuring Haley

Jack Haley is a country boy with a yen to be a government operative, but not quite the stuff to make the grade, in "F Man," new comedy which is showing today and tomorrow at the Yucca theatre. That's the explanation of the title—in this amusing farce an "F Man" is someone not quite good enough to be a "G Man."

Humor and romance develop around Haley's attempt to run down Public Enemy No. 1 and become Public Hero No. 1 himself. William Frayley cooperates with Haley on the humor, and Grace Bradley and Adrienne Marden on the romance. Onslow Stevens is the menace.

Edward F. Cline directed the picture, which is released by Paramount.

The Sports Horn

By JESS RODGERS

This column will be easy today. All we do is take the scissors and use them on Leroy Menzing's Fare for Fans column in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

His article follows: Galloping horses, rating them on fractional time, is an art and the more experienced lads, boys who have grown too heavy to ride, generally are employed for that purpose, but few are those who have reached the age of William Bloss and still are able to climb into the saddle each morning.

He's 61 years old, but he gallops all of his own horses, using the knowledge gained when the resident of Midland for the past quarter of a century was one of the leading jockeys of the country in the Gay Nineties.

Back in the days of the bustle, Bloss, more familiarly known around tracks as Doc, was crowding the leaders for championship honors. He rode 159 winners in nine months at St. Louis in 1896 and two years later scored 101 victories around Chicago, during which time he rode for J. E. Cushing, whose Boundless won the first World's Fair Derby in Chicago.

Bloss' eyes sparkle when he tells of his rides on Advise, which he rode to victory 15 times in 16 starts for the Foster Brothers, running second to Boney Boy the only time that he failed to gain the winner's circle.

A 14-Year-Old Hoop There's a horse in Bloss' stable which is as experienced among thoroughbreds as Bloss is among owners and jockeys. It's 14-year-old Foreign Relations, winner of 56 races, as remarkable as Bloss' galloping of his own horses.

In the stable with Foreign Relations are Little Mickey, John Marcum, named after the Boston Red Sox pitcher, and Trinity Girl.

13 His Lucky Number

Born on Dec. 13, 1874, the number 13 holds no terrors for Bloss, who, in fact, has become convinced that is a figure of good omen.

Not so many years ago, Bloss had gone 13 months without a winner and funds were becoming as scarce as victories, but up popped his birthday on the calendar—Friday, the thirteenth, at that—so he entered one of his horses for that day.

And no birthday in his 61 years was any happier to him. The horse won and paid him $1,325. He was happy for the next 13 months on that sum.

Overheard--

That is wrong and I am stopping. "Hereafter all my efforts will go toward stamping out that evil." (Editor's Note: Just take a look at the calendar and find out the wherefore of all these statements.)

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

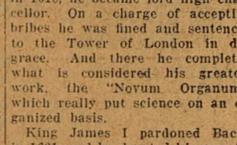

ORGANIZER OF SCIENCE

PHILOSOPHER, jurist, statesman and scientist was Francis Bacon, contemporary of William Shakespeare. Yet the only recognition this great man gets in stamp lore is on a 1910 issue of Newfoundland to commemorate the 300th anniversary of its colonization. And that, as the stamp notes, is not for his work as philosopher and scientist, but for being "the guiding spirit in the colonization scheme."

Bacon, born in 1561, entered Trinity College at the age of 12, and three years later formulated a new philosophy by which he thought greater benefits might be gained by mankind. He took up law and advanced in politics until, in 1618, he became lord high chancellor. On a charge of accepting bribes he was fined and sentenced to the Tower of London in disgrace. And there he completed what is considered his greatest work, the "Novum Organum," which really put science on an organized basis.

King James I pardoned Bacon in 1621, and he devoted his remaining five years in scientific experimentation and philosophy. He died in 1626 from a cold that he had caught while experimenting on the refrigeration of fresh meat.

Impress Child With Import of Promises

BY Olive Roberts Barton Long ago I dubbed him "EXPLAIN AWAY" Jones. He has the easiest conscience and the most words of anyone I ever knew to help him out of a jam.

After he was through explaining that he hadn't been able to get around to dinner on time (he'd forgotten all about it) because he hadn't been able to get hold of the fellow he wanted you to see (you didn't want to see anybody and he cooked the whole thing up himself in the first place)—after he had finished showing you that he hadn't turned his coat but was the same old wooly lamb after all, you washed your own mouth out with soap and water for the things you had been thinking about him.

Good Mostly for Comparisons It took his intimates quite a spell to discover the real man. He was the best promoter and the worst keeper extant. He promised what he needn't and offered things no one asked for. He was a blast of hot air. But air that cooled quickly under some system of his own.

I like to know someone like Explain Away. He is a sort of port, or reef, with whom to compare others who so lightly regard the "moral debt." Now that I have been thinking of him today, I may as well use him for a sermon.

"But, Willie, you promised to give Walter that glassy if he took your library book back. You hired him so you ought to pay." "Well, he has more marbles than I have; I don't think he really wants it. Do you, Walt? I hardly have any marbles at all."

Walt decides it's all right. Or, like my old acquaintance, Willie offers to get his teacher some pussy willows, but at the end of the week it is still on its tree. "I haven't had time," he tells her. "When I didn't get it right away, I didn't suppose you wanted it."

Set Good Example

Always carry the blame into the enemy's territory. And actually believing he is right.

The moral obligation is the highest of all. Actually as a rule, creditors worry less about bills than debtors, because, fortunately, moral conscience is still with us. But there is this type of adult and child who possesses a complete blind spot toward a contract.

The child being father to the man, parents need to impress the importance of living up to one's word, when it is humanly possible. And as

RELIEF FOR NEEDY TO BE CONTINUED

Unemployables Assured Of State Aid Until First of July

AUSTIN, April 1. (P.)—Texas' 40,000 cases of destitute unemployables received assurance of state aid until July as officials today mapped a program of coordinating relief with old age pensions.

Extension of unemployable aid, scheduled to end tomorrow in a "close-out" program instituted Jan. 1, would bridge a gap officials hoped, between termination of relief and the beginning of pension payments.

John F. Wallace, member of the board of control, said about three-fourths of those now supported by relief would be cared for through old age pension payments.

Sharp economies invoked by the board of control, relief administrators, enabled it to accumulate a reserve of about $1,000,000 for general relief. The remainder of a $20,000,000 relief bond issue voted in 1933 provided $348,000,000 and federal funds the rest.

example is a factor in all child training, this is one reason why parents themselves should be meticulous in keeping their word once given, and not earn the title of "Explain Away."

I want my cigarette mild, of course—I hardly think anybody enjoys a strong cigarette. But deliver me from the flat, insipid kind.
