KING FUAD, RULER OF EGYPT, VICTIM OF DEATH TODAY

Long Illness Proves Fatal to Aged Monarch

SON TO THRONE Farouk, 16, To Serve Under Regency for Two Years

CAIRO, Egypt, April 28 (AP).—King Fuad the first of Egypt, 68, died today after a long illness, aggravated over the weekend when a gangrenous throat condition prevented him from taking nourishment.

Crown Prince Farouk, 16, attending school in England, will come to the throne under a regency until he reaches his eighteenth birthday.

Shortly before his death, Fuad rallied, called his ministers and insisted on transacting state business.

King Fuad had taken no food for more than four days, and was reported to have fallen into a coma Monday from which he recovered today.

ALCATRAZ PRISON INMATE SLAIN IN ATTEMPTED BREAK

First Convict Ever To Try Escape At Island

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., April 28 (AP).—Joe Bowers, first convict to attempt escape from Alcatraz Island Federal prison, was killed Monday when he plunged 60 feet over a cliff as guards volleyed shots at him.

The 40-year-old mail robber, struck in the right shoulder and thigh by bullets, died of a broken neck received when he crashed on rocky shores surrounding the grim prison in San Francisco Bay.

Warden James Johnston said Bowers, transferred here from Leavenworth, tried to scale a wire fence around the work area on the island's west side, facing the Golden Gate.

Guards showed up at him, but Bowers continued the attempt. The guards opened fire. Bowers toppled from the fence, and plunged down the sheer side of the island, a solid rock which juts out of the bay more than a mile from shore.

Representation of Midland at Frontier Show Taking Form

Midland's representation in the Frontier Centennial to be staged at Fort Worth was taking definite form this week, as committees, given authority by the chamber of commerce, worked on the various details.

Copy for the panel, depicting Midland's history in picture form, was sent to the West Texas chamber of commerce.

Arrangements were completed for financing the city between May 22 and 30, during the Midland Downs spring race meet, as a part of the continuous movie of West Texas which will be a feature of the Fort Worth Frontier celebration.

Decision was reached to stage a four-city stage show, with entertainers of Big Spring, Lamesa, Midland and Odessa furnishing talent for appearances in those respective places, to select entrants for the Frontier Follies and derive expense funds.

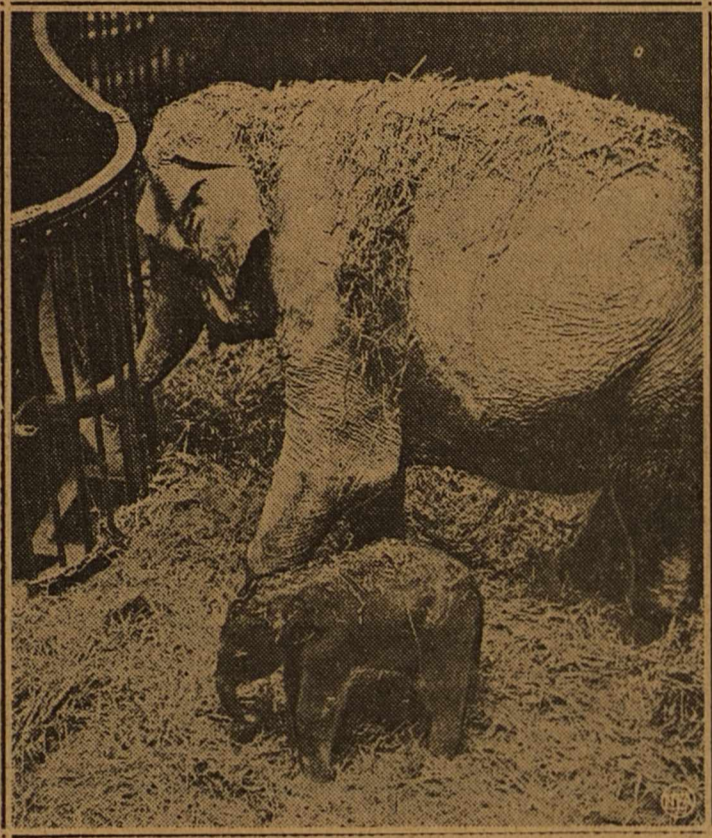

County Agent S. A. Debnam of Midland is at work on the All-Resource exhibit in which district six of the West Texas chamber of commerce will portray the cattle industry of Texas from the early days up to the present period. A chamber of commerce committee, headed by Roy Parks, Midland cattleman, is assisting in contacting cattlemen over the state.

Miss Ticknor Chosen Midland's Sponsor

Miss Harriett Ticknor will be Midland's representative at the eighteenth annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Amarillo, May 11, 12, 13. She was selected by the chamber of commerce here for the honor.

As Midland's sponsor she will take part in the "West Texas Cavalcade" and other convention festivities.

Demand for Publicity on AAA Payments Is Granted

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP).—A republican demand for publicity on big AAA payments was granted Monday by the senate, but not until democrats had attached a counter proposal that tariff benefits to manufacturing and other industries also should be publicized.

The broadscale order for reports on AAA payments over $10,000 a year and for tariff benefits to the larger industries was contained in the much amended and long pending resolution by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.). Two weeks ago the subject stirred up an exchange between Vandenberg and Secretary Wallace as to whether such publicity was fair to the farmers.

The resolution finally was passed without even a record vote. But when republicans sought still further to broaden it to include an investigation of the resettlement administration and publicity on the number of salaried employees appointed by this administration outside the civil service ranks, democrats and a few republicans snuffed them under.

The resolution, as finally passed, asked these things:

A list of all AAA payments over $10,000 a year, together with the amount of production the payments had stopped, and the acreage involved.

A list of corporations with 1934 net incomes exceeding $1,000,000 which produce commodities protected by the tariff, and the duty rates, together with the profits attributable to the tariff, as well as increased costs to consumers.

The names of the three corporations which did the largest 1934 business in production of each of the following tariff-protected articles: aluminum, steel and iron, photographic cameras and films, chemicals and dyes, electrical appliances and equipment, cellophane, razors, plate glass, cast iron pipe fittings, and tin articles.

GEORGIA NEGRO TAKEN FROM JAIL, SHOT AND HANGED

Mob Takes Prisoner From Cell At Midnight

ROYSTON, Ga., April 28 (AP).—Lint Shaw, negro farmer, today was shot dead by a mob of 40 men eight hours before he was scheduled to face trial on a charge of attempted criminal assault.

His body was found at dawn, tied to a pine tree in a creek bottom—near the scene where two white girls reported he attempted to attack them after their car broke down.

The mob broke into the Royston jail at midnight, cornered an officer and smashed the lock on the prisoner's cell door. They then took him from the jail and hanged and shot him.

Foreign Relations Is First Horse Nominated for Merchants Handicap

Foreign Relations, aged gelding owned by Wm. Bloss, was the first to be nominated for the $1000 added Merchants Handicap to be run May 30, last day of the Midland Downs spring meet. Gerald Bloss, with a six horse stable now training at the local track, nominated the bay and will saddle him the day of the big race.

With ten horses eligible to start, the $10 nomination fee and $20 starting fee will make a total purse for the one mile event of $1300, divided $900 to the winner, $300 second and $100 third.

Tom Nance, director of racing, said owners of several outstanding horses raced at Arlington Downs have written for full information on the Handicap, indicating that they will nominate at an early date and will bring a class of horses never before seen in the smaller tracks.

Opening May 22, with eight actual days of racing, the Midland

Politics Taken for a Buggy Ride in Oklahoma

Though it was a colorful celebration in Guthrie, Okla., commemorating the famous run of '89, there were no fireworks when Gov. E. W. Merrill, left, an ardent New Dealer, and Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, G. O. P. presidential aspirant, took this buggy ride together up the crowded main street of the state's first capital. To avoid embarrassment, Gov. Landon banned all talk of politics.

A negro woman and her son lost were the persons fatally injured by the tornado at Rockdale.

General rains, worth millions to Texas ranchers and farmers drenched all of Texas except the extreme Southwest, and a strip along the New Mexico border. The long spring drouth over thousands of acres of crop and pasture lands was ended.

A steady shower drenched North Texas, missing only the Panhandle. Brisk rains struck at Galveston, bringing 1.09 inches of rain.

Agriculturists hailed the rains as vastly beneficial to cotton, oats, corn, wheat and vegetables.

MAY DAY PROGRAM SCHEDULED HERE

Rural Schools Will Give Presentation At The Yucca Theater

Celebrating National Child Health Day, several rural schools of Midland County will cooperate in giving a May Day health program at the Yucca theatre on Friday morning, May 1. The schools cooperating in this program are Prairie Lee, Cotton Flat, Warfield, and Pleasant Valley.

Howard Hodge, manager of the Yucca theatre, has cooperated with the county schools for the past two years by providing a suitable place in which programs may be given. None of the rural school buildings are large enough to accommodate even local audiences; so it has become a custom to have combined programs in the city.

A copy of the program will be printed in Thursday's Reporter-Telegram.

PENSION WORK IN STATE IS PUSHED

Night Shifts Will Be Employed At Some Places

AUSTIN, April 28 (AP).—Orville Carpenter, director of the old-age assistance commission, today said that night shifts would be inaugurated by some divisions to speed early pension payments. He said he hoped the initial remittances would be made in June, and was confident they start by July first.

With federal aid assured, he said, it would be possible for Texans to receive a maximum of $30 monthly.

Postoffice Site Checks Are Issued

Construction Work Will Start Soon, Believed

Checks for the postoffice site, at the corner of Loraine and Texas streets here, have been issued by the attorney general's department, according to a letter received today by R. M. Barron, agent for the owners of the site from W. R. Smith Jr., federal district attorney at San Antonio.

Smith advised that he would be here in a few days to "close the deal."

The new federal building, appropriation for which was issued last year, probably will be under construction with a minimum of delay, it was believed, due to the fact that much of the engineering and architectural work has been in progress during the time the abstract of title to the site has been through the various federal departments.

Bids for the site were filed last October, in the office of Postmaster John P. Howe. The bids covering the corner selected called for a purchase price of approximately $19,000.

Although the actual cost of the building has never been announced by government officials, the preliminary estimate of cost for the project here was placed at $8,000. Engineers and architects came here to make surveys and sketches of the site and its surroundings in order to make the structure harmonize with other buildings.

DR. TESTIFIES IN TRIAL OF WOMAN FACING CHARGES

Mrs. Patterson Not Guilty, She Says In Court

GREENVILLE, April 28.—Tears streamed down Mrs. Velma Patterson's face Monday as she sat, with bowed head, while a physician related what he knew of the alleged poison death of her little daughter, Dorothy, 12.

Dr. Alvin Waller testified he was called to the Patterson home at Commerce last Feb. 17 and found the child in a comatose condition. She was "restless but not complaining," Dr. Waller said he was acting for his father who had previously treated Dorothy, but was absent from the city.

Dorothy, first stricken a week before, was fully dressed, Dr. Waller said, and advised Mrs. Patterson to undress her and call a nurse. The child died within 10 minutes after he arrived, the physician explained.

In response to a question, Dr. Waller testified he "couldn't state whether she died from intestinal influenza or poisoning."

Mrs. Patterson was described by the doctor as appearing "genuinely anxious" concerning the child's condition.

Testimony in Mrs. Patterson's murder trial opened this morning with Dr. Waller's father, Dr. L. T. Waller of Commerce, telling of attention he had given the child.

The elder Dr. Waller testified he signed a death certificate attributing death to intestinal influenza.

However, under direct questioning by District Attorney Henry Pharr he testified he didn't know what caused death.

Dr. L. T. Waller, who wasn't present when Dorothy died, said that it was a "rare thing" for intestinal influenza to prove fatal and the death percentage was light.

POST LAWYER TO SERVE SENTENCE

Supreme Court Denies An Appeal On Charge of Conspiracy

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP).—The United States Supreme Court Monday ruled that N. C. Outlaw, Post attorney, must serve a 15-months penitentiary sentence and a $2,500 fine when it denied his appeal from those punishments assessed for conspiracy to influence a federal grand jury.

The West Texas lawyer had taken his plea from the New Orleans federal circuit court which had upheld the fine and sentence imposed by Judge William H. Atwell of Dallas district federal court.

Outlaw was found guilty of conspiring to influence a jury investigating the machine gun slaying of Spencer Stafford, federal narcotic agent, at Post.

Sheriff W. F. Cato of Post was charged with the killing but was acquitted. Outlaw was his counsel in the case.

CHARGE SHOOTING TO GRANDMOTHER

Jasper Woman Tells Court She Had to Shoot Man Sunday

JASPER, Texas, April 28 (AP).—Mrs. Bill Garlington, 33-year-old grandmother, was charged Monday with murder in the fatal shooting Sunday of Absey Campbell, 28.

Justice A. L. Hudburgh set a bond of $3000, which the woman did not immediately make.

Four of the seven eyewitnesses to the shooting were heard at the examining trial, Leon McQueen, L. T. Lively, N. G. Mitchell and Clayton Mitchell.

They testified Mrs. Garlington and Campbell had an argument before the shooting, that he threatened to chop up an incubator with an ax.

The accused woman left a domino game on the front porch, they said; walked into the house and took a shotgun from her bedroom.

Campbell saw her through a window with the gun in her hand.

"I'm going in there and make you eat that gun," he was quoted as saying.

The witnesses said Mrs. Garlington fired as he opened the front door. The charge struck him in the chest.

Mrs. Garlington took the stand for brief testimony.

"I had to do it," she said. She would not elaborate on the statement.

The sturdy young brunette, who said she was married at the age of 14, is the mother of five children and has one grandchild. Her husband was not at home at the time of the shooting.

BEHIND THE SCENES - IN - WASHINGTON By RODNEY DUTCHER Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—In addition to the fact that any Republican elected to the presidency this year would almost certainly face a Congress Democratic in both houses, there is also a real possibility that Roosevelt will be re-elected along with a Congress which could probably be described as anti-New Deal.

Although it won't be possible for Republicans to come anywhere near changing complexion of the senate, and Democrats are almost sure to retain a sizable paper majority in the house, there will be more Republicanism in congress.

In concert with Democratic members who consider much of the New Deal too radical, they are likely to give Roosevelt—if he is re-elected—much more opposition than he has had in the past. Perhaps enough, in fact, to stymie the president, who recently asserted that "social pion-ing" was only in its infancy. Five Big Factors. If you identify the "New Deal" as an advanced program of political and economic progressivism or liberalism—as it professes to be—some of the following factors will be of profound interest, to both the simon-pure New Dealers who have glowing hopes of new "pioneering" in the next Roosevelt administration and the conservative opposition

Problem Of Dardanelles Rises Once More To Vex European Powers; Lausanne Pact Flouted

As seen from the stratosphere, "bottle-neck" gateway between Asia and Europe is clearly shown the picture above. The narrow strip 10 miles wide along the strait, part of which Turkish troops have reoccupied. The second gate, the Bosphorus, leading to the Black Sea and Russia, is seen in the background. When a few days ago, the first more trying time with congress in their second terms, when political futures are no longer so bound up with that of the executive, when new patronage is scarce, and when the party begins to speculate as to the president's successor.

1.—Congress already is only semi-controlled by the administration. Only by terrific effort and by narrow margins did Roosevelt jam through his pet holding company bill last session.

2.—The recession from overwhelming Democratic congressional majorities expected next November probably will be in a conservative direction and conservatives now in congress doubtless will hold their own.

3.—Anti-New Deal Democrats, such as Senators Glass and Byrd of Virginia, Bailey of North Carolina, Walsh of Massachusetts, and Tydings of Maryland, may be expected to cut loose again when the election is past.

4.—Powerful interests, notably the electric power groups, even though they may despair of beating Roosevelt, are now out to defeat individual members who have fought hardest for some of his more liberal measures—such as the holding company act.

5.—Two towers of progressive strength, more "New Dealish" than most Democrats, will be lost to the administration in the next congress with prospective retirement of Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska and Senator Edward P. Costigan of Colorado.

6.—Congressman Edward C. Moran of Maine, one of the outstanding House progressives, also is quitting because Jim Farley has thrown his support behind Governor Brann and other Maine conservatives.

7.—Norris May Reconsider. Friends of Norris are more confident now that he can be made to run on an independent third ticket following Nebraska primaries which nominated two ex-congressmen, Republican Bob Simmons and Democratic Terry Carpenter, to succeed Norris.

8.—Senator Burke, Democrat already has repudiated Carpenter as a running mate, declaring for Norris.

members from Turkey, France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Bulgaria, Greece, Rumania, Russia, and Yugoslavia. This commission was to make all regulations about traffic through the straits and report to the League of Nations. No forts were to be built, nor soldiers sent by Turkey into a space of 10 miles along each side, including the whole peninsula of Gallipoli where so many died. The international highway was to be kept open to trade in times of war or peace. Friends of peace were hopeful that a world sore spot had been cured.

TURKS SEIZE OPPORTUNITY But Turkey watched Europe rearm. She has been watching the repeated failures of the league. She has seen other countries which were defeated in the World War throwing off the shackles clamped on them lost the war, and the Allies later destroyed the fortifications commanding the straits, both in the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus. In 1923 came the Lausanne treaty, which it was hoped had settled the problem. This placed control of the straits in the hands of a commission with Turkish soldiers marched to the heights about the demilitarized Dardanelles another problem which the world had believed solved by peaceful agreement bobbed up again, unsolved after all.

At Lausanne, Switzerland on July 24, 1923, ten countries signed an agreement. It was to answer a question that has vexed the world for at least 2500 years.

It concerned the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus two narrow straits between Europe and Asia, close to Istanbul (Constantinople) in Turkey. These two straits are only from a mile to four miles wide. The Dardanelles is about 40 miles long, the Bosphorus 20 miles in length. Between them the little Sea of Marmara stretches for 172 miles. These three bodies of water divide Asia on the south from Europe on the north. They connect the Black Sea (and Russia) on the east with the Aegean Sea on the west. There is no more important gateway in the world.

Legend as well as history light it up. Here Jason and his Argonauts are supposed to have crossed in search of the Golden Fleece. Here, when it was known as the Hellespont, Leander plunged in, nightly the story tells, to swim across and see his beloved Hero.

Here for centuries, Russian diplomacy centered, in an effort to control Constantinople and the straits, so that her Black Sea ports would have an outlet and a great navy could be built. Here British and French ambitions clashed with Russian, and here Greek and Turk fought back and forth for centuries. A score of times, efforts were made to come to an agreement which would let the world use this passage without fighting over it.

VITAL IN WORLD WAR When the World War came in 1914, Turkey controlled the straits. Again they became vital. For Turkey was allied with Germany. And the Dardanelles was the only passage through which supplies could be carried to Russia, the ally of France and Britain. If the straits could be forced, munitions and food could be carried to Russia, which needed them badly. And not only could Turkey be cut off from her ally, Germany, but a good place would be gained for working northward and harassing Germany's other Balkan allies.

The attempt was made early in 1915. It is one of the most tragic stories of lost opportunity, grim sacrifice and bitter defeat which the Allies were to hear. An Allied British and French navy first tried to force its way through the straits, and met a shocking repulse. Three great battleships went to the bottom.

Then the effort was made by land to take the Gallipoli Peninsula, which lies along the north shore of the Dardanelles. The naval attack had only served to warn Liman von Sanders, the German in charge of the Turkish defense.

THOUSANDS ARE SLAIN. For a year he fought off determined British and French attacks. Landing on the beach under the Turkish guns, inching their way forward up into the hills, clinging precariously to what ground they had gained, the British, French and Australians died by tens of thousands. And then the whole thing had to be given up. To the end of the war, the straits remained Turkish.

But the Turks, with the Germans

Midland Girl Will Be Guest Pianist

Miss Jennie Elkin left this morning for Dallas. She is to be guest pianist at a book review program sponsored by a McKinney club Saturday afternoon, May 2, possibly in Dallas.

Miss Paula Finch who will be remembered for her review of "Silas Chase" here several months ago under auspices of the Junior Woman's Wednesday club, will present the review Saturday. She has chosen a volume on the life of the great musician, Bach, and has asked Miss Elkin to play some of the composer's music.

Miss Elkin has decided to play Bach's "Italian Concerto" and a Spanish dance.

RURAL SCHOOLS

The pie supper Friday night at Warfield school was well attended by people of the community. Fifteen pies were sold and a total of $6.10 was realized from the sale.

"We especially appreciate the donations made by Mrs. Susie G. Noble and Mrs. Mary L. Quinn but regret their being unable to attend the pie supper," Mrs. Ruby Jamison, teacher, said.

The new stage curtain for the school house was received and put up several days ago. The curtain is a donation made possible by the business people of Midland and Odessa through subscriptions made by them for the ads painted on the curtain. The pupils are preparing a health day play which will be given as a number on the May Day Health program.

"We have only four weeks more of school, but interest in general school work is good," Prin. A. M. Bryant of Prairie Lee school said recently. "A large percentage of our students will be able to receive promotions because of having satisfactorily completed their courses."

Lottie Mae Bryant is ill with the flu.

Methodist Circles Meet in Homes for Study of Series

Study of the series "Toward Christian Ideals of Brotherhood" occupied the circle meetings of the Methodist missionary society Monday afternoon.

Laura Haygood circle held its meeting at the home of Mrs. T. S. Nettleton Jr., 1010 S. Big Spring, beginning the series study. Mrs. C. E. Nolan conducted the lesson.

Mrs. R. R. Cowan was hostess to the Belle Bennett circle at her home, 606 S. Colorado, with Mrs. S. M. Vaughan as cohostess. Mrs. Geo. Glass was in charge of the study of the series named above.

Present were three visitors, Mmes. B. F. Haag, Brunleu, and Nelle Duffield, and 11 members including: Mmes. M. V. Coman, Terry Elkin, Geo. Glass, J. M. Haygood, W. I. Pratt, J. H. Rhoden, Phil Scharbauer, Rea Sindorf, J. M. Speed, J. B. Freeman, and the hostess.

Switzerland Tame Beside Colorado Says Carveth Wells

Instead of having only one Mont Blanc, like Switzerland, Colorado has more than 50 peaks that are 14,000 feet high—more than a thousand over 10,000 feet high! There's no place on earth where you can see more wonderful scenery than in Colorado.

That's the candid opinion of Carveth Wells, world famous reporter and explorer, who plans to tell some surprising truths about "The Silver State" in his April 26 coast-to-coast radio broadcast for Continental Oil Company.

"Although Colorado, the 'Mother of Rivers,' is best known for her inspiring timberline scenery," says Wells, "visitors also find much to intrigue them in the state's vast agricultural plains regions. Near Sterling, for example, is one of America's best known graveyards for prehistoric animals. And geologists say there's enough coal in Colorado to last the United States for the next 700 years."

Local radio listeners who wish to hear Wells on Sunday, April 26, may do so by dialing station WFAA at one p.m. o'clock.

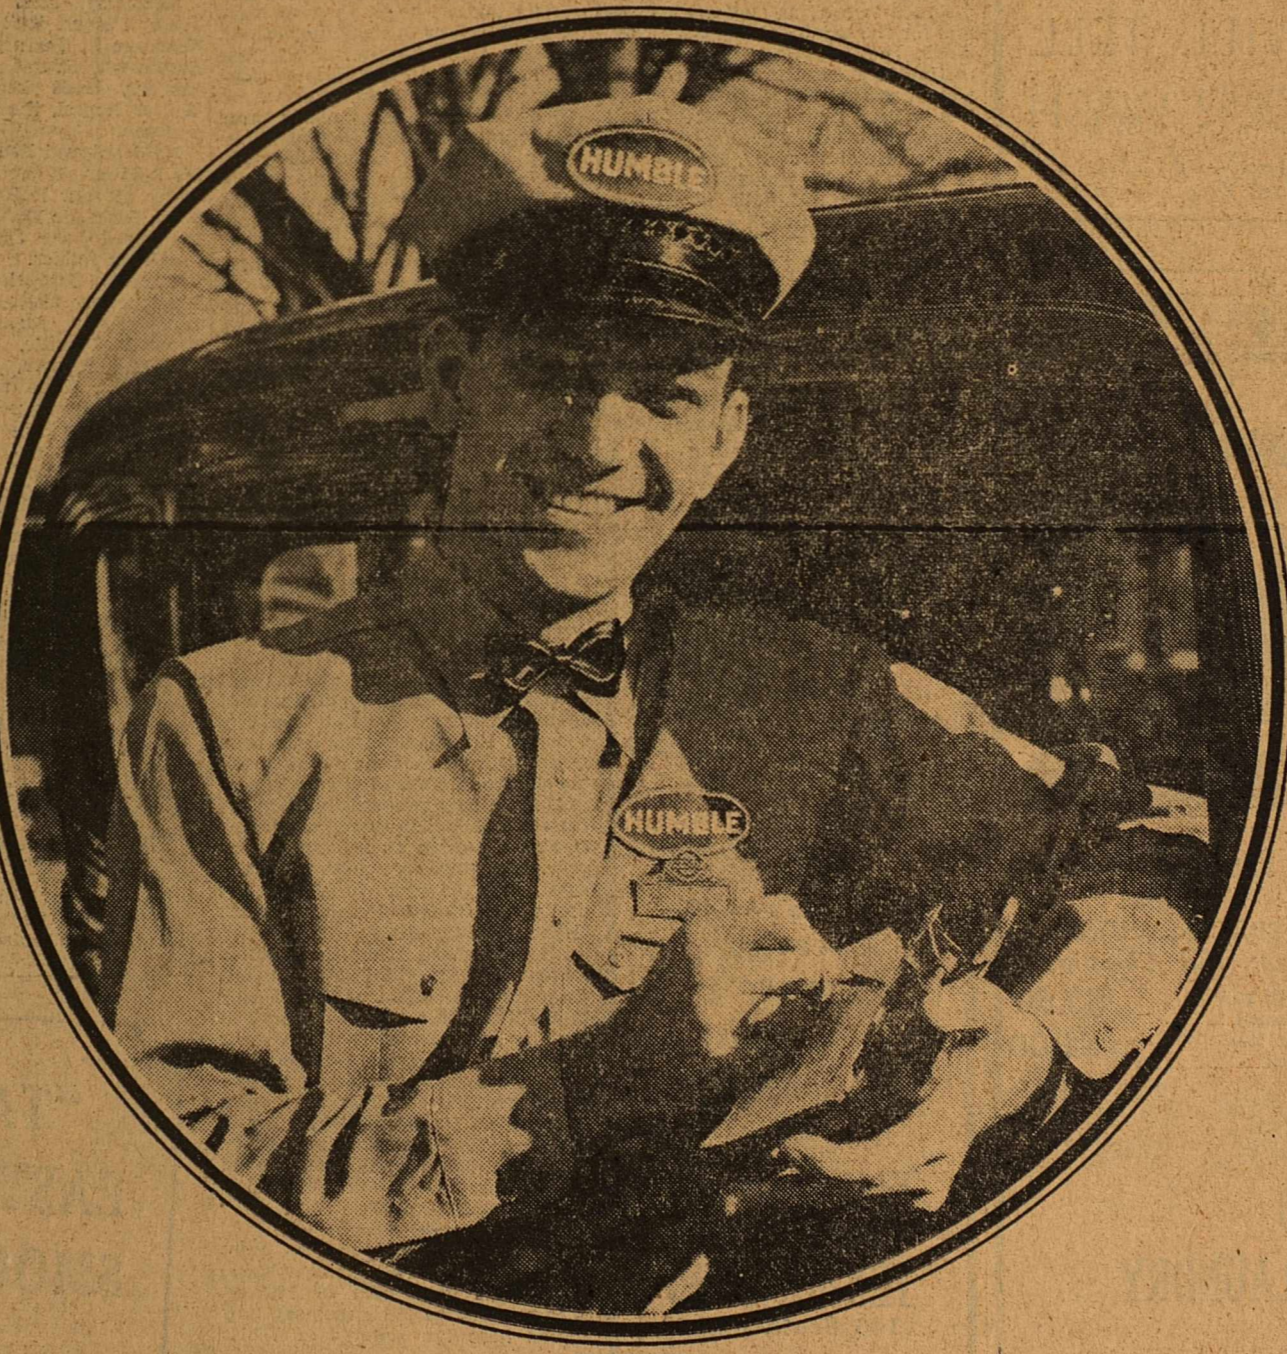

Scrap Iron Shipped From Beaumont Port

BEAUMONT, Texas (U.P.)—Shipment of scrap iron from here to foreign ports has been active for several months. E. C. Dezendorf, port director, says. Fifty men will be engaged for the balance of this month loading the steamer Margot with 7000 tons for England and the steamer Assuan with a cargo of scrap for Japan. The work is being done by hand.

Boy Hoes Up $260 in Gold

CORDELLA, Cal. (U.P.)—Neighborhood boys refused to help Billy Matthis carry out his mother-imposed task of hoeing weeds. Much chagrined, Billy tackled the job alone. He hoed up $260 in gold pieces dated 1874, 1875 and 1876.

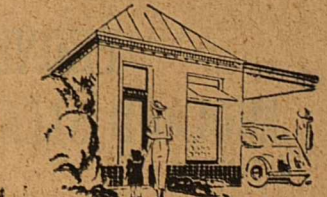

"We're mighty proud of our products—we know they're good and we're confident they'll please you"

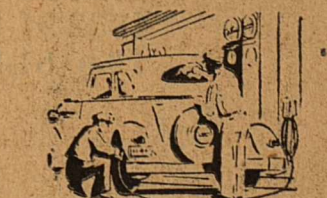

Every year, the Humble Company receives thousands of voluntary comments on Humble Service Check Cards from Texas motorists and out-of-state visitors. These cards tell their own story of courteous, helpful service, of clean stations, of spotless restrooms, of Humble Station men take a justifiable pride in these comments from their customers.

Humble Service Stations are carefully designed and landscaped to make them attractive features of the neighborhoods in which they are located. They are fully equipped for your comfort and the expert care your car requires. Humble men are proud of the Stations which they man, and this Centennial year, they're putting their best foot forward.

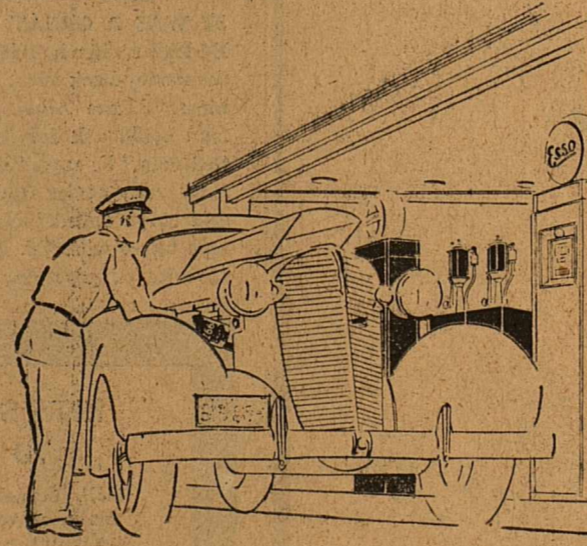

Restrooms at Humble Service Stations are as carefully kept as your bathroom at home. Many of them are tiled—all of them are spotlessly clean and sanitary. They are equipped with every modern convenience for your comfort.

In a recent study of Humble Service Check Cards mailed to the Company by Humble customers, nearly half the comments complimented Humble Service Station men on their friendly courtesy. These trained men render the kind of service which motorists find helpful.

"The Company doesn't make any exaggerated advertising claims for the products we sell—it's willing to rest its case on the performance of Humble products in your car. After all, that's the only true test of quality, and it's worth more to the average Texas motorist than any number of exaggerated advertising claims. Take Humble 937 Motor Oil for example—now there's an oil for you, as fine as you can buy! But all we say is, find out for yourself about Humble 937 by testing it in your crankcase. Or take Aerotype Esso, our premium fuel; we know it's far superior to even the best of the premium fuels of past years; still, we're willing to let you be the judge—test a tankful in your own automobile and decide for yourself... We ask you to test the performance of every Humble product—Humble Motor Fuel, Velvet Motor Oil, Humble special lubricants, and all the other Humble products you find in Humble Service Stations. The one thing we say about them is this: you'll always find them second to none—and that's a promise! Try Humble products—we're confident you'll come back for more."

CURVE AND SNAKE CASTS TAKE THE DRAG OUT OF FISHING BY DRY FLY

By JIMMY DONAHUE
NEA Service Sports Writer

With the trout season in full swing in most states, and warmer weather bringing more frequent and larger fly hatches, the dry fly addict who has stood by and watched the worms, nymphs, and wet fly flingers take fish is ready to have his inning.

There is probably no daintier art than proper fishing of the floating fly, although it is a moot question whether it is more productive than fishing the underwater wet variety. It is a fact, however, that unless a dry fly angler is good, he is seldom as successful as the fellow who uses the sunken offering.

The reason for this is that the floater, if not handled properly, sets up an artificial drag, due to varying currents of water which work on the floating line and sunken leader as the fly travels downstream.

This drag creates a ripple on the water, not present in wet fly fishing, which sly trout immediately take for something phony. Only on rare instances, when the fish are ravenous, will a trout take a fly creating a drag in low, clear water, where the dry variety is most often used—on long, still stretches.

Naturals make hardly a perceptible mark on the water as they alight, and none whatever as they ride the current downstream; yet the average dry fly man expects a trout to take his offering as it swings after the pull of his line, creating a wake that tells the trout to mind his own business.

Curve Casts the Remedy.

There are two ways of curing drag in dry fly fishing. One is to throw a curve cast, and the other is to throw a snake cast. The former throws a bend in the line upstream, giving the fast flow of water in the center a curve to work on before it straightens out the line and pulls on the fly. The lure, in the meantime, floats past its objective without drag and, if there is a trout there and he is in a taking mood,

Beauty and the Fish

A curve cast to the left is portrayed at upper right, and the snake cast, below. Properly executed, to escape drag in streams with varying currents, these casts are more likely to bring you catches such as that shown at left, hooked by the fair angler on Au Sable in Michigan, than are sloppy casts. The latter mark your dry flies as artificials.

The snake cast throws the line on the water in a series of undulations like a reptile in motion. The fast water works on these curves and straightens them out before drag is exerted on the fly.

To make the curve cast, execute a few false preliminary throws working out line until the required distance is had, and allowing some line for the bend. On the final cast, check the rod when the forward motion is about three-fourths completed, so that the large loop in the line will not have the opportunity of unrolling or straightening.

If executed correctly, the line will fall with a belly upstream, and the fly will ride naturally until this curve is straightened out by fast water.

If standing on the right bank of a stream, and a belly upstream is desired, cast with the right hand as usual, but over the left shoulder. This will give you a curve just the opposite of that resulting from the orthodox cast.

Less Care on Fast Water.

The snake cast is made by re-arranging the shooting of the line. The usual false casts are made, holding a few coils of line in the left hand. On the final cast, check the rod slightly, and shoot out the line, which will fall on the water in a series of curves. The leader usually remains straight in this cast, and the fly doesn't begin to drag until the floating line is straightened out.

Drag on fast, white-water streams isn't such an important item, as condition of the water compensates for any artificial action of the fly. Drag of pull of the line and then, too, a dry fly angler often finds his floater accidentally has become a wet fly due to pull of rapids, and—horror of horrors!—has produced fish.

If you must fish dry, and favor a stream where varied currents are present throughout your trip, put in a day or so studying these currents. Then, by curve casting over them at your objectives, you'll eliminate drag and notice a considerable increase in your catches.

by Harry GRAYSON

Max Schmeling sticking out his chin in front of Joe Louis in June reminds us that foreign heavyweights haven't done so badly on this side.

Three invaders won the title—Bob Fitzsimmons, Schmeling, and Primo Carnera.

If we never see another foreign heavyweight, Fitzsimmons' memory will be something in the way of compensation for the flops of many others. The lanky Cornishman could fight plenty. Schmeling didn't have—and hasn't—much. Size let Carnera out.

Three foreign heavyweights got their chance, and missed. They were George Carpentier, Luis Angel Firpo, and Tom Heeney.

In all, 24 nations have sent about 75 warriors to these shores. There are amusing stories in connection with the great majority of them.

Peter Jackson was one of the best. This remarkable negro was born at St. Croix, in the West Indies. He boxed Jim Corbett 61 rounds to a draw. John L. Sullivan wanted no part of him.

Charley Mitchell, a middleweight, tackled Sullivan and Corbett.

Peter Maher, the Irishman, could punch. Recall Jim Coffey, the Roscommon Giant, and New York Mick's shouting "Coffey first!" Frank Moran's Mary Ann was born the first time it connected with the motor-man's glass jaw.

Big British Beak Busters
Carry Out Fine Old Tradition

Generally speaking, Irish heavyweights have been terrific busts—Pat Redmond, Con O'Kelly, and the last importation, Jack Doyle, who so quickly was convinced that crooping was a much safer occupation than beak busting.

No big fellow from Old Albion has failed to carry out the finest old tradition of the British ring.

It really is a shame that Joey Beckett didn't come over to make it unanimous. Phil Scott all but had himself fouled into the championship.

O-line—Bombardier Billy Wells, Dan Bright, Herbert Crossley, Gypsy Daniels, Charley Smith, Jack Pettifer, and some more.

Germany sent Paul Samson, Franz Diener, Rudy Wagner, Hans Schoenrath, Ludwig Hayman, Ted Sandwina, Ernest Gahring, Hein Mueller, Hans Birkle, and blond Walter Neusel, the chemist—a dime a dozen.

Italy shipped Erminio Spalla and his brother—I can't recall his first name. Arthur DeKuh, Roberto Roberti, Riccardo Bertazzolo, Salvatore Ruggierello, and Giacomo Bergomas—cannon fodder.

Victorio Campolo, who won the All-America citting championship, came from Argentina. So did Vincent Parrille, Gorges Brescia, Miguel Ferrara, and Orlando Riverberri. None came close to duplicating Firpo's performances.

Heeney, the Hard Rock, wasn't the only catcher from the land down under. George Cook backstopped just as well, but couldn't stick in there quite as long as the last man who fought Gene Tunney, Jim Tracey wasn't as prominent but he was just as big a quince as Bill Squires.

Seconds Broke Down
Carrying Rojas Out

A Chilean heavyweight hasn't crashed the headlines since his seconds broke their backs carrying out Quinton Romero-Rojas, although Clement Savaardo hailed from the Andes.

Andres Balza and Robert Delphino didn't come close to making the money earned by their countryman, Paulino Uzcudun. Isidoro Gastanaga, like Paulino, is a Spanish Basque, but he isn't half as durable.

Francisco Cruz was supposed to have been subsidized by the gov-

MAJOR EVENT SFOR OIL EXPOSITION

Demonstration on How to Fight Oil Well Fires Will Be Feature

TULSA, April 27 (Spl.).—Many major events are planned for the Ninth International Petroleum Exposition here, May 16 to 23, according to W. B. Way, general manager.

One of the most spectacular is the oil fire fighting demonstration, May 17 and 20, by the world famous expert, M. M. Kinley. Kinley will put out a blazing oil well fire with gelatinized nitro-glycerine.

The "Old Timers" events will honor the men of the industry who have by many sacrifices helped build the 14-billion dollar petroleum industry. A medal will be awarded to the "Grand Old Man of the Industry" who must have been engaged in some phase of the oil industry for at least 50 years. Pioneers or their friends may make nominations by writing to the International Petroleum Exposition "Old Timer's committee."

A ceremony for old times is planned for the opening Sunday. An inventor's congress where ideas and devices, not yet manufactured, is being arranged by B. W. Logue, chairman. Inventors who desire free space should write Logue at the exposition.

Scientific exhibits gathered by a special committee headed by W. A. Schleiter will show how the industry has emerged from a game of chance to a highly technical business. A whole building is being devoted to these exhibits.

Safety, an important factor in business, will be demonstrated in a meet on Friday, May 22. A safety banquet will also be held.

New Type "Air Mail" Given Inauguration

A new type of "Air Mail" was inaugurated April 16 by Braniff Airways when homing pigeons were carried 500 miles from San Antonio to Oklahoma City, Okla., and the pigeons released by Oklahoma's Governor Marland with his answer to the officials of San Antonio, Texas, to attend the Texas Centennial Celebration there.

The occasion took place when Braniff Airways started its new "Centennial Flyer" service between Chicago and San Antonio, Texas. The army pigeons were borrowed from Fort Sam Houston at San Antonio and taken to San Antonio's Winburn Field, the municipal airport. They were snug in a basket and were placed aboard Braniff's bi-motored Lockheed "Electra" 10-passenger plane. Commissioner Phil

Holland had Jack Humbeck. Otto Von Porat was the Norwegian entry. Sweden nominated Harry Persson. Denmark gave us a look at Knute Hansen, and Belgium offered Pierre Charles. Vinko Jackassa came from Lithuania. El Din Delah from Egypt, and Tony Feunte from Mexico. Pietro Corri was an Austrian. Don McCorkindale a South African, and King Solomon a Panamanian.

We could stand for Jack Renault, the Northwest Mounties whose man always got him, and Larry Gains, but Elzear Riox, of Canada, simply wouldn't do.

The foreign legion. Only a small percentage of its members could fight a lick. Those who couldn't handed us many a laugh, but perhaps the laugh was on us. Few of them left with less than they had when they arrived.

Wright of San Antonio presented the pigeons to Pilot Dick Lowry and also the invitation to attend the Centennial celebration to Governor Marland from Mayor Quin of San Antonio.

The invitation carried a large colored picture of William Barrett Travis, commander of the famed "Alamo." The invitation read: "The officers and directors of the Fiesta San Jacinto Association of San Antonio, Texas, request the honor of your presence in this the Centennial Year to participate in the annual Pilgrimage to The Alamo on the occasion of the laying of flowers at the shrine of Texas Liberty, Twilight, Thursday, April twenty-third, nineteen hundred and thirty-six."

The four pigeons were released from Oklahoma's capitol building by Gov. E. W. Marland and Miss Jean Braniff, daughter of T. E. Braniff, president of Braniff Airways. With a 500-mile flight ahead of them, the pigeons circled the capitol and then set their course for San Antonio.

On their legs the pigeons carried the acceptance of Governor Marland. In the Braniff "Centennial Flyer" the army pigeons flew from San Antonio to Oklahoma City in three hours and 10 minutes. Under their own power, the pigeons flew the return trip from 9:15 o'clock on the morning of April 16 until 9 o'clock the next morning. It is said to be the first time a homing pigeon has been transported by airplane for release.

The first pigeon to negotiate the return journey, a two-year old named "Communications Chief," had the following message attached to his leg from Oklahoma's Governor Marland: "Gentlemen: I regret the pressure of business makes it impossible for me to attend your celebration. I am sending Sam Houston, III, grandson of your great president as my personal representative." The homing pigeon, "Communications Chief," had to battle bad weather during most of his 500-mile flight.

Best Chuck Wagon Cook to Be Chosen At Stamford Rodeo

STAMFORD, April 27 (Spl.).—Governor James V. Allred is offering a prize to the chuck wagon cooks at the coming reunion and rodeo at Stamford. The governor believes that the old wagon cooks have been neglected, and that their part in the big show at Stamford is very important since they prepare the food for the thousands who attend the Texas Cowboy Reunion at Stamford each year. The governor's prize is for the best batch of sour dough biscuits cooked at Stamford at any chuck wagon on July 4th.

All cooks who bring their chuck wagons to Stamford are eligible. There is no entrance fee of any kind. The prize is a fine Stetson and to be awarded to the winner on July 4th. Judges for the contest have been appointed by Governor Allred. The judges are: John Turbeville, Archer City, Frank Rhoades, Throckmorton, and F. G. Alexander, Haskell. All three are old time cow men who were riding the range back in the 30's.

Three thousand mules were killed on White Pass Trail, Alaska, during the gold rush of 1897-98. A monument to their memory now stands near the summit of White Pass.

Large Ford Fleet Starts Year's Work

Sailing of the ore carrier, Henry Ford II, for Escanaba, Mich., marked the opening of the inter-lake navigation season for the Ford Motor Company's lake fleet which is scheduled this year to carry the heaviest tonnage of iron ore in the fleet's history.

The Henry Ford II, and the Benson Ford, the two ore carriers, are scheduled to transport 865,000 tons of iron ore to the Rouge plant this season. This tonnage compares with 560,000 tons last year, and 655,000 tons in 1935, the peak year up to the present.

Increased blast furnace and steel finishing mill capacity as a result of the company's $37,000,000 expansion and modernization program account for the increase in scheduled tonnage.

The two largest motor vessels on the Great Lakes, the ore carriers will also transport 200,000 tons of limestone to the Rouge during the season. This tonnage combined with the iron ore will require about 97 trips by the two boats during the season.

Besides the ore carriers, the Ford fleet in service this year will include 11 barges, three tugs, two canal boats and six ocean going vessels. Many of these are already in service.

Schedules for the tugs and barges for the season call for the transportation of one and one half million tons of coal from Lake Erie ports; 300,000 tons of sand from Saginaw Bay, and 25,000,000 feet of lumber from L'Anse and Pequaming to the Rouge. The barges also will transport automobile parts to Buffalo and Chicago for branch assembly plants.

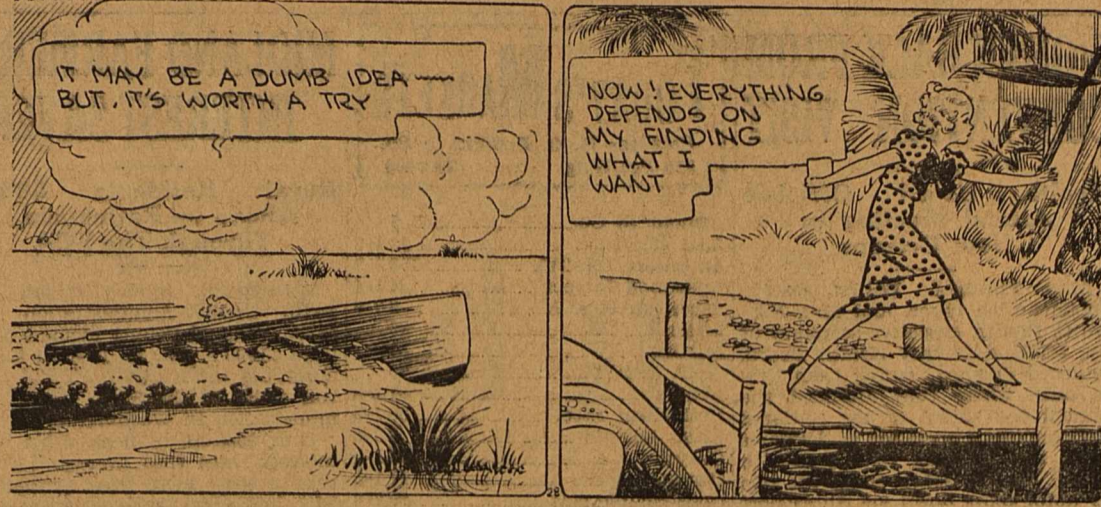

The ocean-going vessels of the Ford fleet include the 10,000-ton capacity East Indian, which is now enroute from Chester, Penna., to Buenos Aires. This vessel sails between these two ports, carrying parts for the motor company's branches at Buenos Aires and Sao Paulo. Two other vessels operate between Norfolk, Va., and Jacksonville, Fla., and three between Chester, Penna., and California ports carrying parts for west coast branches.

The canal boats in the fleet ply between the Rouge and Chester, Penna., and Edgewater, N. J., passing through the Oswego and Erie canals. Their cargoes consist of motors and parts for the eastern and overseas branches.

Canada has an area 81,534 square miles larger than that of the United States, yet its population is no more than that in New York City and the latter's 50-mile commuting territory.

NITRO SHOT WILL BE GIVEN TODAY TO ECTOR WELL

Devonian 1 Blakeney Stops Drilling At 4,240

By FRANK GARDNER

Nitro charge was scheduled to be set off today in Devonian Oil Company No. 1 B. H. Blakeney, prospective northwest extension to the North Cowden pool in Ector County. The well is estimated at about 50 to 75 barrels daily natural and should be increased by shooting.

STANOLIND EXTENSION DRILLING PLUG

Stanolind No. 1-B E. F. Cowden, semi-wildcat extension test a mile and a quarter northwest of the Foster pool in Ector, is drilling plug at 3,905 from the oil string of casing set and cemented at total depth of 3,920. Cable tools were installed at the rig while operators were waiting for the cement to set around casing. Located 660 feet out of the northeast corner of section 14, block 43, township 2 south, T. & P. survey, the No. 1-B E. F. Cowden is credited with topping line at 3,905.

of Landreth No. 1 Scharbauer, a gasser, has topped line at 3,845, according to driller's log. The fact that the test appears to have missed the heavy gas above the lime encountered in other tests in the area is believed to better its chances for production. It is located 2,200 feet from the south and 440 feet from the east line of section 33, block 45, township 1 north, T. & P. survey.

HUMBLE SPINKS WELL IS MAKING 9 BBLs. HOURLY

At last reports, Humble No. 1 Jessie M. Spinks, mile and a half northwest extension to the Means pool in northern Andrews County, was making 9 barrels of oil per hour on gas lift. After shooting with nitro from 4,400 to 4,550, the total depth, the well flowed 197 barrels on the 24-hour gauge, but made only 46 barrels the last 11 hours of the test. It was acidized with 4,000 gallons. It is 660 feet from the south and 1,997 feet from the east line of section 13, block A-20, public school land.

Farther north, Landreth No. 1 Kirk, the sole active Gaines wildcat, is drilling salt and anhydrite below 2,975. Top of anhydrite in the test was called at 1,950. It is located in the southwest corner of section 22, block A-21, public school land, about midway between the Means pool and the Walsh and Adams No. 1 Averitt, three miles northwest of Seminole, which was completed as a gasser.

BIG LEA SAND WELL TO DRILL PLUG

Plug will be drilled tomorrow from 7-inch casing set at 3,060 and cemented with 300 sacks in Culbertson, Irwin and Stovall No. 1 J. A. Stuart, huge sand discovery four miles east of the Jal-Cooper pool, Lea County, Southeastern New Mexico. Operators have arranged for Shell pipe line connection, and potential test will probably start Thursday morning. The original string of drilling tools, lost nearly a month ago when blown up by the hole by gas from total depth at 3,294, has been left on bottom since it is not thought to be obstructing flow of oil. The well made 250 barrels in less than an hour on the only test made after it suddenly blew in while crew was fishing for tools. Pay was topped at 3,280 in a thick sand section entered at 3,255. The discovery producer is located in the center of the southwest of the southeast of section 10-25S-37E.

TUBB TEST REPORTS GAS SHOWING

A show of gas was reported from 2,875 to 2,885 in Humble No. 2 Tubb, western Crane County test about a quarter of a mile west of Humble No. 1 Tubb, deep Permian pay strike in the area. The No. 2 test is now drilling ahead in lime below 2,927 feet. It is in section 11, block B-27, public school land.

Neville G. Penrose, well-known independent oil operator of Fort Worth, accompanied by Mrs. Penrose, left at noon today for home. He is drilling some wells in Lea County, New Mexico.

WOMEN BACK FROM CONVENTION VISIT

Health Board Officials Attend Meeting In New Orleans

Miss Elizabeth Wilson, county public health nurse, and Mrs. Nettie C. Romer, executive secretary of the Midland County Health Board, returned Sunday evening from New Orleans, where they attended the annual convention of the National Tuberculosis Association as delegates from the Midland County Health Board. The delegates made the trip by auto, going down via Shreveport and Baton Rouge, where Mrs. Romer was guest at the governor's mansion. Governor and Mrs. James A. Nee of Louisiana are old friends of Mrs. Romer, who formerly lived in Baton Rouge.

On Thursday, second day of the convention, 899 people had registered, and it was expected that over a thousand would have registered by the end of the week, according to Miss Wilson. Thirty-five delegates from various tuberculosis associations in Texas had registered by Friday, and others were expected. Doctors and prominent laymen from about fourteen different states appeared on the program. Dorothy Dix, famous newspaper columnist, was one of the speakers.

Mrs. Romer, who attended the all-day session for secretaries, said that the seal sale work of the Midland board has been carried on exactly according to the methods outlined. However, general new ideas were advanced as to details of the work which will cut mailing costs, and raise the netted sales.

MIDLAND FARMERS INTEREST SAVERS

Rural Residents $8600 Ahead by Refinancing Through The FCA

Refinancing debts through the Farm Credit Administration has saved Midland County farmers more than $8,600 a year on interest alone, according to figures from the central office of the Farm Credit Administration in Washington.

Over $368,000 of farm debts with interest rates that average 7.0 per cent a year have been refinanced with long-term mortgage loans carrying interest rates of 5 per cent a year or less.

The figures show that the local National Farm Loan Association has been a big factor in making these long-term mortgages available at low interest rates. The association guarantees loans to the Federal land bank.

From May 1933, when the Farm Credit Administration was organized, to the end of last year, 80 Midland County farmers obtained $351,000 for the specific purpose of refinancing old debts.

The Federal Land Bank made 37 first mortgage loans and the Land Bank Commissioner 75 loans. Many of the Commissioner's loans were made on second mortgage security to farmers who also obtained first mortgage loans. Most land bank loans are endorsed by associations and advanced from funds obtained by selling farm loan bonds. The Commissioner lends from funds provided by the Federal Government.

As in the past, the Federal land banks are making loans only on first mortgage security, lending up to about one-half of the appraised normal value of the farm property. The Commissioner lends on second as well as first mortgage security in amounts up to 75 per cent of the value. The largest amount of a Commissioner loan to one farmer is $7,500.

"These vegetables will keep fresh in my Electric Refrigerator"

PENNYWISE SAYS: Many thrifty housewives have learned to make quantity purchases of perishable foods on days when prices are low, and keep them safely in their electric refrigerators until they are consumed. Often they can save more each month than the cost of operating their refrigerator. Prices of electric refrigerators are still low, and the new models cost less to operate than ever before—only a few cents a day on your low electric rate.
