DRINKING SPREE ENDS WITH MAN IN HOSPITAL. SHOT

Alpine Cattleman Is Held For Attack On Friend

WIFE IS BLAMED

Husband Trails Pair To Bedroom And Opens Fire

SANTA MONICA, July 3. (AP)—A shooting that climaxed a night of drinking brought Jimmy Henderson, 32, Alpine, Texas, cattleman, into the hands of police today and sent Leroy Patton, 50, to a hospital critically wounded.

Henderson was held on suspicion of attack with a deadly weapon. Chief of detectives Lingo said that Henderson told him that while he and his wife, Leona, and Patton were drinking in beer parlors, Patton and his wife (Henderson's) left the room. He followed later and found them in a bedroom.

Lingo quoted Henderson as saying he "emptied his gun into him."

ESPIONAGE CASE OPENED AGAINST HARRY THOMPSON

Witness Alleges He Gave Information To Japan

LOS ANGELES, July 3. (AP)—Harry Thompson, former yeoman in the United States navy, prowled through the steel passageways of American warships and relayed confidential information about them to a secret agent of Japan, a federal court jury was told Thursday.

The statement came from the first witness at Thompson's trial on charges of violating the espionage act.

It was made by Willard Turntile, erstwhile roommate and intimate friend of the accused man, Turntile, a thin, high-voiced youth of 18 years, testified that in 1934 and 1935:

1. He and Thompson boarded the dreadnaught, Colorado, Mississippi and Texas, the radio-controlled target Utah, and the destroyer Brooks.

2. Thompson snipped a paper detailing the movements of the battle force from the naval training office bulletin board in San Diego.

3. Thompson dispatched this data and other material to a Japanese named "Tanny," and received in return a salary of $200 to $300 a month from him.

This "Tanny" the government asserts, was Toshio Miyazaki, lieutenant commander in the imperial Japanese navy, who at that time was enrolled at Stanford university as an "observer."

Miyazaki also under indictment with Thompson, is understood to be in the Far East now, federal attorneys said.

Willard Turntile, government witness in the Thompson espionage trial in Los Angeles, was detained a material witness late in last February after he had asked the Nolan county jailer at Sweetwater to put him in jail because he was of keeping "key information" about a "spy ring" that was "plenty hot stuff."

mother with a brick and choking her. Police discounted as a clew the misspelled "Black Legion" scrawled on the mirror, which Capt. William O'Brien is examining, upper left. Sigmund Schaps, lower right admitted admirer of the victim, was questioned, but detectives doubted he had any connection with the crime.

FRANCE SEEKS A SYSTEM OF PACTS UNDER THE LEAGUE

World Peace Would Be Guaranteed, Claimed

ASKS PENALTIES WOULD USE ARMED MEN ON AGGRESSOR NATIONS

GENEVA, July 3. (AP)—France called today for a reinforced system of regional pacts, supervised by the League of Nations, to guarantee world peace by military force.

Yvon Delbos, French foreign minister, urged before the league assembly a speedy reformation of the international peace body by which the aggressors would suffer armed punishment.

A call for an immediate peace conference by leading nations to prevent a European war was made unexpectedly by Eamon De Valera, President of the Irish Free State.

"The terrible menace which threatens us all today can be warded off," he said.

The New York-born Irish President made his suggestion in a speech to the assembly, following delegates of many nations to the rostrum.

RAINS FORECAST FOR DROUGHT AREA OF UNITED STATES

Wheat Prices Boom As Canada Reports Damage

CHICAGO, July 3. (AP)—A widespread damper on the crop consuming drought was forecast by the weather bureau Thursday as various authorities estimated its cost to date at $250,000,000.

Rainfall was predicted for the Ohio valley, the southwestern states and parts of Minnesota and North Dakota—the latter in the heart of the five state belt including South Dakota, Wyoming and Montana where the dry spell has been characterized as the "worst in history."

The bureau said precipitation this week had relieved the seriousness of the situation in all the affected states except the Dakotas, Montana, and also Iowa.

Up to a million head of livestock will be taken off producers' hands under an emergency plan, Secretary Wallace announced at Duluth Thursday.

But deterioration of crops continued Thursday and reports of the drought's spread into neighboring prairie provinces of Canada electrified wheat markets over the world. Wheat jumped above the dollar mark here with a live cent bulge—the limit allowed for a day.

The gain brought to 15 cents the total advance since the disaster to spring wheat first became apparent month ago, December wheat sold at $1.03 here. Quotations for other commodities joined the upsurge.

PULLING TUBING TODAY IN GAINES

Landreth Well Will Be Shut In Until Monday

BY FRANK GARDNER
Tubing is being pulled today from Landreth Production Company No. 1 Kirk, recent. Gains discovery, and the well will be shut in until the early part of next week. Operators then intend to bail it down and clean out the remainder of the acid water and emulsion still in the hole. The only definite gauge yet made on the No. 1 Kirk showed 107 barrels of oil on swab in 24 hours after oil load and cut acid had been recovered. It was given 3,000 gallons of acid this week as a follow-up to a 1,000-gallon injection last week, but production was not materially increased by the treatment.

While no definite locations have yet been made, it is reported that other tests will have to be drilled soon in the new Kirk area in order to hold leases. The Landreth well is in the southwest corner of section 22, block A-21, public school land. Total depth is 4,820 feet in lime, with oil streaks showing from 4,790 to bottom.

After drilling to 2,800 feet in salt and anhydrite in the remarkable time of 10 days, Humble No. 1 C. H. Eubank wildcat eight miles northwest of the Landreth No. 1 Kirk, is preparing to run the string of 9 5/8 inch casing. It topped anhydrite at 1,790 and salt at 1,942, and is said to be running about "flat" with the McElreath and Suggert No. 1 John Sparks, a dry hole drilled several years ago four and a half miles to the northwest.

WADDELL EXTENSION DRILLS LIME BELOW 3,410

Delayed while repairing damage to engine house resulting from high winds, Tide Water No. 1 Edwards, semi-wildcat north extension to the Waddell pool in Crane county, is drilling ahead below 3,410 feet in lime with 2,100 feet of oil in the hole. The oil is coming from 3,350 to 3,360, but the zone is called a "stray sand" and is not in the main pay horizon of the pool. The test is 2,310 feet from the north and 330 feet from the west line of section 2, block B-23, public school land.

In the same pool, Gulf No. 14 Waddell, 330 feet from the north and 990 feet from the west line of section 11, block B-23, is drilling lime at 3,475 with 1,500 feet of oil in the hole. No increases have been logged below 3,225.

YOAKUM WILDCAT RIGS UP STANDARD TOOLS

In Yoakum county, Elliott Roosevelt and Lou Stegner No. 1 Googins, wildcat test in section 218, block D, John H. Gibson survey, is rigging up standard tools to drill plug from 10-inch casing set at total depth of 2,401. Top of anhydrite was called at 2,397 feet.

Bahan and Rhodes and Fitzpatrick No. 1 Alice Henard, another Yoakum wildcat, about six miles southwest of the Roosevelt and Stegner test, was last reported drilling anhydrite at 3,248. It is four miles northwest of Plains, in the center of the southwest quarter of section 367, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

PAIR ARE SEIZED BY OFFICERS NEAR THORNTON, TEXAS

No Opportunity For Them to Resist Arrest

BOY IS TIPSTER

Unnamed Youth Puts Posse on Trail Of Convicts

HUNTSVILLE, July 3. (AP)—Luke Trammel and Forest Gibson, fugitive killers who escaped the Retrieve prison farm, were within penitentiary walls here today awaiting filing of formal charges of murdering Felix Smith, prison guard, in Brazoria county two weeks ago.

Trammel and Forest were captured about 8:30 p. m. last night near Thornton by officers who had been tipped off as to the whereabouts of the pair. At the time of their capture they were asleep in their car which had bogged down on a muddy road.

They were captured without having an opportunity to resist. In the car in which they were sleeping officers found six pistols, a shotgun and a 30-30 rifle.

The two desperados who escaped from the prison farm June 19 after killing Felix Smith, a guard, scrambled out of the car with their hands high in the air when they were prodded awake by Sheriff Will Adams of Limestone county, who held a sub-machine gun in his hands.

Gibson, officers said, was asleep under the steering wheel of the car. In his hand was clenched a pearl-handled pistol bearing the initials R.S. The gun was believed to be the one taken from Guard R. L. Steele at the prison, during the break.

Trammel was asleep in the rear seat of the car, which Sheriff Adams said had been stolen in Grayson county, Texas. He also held a pistol in his hand.

He told Sheriff Adams later: "It's a hell of a note to be caught by the law asleep with a gun in your hand." Officers of three states who had been playing a desperate game of hide and seek with the fugitives had not expected to take them without some show of resistance. Sheriff Adams made the capture after having been tipped off earlier tonight that the men were in this vicinity. Gibson formerly lived near here.

He gave credit for the capture to an unnamed boy, who recognized the escaped convicts as they slept in the car and tipped off officers.

NOT A BOOM—JUST SUBSTANTIAL

Boom town followers, floaters and fly-by-nights who like to jump from place to place, following the crowds where money is loose and suckers are plentiful, might just as well give Midland the go-by.

Business, as reflected in financial statements of banks and other institutions, is the best in the history of the little city. Building permits are climbing, school enrollments have been at their highest and all indications point to a steady, substantial growth.

But that does not mean that Midland is on a boom. The boom hit here from 1927 to 1929 and has been over for a long time. The growth today is on a steady basis. The new citizens are of the permanent type and the increase in population shows a steady rise rather than the mushroom variety.

Although Midland does not offer attractions to the fly-by-nighters, it does have a strong appeal to the investor who wants a reasonable return on his money. Property values are on an even keel. One may invest in residence or business lots, or may construct buildings with the assurance that values will neither jump sky-high overnight or drop lower the next day. There appears a gradual enhancement in value, with a fair return in revenue, indicating soundness of investment.

Midland offers exceptional values to those planning home construction, either for occupancy or for rental. Investigate, then invest in Midland homes.

AMERICAN RIVER FLEET GOES DOWN AT INLAND SCAPA FLOW NEAR PARIS

PARIS, July 3 (AP)—At Bonneuil-sur-Marne, not far from Paris, an American fleet of 25 vessels is gradually sinking in America's inland Scapa Flow.

Strollers along the canal of the Little Darse, which leads from the Marne, come with surprise upon the graveyard of ships, some still afloat, some half-submerged, some showing only their smokestacks, on whose bows are the words, so strange to French eyes, Arkansas, Missouri, Ohio, Kentucky, Worcester, Georgia and finally—not so strange—St. Louis.

They are part of the war stocks—25 river tugs, bought by the French government from the United States in 1916 with the intention of using them for the Paris-Rouen service. They were handsome boats when they sailed up the Marne, Missouri leading the way, and turned into the canal of the Little Darse in 1916, and the French government had paid 250,000 francs each for them. They were tied up to the bank—temporarily. Coal was left in their bunkers so that they would be ready to move out in a few days and start their new service. They haven't moved since.

After a while the department of inland navigation took their engines out and presumably, put them to work elsewhere. Later junkmen came around and removed what fittings were left. Inhabitants of the nearby settlements had gotten the coal long before that. Thereafter the boats were forgotten. Some of them gradually settled down into the ooze on the bottom of the canal. Others are still afloat.

Once or twice half-hearted efforts were made to sell them. The offering price was moved as low as 50 francs and there were no takers. None that is, except one American. Maybe he was sentimental or maybe he was tired of paying rent. He turned the boat into a houseboat and renamed it Noah's Ark. He lives in it now. It used to be moored in the Bois du Boulogne, and when he wanted a

Assume a Cool Attitude Toward The Weatherman

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer
One way to stay reasonably cool and comfortable when the thermometer registers above 90 is to refuse to think or talk about the heat. The more you discuss the weather, puffing, groaning and adopting the air of a martyr, the hotter and more miserable you become.

Take at least two lukewarm baths a day and finish with a cologne rub-down. Use bath-powder lavishly. Dust your feet, especially between the toes, with bath or special foot powder before you put on stockings.

Your summer wardrobe ought to consist mainly of light, porous dresses, preferably washable ones. Make a habit of looking even neater and more tidy in the summer than you do in winter. If you bathe every morning, put on clean underwear, a dress that is freshly washed, and spic and span white gloves, you'll look cool. Believe it or not, if you look cool, you will feel cooler.

If you use perfume in the summer, by all means, pick a light spic or light floral scent. The heavy, rich varieties that you wore in the winter won't do now. A good many women substitute toilet water for perfume during June, July and August.

Wear shoes that are large enough. Tight, uncomfortable ones make the weather seem worse than it is. Also the shoes you wear on the streets ought to be open or perforated types that let the air get at your feet.

Remember that sensible, well balanced diet is necessary to hot weather comfort. Go lightly on starches and sweets. Have meat no more than once a day. Drink pints and pints of fresh fruit and vegetable juices. Eat fresh or stewed fruits for dessert. Let your luncheons consist mainly of crisp, green salads.

Under the plan, all members of the family can attend services at the same time. There is no Sunday school. Divisions are nursery, kindergarten, beginning church, preparatory church, youth church and the adult church.

Such a plan is said to be known only in two other instances, one a Methodist church in Canada, the other in Illinois.

All fathers and mothers want their children to succeed and as long as they can, mothers and fathers the country over sacrifice and plan to give their boys and girls every advantage, every opportunity, for they want them to have a start which they too often were denied.

"We want to send Jim to college if we can afford it," they say. "We plan to give Mary special training in music if we have the money when she has finished high school."

But why should an IF threaten these dreams? A PRAETORIAN EDUCATIONAL POLICY can erase that IF and permit mothers and fathers to say positively: "MY CHILDREN ARE GOING TO COLLEGE." The Praetorians' plans offer a systematic way of saving. A little put away each month makes the education SURE. Investigate the Praetorians' Educational policies for children.

THE STORY OF Grand MIDWINTER
The King Steps Out
FRANCHOT TONE
Adapted from the original version by arrangement with Columbia Pictures

What Has Happened
Under influence of his mother, the Dowager Empress, Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria has ordered Princess Helena, one of Duchess of Bavaria, to come to Hellbrunn, seat of the summer palace, so that their betrothal can be announced. Helena loves Count Leopold Palfi, young adjutant of the King, and is broken-hearted. Cissy, Helena's sister and favorite daughter of Duke Max is furious that Helena should have to marry a man she does not love and has never seen. Max is helpless for it was his ambitious wife and her sister, the Dowager Empress, Sofia, who planned the engagement. Sofia and Max have always been enemies, and Sofia is the power behind her 26-year-old son's throne. But Cissy is not to be thwarted. She persuades the fearful Max to come with her incognito, to Hellbrunn in a donkey cart to see what they can do to alleviate Helena's unhappiness.

CHAPTER TWO
Looking for the all world like a pair of peasants, Cissy and Duke Max arrived at Hellbrunn and went to the Golden Ox Inn. Cissy had trouble with Max on the way, after listening to her mad schemes to steal Helena from the King's palace, the good-natured Duke was very sure he wanted to go home and have a glass of beer and forget the whole business. But Cissy was insistent and finally won out.
The tavern was filled to capacity with sixty girls of the ballet, which had come from Vienna to dance for the Emperor on his birthday, and Pretzelberger, the short-tempered proprietor, was about to turn Cissy and Max away when the Duke whispered his identity and warned him to keep the secret. Pretzelberger frantically gave his own room to Max and the ballet master's to Cissy.
Despite his promise, Max settled down to sampling the inn's beer as soon as Cissy's back was turned. Cissy saw then that if anything was to be done, she would have to do it herself.
Wandering about the inn, Cissy came across the ballet girls lined up to receive passes into the palace grounds from Colonel von Kempen.
"You'd better be careful that no one hears you. You know there's a law against insulting the Emperor!" "I'm not at all surprised," the girl fumed. "But there's no law that'll stop me from telling the Emperor what I think of him. I want to be announced! Do you hear me?" "I'll inform His Majesty that you're very impatient."
Francis crossed the room to the door, opened it, stepped out of sight for an instant, re-entered the room and announced: "His Imperial Majesty, Francis Joseph, Emperor of Austria."
Cissy waited expectantly. Francis marched forward, smiling. The girl nearly fainted as she realized she so this newspaper believes one of its duties is to help tell who Landon is. My private opinion is that all of us will forget what we have heard about him by December 31 of this year.

All I can say is that if he ever creates news like Franklin D. has, all newspapers will be justified in having introduced him to the public.
There's one objection to the girls who give away samples of chewing gum while advertising on the streets. They give you only one chew. You hate to throw it away because you don't have any more. Consequently you keep chewing it until your jaws are worn out.

had been with the Emperor all the time.
"Did you wish to see me?" asked Francis.
"Cissy swallowed hard. "You—the Emperor?" she said softly.
"You know you have no right to pick my roses."
"They were so lovely, Your Majesty." The princess, ashamed and awed, spoke in a low voice. "I should be punished, I guess I said some awful things."
"I might," said the young ruler "make an exception in your case and show mercy." He was inwardly amused.
"Is mercy an exception with Your Majesty?" asked Cissy on the spur of the moment.
"Francis was a trifle hurt. "No. Why—is that what my people think about me?"
Cissy was ashamed of what she had said. "No, as a matter of fact, they love you."
"I should talk with my people more often," said the Emperor, pacing. He stood in front of Cissy again. "What do you do? How do you live? What are you carrying there? A dress, I suppose. You're a dressmaker."
Cissy was a little ill at ease. "Well, I don't want to deceive Your Majesty."
"Oh, I'm not easily deceived," Cissy broke in jauntily. "Who is the package for?"
"It's for Princess Helena," she said. "I wanted to take it to her myself."
"Why?" Francis asked curiously. "Well," blurted out the princess, "I would like to see the—the future Empress!"
Francis evinced surprise. "You mean to say it's known that I'm to be engaged tomorrow?"
"It's true, then, isn't it," Cissy

JAPAN CHARTS WIDER SPHERE IN THE SOUTH SEAS FOR POPULATION OUTLET

TOKYO, July 3. (AP)—Japan's Southward policy of more properly its South Seas policy, intended to furnish an outlet for the population congestion and provide a new source of raw materials, will necessitate readjustment of relations with Great Britain, Holland and a full settlement of the Davao question in the Philippines, in the opinion of the Tokyo newspaper, Nichi Nichi.

Analysis of the policy was made when the Diet closed its brief session.

It is predicted that some friction with Holland and Britain may result but nothing serious is expected since Japan seeks no new territory, according to Nichi Nichi.

It was emphasized in the last Diet session that the South Seas is the only practicable area for the solution of the population question and the problem of raw materials. Hence great effort will be made to get the plans in order at an early date.

embracing the Formosan Development, the South Seas Development, South Seas Exploitation Society, South Seas Society, Philippines Society, South Seas Research Institute, and overseas private organizations.

"With the commission functioning a big advance will be made by official and private Japan toward realization of the southward policy.

"As the southward policy advances, Japan will have friction with Great Britain and Holland. Much emphasis is placed on readjustment of Japan's relations with these countries and protection of the vested rights and interests of the Japanese in the South Seas. In seeking to solve the Philippine Davao land issue, Dutch-Japanese and Australian-Japanese trade negotiations, full consideration will be given the broader phases just outlined."

Japan's vested rights in the South Seas, meaning the mandated islands and those which Japan owned before the World War must be readjusted and consolidated, commercial interests believe.

Navy Creates New Section

In the usual direct manner the southward policy was discussed for months. The Navy established a southern section and it was announced that the Foreign Office would do the same. Still nobody explained the situation until the Diet closed.

Then the objectives were revealed and it was explained that the southward advance would be peaceful, reasonable and vigorous.

The policy in brief is explained by a Nichi Nichi writer as follows:

1. Development of fuel and other national defense resources.
2. Acquisition of cotton, lumber and other industrial resources.
3. Emigration for colonization.
4. Development of markets for Japanese goods.
5. Development of marine industrial resources.

Peaceful Advance Stressed

"It is emphasized that Japan makes it her first aim to make a peaceful advance and that she entertains no territorial or political ambitions as are feared in some quarters," the writer said.

"A commission will be created

Farmers Are the Best Buyers of Oil and Gas

"We are increasingly impressed with the importance of the buying power of the farmers in our marketing territory, which includes Texas and some twenty other states, their total purchases absorbing over half of the bulk output of our refineries," says Dan Moran, President of the Continental Oil Company, who has just finished a four-weeks' inspection trip to the Company's various properties.

"We know also that farmers on the whole are more discerning buyers of petroleum products than their city cousins."

"Whether this is due to the farmer's long familiarity with internal combustion motors in tractors, engine cutters, individual lighting plants and other farm equipment, or whether it is due to the fact that he is accustomed to making most of his own adjustments and repairs, is uncertain. The interviews during the inspection trip, however, leave no room for doubt that the farmer knows what to expect in his fuel. And he shows far better than average intelligence in choosing top quality lubricants on the grounds that it is not cost of lubricant but cost of lubrication that concerns him."

Memorial Forest Establishment Will Be Tribute to Poet Writing Poem, "Trees"

The establishment of the Joyce Kilmer Memorial Forest as a living memorial to the author of the most beautiful tribute ever written to trees has been authorized by the United States government acting through the secretary of agriculture. The action was sponsored by the Bozeman Bulger Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A 4000-acre tract of virgin forest in the primitive area of the Nantahala National Forest in western North Carolina was selected by the Kilmer Memorial Committee after a preliminary examination of available areas throughout the country.

Joseph C. Kircher of Atlanta, Ga., United States Southern Regional Forester who will be responsible for the administration and protection of the memorial forest, announced today that the area will be dedicated on July 30, the eighteenth anniversary of the day on which Sergeant Joyce Kilmer was killed in action in France. The dedication program is being arranged by Paul A. Williams of New York, chairman of the Kilmer Memorial Committee.

Mr. Kircher said that the area selected for the Kilmer Memorial Forest constitutes the entire watershed of Little Santahala creek in Graham county, North Carolina, a few miles from Robbinsville. The area is accessible over Federal highway No. 129 from Knoxville which joins Federal highway No. 19 between Asheville and Atlanta at Top-ton. The Kilmer Memorial Forest will be available to the public for recreational use and the forest service recently obtained permission from the Indian service to build a short spur road through a portion of the Cherokee Indian reservation to make the area reasonably accessible. This road will be completed in time for the dedication ceremony on July 30.

Though available to the public for enjoyment of its natural and inspirational values, the area will be preserved in its primitive state, Kircher said, and recreational facilities will be held to the minimum consistent with good sanitation and adequate protection from forest fires.

Lying a few miles from the southern boundary of the Great Smoky Mountain National Park, the area consists of one of the finest stands of virgin timber to be found in any of the 154 national forests throughout the United States and the scenery and botanical interest are unrivaled. Not a single tree in the area will ever fall before a woodman's axe. The memorial will also be administered as wildlife sanctuary.

Forester Kircher said the north-west boundary of the memorial is formed by the rugged Unaka mountains. The outstanding mountain peak near the area is Stratton Bald, 5400 feet in altitude. The area will afford visitors a remarkable opportunity to see a little known territory that is one of the few remaining examples of the magnificent hardwood forests which covered the slopes of the Appalachians when Columbus discovered the New World.

Nearly half of the trees measured so far is a popular 80 inches in diameter. Foresters estimate its age at more than 200 years. The largest red oak recorded for the area has a diameter of 60 inches.

Specimens of white oak, chestnut, birch, basswood, hard and soft maple, chestnut oak, ash, buckeye and cherry are conspicuous among the trees in the area. Rhododendron, laurel, adalea and other wild flowering shrubs which bloom luxuriantly in the southern Appalachians grow in profusion along Ground Hog Branch, Indian Spring Branch, and other small tributaries of the Little Santahala which cascade their way through the area. The Kilmer Forest will present a magnificent opportunity to outdoor lovers to enjoy nature's autumn festival of color.

Joyce Kilmer was born in New Brunswick, New Jersey, December 6, 1886. He was graduated from Columbia University in 1908. At the time of his enlistment in the National Guard in April, 1917, he was a member of the editorial staff of the New York Times and was widely known as a lecturer. In accordance with the wishes of his family, he is buried with 600 comrades in the American cemetery in Feren-Tardenois, France.

Kilmer's best loved poem, "Trees" was set to music by his mother, Annie Kilburn Kilmer, in 1919 and published in London in 1920. Following is a list of the books of which he was author:

Summer of Love, Trees and Other Poems, Main Street and Other Poems, The Circus and Other Essays, Literature in the Making by Some of Its Makers Presented by Joyce Kilmer, and Dreams and Images, an Anthology of Catholic Verse.

Kilmer credited his mother with having taught him to write verse, recalling how he, as a youngster, watched her count the syllables on her fingers.

Paul Revere, famed horseman of the revolution, was also an expert silversmith, bell caster, dentist and engraver.

Carlsbad Caverns June Report Shows Texas Leading All States, Nation

Texas accounted for one third of all visitors to the Carlsbad caverns during June, the report just issued by Thomas Boles, superintendent, showed. The total number was 19,871, with Texas furnishing 6,622. By years, since 1924, June 1936 showed the heaviest attendance for the month in any of the 13 years.

Expectations of a new attendance record around the July fourth holiday have been expressed by Carlsbad citizens. The cavern, owned and operated by the United States government, is fully lighted by electricity and is open to the public every day in the year. Two high speed elevators are in operation.

Since the cavern was opened to the public, 720,140 visitors have passed through. The total since January 1, 1936, is 52,720.

Texas Mule and Horse Breeding Industry Aided

Accomplishments of the Texas department of agriculture in the placing of pedigreed jacks and stallions on farms over the state, thereby improving the quality of mules and horses produced, was described in the County Gentleman magazine issued by the Curtis Publishing Co., recently.

The article, written by Burl F. Rogers, a Texas farmer, follows:

"In Texas the ponies go round and round a track, all bets go through a pari-mutuel, and a sizeable tax is deposited in the state treasury. One-quarter of all such tax money received goes to the department of agriculture, to be used in the purchase, distribution and maintenance of purebred jacks and

Yucca Will Present Special Preview At 11:15 O'clock Tonight

"The Moon is Our Home" is the feature picture to be shown at the Special July 4th "Eve" Preview tonight at 11:15 at the Yucca Theatre. Margaret Sullivan and Henry Fonda are the leading roles in the production, which will be shown at the Preview only.

From a Faith Baldwin story, "The Moon is Our Home" deals with two international celebrities who have learned to hate each other merely on the strength of their reputations. As a fiery-tempered, pampered though beautiful screen star, Miss Sullivan refers to a noted world explorer-author over whom millions of women have gone mad, as the "kind of person who would be lost without his hot water bottle." Henry Fonda, as the globe trotter, refers to the screen star as a "phony blonde with a face that resembles French pastry."

They eventually meet under assumed names, and, without knowing each other's real identity, fall in love. They are married, but, almost immediately, their temperaments clash. The bride leaves the bridegroom's flat. Reluctantly, they make a frantic search for each other and the amusing situations which arise from the search, and the manner in which the scrappy pair become reconciled, make "The Moon is Our Home" lively screen entertainment.

stallions, for the use of any breeder in the state.

"When the first funds for this purpose became available in January, 1924, there were thousands of farms in Texas devoid of both mules and horses. There was a severe shortage of high-grade stallions and jacks in the state and so few were the colts being raised that the average age for the state was ten years plus.

"January of 1936 found Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald the largest purchaser of jacks and stallions in the United States. A total of 262 head, at an average cost of $350 each, had been distributed over 125 counties of the state. Caretakers of these sires had reported approximately 12,000 breedings during the period ending December 31, 1935. A fee is charged, payable at the time of service, with the usual guarantee of a live colt.

"Purchases have been made in Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Illinois and Nebraska. They include 127 jacks and ninety-eight registered and high-grade Percheron and Belgian stallions.

"Applications have been made for 2000 more sires to the state department of agriculture. While it is not likely that the final program will include that many, it is the aim of the department to supply every county with high-grade sires to replenish the ranks of work stock in Texas, which is 20 per cent lower than in 1920.
