CAPTAIN FRANK HAWKS INJURED

B. Frank Haag and M. R. Hill Legislative Candidates

BOTH MEN ARE KNOWN OVER AREA

Hill Announcement Follows Earlier Intimation

B. Frank Haag definitely announced his candidacy Thursday for the state legislature...

Judge Haag will seek to represent the 88th district which comprises Midland, Presidio, Jeff Davis, Reeves, Loving, Winkler, Ward, Ector, Crane, Pecos, Upton, Martin, and Andrews counties.

The Midland attorney got into the race Thursday on solicitation of friends...

Friends of Judge Haag asked him to run soon after Lee Satterwhite announced he would not be a candidate for re-election...

Haag's supporters say his experience as a lawyer, newspaperman, business man and farming experience as a boy coupled with his long service in civic capacities...

Coupled with this experience is his long residence in West Texas and knowledge of its needs.

It is believed that he can represent all areas of the district with fairness and through the knowledge all areas and many men in every county of the 88th.

Hill Tentatively Announced Earlier

Judge M. R. Hill announced definitely Thursday that he would be a candidate for the state legislature from the 88th district.

The Midland county judge tentatively announced earlier in the week and made a decision Thursday on his own judgment and through the insistence of many friends that he make the race.

Judge Hill's friends say his experience as head of the Midland county court during Midland's main period of progress has well qualified him to help look after governmental affairs of the people of this district in the larger capacity of state legislator.

The Midland county judge is not only directly experienced in governmental affairs, but is a practical business man, his friends point out. He has engaged in merchandising and farming, and has held various civic posts of honor.

He is now executive director of the Midland Welfare association, a director of the chamber of commerce, and has actively assisted in county meetings, and civic activities. He is a former president of the Midland Welfare association.

Hill has received already, those familiar with his campaign say, offers of support from other parts of the district.

Pecos Valley Oil Business Better

The oil business is looking up. In the Pecos valley field the Wickert Refining company has been buying for 35 cents a barrel less pipeline charges of 12 1/2 cents, or a net of 22 1/2 cents, for 27 gravity sweet oil.

W. H. Hagen and associates of San Angelo have entered into competition and, since the first of the month, have been paying 52 1/2 cents a barrel net at the well.

The Wickert Refining company met the price.

Jack Hall, Held Here Gets New Trial in Slaying Case

"Jazz Age" Row Splits Church

Jack Hall, former Sonoran, who was convicted and given 20 years last June in Crane county for the slaying of T. C. Barnsley on the banks of the Pecos river, received a new trial by the court of criminal appeals at Austin Wednesday.

Plans were being made by San Angelo attorneys Wednesday to obtain Hall's release under bond from the Midland jail where he has been held since the conviction.

Hall was at liberty on a $10,000 bond when the case was tried. The defense will ask a change of venue.

In the trial of the case, Charles Gibbs, Jim Stovall of San Angelo and Henry Russel of Pecos, sought to prove that some of the jurymen in the case resided not in Crane county but in Upton county.

The case is the most celebrated to be heard from Crane county, one of the newest counties in Texas. Hall's plea was self defense.

Reversal in the Hall case was granted because of error in the charge of the judge to the jury, the Associated Press reported. The appeals court held that the statement of the trial judge that the "intent to commit an offense is presumed whenever the means used is such as would ordinarily result in the commission of a forbidden act" was error in view of statutes that presume a defendant innocent until he is proven guilty.

The appeals court held this charge could easily be interpreted by the jury to mean that because the appellant shot Barnsley that the intent to commit the offense charged would be presumed and that the burden of proof was on the appellant and not on the state to show that there was no intent to kill.

"The presumption of innocence is stronger than any presumption of guilt arising merely from the means used to accomplish the guilty purpose and the burden is on the state to overcome the presumption of innocence by establishing guilt beyond a reasonable doubt," the appeals court stated.

Go to Funeral Of Oil Worker

Zura and Ruth Davidson, with their aunt, Mrs. Frank Edsall, have gone to the funeral of their brother, N. C. Davidson, 27, who was killed Wednesday evening while working on a Ward county oil test.

Burial is to be held Friday afternoon. Survivors are his wife and two small children, 14 and 12 years, his father, Delbert Davidson, and sisters, Mrs. George Burman of Marble Falls and the Misses Davidson, who make their home with Mrs. Edsall here.

Satterwhite Says He Is Candidate

Lee Satterwhite, of Odessa, veteran Texas legislator and a former speaker of the state house of representatives, has definitely announced his candidacy for railroad commissioner.

The place sought by Satterwhite is now filled by C. V. Terrell, who is chairman of the commission. Terrell is asking re-election and there are several other candidates.

Satterwhite said his 14 years service as a member of the Texas legislature had given him "an opportunity to closely observe and study our state government in all of its departments, and it is my judgment that membership on the railroad commission offers, perhaps, a greater opportunity for a useful and worthwhile service to the people of Texas than any other state official connection."

MIMS IS ELECTED AS HEAD

Legg, Lawrence and Barron Other Officers

Percy J. Mims, insurance man, today was elected president of the Midland Rotary club, to take office July 1.

The annual election was held earlier this year in order to have incoming officers attend the all-state Rotary convention in Mineral Wells next month.

Aubrey S. Legg, district manager of the Texas Electric Service company, was elected vice president; C. Y. Barron was re-elected secretary.

R. V. Lawrence was named treasurer; Fred Wemple and W. I. Pratt were chosen directors at large, retaining President W. E. Ryan automatically becoming a director.

All officers serve on the board. Mims will succeed Dr. W. E. Ryan under whose leadership the club has had an active and successful year.

The program today was in charge of Arthur G. Jurey, of the international relations committee. W. B. Simpson gave an interesting "trip through Mexico," telling of conditions there when he lived in the republic about 30 years ago.

Jury read a letter from a Rotarian, a hotel manager, in London in which work of Rotary clubs there was described.

Well Cleans Self After Being Shot

Abell Brothers No. 1 Shell-Sloan, fee of which is owned by Harvey Sloan and the Sloan estate, located on Green No. 1 Beatie, in production, Ward county, 330 feet from the NW and 330 from the NE lines, was shot with 40 quarts of nitroglycerine Wednesday afternoon from 245-90 which represents total depth in steel line measurement, and made a nice flow and cleaned itself.

The well was making 50 barrels between 75 and 80 barrels now, according to operators. It is the fourth offset to wells owned by Barnsdall and E. E. (Buck) Sturm.

Pure-Smith Test Is Drilling Ahead

No. 1 Pure-Smith, located 330 feet from the NE and NW lines of section 4, block 34, H. & T. C. survey, Ward county, an offset to Bentley and Green No. 1 Beatie, production, has landed 12 1/2 inch casing at 90 feet and is drilling ahead.

Attend Conference In Big Spring

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Grantham, Claude O. Crane and the Rev. Winston Borum spent today in Big Spring, attending the workers' conference at the Mexican Baptist church.

Mr. Borum delivered the conference sermon at 11 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Grantham appeared on the afternoon program.

Executives of N. M. Association Form

Appointment of the executive committee of the Oil Men's Protective association of New Mexico included the following men: W. A. Nicholas and Harry Leonard, Roswell; M. W. Evans, William Dooley and Martin Yates, Artesia; C. D. Woolworth, Jal; E. A. Christman and Powhatan Carter, Lovington; A. C. Brown, Hobbs.

Garner Campaign Embarrasses Reps

AUSTIN, April 7. (UP)—The Garner-for-president boom has put many members of the Texas legislature in an embarrassing situation.

During the recent sessions of the legislature, J. T. Holloway, an independent worker for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, obtained the signatures of more than 135 of them to cards offering support of the New York governor.

At that time the Garner boom had not been suggested. Now the legislators who signed are trying to figure out how they can be active in support of the "favorite son" without having some one ask if they have ditched Roosevelt.

Headquarters in Chicago for the Garner-for-president forces likely will not be established until June, State Senator Walter Woodward says. Woodward was chairman of the organization committee at the San Antonio Garner-for-president rally.

Quarters in one of the leading hotels have been offered for Garner headquarters.

Midlander and Baby Star in Picture

Featuring Bessie Love, imitable film star, formerly of Midland, and her little Patricia, just five weeks old, it's the first appearance before any camera for Patricia. And the first for some time of Bessie Love, who is now Mrs. William Hawks, of Los Angeles.

She withdrew from picture work at the time of her marriage two years ago. She was formerly Juanita Horton and lived at the old section house here. She has been a success in pictures for several years.

RACKETEERING IN GASOLINE A SERIOUS JOB

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., Apr. 7. (UP)—Gasoline racketeering, the evasion of gasoline taxes, rivals the bootlegging industry in profits, F. B. Martinec, assistant vice president of the Standard of Indiana, told the Western Petroleum Refiners association in a convention here today.

He called upon delegates to aid in stamping out the "unscrupulous operators."

Martinec traced the history of gasoline taxation from the beginning in 1819 to the present nationwide average of four cents per gallon which, he said, represents from 33 and 1-3 per cent to 70 per cent of the retail price.

Mercury to Drop Slightly Forecast

DALLAS, April 7. (UP)—A shift in the wind from the south to the northwest will bring temperature drops tonight, the weather bureau reported. It will be warmer Friday.

Temperature at Amarillo this morning was 35 degrees and 28 degrees in Santa Fe.

Charge Follows "Resurrection"

OROVILLE, Calif. (UP)—Because Ernest Fultz of Pulga came back to life after he was reported dead, Dan W. Johnson, IT, is under arrest here charged with perjury.

In 1928 Johnson assertedly told the county grand jury he saw H. H. Frazier and J. R. Griffin carry Fultz's body out of a cabin after a quarrel and throw it into the Feather river.

Fultz reappeared at Pulga very much alive and the arrest followed.

PLANE IS PILED UP IN CRASH

Taken From Wreck Unconscious; Wet Field Blamed

WORCESTER, Mass., April 7. (UP)—Frank Hawks, holder of many distance speed records, was injured in a crash at the airport here today.

He was taken to the Memorial hospital with severe cuts on his face and hands. He was unconscious when extricated from the wrecked low-winged monoplane which crashed into a stone wall at the end of the airport when he attempted to take off for New York from a soggy field.

En route to the hospital, he regained consciousness. His condition was not critical, he was suffering considerable pain.

Hospital authorities refused to allow visitors.

Hawks flew here yesterday from Detroit in three hours and 55 minutes to address local boys last night. In the speech he stressed the need of faster fool-proof planes.

Methodists Plan For Two Schools

At a combined meeting last night of the Workers council and the board of Christian education, the Methodists here made plans for two schools of instruction.

The first school will begin Sunday, April 17, and sessions will be held during the evenings of the week following this day. Rev. E. G. Hancock, executive secretary of the young peoples' division of the west Texas conference will be in charge of the school. He will also teach a course in applied Christianity for the young people of the church. Rev. J. H. Meredith, pastor of the Methodist church in Ozona, will teach a course in the New Testament. Rev. Edwin Calhoun will teach the course in worship. These courses are opened to all adults who will attend.

The second school is being planned for May 30 to June 10. This will be a daily vacation Bible school for children from six to fourteen years of age. The faculty for this school is being selected from the qualified persons of the local church. Definite plans for the vacation school will be announced later, according to George Phillips, the director of the Methodist church school.

Brewers Protest Water Purification

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (UP)—This city's efforts to provide pure water for its residents is meeting with violent complaints from the home-brewers.

The chlorination process, to make the water pure, also makes the action of the yeast in a batch of home brew beer, the brewers contend, and gives the beer a peculiar and unpalatable flavor.

Water Commissioner C. W. Burdick heard the complaints and conducted an investigation. He said he found that the sales of malt syrup had dropped off considerably since the city installed the chlorination plant.

MEETING ARRANGED

WASHINGTON, April 7. (UP)—President Hoover asked the house economy committee to meet him at the White House Saturday at 11 o'clock.

The action was a reply to a request of the committee for specific economies desired in the government.

DO YOU LIKE BOOZE? MAKE UP YOUR MIND AT LITTLE THEATRE OFFERING

Some folk like an occasional nip from the bottle, and some don't. Some not only like it, but admit they do. Others hate the idea and are equally frank about the matter.

No matter whether one prefers taking it on the lips rather than on the chin, he will see two poignant comedies, one for booze and the other against it, worked out on the stage Friday night when the little theatre presents "The Old Soak," a comedy-drama that on the stage has caught as much attention in recent years as anything produced for the footlights. It will be staged at the Yucca theatre.

Ministers, club women, speakeasy proprietors and school children will get the same reaction to the comedy. The immutable secretary law that governs one class will cause others to roar in approval. No one can take offense. The frailty, strength, emotion and all-around adaptability of The Old Soak as played by Joseph A. Seymour will stamp him as the most outstanding little theatre actor ever produced by the organization here.

Ticket sales this morning were reported to be increasing, and Odessa and Stanton people were buying, as well. The play will begin promptly at 8:15 and adult tickets for the lower floor will cost 50 cents, in the balcony 35 cents. Children and students will pay 25 cents. There are plenty of reserve seats left, both on the lower floor and in the balcony.

Two Radio Groups Planning Merger

NEW YORK. (UP)—Two organizations of radio operators, the American Radio Telegraphers association and the Commercial Radio Protective association, have started negotiations here to merge into one group.

Immediate inspiration for the proposed merger is to combat a bill which Representative Arthur M. Free of California has planned to introduce in Congress, which would authorize coastwise ships to carry unlicensed radio operators.

Susan Carey, 19, finishes her course at a Chicago business school and secures her first job as secretary to Ernest Heath...

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VIII

Dear Mr. Heath, she regarded the stranger, "Jack Waring"—where had she heard that name before? It meant nothing to Susan.

It was the first time she had met him. Waring seemed oddly at home. Having deposited his rakish panama hat on the empty desk he straightened his ill-tinted tie and demanded:

"What time is it?" Waring asked. "Miss Carey, Mr. Waring, don't believe you have met before."

"Waring bowed royally. 'Delighted I'm sure. Quite an addition to our happy little family. And now can I help you, Miss Carey?'

"Oh, is that all?" Waring's laugh reassured her. "Let me look at it." He took the limp sheets from her hand and gazed at them intently.

"Susan gasped. Waring's eyes twinkled. 'It's as easy as that,' he cried. 'Hop to it. He's lurching at the club with old Savves. I passed them 10 minutes ago and they hadn't got to dessert. Hurry, and I'll check it with you as soon as you've finished.'

"Mr. Heath looked pleased. 'Good,' he approved firmly. 'Good.' Susan felt like a thief and a traitor but held her tongue.

"Susan learned many things. She learned how an unimportant caller may be courteously turned away, and how an important one may be warded to linger if early for an appointment.

"One thing she could not seem to master. That was the problem of keeping Jack Waring in what Aunt Jessie would have called 'his place.'

"Jack Waring, 38, divorced, agreeable, fond of dancing, sport cars and feminine companionship, refused to believe Susan would not flirt with him.

"Waring was not used to being snubbed. In fact he didn't know what snubs were. He turned an invincible armor to them. He laughed at slings. Susan seemed to him a detestable piece of femininity, incredibly innocent, a toy to be played with. She provided a piquant sauce for his sophisticated palate.

"Her very difference from the women he knew interested and attracted him. Some days he would scarcely have called her pretty. Her skin was ordinarily too pearl-pale for eyes of hers, so mellifluously eloquent, black and gray by turns!

outgoing, the incoming and the hold-over trustees to be at the race. It is pointed out that no admission fee will be charged and that no even a county poll tax is necessary for admittance.

After all, a sea lion isn't so different from these Lions here. They play tricks on each other, sing coarse bass and try to beat each other to the fish.

If you find the county candidate a little slow about buying coffee, I will tip you off to the fact that they are going to have a party on two voting places this year.

Addison Wadley, keeping up with the styles, noticed that women's shoe toes are to be more pointed. 'And just when I am trying to learn to play contract,' he exclaimed. And I thought he got his shins barked playing golf.

Jack Waring had been married young—at 22—to a girl he had extravagantly adored. At the time he had gone through the painful and disillusioning business of the divorce courts.

"Susan seemed to Waring a pretty and welcome diversion. He could not be made to understand that to her a snatched kiss and a murmured compliment in the office hours were things to be despised.

"He continued his cheerful pursuit in the face of rebuffs and never failed to astonish her. When he should have been hurt and angry he merely smiled. Susan became adept in the art of avoiding him.

"Susan thought flirtation on the sly both undignified and stupid. She said so. 'Jack Waring merely laughed. 'You're still the baby in my eyes. Some day you'll wake up, and then—'

"The man shrugged. He reached for the slim, long-fingered hand that lay on the desk before him. Susan thought it was a trick to answer her. 'Yes, and then?' Susan was prim but Eve's curiosity danced in her eyes.

"All around her in the expectant bustle of downtown's half holiday girls would be clinging to their escorts. Girls in white, their bathing suits bunched in brief cases, girls in floppy hats, girls with carmine lips going to the beaches, the parks, the amusement places. She, Susan Carey, would be alone.

"She wondered even as she answered this man slowly and deliberately why she hesitated. There was something in her blood warning her against him though her impulses leaped to the temptation. She was young. She was alive and eager. It was little fun to stand her free time alone as she usually did, or worse still, listening to Aunt Jessie's complaints.

"Why don't you answer me, miss? Getting above herself, she is, since she's got a job. Forgets that I raised her?' Aunt Jessie's voice raised to a whine, would drone on and on. Yes, Jack Waring's company would be a change from this. Still she refused. 'Not this time,' she said. She hissed, 'I'm busy Saturday.'

"Unacknowledged and in the back of her brain lay the admission that she would not dare to go for fear of what Mr. Ernest Heath might say. He would lead her astray. He would forsake her. She thought of the distance his fine eyes would express if he heard she was 'gadding round' with Jack Waring. It would seem to cheapen her. Susan felt. Other girls did it—yes. Somehow she could not. But Waring was not finished with her yet. He was suddenly by her side, shaven, mocking face so close to Susan's that she could smell the scent of the lily lotion he used for 'Scotch' out. He whispered, 'We Waring usually get what we want.' Almost those audacious lips grazed the girl's flaming cheek.

"A voice broke in on the tableau. Ernest Heath's voice, Sarcastic and cold as ice it fell on Susan's horrified ears. 'Very charming indeed! And now I would like to know what's going on here if you're not too busy to tell me!' Scarlet, aghast, Susan leaped to

Helpful Health Suggestions

By Martha Bredemeier

PROPER EATING Eating has been called one of "nature's major physical pleasures" but the results of overindulgence are just as severe in eating as in other excesses.

To eat properly one does not have to be a food fanatic or a diet crank. Too little food, for instance, is quite as bad as too much. The brain indigest, the protein opponents, the vegetarians, the anti-salt group, the prolonged chewing brigade all have their day and followers.

One who has with judgment to consider age, personal idiosyncracies, climate, and other conditions before championing or condemning a certain food.

Those who fear protein, perhaps forget that normal growth and physical development will not take place unless the proper kind and amount of protein food is furnished the individual.

The raw food faddists overlook the fact that cooking prevents intestinal parasitism, makes food more attractive, and therefore more digestible, transforms starch to make it more likely to be assimilated and that in eating food raw 50 per cent of the food value is lost.

ASLEEP AT WHEEL CORVALLIS, Ore. (UP)—It may be all right to sleep in classes, but sleeping at the wheel of an automobile is positively annoying, believes John Lovejoy, Oregon State college student.

Wearing the latest Paris creation and riding in a Rolls-Royce has become almost a tradition in Hollywood.

There have been no end of stories regarding Gloria Swanson's financial status. Many will tell you that she is, or at least was practically "broke."

Ernest Heath's thin lips drew together in a straight, forbidding line. He strode into the private office without another glance at the girl. Over his shoulder he threw these words: 'I'd like to see you at once, Waring. Alone.'

COACH FAVORS CHANGES MADE IN GRID RULES

FORT WORTH.—With the exception of the rule which states that the ball will be called dead when any part of the ball-carrier's body except his hands or feet touch the ground, Coach Francis Schmidt is well pleased with the new football rules adopted at a recent meeting of the national football committee.

He was of the opinion that the rule eliminating the flying tackle and block and the ordinance prohibiting linemen from using their hands on opponents would be loosely interpreted in this section.

The Horned Frog grid teacher was especially pleased with the regulation which permits a player to be substituted for and returned to the game in any subsequent period. In his opinion, this will eliminate the coaches' playing a star who has a minor injury or who is temporarily exhausted; however, it will tend to increase quarterbacking from the sidelines.

Coach Schmidt was most bitterly opposed to the rule that kills the ball when the ball-carrier falls down. "As the rule stands now," the Christian mentor commented, "every time the ball-carrier falls down in an open field without an opponent near him, if any part of his body except his hands or feet touch the ground he could not get up and run."

Coach Schmidt does not believe that the rule about the flying blocker would hurt the game very much. "I don't believe an official who had either played or coached would enforce the rule to the letter if the blocker left his feet right at the player," he said.

TEXAS MAY BE ONE OF FIRST TO PROSPERITY

FORT WORTH, April 4 (UP)—The uniform manner in which Texas is responding to the anti-inflation campaign indicates that it will be one of the first states to shake off the prolonged business depression, according to P. Barrett, chairman of the Texas drive.

The whole-hearted cooperation in returning money to trade channels, coupled with the diversity of industry in Texas, points toward a state being one of the first if not the leader in a return to normalcy, Barrett said.

While it is impossible for Barrett to determine the amount of money returned to circulation, he said that deposits from every part of the state had revealed sharp increases in deposits and the money put back into circulation would run into the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Wide-awake merchants also are expressing their confidence through increased newspaper, radio and other forms of advertising, he pointed out.

Texan Opposed Droys in 1887

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP)—The voice of Jim Hogg, commoner governor of Texas, who opposed prohibition because he believed in "the welfare of morality, the protection of virtue and the promotion of honesty," again has been awakened as Texas voters look toward another general election.

The dead governor's classic letter, giving his view of prohibition's aftermath, long has furnished "vets" of the state their most forceful arguments. The letter, dated May 13, 1887, was written to W. W. Douglas.

"Aside from the great fundamental principles involved which touch the very heart of a freeman's government," wrote Governor Hogg of prohibition, "I should oppose the measure on the grounds of its utter impracticability and the prolific evils that would certainly flow from its adoption."

ALARMING INCREASE IN NUMBER OF SUICIDES BRINGS RENEWED EFFORT TO STEM SELF DESTRUCTION TIDE

By NEA Service. Yesterday, in these United States, approximately 70 persons died by their own hands. Tomorrow and every other day this year, if grim statistics are an accurate prediction, another three-score-and-ten will seek what they choose to call "the easiest way out."

The nation's suicide rate has nearly doubled in a decade. Complete figures for 1931 are expected to show about 24,000 cases of self-destruction, with at least 30,000 additional attempts that failed.

Like a mysterious disease, suicide has spread to the proportions of a major epidemic. And science, all searching for means of combating it, is a baffling problem.

The rate for the entire United States in 1930 was 20, and is calculated unofficially to have increased considerably since then. Except for the National Save-a-Life League, an anti-suicide group which has operated principally in New York for 25 years—there has been an organized effort toward the prevention of suicide.

Although millions are spent in safety first campaigns, automobile accidents result in no more fatalities than do suicide attempts. Although large endowments are made for the study of all kinds of diseases, suicide remains uncontrolled, kills six times as many people as does meningitis.

Health authorities, pointing out these facts, have called for a scientific investigation of the problem of suicide. At a recent medical convention Dr. Carl Menninger, neuro-psychiatrist of Topeka, Kan., declared that a great number of suicides could be prevented by scientific treatment.

"Suicide is an important problem," he said, "because it is apt to occur in superior individuals where as murder or some other form of death is likely to involve people less important to civilization."

If we can recognize the real motivating causes of suicide we can often save ourselves the loss of a valuable member of society either through psychological treatment or

100 Saved Annually

Dr. Harry M. Warren, president of the Save-a-Life League, believes with psychiatrists that fully half of all suicides could be prevented.

Other victims were Knowlton L. Ames, one-time all-American full-back owner of the Chicago Journal of Commerce, and Parker Lloyd-Smith, editor of the magazine Fortune.

The tragic list this year already is a long one, and is headed by the names of two world-famous bachelors—George Eastman, philanthropist and wealthy manufacturer, and Ivar Kreuger, the Swedish "match king."
