$19.00 FIGURE FOR NEXT YEAR IS SET BY CONTROL BOARD

30 Million Expected To Be Added By Decision EXPECT SURPLUS School Body Splits 5 to 3 on New Figure

AUSTIN, July 16 (AP)—The state board of education Wednesday fixed the per capita aid to public schools for the next school year at $19, highest in the state's history. Based on an estimated 1,560,000 scholastics, the state per capita aid would total $29,640,000.

"We believe revenue under the 20-cent rate will be larger," he said, "because of a slightly higher valuation and higher percentage of current and delinquent tax payments. The comptroller's department told us that its estimate was conservative. Collections from special taxes usually are substantially higher than the estimate."

The per capita apportionment for the current year was $18.50. The vote to increase it to $19 was 5 to 3. J. O. Guleke of Amarillo, Ernest Alexander of Dallas and Mrs. C. E. Watkins of Henderson voted against the raise, while Ghent Sanderford of Austin, R. S. Bowers of Caldwell, Tom Garrard of Tahoka, John W. Lister of Lufkin and J. G. Strong of Carthage favored it.

The automatic tax board is expected to meet near the end of this month or in August to set the tax rate. Some persons have contended that the board might fix a rate sufficient to raise only $17.50 per capita regardless of the action of the board of education.

The board allotted $2,000,000 out of next year's revenues to purchase textbooks. It said a surplus of $505,000 existed in the textbook fund.

A committee was appointed to select text books for the 1937-38 school year between now and October. The committee consists of E. J. Woodward, J. Hall Shepard of LaPorter, C. O. Pollard of Henderson, Jack Ryan of McKinney and C. H. Dillehay of Hereford.

The board will hold its next meeting in Dallas August 10.

Reagan will preside at the Friday night program, and Sheppard will be introduced by Carl Roundtree of Lamesa, former state legislator. The Big Spring high school municipal band will give a concert preceding the speaking program. A public address system will be used.

Senator Sheppard will arrive here late Friday from Buffalo Gap, and will go from Big Spring Saturday to Fort Stockton.

Among the Midland people invited to join in welcoming Senator Sheppard are Judge Elliott Barron, Ily Pratt, Clarence Schorbauer, W. W. Lackey, Paul Barron, Dr. J. B. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Covington, Fred Wemple, Judge Goodman and Judge Charles L. Klapproth.

Attorney Howard Mayes left last night for Dallas, Denton and other north Texas sites on business. He is expected to return the latter part of the week.

CARDENAS FAILS TO HALT STRIKE OF LIGHT GROUP

Personal Appeal Of President Is Refused

MEXICO CITY, July 16 (AP)—A personal plea from President Lazaro Cardenas had apparently failed to avert the strike of the Mexican Light and Power company employees set to begin at noon today.

At the president's request, G. R. C. Conway, president of the company, offered to increase the wages 520,000 pesos annually. The members strike committee, however, received the proposal coolly. They declared the lights would go out in the federal district and in the states of Morelos, Hidalgo and parts of Puebla and Michoacan unless the demands for a 1,000,000 peso raise is met.

AUSTIN, July 16 (AP)—Oil operators attending the monthly prorating hearing today charged there was a tremendous waste existing on the Louisiana side of the Rodessa field that threatens to spread to Texas.

Charles Francis Houston, attorney for the Pure Oil Company, made the charges after Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, announced evidence of the Rodessa field conditions had not been received. A special hearing on that field will be called within two weeks.

ALPENA, Mich. (U.P.)—A collie dog was playing on the tracks here recently when a northbound train pulled out to leave the city. The engineer stopped the train to wait for the dog to leave the tracks, but the collie kept on with its play.

Several minutes elapsed and finally the train edged toward the dog, but this failed to frighten the collie. Finally the dog gave the train the right of way.

Bumper Crop Of Joy For Kansans

The searing, devastating drouth that has swept the west struck too late to damage the Kansas wheat crop and farmers in most sections, as shown here, are harvesting a bumper yield, with prospects of the best price in years. The Kansas crop, said to be the largest since 1931, got off to a good start with heavy spring rains. The threshing scene above was taken on an eastern Kansas farm.

Coughlin, Smith, Townsend Form Political Alignment

Roosevelt Is Called "Liar, Betrayer" By Priest

CLEVELAND, July 16 (AP)—Rev. Charles E. Coughlin aligned himself with Dr. Francis Townsend today. Addressing the Townsend national convention, the priest, founder of the national union of social justice, told delegates "as far as the union is concerned no congressional candidate it endorses can support the great betrayer and liar, Franklin Roosevelt."

Before the address the priest met Dr. Townsend, Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, head of the share-the-wealth movement, and announced afterwards "we stand together against the unholy Trinity, London, Roosevelt and Browder."

Townsend, founder of the Townsend old age pension plan, assailed the Roosevelt administration's "crazy orgy of spending" and told the second national Townsend convention his movement has the support of other groups who seek a "new era of social justice."

He approved the principle of a constitutional amendment to make the Townsend plan effective.

HUGHES FREED IN ACCIDENT DEATH

Jury Rules Producer Not To Blame For Killing Man

LOS ANGELES, July 16 (AP)—Howard Hughes, former film producer and present holder of the world's land plane speed record, was not to blame for his automobile killing a man at a street corner last Saturday night, a coroner's jury decided Wednesday.

After an inquest, the jury found that death of the victim, Gabe S. Meyer, 60, was an unavoidable accident.

Hughes, a youthful multi-millionaire from Texas, was booked on suspicion of negligent homicide after the accident, but gained his release without bond through habeas corpus action.

For the first time, Hughes admitted reluctantly at the inquest that the young woman riding with him when Meyer was killed was Nancy Belle Bayly, Pasadena society girl. She disappeared from the accident scene unidentified and Hughes declined to tell authorities who she was, but she was a witness at the inquest.

MAN IS ARRESTED AFTER EFFORTS TO SLAY KING FAILS

Denies Intention To Hurt Ruler After Capture ACT A 'PROTEST'

'Woman In Grey' Said To Have Knocked Gun to Ground

LONDON, July 16. (AP)—King Edward VIII of England passed unscathed today through an attempted attack by an armed man. Police arrested that "woman in grey" and charged him with violating the firearms act.

They announced that a loader revolver "fell in the roadway between the King and troops following him." Some witnesses asserted the suspect actually aimed the gun at the King but that a "woman in grey" knocked it from his hand.

The police said that the man's name was George Andrew Mahon and that he was a newspaper man. The man said that his act was only a protest and exclaimed "I didn't want to hurt him." The prisoner was taken to Bow street station where he has remained for eight days.

INVESTIGATION OF ESPIONAGE WILL BE PUSHED; SAID

Revision of Order In Navy Department Likely

WASHINGTON, July 16. (AP)—Admiral William H. Standley, acting secretary of the navy said Wednesday that espionage activities of foreign powers might make necessary a revision of confidential navy documents and instructions.

Standley made his statement at a press conference in which the arrest of John S. Farnsworth, former lieutenant commander in the navy, on charges of selling confidential naval information to an agent of the imperial Japanese navy, was discussed.

Confirming reports of increased espionage, Standley said that "when there are increased naval activities there is always an increased effort to obtain information."

The navy now is building 79 new warships, many of new design. "Our naval attaches in all foreign countries," he added, "make every legitimate effort to obtain information on what foreign powers are doing. When they get wind of anything they try to find out—through regular channels—all then can about it."

Justice department agents and naval intelligence officers meanwhile continued their investigation of the Farnsworth case which, they said, might lead to further arrests.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 16—The mystery of what has happened to Louis R. Glavis, the super-sleuth who has been combating graft and scandal for PWA and the Interior Department these last three years, seems almost deep as any that Glavis himself has unraveled in his spectacular career.

But it is clear enough that his days as chief investigator for Secretary-Administrator Harold L. Ickes began a number of months ago, when he first crossed the path of Ebert K. Burlew, grand vizier to Ickes.

The duel between Glavis and Burlew became intense and the result that Glavis is going to work for senate campaign expenditures investigating committee and will also do odd jobs of investigating for president on the side.

All hands are at great pains to make clear that Glavis didn't resign, that he wasn't asked to resign, and that he wasn't fired.

After Administrator Hackett announced at a PWA party that Glavis was on the way out—and there were some loud cheers—Ickes caused Hackett to apologize to Glavis. But the famous detective has been sitting in his office with practically nothing to do and for weeks Bradley Smith of his staff has been known as "acting chief" of the division of investigation.

Glavis' first assistant left some time ago as a result of disagreement with Burlew.

of tense embarrassment in the Ickes domain and one is reminded that 28 years ago, in the Ballinger scandal, Glavis as a young man who dared to tell the truth was a storm center at the Interior Department. The circumstances, of course, are different.

Glavis is the latest of several high officials under Ickes who have been flattened out more or less completely because they antagonized Burlew. Although Ickes has often been blamed for always supporting Burlew and allowing him to ride over his subordinates in an intermittent three-year sniping fest, the fact is that Burlew has been smarter than his enemies and hence a much more effective sniper.

Ickes has become persuaded that he has suffered from the "snooping" and "man-hunting" tactics of the big Glavis force of investigators. Many PWA officials and employees were glad to side with Burlew, charging various petty or inept invasions of their offices or projects and insinuations as to their honesty.

They allege that Glavis investigated "a lot of stuff he had no business investigating" and it appears that his inquiries sometimes led him into the affairs of some of the numerous fellow Chicagoans whom Ickes brought into PWA.

Even some of Glavis' friends admit that some of his investigators acted stupidly or offensively, although it isn't easy for an outsider to judge as to the justification for the considerable bitterness against Glavis.

On the other hand, Glavis partisans point out that his division made a strong record against political crooks, oil company lobbyists, shady PWA employees, code chislers, kick-back operators, and would-be grafters.

Some of them suggest that the Glavis-Burlew battle is not over, that it is too bitter to be buried by the detective's departure, and that "Lou always gets his man."

The recent period of embarrassment has been partly due to the fact that Glavis knows so much about the administration and partly due to the fact that the White House crowd likes his work.

Glavis sat in his office for weeks after his enemies expected him to leave, apparently waiting for another appointment which would satisfy him.

He and his staff have infiltrated through a large part of the administration, encountering many interesting facts here and there. It has been suggested that he might cause the administration an enormous amount of embarrassment in the campaign were he so minded, and that thought has not been ignored by Ickes.

Ickes Unlikely To Go
However, Roosevelt has sometimes used Glavis for secret investigations and feels he can use him some more. The White House continues to be sour on Burlew, which appears to be a large reason behind rumors of a likely shakeup in the department after election, involving the possible departure of Ickes himself. These rumors should be discounted, because Ickes will be used in the campaign and Roosevelt is still fond of him off and on.

Australian Laws Trip Up Many Travelers

VIENNA, (U.P.)—Travelers to Austria must beware lest they fall into the snares of ancient, but not venerable laws.

While touring the picturesque country the traveler naturally will want to send picture cards home from one of the lakes or mountain peaks. He may make a mistake in the address and detach the unused stamp to use it for another card.

Beware!
By so doing the law is broken and the person is subject to a severe fine.

Under a law of 1835, which has survived two revolutions, the breaking down of one of Europe's most ancient monarchies and is still in force, "the transferring of a post stamp from one paper to another is forbidden" and punished by a fine of 15 times the "defraud" amount. The minimum fine is five schillings, or about a dollar.

Should the "corpus delicti" be an airmail letter to Africa, South America, the United States or to the Far East, the fine easily might be $100 or more.

What the traveler has to do, is to present the stamp at a post office where it will be exchanged for a new one against pay of two groschens, or 0.4 cent.

The law is naturally quite superannuated as it was passed at a time when modern methods of invalidating stamps were unknown. Its implication that the governmental glue is an integral part of the stamp is, of course, untenable.

But, reasonable or unreasonable, law remains law until it is formally abolished. The Austrian government, in its general house cleaning probably has overlooked the dusty corner in which such grotesque "prehistoric" ordinances lie.

Wife Wills Husband Two Rooms Free Rest of Life

SALEM, Mass. (U.P.)—Clarence Pike is set for life—at least for his living quarters.

Mrs. Hattie M. Pike, his wife, willed him two rooms, in their home for life, free of rent, the use of the exits to the rooms, the use of land connected with the house and "reasonable use of the bathroom and rooms other than bedrooms."

"Spooks" Scare Fowls, Too

TOLEDO, (U.P.)—Even a turkey vulture is afraid of "spooks". At the Toledo Zoo, the strutting fowl fled, screaming fearfully, when he thought he saw one. But the "spook" was merely a white spotted barn owl, which hissed at the dozing turkey vulture from the darkness.

Fake Movie Contest Bared

TOKYO, (U.P.)—Ten men were arrested here on charges that they swindled Japanese children in a fake "Shirley Temple contest". About 150,000 persons entered a contest advertised as an effort to find a Japanese counterpart of the little American Movie star.

high state officials. It should be given careful study by anyone desiring to vote against it. Only three states pay their chief executive less than does Texas. Many mayors in the state make several times as much money.

Who came out ahead in this exchange? Jim Ferguson, in a speech at San Angelo, called the San Angelo newspaper a "slander sheet" and the paper printed his statement. They have not reported any general falling off in circulation since the attack by "Farmer Jim."

Here is one that was funny to everybody but the victim: Yesterday a plumber was over at the Reporter-Telegram office to do some repair work and, look as hard as he could, he was unable to find the water meter. He finally appealed to a little Mexican boy out in the alley to help him find it. When the boy stood up the plumber really got a surprise. The kid had been sitting on the meter.

U. S. Senator Morris Sheppard is to talk in Big Spring tomorrow night. Many locals are going over. Despite his "brain child" prohibition law, having been voted out by the American populace he has made America and Texas a good official. It will be worth a trip over to hear him talk.

Filipinos Split on Question of Liberty; Many Fearing Disaster

This is the second of two articles written for NEA Service and The Reporter-Telegram by Jack Foster, New York World-Telegram staff writer, after a month's tour of the Philippine Islands on a globe-girdling news-gathering assignment.

BY JACK FOSTER
NEA Service Special Correspondent
MANILA, Philippine Islands, July 16.—The Commonwealth of the Philippines has entered upon the realistic phase of its development.

No informed Filipino believes any longer that life under his own rule will offer greater material benefits than he now possesses.
No thoughtful Filipino supposes that his freedom of movement and opportunity will be greater than now.
No one, who sees an army being built, the comfort of free trade with the United States on the future war, is under the delusion that existence without powerful foreign aid is going to be a bed of roses.

LEADERS REALIZE TASK

"This is the job. The leaders of the islands know it. President Quezon has shuffled from one city to another in the archipelago to bring this reality home to the people.
The Philippines have passed from the exhilaration of independence-attain to the sobriety of independence-to-be-made-successful.
What is the popular reaction to this development?
During the month that this correspondent has spent in the islands he has made it his assignment to find out.

He has talked with business men in their offices, spinners in their mills, houses, political leaders and churchmen, taxi drivers and taxi dancers, bellboys and farmers, sugar men and coconut peelers.
Many he found, especially those in the provinces, had no conception whatever of the whole idea of independence. America hadn't disturbed the peaceful routine of their tropical lives.

HOW THEY VIEW CHANGE

"But among the informed population a large and expressive class has received a much more eloquent response, as the average Filipino is a born orator.
"Do you," asked the reporter, drifting from place to place, "really want complete, unconditional independence after 10 years?"
"Of course, we do," said the lad who had just registered in the army. "We can take care of ourselves. We're going to be a hard nation to beat."
"I'm just a plain, common, thinking man," said the well-known Manila business man. "But I know what I can see—and I can see here a prosperous Philippine nation protected by a friendly United States."
"If the United States leaves, I see a loss of free trade, possible economic chaos, and aggression from the outside. I used to be red hot for independence. Now I'm just as red hot for some permanent alliance with the United States."

VARYING OPINIONS GIVEN

The waitress puts it more sentimentally. "Gosh, she said, "I'm sorry when the Stars and Stripes comes down."
"Independence sounds okay to me," said the bellhop.
"I do wish," said the distributor, "that this question of independence hadn't gone so far. We need American protection. If you step out, Japan will certainly step in."
"To be sure we want independence," said the editor in the Southern Island. "We've accepted the Tydings-McDuffie Act.

"I'm worried about the Philippines' standard of living," said the sugar man. "If America leaves, it may drop to Oriental levels."
"Do we want independence?" said the politician. "Just look at the vote. That ought to show you."

Thus, you see, the Philippines are split three ways on the idea of independence: those who know little or nothing about it; those who believe that is a satisfactory way toward national contentment; and those who want a strong and permanent alliance with the United States.

LIVING STANDARD GOOD

It was of this large and growing latter group that Roy W. Howard, then chairman of the board of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers, wrote in his widely quoted dispatch from Manila last December. That group was great then; it is even greater now.
Their viewpoint is that the nation should not run the danger of losing its present prosperity to gain an ideal—not to sacrifice its high standard of living.

The standard of living in the Philippines is far better than that of its neighbors. A farmer receives 25 cents a day, a street cleaner 40 cents, a messenger 50 cents, a coconut peeler 50 cents, a skilled worker in a sugar central $1 to $1.50, whereas the same type of employe in Java, China, or Japan would not receive half as much.
This is due to sugar prosperity. A large amount of this Philippine produce—850,000 long tons—is now admitted duty free to the United States. Under the Tydings-McDuffie Act, however, an ascending tariff will begin in the sixth year and at the end of 10 years—unless a trade agreement is reached—the Philippines have to pay the full foreign rate.

On this basis the nation could not compete in the world market. The industry would have to be liquidated. And the whole level of Philippine society, it is predicted, would be lowered.

WILLING TO MAKE SACRIFICE

The ardent independentist is perfectly willing to accept this circumstance.
"You have the idea," said one of their most intelligent leaders, "that with independence the Philippines want to maintain the high standards of living laid down by America. This is not necessarily so.
"We are grateful for the education, the lesson in health, the encouragement to think and plan—these and many other things America gave us. But the habits of life you brought I think are perhaps too high for our people. We can get along happily with less.
Chief energies of the government—aside from creating a citizen's army—have been bent during these first seven months toward preparing the nation for that day when sugar revenues will diminish or disappear.

MACARTHUR BUILDS ARMY

The budding army is under the close direction of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. At an expenditure of $8,000,000 a year, it is the Philippines' answer to Japan's intense scrutiny of the situation.
There are those skeptics who believe that, with 7200 islands, with a 11,000-mile coastline, no country in the world could possibly defend itself against a major aggressor. But General MacArthur repeatedly has scouted this theory—and as a great tactician he has staked his reputation on his plans.
The economic feature of the country lies wholly in the hands of president Quezon and his advisers. How much has been accomplished during these first seven months? Very little.

A national economy board has reported; there has been much talk about a future trade conference with the United States; a few small industries have been started. Economically speaking, this is about all.

SOCIALISTIC TINGE SEEN

But already you can see what color the new government will assume as it progresses. It will have a decided tinge of Socialism, mixed with some of the elements of a dictatorship.

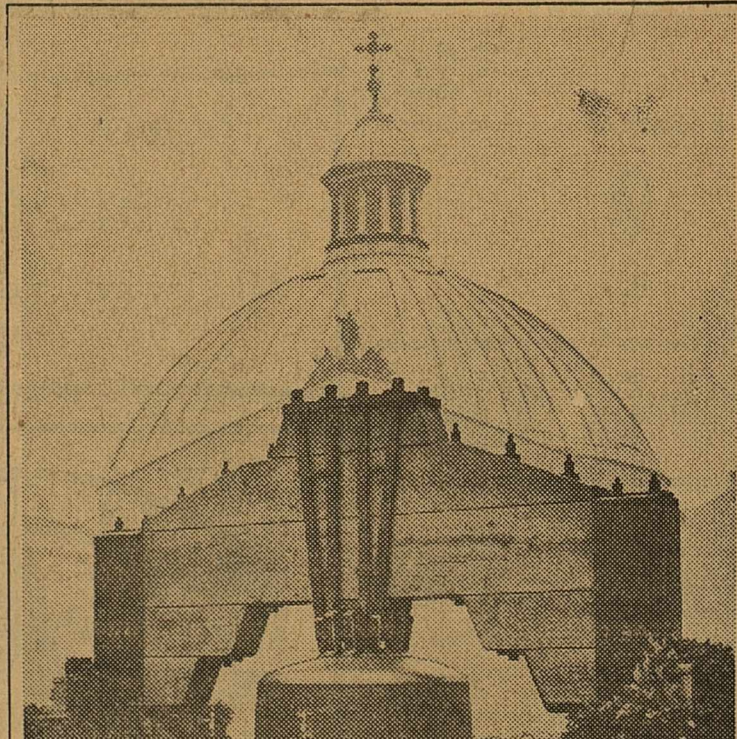

To encourage the creation of industries the government, if it can tap new sources of revenue, will invest in them itself. In some cases it is possible that certain industries actually will be nationalized.
First step in the new program according to a leading official, will be to produce in sufficient quantities for consumption the basic needs of all Filipinos—cotton textiles, fish, rice, and corn. Then to exploit the dependents, led by the highest government officials, insist on pursuing the Tydings-McDuffie Act, with certain trade modification, to its logical conclusion.

It is inevitable that these two factions meet some day in political conflict. Filipinos will face Filipino rather than Filipino face American.

Typical Home Study Object of Exhibit

AUSTIN.—A simple fireplace before which sits a cedar bench, and over which hangs a smoky, old-time coal-oil lantern, graces the interior of a typical pioneer home, the center of a botany exhibit at the University of Texas Centennial Exposition.

Built by hand as the early settlers of Texas had to build their homes, it was constructed through the cooperation of the National Park Service and the Texas State Parks Board. Rooms and furnishings are of native Texas wood taken from the Bastrop Lost Pines area by CCC workers under the supervision of J. R. Pfeiffer, senior construction foreman at the park.

Consisting of an entry room, a living room, and a bedroom, the house measures 12 by 38 feet. The entry room is a native black walnut, the living room of paneled pine, the bedroom of red cedar, the exterior of pine clapboard, and the roof of pine shingles.

The fireplace is built of stone taken from Mount Selman. Hand-wrought iron adorns it. Red-checked curtains, so common in early pioneer homes, add to the scene.
Three-foot longitudinal sections of various kinds of trees, showing the cross-section both horizontally and vertically, are arranged about the house. Among the woods on exhibit are the hackberry, willow, pine oak, red gum, spycanero, calico ash, white oak, cottonwood, plain red gum, figured gum, white ash, hickory, cypress, oak, maple, beech, persimmon, magnolia, elm, holl, basswood, ebony, soap-bush and mesquite.
The only modern evidences about the house are the electric lights, placed there to give the summer Centennial visitor to the Exposition a better view of the interior, which would otherwise be dark.
Over the fireplace hangs a picture of a scene in the Bastrop Lost Pines area. This section covers 70 square miles, and is separated by a 120-mile stretch from the westernmost East Texas pines. Hence, it gets the appellation, "lost."
The more outstanding of the wood exhibits are four large cross-sections of trees. A piece of alligator juniper which grew to the age of 250 years in the Guadalupe Mountains shows the marks left by burns, probably sustained in forest fires. A cross-section of a red gum, 275 years old, taken from near Lufkin in Angelina county is also displayed.

Fighting undaunted against poverty, Mrs. E. H. "Ted" Coy, above, widow of one of Yale's football immortals, is working as a domestic in Oklahoma City. Discovery of her plight came after Mrs. Coy, jobless and destitute, had pawned her wedding ring, Coy's fraternity pin, and other jewelry he had given her in affluent days.

Wedding Revealed by Honeymoon

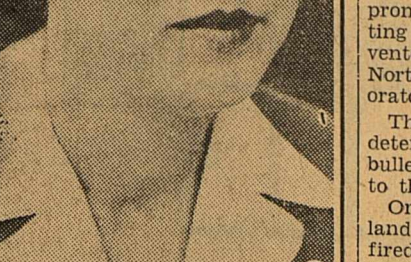

Departure on a honeymoon cruise revealed the marriage of Floyd Odium (below), head of the $100,000,000 Atlas Corporation, who emerged from the depression one of the world's richest men, and Jacqueline Cochran (top), one of the world's most daring fliers. Odium was divorced from his first wife last year.

More Olympic Dope
BERLIN. (U.P.)—Denmark will be represented by 80 athletes at the Olympic Games. It has participated in all Olympics so far held and has won eight gold medals.

The first it won in 1896 at Athens in the weight-lifting contests. The others were won as follows: 1906—one in wrestling, and one in the football tournament; 1912—in rowing (coxswain's fours); 1920—in fancy diving; 1924—one in boxing and one in fencing. The latter won by Miss Ossier in the Danish was the only gold medal a Danish woman athlete ever won. Its eighth and last gold medal Denmark won in 1928 in the Olympic Musical Contest in Amsterdam.

Denmark also reached the finals in the Olympic football tournament in 1908 and 1912 but was defeated by England. At the coming games the Danish mermaids bear watching. One of them, Ragnhild Hveger, has established a new world's record over 500 meters free-style. Denmark will also be represented by a strong equestrian team. One of its members is Prince Gustav Adolf of Denmark—another proof of the liberalism and democracy of this Northern European monarchy.

EGYPT
The Land of the Nile will send 80 athletes to Berlin. Egypt has the best chances of winning medals with its "strong men" who hold five weight-lifting world records. In addition, it will participate in the football tournament as it did at Amsterdam. Egypt played a good role at this contest. Its swarthy players surprised fans by their speed, zeal, and clever heading, but above all by their fairness.

Egypt has a unique Olympic experience. When the fancy diving contest at Amsterdam was over the Egyptian flag, a white crescent with stars on a green background, went up the center flag pole to indicate that the Egyptian Simaika had won and the stolid Dutch firemen's brass band solemnly intoned their version of the Egyptian national anthem. They had hardly finished when the green flag was hurriedly hauled down and the Stars and Stripes were hoisted in its place.

For, after checking and re-checking their complicated score cards the judges had found that not Simaika, but Peter Desjardines, U. S. A., had won while Simaika placed second. Nevertheless, Egypt won its gold medals at Amsterdam with Nossier in the weight-lifting, heavy weight division, and with Moustafa in wrestling, light-heavy weight division.

ESTONIA
This little country has announced a team of approximately 40 will participate. The first Olympics in which Estonia participated was at Antwerp in 1920. Prior to 1918 Estonia did not exist as an independent country but was a Russian province. Estonian wrestlers and weight-lifters have been well out in front in Olympic competition without being quite able to win a gold medal.

In the coming games Estonia will participate chiefly in the "strongmen's" division. But it also will have entries in track and field sports. Estonia possesses a few athletes able to reach the finals. There is for instance Arnold Viiding who in the shot put is good for a heave around the 16 meter mark. In last year's world list Viiding placed fourth with a mark of 16.06 meters, one centimeter behind John Layman, U. S. A.

FINLAND
The Finn's phalanx at Berlin will be about 150 strong. This number, no doubt will include a few stars who will be capable of adding to the 49 gold medals Finland has amassed; 91 won in track and field sports and 18 in wrestling. These trophies, except one, were won in the last five Olympics, as Finland only hit its stride in 1912 at Stockholm. There slinky Hannes Kohlemainen, then just as much of a surprise to experts as his countryman Paavo Nurmi was a decade later, trotted away to win three gold medals. Finland's first and only gold medal before that was won in 1906 at Athens, in the discus throw. Greek style, an event only twice on the Olympic program. The winner was W. Jaervinen, father of Achilles and Matti Jaervinen, both of whom proved their prowess later. The latter, too, won gold medal in the javelin throw at Los Angeles. Also for the coming games Matti is odds-on favorite for the javelin event.

Gold medals won in track events proper are: two in the 1,500 meters; four in the 5,000 meters; four in the 10,000; two in the Marathon; three in the 3,000 meters steeplechase, and three in cross-country. Of those Nurmi won six, Kohlemainen four—in addition to his three at Stockholm, he won the Marathon in 1920—while Willie Ritola, Nurmi's Gene Yonke so to speak, won three.

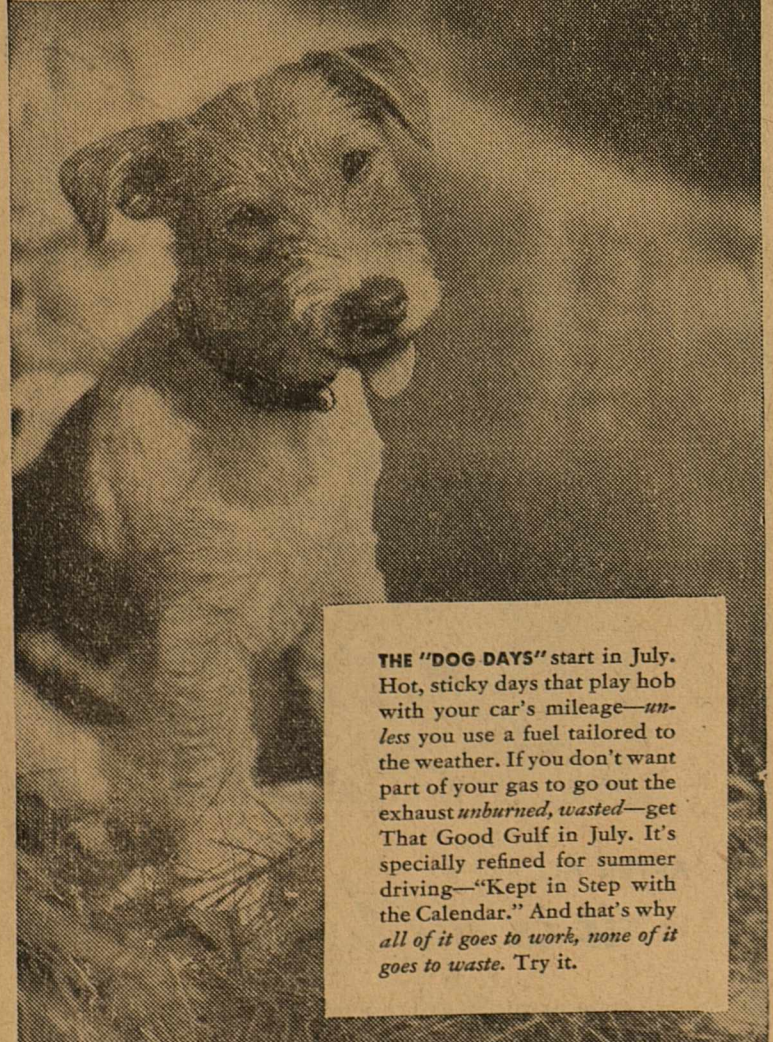

Those won in the field division were: one in the hop-step-and-jump; one in the shot put—by Porhola in 1920, incidentally the only time the Americans were beaten out of a gold medal in this event—four in the discus; four in the javelin; two in the Pentathlon; and one in the Decathlon.

At the coming games the Finns will have to stage a spectacular comeback to repair their reputation as the world's best long-distance runners, which was almost shattered at Los Angeles. Competition will be even keener this time experts believe. New men are coming up in other countries. There is Donald Lash, U. S. A., to mention only one. Moreover, the Finns are not what they used to be when Nurmi and Ritola were running. Paavo Nurmi is coaching the Finnish team.

CHICAGO, July 15—Max Schmeling will defeat Jim Braddock, if they collide in September.

Schmeling would belt out Joe Louis every night in the week. Max Baer would do the same thing to Schmeling.

Louis would never have any more trouble with Baer than he had last fall.

These are the opinions of Jack Kearns, who managed Jack Dempsey, to the championship and million dollar gates.

"I doubt that Braddock can get in sufficient good condition between now and the end of the current outdoor season to repel the Schmeling who came out of the Louis fight," says Kearns, now the proprietor of a loop restaurant. "Joe Gould was guilty of a colossal blunder when he permitted Louis to beat Braddock to the Schmeling scrap."

"I have an idea that Schmeling knocked Braddock out of his one chance for a really important purse when he convinced Louis of the folly of carrying his chin so high. The negro was the lad who was packing them in."

"Fighting largely is a matter of styles," asserts Kearns, explaining his picking Schmeling over Louis, Baer over Schmeling, and Louis over Baer.

Braddock Requires Warm-Up
Kearns considers Braddock as nothing more than an extremely fortunate individual who caught Baer in worse condition than Louis found the Californian.

"At that, Braddock might have gone on for another two or three years against the blokes who are around now had he kept busy," declares the dapper doctor.

"Braddock shows the almost inevitable result of a chap suddenly coming into what to him is big money after five lean years. Braddock is one of the finest men who ever boxed. Naturally a good fellow, he has revealed in the many banquets that have been tossed his way."

"I'll charge another large mistake to Gould if he sends Braddock into a Schmeling battle this year without something in the way of a warm-up, and the stevedore scarcely has time for anything more than that between now and another indoor season. Jim can't be sharpened up in a gymnasium."

Kearns cannot comprehend Baer's comeback activities to date any more than he can understand the management of Braddock.

"Ancl Hoffman first should have taken Baer into the woods and had him ready for something out of the ordinary this fall," says the man who signed for Dempsey while the Manassa Man was making boxing big business. "Schmeling's knock-out of Louis presented Baer with a golden opportunity."

"After all, he stopped Joe Jacob's entry. A great majority suspect that Louis experienced an off night against Schmeling. Any first class ballyhoo bureau could do a first class job of selling the customers on the possibility that Baer had two off nights a few weeks apart last year."

"But instead of bringing Baer east in some kind of shape and talking him back into the spotlight, Hoffman has him running around long hops will be 3,100 miles across the Pacific.

Marvin Owen, shown at the finish of his swing, has silenced the critics who had the Detroit club disposing of him following his batting flop in the world series last fall. Hitting 30 points above his 1935 average, of .263, the third baseman has taken to clouting home runs.

"Then we must carry sufficient petrol for 4,000 miles, and that is equivalent to the weight of 20 men, yet it must be carried in a plane built for two."

Becoming more confidential, Amy went on:

"I have been asked whether Jim and I quarrel when we are in the air. We do, quite often. Even in the best of regulated households that happens."

"Husband and wife cannot both be right, and as Jim has much greater flying experience than I have I bow to his experience, although I often shout, 'you are wrong and I am right.' But there are ways of making it up, and it is rather fun afterwards for both husband and wife to acknowledge they were wrong."

Thank Librarian for Books Loaned to the Boy Scouts in Camp

The Midland county library today announced receipt of a letter from Alfred J. Stiles, scout executive of the Buffalo Trail council, thanking them for extending their facilities for the scouts in their summer camp at Barksdale. Books were sent regularly to the camp.

The letter follows:
"Personally and on behalf of the scouts who attended Camp Fawcett, our scout camp near Barksdale this summer, I want to thank you for your fine contribution to our camping program. The books which you sent to camp with our Midland scouts were widely read and were thoroughly enjoyed."

"In addition to providing the boys with pleasant recreational moments, your books served as the basis for a pageant on Texas history, which was one of the finest council fire events I have ever witnessed. Your book on Texas history depicted in a pictorial manner many of the scenes of early Texas life. The most noteworthy of the camp fire stunts was a skit on the life of Jean La Fitte and the coming of Coronado to Texas. In addition to these pictures of Texas history, the Battle of Goliad, the drawing of the black beans, the Fall of the Alamo, and the Battle of San Jacinto, as well as sketches from the life of Sam Houston, were portrayed."

"The Boy Scout movement has always maintained that reading is a fundamental part of a boy's training. We believe in the development of a reading program in every troop. We know that the Scouts of Midland are fortunate in having a fine library there at their disposal and we are pleased that you saw fit to widen the influence of the Midland county library and permit our camp at Barksdale to share your books.

"If we can be of service to you in any way in part payment of your helpful cooperation to us, we would be pleased to serve you."
(Signed).

Child Development Is Sometimes Slow

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
So often I see plants behave like people. Each of us, I believe, has his counterpart in the natural world. There's a slow poke of a bush in particular. When I first saw it, nearly a year ago—I have changed residence and gardens—it was at its blooming best. Today it is still asleep and the gardener wanted to cut it down. I held up a hand. "No, don't touch it. There is life in it and some day it will wake up and discover that its fellows have been busy. Look at the trunk—that means vitality. And long after these fly-by-nights have had their party and no one looks at them, these leaves will be bigger and the blossoms longer-lived than all the rest."

Today I see one of the leaf buds opening an eye. My friend, the blot on the spring landscape, is going to do things. Still Waters Run Deep. There is Johnny in school. Report cards are bad. Will the teacher recommend his going on in the fall? His examination papers, however, are interesting. They seldom have the right answers, but a delver in the mechanics of thought could see a slumbering power that the parrots lack. He skips over surfaces because they are shallow. Down in the depths the astute eye notices ideas far beyond his years.

Perhaps, however, the gardener, or teacher, and even the parent, sees only the failure to keep up with time, and that the child's showing is a detriment to class records. He doesn't fit into the landscape, in brief. I say, be patient. Some children flower slowly, but when they do, it will be noticed.

Once my own daughter was in a class I was teaching. As she had been put ahead with three others on account of crowding, I found myself in a tight place. I couldn't help her with the advanced work, for that would have been fatal. She must not lose place or friends by being called "mother's pet."

Being Fair To All. At night I was too busy with household matters to take her in hand. But I doubt if I should have, anyway. She was on a par with those three I couldn't coach and it would have been unfair. She got all the wrong answers, of course, but in her reasoning I saw brilliance. I let her alone. It was a tough semester for her, poor little soul, but she emerged triumphantly at the last.

Some children develop slowly even in normal circumstances. Not all boys and girls watch the time-clock of life. Many so-called dumplings develop into mature and brilliant people at thirty or thirty-five instead of eighteen or twenty. Character, like mentality, often sleeps for years, like my sturdy bush, and then outdoes its fellows. Wait. Encourage the tardy and have faith in the slow. Your casual child may yet be your prodigy. TREASURES

By Helen Welshimer

I HAVEN'T a diamond diadem, Or a golden locket and chain, I haven't a four-poster wooden bed Where a king or a queen has lain.

NOBODY famous ever has sipped From a cup or plate at my table; There isn't a famous thing I own That a dealer would care to label.

BUT I am richer than if I had The wealth that the kings assign, For I have your arms close-folding, dear, And the touch of your lips on mine.

First Courses That Are Appealing

By MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

It's the first course, more than likely, that will set the final course of the summer dinner party.

Hot weather appetites need to be spurred by foods with delicate, appealing flavors, and the hostess who has invited guests for breakfast, luncheon or dinner should give especial care to the opening of the meal.

Chilled and glistening jellied bouillon, iced fruits or fruit juices, fish and vegetable cocktails are first favorites among hot weather appetizers.

Keep Dishes Cold. If the iced melon or fruit cocktail can be served in a well of ice, so much the better. However, if this form of service is not convenient, see that the food remains on ice until just before serving. The dishes in which the frosty mixture is to be served also should be thoroughly chilled.

Fruit is refreshing in almost any form. A dozen richly colored, perfect cherries on a small white plate with a few green leaves for color contrast makes an individual serving few can resist.

Jellied consommé is delicate for hot summer noons or evenings. Highly seasoned, it stimulates the appetite much as a hot soup does.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Baked apples, cereal, cream, minced ham on toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Iced bouillon, Melba toast, macaroni baked with cheese and tomatoes, brown bread, berries with sugar and cream, milk, tea.

DINNER: Maceoine of fruit, boned shoulder of lamb stuffed and roasted, broiled tomatoes, stuffed pepper ring salad, chocolate cup cakes filled with mint ice cream, milk, coffee.

Since very cold foods have a tendency to dull the sense of taste, extra salt and pepper are needed for an iced consommé.

Jellied tomato bouillon has a trap piquant. It should be quiveringly firm, but not stiff enough to hold its shape. A jelly that is too stiff is far from appetizing.

Gelatin for Thickening

Instead of standing for long hours over a hot stove, cooking down meat stock into jellies, the modern housewife uses gelatin as a thickening agent for bouillons and consommés. Canned soups and bouillon cubes also simplify preparation of these dishes.

A precaution to keep in mind in planning menus, either in summer or winter, is that flavors should not be repeated. If the meal starts with tomato juice or jellied tomato bouillon, do not serve a tomato salad. When the first course consists of fruit, the salad should be of vegetables and the dessert a pudding or ice cream. A jellied salad or dessert would have little appeal following a jellied first course.

However, by planning carefully, you can take full advantage of the variety of fruits and vegetables available to offer your guests varied and interesting meals. It is wise to follow the grocer's advice and select each fruit and vegetable at the height of its season, when its flavor is best.

A maceoine of fruit is made with several varieties, prepared in tart, fruit-flavored jelly and poured so that each layer hardens separately. The molded brick is then cut in slices to serve.

Scrubbed Hoboes Sought. SANTA ROSA, Cal. (U.P.)—Police are looking for possible thieves and hoboes who look as though they did not need a wash. They believe it would give a clue to the purloiners of 1,000 bars of soap stolen from the Valley Wholesale Grocery Warehouse.

Take These Beauty Aids On Your Trip

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

A beauty preparation which serves more than one purpose is invaluable to the traveler or to one who spends almost every weekend out of town. If you are tired of trying to squeeze just one more jar into an already bulging bag and of making your hostess' guestroom look like a cosmetic cabinet, do consider some of the special items that are being featured now.

For instance, there's a new cologne that is milky instead of clear and which serves as cleanser and powder base, as well as skin freshener. Complexions which do not need heavy night creams can use the light creamy liquid as a softener after soap and water cleanings. One who travels by train, plane or car could get along very well with a bottle of this, a loose powder compact and a lipstick.

If you like liquid powders, you can leave your box of regular face powder at home. Remember, however, that it takes some skill to apply these smoothly and evenly. Pour a bit in the other hand, using fingertips of one hand, cover one small area at a time. When face and throat are entirely covered, let the liquid set a few moments, then dust off the excess.

When you are miles and miles away from your favorite manicurist, a nail lacquer, that really will

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass 8 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing.

If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait for serious trouble. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills—which have been used successfully for over 40 years by millions of people. They give happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.

Leap Year Riddle

By Helen Welshimer

I HAVE a Leap Year riddle That I don't know how to settle. I want to have a little house, A fireplace, and a kettle;

ALL hollyhocks along a fence, Some yellow cups for tea; But none of these, I've come to learn, Can matter much to me

IF you aren't there to share them, too. And so, do you suppose I might get you and all of them, My dear, if I'd propose?

JAPANESE-SOVIET TENSION ADDS A VEXING ISSUE TO PACIFIC INSTITUTE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16 (U.P.)—The situation created in the far east by Japan's penetration and occupation of parts of China will be one of the leading questions discussed this year at the biennial session of the Institute of Pacific Relations. The meeting will be held in Yosemite National Park August 15-29. It is expected from every point of view that the sessions will be the most important held since the Institute was established. Every important country in or bordering on the northern Pacific area will be represented by large delegations ranging from 25 to 35 members. Delegates will consist largely of government officials, political leaders, university professors and leaders in the political, economic, and intellectual life of the Pacific nations. The countries participating in the convention will include China, Japan, the Philippines, Hawaii, Canada, Great Britain, Soviet Russia and the United States.

Unusual importance is attached to the meeting, owing to the fact that this will be the first time that Soviet Russia has participated. Although the Soviet has established contact with the European nations through the League of Nations, this will be its first contact in an international convention of the Pacific countries. The degree of importance in Pacific affairs, due to development toward the Pacific region and relations with Canada and Japan, make the Soviet's presence at the session one of unusual importance. It is believed by authorities that the convention will be an open forum for a free discussion of all problems that have been created by Russia's growing importance in the Pacific. As regards Japan's penetration of China, it is understood discussions of the convention will cover not only the creation of Manchukuo, but also the present movement of Japanese troops into Teintsin, Peiping and toward the interior of China proper. As in the past, the proceedings of the convention will be followed by an official observer of the League of Nations.

The Old Guard In Russia

gue of Nations. This year Pierre de Lanux has been chosen for the task. Lanux first served as a member of the League secretariat at Geneva, but for the past 10 years has been in charge of the League's branch office at Paris. He has made lecture tours of the United States and is considered an authority on far eastern and Pacific questions.

While the League plays no part in the official work of the institute it follows closely all discussions for its own information and guidance when far eastern questions come before it.

Besides the political reaction of all countries interested to Japan's penetration of China, other political developments and their possible effects, such as the freedom of the Philippines, will be discussed fully.

Two other broad fields of Pacific interests also will be explored. These include economic relations and the cultural phases of the Orient as brought into contact with the culture of the west.

Meetings Held Biennially The Institute of Pacific Relations was organized after the Russian revolution and since then has held biennial conventions, as well as numerous regional conventions in an effort to improve the relations of all Pacific countries.

This year the convention was preceded by a California regional meeting held at Mills College, Oakland, Cal. It was attended by many of the delegates who will represent their countries at the later meeting.

While the delegations generally will be composed of members from the countries themselves, China has decided to include one Chinese delegate from the United States. He is Dr. N. Wing Mah, who did research work at the University of California before becoming a member of the faculty of that institution.

The United States delegation will include Chester Rowell, editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, president of the California association for the League of Nations and authority on far eastern affairs.

Mexico will be the only northern Pacific country that will not be represented at the conference.

Means mile-south extension to the Means pool of Andrews county, is shut in today until storage room can be cleared. Pipe-line trouble has delayed running oil from the two 500-barrel tanks. The extension producer is 1,982 feet from the north and 666 feet from the east line of section 19, block AX, public school land.

Untrained Dog Displays A Rare Understanding

TOPEKA, Kas. (U.P.)—George Sainis wonders what might have been accomplished with his police dog, "Prince" had the dog been trained properly.

Sainis says he did not spend a minute training the dog but Prince merely by watching Sainis. When Sainis arrives home at night the dog will drag his shoes and socks into the bedroom and return with house slippers. Then he will pick up a package of cigarettes and matches from a nearby table and bring the into Sainis. The dog insists on blowing out the lighted match after the cigarette is lighted.

If Sainis looks at the radio, Prince will march to the set and turn on a station. Usually he turns on music, but if Sainis shakes his head the dog will manipulate the dial until Sainis nods that satisfactory program has been tuned in.

Prince also turns on electric lights helps Mrs. Sainis bring her groceries home, and more than once has retrieved her pocketbook from a store counter when she forgot it. He chases cats only when the cat is chasing a bird or chicken.

"I have made an especial effort to teach him tricks," Sainis said. "Prince usually watches what I do and then imitates it."
