

Substitute for Guffey Act Drafted Today, Will Start Congress Action This Week

Knox Keeps in Trim During Race

In favor of Col. Frank Knox, aspirant for the Republican presidential nomination, it now can be said authoritatively that he can flash his famous grin even while being thoroughly trimmed. Proof is this intimate scene of a Portland, Ore., barber tidying up the locks of the Chicago publisher, during the colonel's visit to the west coast.

PRICE FIXING IS MAIN FEATURE OF LATEST MEASURE

Would Eliminate All Provisions Not Legal
GUFFEY LEADER
Author of Last Act Takes Charge of New Bill

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—After hours of secret conferences a substitute for the invalidated coal act was drafted today for an immediate introduction into congress. Price fixing constituted the heart of the new measure. It is in the hands of Senator Guffey, author of the original bill. The measure seeks to regulate the soft coal industry through the constitution's commercial clause eliminating labor provisions which the supreme court invalidated. It was not revealed whether or not the president will support the measure. New plans call for repeal of the entire original bill. Predictions of congressional adjournment ranging from the June 6 date set by the leaders to as late as July 4 were sounded in the wake of the Supreme Court's invalidation of the Guffey Coal Control Act. Senator Lewis of Illinois, the Democratic whip, made the flat forecast that Congress would still be in session on June 15 and possibly on July 4. Pointing to the court's Guffey decision, Lewis said: "The adverse action of the courts make it imperative that this Congress stay on the job until it has given the country an outline of future legislation for the under-privileged."

Kinder 'Crash' That Nazi Line

Even the traditional sternness and discipline of Nazi military, it seems, can melt before the bright smiles of children. Rushing in where their elders feared to tread, these tow-headed German youngsters are pictured getting a close-up of a Berlin street celebration from between the knees of stalwart guards. The latter, with arms locked to hold back the curious crowds, apparently are pretending they don't know what's going on below.

TOWNSEND TELLS COMMITTEE HIS GROUP HAS COLLECTED A MILLION

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—Dr. F. E. Townsend told the house investigating committee today "in the neighborhood of $1,000,000" had been collected by the Townsend pension organization. The testimony disclosed that Frank Peterson, asserted Townsend press agent, proposed in January last year "a million old folks will come to Washington to see the President, congressmen and senators. Peterson said in his letter 'congress will capitulate overnight.' The letter added 'I expect to have Dr. Townsend and Father Coughlin get together in a short time.' Townsend said he knew nothing of the plans for a Coughlin meeting. He said contributors got "our organization, which is what they paid for."

ABSTON DENIES SLAYING OF AGED HASKELL WOMAN Says Confession to Crime "Forced" From Him

HASKELL, May 20. (AP)—Testimony that he was threatened with death by officers if he did not "confess" was given Tuesday by Clarence (Puny) Abston on trial in 39th district court here for the murder of Miss Rebecca Coursey. Six witnesses were called to the stand with Texas Ranger B. M. Gault offering rebuttal for the state against Abston's testimony. Abston said Sheriff Giles Kemp of Haskell county and "that slim ranger" took him on a long auto ride several days after his arrest and questioned him in connection with the fatal attack. He said, he passed a lake and was told if he "could swim across it without being shot by them they would let me go." After this, Abston said, the ranger put a rag around his face and held him until he lost consciousness. When he revived, he said, he told them he would "confess" if they would not kill him. Gault told the court he had not threatened Abston in any way. "I told him," the ranger said, "that he should be killed for the crime he had committed."

COOPERATION OF PUBLIC IS ASKED BY THE OFFICIALS

Tickets Will Be Sold After 8 o'Clock Each Day
NO RESERVES
Grounds Will Be Open To Customers After Entering Track
Admission price of only 40 cents to the Midland Downs races was announced by officials today, the lowest ever charged for entertainment of this character in this section of the state. Gate keepers, at the same time, announced stringent regulations and asked the public to cooperate to the fullest extent to prevent congestion loss of revenue to the meet or misunderstandings of any sort. Men will be on the gates at 8 a. m. each day, remaining until the close of the afternoon's program. Anyone passing into the grounds after 8 o'clock must be able to show proper credentials or purchase a ticket. Tickets will be good for the entire day. All employes, horse men, concessionaires, business men having deliveries or business inside the grounds were advised to secure credentials without delay, from officials of Midland Fair Inc. "If they fail to comply, they will be on the outside looking in," the head gate keepers said determinedly this afternoon. They pointed out that during last fall's meet there was much misunderstanding as to means and time of entry causing loss of revenue. This must be eliminated this time. The admission price has been drastically reduced and the public has been asked to cooperate fully. No reserved seat charge will be made the 40 cents admitting each person to any part of the grounds, grand-stand or paddock, except in box seats which must be bought for the period of the meet. J. E. Hill and Marlon Flynn, gate keepers, issued the following instructions to the public: (1) Horsemen, stable attendants, feed dealers and all having business at the horse barns, use the north gate. Officials will be on the gate to pass on credentials of all desiring to pass through. (2) Concessionaires, Downs Officials and those having deliveries or business with concessionaires, go to the south gate. Credentials also will be checked there before admission may be gained. (3) No cars will be admitted at the center gate, or main entrance that being used strictly for the general public, passing through on foot.

BEHIND THE SCENES

—IN— WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The Passamaquoddy fiasco has gone beyond the screw stage and into the grotesque. Gov. Louis J. Brann of Maine has been in Washington lately and says he will stay around until he is promised that work on that great visionary tide-harnessing power project will be resumed. The terms on which it would proceed, it is said, would mean a New Deal flip-flop and salam to the "power trust."

New York's Newest Mystery Slaying Brings Cops Into Amazing Underground Labyrinth of Crimes

NEW YORK—Murder in the subway turns the glare of public interest on a crime incubator that thrives beneath the city sidewalks while millions hurtle through the tunnels at a mile-a-minute clip and from their homes. Until the death of Edgar L. Eckert, wealthy clothing merchant, who was strangled and strangled in a washroom of the subway station at 42nd street and Eighth avenue, the underworld was considered just a figurative term. But now New Yorkers recount a thousand and one incidents to conjure a real underworld that plies its grim traffic in the transit tunnels.

Milling, pushing throngs... a handful of the one and two-thirds billions of passengers carried in a year by New York's subways.

There are three subway systems in New York, whose underground tracks run far below the city's basement. They are the Interboro Rapid Transit company (IRT), Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit (BMT), and the newer, cleaner, wider city-owned Independent. Together they carried in 1935 1,624,998,027 subway riders.

Let's get the set-up of a station before we begin our subterranean tour. Small booths at the station entrances provide change, as only nickels are accepted in the slots which release the turnstiles for a passenger's entrance. In a few remote stations iron gates creek open when a nickel is inserted.

Neighbors ignored by subway riders. In fact, once you've entered a subway train, you become part of a new race, unlike the one you conduct in the theater in the stores and office. Impersonally these burrowing commuters stare at their fellow-passengers and eavesdrop when voices are raised.

derground passages, they ride in a perambulatory bed that costs a nickel. A late train will always contain a girl in a cheap little pink chiffon dress, a glittering bag in her hand and a faded flower on her coat, sleeping against the shoulder of the boy who has taken her to the movies of the dance.

BEGGARS' PARADISE AND CRIME CRADLE There are blind men and women who parade in the cars, singing or offering wares for sale. There are boys who peddle gardenias and some who sell magazines. But it's a rough and raucous life in a breeding place for crime.

Neighbors ignored by subway riders. In fact, once you've entered a subway train, you become part of a new race, unlike the one you conduct in the theater in the stores and office. Impersonally these burrowing commuters stare at their fellow-passengers and eavesdrop when voices are raised.

The Town Quack

Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.

Have you ever seen a boom mining town or oil town, where the people come in so fast they have to sleep under their cars, trucks and trailers, or otherwise scattered about the camps? Well, if you haven't and are interested, just drive down to the east side of the Midland Fair plant and see the 200 or 300 people who are living with their race horses.

What looks good to me is the admission price reduction out at the Downs. All you have to pay is 40 cents at the gate—no reserved seat charges etc. Pay 40 cents and you can roam all over the place. If it costs you any more it's because you just couldn't pick 'em.

Meteorite Placed in Univ. Exhibition

AUSTIN.—The meteorite which startled the Hugo Schlosser family near Norhelm a few years ago as it crashed onto their farm, will be displayed at the University Centennial Exposition at Austin this summer. The fall was a rare matter for scientific investigation, and ultimately the mass of nickel and iron which survived the tremendous heat of the meteorite's plunge through the

FEMININE FANCIES

Make-up experts declare that it would require nine of Hollywood's most attractive film actresses to make one perfect face. Of course, it is perfectly easy to regard it in that way, but it is a comfort to know that when we have none of the beauty we so heartily desire, at least no other woman has a one hundred per cent supply of it.

Here is the way these experts would make up the perfect face according to the Associated Press story:

"The mouth of Dolores Del Rio, the teeth of Anita Louise, the chin of Binnie Barnes, the cheeks of Bette Davis, the forehead of Carole Lombard, the nose of Tala Birell, the neck of Helen Gahagan, the eyes of Frances Drake and the hair of Evelyn Venable."

After reading such an item, we feel inclined to go out and play up our best feature (if any) and forget about the others.

Since we're using the scissors to help us write this column anyway, we're going to add the recipe for a Mexican stew made with prickly pear (without we hasten to add, any prickles).

A Ballinger woman makes the dish in this way, according to the Odesa News-Times:

Use the tender young leaves (not pears). Hold with a fork and pare off the outside layer with a deep as necessary to remove the thorns, then scrape with the knife until all thorns are removed. Parboil with plenty of soda in plenty of water. When leaves are cooked tender, rinse in clear water and cut in strips cutting across the leaf.

Season with sliced onions, and fry quickly in hot grease. Drop in eggs and stir until eggs are scrambled.

After the leaves are parboiled and sliced, there are a number of other ways of preparing them. One of which is to cook with chili pepper, onions, tomatoes, and ground meat. Prickly pears may be very delicious. All the same, we're glad that our sense of Centennial patriotism does not go to the length of requiring that we eat them. As a typical Western plant, we like to see the spiny-leaved things dotting the pastures, but as a constituent of the menu, we turn a cold eye upon them.

Another hint for the hostess who desires something new and different for her refreshments is to use spiced iced tea. This is made by putting four or five whole cloves into the pot while making the tea and serve as usual.

earth's atmosphere became the property of The University of Texas.

The meteorite, about large enough to fill the two hands of an average Texas housewife, weighs 34 pounds. It is the second largest of 10 which will be exhibited at the University this summer, six of which fell in Texas. The largest in the collection was found in 1856 by a Major Neighbors, then United States Indian agent, on a reservation near the Brazos river. He brought it to Austin, where it stood many years in the state capitol. Later it was presented to the university. It now weighs about 250 pounds.

Pup Mystifies Town
CONNEAUT, O. (U.P.)—A pup that became stranded on a narrow stone ledge half way up the side of the city building furnished Conneaut residents with an amusing mystery that might never be solved. The pup was rescued by an ex-sailor, but how it reached the dangerous ledge no one has learned.

WHY IS IT KELLOGG'S TASTE BETTER THAN ANY OTHER CORN FLAKES?

ONE reason is that they're fresh—as fresh and crisp as the day they came from the toasting ovens.

Kellogg's know how to make corn flakes with a more delicious flavor. And when the golden flakes are crisply toasted, they're heat-sealed in a patented WAX-TITE bag inside the package.

At your grocer's. Big value. Ready to eat, with milk or cream. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek and never sold under any other name.

Many Uses Are Found For Native Tex. Trees

M'ALLEN, Texas (U.P.)—Native trees in the Lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas are useful for everything from shade to medicinal purposes, the Rev. L. P. Chateau of Mission, who has studied valley flora for 36 years, told a gathering at the Southwest Texas natural resources exhibit here.

He declared the royal palm was the ideal shade tree of the valley, the conito, or purple sage, could be made into a tea for persons with weak stomachs, that pulp of the huisache tree is effective when applied to burises, and that Mexicans make soap from the pabonille, or soapberry, tree along the border. The Mexican rubber plant, he added, is used for curing pyorrhea.

"It's good news, Mrs. Sweeney"

"Twins, did y' say?" says Mrs. Sweeney. "Sure now, and what do y' know about that!"

It's easy to see that Mrs. Sweeney is a busy woman. Probably that's why she expects so much of her telephone: The latest news of her nieces and nephews, for example. Calls that are both fast and clear. And, once a month, a telephone bill that she expects to be reasonable.

The job of the men and women who work for this company is to give Mrs. Sweeney the sort of telephone service she expects.

This means much more than just operating switchboards, or keeping lines in repair. It means getting ready—sometimes far ahead—to meet problems as they come up. It means doing the daily job a little better all the time.

A fortunate thing it has been for Mrs. Sweeney that these men and women who manufacture her telephone calls have behind them the advice and help of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. staff—the scientific research of Bell Laboratories—the skillful buying and manufacturing of Western Electric.

Mrs. Sweeney may seldom give these organizations a thought. Yet—

"Twins, did y' say?" she beams into her telephone.

And with every call she makes, she benefits from the work they have done. For not only have they helped make her calls faster, clearer and better. In the face of the growing complexity of the telephone system, they have helped this company hold the cost down to a price she is willing and able to pay.

CHICAGO (U.P.)—America's Olympic boxing squad, selected in the national tournament of champions a fortnight ago, singles out its best eight men tomorrow night (May 20) as the U. S. representatives in the Berlin games.

Sixteen courageous youngsters meet in the Chicago stadium ring in the final round of the Olympic trials which opened with a brilliant field of 90 national A. A. U. intercollegiate and golden gloves champions.

Although every member of the squad will go to Berlin, the honor of actual combat with international foes is at stake tomorrow. The eight losers will be retained only as alternates.

Since May 8, when the squad was picked in the preliminary tryouts, the 16 fighters have quartered and trained together. Rivalry between them has reached the explosive stage.

Squad Rated Highly
Regardless of which fighters make the actual team from the flyweights to the heavies, the squad is fortified with speed, endurance, boxing ability and punching power.

Jimmy Urso, Detroit dynamo, faces Lou Laurie, Cleveland, in the first bout. They are flyweights.

Jackie Wilson, Cleveland, and Johnny Brown, of Chicago, clash in the 118 pound finals. Wilson, a long-reaching, six-foot negro, competed in the national A. A. U. tournament as a flyweight and won the title.

In the tryouts, he defeated Bill Joyce, Gary, Ind., 118 pound A. A. U. king.

out another national A. A. U. champion, Joey Church, to face a mid-Western star. He meets Ted Kara, Cleveland Golden Gloves champion, who won his way into the finals with a three-round decision over Lou Gevinson, Washington, D. C.

Andy Scrivani, Chicago veteran, draws Tommy Tedesco, Buffalo, N. Y., in the lightweight finals and Chester Rutecki, Chicago, will meet Howell King, Detroit negro, in the 147 pound division. King's greatest piece of work in the early trials was to eliminate his hard-hitting teammate, Johnny Barbara.

Clark Carries Dynamite
The fiercest sock of them all is concentrated in Jimmy Clark, Jamestown, N. Y., 160 pounder. Clark, the national A. A. U. champion, was sorely pressed to win his semi-final match from another knockout specialist, Frank Nelson, of Davenport, Ia., but he remains a wide choice over Ord Fink, Syracuse.

William Townsend, sole representative of the U. S. army to get by the first round, meets Carl Vincequerra, Omaha, for the light heavyweight crown. Townsend is willing and sidestep Johnny Lasinski, Brooklyn, the national A. A. U. champion, but Vincequerra's pressing style makes him a favorite.

Neither heavyweight Art Oliver, Chicago, nor Willis Johnson, Detroit, had much trouble moving into the finals. Their exact ring efficiency is difficult to determine, but Oliver is the choice.

Loss of Hair Attributed To Bootleg Liquor In U.S.

CHICAGO (U.P.)—"Alcoholic baldness" is becoming alarmingly prevalent in the United States, a "hang over" from prohibition days, according to Paul A. Thomas, hair and scalp specialist.

"The majority of cases," Thomas says, "are just beginning to show up, since it takes seven or eight years to reach the baldness stage. During prohibition constant drinking of bootleg gin and compounded liquor containing raw or impure alcohol frequently caused a scalp condition known as 'hooch hair'."

"The shattered nervous system and over-stimulated blood circulation dissipated and weakened the scalp, stopped its normal function and caused it to develop irritations. The hair became dry and brittle. Baldness now is the result in most of these cases. Scalp specialists report that this type is becoming more and more common and that the response to treatment is slower than for many other scalp ailments."

Town Sets 8:30 Curfew

McALLEN, Tex. (U.P.)—Curfew really rings every night in McAllen since the youngsters have been warned off the streets. An officer rings an old fire bell mounted atop the city hall at 8:30 p. m. every evening, reminding all under 15 that the proper place for them is at home.

Burglars Smash Cakes

CLEVELAND (U.P.)—Burglars who broke into a bakery but failed to open the safe vented their spite on choice pastries. They smashed two big wedding cakes that were to be delivered the next day.

by HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK—Getting runs across the plate is the main idea in baseball, and the ever-alert St. Louis Cardinals are seeing to it that the pressure is on in that all-important department of play.

If a Redbird goes to bat with less than two out and a runner on third base and fails to bat in a run he is automatically fined $5.

If first and third are occupied with one out and the batter hits into a double play the man who hits the ball has to pay $10.

If runners are on first and third with less than two out and the batter hits into a double play on the clinch the man on third scores, the batter escapes being fined.

"Many players may not consider these rules good for a team, but I do," says Frankie Frisch. "The runner is on third base, and he's there to be driven home. All my players are in favor of the rules."

The Cardinals have done everything else in order to win games this year. This is why they have topped five National League pennants and three world championships in 10 years. Now their firing themselves for failure to deliver in the clinches. This is helping to keep them in front of the senior loop pack at this time.

Assessments go into a penalty pool, which is to be divided equally among the athletes at the conclusion of the campaign.

The Detroit club operates along the same general lines. Makes 'em throw you out. Get those runs over the plate. This in a large measure accounts for the Battling Bengals, as Mickey Cochrane calls them, dominating the American League scene for the past two campaigns.

An opposing infielder cannot afford to juggle the ball or hesitate when deployed against the Cardinals or Tigers. An enemy fly-chaser cannot be thinking of anything else when in the field, for Cards and Tigers require no second invitation to take an extra base.

This also accounts for their being such tremendous attractions. It makes them the most pleasing clubs in the game to watch.

The New Feather Champ

PETEY SARRON, who dethroned Freddie Miller as feather-weight champion in Washington, not only is the first Birmingham boxer to ascend a world throne, but the first Syrian to achieve the honor.

Sarron started as an amateur in the Boys' Club of Birmingham more than a dozen years ago. He is small for a feather, standing only 5 feet 3. He has dark eyes and straight black hair, like most members of his race.

The Syrian reaches his pugilistic peak at an age when nearly all fighters are on the skids. He has had his full share of tough breaks. He must have been tempted to give up at times, something he could well afford to do, since he has saved his money.

Sarron came very near achieving a world title a year or two after he started. He went to the final of the Olympic trials in 1924, losing to Fidel LaBarba in a match so close that the judges called for an extra round. The Syrian went abroad with the Olympic team, but did not get to compete. The title went to LaBarba.

The ex-newsboy's fists are broken, bent and twisted. He is a hard hitter with an awkward style—one who hurls leather from all angles.

Sarron made the grade the hard way—from fly to feather. He required four meetings to catch up with Miller.

Those Qualifying Trials

Missing from the list of starters who hope to be among the leading 60 after 36 holes of the United States Open over the Baltusrol Club course on June 6 will be several players whose names are familiar wherever golf is played in this country.

There are one former Open champion and two former Amateur champions who have been prominent tournament figures for years among those who failed to qualify.

With Willie MacFarlane, who beat Bobby Jones in a playoff for the Open in 1925, among the non-combatants will be George Von Elm, who tied Billy Burke and lost the Open championship in a playoff in 1931; Lawson Little, who won both the British and American Amateurs on successive years; Leo Diegel, Joe Kirkwood, Jimmy Hines, Bill Mehrborn and Abe Espinosa.

These failures to qualify again has stirred the agitation for exempting more of the leading players from the qualifying rounds. This has been an annual complaint since 1924 the first year of sectional qualifying trials.

But the United States Golf Association isn't now and probably never will be ready to exempt a long list of stars at the expense of other players just to increase the size of the gallery and revenue.

Meteorological Station Is Reduced to Hand Size

LEIPZIG (U.P.)—A simple apparatus has been devised for recording atmospheric conditions which will enable almost anyone to become weather wise.

In foretelling the weather most people depend upon a thermometer and a barometer. The new device consists of four different recording instruments, a thermometer, barometer, hygrometer and compass assembled in a container. It is possible to observe the moisture, the direction of the wind, the temperature and atmospheric pressure.

The compact little meteorological station, which has been demonstrated at the Leipzig fair, gives important measurements of atmospheric conditions at a glance.

Artists Praise New York For Its Scenic Variety

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Five young artists, well versed in both European or Oriental artistic affairs, have gone on record as claiming that New York provides more exciting art than Old World metropolises.

Current canvases of the group show such subjects as New York street scenes, the waterfront, theaters and types of New Yorkers—the latter providing a range of material international in scope.

The artists are Horace Day, New York teacher; Harriette de Sanchez; Felicia Meyer, wife of Reginald Marsh, well known American artist; Lewis Kimball, and James J. Montague, widely known newspaperman. All under 33, they offer a youthful point of view appropriate to New World art.

France and Mexico now have professional women jockeys.

Lifeguards in Gay Colors

ATLANTIC CITY N. J. (U.P.)—Atlantic City's famous Beach Patrol will appear in new red, blue and white uniforms for the vacation season. The lifeguards will wear red jerseys and dark blue trunks with white belts encircling their waists. White pith helmets will top off the new outfits.

All fathers and mothers want their children to succeed and as long as they can, mothers and fathers the country over sacrifice and plan to give their boys and girls every advantage, every opportunity, for they want them to have a start which they too often were denied.

"We want to send Jim to college if we can afford it," they say. "We plan to give Mary special training in music if we have the money when she has finished high school."

But why should an IF threaten these dreams? A PRAETORIAN EDUCATIONAL POLICY can erase that IF and permit mothers and fathers to say positively: "MY CHILDREN ARE GOING TO COLLEGE." The Praetorians' plans offer a systematic way of saving. A little put away each month makes the education SURE. Investigate the Praetorians' Educational policies for children.

ANGELOANS FACE LIQUOR CHARGES

Raid By Officers Nets Two Suspects And Intoxicants

SAN ANGELO, May 20—Mrs. Bessie Teal and Innocente Caballero both charged here on several occasions previously were under liquor possession charges last night following midnight raids on their places Monday night. At Mrs. Teal's cafe and store, 515 N. Chadbourne, the raiding officers seized 30 half-pints and five pints of stamped whiskey. Mrs. Teal was charged with possession of whiskey on premises covered by a beer license and with possession of liquor containing more than 14 per cent alcohol by volume. Caballero, who has a long record with police and county officers, was arrested at his place, 327 West Eighth Street where officers found four half-gallons of corn whiskey and five gallons of alcohol. Caballero was charged with possession of liquor for the purpose of sale in a dry area and with possession of unstamped liquor. The charges were filed in the county court, where all liquor law cases are disposed of under the new regulations. The bonds of each defendant, neither of whom had been re-arrested last night, were to be $500 each. Leading the raid on Mrs. Teal's place, which was first, were Chief of Police, W. B. Wilson, a number of policemen, and Chief Deputy Sheriff Hawley Allen. The deputy sheriff did not go on the second expedition into North Angelo. Inspectors M. E. Carter, E. W. Fowler, and E. B. Hrent represented the Texas Liquor Control Board. They turned the seized liquor over to the sheriff's department as evidence.

Lumber Industry In U. S. Showing Gains

Based upon a detailed economic analysis, the special lumber survey committee in its report to the department of commerce states that prospects indicate a continued gain in lumber consumption. However—no extraordinary rise in demand over usual seasonal increases is forecast and the survey committee recommend that any substantial addition to lumber production should follow actual demonstrated increases in demand rather than any anticipated gain. The forest products division of the department of commerce in reviewing the committee's report points out that the "ills" of the lumber industry for several years have been due a large extent to a lack of balance between production and demand. In fact, it has only been since August, 1935, that the special lumber survey committee, during its four years of existence, has not recommended further general reductions in lumber stocks. It is, therefore, of utmost importance to the welfare of the industry that an additional rate of manufacture be restrained until a substantial increase in demand actually manifests itself. Notwithstanding the committee's "warning" to the industry to guard against over-enthusiasm, the findings of the committee were on the whole optimistic. Continued improvement in residential building is reported, with indications that home construction this year will approach if not equal 1931. There has recently been a substantial movement of lumber to replace stocks throughout the East which were either lost in the floods or utilized for repair and reconstruction purposes. The committee believes the railroad purchasing outlook continues comparatively favorable. Recent railroad orders for box and refrigerator cars are significant because of their large use of lumber, not to mention the railroads' important consumption for general maintenance purposes. The forest products divisions also finds considerable satisfaction in the fact that the committee reports a comparative evenness in lumber prices during the past 20 months, with a slight upward trend since December. It is believed that reasonable price stability with increasing volume will in the long run be of greater benefit to the industry than successive price increases with wide fluctuations in consumption and loss of markets.
