Nipponese Gathering Along Frontier Of Mongolia

MOSCOW, March 27. (AP)—Soviet dispatches today reported Japanese and Manchoukuoan forces concentrating on the far Eastern frontier, following an outbreak in fighting on the Russo-Manchoukuoan border, and one the outer Mongolian border.

MOSCOW, Mar. 27. (AP)—Fighting that broke out Wednesday on the Soviet-Manchoukuoan border spread Thursday to the frontier of outer Mongolia, where cannon and airplanes were brought into play in a series of clashes.

Soviet press advices said Japanese and Manchoukuoan forces were concentrating along the frontier near Norin lake, with the evident purpose of renewing their alleged attempt to capture a Manchoukuoan territory post from which they were forced back yesterday.

At dawn, the Japanese and Manchoukuoans were said to have occupied the border positions after crossing the Howsing river. They remained until afternoon, when they withdrew to Manchoukuoan territory after Mongolian planes maneuvered over their position, the dispatches said.

In the battle which preceded the seizure of the post, it was stated, the Japanese used two cannons, and the Mongolians, outnumbered, were forced to retreat seven kilometers, (nearly 4 1/2 miles) to a ravine north of Norin lake.

OIL SHOW IS HIT IN FOSTER OFFSET

Barnsdall No. 1 F. Foster Logs Showing at 4,080 Feet

By FRANK GARDNER
A showing of free oil, the first so far logged, was reported at 4,080 feet in Barnsdall Oil Co. No. 1 Frank Foster, the east offset of the discovery well in Ector county's Foster pool. The oil show is said to correspond with the first oil in the Barnsdall No. 1 H. C. Foster, the pool opener, which topped pay at 4,090.

The offset test is now drilling ahead below 4,087 feet in lime. As it drills deeper into the lime section, the No. 1 Frank Foster will command much interest, especially when it reaches the horizon in which Standard No. 1 J. E. Wither, the south offset to the discovery, encountered its main pay—4,182 to 4,189.

The Barnsdall offset is located 660 feet out of the southwest corner of section 18, block 42, township 2 south, T. & P. survey.

No Change in Yoakum Well
With the last reported depth at 5,183 feet in lime, Yoakum county's discovery product, Honolulu Oil Corp., Ltd., and Cascade Petroleum Corp. No. 1 Bennett, has not encountered any additional pays. Operators plan to drill ahead until there is some definite change. A soft section drilled from 5,139 to 5,144 did not yield any noticeable increase.

The well is swabbing about 20 barrels of oil per day coming from 5,094 to 5,096. A 2,000 gallon acid injection did not materially increase natural production. Located in section 678, block D, John H. Gibson survey, the Honolulu and Cascade discovery is the forerunner of other tests soon to be drilled in the county, one by Elliott Roosevelt and Lou Slogner and another by Bahan and Rhodes.

In central Gaines county, W. T. Walsh and Harry Adams Corp. No. 1 Averitt is reported still shut down because of wind blowing gas over engine. The well is blowing more than 12,000,000 cubic feet of wet gas per day originating near total depth of 4,910. Operators have a string of fishing tools in the hole lost while trying to pound a broken ring socket over a bit previously stranded when jammed by the gas kick. When operations are resumed, they will probably try to jar the tools to bottom and may drill by in the event they can not be recovered. The gasser is three miles northwest of Seminole in section 228, block G, W.T.R.R. survey.

Digging Celler for Crane Test
Cellar is being dug for Gulf No. 2 Waddell, 1,930 feet from the south and west lines of section 18, block B-21, public school land, Crane county. The test is located two miles northeast of the Gulf No. 1 Waddell deep pay discovery now producing from the Simpson, middle Ordovician, and is about midway between it and Gulf No. 1 McKnight, a small Permian producer. The test should prove interesting since it will probably be carried through three (See OIL NEWS, page 8)

PROSECUTOR SAYS QUICK ACTION TO BE TAKEN BY HIM

Possibility of Stay Is Lessened by the Statement
HOFFMAN ANGRY Says Hauptmann Was Not Given Fair Trial

TRENTON, March 27. (AP)—Hunt-er County Prosecutor Anthony Hauck Jr. today promised "quick and necessary action" to block a reprieve for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted murderer of the Lindbergh infant.

The statement followed a prediction by Arch W. Loney, PWA engineer who last night suggested a 30-day stay to enable further study of TRENTON, March 27. (AP)—Governor Harold G. Hoffman today said the whole Hauptmann case "reeks with unfairness, passion and prejudice," and said that he is more "firmly convinced than ever that Hauptmann was not given a trial in line with what we consider to be American standards of justice."

Meanwhile, the sensational report swept Trenton that Hauptmann had changed his story of how he came into possession of the Lindbergh ransom money. Hauptmann reportedly "bought" the ransom money.

The Lindbergh kidnap ladder, that Governor Harold G. Hoffman would have let Hauptmann go Tuesday, the execution date.

Governor Hoffman said Thursday night a Federal wood expert (Loney) who had accompanied him on his visit of inspection of the attic of Bruno's former home in the Bronx did not believe rail 16 of the kidnap ladder came from the attic flooring.

Attorney General David Wientz said that he would issue a statement Saturday morning on his attitude toward a second reprieve for Hauptmann.

Colonel Mark Kimberling, warden of the state prison, announced that Hauptmann was cheerful and sure of an escape from the death chair next Tuesday night. Kimberling said that he told Hauptmann "things don't look so cheerful," but that the doomed man replied, "I feel something is going to happen."

Some quarters believed that Hoffman's statement meant that Hauptmann's chance for a reprieve was dimmer.

WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

American Telephone & Telegraph, the vast holding company now being investigated by the Federal Communications Commission, is unique.

It is a monopoly, and admits it. Of every 100 telephones in the country, more than 80 are directly controlled by A. T. & T. President Walter S. Gifford gets $206,000 a year salary, pays $103,000 of it in income tax. He cheerfully admits the monopoly part.

But he argues that a national telephone system must be a monopoly, that a lot of small, competing lines would be a nuisance. He denies that A. T. & T. has ever taken advantage of its monopoly position, but has used it to develop the best telephone service for the benefit of the most people.

The FCC is spending $750,000 to see whether this is true or whether the company has used its position to keep rates up, exacted unjust profits from its affiliates, and competed unfairly with rivals in other fields than the telephone business.

The A. T. & T. is the largest company in the world owned by private individuals. It has total assets of more than $5,000,000,000. But no one holder owns as much as 1 per cent of its stock. Every state has from 500 to 10,000 people of the 700,000 who own this company through having bought its stock.

Of some 260,000 people who work for the company, more than 100,000 are part owners through having bought stock.

Reaches Around World The company controls the regional operating companies which actually run the 14,000,000 telephones that make up the Bell System. But this Bell System also connects with the phones of 6600 smaller telephone companies and 25,000,000 rural lines, so that practically any of the 17,350,000 telephones in the country can be connected with any other one.

Foreign connections have also been established with 67 other countries, and now 30,850,000 telephones all over the world can be reached at any time from any Bell System telephone.

For every share of its stock, A. T. & T. pays out each year $9 in profits. For the last four years it has not made that much profit, but it hesitated to pay less to stockholders, so it made up the difference out of surplus funds saved from past profits.

That means that the 700,000 part owners of the A. T. & T. receive $43,000,000 every three months. More than half of them are women.

Sun Life Insurance Co. of Canada and Harvard College are among the largest owners.

The stock now costs about $170 a share. In 1933 it cost $90. The system paid out $95,900,000 in taxes in 1935-$7.06 for every telephone in service.

It's a Holding Company A. T. & T. is a holding company. It owns almost 90 per cent of the stock of 24 companies which actually operate the telephones in various parts of the country, such as the New York Telephone Co. or the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Co.

It also owns the Western Electric Company, of which Edgar S. Bloom is president. In giant plants in Chicago and Kearney, N. J., this company makes telephone equipment, such as phones

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR NATURAL "BULK" Needed to Correct Constipation*

Most people recognize the seriousness of constipation. But too often they dose themselves with strong cathartics that often actually lead to chronic constipation.

The natural way to check common constipation is to correct the condition which causes it—usually, insufficient "bulk" in meals.

How can you get "bulk"? Fruits and vegetables have some. Bran has more. The most popular product of this kind is Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is gentle in action. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

This delicious cereal is a whole-some food. Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity, with milk or cream—or use in cooking.

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily will usually correct constipation due to insufficient "bulk." If not relieved, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN gives you gentle internal exercise. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

and switchboards. It sells 90 per cent of its product to the A. T. & T. or other companies of the Bell System. It also buys material for them all, and holds patent rights.

The A. T. & T. itself built and owns long-distance lines connecting the various regional systems, ship-to-shore and trans-Atlantic telephone service, teletype systems, 1000 leased wires for special purposes, chain radio program hook-ups, talkie apparatus, and picture transmission by wire.

Relations are Complex The A. T. & T. provides patent rights, special knowledge, standardized equipment, capital and expert help to the regional operating companies it owns. Those relationships are very complex, and are one point the commission wishes to understand better.

For instance, the large Graybar Electric Co., a "competing" maker of electrical equipment, was sold by A. T. & T. in 1928, but long and involved testimony leaves still some doubt whether it is really competing.

Vast experimental laboratories are jointly run by A. T. & T. and Western Electric, now hard at work on things like television.

A staff of 250 FCC investigators has been going into A. T. & T.'s involved affairs for almost a year. The present public hearings may last a month. Witnesses are examined by FCC Counsel Samuel Becker. Paul A. Walker is the member of the FCC especially charged with conducting the whole telephone investigation.

Farmers and business men alike should remember the demoralization of bankruptcy caused by 5c cotton in 1932 and give full cooperation and support to the government in the administration of its new Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment measure.

President Roosevelt in 1933, realizing gravity of the agricultural situation, provided for the retirement of 11,000,000 acres of cotton, which was generally known as the "Flow-up-campaign" for which the farmers of Texas were paid around $45,000,000 with the result that the 1933 crop sold at a price level of round 11 to 12c a pound, confidence was restored and many bankruptcies and foreclosures averted.

Farmers were given as part remuneration for plowing up their cotton, 2,500,000 bales of government cotton at 6c a pound and a few months later the government loaned the farmer 12c a pound on this same cotton.

The government at present has a loan on 5,500,000 bales of the farmers' cotton and it is the farmer duty to protect the government which saved them from disaster, by continuing full cooperation with the

STORIES IN STAMPS By I. S. Klein

NEW YORK CITY, in the early summer of 1935, saw the arrival of what was the world's finest ocean liner—the Normandie. After only one year of uncontestated supremacy on the high seas, this great French liner faces the challenge of England's champion, the Queen Mary.

But as it rides the seas, the Normandie remains a marvel of size and comfort. Built at a cost of $59,000,000, the huge ship is too long and too wide to pass through the Panama or the Suez canal. It is half again as large as Germany's crack liner, the Bremen, and a single round trip across the Atlantic is said to cost $250,000.

The gigantic size of the Normandie can be realized from the fact that a spacious play and punch-and-judy room fills the deck space within one of its two dummy funnels, while the other is occupied by a smoking room and cafe.

The Town Quack

I see where a newspaper in a California town is going to resume publication, having been out of circulation ever since the Union soldiers burned the plant during the Civil war because of some editorials they didn't like. Let's hope the editor has waited long enough to start up again. Some of the old boys might still be mad.

"Old country boys" come in for a lot of comment by Old Tack, in the Amarillo Globe and News. One of the latest he tells about is the old country boy who bred up what he believed to be the perfect bird dog.

Anyway, the old country boy was busy about the farm place one afternoon or morning, it doesn't make any difference which it was, when a smart, slick city hunter from Dallas drove up. And he asked permission to hunt and it was given him and he loaded up his fancy gun and unleashed his beautiful hunting dog.

The Dallas hunter boasted about his fine dog and said he was purchased over in England or some place and it had cost him $1,000. "Well," said the country boy, "there are some birds down there in the heavy thicket along the creek. If you kill any of them and can't find them, let me know and I'll bring down my old dog. He ain't much but if he can't outdo and out-smell that milk-licking lap dog of yours I'll give you all the mules on the farm."

And so the Dallas hunter went down to the creek and he scared up the bunch of quail and he fired into them and one of them dropped in the water. And his dog tried to find it, but couldn't as the bird sunk or something.

Anyway, the old country boy moseyed down that way and he sent his dog in to look for the quail and pretty soon there was a terrific splashing in the water and the country-raised dog came out carrying a 6-pound bass in its mouth.

"He ain't ever failed me yet," said the old country boy. "I sent him in for quail and he brings me a fish."

And the Dallas hunter started laughing but the old country boy took a knife and opened the fish and who do you suppose he found? In its belly there was an enormous bullfrog. And then he cut open the bullfrog and there was the quail.

government until the 5,500,000 bales are disposed of

I advise and urge the cotton farmers and the people of the cotton belt to devote the maximum acreage to the 1936 soil conservation program, and insist that following 1936 the domestic allotment feature of the new farm act to be adopted and administered. I remain firm in my opinion that the Domestic Allotment plan offers a practical solution for our agricultural problems and urge that everyone familiarize himself with this plan and its possibilities.

Benefits offered for cooperation with the 1936 soil conservation program are adequate and through cooperation with the government, the farmers will express their appreciation and gratitude for the government's endeavors and accomplishments in their behalf.

A Motion Picture Based on the World-Famous Frances Hodgson Burnett Story

What Has Gone Before

An American boy, Cedric Errol, learns suddenly that he is to succeed to the title of the Earl of Dorincourt. He goes to England to live with his grandfather who separates the child from his mother, and seeks to bring him up in a manner befitting his future station. Cedric or "Little Lord Fauntleroy," however, proves a staunch young Democrat and begins to win over the old man.

CHAPTER FOUR

As the friendship between Cedric and his grandfather waxed stronger and they grew chummiest Cedric writes the following letter to Mr. Hobbs:

My dear Mr. Hobbs I must tell you about my grandfather immediately. It is all a mistake about Cedric being Cedric's grandfather. He is the best earl you ever knew he is tearing down a lot of old hovels and building nice new cottages, so the people will try harder to deserve it my grandfather is not a tenant at all he reminds me of you he is a unversible favit.

Back in New York, Hobbs and Dick read Fauntleroy's letter with keen interest. Their general conclusion is that it is too bad Cedric has got to become an earl.

"He would have been a shining light in the grocery business," says Mr. Hobbs.

He offers Dick free lodgings and Dick accepts gleefully.

Meanwhile in England Cedric is going on to new triumphs—social triumphs. Sir Harry and Lady Lorrindale are invited to Dorincourt. Lady Constantia Lorrindale, the Earl's sister, has not seen her brother for more than thirty years. News has reached the Lorrindales of the miraculous changes observed in the Earl of Dorincourt since the arrival of his grandson and they are eager to see for themselves just what has happened to the testy old fellow.

At a grand dinner given by Dorincourt—in reality to provide an occasion for showing off Fauntleroy—his boundless pride in the youngster and his evident love for him causes endless talk. Lady Constantia falls immediately in love with Cedric who reminds her so much of her father. The Earl confesses to his sister that he is "a fine little fellow."

"There's a risk," he says, "of my becoming rather an old fool about him."

"By the way—the mother," says his sister. "What does she think of you?"

"I don't know," comes the sharp answer. "I haven't asked her. But I am rather indebted to her for giving some of her own beauty to the boy."

A very lovely young lady, Miss Bebert, is introduced to Cedric and makes a great fuss over him. An elderly nobleman observes to a friend of his:

"I've known Dorincourt for thirty-five years and this is the first time he's ever bothered to inquire about my health. Most extraordinary!"

At the height of the party Havisham arrives.

He is quite evidently excited and tells the Earl when he draws him to one side:

"I was detained by extraordinary news."

"News? What news?" Dorincourt demands.

"Later, my Lord, later."

After the gay dinner and the music, Cedric falls asleep. Havisham and Dorincourt are in the library when the guests have departed.

"I have bad news, my lord," says Havisham. "The worst of news. I'm sorry to have to be the bearer of it."

Thereupon informs the Earl that a new claimant has arisen to the title of Lord Fauntleroy, an American woman of evidently ill breeding who claims to have been the wife of the Earl's son Bevis and the mother of Bevis' son. This is indeed a bombshell. Dorincourt obviously shaken, bends over little Cedric asleep on the sofa.

"And I—I object to his mother," he says. "I suppose this is retribution."

Thoroughly aroused, determined to protect the boy he loves, he tells Havisham the other must be an impostor. The solicitor reminds the Earl of the law, which decrees that the progeny of the elder son must succeed to the title. Dorincourt can not go counter to the law no matter how his preferences may lie.

When the solicitor goes, Dorincourt summons a footman, points to the sleeping Cedric, and orders: "Take Lord Fauntleroy to his room."

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

The Monahans delegation made a good appearance on their visit here yesterday to advertise the Monahans Centennial Day celebration April 4. The big hats and bright handkerchiefs gave that "Western" air that we all have a sentimental liking for. Also for more than 50 people and 12 cars to make a trip like this one was (and on a weekday, too) speaks very well indeed for civic spirit and co-operation in Monahans.

It's bad enough to just make a mistake. But when one makes a mistake that hurts the feelings of a friend, it seems much worse.

Such vivid yellow chicks with such bright red combs as adorn the variety store counters were never hatched from any egg.

Of course, this column is not supposed to be interested in men's clothes. But at the risk of bringing down a chorus of jeers we'll say that the prettiest shirt for a man that we've seen in months is a dark gray one with a narrow maroon stripe making a large check through it that we saw yesterday.

Our grandmothers would feel perfectly at home, surely, in the 1936 crop of summer cotton gloves. We've been looking at some in "crystal cloth" with clever starched cuffs of some curious net-weave material. All the pastel shades are here to match summer dresses—pink, blue, yellow, and of course white. These gloves are washable. They are also made with wing cuffs.

Mrs. Hitchcock Compliments Guest

Complimenting her house guest, Miss Laura Van Sickle of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Mrs. E. C. Hitchcock entertained with two tables of bridge at her home, 704 N. Peecos, Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. W. J. Coleman was awarded high score in the games and Miss Van Sickle was presented with a guest gift from the hostess.

A party plate was served at the conclusion of the games to the honoree, Misses Harry Adams, J. R. Norris, H. B. Prickett, W. M. Schrock, Coleman, B. H. Blakney, Frank P. Graham and a tea guest, Mrs. R. L. Miller and the hostess.

TO VISIT PARENTS

Mrs. John B. Thomas is leaving this afternoon for Big Spring to spend the weekend with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Hurt.

Home Art Club Studies Needlework Of Other Countries

The Home Art club met with Mrs. Ben Stanley, 1507 W. College Thursday afternoon, for a program and needlework.

The club was called to order by the president, Mrs. O. N. Maness, and a new study, "Art of Needlework from Foreign Countries," was given.

Mrs. Iris N. Bounds presented the topic "Peasant Embroidery" by M. D. C. Crawford.

Mrs. Guy Brenneman discussed, "Cross-stitch, the Ancient Art of China," illustrating her talk with a piece of real Chinese cross-stitch.

Following the program, the afternoon was spent in various forms of needlework.

A salad plate was served to Mrs. A. W. Stanley, a guest, and Misses Ora Maness, E. E. Paulfell, J. B. Neill, Lynn Butler, Iris N. Bounds, Ray Parker, Guy Brenneman, and the hostess.

The club will meet next with Mrs. G. L. Wright, 409 North A street, Thursday afternoon, April 9.

Coleman, Tex Crawford, Bob Dewey, Bill Collins, Leslie Weatherall, Tea guests were Mrs. Edna Dewey and Miss Jo Williams.

A party plate was served at tea time.

Present Bluebonnet Belles at Round-Up

AUSTIN, Mar. 27.—Bluebonnet Belles of the University of Texas, beauties from all over the state, will be presented at the Round-Up Revue and Ball on the University campus, the night of April 3. These beauties have been selected by the student clubs and other organizations, will be featured in a special session in the Cactus, University yearbook, and will be introduced the night of the Revue, along with the Sweetheart of the University, her four duchesses, and the Sweethearts of the other six Southwest Conference colleges.

Two hundred Bluebonnet Belles have been chosen, and among this list are these:

Ruth Blaugrund, El Paso, Marie Patricia Messina, El Paso, Isabelle Lee Thomason, El Paso Miss Thomason is also among the five students of the University who were nominated for Sweetheart of the University. Votes have been cast, but will not be counted until the afternoon of the day of the Revue and Ball.

The winner will be presented to the returning ex-students of the University, back on the campus for their annual spring homecoming, as the Sweetheart of the University.

Mrs. Phillips Is Hostess to Three Tables of Bridge

Decking the entertaining room with varied spring flowers, Mrs. Johnson Phillips was hostess to the 1928 club and guests with three tables of bridge Thursday afternoon at her home, 903 W. Kansas.

Tallies in novel shape were matched in wrappings of the prizes which went to Mrs. M. C. Ulmer for the high score in the club, Mrs. William Simpson for second high club and Mrs. Geo. Glass for high score among the guests.

Guests for the afternoon included: Mrs. Glass, Mrs. John House and her mother, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Burgess of El Paso, and Mrs. Clyde Cowden.

A salad and sweet course was served at the close of play to the guests and the following club members: Mrs. Frank Cowden, Clarence Scharbauer, William Simpson, Douglas Stralis, John B. Thomas, M. C. Ulmer, Ed M. Whitaker, and the hostess.

AS A TEXAN—WHAT WOULD YOU SAY?

WILL YOU FACE CERTAIN DEATH IN DEFENSE OF TEXAS OR ESCAPE?

What would you say? Write your answer in 25 words or less on the coupon below.

THIS PICTURE TELLS THE STORY of the defense of the Alamo, one hundred years ago. On March 3, 1836, 181 poorly-armed Texas patriots prepared to face certain defeat against another attack of the Mexican forces, 3,500 strong. The brave Texas commander, Colonel William B. Travis, drew a line on the ground, in front of his soldiers, with his sword. He asked every man who wished to remain and die fighting like a hero to step across the line. As a Texas soldier, what would you have replied? See the sketch to the right.

59 PRIZES A WEEK FOR 9 WEEKS!

- ### RULES
- 1 Read the question Col. Travis is asking, in the picture beneath the main illustration, then decide what your answer would be.

NINE TEAMS WILL INVADE CITY SATURDAY FOR TRACK MEET

BULLDOGS WILL BE FAVORITES TO COP 1ST PLACE HONORS

The Midland Bulldogs will be host team to nine other track clubs of this section in an invitation meet, the following clubs having signified their acceptance of invitations sent them: Odessa, Kermit, Crane, Stanton, Big Lake, McCamey, Wink, Monahans, and Pecos.

The Bulldogs will be favored to take the meet, having defeated most of the other teams in invitation meets so far this year. The Midland thins-clads easily won the invitation meet at Crane a couple of weeks ago in which most of the teams here tomorrow were competing, and last week finished ahead of any of those coming here in the contest at Barnhart, finishing third behind Robert Lee and San Angelo.

With Sam Midkiff and David Wofford rapidly improving in their events the coach is anxious to give them all the competition possible before the district meet will be held here next month. Midkiff is expected to win both the 100 and the 220 yard dashes tomorrow and Wofford is a pre-meet consensus to take first in the discus, javelin, shot put. He also has an excellent chance of winning the high jump besides having a chance to gather some points in the 220 yard hurdles.

Adams and Lawson are also expected to add some points to the Bulldog total, the former in the weights and the latter in the middle distance races.

None of the other clubs excepting Kermit are known to have any exceptional men on the team. A diminutive speedster (whose name is unknown to this department) has

Resolution

(Note: The following are resolutions of the Baptist women's missionary society in memory of Mrs. W. H. Kinsey and Mrs. C. B. Dunagan.)

God calls our loved ones but we lose, not wholly what he has given, for they live on earth in thought and deed as truly as in heaven.

God's finger touched two of our most precious treasures in our church and WMU during the past recent weeks: Mrs. W. H. Kinsey who was president of our WMU and Mrs. C. B. Dunagan, one of our most consecrated members. Well do we know these whom God has called to be with him have gone to deck the Savior's sparkling diadem. We feel their going a great loss to our work and resolve:

First--To try to so live and give that we too may have a part in the resurrection of the just and live with Him and with them in glory forever.

Second--That we strive more diligently to bring our WMU work up to the ambitions of our departed President and co-worker.

Third--That while we cannot understand the providence of God, we will not question his wisdom, and will make the loved ones of these, our lamented friends, the objects of our prayers; and

Fourth--Be it further resolved that a copy of these be sent to our local paper for publication, and that copies of these be placed in the hands of the bereaved families.

YOUR ELECTRIC SERVICE PROTECTS YOUR EYESIGHT WITH GOOD LIGHT

Perhaps you hadn't thought about it in this way, but it is true. Your electric service brings you the good light which protects your eyes from strain and the attendant troubles including headaches, fatigue or just plain drowsiness.

And yet the cost of electricity is one of the smallest items of household expense, although it does many more jobs than providing good light for safe seeing. Unlike other living expenses which are going up, electricity has actually decreased in price during the last several years.

You Can Make Better Coffee Electrically

There is a difference in electrically made coffee, as every housewife knows. The steady and regulated heat supplied by the heating element of an electric percolator or electric coffee maker takes all of the flavor and aromatic oils out of coffee—and none of the bitterness. See the new model percolators and coffee makers at our store.

The Sports Horn

By JESS RODGERS

Track meets are coming too fast here for us to keep up with. The county schools are here today (results to be published Sunday) and ten schools of this section are expected to take part in the invitation meet here tomorrow. Dutch is confident of coping the meet tomorrow. The Bulldogs defeated most of the teams in the Crane and Barnhart meets that will be here.

With Sam Midkiff and David Wofford entered everything but the knitting contest (if any) it is certain they will roll up a bunch of points. Three or four other members of the squad are sure of picking up a few points.

Bill Collins, who has almost as much trouble with Permian Basin League clubs as Mussolini does with Ethiopian tribesmen announces that six clubs have definitely signified their readiness to enter the league this season. They are: Wink, Crane, McCamey, Iraan, Texon, and Ozona. Big Spring was left out when no eighth club could be found to enter.

That makes Crane the nearest place to Midland that local baseball fans must travel to see a worth while game. Well, the town had its chance to enter the league. The lackadaisical attitude of the city in regards to a team can be blamed for not having a club here this year.

A few shots from the Sporting News: Dizzy Dean's new contract calls for approximately 24 grand this season with more to come if attendance figures pass a specified mark.

The White Sox are becoming increasingly disgusted with Zeke Bonura, a poor defensive and a not-so-hot offensive first baseman and do not care whether he signs a contract or not. Flint Rhem, the ex-National Leaguer who was "forced" to accompany a couple of gunmen to all the hot spots in New York a drink a few highballs in each of them a few seasons ago, has promised to win 30 games for Nashville this year.

More persons are picking Cleveland to win the American League pennant this year. However, there is a string of 's connected with the prophecy. If injuries do not strike them again this year, if Pytlak can do most of the catching, if Averill and Trosky can stage a batting come-back. If there is no team dissension such as there was last year, etc. Joe DiMaggio, Yankee rookie outfielder, will have to be a combination Ruth, hot offensive first baseman and a not-so-hot defensive first baseman. Boston Red Sox players deny having any prima donnas on the club. Few persons will be surprised if the St. Louis Browns slip into the first division this year. The experts are unanimous in their opinion that Connie Mack's Athletics will finish in the cellar this year and lose far more than 100 games.

Heart Disease Tops All Others in Deaths

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Heart disease headed the claim disbursement list of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company for the twelfth successive year in 1935. Claims arising from this cause last year amounted to almost one-sixth of the $157,890,173 death benefits paid during the year by the company. During the same period the Metropolitan paid $377,362,400 to living policyholders in the shape of maturities of endowment policies, dividends, annuities, etc. Nevertheless, statisticians of the insurance company report that the year witnessed a small drop in the crude death rate for heart disease among the company's Industrial policyholders, following a long series of year-to-year increases, and they admit the possibility that from now on there may be a decline in the percentage of total disbursements paid by the company on account of heart conditions.

The three principal cardiovascular-renal impairments—heart disease, chronic nephritis, and cerebral hemorrhage—accounted for almost three tenths of the total sum paid out by the Metropolitan in death claims last year. "These so called 'degenerative diseases' constitute one of the most fertile fields for public health work," the statisticians point out, "for thousands of these deaths could have been prevented and thousands more could have been postponed. There is still much work to be done in the better control of acute diseases of children, the local infections and the venereal diseases, all of which are instrumental in creating cardiac impairments. Furthermore, as more people come to learn the importance of correct diet, of proper exercise, and of personal hygiene in general, there will be fewer deaths from these chronic diseases."

Cancer was the second highest cause of death among the insurance company's policyholders last year, one ninth of all death claim payments being due to this cause. According to the statisticians, there has been a slackening in the upward course of the cancer death rate, and in 1935 there was a small drop among the company's policyholders, following an increase which had been uninterrupted for many years.

Third in the list were disbursements for all types of accidents combined. One dollar in every ten disbursed in death payments by the Metropolitan in 1935 was on account of accidental deaths. This was an increase of 75 per cent in money disbursed on account of accidents as compared with the amount paid ten years ago. Automobile fatalities were responsible for more than 44 per cent of the total last year for

Irrigation Job Nearing Finish

McALLEN (AP)—Construction of the huge concrete gate being erected by the Mexican government between Donna and Progreso, south-east of McAllen, on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande is to be finished in two weeks. It will lift water from the Rio Grande by gravity and deposit it in a lake about two miles away. It is to serve as a reservoir for irrigation of about 100,000 hectares of land.

Existing levees on the Mexican side are now being strengthened and enlarged in preparation for high flood stages expected later in the spring.

Simmons will bring a portable sawmill, planer and variety of practical machinery, will include wood improvement, tree and log scaling, manufacture of lumber, shingles and finished products. Complete farm-shop equipment will also be demonstrated for the manufacture of wagon tongues, single trees and other replacements for tools and implements.

Stamp News By I. S. Klein

AN international controversy has arisen over the issuance by Argentina of a stamp showing the Falkland Islands as part of that country, although Great Britain has claimed the islands for more than a century. England has protested, but Argentina still contends these islands belong to her.

The Falklands, which Argentinians call "Islas Malvinas," are a group of about 100 islands, 300 miles east of the tip of South America.

Meanwhile, if that controversial stamp ever gets up this way, watch for it. It will be well worth keeping.

Last call for first day covers of the new 3-cent Texas Centennial stamp. Unstamped, self-addressed envelopes, with postal money order of three cents for each cover, should be sent to Postmaster, Gonzales, Tex. Feb. 29 is deadline. Don't send stamps or check.

The new Czechoslovakian issue is to have photos of both Thomas G. Masaryk, retired president, and Dr. Eduard Benes, new chief executive. The same country is planning another pictorial series for this summer.

Last new issues portraying the late King George V are expected from Nigeria and the island of St. Lucia, British colonies. First King Edward VIII stamp may appear on the new pictorial series planned for Bermuda.

Eyed as Edward Hints Marriage

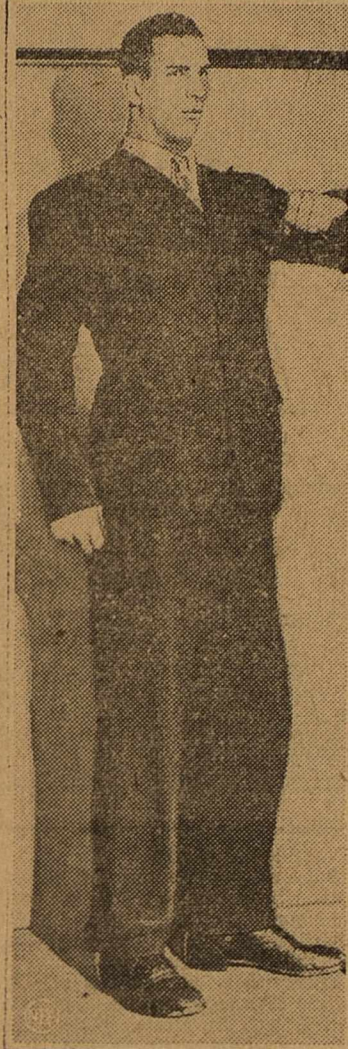

When King Edward VIII, in a message to the House of Commons, seemed to hint that at last he might marry, delighted, well-informed Britons turned eyes on eligible, charming Princess Eugenie, above, 26-year-old daughter of Prince George of Greece, and cousin of Princess Marina, wife of the King of England's brother, George. In the royal message mentioning "the contingency of his marriage," King Edward asked Commons to renew the civil list, providing the royal household and personal expenses.

Fish Fry Over, De Lawd and His Chillun Go Home

"Have a 10-cent see-gar Lawd" says an angel to Rex Ingram, De Lawd in "The Green Pastures," as Oscar Polk in the role of the Angel Gabriel, looks on. And just as the fish fry had to come to an end, so did the work on this famous production, breaking up the ranks of those who took part in it. The fish fry scene above is from the film soon to be released.

Virgil Davis, St. Louis Cardinals' catcher, promises to turn pitcher when Dizzy Dean walks into the Cards' clubhouse at Bradenton, Fla., and peg a few hard fists at the Red Birds' balky hurler. Dean has threatened never to pitch when Davis catches for the team, and the backstop is so peeved at the talkative one that he plans to "knock Dean's block off."

Valuable Ferry Is Prize in Lake 'Tug of War'

In this machine tug of war, $700,000—the value of the ship at right and its cargo of lumber—was the prize as the car ferry Ontario 2, held fast for nine days on a rocky shoal in Lake Ontario near Rochester, N. Y., was towed free into deep water by its sister ship, Ontario 1, shown at left. This picture was snapped from a plane just a moment after the tug of war began.

Anti-Gas Course Given Egyptians

War and menace of further war in Africa has spurred Egypt to preparedness action, as this picture graphically shows, anti-gas instruction having been added to the curriculum of Egyptian University in Cairo. Students are taught to use gas masks and give first aid in case of gas attacks. Here an instructor, Dr. Mahboub, is shown demonstrating a mask to a student.

56 Per Cent Increase In '36 Tomato Crop

SAN BENITO, Tex. (AP)—The Lower Rio Grande Valley's 1936 tomato crop is estimated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in a report received here at 12,500 acres, or 56 per cent more than last year's harvested acreage.

much larger than the harvested acreage but unfavorable weather retarded production. The 12,500 acres constitutes about a normal crop for the Valley, and a good yield is in prospect. The Willacy county onion crop also is in good condition and will start moving the latter part of this month.

Sales Talk--

Many humorous remarks were worked into Mr. Carter's talk. For instance, he said the average woman wants a shoe which is size seven inside and size six and a half outside.

Curiosity is a powerful instinct in all people. Often a salesman, particularly those calling on storekeepers, may arouse curiosity by keeping his samples concealed in a box or package, whereas if he asked bluntly as to the need for such articles he would receive a turn-down.

Treat all customers as if they were honor guests in the home. The example of a millionaire woman dressed in unattractive clothes was cited. If the clerk, not knowing the potential buying power of the customer, displays only the low priced merchandise, he often loses an opportunity to sell articles of higher value.

Graveyard Stuff
Customers learn to avoid the store where they hear bad news. Every person has his own burden to carry. By adding other bad news or burdens to those of the customer, a clerk often runs business away from the store.

The customer usually reflects the attitude of the clerk. If the salesman greets his visitor with a gruff voice, it tends to make the visitor gruff in his reply. Clerks should be on guard to ascertain if they are having the wrong effect on the people they wait on. It pays to be polite.

Get the customer to see the value as you see it. Then the price doesn't look so large," was Mr. Carter's advice. He stressed the need of familiarity with merchandise by the salesman in charge. If the clerk doesn't know his own stock, there is

Rules for Competitive Events
First Aid: Each troop may enter one team of three Scouts, two operators and a patient. Patient must weigh within 15 pounds of the average weight of the operators.

At a given signal operators run 30 yards to patient, apply correct bandages according to nature of injuries, place patient on stretcher made of blanket and two poles, and return to starting point without running or unnecessarily jarring patient.

The nature of the patient's injuries will be written on paper attached to patient, and will be unknown to operators until they reach the patient. Contestants should be prepared to apply any bandage required in Second Class or First Class First Aid.

Contestants should be prepared with 6 neckerchiefs or other triangular bandages, two splints (18 inches in length and padded), roller bandage (two-inch), blanket, and two poles.

Signaling: Two divisions: (a) Tenderfoot or Second Class Scouts; (b) First Class Scouts or higher. Each troop may enter a team of four Scouts in each division. Rules for contest, as given below, apply to both divisions.

Two messages, each totaling 75 letters or more will be sent. Stations will be 50 yards apart and no communication will be allowed except by flags. Contestants must furnish own signal flags, pencils and paper to write down messages.

At the start a typed message will be handed to the reader and sender of Station "A", and the message will be signaled to Station "B". When Station "B" has read and checked the message they hand it to a judge who stands back of the writer. This judge then hands the writer another message to be sent back to team "A".

Judging: Either semaphore or Morse code may be used. One minute for Morse will be equal to 1/2 minute for semaphore. Each wrong letter, omitted letter, or wrong spacing of a word will count as an error. Two seconds will be added to the time for each error. A total of 10 per cent errors disqualifies the team with the lowest time wins. Points: 20, 15, 10.

Scout Race: Each troop may enter one team of two Scouts only. Scouts will run a measured mile, and the Scout finishing closest to the correct time of 12 minutes wins. No watches may be carried by contestants. Points: 20, 15, 10.

Chariot Race: Each troop may enter a team of five Scouts, four horses and a driver. A neckerchief is set up by each team in wigwag fashion, on a line 30 yards from the starting line. At the start the front pair of horses clasp hands. The rear pair clasp inside hands and hold onto the belts of the front horses with the outside hands. The driver holds onto belts of rear horses with both hands. They cross down the course and as they pass over the handkerchief or circle the driver picks it up with his teeth, without releasing his grip with either hand. They race back to the finish line (starting line).

The first team to cross the finish line without any of the grips broken is the winner. Points: 20, 15, 10.

String Burning: Each troop may enter one team of two Scouts equipped with one Scout axe, one knife, and two fire-by-friction sets. One piece of wood 2"x4"x18" will be provided. Two strings will be stretched, one 12 inches and the other 18 inches, above the ground, and the fire must not be more than 12 inches high. The fire lay must not be touched after fire is lighted. The fire must be lighted by the friction method. The first team to burn the top string wins.

Note: Only natural tinder may be used. See pages 187 to 191 in the Scout Handbook. Points: 20, 15, 10.

Antelope Race: Two divisions: (a) under 110 pounds; (b) over 110. Each troop may enter one team of eight Scouts in each division. Teams form in file at starting line. Each Scout, except leader holds onto belt of Scout in front.

A marker (a Scout) will be stationed 30 yards down the course. The team shall run down the field, around the marker from right to left, and return to the starting line. Judging: Time will be taken when the last Scout crosses the finish line. The following will constitute a team: Breaking apart during race, crowding marker out of position, swinging out of line and hindering another team. Points: 20, 15, 10.

Obstacle Race: Each troop may enter one team of eight Scouts, and four extra Scouts to act as markers. Markers may be borrowed if a troop has less than 12 Scouts enrolled. The markers will be placed at points, 10, 20, 30 and 40 yards from the starting line. Runner No. 1 runs around marker No. 1 without touching him; passes between the legs of marker No. 2; jumps over marker No. 3 in leap frog style (must put one hand on back of marker); runs around marker No. 4 without touching him and sprints to starting line to touch off runner No. 2. Each runner proceeds as above.

Judging: (a) Runners who start before being touched or shall disqualify their teams. (b) If runner accidentally touches marker No. 1 or No. 4 with shoulders he will not be disqualified, but touching with hands will disqualify. (c) Raising of legs from ground by marker No. 2, or bending or knees by marker No. 3 to assist runner will disqualify team. (d) The first team that properly completes race wins. Points: 20, 15, 10.

Knot Tying: Open to Tenderfoot Scouts only, with the exception that Second Class Scouts may be used to complete the team is a troop does not have eight Tenderfoot Scouts. Each troop may enter one team of eight Scouts equipped with one Scout staff or round pole 6 feet long, and eight pieces of small rope five feet long, the ends of which are securely whipped or otherwise secured against unraveling. The eight knots to be tied will be selected from the following and will not be announced until the start of the contest: Bowline, Clove hitch, Sheet bend, Square, Timber hitch, Pipe hitch, Miller's knot, Hitching tie, Two half hitches, Sheepshank, Fisherman's, Carrick bend, Stevedore.

Two non-contestants furnished by team will hold the staff parallel to the ground at a point 10 feet in front of the team which will stand in column file. At given signal Scout No. 1 will run to staff, tie his knot around the staff, and run back to touch off Scout No. 2, and so on until each Scout has tied his knot. The knots will be tied around the staff or to another rope according to the nature of the knot and as directed at the start of the contest. All knots must be drawn tight.

The last Scout tying will remain by staff and raise his hand high overhead when finished. One wrong knot will disqualify team. Contestants will remain in position until judge's decision is announced. The first team through with all knots tied correctly wins. Points: 20, 15, 10.

Tug-of-War: Two divisions: (a) over 110 pounds; (b) under 110. Each troop may enter one team of eight Scouts in each division. A boy who weighs under 110 pounds may pull on a team of over 110 pounds if needed to fill out a team, but not vice-versa. A rope 1 inch in diameter and 40 feet long will be used. No belts or cleats may be used and no knots tied in the rope. Footholds may not be taken until after the starting signal is given.

Judging: The team that has the advantage at the end of one minute, or in that time pulls the other team 10 feet, wins. Points: 20, 15, 10.

Bugling: Each troop may enter three contestants. All calls required for the Bugling Merit Badge must be blown. If there are a large number of contestants an elimination contest will be held with each contestant blowing five calls selected by the judges to determine the four best buglers. These four will compete in the finals in which every call required for the Bugling Merit Badge must be blown. Points will be scored for first, second and third places. Points: 20, 15, 10.

Water Boiling: Each troop may enter one team of two Scouts equipped with one Scout axe, one knife and a flint and steel set. Officials will furnish a one-quart tin bucket with wire handle filled with water to which soap flakes have been added, and one piece of wood 2"x4"x24". Fire must be lighted by flint and steel method. Charred cotton may be used to catch spark. Buckets may be adjusted as desired and wood added at any time. Water must boil over. Points: 20, 15, 10.

Edmund Lowe Stars In Mystery Picture

Edmund Lowe as Philo Vance! The intriguing image conjured up by that phrase is no more engaging today and tomorrow at the Yucca, where Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Garden Murder Case" opened yesterday.

As the super-scientific detective, Lowe gives a performance that is utterly delightful. He draws his way in and out of a series of thrilling adventures, more than once being in actual danger of sudden death. But no one of his thrills can be compared to his sudden falling in love; it is the first time in Philo's adventures that he has undergone this experience, and the way he reacts to romantic situations is at once humorous and entertaining.

SEAL COMMITTEE RETURNS BALANCE

$584 in Working Fund of Public Health Board, Records Show

A working balance of $584 was shown in a financial statement issued by the Tuberculosis Seal Sale committee of the Midland County Public Health Board. This financial statement and an estimated budget are made out annually by the director of the seal sale work and sent to the executive secretary of the Texas Tuberculosis Association.

The contract which the Midland County Public Health Board signs with the state organization to sell Christmas seals authorizes certain terms of tuberculosis work on which money derived from the sale of seals may be expended. These activities are classified under such main heads as: health education, nursing, clinics, institutions, cooperation and coordination with health departments and social agencies, legislation, after-care and rehabilitation of patients, research, emergency relief, administration, organization and financing of fund raising campaigns.

The following budget gives the estimated expenditures for the current year, from Feb. 1, 1936 to Feb. 1, 1937, inclusive. Estimated receipts: Seal sale 1936 (gross receipts), $600; balance at beginning of period, $584.89; total, $1184.89.

Estimated disbursements: Health education, $70; tuberculosis survey in high school and rural schools, $100; seal sale, $133; percentage of gross receipts from 1935 seal sale paid Texas, T. B. Ass'n, $193.03; total, $496.03.

Balance at end of period, $688.86. The following financial statement shows receipts and disbursements for the year ending Feb. 1, 1936. Receipts: Seal sale (gross receipts), $541.85; balance at beginning of period (Feb. 1935), $593.34; total, $1135.19.

Disbursements: Health education—1. Traveling expenses of delegates to institutes and conventions; 2. Building portable open-air cottages; 3. Publishing and distributing local pamphlet on prevalence of tuberculosis in Midland county, $141.20; Seal sale, $115.73; percentage for testing contacts, $3; percentage of gross receipts of 1934 sale paid to Texas T. B. Ass'n, $185.32; total $445.30.

Balance at end of period, $689.89.

Barnhart Couple Are Married for 60 Years

BARNHART, Texas, (AP)—Cooking for seven men and milking ten horses twice a day were among the honeymoon experiences recalled by Mrs. Clint Owens as she and Mr. Owens observed their 60th wedding anniversary here.

The couple were wed in Hamilton county in 1876 and first lived in a log cabin. They moved to what is now Crockett county 45 years ago and leased a section of land and two cent an acre. They lived in a tent and herded their stock over the open range. Accumulating more land they eventually had 26 sections and in 1908 divided 13 sections among their ten children.

"Magnificent Obsession"

What Is It?

What is "the magnificent obsession?" It refers to a magical pattern of living which local theatre-goers will have an opportunity to learn when they see "Magnificent Obsession," Universal's John M. Stahl production which opens at the Yucca Theatre Preview Saturday night, Sunday Monday and Tuesday with Irene Dunne and Robert Taylor in the starring roles.

At the same time they will see what is regarded as a powerfully emotional film drama, the crowning effort of a master screen director. A stirring motion picture, it promises to become one of the screen's most important contributions for 1936.

Primarily, the story deals with the romance of Miss Dunne, portraying a beautiful young bride, and Taylor, delineating a wastrel son of a wealthy family.

The climax of the story comes six years later, in a series of events filled with heart-rending tenderness, culminating a sweetly poignant love drama such as rarely reaches the screen.

The large cast supporting Miss Dunne and Taylor in "Magnificent Obsession" includes Charles Eberhart, Betty Furness, Sara Haden, Ralph Morgan, Henry Armetta, Gilbert Emery and Arthur Treacher.

Kids Worse During August "Dog Days"

DALLAS, Texas, (AP)—"Dog Days" of August confront parents with more duties than the frequent filling of Fido's water pan, juvenile Officer Earl Parker said in closing his annual report.

Sweltering summer weather is the time of year when mamma and papa should watch most closely the penchants of Junior and little Mary for getting into mischief, he said.

More juvenile delinquencies occur in August than any other month, averages compiled over the fifteen years show. The low comes with Santa Claus in December, he said. Parker attributed the situation to lack of occupation during the school vacation and general boredom because of continued heat.

producing zones; upper Permian; Tubb, lower Permian; and Simpson, middle Ordovician.

Gas volume was gauged at 29,400 cubic feet in Gulf No. 1-A Daugherty, semi-wildcat a half mile west of the Sayre pool in northern Winkler county. Now far below the Sayre producing horizon, the well is drilling ahead below 3,368 feet while making a small amount of oil and water from sand breaks up the hole. It is in the southeast corner of the southwest of section 35, block 74, public school land.

Magnolia No. 1 State-Walton, another Winkler test two miles east of Sayre production, is drilling lime below 3,534 with no change logged since oil-stained core recovered from 3,486 to 3,492. It is 230 feet higher than the Sayre wells and 111 feet higher than Sun No. 1, Walton, and although the structure is said to show closure, the Magnolia test has yet failed to find oil in commercial quantities. It is being carried down to the Keyser area's lower producing horizon. Location is in section 7, block B-3, public school land.

OIL, GAS LEASES SELL AT AUCTION

University Lands Will Be Disposed of in Austin On July 20

Oil and gas leases on university lands in five West Texas counties will be offered at public auction July 20, at the office of the land commissioner, at Austin, it has been announced in a letter to the Reporter-Telegram from the Board of Lease of University Lands.

Pamphlets describing the lands on which leases will be offered for sale will be mailed to oil operators about Wednesday, April 1, according to Gussie Cottingham, secretary of the Board of Leases. Those not receiving them may write that office at Austin.

The pamphlet lists 76 tracts of approximately a quarter section each. A general map showing the location of these lands, and their relationship to known oil fields may be secured at $1.25 each from the University Land Office, San Angelo.

The various tracts are located in block 35, Ector and Crane-Ector counties; block 30 and 31, Crane county; block 9, 12 and 13, Andrews county; block 14 and 15, Upton county and block 16 Ward county. Each tract is described separately in the pamphlet.

A copy of the oil and gas lease form now in use is included. Also conditions under which geological and geophysical inspection may be made.

All leases sold shall carry a royalty of one-eighth of the value of gross production. Annual delay rental of 50 cents per acre is charged. Only cash bids will be considered. The right to reject bids is reserved by the board.
