Former Postmaster Admits Part In Kidnaping

DELAY SENTENCE

Assessments For Two Will Be Given By Federal Judge

SAINT PAUL, July 15. (P)—Edmund Bartholomey, former postmaster at Bensenville, Ill., pleaded guilty in federal court today to conspiracy charges in connection with the $100,000 ransom kidnaping of William Hamm, Jr., St. Paul brewer.

A similar plea by Alvin Karpis, former gang chief and number one criminal in the country, yesterday left only a single defendant on trial, John Peifer, St. Paul night club owner, indicted as the "finger man."

Karpis was brought heavily guarded from the courtroom from the county jail which has held him since his bloodless capture in New Orleans May 1. He spoke only when Judge M. M. Joyce asked him whether he understood the guilty plea his attorney had offered for him.

Sentence on Karpis and Bartholomey is expected to be delayed until after the trial of Peifer.

NEW MEANS WELL

RATES 34 BBL. HOURLY ON TEST

Pool Is Extended A Mile South By Producer

BY FRANK GARDNER
A rating of 34 barrels per hour on a short test was given to Humble Oil and Refining Company No. 8 J. S. Means at the completion of the three-stage acid treatment yesterday. Having filled both 500-barrel storage tanks, the well is shut in today pending repairs to pipe-line.

In treating with acid, the No. 8 Means, which extends production in the Means pool of northern Andrews county a mile farther south, was first given an injection of 500 gallons, followed by 1,000 gallons and finally by 3,000 gallons, being allowed to clean itself after each shot.

The well reached a total depth of 4,525 feet in lime and had been making from 16 to 20 barrels an hour before acid-treating. Pays were found in the last 50 feet of hole. It is located 1,982 feet from the north and 686 feet from the east of section 19, block A-35, public school land.

LANDRETH 1-B SCHARBAUER CLEANING OUT

Offsetting to the east the recent Dunning No. 1 Scharbauer extension to the Goldsmith pool in Ector, Landreth Production Company No. 1-B Scharbauer is cleaning out today. It was shot late Monday with 160 quarts from 4,160 to 4,225, flowing 187 barrels in 13 hours after the shot exploded. Official 24-hour gauge will not be taken until the hole has been cleaned out, and it is also possible that the well may be treated with acid. Located 440 feet from the south and 2,900 feet from the east line of section 33, block 44, township 1 north, T. & P. survey, the Landreth well drilled to 4,230 feet in lime.

Potential gauge was scheduled to start at noon today on Phillips and Pure No. 5 Cowden, new Goldsmith pool well. The No. 5 Cowden showed for the largest natural producer in the pool by flowing 505 barrels in three hours through 7-inch casing with drill-pipe in the hole. However, oil flow of 214 barrels the first hour decreased to 141 the third. Total depth is 4,158, and pay was topped at 4,111. It is 1,320 feet from the north and 2,900 feet from the west line of section 23, block 44, township 1 north, T. & P. survey.

178 BARREL POTENTIAL FOR KEYES WELL

Sinclair-Prarie No. B-4 Walton, latest completion in the Keyes pool near Kermit in Winkler county, flowed 1,178 barrels of oil on the 24-hour gauge. The well was plugged back from 2,980 to 2,970 and received a shot of 160 quarts from 2,800 to 2,970. It is in section 24, block 26, public school land.

In northeastern Winkler county, Joiner Oil Corporation No. 1 Evans-Cowden, closely watched wildcat is drilling hard brown lime at 4,870 feet. Verdict is expected soon on this wildcat which is in the northwest quarter of section 46, block 73, public school land.

YOKAM WELL AT 4,540 FEET IN ANHYDRITE

Drilling has progressed to 4,540 feet in anhydrite in Bahan and Rhodes and Fitzpatrick No. 1 Alice Hebard in Yoakum county. Some had picked a brown-lime top at 4,481 feet. The test is four miles northwest of Plains in the center of the southwest quarter of section 367, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

LUMBERMAN'S ASSOCIATION TO HOLD ONE-DAY HOUSING CONFERENCE HERE

July 21 Date Announced For Members Of Texas To Hold Gathering

It has been announced by the Lumbermen's Association of Texas that a one-day housing conference will be held here July 21. A recent meeting of the officers of the organization and the representatives of the Ft. Worth office of the F. H. A. it was decided to hold the conference here.

The conferences are to start at 10:00 a. m. and end about 4 p. m. The conferences are to be informal and a sufficient amount of time is to be given in order that every phase of the housing program may be discussed. The entire time will be devoted to discussing problems which concern the retail lumber dealer.

P. S. Luttrell, associate director of the F.H.A. will discuss titles I and II, and following Luttrell will be the chief underwriter, Willing W. Ryan, who will discuss underwriting procedure and explain the various methods of valuation, showing how each application is processed, and explaining in detail the work of his department.

Wiley G. Clark, chief architectural inspector, will explain requirements with reference to plans and specifications in connection with the submission of applications covering new construction.

Following the talks there will be a discussion as to how the lumber dealer can increase his volume of business under the insurance mortgage plan. Sales methods will be discussed, as will be many other problems of the retail lumber dealer.

A local lumber dealer is to be appointed to preside at the meeting, and following Luttrell will be the chief underwriter, Willing W. Ryan, who will discuss underwriting procedure and explain the various methods of valuation, showing how each application is processed, and explaining in detail the work of his department.

The grizzled Texan, who had returned from a fishing trip into Southwest Texas, broke his traditional silence about politics with this statement:

"I have never talked about national affairs, I leave that to the boss. But I still vote in Texas and I have a right as a private citizen to my own preference. 'T don't mind the world knowing that I think Allred has made a fine governor and I hope he is re-elected in the first primary."

Garner said he was talking in the capacity of a private citizen and not as vice-president. He was non-communative as far as the national political picture was concerned. He merely shrugged his shoulders when asked about the impending presidential campaign.

250 RESCUED AS FREIGHTER AND STEAMER CRASH

2 Boats Telescoped In Collision But None Killed

NICE IS SAVED

Maryland Executive Among Those On Liner

BALTIMORE, July 15. (P)—Governor Harry Nice, along with 250 other passengers aboard a vessel that collided violently with a freighter last night, managed to land safely here today.

The survivors brought with them accounts of the harrowing night in the Chesapeake bay. Scores were jolted and some bruised by the terrific impact.

The freighter and passenger vessel were still locked together hours after the collision. The freighter pushed the steamer aground and kept it from sinking.

The steamer was bringing the Baltimore association automobile dealers to port after a two-day seagoing convention.

THOMASON VISITS MIDLAND TODAY; TO RETURN LATER

Accepts Invitation To Officiate At Ceremony

Congressman R. Ewing Thomason, El Paso, representative of this district in the United States Congress, was a visitor in Midland contacting many of his friends.

While here Thomason was asked to take part in the "ground-breaking" ceremonies in the near future at the site of the new postoffice to be erected here this summer.

The congressman explained that he had seen plans and blueprints of the new building and said that it would be an added asset to the city in that it would compare in all details with many of the well known buildings of the town.

Mr. Thomason said that he was always glad to visit being willing to drive far out of his way at any time it was possible to pay a visit here. Support of the people of the town for him received praise from the congressman and continued contact with him was asked. He repeated his statement made on his last visit here that he was always more than willing to do anything he was able to do to aid the people of Midland and his district.

Court Ruling Given On Water Pollution

AUSTIN, July 15. (P)—The supreme court today held that the escape of salt water from oil wells which was polluting streams not on the places of the producing companies left the companies liable for damages if there was negligence.

Residents of West Texas In Largest Numbers Since The West Texas Chamber of Commerce Meeting In Amarillo To Move In On Fort Worth for Dedication of Exhibit

In largest numbers since the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Amarillo last May—and maybe larger—residents of the territory west of Fort Worth will move in on that city next Monday, the 20th. Occasion: dedication of the all-West Texas resource and community exhibit housed in a permanent structure on the grounds of the Frontier Centennial celebration, which itself opens Saturday the 18th.

The all-West Texas exhibit was sponsored and prepared by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce as the only collection of all the major resources of any section of the state shown at either the Fort Worth or Dallas centennial exhibitions. The exhibit has been assembled in the old Frontier depot—replica of Fort Worth's first T. & P. passenger station—and is "ready to go."

Ceremonies of building and exhibit is set for 4:00 p. m. next Monday. The WTCC has sent invitations to all its directors in 190 affiliated towns of west Texas, urging them to come and to bring guests. Master of ceremonies will be Milburn McCarty of Eastland, first vice-president of the west Texas chamber of commerce and chairman of its exhibit board of control.

After a lecture on the exhibit, McCarty will present it to Van Zandt Jarvis, WTCC president and mayor of Fort Worth, who in turn will present it to Walter Woodul, lieutenant governor of Texas, acting for the state centennial board of control.

McCarty will explain the plan of turning over the building and exhibit for one day to each affiliated town participating, at which the town will have its own hosts and hostesses, sponsor, band and guides to escort visitors through the exhibit. Motorades or special trains probably will be run.

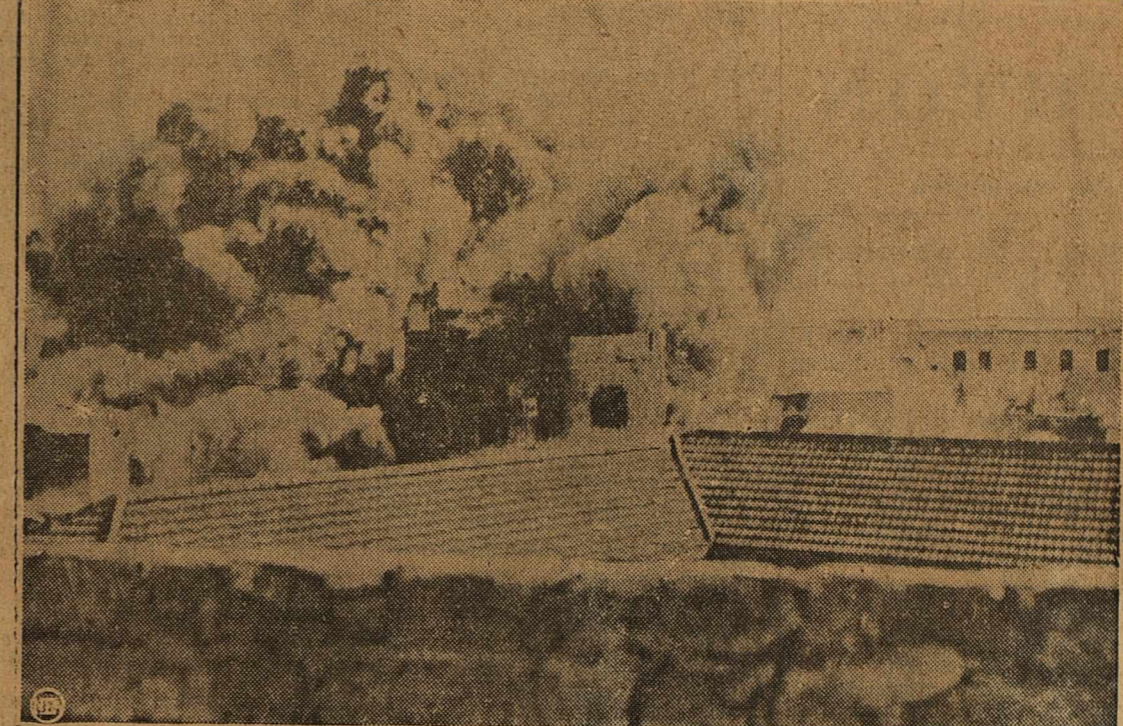

The dedication ceremony will be continued at 7:30 Monday evening, with an all-West Texas dinner at the Fort Worth club. The price will be $2.00 per plate and this affair will be open to all WTCC directors and their invited guests. Arrangements have been made to seat 600 persons. McCarty again will be master of ceremonies.

There will be typical west Texas music, other entertainment and speeches.

West Texas Exhibit
The west Texas chamber of commerce calls its exhibit at the Frontier celebration "a satisfying answer to something that greatly puzzled Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt on her recent visit to Texas, when, in conversation with Governor James V. Allred, she asked this very pertinent question: 'I have seen many wonderful things, but tell me, Governor Allred—just what is Texas doing to advertise its own Texas resources during your centennial celebrations?'" A description of the exhibit was given by Mrs. Hulén R. Carroll in a signed article in the July issue of "West Texas Today," the WTCC's magazine, as follows:

R. R. COMMISSION UPHELD BY RULING OF SUPREME COURT

Given Right To Hunt Through Trucks By Decision

AUSTIN, July 15. (P)—The supreme court today upheld the power of the railroad commission to regulate operations of trucks on public highways. The court ruled specifically in the case of the New Way Lumber company of Houston against the commission that officers need not have a search warrant before they may stop trucks and determine if they are operating in violation of the law.

SECRET SESSION IS HELD TODAY BY EDUCATION BOARD

Tax Rate Expected to Be Near $18.50 Or $19.00

AUSTIN, July 15. (P)—The state board of education began a secret session today to determine the per capita aid for public schools next year. Indications were that the apportionment would be $18.50 or $19.

This year's allotment is expected to reach approximately 1,500,000 dollars on the $18.50 basis, the highest in the state's history.

John Gregory, McAllen, president of the State Teacher's association, pleaded with the board asking it to "show liberality."

MYSTERY 'CORPSE' DISCOVERED ALIVE

Engineer Turns Up Alive At House Near Round Rock Tuesday

AUSTIN, July 15. (P)—The man who was believed to be the mystery "corpse" of Round Rock was identified Tuesday as Bryan Black of Skidmore, 40-year-old civil engineer employed by Bee county.

Earlier in the evening he had appeared at a house near the scene where the "corpse" was seen last Thursday night and collapsed after drinking water and eating a sandwich.

Physicians here prepared to operate for a small head wound and said they were certain he would recover.

SALES RESULTS BY MERCHANTS OVER LAST FEW DAYS RIVAL 'BOOM' ERAS

All Emphatic in Pronouncing Results As Best Since Pre-Depression

Five of Midland's leading department store merchants today voiced triumphant, emphatic praises when asked for statements about the clearance sales which have been held this week.

T. R. Wilson, owner of Wilson's Dry Goods Store, used such strenuous phrases as "tremendous success," "greatest sale since depression," "taking this year as a whole, business has increased 25 per cent."

He went on to say that he felt sufficiently rewarded for the extensive advertising campaign carried on previous to the opening, and that although the years '27 and '28 still hold the record, this year rivals them closely.

Addison Wadley, owner of Wadley's Department Store though not as explicit as Wilson, is thoroughly satisfied, and said that his sale was a complete success, and the profit is far greater than that of last year.

J. C. Smith, newcomer to Midland four months ago, who has already built up a prominent establishment here, was also pleased.

"We've really had a very nice trade—only for the sale, but very for the entire line we've been here. Business is exceedingly good for this time of year," Mr. Smith also volunteered he thinks Midland is a "great place," and that he hopes to remain here even longer than in Ranger, where he was formerly in business. He stayed in Ranger nineteen years.

C. C. Mayfield, manager, stated that the United's Clearance sale has been very gratifying during its three days and that he expects this weekend to round out a splendid sale.

Everybody's Store holds practically the same opinion of the sale as the others. It has been very good, and a huge improvement over the past few years.

All of the merchants are agreed on the fact that Monday was the largest day. During the following days, however, the decline in trade was only natural, and no steeper than had been expected.

Sales at all of the stores are again expected to reach a peak in the latter part of the week. Many farmers and rural residents are busy with crops at this time of the week but are expected to come in for lots of trading before the sales are closed this week end.

ADOPTION OF PLAN BY AMENDMENT IS DESIRE OF PARTY

'CURE FOR EVIL'

Keynote Says Plan Is Remedy For All Economic Ills

CLEVELAND, July 15. (P)—Martin F. Smith, temporary chairman of the national convention of Townsend clubs, addressing the opening session today, said that the adoption of a constitutional amendment to legalize the Townsend old age pension plan is "an essential part of our campaign this summer."

Smith described the proposed amendment as one "drafted by Doctor Townsend which he later will submit to you and the nation."

"Smith told of a plan to submit to all state legislatures the proposed amendment embodying the Townsend program. Otto Case, Washington state treasurer and keynote of the convention said that the Townsend plan is a "remedy for all economic ills and evils of the present day."

Creation of a more Democratic organization to succeed the closely-knit Townsend Old Age Revolving Pensions, Ltd., was announced late Tuesday on the eve of the second Townsend national convention.

Under the new organization plan the old body will be dissolved entirely and in its place will appear a new corporation, Townsend Recovery Plan, Inc.

This would strip Dr. F. E. Townsend, founder of the movement for imposition of a transactions tax to raise funds for payment of $200 monthly pensions to the aged, of his present power to appoint members to the board of directors.

Power to name the fifteen members of the board will pass to the "Citizens Maximi," the national advisory board of one member from each state, chosen at state conventions.

SCREAMS SUMMON OFFICERS TO THE MORAN HOME

Husband Arrested As He Attempts To Kill Wife

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 15. (P)—Polly Moran's screams of "don't kill me" summoned officers to the residence of the film comedienne here today and they snapped handcuffs on her husband, Martin Malone, while he was clicking his pistol.

A jammed cartridge saved the comedienne's life, sheriff's deputies said. Malone was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon. Officers said that he was intoxicated.

The officers said the comedienne told them Malone pointed the gun at her and pulled the trigger repeatedly but the cartridge jammed.

WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—"This generation has a rendezvous with destiny," said President Roosevelt in one of the high lines of his Philadelphia speech.

Did the president make that one up himself? Or did he crib it, in essence, from one of his most persistent critics?

The only reason for raising the point is that David Cushman Coyle wrote in the final chapter of his book called "Brass Tacks":

"America, as Walter Lippmann said, has an appointment with Destiny."

And in a new simplified version of the earlier book, entitled "Uncommon Sense," Coyle paraphrases to say:

"This generation, as Walter Lippmann once said, has an appointment with destiny."

Lippmann is a newspaper columnist who again and again has taken the president and the new deal to task for various policies.

Favorite of Roosevelt Coyle is one of Roosevelt's favorite authors. His friends say the president has been considerably influenced by his writings and that the philosophy of his acceptance speech was closely akin to Coyle's.

For instance, Coyle writes: "For 50 years the American people have been fighting against trusts and monopolies. The people have been defeated again and again, while the masters of high finance have extended their power."

Democrats may be expected to push circulation of Coyle's newest book much in the same way as republicans have promoted James P.

Quezon Toils With Fiery Zeal to Achieve Goal of A Great Country

This is the first of two illuminating articles written for NEA Service and The Reporter-Telegram by Jack Foster, New York World Telegram staff writer, after a month's stay in the Philippine Islands on a round-the-world news-gathering assignment.

The first article gives an intimate picture of President Manuel Quezon; the second will present a cross-section of native Filipino opinion on the problems, hopes and hazards connected with the Commonwealth's progress toward complete independence.

BY JACK FOSTER NEA Service Special Correspondent MANILA, Philippine Islands, July 15.—A small, sensitive hand with tapering fingers reaches for its third cigaret in half an hour.

"I've been sick off and on for years, you know," says the clear, incisive voice. "But I've never given up smoking. It entertains my nerves."

Certainly it is anything that President Manuel Luis Quezon needs. It is something to entertain his nerves. Now that he has fully recovered from his recent illness his nerves carry him from dawn until late at night through the manifold duties of starting this new commonwealth on its unique destiny.

They lead him through interviews, press conferences, cabinet meetings, social functions, trips into the provinces—that endless round of routine which is the penalty of fame.

EIGHT MONTHS have passed since Quezon was inaugurated as the first president of the Commonwealth of the Philippines.

Those eight months have served to bring to the nation's leaders—particularly to the slight but dynamic figure in the president's chair in Malacanang Palace—full realization of the basic implications of that first step toward complete independence.

The passionate ardor for a goal achieved—the enthusiasm for a triumph earned after 400 years of restless campaigning—the ecstasy that swept Manila during the inauguration of "Hell Bent for Election" and "Still Hell Bent."

Norris Undecided on Race—Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska will decide whether to stand for re-election or persist in his refusal to run, in accordance with relative success of a current drive by his friends to gather petitions to put him on the ballot as an independent.

Reports in Washington indicate that if the senator does decide to run he will face one of the hardest contests of his long career. The democratic candidate, Terry Carpenter, is an accomplished rabble-rouser and the choice of the Townsends. The republican candidate, Bob Simmons, will have the support of most conservatives.

Although the state democratic organization, headed by Arthur Mulren and Senator Burke, has repudiated Carpenter and endorsed Norris, progressive friends of the veteran independent senator doubt whether that group wants Norris to win or can be depended on for effective aid.

If Norris runs, however, he will have the full support of Roosevelt. Charlie Michelson, the democratic party's boss press agent, recently hired a prominent economist to help his publicity staff during the campaign.

"Now what do you want me to do?" the economist asked. "If I knew what I wanted you to do, I'd do it myself," Michelson replied. "You see this button on my coat-sleeve? It's useless. It doesn't button anything. But you look funny if you don't have a button there."

"That's the way with an economist. He doesn't button anything. But people think it's funny if you don't have one."

T-Man Film Thrills Audiences at Ritz The hair-rising exploits of the federal T-men, Department of Justice agents assigned to the U. S. Treasury is providing the exciting screen fare at the Ritz Theatre today and tomorrow where Columbia's "Counterfeit" is the feature attraction.

The impressive cast is headed by Chester Morris and Margot Grahame, who sky-rocketed to star rank with her performance in "The Informer," with Lloyd Nolan, Marian Marsh, Claude Gillingwater and George McKay in support.

T-man Morris, in the picture, is assigned to "get the goods" on the counterfeiting ring dominated by Lloyd Nolan and his screen sweetheart, Margot Grahame. Morris wins their confidence by impressing them with the fact that he is a grim killer and is soon admitted to the inner sanctum. His rise works and the whole criminal band is captured in a climactic gun battle between the counterfeits and the T-men.

The story is an original screen play by William Rankin and Bruce Manning. Eric Kenton directed.

More than 3000 varieties of soybeans have been imported to the United States from the Orient.

alotabs For Bloating, Sour Stomach, Flatulence, Nausea and Sick Headache, due to Constipation.

— have given way to the sober comprehension of the heavy burden of being a free small nation in this hungry part of the world. Face to face with the small, thin man on whom this responsibility weighs most heavily, you sense his vibrant enthusiasm.

FRAIL BUT FULL OF FIRE President Quezon is 5 feet 6 inches tall; he weighs 135 pounds; his belt sinks deeply into his narrow waist; the marks of weariness often swing under his eye and across his cheeks.

Yet there is no one in the Philippines with the actual vigor, the will to drive himself, of President Quezon.

For many long months he lay on a sanatorium couch, ill of tuberculosis. During that time he examined himself, and with himself, the realities of those few brief years huddled together that are called a man's life.

An extended illness, fraught with pain and impatience, creates one of two points of view. Either it produces within the victim a sense of futility and defeatism, or it makes him more eager than ever before to live vigorously, to live restlessly to live importantly.

FEARS NO ILLS In Mr. Quezon it had the better effect: doubtly exaggerated. He is now contemptuous of all ills and complaints. "Sickness will never get you; if you don't want it," he once told a friend. "Of course, you may be run over by an automobile or you may be drowned while you're in swimming. But those ordinary attacks on your well-being—don't let them bother you."

Such a philosophy is, indeed, that of a man who has unconditional confidence in himself. It is extremely doubtful, I am sure that it ever entered President Quezon's mind that there is anything he wanted to do that he couldn't do. His sharp powers of discernment lend evidence of this faith.

DISCERNMENT IS AMAZING Once he was investigating a case of suspected graft. The alleged culprit had come into his office and was beginning to tell a story that bore all the logic of complete plausibility.

"Stop lying to me!" thundered Mr. Quezon. "That's the same story the others told. It can't be true."

It wasn't what he said that shook him. It was the tone of his voice, which indicated that he not only saw the lie, but the whole fabric of the plot. The man broke down and actually seemed to consider it a privilege to admit his guilt.

President Quezon, like Napoleon, whose life has fascinated him, is one of the world's great optimists. Those who were close to him during the days when he commuted between New York and Washington tell about the way that he used to accept multiple invitations for dinner.

SHOWS TOUCH OF GENIUS Sometimes he would accept as many as 4 invitations for the same hour of the same evening. Like all dynamic men, who hate details, he seemed to suppose that, if forced to, he could cope with the problem successfully.

But when the evening came and when he found that time could not be split four ways, he would wash his hands completely of the matter. He would select that invitation which seemed most important; he would advise his companions to make satisfactory excuses for the others. Then he would slip on his topmost smile good night, and go forth expectantly for a pleasant evening.

That, I suppose, is genius. President Quezon still plans more for himself to do than could possibly be achieved by one man. Yet his life as president of the Commonwealth is much more routine now than it ever was before. The office has made him conscious of the clock the date book—and the bitter shortness of a day.

WORKS LIKE DYNAMO He rises at 5:30, and has breakfast on a little balcony of Malacanang, the palace overlooking a silver stretch of water. He meets his first visitors in his pajamas, snapping out instructions or answers with the force of mid-morning. At 8 or 8:30 he dresses, shaves, and comes into his large and formal office.

This harbors an incongruous collection of fine curios. There are native kris, a suit of Japanese armor, Moro gins, an ivory Buddha, a gold inlaid cabinet guarding a parchment copy of the constitution.

On the walls are paintings of Magellan, the island's discoverer; of Frank Murphy, the last governor general, who has just resigned as U. S. commissioner to the Philippines; of Rizal, the Filipino's greatest revolutionary spirit.

Here President Quezon signs papers, meets others with appointments, and is warned by his secretary Jorge Vargas, that it is time for the press conference.

At the end of a long table he faces two rows of inquisitive newsmen, only three of whom are Americans.

MEDAL IS FASCINATING As he meets, without hesitation the onrush of their questions, you notice through the thin fabric of his native spun shirt a silver religious medal. It dangles from a string. Moved by the animation of his arms and shoulders, it swings back and forth like the orb of a pendulum. It seems to measure, as he lays out his policies, the rapid pulse beat of the new nation.

During the conference one of the reporters raises a skeptical question: Will the proposed form of the Commonwealth succeed? At this suggestion, the medal suddenly stops swinging, and you notice that the president has straightened up. "I tell you gentlemen," he says, "we will have the best democratic government in the whole world right here in the Philippines. I say democratic because with so many constitutional limitations and so many newspapers here you can't always do what you want."

As he delivered that second sentence, he let a jesting smile play on his lips. He ought to. He hasn't been hampered so far as one can notice, either by the assembly or by his critics.

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

Here may be a job for you: Pete Peppas wants a block head to make wigs on. Front porch talk: "Before we were married Jack said he would have his own way."

This happened in Midland: A man entered an office. To the man at the desk he said: "What you do to the bores who call on you?"

AT LAST! RECREATION! There were, however, to be three or four hours of recreation this morning. He was dressed in riding breeches, and when his daughters came in to kiss him on the forehead where the hair grows thin, he said:

"A drive to the hills today." They clapped their hands and tripped out of the room to wait impatiently until their father should be done with a man who, although he had heard there was to be a drive to the hills, insisted on asking dull, dry questions.

NEXT: Three schools of thought clash over the question of whether the Philippines will benefit by independence.

Leisure Time Use To Be Studied Over U. S. By 4-H Club Groups A nation wide study to improve rural and small town social and recreational life is to be a major activity of 4-H local leaders and members in the next few months.

The program seeks to discover the best way by which the youth of a community may use its leisure time and thus offset tendencies common today, which are destructive to the development of the finest manhood and womanhood.

Guides for the study are being distributed to 75,000 state, county and local club leaders of the United States by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work which is launching the project, and has secured for its sponsorship the Radio Corporation of America and affiliates, National Broadcasting Co. and RCA Victor, which provide prizes valued at approximately $17,000 to successful contestants.

The guide is in the form of a report blank and calls for information on such activities of 4-H Clubs as contests and personal growth opportunities as indicated by school records, reading habits, music participation and use of radio, church and secular programs. Other desired data is on picnics, camps, tours, public entertainments, libraries, fire prevention and cooperation in local affairs. Conservation and social services in all of their aspects complete the list of subjects for which information is desired.

Reports of local clubs are to be compared and filed with county extension agents for the selection of a county champion club early in October. The records of the county winning clubs are to be submitted to the State Club Leader in time for the selection of the state champion club by November 9. State reports in each of the four extension divisions of the United States will be judged to choose a winner therein, and one of the four will be named national champion club.

County winning clubs each receive a handsome year book to record its activities. The leader of each county champion club receives a gold medal, and its respective county extension office a silver plaque. The state winning club receives a library of 120 Victor records selected for recreational use and an RCA Victor record player. The leader of the club receives a $100 RCA fully equipped radio set.

To each member of the four regional winning clubs up to ten members and their leaders is awarded an all expense educational trip to the fifteenth National Club Congress to be held in Chicago November 27-December 5 in connection with the International Livestock Exposition.

The members of the national champion club receive a gold medal and to their county goes a combination RCA radio-photograph and 461 selected Victor records valued at $150. Two $500 college scholarships complete the prize list which are to be awarded each to a boy and girl participating in the contest who best typify the objectives of 4-H Clubs. The scholarships are to be presented in June 1937 in Radio City, N. Y. by Mr. David Sarnoff, President of Radio Corporation of America, who also provides a trip

Alma Lloyd and Warren Hull-form a new romantic team in "The Big Noise" the Warner Bros. comedy of gals, gags, and gangs, with Guy Kibbee, showing today and tomorrow at the Yucca Theatre.

Police Protect "Ghost"

TONTOGANY, O. (U.P.)—Two deputy sheriffs, William Bush and Ray Bowers, thought they saw a ghost in the night. They strode toward it, discovered it was a woman parading downtown in a nightgown, learned her husband had threatened her, went to the residence, seized two shotguns, and called it a night.

Shoes Worn 40 Years

WOODLAND, Cal. (U.P.)—John Crank believes not only in the conservation of national resources but personal ones as well. He insists he is probably the only person in the United States who has been wearing the same pair of shoes off and on for 40 years and the same hat for 35 years.

Hawaii Proud of Progress

HONOLULU, (U.P.)—Hawaiians are proud of the fact that all progress does not necessarily have to follow the flag. They installed their electrical light and power system in monarchical times, 50 years ago, or 14 years before Hawaii became a part of the United States.

Gold Flakes Start Rush STONYFORD, Cal. (U.P.)—Prospects of a new gold rush are already under way here. Drillers sinking a mine on a nearby branch have already at 120 level pumped out seventeen different flakes of gold, several of them of good size.

Midland Girls Will Get All-Star Pins At Camp Waldemar

KERRVILLE, July 15. (Spl.)—The four Midland girl campers, Barbara Jean Harper, Fredda Fae Turner, Eddy Gene Cole and Julian-an Cowden, were among the 100 girls from Camp Waldemar in the Guadalupe Mountains near Kerrville who made a sightseeing trip to San Antonio on July 10.

While there they visited the Alamo, the Spanish Governor's Palace, the Missions and other points of interest.

They are all busy working toward their all-star rating, which means that Miss Turner will receive a gold star pin for being all-star three years and the other three will receive Waldemar "W" and felt stars for being all-star the first year they are in camp. These awards will be made at the final banquet on July 17.

Not only have they found time to fulfill the requirements for all-star but they have taken part in many phases of activities besides. Misses Turner and Harper have passed the advanced tests in canoeing. In the Fourth of July horse show, Miss Turner and Miss Cowden rode in the grand parade. Miss Cole took part in the musical chair contest.

At the Texas Tribe dance Miss Cole also danced a negro tap dance, which was in keeping with the Southern Plantation theme used by the Texas.

Midland Man Marries Brownwood Girl; To Live At Midland

BROWNWOOD, July 15.—Announcement was made today of the marriage of Miss Elva Whidden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Whidden, 811 Avenue D, to Mr. Joe H. Johnson of Midland. The ceremony which took place on June 29th in Midland at the Baptist parsonage was not made known until today.

The bride, who has been reared and educated in this city, is a graduate of the local high school, is a former student of Daniel Baker College and is a graduate of Howard Payne College. She is an accomplished musician and has had a prominent place in local musical circles for several years. She has been teaching for the past two years and is a popular piano accompanist about the city.

Mr. Johnson, who is also well known in Brownwood, was formerly auditor for the Hotel Brownwood and Hotel Southern. He is now connected with the Hotel Scharbauer at Midland.

Campers At Guadalupe

Eleven Present At Meeting of Club

The Business and Professional Women's Club met Monday in the Midland County court house. A business meeting was held, followed by a brief parliamentary drill. Mrs. Susie Graves Noble presented a talk on voting, emphasizing the ethic and mechanics of voting. Eleven members of the organization were present.

At the next meeting to be held July 27, will be a formal presentation of the National Federation Charter from the national federation. Miss Ann Moore, first vice-president of the Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs will attend the meeting.

BRECKENRIDGE TO BACK ALF LANDON

Says Election of Kansas Governor Would Do Good For Nation

TOPEKA, July 15. (AP)—Colonel Frank Knox, vice presidential candidate on the republican ticket, today told newspapermen that he "welcomed" the support of Colonel Henry Breckenridge, anti-Roosevelt democrat, who announced last night after a conference with Gov. Alf Landon, republican presidential candidate, "I shall vote for Governor Landon and Colonel Knox."

TOPEKA, Kas. July 15. (P)—Henry Breckenridge, Democrat who entered four state primaries against President Roosevelt, announced Tuesday night after a surprise conference with Gov. Alf M. Landon that he will support the Republican presidential nominee.

"Under all the circumstances," said Breckenridge, assistant secretary of war during the Wilson administration, "I think his election will accomplish good for the country."

section of West Texas alone to supply the entire nation. Here is produced 75 per cent of the world's carbon black. As if that were not enough for one diorama, there is also a depiction of the activity of the only helium plant in the United States. The visitor is not allowed to miss the point that here in this fertile agricultural community are unlimited industrial opportunities, for hand and hand with foodstuffs goes the world's cheapest and most abundant fuel.

Eighty towns will have illustrated souvenir booklets and booths telling their stories in a most interesting manner in the West Texas exhibit. In addition to dioramas, towns panels, and moving pictures taken the past month throughout the cattle country of West Texas, one phase of this great industry—so close to the heart and pocketbook of the West Texan—will be told in an exhibit of the nation's most famous collection of branding irons, totalling 400, the property of A. C. Williams, president of the federal land bank of Houston. And capping the section devoted to the range country is a collection that will pull your heart strings; the Will Rogers memorial room, an exact replica of his own living room in his California home. All of Will's trophies have been loaned by his widow who feels very close to West Texas because it was in Stamford, last July 4, 1935, that America's beloved humorist attended his last round-up.

Visit the West Texas all-Resource exhibit and learn more about the cotton business, the grain sorghum business, the oil business, the worthy business of crop diversification, the manufacturing of West Texas—more than you ever realized existed. The region's educational life will not be neglected, either—the college and university exhibit will be one of the most complete ever shown in Texas. The exhibit showing the region's recreational advantages will be complete, authentic and fascinating. Seeing it will make you want to depart forthwith on a tour of the Davis mountains, the Guadalupe, Palo Duro Canyon, and the hill country. The great story will be told in paintings, pictures, dioramas, panels, and movies.

The West Texas exhibit building invites the visitor to rest and linger. There are porches all around, plenty of chairs and other comfort facilities, and actually a train puffing up to the rear of the platform on which are old-fashioned lanterns, benches, the hitching posts and drinking troughs for the horses—all the atmosphere of the old time depot including tobacco-chewing whittlers who tell the world they are "jest a-settin' around" waiting for something to happen. Inside, the atmosphere of a robust yesterday
