AN IDOL PASSES

It isn't likely that the name of the late John McGraw will find its way into very many history books. Nevertheless, the man's career symbolized a whole era in American life.
 He came to fame in what you might call the rowdy era—the old, far-off day when baseball was a rough, tough game, the one great division of the masses, played by lads who ignored the finer points of behavior, but who did know all there was to be known about throwing, hitting and catching baseballs.
 That was the day when a game between two small-town teams was apt to break up in a free-for-all fight at any time; the day when it was smart to subsidize the umpire, if you could get at him; the day when a visiting team might expect to have to run for the train through a barrage of brickbats, if things went wrong.
 McGraw, of course, was a big leaguer, removed from such plebeian demonstrations. Nevertheless, he typified that era. It is gone, now, and so is McGraw.
 American life has changed very greatly in the last generation. His career was one of those that spoke the change.

GOOD OUT OF EVIL

One of the strangest little developments of the year seems to be the way in which our old bogeyman, the Demon Rum, has appeared in the unfamiliar guise of friend and protector of the poor.
 This is happening in the Virgin Islands. The colonial council there has drawn up plans for making the rum industry a public monopoly to rehabilitate the economic life of the island.
 A public corporation is to be formed—if this plan is adopted—to handle the manufacture of a potential maximum of from 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 gallons of rum annually. Profits will go to social and public welfare work.
 As part of the program, some thousands of natives will be established on five- and ten-acre home-stead tracts to produce the sugar cane from which the rum is made.
 This plan is expected to do much to restore the vanished prosperity of the islands. But the spectacle of the Demon Rum acting as a restorer of prosperity is apt to strike most of us as tolerably strange.

EMPLOYMENT REMAINS OUR MAJOR DUTY

A lot of far-reaching consequences can grow out of an innocent-looking little declaration of policy. If you dig back far enough, you will find that most of today's turmoil about the proper functions of the NRA hinges on our new assumption that the national government has a direct and inescapable duty in regard to its unemployed citizens.
 This assumption grew up during the depression. It's worth remembering that it is a comparatively new thing in American life. By the old tradition, the government was supposed to keep its hands off such matters. If industry couldn't employ the men it normally employed, there was nothing in particular that Washington was expected to do about it.
 We found that that didn't work very well. The presence in the country of unemployment on a huge scale was too great a strain on the social fabric. So we became convinced that unemployment was a thing which the national government must take in hand, and this conviction found expression in the official pronouncements of the new administration.
 That is what brought us to our present tangible in the NRA. Industry, says the administration, must hire more men. It must do this by the process of shortening working hours, and it must raise wages at the time, so that the men whose hours are cut will not suffer any decrease in income.

 Industry replies that it can not do anything of the kind and operate at a profit; and there is no reason to doubt that, in many, many cases, this is the exact truth.
 What, then, is the alternative—bearing in mind the all-important fact that care for the unemployed has been accepted as a government duty?
 The alternative, clearly, is for the government to go on making jobs for the jobless. If private industry can't do it, the government must. The enormously expensive CWA must be continued, even expanded. More millions must be pumped into public works.
 And the money for this must come from taxes—which, in large part, must be collected from industry. These are the choices that face us today. They present about as tough a problem as industry and government possibly could be asked to solve; and they arise, ultimately, because of our new belief that unemployment is a direct concern of the government.

TO THE DEVIL, HIS DUE
 Roger Touhy, the big bad man from Chicago who broke down and blubbered like a school boy when he finally went to prison, really is a pretty smart sort of lad.
 So, at any rate, say the psychiatrists who examined the gangster and his henchmen when they were received at the Illinois state penitentiary to begin serving their sentences.
 Touhy, they reported, is of high adult intelligence—although his companions, Gus Schafer and Albert Kator, were more of the dumb-bell type.
 This report on Touhy is rather enlightening. It helps to explode the old notion that criminals are men of inferior mentality. They aren't—not all of them, at any rate. They become criminals, usually, because of an emotional twist, not because their minds are cracked.
 Realizing this fact will help us to evolve an efficient program for meeting our crime problem.

It is perfectly foolish to say that American democracy has failed. We have hardly, so far, made a whole-hearted attempt to make it work. To let the troubles of the last few years persuade us that we must find our salvation in some ism or other—in socialism, fascism, or what you please—is to take the lazy man's way out.
 It is to hunt for some formula which will relieve us of the necessity of working and sweating and thinking our way out of the mess into which we got ourselves.
 To work together to improve what we have, to find some way of working and living together which will be the best thing for the greatest number of people, and at the same time developing all this within the framework of our existing institutions—here is a cause worth all our brains and our energy.
 If we try it wholeheartedly, and fail, then—and not before then—we can start worrying about the isms.

LESS SPEED, MORE SAFETY
 The wisecrackers probably will get a good deal of fun out of the fact that the Northern Federation of Civic Organizations, in California, has adopted a resolution urging legislation forbidding the production of autos which can exceed a speed of 45 miles an hour.
 But when you stop to think about it, this resolution isn't nearly as ridiculous as it might seem on first glance.
 Excessive speed is a contributing factor in the majority of fatal auto accidents. We pass elaborate traffic laws and hire whole battalions of traffic policemen to see that speed is curbed—but we go right ahead making cars which can travel at speeds that are genuinely safe nowhere but on regular speedways.
 On the whole, we don't seem to have sense enough to handle these high-speed cars properly; it is not in the least surprising if some peo-

AMERICA HAS NO NEED FOR ANY NEW "ISM"
 Events of the last year certainly have given us an education in the uses to which letter of alphabet can be put, with the RFC, the PWA, the CCC, the CWA, the HOLC, and so on. But there is one group of three letters that has won more publicity than any of these, and that very profitably might be dropped now for a while at least—the group ISM.
 We have wasted enough energy, of late, arguing the pros and cons of capitalism, socialism, communism, fascism and heaven knows what other kind of ism, to bridge the Atlantic. It has got us, as far as anyone can see, precisely nowhere, and it's about time we turned to something else.
 Prof. John J. Mahoney of Boston university hit the nail right on the head in an address the other day before the National Education association in Cleveland.
 "I want to insist," he said, "that the way toward a better social order is a road toward a better democracy. Democracy is peculiarly the American way of life, and has been over since the beginning. We don't need to chase after any new isms. Let's improve what we already have."
 What, after all, is a better social order? Isn't it, as Prof. Mahoney asserts, simply an order "in which the people possess an understanding of, and are actuated by, those motives which make for better living together and for better management of our democracy?" And isn't that a goal toward which we can strive without bothering our heads about isms?

Is This Too Good for Your Cough?
 Creomulsion may be a better help than you need. It combines seven major helps in one—the best helps known to science. It is made for quick relief, for safety.
 Mild coughs often yield to lesser helps. No one can tell. No one knows which factor will do most for any certain cough. So careful people, more and more, are using Creomulsion for any cough that starts.
 The cost is a little more than a single help. But your druggist guarantees it, so it costs nothing if it fails to bring you quick relief. Coughs are danger signals. For safety's sake, deal with them in the best way known. (adv.)

Judith Lane

by JEANNE BOWMAN

"The last will and testament of Tom Bevins"—Judith dimly heard the words by which her former employer made her the heiress to five million dollars, gave her control of his far-flung enterprises and threw on her slim shoulders a cruel burden.
 Her hand held Tom Bevins' last request, private instructions for administering his affairs, Judith knew it meant strife, heartbreak and perhaps an end to the romance with Norman Dale. For somehow, Judith sensed that her husband would not be at her side in the bitter finish-fight with the Bevins family, a widow and daughter grasping for a dead man's dollars and willing to let his ideals crumble to dust.
 Around this situation, JEANNE BOWMAN has written a dramatic story of the girl who was willing to sacrifice home, husband and friends, risk disgrace and failure—because she was loyal to a trust.

ALCOHOL EDUCATION COMMITTEE ISSUES LETTER AND PROTEST

Cambridge, Massachusetts, her home town, having voted for saloons, Mrs. William Tilton, head of the Women's National Committee for Education Against Alcohol, has issued the following letter:

Cambridge after nearly fifty years goes wet—saloons, called taverns, will now adorn Harvard Square. Mothers' hearts back home will break and the old agony of pre-Prohibition days renew itself. "WELL NEVER LET THEM BACK!"

I can but recall how the leader of the wet women in my town said to me, "We'll never let the saloons come back in Cambridge! Don't fear!" or how often another friend used to say to me, "Once Prohibition is repealed, we decent wets will join with you Drys to get a perfect plan and such a combination will be invincible."

These leaders really thought they had power but I, experienced as they were not, knew they derived their power from predatory groups—gangsters, liquor interests, financiers, who would make a short shift of their fashionable allies, when repeal was accomplished. And so it has come about.

The tragic thing is that good women could have been so deceived by predatory groups who cleverly laid to Prohibition the death of social-mindedness which has followed the war everywhere. Mr. Benson in his, "As We Are," shows how in England a tired, disillusioned race drops down to nothing but satisfying the primitive appetites. But he lays it to the war's aftermath. In the United States the predatory groups that wanted to get rid of Prohibition in order to get more money or more political power, laid it to Prohibition, and good women were deceived and so we had this Christmas, 1933, a slaughter of the innocents, perhaps, as like to that which ushered in the first Christmas. For that is what the great rise of arrests for drunkenness means in this state. They work back to a home, a little child deprived of food, of heat, of clothing.

Not a "merry" but a sorry Christmas this—to thousands of mothers and their little ones, the laughter stifled in the home, the stocking unfilled.

God forgive the wets! Thousands of them knew not what they did! But they will come to know! Then let them turn to and make a "Merry Christmas" for the tavern and saloon victims in the years to come.

SAYS PROHIBITION WILL RETURN

The committee also has issued

SCOUT NEWS

Next board of review will be held 7:30 p. m. in the First Baptist church March 26.

The meeting was to have been held March 19, but needed supplies have not been received. Other reasons also entered into the delay, but it was thought one week additional time would probably help rather than hinder the rejuvenated advancement program here.

More talk about jamboree is being turned loose here. The dates are May 4 and 5. Each year brings a larger number of scouts here for the two day camping, fun and competitive affair.

Rexcraft Bugle company has given the council a silver plated official Boy Scout to be used as a prize to the winner in the bugling contest. It will be given either to an individual or his troop. All calls for a merit badge in bugling must be blown.

Troop No. 3 put up a team of six members which ripped a pair of official breeches. So far as can be learned, it is the first time in this area that the feat has been accomplished. More than one bunch has tried and failed. The six will receive a pair of breeches from official makers for their feat.

All Big Spring troops ranked in order in the February report from council headquarters. Troop No. 4, No. 7, No. 5, No. 1, No. 3 finished very close to each other. No. 2 did not report but was very active, nevertheless.

Chief Williamson, area executive, is able to be in his office at Sweetwater after being confined to a hospital for 17 days following an operation. The boys are glad to hear he is up and around again.

There will probably be a "scouters round table" Thursday afternoon. An effort will be made to have Williamson present. Problems, ideas, plans will be discussed.

Scouting activity is on a marked increase here. There is already lots of buzzing about camp. The summer outing will probably be held on the Nueces near Barksdale. Camp Brown is certainly an ideal spot with its fine shade, rough country, crystal clear water, camp facilities.

Cotton Warehouse in Haskell Destroyed; 1100 Bales Burned

HASKELL—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed Haskell warehouse in which was stored 1100 bales of cotton, late Sunday evening.

Half of the cotton was regarded as a total loss and a large crew of men was put to work Sunday night salvaging the remaining cotton under the direction of insurance officials.

Government loan of 10 cents per pound had been made on all the cotton stored in the warehouse. John Simpson, owner of the building estimated loss on the building, a brick and tile structure at $7,000, with $5,000 insurance.

Loss on cotton was estimated between forty and fifty thousand dollars, covered by insurance.

American Airways Reports Gain in Passenger Traffic

American Airways carried a total of 6,218 revenue passengers during the month of February for a gain of 11.93 per cent over the comparable month a year ago. Lester D. Seymour, president of the company announced today.

This figure compares with 5,598 passengers carried in February 1933, and 6,142 carried in January 1934, he said.

During the month, Mr. Seymour said, daily flying over the company's 9,392 miles of route averaged 39,950 miles, serving 67 major cities in 30 states and the province of Quebec.

R. C. Sanderson returned to Fort Worth Tuesday morning, after a short stay here.

the following statement:

The drys hold one-third of the nation. The thing for them to do is to stand to their vision and, slowly but surely, the one-third that left them, fallen a prey to propaganda, will come back. This was the process in no-license. The waverers went back and forth between license and no-license, till they settled on the dry side and the town or county went dry.

So it will be with National Prohibition, because it has been a great boon to the masses and a great buffer against rising under-grounds. Confronted with liquor control that does not control, the people will turn again to Prohibition. (Contributed by Local W.C.T.U.)

Bank Commissioner Tells Banks To Keep Less Cash On Hand

AUSTIN (UP)—Due to numerous bank robberies recently, State Banking Commissioner E. C. Brand Monday advised banks to keep only a small amount of cash on hand. Additional supplies can be had in a few hours, when needed, he said due to location of state institutions. Brand said:

"Bank robbery seems to be on a profitable basis at this time. In curtailing your supply of funds, it will naturally have a tendency to make holdups unprofitable.

"We have given the condition serious consideration and we request that you keep as little cash on hand as possible. Also our suggestion would be to make this fact known to the public by the proper advertisement.

"We firmly believe that this policy will have a tendency to stop bank robberies."

Brand predicted that bank customers would co-operate in such a precaution and asked for other suggestions.

Ab. Pshaw, George

BOSTON (UP)—Tea merchants at the site of the historic Boston Tea Party shouted with glee and derision when they read excerpts of a recent speech of George Bernard Shaw before the Fabian Society in London, in which the eminent dramatist criticized everybody in general. The line that caught the eyes of the tea specialists was this: "In England we drink more tea than anyone else, but we have to rely upon China or India tea products." Knowing merchants pointed out that Chinese tea in England is as scarce as dinosaur eggs even though Mr. Shaw doesn't know it. Of the 400,000,000 pounds of tea consumed in the British Empire each year, 94 per cent of it comes from India or Ceylon and 4 per cent from Java.

"NOT CONSTIPATED FOR SEVEN WEEKS"

Writes Mrs. Johnson After Using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Sufferers from constipation will be interested in this unsolicited letter:

"Your ALL-BRAN surely relieves constipation. I am so glad over the good it has done me that I feel I must write and tell you of it.

"For lunch I take a banana, a large one. Six tablespoons of ALL-BRAN in a sauce dish, and dip banana at each bite until all is consumed. I haven't been constipated now for seven weeks."—Mrs. Louise Johnson, 1433 Forest Street, Denver, Colorado.

Constipation often causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness. This condition is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B₂ to further promote regular habits. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. With in the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the wastes.

Try ALL-BRAN in place of patent medicines—often harmful. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

The World of Stamps

By QUINTON JAMES
A new king of Belgium means a new set of stamps for that country. The postal system followed since the postal system was adopted there is to be continued. Belgium's major issues always have included reproductions of the head of the reigning ruler. But the portrait of the new king, Leopold, III, already is familiar to philatelists. It made its first appearance on a semi-postal stamp of 1931, the then crown prince being pictured in the uniform of a soldier, wearing overseas cap.

The stamp was printed singly on a sheet of paper measuring approximately 5 by 6 inches and was sold exclusively at the Brussels Philatelic exposition in July, 1931. Colored carmine brown, its face value was two francs, 45 centimes, with an extra charge of 55 centimes for the ex-soldiers' relief fund.

KING ALBERT ISSUES
The most recent issue to bear the picture of King Albert, who met his death while mountain climbing, was that of 1931, the eight values ranging from one franc to 1 franc. It showed King Albert in a campaign uniform, the design of the one-franc brown carmine being somewhat different from that of the other stamps, although the same portrait was used.

King Albert's picture first appeared on a stamp in the issue of 1912, with changes in design up to and through 1931. Before 1912, dating back to 1859, King Leopold II was the principal subject for illustration.

On the earliest issues, beginning in 1849 and continuing through 1866, Leopold I, Belgium's first king, who ascended to the throne in 1831 when the kingdom was formed, was shown in two poses. Prior to 1831 Belgium was a part of the Netherlands.

The first three kings of Belgium appeared on later issues, that of 1916 having Leopold I, Albert I and Leopold II in a group, that of 1925 showing Leopold I and Albert I together, while in 1930 the independence centenary issue had the three kings on individual stamps.

In 1920, during King Albert's visit to the western hemisphere, he was accorded the distinction of being the only ruling monarch of another country to have his photograph on a stamp of Brazil. Together with President Pessoa of Brazil he was pictured on a 100 reis dull red stamp.

ELABORATE PLANS MADE FOR GOLF TOURNAMENT

Committees To Be Named

Wide Variety Of Entertainment To Be Provided Visiting Golfers

Big Spring golfers will meet within the next day or two to start plans for the championship tournament of the West Texas Golf association which will be staged here on the Country Club links May 24, 25, 26 and 27.

Committee To Be Named
Committees will be named to handle different phases of the tourney. A barbecue, dance, Calcutta Pool and other entertainments will be provided for the two hundred or more out of town visitors expected.

Golfers from surrounding towns were glad to know Big Spring had been successful in securing the event. Big Spring, located as it is, will draw golfers from points farther west than previous tournaments. Entries from Midland, Stanton, Crane, Ft. Stockton, Seminole, Hobbs and Pecos will be on hand.

No Delays
Plans for the tournament will be arranged so that there will be no delays. Experienced and impartial starters will be secured. Delays and confusion marked the meet at Wichita Falls last year. It was held in San Angelo in 1932.

The Country Club course is being worked on daily, and will be in the finest possible shape before the tournament. Even the roughs are being raked by hand.

Two former Big Spring high school athletes, Beverly Rockhold and Buren Edwards, represented the University of Texas in the Southwest track and field meet at Fort Worth Saturday. Edwards took first honors in the 800-yard run in 1:59.9, Rockhold landed third in the 200-yard dash and fourth in the 100-yard dash.

Allen Guinn, they tell me, east the deciding vote in the golf confab here Sunday to give Big Spring the tournament. Abilene had Big Spring in a sweat until Guinn ended the suspense. Local golfers are making elaborate preparations for the event, and if fair weather prevails a record turn-out will be here.

Cosden baseball aspirants take to the field today for first practice. A practice field is being cleared near the refinery. Some of boys expected out are: Tate, Martin, Settlesworth, Babers, R. Martin, Brooks and Whittington. Enough equipment is on hand to get practice well under way.

Coach George Brown made the first step toward spring grid practice Monday by lining up the boys, numbering sweat shirts, and issuing a little equipment. The first few days will be devoted to light practice.

NEW U. S. STAMPS
New York stamp authorities say that as yet they have no definite word from Washington as to when a new general issue of U. S. stamps is contemplated. They added that the only new stamps in prospect are a three-cent Maryland tercentenary and a three-cent Mothers' day commemorative.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

What of the "new Jones" Walter Hagen is talking about at the very time that the original article, R. T. Jones, Jr., is planning to re-enter the lists at Augusta against the best professional golf talent in the land? What makes the pro so enthusiastic about placing the responsibility of tackling the great Georgian right smack up to young Paul Runyan?

Part of the answer may be that Runyan now resembles the Jones of old, 10 years ago, before the Georgian took on a bit extra around the waist-line and filled out generally. Runyan is about the same height as Jones. They walk alike and use the same putting stance. Paul is a little chatterer than Bob, on or off the course, but he also has similar moments of absolute concentration.

The main thing, however, is that Runyan can hit every golf shot well, that he is extremely cool under pressure and is without doubt the most consistent "shotmaker" around the greens of any pro in the big time circuit.

HE PLAYS HIS OWN GAME

I asked Runyan what his personal feelings were in looking forward to playing as the favorite against Jones; whether it disturbed him or affected his plan of action.

"Not a bit," he replied, "for, you see, in the last four years I have trained myself to play only my own game in every tournament. I make it a rule never to inquire about anybody else's game and I never even look at the score-board unless it happens to be unavoidable. I don't make any calculations about what I will have to score to beat so-and-so." My idea simply is that if I play the best golf I can I will do my job for the day. That's what I intend to do at Augusta.

This throws a bit of light on the unhappy episode at North Shore last summer, when Runyan was disqualified in the national open after 36 holes because of the discovery of an error in his card. Paul detected it himself but not until after the card had been turned in and it was too late to do anything about it. At the time he signed the card, he explained, he did it automatically and without stopping to analyze the figures in detail. He says he won't make that mistake again.

STEPS TO EMINENCE

Runyan's tournament path followed that of Jones only twice before the Georgian retired in 1930 with his "grand slam". The boy from Arkansas, then only 19, played in the national open in 1928 at Olympia Fields but he didn't see Jones play a single shot until the playoff with Johnny Farrell. Runyan was absolutely last.

Two years later, after he had moved east to take a job as assistant to Craig Wood at Bloomfield, N. J., Runyan met Jones for the second and last time, at Augusta. Just the week previous Runyan had captured the North and South open as a "dark horse" but he was nowhere in the Augusta open, in which Jones spread-eagled the field by a margin of 13 strokes.

Four years more have elapsed, the drama returns once again to Augusta and Runyan is ready to challenge Jones for the main role.

Negro Health Week Will Be Observed Here

AUSTIN—The twentieth anniversary of the founding of National Negro Health Week is April 1-8, 1934. In Texas the campaign will be conducted under the direction of F. Rivers Barnwell, Negro Health Service of the Texas Tuberculosis Association, in cooperation with the United States Public Health Service and the National Negro Health Week Committee. This week will be observed in Big Spring according to Dr. Lee Rogers, president of the Howard County Tuberculosis Assn.

The original movement was called "Health Improvement Week" April 11-17, 1915 by the founder, Booker T. Washington and his associates. When the week was first observed there were only fourteen agencies, all negro, expressing interest in it, while in 1934 there are forty-five agencies participating, both white and colored.

"The negro," said Mr. Barnwell, in a recent interview, "has expressed interest in health and has made some contributions to his own health improvement. The full truth, however, respecting health conditions among negroes will not be known until negroes themselves make definite studies and surveys done by proper committee personnel working on a scientifically sound basis. It is aimed during this Health Week campaign to accomplish some health service that will be lasting in results. It is suggested that when health examinations are done in the clinics there be definite follow-up for corrections and results. That proper survey of health conditions be made in the community and a year-round health program built around the conditions found and reported in this survey. The spectacular, said Mr. Barnwell, is all right for stimulation but we must do that service and make that study that will be permanent and beneficial to the future health of our race."

Texas is given high rating for its cooperation in the National Negro Health movement. In 1933 Texas won sixty-four National Certificates of Merit, a greater number than was won by any other state in the union. Fort Worth was awarded a plaque in recognition of Grade 'A' reports for the past three years.

To stimulate health achievements among negroes in Texas the Texas Commission on Interracial Relations is giving for the second year three silver cups or plaques for the best report of the city of 25,000 population or over; the city or community under 25,000 population and one to the rural community (county wide).

Organization Names Big Spring Student As Editor Candidate

AUSTIN—A "new deal" for University of Texas students politics is being boomed on the state university campus Friday after the Representative student council, a fraternity organization formed in the last week for the purpose of "reforming student government", completed its list of nominees for the student election to be held April 3rd.

The ethiopian political party—which does not recognize political affiliations and which maintains its selections alone—completed its ticket at 4 a. m. Friday when Curtis Bishop, Big Spring, was chosen as the nominee for editor-in-chief of the Texas Ranger after a five hour debate. Bishop received 25 votes to 1 for Worth Ware, Houston. Stanley Gunn of Austin, a third candidate, was voted "unqualified" by the council.

All candidates were permitted to come before the council and state their qualifications for office, and if considered qualified by a two-thirds vote, were then considered for the nomination. Although the fraternity element was not supposed to enter into the selection Bishop was the only independent candidate to receive sanction of the new party.

Jay Hall of Colorado was nominated for the editorship of the Daily Texan, receiving 14 votes to 9 for D. B. Hardeman of San Antonio. Bishop, who had announced for

Postoffice Permits Private Air Lines To Fly Air Mail As Express

CHICAGO—Bulk shipments of air mail may be flown by private air transport companies as air express, when letters so shipped bear the required air mail postage, according to Marshall McGree, manager of American Airways in Big Spring.

Notification of the new government ruling was received by Combs today in a postal bulletin issued by W. W. Howes, Acting Postmaster General. The new postal regulations amend Paragraph 2, Section 1710 of the Postal Laws and Regulations.

Under the ruling letters may be flown by the commercial air lines on their regular passenger schedules to point of destination, where they will be turned over to local postal authorities for delivery to the addressee. Each letter so sent must carry $0.08 postage for the first ounce and $1.13 for each additional ounce or fraction. This is the present air mail rate. The postage, in addition to the usual air express charges. The express charges, Combs explained, will be based on the weight of the entire shipment, and not on the weight of each individual letter.

The government's new regulation reads as follows: "In connection with Order N. 5116, dated March 19, 1934, rescinding the last sentence of Paragraph 2, Section 1710, Postal Laws and Regulations, postmasters and others concerned are advised that when individually addressed and stamped letters are shipped in bulk by air express and deposited in the mails for delivery to the individual addressee, such letters must bear the amount of postage properly chargeable thereon at the air-mail rate; that is, the amount chargeable on the individual letters when sent by air mail the entire distance in the usual manner."

Auto Accidents 'Worse Than War'

"In 1933 more than 24,000 people were killed and more than 800,000 were injured in auto accidents. The number of people injured in these accidents was more than three times the number of Americans wounded in the world war, according to Chas. W. Corley of the Firestone Service Store.

"The total loss resulting from that office earlier in the month, withdrew in Hall's favor the night of the caucus.

these accidents was $2,000,000,000 or more than the annual cost of operating our public school system and more than five times the total yearly fire loss of the United States.

"The possibility of accidents is naturally much greater in wet slippery weather," Mr. Corley said. "Many motorists risk accidents trying to melt their tires last until summer so they can have new tires at the start of the active driving season. This risk is unnecessary. By buying tires now the motorist can get the extra safety during the wet weather and still have practically new tires for summer driving, as tires wear very little in wet, cool weather. Now is the economical time to see that your tires are safe.

"This worn tires should be replaced with new tires having a tread that will minimize skidding. "Another advantage of obtaining tires now is the fact that you will no doubt save considerable as prices are headed higher."

Chapter One PERFECT STENOGRAPHER

PRING rain pelted at the office windows of the Bevins Construction Company. It sloshed on the big B, ran in a trickling stream through C-o-n and C-o-m, sheeted the sill, then shot eighteen stories to the asphalt pavement.

Judith Lane looked at the window even as her fingers beat a ratatata-ratatata-ratatata on her typewriter. She should have known better than to wear a brand new suit on a morning when the wind was bound to blow up a storm... she'd have to call a taxi... ratatata-ratatata... and her hat... maybe she could buy a magazine big enough to cover it while she dashed from lobby to curb... ratata... such a duck of a hat, delft blue and perky... so few hats these days looked good on her boyishly cut black hair... ratatata... color made her eyes look almost blue instead of grey... ting!

With quick fingers she whisked the sheet from the roller, slid it

"I am going to want someone from your office, either you or one of your partners, to accompany me on this trip for the purpose of searching titles, etc. My secretary, Miss Lane, will be available for any stenographic work in connection with the project both here and in the field and will be familiar with all details pertaining to the expedition, should you call at the office during my temporary absence.

"I will appreciate your immediate attention to this matter and wish to know at your earliest convenience which one of you (better make that which member of your firm) will accompany the expedition."

Judith snapped the band on her book—"Mr. Tom, you must go on home!" she entreated.

"Not 'til I sign that letter," he countered stubbornly.

"Bevins Construction Company, Miss Lane, speaking. Oh yes, Jackson, I'll tell him. You'd better park the car and meet him in the lobby." She turned from the telephone.

"Jackson's here with your car, Mr. Tom."

The big head with its shock of iron gray hair turned with reluctance—"Tell him to go back home. I've got three hours' work ahead of me. I'll call him when I'm ready!"

"But Mr. Tom, you're scheduled to go to the Clement dinner. Mrs. Bevins called this afternoon and asked me to see that you left here by five o'clock. It's five fifteen now."

"Confound the Clements. Lined and chattered and not a thing fit for a man to eat. I'll be so awfully glad when we get into the field and I can have real grub off an oil cloth table cover..." says that reminds me, take this letter."

Judith reached for her note book, snapped a rubber band over the first pages, chose a finely pointed pencil and waited.

PA'S SON-IN-LAW

"The idea of the dam was all right. I have no doubt but what irrigation and controlled water supply will turn it into one of the leading citrus fruit sections of the world. However, after they'd talked a lot of poor suckers (strike that out) homeseekers into investing their money in the land; had built a railroad spur into the country to carry these poor... ah, homeseekers, there, they decamped.

"When the affair (put in another word for affair, Judy) came to my notice I made a quick trip down there. I found about a hundred of these homeseekers still there because they didn't have any place else to go. They had sold their old homes to invest in this desert land and were there grubbing mere existence out of the soil. The spur had been abandoned and their condition was pitiable.

"I decided, after my survey, that I would build that dam, out of my own capital, if necessary and with this end in view will leave here June first with my engineers to make a complete survey of the project.

"I am going to want legal protection every step of the way, for it is "On all right." He arose, walked slowly to his locker, pulled a stouche hat over his hair at a defiant angle and ambled out, slamming the door behind him.

The moon-faced clock on the tower of the Tribune leered at Judith, Big Tom would nag at him. Mrs. Bevins would nag at him. Poor, Big Tom.

It would be a relief to get him into the field again where he could relax. Mrs. Bevins didn't seem to realize that a man couldn't work at white heat all day, then dine and play cards all night. Of course she was considerably younger. She admitted being forty-two! Big Tom was past sixty.

Not that this was any of her business, Judith reminded Judith. She was only his stenographer... perfect stenographer, dinned the memory of Clia's voice. She laughed. To think that in this city of three hundred thousand, with its usual ratio of stenographers, she should have been called the perfect one.

Five years ago she would have classified a stenographer as some sort of an unskilled business domestic. She was in college then, intent upon fitting herself to become a civil engineer and her father's partner. She had all of the practical education necessary, having traveled with him since her mother's death, when she was twelve, but had wanted to perfect her technical training.

She had foregone the pleasure of a South American trip for this purpose, and one year before her course was completed, Emil Lane succumbed to a slow tropical fever which had been robbing him of both life and savings.

Tom Bevins was in Austin when

Judith

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6) The dean broke the news to Judith. When he learned of the passing of his friend and early partner, he hurried to the girl and after her grief had subsided, helped her readjust her life. He admired her independent attitude, and when she refused financial help, suggested she use the meager life insurance as tuition at a business college where she could be speedily supplied with stenographic training which would enable her to care for herself.

Equipped with a diploma and determination, she progressed from position to position until Big Tom's secretary married, and she was called to take her place.

OPERATION PERFORMED ON PRESIDENT'S SON WASHINGTON (UP)—John Roosevelt, youngest son of the president, underwent a successful appendicitis operation Monday at the Naval hospital.

Capt. Ralph McDowell, chief surgeon, performed it.

Best possible ride?

One answer might well be that the President has no such thing as a free ride. If he hasn't but does intend to go to Hawaii and come back across the country by train it might be well to tip him that all the tea in China wouldn't stop every newspaper from featuring that final lap as a political tour of the first water.

President Harding got peeved at the boys when they constantly referred to his ill-fated Alaskan journey as an opening campaign swing but all his plans and threats failed to make them lay off.

Meyer—One of Jim Farley's undercover men has been prying around in the Federal Reserve Board and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

He reports confidentially both of these important fiscal agencies are loaded with men in key positions who owe their original jobs to Eugene Meyer, governor of the Reserve Board during the late Republican administrations and before that Chairman of the War Finance Corporation.

Therefore, argues this patronage sleuth, Meyer out of office has still a grip on the Federal Reserve and the R. F. C.

Six men in Reserve Board job paying $15,000 were first hired by the financier now turned Washington publisher.

Local points in the R. F. C. are held by old War Finance Corporation men.

This information was obtained by a careful scrutiny of the official records of all the important employees in the two agencies. Endorsements by Meyer and Larry Richey, Mr. Hoover's chief secretary, appeared frequently in the folders of men still on the job.

Meanwhile the kickers kick in vain.

Resigned—Mrs. Catherine Conner got some little publicity by resigning a $2,000 job with the Federal Emergency Relief Administration so she could hold on as Democratic Committeewoman for Kentucky.

Another lady in FERA put reverse English on this decision and got no publicity at all.

She is Mrs. Ellen S. Woodward, who resigned three weeks ago as Committeewoman for Mississippi so she could hold on to her job as Director of Women's Activities for the Relief Administration.

National Chairman Farley has reported jokingly to the White House that by the time all the resignations are in under the Administration edict against holding political and federal office simultaneously, there won't be a quorum of the Democratic National Committee left to accept them and ratify their successors.

One other question seems to be worrying some of the boys. Bob Jackson resigned as Secretary of the Committee so he could stick to his Washington law practice—but isn't he still Committeeman for New Hampshire?

Farley says Jackson's intention was to resign both places but there doesn't seem to be any record of his formal withdrawal as Committeeman.

Royalties—The Roosevelt family has a new reason to be thankful.

The President's book, "Looking Forward," is running into a hot sale abroad in seven languages and the royalties are piling in.

Domestic sale fell below expectations. As usual there was a reason.

Mr. Roosevelt insisted on stressing in the opening paragraph that the book was largely excerpts from his public speeches.

He now is engaged in putting the finishing touches to a sequel to be called "On Our Way." The President says it will be largely factual.

If he's as good a salesman as he is at politics he'll give the tone an atmosphere of hot inside stuff in his handling of the opening paragraphs.

Notes—Senator Wagner apart, industrial leaders are already being squeezed out of control of code authorities under pressure of labor groups.

Congress may await investigation of the ocean mail business before acting on the Roper bill to reorganize merchant marine on a subsidy basis.

Pressure for a $400,000,000 appropriation for highway construction is becoming strong.

France is preparing to expel nearly 60,000 emigres who have entered that country from Germany during the last year.

NEW YORK By James McMullin

Bellwethers—New York motor circles had more than a casual voice in the industry's move to adopt the 36-hour week with increased wages.

Natural observers rate it a keen piece of double-barreled strategy. It risks restless labor circles of reasons to justify strike sentiment and it puts the automobile people in the position of bellwethers for the industrial head in support of General Johnson's shorter week campaign.

Private reports here indicate that NRA officials are duly grateful and that friendly relations thus promoted will stand the motor moguls in good stead in the event of further closed shop disputes.

Curiously the steel industry—also an open-shop stronghold—may be next to follow the motors' lead despite deficits. These two industries are generally on excellent terms with NRA. They would no more think of giving up their codes than they would of abandoning their company unions!

Executives—

The executives forces of local department stores are likely to take a surprising jump if the 36-hour plan comes through for retailers. Executives are exempt from hour restrictions. One large store at least has detailed figures to prove that it's cheaper to raise the pay of salespeople to qualify them as executives than to add another shift.

Of course that wouldn't help unemployment but the store in question has about decided to let General Johnson do the worrying on that score.

Gains—

The latest figures on New York State factory employment show encouraging improvement. The gain of 5.8 per cent for January to February is much bigger than usual. That one month recouped the previous employment losses over the four-month period from September to January. The New York factory are accepted by experts as a fair sampling for the country at large.

La Guardia—

Mayor La Guardia's unremitting efforts on behalf of his New York City economy bill will probably get results in the State legislature on the fifth try.

But the Mayor's suave refusal to accept defeat and ease up on the pressure has the Democrats at Albany plenty bothered. One of the Assembly leaders privately tells his friends that "this man La Guardia is out to wreck the Democratic party and it won't do to regard him as a simple nut on civic virtue."

Tax—

The New York State sales tax is very much alive despite the fifty to one ballot piled up against it in a straw vote conducted by the New York Times. This expression of public opinion is less important politically than the discovery by Tammany legislators that the Republican plan offers them an out on some of their city troubles.

The fight will be bitter when it really gets going. Certain elements supposed to be against the sales tax may spring a major surprise by turning state's evidence in favor of it. The farm organizations are worth watching in this connection.

Bonus—

Local American Legion circles are irked because the public evidently believes the Legion is behind the latest bonus drive.

The Legion is sticking to its four-point program and has nothing to do with it. The Veterans of Foreign Wars were somewhat involved. But the real mainspring was an effort by the paper-money crowd to test whether public sentiment has become more favorable to their cause. The veterans were just a convenient front—although the veterans themselves didn't know it. The public reaction—as reported by scouts all over the country is privately regarded as disappointing.

Legion—

Of course the Legion is in a delicate position. It has many more bonusers than presumptive disabled on its rolls. An open referendum of Legion sentiment would undoubtedly favor the bonus. Indiana understands it took smart maneuvering at the last convention to keep it off the official program.

The result is some fancy tight-rope walking by Legion officials. They want to be in a position to claim credit if by a miracle the bonus goes through. But they also want to be able to point out that they didn't waste their shots if it doesn't.

Tires—

The tire industry is in a fair way to settle its unpublished but damaging civil war. Dealers—not included in the code—have been raising hob with stable prices by granting excessive allowances for worn-out shoes traded in. Certain manufacturers were accused of encouraging such practices and inside feeling was becoming bitter.

This argument has now been settled. But a new cloud has arisen in the form of underselling by mail order stores. The mail order people show no signs of cooperation and it looks as if General Johnson will soon fall heir to a new headache.

Heroes—

Wall Street buzzes with comment about Chairman Potter of the Guaranty Trust and President Johnson of the Chemical, who had the nerve to appear publicly in Washington against certain features of the Fletcher-Rayburn bill. Most local bank officers were in agreement but act on the principle that the less contact they have with Congress the better off they are.

Potter and Johnson are cited as quiet heroes by comparison.

AT LARGE

By Pleasanton Conquest, Jr. As I recall, our Congress was designed to "Legislate." But nowadays its function seems to be "Investigate."

To cry for help, from all mankind. That echo round the globe.

Mrs. V. O. Hennen, Public Health Nurse, Gives Explanation Of Tuberculosis And Its Spread

Mrs. V. O. Hennen, county-city health nurse, who is to assist the Howard County Tuberculosis Association, in carrying on its health program among the children of school age, early in April, gives an explanation of tuberculosis, how it robs one of good health, and how to protect against it. Mrs. Hennen says:

"Tuberculosis is a public enemy. Tuberculosis causes tuberculosis—every case comes from another. By knowing how it is passed from one person to another, and how it affects the body, you can do much to protect yourself and your children against it."

"Tuberculosis is not inherited. The cause of tuberculosis is a germ. Millions of these germs are in the lungs of the person who has the disease. The germs get in the sputum (spit) and into the moisture in his mouth and nose and on his lips. Anything that touches his lips is likely to pick up some of the germs. That is why kissing a sick person is so dangerous. Using the eating and drinkin' garticle of the sick person is another way in which the germs may be passed. A child playing where there is a careless spitter may get bits of sputum on his fingers and later on to his mouth. Coughing and sneezing, unless the mouth and nose are covered, are other ways in which tiny drops of sputum may be spread. Milk from cows that have tuberculosis may contain tuberculosis germs. Sometimes the germs get into the milk from the milker who has tuberculosis or from one who handles the milk. Pasteurized milk is safe because all germs in it have been killed. Boiling also kills germs."

Mrs. Hennen in another article, will explain the signs of tuberculosis, how it can be cured, and how prevented. Everyone is urged to read these articles, and to be ready to cooperate with the members of the Howard County Tuberculosis Association, when it launches its health program here early in April. With Mrs. Hennen others working on this campaign are Mrs. J. C. Douglas, Dr. Lee Rogers, Mrs. Horace Reagan, and others.

Seal-tye Tubes

As Low As $2.00

A tube sealed and coated on the inside with a special compound which eliminates air seepage found in all ordinary tubes. Constant air-pressure gives you greatly increased tire mileage.

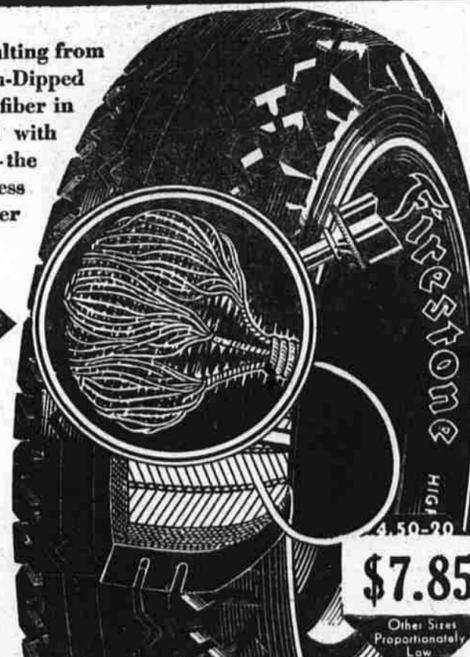

BLOWOUTS are caused by internal heat resulting from friction between the cotton fibers. Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires are the only tires made where every cotton fiber in every cord in every ply is saturated and coated with rubber, preventing internal friction and heat—the greatest enemy of tire life. This patented Extra Process makes the tire Stronger—Safer—and gives it greater protection against blowouts.
