BEHIND THE SCENES

WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 14—There is no reason to suppose that the rapid progress of the republican presidential nomination toward Gov. Alfred M. Landon of Kansas has been seriously impeded by the result of the California primaries.

Consensus in Washington indicates a widespread belief that Landon's unexpected primary victory in South Dakota—a blow to Senator Borah—approximately offsets the damage done when a Landon slate of delegates promoted by Hearst and Governor Merriam of California was defeated by an unopposed slate supported by Herbert Hoover.

Landon leaders appear to be perfectly sincere when they express relief in the feeling that the effect is to remove much of the Hearst influence from the governor's campaign. One of them, pointing out that there are pro-Landon men on the

Queen Mary's Speed Remains Secret; Plans to Shave Normandie's Record

NEW YORK—When the liner Queen Mary steams into New York harbor June 1 on its maiden voyage, the world's busiest port may see a new speed queen of the seas.

British shipping men are confident that the Queen Mary, crowning achievement of British marine engineering will eclipse the Atlantic speed records now held by the French liner Normandie.

Although the owners, the Cunard-White Star line, disclaim any "deliberate" intention of attempting to regain the blue ribbon of Atlantic speed supremacy, which for many years had been held by the liner Mauretania until Germany's Italy and France began building new ships, the United Press has learned from an authoritative source such an attempt will be made.

Furthermore, it is learned that the Queen Mary will not go well out in the record attempt. Speed will be maintained at a point where, if British expectations are fulfilled, it will barely break the Normandie's record. The engineers' additional power will be reserved for another time in the event the Queen Mary's hoped-for record is surpassed by another ship.

Sails from Southampton May 27 The 80,773-ton pride of the British mercantile marine is scheduled to leave Southampton on its maiden voyage May 27. Plans already being made to welcome the giant liner, surpassed only by the Normandie, when it sails into New York harbor June 1. There will be the usual marine demonstration in the bay and its arrival will be the occasion for public celebrations, banquets, receptions and speeches.

Although the normal stopover of the Queen Mary will be three days, it will remain at its New York pier five days to give the American public ample time to inspect its multifarious splendors, its 12 spacious decks, its luxurious public rooms and its tremendous engines.

The liner's first two passages already are booked, according to the White Star line. Many prominent persons will make the initial crossing.

The Queen Mary represents the latest word in marine science and architecture, and has been described as a "city afloat."

Boasts "Dog Hotel" Air-conditioning, a floating gallery of the fine arts, all-electric kitchens, a "dog hotel," elaborate therapeutic baths, unique color-changing lighting features, special movies for children, 50 kinds of rare woods used in paneling public rooms and staterooms, telephone communication with the entire civilized world, two interior swimming pools, elevators—these are some of the highspots of the Queen Mary.

The liner is 1,004 feet in length along the water line—a world record, according to the Cunard-White Star company—and 1018 feet in length overall, 118 feet wide, 135 feet high from keel to the top of the superstructure.

Most modern appliances for safety and navigation have been installed. The huge vessel has two "skins" making it ship within a ship. The lower part of the hull, running up to 40 feet from the keel, consists of an outer and inner surface. Between these two, there is enough room for a man to walk erect and it is divided into 160 separate and completely watertight compartments.

Each of the three classes has its own motion picture installation. Children in the cabin playroom have their own automatic movie, operated by the mere pressing of a button, which will show Mickey Mouse, Popeye the Sailor and other comedies intended for the amusement of the younger generation.

The ship contain 10,000 electric fixtures and 30,000 electric lamps, sufficient to light a town of 100,000 inhabitants.

There is a sound-proof studio for concert rehearsals or for broadcasting last month by an editorial in the Emporia Gazette from the pen of William Allen White, distinguished sage of Kansas and a prominent Landon supporter, who said that "Politically, Hearst has degenerated into a method of suicide."

That gives you an idea why some Landon supporters don't mind what happened in California. They knew the democrats were all set to make Hearst an issue in the election campaign.

Now they're in a position to keep Hearst from being an issue in the convention—as he would have been had the Landon slate won—and to claim that they are under no obligations to the publisher.

Borah's defeat by a narrow margin in South Dakota was more of a surprise than the unopposed slate's big majority in California. Nearly all political prognosticators awarded Senator Borah's delegation to the Idaho south in advance and the Landon managers made no strong effort there.

"Scandal" Rumor Weak Only three possibilities now seem to offer a possible major threat to Landon and they don't look bright. One is the persistent report that a sensational scandal will be exploded before convention time, damaging to his candidacy. Professional political observers more and more discount that possibility and the rumors concerning it.

The governor's record has been scanned rather thoroughly and nothing discreditable has been found therein. His advisers are smart enough to discourage the idea that they have permitted any money-business with respect to campaign funds.

The worst things democratic strategists have found yet to "explode" against Landon in the campaign are commendatory statements made by the governor about various New Deal efforts.

Not Such a Menace Second, the reactionary eastern G. O. P. leadership for the most part has held off from endorsing Landon and this is sometimes construed as a menace. The fact is that such important leaders as Charles Hilles of New York know that any endorsement of theirs before the convention would merely bring the party in case of Landon's nomination.

It is generally believed that Borah will do no such thing and that Landon couldn't be stopped even if Borah did balk.

That leaves Herbert Hoover, since his prestige came up a bit in the California primary.

But there are no last-ditch fighting delegates for Mr. Hoover. The possibility of his nomination practically doesn't exist and the possibility that he will exert a controlling influence at the convention is almost as remote.

Landon is a 10 to 1 shot, barring important and unexpected breaks. (Copyright, 1936, N.E.A. Service, Inc.)

CONFEDERATION OF WORKERS OF MEX. ARE SEEKING NEW WORLDS TO CONQUER

MEXICO CITY. (AP) — Vicente Lombardo Toledano's up and coming Confederation of Workers of Mexico, although but ten weeks old, is looking for new worlds to conquer.

Four delegates are in the United States explaining Mexican labor's revolutionary program to American workers endeavoring to and bring labor organizations of the two nations into closer cooperation.

Cablegrams sped last week to workers to the south of Mexico conveying their confederation's May Day salute and proposal that representatives of labor groups in all nations of the two continents get together in an American "continental union of workers."

The fiery Lombardo Toledano, who deserted the schoolroom and the author's desk to turn labor leader in Mexico City, Buenos Aires or Panama as the site of the proposed international labor congress, which he hopes can be held late this year.

Favorable replies have been received from Argentine, Chilean and Uruguayan workers, the confederation announced.

The young, fast-growing confederation, which denounced at its birth the Communist doctrines Lombardo Toledano espoused briefly after his return from Moscow last year, reached out into Mexico's 28 states to bring into its fold regional and independent unions.

Today it comes close to realizing its self-description as the "single union" and giving its leader-four orders more power than any other man in Mexico save President Lázaro Cárdenas.

Among willy-nilly the government which had announced plans to form its own "single union" before casting to the United States or Europe.

Cabin and tourist classes each have their own gymnasium. An observation lounge and cocktail bar is located immediately below the bridge.

The drawing room, on the promenade deck, becomes the Queen Mary's church on Sunday. It contains an altar, sacristy and dressing room. The tourist library is equipped with 1,000 books.

The main hall, which is 111 by 70 feet, contains the shopping center. The windows displays face the promenade decks.

Color Tones Controlled The colored lighting system used in the ball room and verandah grill is based on a new invention whereby the color tones of illumination are controlled automatically by a microphone at the front of the orchestra platform. The lighting is automatically affected by the pitch of the notes played or sung.

The sun deck grill, designed along the lines of an intimate night club, has a large dancing floor. The main restaurant extends the entire width of the Queen Mary and contains 815 persons, four private dining rooms are adjoining.

More than 30 well-known artists were employed to decorate the vessel. Their canvases, sculptures, metal and glass work are scattered through all three classes.

Australia, Africa, and South America, furnished much of the 50 kinds of rare woods used in the decorative scheme. Some of them bear such strange names as avodire, petula, zebano, bubinga, makore, tiger oak, patapoko, pomla and blackbean.

Third Class Has Own Deck Third class has a promenade deck of its own and even a cock-tail bar. The staterooms are of two and four-berth type and are comparatively spacious.

The Queen Mary has a crew of 120 officers and seamen about 100 engineers and nearly 300 stewards.

Commanding will be Capt. Sir Edgar Britten, commodore of the Cunard-White Star fleet and a veteran of 40 years service.

The liner, originally known only as "534" was launched at Clydebank, near Glasgow, on Sept. 26, 1934, with Queen Mary of England bestowing her own name on the ship as she christened it before a throng of 250,000 subjects.

Work first started on the liner in 1930 and suspended a year later. It was resumed in April, 1934, after the merger under British government auspices of the Sunard and White Star lines.

The British government is expected to help finance a sister ship shortly.

A Midland woman remarked the other day that when a boy begins to cover up his meanness he is growing more and more like his father.

Reports from cities in the states indicated fully 600,000 confederation followers engaged in the international labor day observance, they said.

Some opposition remaining, however. Bitterest against CTM are members of the Regional Confederation of Mexican Workers, or CROM, sponsored by ousted Ex-President Plutarco Elias Calles during the four years, 1924-1928, he was Mexico's chief executive.

Chief CROMista strength is in Orizaba, Veracruz, Atlixco and Puebla, and several times recently CROMistas have clashed with CTM workers.

On May Day, however, alert, strategically posted police and soldiers kept the CTM paraders and the 12,000 to 15,000 CROMista marchers apart, so the latter's resentment toward the former found expression only in "abajejos" for Lombardo Toledano as an "exploiter of Labor."

Scarcely less hostile toward the CTM are members of the old General Confederation of Workers, or CGT, in Merida, Yucatan, on May Day blood ran as the two groups clashed.

Herman Laborde's Communist party of Mexico likewise has little use for the CTM.

Laborde, who got some 20,000 votes when he ran for president on the Communist ticket against Valasco, recently declared Lombardo Toledano erred when he said "Mexico is not yet ready for Communism," he added.

"The present syndical organization is not enough to achieve the ends the working masses desire."

The Confederation's envoys to the United States are Augustin Guzman Valasco, secretary-general, and Victor Manuel Villaseñor, secretary-general of the syndicate of oil workers; and Alejandro Carrillo, secretary of the national executive committee's international relations committee.

Centennial Theme Is Carried Out In "Birthday Tea" of Fine Arts Club

Patriotic Thought Employed in Program Of Talks, Readings, and Music Numbers At Home of Mrs. Roy Parks on Wednesday

Appropriate to the Centennial year, a patriotic theme was carried out in detail at the "birthday tea" with which the Fine Arts club celebrated the tenth anniversary of its organization at the home of Mrs. Roy Parks, 202 South G street, Wednesday afternoon.

The six flags of Texas were displayed on the piano and vases of cut flowers further embellished the entertaining rooms.

The receiving line was composed of past presidents and the present and incoming presidents of the club and included: Mrs. Parks, hostess and first president of the organization; Miss Lydia G. Watson, present president; Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, incoming president; Mrs. T. Paul Barron, past president; Mrs. Elliott Barron, past president.

Other members of the club were in the houseparty, all wore formal afternoon dresses.

After being greeted by the receiving line, guests were escorted to the dining room by Miss Leona McCormick who presided there and viewed the birthday cake. Centering the dining table which was laid with an Italian outwork cloth, the huge cake carried out the Centennial scheme in its red, white, and blue decorations, and in the Texas flag in yellow which with the words "Tenth anniversary, chief decorations. Ten candles burned on it, recalling the club's decade of activity. At either end of the table crystal candlesticks held white tapers tied with bows of red mallow. Flowers decking the table reflected the chosen tri-colors.

Mrs. Parks and Mrs. E. H. Ellison presided at the cutting of the cake. Assisting in the serving were: Miss A. O. Thomas, Robert Tucker, Paul Osborne, John Cornwall, and R. W. Hamilton.

On the tea plate, ice cream frozen in star shape recalled the birthdays of Texas and corsages of red, white, and blue sweetpeas were the patriotic favors.

Preceding the afternoon's program, the hostess presented Miss Watson and Mrs. Hodge, the present and incoming presidents, with corsages of sweetpeas on behalf of the club.

Program numbers were: Club collect—Mrs. Paul Barron. Violin and piano duet—"The Morning Bird"—Miss Lydia G. Watson and Mr. Ned Watson. Convention Echoes—Mrs. J. Howard Hodge.

Soprano—"The Blue Bonnets"—An original composition by Mrs. Parks accompanied by Mrs. Holt Jowell at the piano. Reading—"The Club Women"—Miss Stella Maye Lanham. Piano solo—"Remembrance" by

FEMININE FANCIES

BY KATHLEEN EILAND

Flowers in conjunction with candles have always found a fascinating duet for women who love beauty on their dining tables.

Now instead of having the candles placed near the flowers they may be placed among them, like specially brilliant blooms. Tapers are being made that are absolutely dripless and can be cut to any desired length and thrust into any type flower holder exactly as the blossoms are, at whatever desired angle.

Thought of a table naturally brings up the idea of dishes. A downtown store has just unpacked dozens of interesting California pottery pieces in blues, soft greens, light yellows and reddish oranges.

Especially likeable are the pottery mugs in graceful shape which are equipped with removable wood and metal handles and may be used with or without. These come in various colors and the discriminating hostess will scramble her sets as she pleases.

Something odd is always cropping up in the design of standard articles. The pottery that we have been describing includes sugar and cream sets in which the open sugar bowl is molded in one with the tray holding the cream pitcher which nestles snugly beside it.

The teapots make one want to chuckle, so absurdly snubbed are they. In fact, the spout has practically been eliminated and the opening for pouring the beverage is on a level with the surface of the pot.

Flowers Add Final Touch of Beauty To Table Arrangements For Dining

A simple table arrangement which you can make at small cost.

Flowers for the table, without which no entertainment at luncheon or dinner, can be successful, need not be costly. Given good taste and a sense of harmony, an attractive decoration can be made by the hostess herself from a few inexpensive blossoms.

The flowers need not cost as much as the salad; and how much they add to the occasion! Too many flowers really spoil the effect. The most exquisite harmonies can be developed by properly combining colors in the cloth, the flowers, the candles, centerpieces and containers.

In the table decoration, illustrated spring flowers are used. The bouquet pictured was composed of dainty pink and orchid sweet peas, yellow daisies and daffodils, or as the florists call them jonquils. The quantity required are: 12 pink sweet peas, 12 orchid sweet peas, 5 jonquils, 8 yellow daisies. Even if you buy more, do not use more. The others can be used in other places around the home.

Sweet peas from the florist are long-stemmed at this time of the year, and their lovely colors are at their best in combination with the jonquils and yellow daisies. Both pink and orchid harmonize beautifully with pale yellow. You might use either pink or orchid candles, and a cream or pale yellow cloth with the decoration. Other attractive combinations will occur to the hostess who has an eye for effective color.

In arranging the flowers, avoid crowding and stiffness. Each flower should stand out from its companions. A diagram of the arrangement illustrated is given, so that it may be repeated accurately, if desired. In the diagram the figure 1 indicates jonquils, 2 pink sweet peas, 3 yellow daisies and 4 orchid sweet peas.

This centerpiece is only eleven inches high so does not obstruct the view of persons seated around the table. Any good flower-holder placed in the bowl will hold the flowers in the exact position that you wish. The pink sweet peas form the basis of the centerpiece with the mass of yellow daisies placed close together. The jonquils add yellow highlights which are made even brighter by the orchid colored sweet peas grouped among them. The looseness and unanginess of the arrangement shows the flowers to best advantage and makes it more interesting.

Good Behavior Ruled Out

SALEM, Ore. (U.P.)—A 13-year-old system of automatically releasing prisoners from the state penitentiary with allowance for good behavior has been ruled out by the attorney-general. The ruling said that the governor must parole each inmate to be released before the expiration of his full sentence.

GIVES 25% LONGER NON-SKID MILEAGE!

BUY ON PROOF OF PERFORMANCE

AB JENKINS—Famous driver who holds more records than any man in automotive history.

There are three important facts you should know about the tires you buy—

- THE FACTS on TRACTION and NON-SKID SAFETY
A leading university in 2,350 tests has found that the new, scientifically designed tread on the Firestone High Speed Tire stops a car up to 25% quicker.
- THE FACTS on BLOWOUT PROTECTION
Ab Jenkins used Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires when he drove his 5,000-pound car over the hot salt beds at Bonneville, Utah, in the record-breaking time of 127 miles per hour, covering 3,000 miles in 23½ hours without a blowout or tire trouble of any kind.
- THE FACTS on ECONOMY and NON-SKID MILEAGE
The largest transportation companies in the country, such as Greyhound, to whom safety and tire economy mean business efficiency, use Firestone Tires from Coast to Coast and from Canada to the Gulf. And our own test fleet records prove that the new Firestone High Speed Tire for 1936 gives you up to 25% longer non-skid mileage.

The Firestone High Speed Tire for 1936 proves by performance its superiority in all of these three qualifications. Make this proof of performance your yardstick of safety and value. Decide today to equip your car with new Firestone High Speed Tires for 1936—the safest driving equipment money can buy.

Unless a real chute is installed at Churchill Downs, there is certain to be more bumping such as marred the sixty-second Kentucky Derby and beat the highly favored Brevity, thus saving every book-maker in the country.

The reason for the trouble was a mechanical one purely. The wonder is that it has not been brought out before, for bumping and jostling at the start of the Derby was not new. It never caused so much comment because luckily the odds-on-favorite was never knocked around before.

George Krehbiel, competent turf critic, calls attention to a fact that in Louisville, instead of a chute there is merely a funnel built at the stretch turn.

It is impossible for the horses in Nos. 1, 2 and 3 post positions to get a straight run. They must bear slightly to the right to get around a part of the turn into the stretch. The thoroughbreds in the next five or six positions are the only ones with a chance of obtaining a fair break, but they meet the inside colts bearing right, while the horses with the outside positions are forced to bear to the left before they can get straightened out.

Down Funnel Makes Bumping Inevitable This means that there is a squad of the thoroughbreds, all headed for the same point but approaching it from different angles. If the start is perfect, as it was on May 2, they all meet in a wedge. Bumping is inevitable.

Setting down eager jockeys, riding for a near $40,000 purse in the most coveted of all turf events, won't solve the problem. The only thing that will do that is a chute such as that at Santa Anita and other more modern tracks.

There chutes are built at the head of the home stretch. They give the entire field a straight run down the stretch. There is no excuse for any horse being bumped at the start, although there was plenty of bumping there in the running of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap of Feb. 22.

The cost would be negligible, and certainly Col. Matt Winn and Churchill Downs, Inc., can't point to a lack of patronage as an excuse for their neglect in bringing their historic layout up to date and removing all reason for sideswiping, slipping and jostling.

Mother Asked Hanford To Quit After Fall After being thrown by Last Time going to the half mile post at Naragansett last October, Ira Hanford received this message from his mother in Omaha: "Give it up, son, and come home."

Mother Hanford was much discouraged by that time, Buddy, first of the riding Hanfords, who gave promise of developing into the premier jockey of the country, was killed in falling from Appomattox several years ago at Pimlico. Carl Hanford wound up in a hospital last fall.

But Babe Hanford, who scarcely looks his 18 years, was determined to follow in the stirrups of his illustrious brother, Buddy, and in 10 months of riding realized the dream of all jockeys by booting Bold Venture home at better than 20 to 1 in the Derby.

Carl Hanford was instrumental in lining his kid brother up with Mary Hirsch, daughter of Max, veteran trainer of Bold Venture. Hearing that Miss Hirsch, a successful trainer in her own right, could use a boy to exercise and gallop horses, he suggested his brother Ira, who at the time did not weigh 98 pounds soaking wet.

Ira Hanford rode his first winner, a filly named Sassy, at Suffolk Downs, July 25 of last year. He has won about 160 races since. A level-headed little chap, he promises to take his place among the great riders of history.

YALE WILL ENTER OLYMPIC CREW IN THE JULY TRIALS

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (U.P.)—Confronted by a dearth of first rate material and a host of ineligibles, Coach Ed Leader of the Yale varsity crew has turned his hand to one of the hardest problems which he has faced in 13 years of coaching the Yale navy—the problem of creating a boat worthy to contend for Olympic honors.

A small but hard schedule faces the varsity, and every man on the squad knows that Yale will have to be one of the best crews in the country to stand a chance in the Olympic tryouts in July. They have determined to do this, all hands realize the magnitude of the task, and nothing has been left to chance which can be accomplished through intelligent work.

A powerful unit has been developed surprisingly smooth in oarman, despite the continual shift of several men on the starboard side. The blade work has suffered in comparison with the oarsmanship of the Yale crews of recent years but power and a full strong cast are easily discernible as the varsity boat rows the Henley distance on the Housatonic in daily practice.

Jim Castle of Honolulu, captain and stroke, occupies his old position, but the rest of the boat is composed of men who have not had varsity experience. Handling the tiller ropes is Joe Holmes of Pittsburgh, another veteran, who put forth a splendid performance in the Harvard race at New London last June.

Leighton McCartney of Denver, a senior, who has been boated a bow until recent illness removed him from the varsity, is expected to return in one spring race last year but the others have never before risen higher than the junior varsity.

The starboard side of the boat has been particularly strong. The entire starboard side graduated with the exception of Bob Belknap, who counted so heavily in last year's victory. He has been out of the Leader's mainstays for two years but is suffering from an injured back. Coaches have been told by physicians that his return to the crew this year is "extremely doubtful."

Two Freshmen Advance Harcourt Schultz, bow of last year's junior varsity, is at No. 7 on the varsity; next is Henry Allen, who was at the same berth on last year's junior varsity; while Burton McLean, who showed up well last spring with the club heaves, is at No. 5. Rufus Easton from the combination row occupies No. 4, followed by Willard Brown from last year's varsity, and Charles Adsit, another freshman recruit, at Nos. 3 and 2 respectively. Frank Doble, also a sophomore, has taken over McCartney's place at bow.

The entire squad averages over 180 and every man is over six feet in height. The varsity boats are not the only victims of a jinx. The jayvee 150-pound crew faces prospects of losing Capt. Dwight Robertson for the season. He has been barred because of overweight.

Yale will definitely enter the Olympic trials at Princeton July 2-4. Coach Leader declares. Regardless of early season records, Leader is confident that he can develop a winning crew to top any in the country by July 1.

The month of March, 1934, had two full moons, but in February had none at all. A full moon occurred on Jan. 30, the next on March 1, and the following one on March 30.

World's Biggest Political Circus Will Convene in Philadelphia and Cleveland

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The world's biggest and best political circus will convene in two sections next month when republicans assemble in Cleveland and democrats in Philadelphia to nominate presidential and vice presidential candidates.

The republican race is wide open with Gov. W. L. Gurnea of Kansas off to a lead. The democrats will re-nominate President Roosevelt and Vice-President John M. Garner. The republican scramble for first place on the 1936 ticket has obscured the G. O. P. vice-presidential position. It is likely, however, that an Eastern republican such as James W. Wadsworth of New York, will be put in second place on the ticket.

Twelve months of constant political maneuvering and whispering preceded the conventions shortly to meet. The republicans will assemble in Cleveland, June 9. On June 23 the democrats convene in Philadelphia. Adjournment of those meetings will end the extraordinary months of doubt and suspicion peculiar to American politics known as the "pre-convention period."

The election campaign proper actually will be under way when the gavel taps an end to the Cleveland gathering of the G. O. P. All the public wants to know is the identity of the republican ticket. The democratic team already is in the field. There is general and legitimate interest in the party platforms. But this time there is no such hotly controversial issue as prohibition to be disposed of by the party statesmen. Plans on balancing the budget or continuation of New Deal experiments are not likely to excite the people as did the party platform deliberations over this simple question.

"Shall our drinks be legal or illegal?" Republicans meeting first will number 1,901 delegate votes, but individual votes will more than double that number. With all delegate votes, the successful republican must obtain 501, a bare majority, to be named.

Two-Thirds Rule in Doubt Since 1932 when the democratic party held its seventeenth convention in Baltimore, the party has nominated not by bare majority but by a minimum two-thirds vote of the delegates. The rule prevails despite repeated efforts to abrogate it, the last in 1932 when the Roosevelt forces sought to weaken the stop-Roosevelt brigade by changing the rule to a simple majority. If the two-thirds rule is continued in Philadelphia next month, then Mr. Roosevelt will require two-thirds of 734 delegate votes to be re-nominated. In any event, Mr. Roosevelt will be named again by more than whatever majority may be minimum.

James A. Farley of the democratic national committee predict that the two-thirds rule would be abolished this year after 104 years of existence. They should know. In any event, Mr. Roosevelt will be named again by more than whatever majority may be minimum.

The republican scramble for pre-ference for the establishment a fixed schedule for proceedings at Cleveland. In 1924 when democrats met and battled in Madison Square Garden, the party had to hold its meetings in a hall. The party was required to nominate John W. Davis for president as a compromise between the candless of William G. McAdoo and Alfred E. Smith.

G. O. P. Faces Bumps No such record making struggle is likely at Cleveland, but the convention will probably hear the first of almost everything is decided in advance. The democratic program is to meet on the morning of Tuesday, June 23, for an address of welcome by Mayor Davis of Philadelphia. That evening Sen. Alben C. Barkley of Kentucky will be the temporary chairman to deliver the keynote speech. Wednesday, June 24, the convention will dispose of routine business and in the evening elect Sen. Joseph P. Roberts of Arkansas, permanent chairman. The next day the convention will receive and adopt its platform and in the evening probably hear the first of the speeches re-nominating Mr. Roosevelt. There will be almost 50 seconding speeches. The nomination will be voted June 25 and the next evening Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Garner will accept in Franklin Field, a sports stadium adjacent to the convention hall.

The republicans will elect Sen. Frederick Steiwer of Oregon temporary chairman and keynoter and Rep. Bertrand H. Snell of New York will succeed him as permanent chairman.

AMERICAN CURTIS CUP TEAM FAVORED TO BEAT BRITAIN

GLENEAGLES, Scotland (U.P.)—A band of Uncle Sam's best women golfers—the vanguard of a field of American athletes who will storm Europe this summer—begins competition tomorrow against a team of British stars for the Curtis Cup, a trophy placed into competition in 1932 which England has yet to win.

The Americans, captained by the veteran Mrs. Edwin Hissare of Philadelphia, will seek to win their third straight leg on the cup which is competed for biennially. Play will consist of six singles and three foursomes. After the Curtis Cup matches, the American team will compete in the British women's championships beginning May 15 at Southport and Ainsdale. This title never has been taken across the seas.

U. S. Team Powerful The American team is stacked with power from top to bottom—so much that British critics won't even rate their own team an outside chance of winning. Only one member of the American side—18-year-old Patty Berg of Minneapolis—has never competed in the Curtis Cup series. Miss Berg, a freckle-faced schoolgirl, is the youngest player ever to represent the United States in international golf competition.

Others on the American team are: Mrs. Vere, six times American women's champion; member of the first Curtis Cup team in 1932 and non-playing captain in 1934. Mrs. Opal S. Hill, Kansas City; Mrs. L. D. Cheney, Los Angeles; and Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews, Coral Gables, Fla., all members of the 1932 and 1934 teams; Miss Charlotte Glutting, South Orange, N. J.; Miss Marion Miley, Lexington, Ky.; and Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, Fort Worth, Texas, members of the 1934 squad.

Present absentees from England's team are its two best women players—Joyce Wethered and Enid Wilson, both of whom have turned professional. These two alone, British golf experts say, might have turned apparent defeat tomorrow into victory.

In the first Curtis Cup match, at Wentworth Eng., in 1932, the American team won 5-1-2 to 3-1-2. The second match, in 1934 at Chevy Chase, Md., resulted in an American victory by 6-1-2 to 1-1-2. The eight members of the British team are: Miss Jessie Anderson, Miss Pam Barton, Mrs. Marjorie Ross Garon, Mrs. Helen Holm, Miss Wanda Morgan, Miss Bridget Newell, Miss Phyllis Wade and Mrs. J. B. Walker.

Miss Morgan is the reigning British open champion; Miss Anderson the New Zealand champion and Mrs. Walker the Australian champion—she and Miss Anderson won those titles during a 1935 tour. Mrs. Garon is the native English champion.

Miss Morgan Erratic Despite this array of champions, the girls are not so good, particularly for such tournament play as the Curtis Cup. Little Miss Morgan, for example, is notoriously nervous on such occasions. One of the surprises of the team was omission of Miss Diana Fishwick. Even if it was one of her "bad" days during the recent tests, she still is one of Britain's best players and a good "money player."

Only Miss Morgan has played on all former British teams. Miss Barton and Mrs. Walker played in 1934. Mrs. Holm would have been a member of that team because she was British Open champion in 1934. She could not make the trip to America, however.

The Misses Anderson and Wade and Mrs. Garon all have international experience. Miss Newell is a newcomer to the ranks of Britain's top-flight club swingers.

The Revolutionary NEW Concentrator Burner of the NORGE Gas RANGE. The greatest advance in gas range engineering since the insulated oven. This exclusive, new Norge burner uses less gas to produce more heat. From an intensely-hot flame, you can turn it so low that coffee can be kept hot for hours without even simmering. The remarkable economy of this burner is due to its scientific design. It creates an ideal mixture of gas and air. It focuses the flame toward the center of the utensil where it curves outward to the edge, heating the entire bottom uniformly without curling up the sides—without producing hot spots. Only Norge has the Concentrator Burner. The modern beauty of this range is combined with a seamless top; spring-balanced, disappearing, burner cover; removable porcelain grates; burner bowl tray; automatic top lighter; safety oven lighter; combined heat regulator and oven valve; two roller-bearing utility drawers; porcelain lined oven with level slide racks; full insulation; adjustable, elevating broiler. SOVIET ERASES KULAK STIGMA

MOSCOW (U.P.)—The Central committee of the Communist party, roused by a 17-year-old peasant who was persecuted as the daughter of an exiled kulak, has determined to enforce the edict of Joseph Stalin that a "son is not responsible for the acts of his father."

L. Oboznaya, the peasant girl, is an industrious worker of the collective farm "Red October," but on the ground that her father was an exiled kulak, or prosperous peasant, V. Grachev, vice chairman of the political department of the Besopasenskaya Tractor Power station in the North Caucasus, refused to admit her to a school for tractor drivers.

The girl, in addition to having exceeded the standards set for her as a farm hand and then as a combine operator, also kept up with political trends. She wrote a letter to the central party committee.

Defended by Pravda

Pravda, organ of the Communist party, answered with an editorial in which was stated that the facts in her letter had been found correct.

"It is necessary to draw the adequate conclusions from this fact," Pravda commented, "that Grachev, being a political worker, does not know the party policy regarding the children of kulaks, does not know of the statement made by Stalin to the effect that a son is not responsible for the acts of his father."

Partys' Creed Outlined

"The party does its utmost to help sons and daughters of kulaks to express themselves in their work," Pravda continued, "if the kulak's children are admitted to the collective farm there is no question about restriction of their rights on account of their social origin. Honest labor is the main and sole criterion of the dignity of every peasant man and woman."

The central party committee then decided "to consider the unlawful instructions of the party and the government and to oblige the Besopasenskaya tractor power station to admit Oboznaya to the courses."

British Field Rated Strong In Open Play

LONDON, (U.P.)—With the opening of a crowded golf season, the British are looking to one of their stars to keep the major title, the British Open Championship, in this country.

After 10 successive years of United States victories, the title was won back in 1934 by Henry Cotton. Alfred Perry kept it there last year. These two are among the half-dozen who are expected to provide the vanguard of the British defense at Hoylake, Cheshire, June 22-26. Others include Percy Allis, Alfred Padgham, the three Whitcomb brothers, Charles, Ernest and Reginald, and W. J. Cox.

The last time the championship was played at Hoylake was in 1930, when Bobby Jones annexed it as one of the four major titles he acquired that year for an all-time record.

Of the seven British players mentioned, Cotton is given the best chance of winning—as he has been given for the last five years. Cotton is an "automatic" golfer, always trying new swings, styles and stances. He learned his golf by practicing for hours in front of a looking glass.

At Prestwick last year, he spent a month on the course before the tournament, practicing 36 holes a day. When the tournament came along he blew up in the concluding rounds. It was believed that he had over-trained.

Cotton would not enter any competition last year so that he might concentrate on the Open. This year he has entered every tournament and again has altered his style.

He is said to be a vastly improved player not only as regards shot production but in the matter of temperament. In the last six months he has lengthened his swing, and effected a radical change in his putting style.

Tries New Swing

Cotton always had a three-quarter swing, and although he still stops before the club is horizontal, he has lengthened the swing appreciably. The effect is more pleasing and produces better results. Hitherto putting has been Cotton's chief weakness. He has experimented with every known dodge, except standing on his head, as Walter Hagen once suggested. To Leo Diegel as an alternative to Diegel's fantastic arms-a-kimbo style.

Cotton has abandoned the crouch, and the extended elbow method, resembling a windmill, for a more natural style—normal, upright stance, feet fairly close together, and elbows keeping more into the body.

Perry, the "champion nobody expected," is hardly likely to keep his title this year. Yet, despite his unorthodox and rather flamboyant style, he is still producing.

There is no more accurate striker of the ball than Percy Allis, and if only his putting commanded the same respect as the iron shots it would not be necessary to look any further for the 1936 open champion.

"Putting," says Allis "is purely a question of nerve; if you have the courage to hit the ball straight at the hole, putting is as simple as falling out of a tree."

Alfred Padgham seems to have a better chance of adding his name to the champions roll. Padgham swings so easily, and takes so little out of himself, that he gives the impression of being able to go on

Here's First View of Esplanade of State, Showpiece of Texas Centennial Exposition

The photographer here has caught the nearly completed view of what the visitors to the Texas Centennial Exposition, opening June 6 in Dallas, will see when they come onto the main gate in the left center is the 700-foot reflecting basin center of the Esplanade of State. To its left are the three entrances of the $400,000 Hall of Varied Industries. Behind it is the $1,200,000 Hall of State, last of the major buildings in the $25,000,000 World's Fairing construction program in the background, as far as the camera eye can see, other construction is being rushed to completion.

"Law West of the Pecos" Reborn at Exposition

The saloon and court where Roy Bean, famous in early Texas history, dispensed drinks, merchandise and justice and where he became famous as "The Law West of the Pecos," is faithfully reproduced at the Texas Centennial Exposition, Dallas June 6. The "Jersey Lilly Saloon," Bean's misnamed tribute to the beautiful Lily Langtry, is shown here with the Ranger Headquarters rising beside it. Here visiting notables will be "arrested" and given trial by the Texas Sheriff's Association.

Coming to Yucca

The executioner had sent the seering bolt through his body before his innocence was established—so he returned from the grave to wreak vengeance upon the racketeers who had framed him in the weirdest picture ever filmed by the master of all "shiver" actors, Boris Karloff, who comes to the Yucca Theatre on Fri. and Sat. in Warner Bros. "The Walking Dead."

Three Whitcombes Dangerous

Then there are the three Whitcombes, all seasoned campaigners, and first class stroke players. Charles, ex-Ryder Cup captain, is once again worried over his putting. For months past it has been at a high standard, but now the season is starting it is showing signs of slipping. Putting has robbed Charles of many a victory.

The chances of W. J. Cox, a member of the 1935 Ryder Cup team, cannot be passed over lightly. A powerfully built young man, and tremendously enthusiastic, he has built up a reputation as one of the longest hitters in the country. Having recently taken a heavier driver, he is hitting enormous distances. Where others take a brassie for the second shot, Cox needs only a No. 3 iron.

He has also adopted a new putting style, the main feature of which is a locked left wrist throughout the swing.

Plan Memorial for Oil Game Pioneers

A contest to aid in securing plans for an idea for a suitable memorial to the pioneers who made possible the present 14 billion dollar oil industry, is being conducted by the International Petroleum Exposition, according to President W. G. Skelly.

The memorial plans committee headed by Gleniver McConnell has submitted rules and regulations for the contest to the Ald Timers committee under Victor Barnett, and adoption of them now makes it possible for contestants to begin work.

There will be $250 in prizes, a $150 first, $75 second, and $25 third prize. The contest is open to all artists, sculptors, architects, engineers, builders, teachers, students, and every one else, including oil men anywhere in the world, except officers, directors and others directly connected with the exposition.

The contest will open May 16, the opening date of the exposition, and remain open until midnight September 1, 1936. A special display at the exposition will show possible locations for a memorial on or adjacent to the exposition grounds, when the rules state any memorial building must be placed. Contestants may also get an inspiration by viewing the ten million dollars worth of exhibits at the exposition and by getting the oil industry atmosphere which will prevail for the eight days of the show.

Rules point out that the plans submitted must be such that the memorial can be constructed for a cost of not to exceed $25,000 and that can be built in units not to cost more than $5,000 each after perhaps the first unit which may cost $10,000 or more is constructed.

While the rules set down by the committee do not make a suggestion of the type of memorial which might be desirable, one member of the committee indicated that it is the hope of the group and the exposition that the memorial will fit in some way to the general scheme of the industry so as to immediately suggest petroleum.

The memorial may be a shaft, building to house old relics, a statue, or any other type of design conceived of by the contestants.

Lumber Business Is Showing Increases

JASPER, Texas, (U.P.)—The lumber industry in Jasper county is showing a marked increase, said W. A. Latham, general manager of a large lumber mill here. He reported his concern had the best business in April of any month since 1929, shipping 78 carloads about equally divided between pine and hardwood.

The plant operates 48 hours weekly and employs 235 men at this time. Approximately 50 carloads of logs mainly pine, were shipped to Pine-land and Beaumont mills in April. In the same month, 20 carloads of hewn ties and five cars of veneer hampers were shipped. About 95 per cent of the carlot shipments from here in April was timber products, A. I. Aden, railroad station agent, said.

No staves moved during the month but the T. B. Allen saw mill reports cutting an order of 175,000 staves that will go out soon.

COLLEGE TESTING PROGRAM ON TEXAS COORDINATION IN EDUCATION ENDED

AUSTIN, Texas—Under the direction of Dr. H. T. Manuel, professor of educational psychology at the University of Texas, a report has been made of the results of the 1935 college testing program of the Texas commission on co-ordination in education. Dr. Manuel is director of research for the commission, and has directed the work of a survey of ten state supported senior colleges of Texas, twelve municipal and private senior colleges, and 19 junior colleges. Each of these 41 institutions reported results of a psychological examination prepared by the American Council on Education; certain institutions reported on various cooperative tests in English, elementary and intermediate algebra, general mathematics, Spanish, and general culture.

The survey was intended to discover which schools endeavor to adjust matter of the curriculum to the needs of students. It was found that 84 per cent of the institutions studied do not have any sort of testing laboratory for determining student aptitudes. A number, however, have provisions for administering tests from time to time. Not more than a half dozen institutions offer definite credit courses intended to "orient" the new student in his college environment and help him to learn "how to study." Seventeen institutions make a systematic effort to see that students enroll for the sort of course programs for which they are best suited.

With possibly two exceptions, the schools studied do not employ a psychiatrist as a member of the college to aid in the guidance of students in the field of personality and mental hygiene. It was stated.

MODERNS MISS ALL-TIME NINE OF BRESNAHAN

TOLEDO (U.P.)—Rogers Bresnahan, one of baseball's great immortals, who caught Christy Mathewson, doesn't think the national pastime is what it used to be.

Bresnahan, ruddy but overweight in late middle age, now is a salesman for a Toledo brewery.

"Modern baseball lacks strategy," he says. "To emphasize his conviction, he has named an all-time, all-star team on which he has placed only one man who is playing today. He is Charlie Gehring of the Detroit Tigers.

"Inside baseball, as practiced by the old-timers, is missing from the game today," Bresnahan believes. "In the old days, ball teams always were trying to out-guess and out-smart the opposition. They always were thinking one play ahead of the game. The only time they would get crossed up would be when the other side pulled a boner, and did the wrong thing."

Day of Individualism

"But take the game today. Nine times out of ten you know what each batter is going to do. He's going to try to knock the cover off the ball. Players on old-time teams dove-tailed. Today, most teams are just so many individual ball players."

Bresnahan probably is best known as a partner of one of the great batteries of baseball. He caught Christy Mathewson during "Mat's" hey-day with the Giants, from 1904 to 1908. He began his 30 years of active baseball before the turn of the century.

Following is the all-time, all-star team as Bresnahan sees it:

Willie Keeler, Baltimore, right field.

Clarence Beaufort, Pittsburgh, center field.

Fred Clark, Pittsburgh, left field.

Frank Chance, Chicago Cubs, 1st base.

Charlie Gehring, Detroit, 2nd base.

Honus Wagner, Pittsburgh, short stop.

Jimmy Collins, Boston Nationals, catcher.

Pitchers: Christy Mathewson,

LAYING OF STEEL STARTED ON BRIDGE WASHED OUT BY LLANO FLOOD LAST YR.

LLANO, Texas (U.P.)—Laying of steel has started on the bridge being built across the Llano river in the center of this town to replace the structure destroyed by the flood last June. It is being erected as a United States emergency relief project and will consume 1,560,000 pounds of reinforcing steel and 2-350 cubic yards of concrete.

The bridge will be 876 feet, 5 3-4 inches long with concrete floor and have a 24-foot clear roadway, and four-foot clear sidewalk. The structure will comprise four steel truss spans 198 feet, 6 3-4 inches in length. There will be three gravity section piers and two abutments of the cellular type. The span will be arched to bring the center six feet higher than the ends and 12 feet above the maximum high water last June.

The contract price is $155,727 and calls for completion within 120 working days. More than half of this time has been used but it is expected the bridge will be completed by late summer.

Giants; Rube Waddell, Athletics; Walter Johnson, Washington.

"There," Bresnahan said, "you have a team that could hit, field, run bases and think. Of course, I have passed up some mighty good ball players, but I'm ready to back up my choice."

Bresnahan 300 Hitter

Many old-time fans undoubtedly believe that no all-star team is complete without Bresnahan, himself, the "Rajah" of his day, because of his general ability. The records show him to have been not only a catcher, but a winning pitcher, an infielder, and an outfielder as well. He was a 300 hitter in a day when 300 hitters were scarce, and he could run bases.

Bresnahan was pitching for a Lima, O., team when a scout spotted him, and sent him to Washington. He was a youngster nearing 17 then. He became a catcher more or less by accident, some time later, while he was pitching for Baltimore.

Managed Two Clubs

In the course of his career, Bresnahan managed St. Louis and Chicago clubs, and owned and managed the Toledo Mud Hens of the American association. He finds it impossible to pick out the "biggest moment" of his baseball life, because "there were too many of them."

When Bresnahan started catching, shin guards were unknown. His legs were constantly bruised. So he designed a shin protector. A sporting goods house made a pair for him.

"The first season I used shin guards," he said, "I took an awful razing all around the circuit. Fans called me everything from 'Sissie' to 'Cream Puff.' But it wasn't long until all catchers were using them."

Madrid Gets Sports Palace for Jai-Alia

MADRID (U.P.)—A huge sports palace has been dedicated to the Basque sport of pelota or jai-al-ai in Madrid.

It occupies the site where stood the palatial residence of the Marquis of Manzanaedo. A group of financiers in combination with the Sociedad Pelotaris de Remontis, composed of Spain's leading pelota players, purchased the site, razed the palace and constructed the beautiful "fronton" or court representing an expenditure of approximately $850,000. It is known as the Fronton Recoletos and because it will feature the leading pelota players, it will be the No. 1 court of the world.

Pelota is widely played in South America, Mexico, Cuba, Italy, Egypt, Shanghai, and Brussels. It is popular in Spain, especially in the north where it is regarded as the regional sport.

Secundino Zuazo, well known architect who designed the structure, told the United Press negotiations were under way to introduce professional pelota into France and England and eventually New York.

Zuazo, to make pelota more international, wants to develop French Basque players. At present there can be no betting in France on pelota games due to the opposition of the French horse racing association. Some French players now are in San Sebastian taking lessons.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Trouble Often Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing.

If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait for serious trouble. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills—which have been used successfully for over 40 years by millions of people. They get happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.
