BEHIND THE SCENES

—IN—WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

CLEVELAND, June 16—The political racket remains essentially the same from one decade to another, but it is rather out of the ordinary to find each big party this year presenting a candidate who was, as you might say, something bought in a poke. It certainly veers a bit toward the quaint side when the republicans, who have been bellowing their anguish these last couple of years over the sad fate of a democratic party which elected a president and demonstrated that the party had never known what he really stood for, now discover themselves in a pickle jar on the same shelf. Vague indeed were the 1932 public utterances of Franklin D. Roosevelt and even more vague—also very scarce—were the pre-convention remarks of Alf Landon on national issues. Now, in somewhat the same manner as Roosevelt took the democratic conservatives for a ride by introducing the New Deal—but of course to a much lesser degree—Landon has fooled some of the powerful republican elements by promptly broadening the party platform after its adoption. He waited until his nomination was clinched before he took the party

Last 20 Years of Landon's Life
Makes Him Truly a Son of Kansas

BY WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
The last 30 years of Alfred Mossman Landon's 48 years, his whole productive lifetime, have made him a true Kansan. He embodies all the best traits of the respectable prairie citizen who has "done right well by himself."

But he is not a native Kansan. Over all his life is the shadow of the Methodist parsonage in the tiny crossroads town of West Middlesex, which nestles in the green rolling hills of western Pennsylvania. That, and the memory of a carefree boyhood in small towns around Marietta in the river district of southeastern Ohio.

West Middlesex has a sign up now, telling the world of its connection with Alf Landon, and Molly Reed

THUMBNAILING
LANDON'S LIFE
BORN: West Middlesex, Pa., on Sept. 9, 1887. Now "rising 48," as Kansans say.

MARRIED: Twice. To Margaret Flemin (died 1918) and to Theo Cobb (1930).
CHILDREN: Three, Margaret Anne, 19, daughter of first marriage. Nancy Josephine, 3 and John Cobb, 2, by present wife.

BELONGS TO: Methodist church. Phi Gamma Delta. Phi Delta Phi. Masons. Odd Fellows. Elks. American Legion.

HE IS: Five feet nine. Black-haired, but beginning to gray. About 170 pounds in weight. Brown eyes.

HE LIKES: Pipe-smoking, and old hats. Fishing and horseback riding. Bridge. Baseball and football. Ministers. Reading.

The boy who became one of Destiny's favorite children—Alfred M. Landon, recalled by playmates as "quiet, easy to know and likeable."

Mrs. Anne Mossman Landon. . . . descended of fighting pioneer stock, she became Alf Landon's mother.

"Twelve pounds and bright as a dollar" . . . that's nurse's description of this baby—Alfred M. Landon.

Baird, 85, the nurse who attended Alf's birth sits knitting a woolen throw rug to send to the White House if the baby she remembers as "12 pounds and bright as a dollar" is the tenant next March.

Landon in America Since Pilgrim Days

But there was no thought of this on September 9, 1887. Anne, daughter of the Rev. Herman Mossman, had come to her father's parsonage from Elba, O., where she was living with her young husband, John Manuel Landon. She wanted to be near an uncle who was a physician. Her baby, whom Nurse Baird later described so graphically, was Alfred into his confidence. The coo game goes on. Landon in recent months has astonished several eastern liberals who have visited him by private statements indicating an advanced progressive point of view.

These liberals have returned from Topeka reporting that he was for "everything in the New Deal" and merely wanted the country to get it cheaper and more efficiently.

As for Roosevelt, he has very definite ideas as to what he would like to do about the U. S. supreme court, whose decisions he feels are both political and reactionary. But he won't tell you what these ideas are.

The republican convention doings were conspicuous for the differences between the public and private statements of statesmen.

Senator Borah, for instance, had been telling his friends that the backers of Landon were reactionaries and monopolists of the worst type, and that he couldn't support such a man in his campaign. Publicly, however, he insisted he was interested in the platform only.

Mossman Landon, he who is today the Republican candidate for the presidency.

As soon as mother and child were able to travel, they were back in Elba, and the childhood of young Alf, most of which was spent in the Ohio River district about Marietta, was launched. Marietta is the earliest settlement in Ohio, and people with the same background as the Landon and the Mossmans are no novelty there.

Both were old American families. The Landon first came to America from England only 10 years after the Pilgrim Fathers landed in 1620. They were from Hertfordshire, the county just north of London.

The family branched out fast. One member, Joshua, was a victim of the tragic Wyoming Valley massacre in Pennsylvania when British-led Indians wiped out a militia company. Thomas Landon served throughout the Revolution with Washington in a unit of New Jersey continentals. Thomas, Jr., then marched with the expedition against Ft. Niagara in the War of 1812. His son, Manuel, mar-practices." Of course the old-line politicians tossed that part right out the window, retaining only a denunciation of monopolies and a promise of enforcement of the anti-trust laws, which gathered dust under republican rule for 12 long years.

Coughlin, Townsend Score
The bid to Coughlin was in the currency plank's failure to mention gold, which of course was agreeable to Borah.

Dr. Townsend was recognized in the security plank's approval of a pay-as-you-go policy, old age pensions for all needy Americans over 65, and financing by a "direct tax widely distributed."

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

The shortest people on earth are the Negrillos, a race of blacks in Africa. They average four and a half feet tall. They wear clothes like fan dancers in the United States.

Herodotus, an ancient greek shoe shiner and historian, said that it took 100,000 men twenty years to build the biggest pyramid in Egypt. Government employes?

Another beautiful lie: In ancient Babylon lived a handsome young fellow, Pyramus, and a beautiful young lady, Thisbe. They were neighbors. They fell in love. Their parents objected to the match. One day they agreed to meet each other under a mulberry tree on the edge of town.

Thisbe got there first. But a lion with a bloody mouth chased her away. As she ran, she dropped her veil, which the lion chewed on.

Later Pyramus arrived at the mulberry tree, and seeing the bloody veil he let out a screech, and killed himself with a dagger.

Thisbe, returning to the tree found Pyramus' dead body. So she screamed, and stabbed herself, and died. Since then mulberries have been blood red in color, instead of white. And I don't believe a word of that story, either.

Rijnhart Circle Members Are Guests On George Ratliff Ranch on Monday

Members of the Rijnhart circle of the First Christian church were dinner guests at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ratliff, 60 miles north of Midland, Monday.

When the caravan of six cars, reached their destination at noon, the guests were greeted at the front gate by Mr. and Mrs. Ratliff. Shortly afterward they filed into the dining room where dinner was served in chafin wagon style from two long tables. Fried chicken and beans along with other favorite West Texas dishes featured the meal.

Mrs. Ratliff was assisted in serving by Mrs. Jesse Cole and Mrs. W. M. Blevins and Mrs. E. L. Bailey, daughters of the hosts, and by two cowboys, Messrs. Will Fore Wittenburg and Horace Plunkett.

Informality continued during the afternoon when 42 and other games were played. Horseback riding was another diversion. Several guests who had never before visited on a ranch inspected the corals, bunkhouse, and other ranch equipment.

Late in the afternoon before the return journey to Midland was begun, a sing-song was held, with the guests engaging in singing ballads, hymns, and spirituals.

The guest list included: Meses, S. P. Hall, J. H. Dean, Earl Griffin, J. E. Pickering, J. R. Jones, E. G. McCoy, B. W. Stevens, C. J. Buser, Joe Smith, D. B. Snider, J. T. Ragsdale, J. K. Graves, S. June Is Delightful Time for Housewife Who Is Menu-Maker

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

June is one of the lucky months for menu-makers. We have all manner of vegetables and fruits in ever increasing abundance, fresh, green, delightful.

It's the time for chilled foods, in season, too. A fruit cup iced to the right degree of frostiness starts off a June dinner with a refreshing course. A substantial hot dish,

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: Chilled stewed dried apricots with sliced bananas, cereal, cream, plain omelet toast, milk, coffee.
LNUCHEON: Waffles with creamed salmon and buttered peas, rhubarb compote, toasted crackers, cottage cheese, lemonade.

DINNER: Chilled fruit cup, curry of lamb with rice, French fried carrots, tomato and cucumber salad, coffee, ice-box cake, milk, coffee.

with a crisp salad successfully paves the way for a chilled dessert with coffee.

When you begin your dinner with fruit, an ice-box cake or pudding is the easiest dessert. You don't want to repeat your fruit flavor, but there are always chocolate, caramel, coffee or vanilla. Make the cake the day before and you will have no last minute fussing.

Curry of lamb with rice is an inexpensive meat dish that owes much of its charm to its unusual seasoning. Serve it with French fried carrots, tomato and cucumber salad. Precede it with a very cold fruit cup made of diced pineapple and halves strawberries. Sprinkle the fruit lightly with sugar and let stand on ice in a closely covered dish for two hours or longer.

Here's the recipe for curry of lamb with rice.

Curry of Lamb with Rice
One pound lean lamb, 1 tablespoon curry powder, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 onion, 1-2 fresh coconuts, 1 banana, 1-2 lemon, 1 teaspoon salt.

Cut meat in small cubes. Melt butter in sauce pan and when it bubbles add onion cut in thin slices and the curry powder. Stir with a fork and cook five minutes. Add meat and brown quickly. Add boiling water to cover and simmer one hour, adding more water if necessary. Add salt, juice of lemon, banana cut in inch slices and coconut infusion. Simmer until tender and serve on a platter surrounded by boiled rice.

To make coconut infusion grate coconut and let stand in one cup boiling water for twenty minutes.

Strain through cheesecloth, squeezing coconut as dry as possible.

Make French fried carrots just as you would French fried potatoes. Sprinkle with minced meat before serving.

Coffee Ice Box Cake
One package prepared vanilla arrow-root pudding, 1 cup milk, 1 cup strong fresh coffee, 1 cup whipping cream, 2 dozen vanilla wafers.

Mix pudding with milk and add coffee. Bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly. Cool. Fold in cream which has been whipped un-

From the number of requests that have come in for the paper, the "rodeo edition" next Sunday is going to be especially popular. Which is as it should be.

It will seem rather good to see bright-colored shirts, clinking spurs, and high heeled boots predominating on the streets again.

Money is a commodity of many surprises. Just when we think we have it fast, we discover it has slipped away for something. But very, very rare are the times when we find we have more of it than we thought. Its surprises run along one line, it seems.

Wonder how old gentlemen with long whiskers exist in hot weather? Also how women long ago used to live through summers laden down with long hot dresses and numerous petticoats? No wonder fainting was a favorite indoor sport of the belles of those days.

Forgetting the fact that crickets are supposed to bring good luck, officials in Nevada are planning a statewide drive against them. They estimate that 40 carloads will be killed.

Not by the citizens going out individually with paddles to finish them off, you understand but in this way: The insects are to be lured up against a 20 mile iron fence which forces them into especially dug holes where they will be burned or buried. Rather like going out to hunt a flea in full war armor it seems.

The crickets should be overpowered by mere glimpse of the massive forces launched against them.

Unique Clock in French Cathedral Is Called the World's Most Complicated

BESANCON, France (UP)—The world's most complicated clock containing 30,000 different parts, is in the cathedral at Besancon, constructed for Cardinal Mathieu in 1857 at a cost of $375,000. The clock measures 19 feet in height, 8 feet in width and 3 feet deep and has 27 principal dials.

The ordinary dial for telling time is set at the top while below are other faces indicating the time in 16 parts of the world. Another set of dials tells the length of the day, the equation between real time and mean time, the seasons, the days of the week, length of the night, signs of the zodiac, the planets corresponding to each day of the week and even the day of the year. Eight other faces indicate the seconds, the hour of sunset, time of sunrise, the Roman year, the cycle of the sun and two other indications of ecclesiastical computation. Still another dial indicates the movements of the planetary system.

On the sides of the clock are dials painted with views of French seaports: Lyons, Havre, Mont, Saint-Michel, Dieppe, Brest and other French seaports are depicted. Some pictures show stormy weather with small ships tossing about on tall waves while others depict calmer weather. Each picture is accompanied by an indicator showing the exact state of the tide at each port.

The 12 Apostles stand in niches above the dials and at each hour two groups of six Apostles change places with one another. Each figure carries some symbol by which it is known and with this strikes the hour on a bell.

The archangels St. Michael and St. Gabriel stand in niches above the Apostles and strike each quarter hour on a bell. Moving figures of Faith, Hope and Charity can be seen every hour.

At the top of the clock the Resurrection is pictured. As 12 strikes, a slab of rock rises and the figure of Christ ascends while Roman soldiers on guard disappear. As 3 strikes, the figure of Christ descends into the tomb and the Roman guards reappear. The world's most complicated clock is completed with a statue of the Virgin carrying a scopolin which lowers at the Resurrection and rises at the Entombment.

Dr. McAndrew illustrated his point with reference to how horses are trained. One trainer says, "Never let the sun go down with the failure of a horse to do a stunt. If the horse has failed to jump a bar because it is too high, lower the bar, let him jump it, and you have rewarded him, which in turn, inspires confidence."

The same will apply to people, he argued. Positive, cheerful, encouraging words will get good results. Don't be like the red ink teacher, he said, marking every error you can find, but instead pick out some good point with reference to how horses

Known as an "educational democrat," Dr. McAndrew has devoted his life to education. His interests and writing have dealt chiefly with school administration, the public and its schools, college domination, and the nation's educational purpose.

Friday night, Dr. Emanuel Sternheim, a great Western educator, will speak. Miss Ruth Atwater of Washington, D. C. will speak June 16. Dr. E. G. Keller, associate professor of applied mathematics and astronomy at The University of Texas, will give an illustrated lecture, "The Universe Beyond the Stars," on June 18.

Professor C. E. Jones will give a lecture and demonstration of gyroscopes June 19. Dr. Edward Mook will speak June 25, on "The Country That Loves America."

Marriage Rites of Old France Prevail

QUEBEC (UP)—Ancient matrimonial customs still prevailing in certain sections of this French-Canadian province probably would amaze prospective June brides in the United States. Much of the form and tradition harks back two and three centuries to the mother country France.

In the outlying districts and villages of the province where direct descendant of the first French pioneers still live in much the same fashion as did their ancestors in Normandy and Brittany a wedding assumes the character of a festival.

One of the picturesque customs still surviving among the "habitants" or rural residents is that of the public wedding procession which passes through the streets to the church. Established early in the seventeenth century in France, the wedding procession sometimes brings out the entire population of a village.

At the head of the procession is the groom, his two nearest of kin walking with him. Next come his friends and relatives who are married, marching in pairs, and then the single men of his entourage. Behind them comes the bride, escorted by a large assembly of her own relatives and friends, marching in the same order as those of the groom.

Another quaint custom is the wedding feast. The bride is seated at the head of the table, but the groom stands behind the chair and serves her throughout the dinner.

"Mister, we've moved mountains"

"We've moved mountains in our time — me an' this old truck of mine," grins Jerry Baker. "Mister, when you got some haulin', just 'phone for us!"

Telephone calls mean jobs to Jerry: cracker boxes and crates and grand pianos to be picked up in one place and set down in another. Naturally he wants those calls to be fast and clear—without mistakes that might cost him money. And, at the same time, he wants his telephone bill to be reasonable.

Manufacturing telephone calls which measure up to Jerry's expectations is the big job of the men and women who work for this company.

It isn't an easy job. There are thousands of problems to be solved in the day-to-day workings of a great telephone system. It has been a fortunate thing for Jerry that behind the people who handle his calls stands the entire specialized organization of the Bell System: the services of American Telephone & Telegraph Company's great central staff—the researches and inventions of Bell Laboratories—the savings which come from the buying and manufacturing organization of Western Electric.

Jerry Baker, "moving mountains" with his truck and his telephone, may seldom give a thought to the things they do for him...

Yet with every call that comes to him he benefits from the work they have done. Not only have they helped make his calls faster, clearer and better; but in the face of the growing complexity of the telephone system, they have helped this company hold the cost down to a price he is willing and able to pay.

LESS CRIME, SWIFTER JUSTICE SURE UNDER FINGERPRINTING LAW FOR ALL

Compulsory Imprints Defended As An Aid To Establishing Citizen Rights, Protection to Innocent

WASHINGTON, June 16 (U.P.)—It were on file in Washington. Every fingerprints were as compulsory as birth certificates there would be less crime in the United States and justice would be swifter, the bureau of investigation of the department of justice believes.

Officials admit, however, that the public will have to be educated to the idea before any federal fingerprint law can be passed.

"Law-abiding citizens are beginning to realize that fingerprinting may mean death to a criminal, but that it also may mean life and liberty to an innocent man, woman or child," said an assistant to the director of the bureau.

"A tourist losing his passport in a foreign country could more readily obtain a duplicate if his fingerprints twice before committing a crime if they knew that their fingerprints were on file at "headquarters" and that their conviction and punishment would be swift.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the bureau of investigation, says:

"Long since the time has passed when criminals hid in dark alleys or skulked in dark basements. The day of the mask and the dark lantern is over. Crime lives next door to you. Crime often plays bridge with you. Crime dances with your sons and daughters. These persons of the under-fifth are not simply poor boys and girls or moral invalids, as the super-sentimentalists would have us believe. They are marauders, who wander for a headline, rats crawling from their hideouts to gnaw at the vitals of civilization. True, they are dressed as we are dressed; they live as we live and often far better, owing to the rich rewards of their 'profession,' but their standards of life are those of pigs in a wallow, their outlook that of vultures."

Their Technique Developed

Fingerprints can be "lifted" from playing cards, from cloth, from glass and silver; from wood, metal, leather or paper. Anywhere that a fingerprint is suspected, a certain type of "dust" can be sprinkled over the surface which will reveal it if it is there, no matter how faint it may seem.

In addition to the 12,610 fingerprints of men and women who are viewed by the bureau of investigation as the most dangerous and deadly of the army of more than 3,000,000 persons whose fingerprint records are clear and who are and will continue to be, in all likelihood, law-abiding citizens.

Twenty per cent of twentieth century crime is committed by persons not old enough to vote, statistics show. These minors should be home playing in their own backyards, but instead they are out stealing automobiles and committing nearly a thousand murders a year and tens of thousands of burglaries and larcenies, officials declare.

Among the arguments advanced for universal fingerprinting are:

Fingerprints never lie and no two ever are alike.

There are nine classifications of prints that are foolproof, and into these will fit the imprints of the fingers of 1,949,185,359—all the people in the world.

IOWA FARMERS HELP ENDOW COLLEGE WHERE LABOR PAYS FOR EDUCATIONS

TABOR, Ia. (U.P.)—Seventy-five freshmen are expected to enroll next fall in Tabor College, where boys and girls must work part time to obtain their education.

The college is being established in buildings of old Tabor College, abandoned a decade ago, and a 55-acre farm has been purchased to provide work for students and food for the school table.

Farmers in the vicinity were eager to see the new self-help college established, and contributed liberally of pigs, calves, brood sows and dairy cows. Seed for 10 acres of vegetables also were provided, and 40 acres will produce alfalfa, sweet clover and oats.

To obtain board and room, boys will help with farm work three hours a day. Girls will help prepare meals and wash dishes in the dining hall.

The dusty old buildings of the abandoned institution will be reconstructed, as part of the comprehensive work project to be undertaken by students.

The president of the college, Clark Howard, is a war veteran and Methodist pastor. His veteran friends in Sidney, Ia., contributed $500 toward the college, and several other Legion posts have made donations.

Hanford McNider, Mason City, Ia., former national commander of the American Legion and Minister to Canada under President Hoover, is on the institution's board of directors.

General operation of the local college will be similar to that of Antioch College in Iowa; Park College in Missouri, and Dana College at Blair, Neb., three widely known self-help colleges.

Seven well-known educators will comprise the faculty. President Howard has announced.

All fathers and mothers want their children to succeed and as long as they can, mothers and fathers the country over sacrifice and plan to give their boys and girls every advantage, every opportunity, for they want them to have a start which they too often were denied.

"We want to send Jim to college if we can afford it," they say. "We plan to give Mary special training in music if we have the money when she has finished high school."

But why should an IF threaten these dreams? A PRAETORIAN EDUCATIONAL POLICY can erase that IF and permit mothers and fathers to say positively: "MY CHILDREN ARE GOING TO COLLEGE." The Praetorians' plans offer a systematic way of saving. A little put away each month makes the education SURE. Investigate the Praetorians' Educational policies for children.

Time for us to put somebody straight—Odessa writers say that Dutch Baumgarten has been elected new head coach there and the Angelo writers announce that he has been hired for the position—The San Angelo scribe is far off—He can have the job if he wants it but he is not yet sure whether or not he'll take it—We talked to Dutch last week and laid off mentioning the story from Odessa at his request—He rightfully thought that if it became general knowledge that he had been elected for the Odessa position that it would be taken for granted he had accepted and he did not want this impression spread—The Odessa school board has offered him a raise over what he has been getting here but Dutch does not feel that it is enough to compensate for making the trade—He is asking something like $400 more than they offered him—Should they accede to the request Midland would still have a chance to keep him if the school board will offer him as much—maybe a little less—than the Ector institution. Right now is a swell opportunity to pay tribute to Dutch. True, in the two years that he has been here he has not turned out a championship football team, the one thing desired of him more than anything else, but he has (in our opinion) come nearer to it than anyone else would—it is a universal rule when hiring coaches to give them three years to deliver, and this looks like the one for Dutch—A coach must have time to thoroughly instill his system into boys and that cannot be done in the space of a few months—Boys who have played under another coach and another system naturally do not make the change immediately—Most of the boys that will be on this year's club have learned what they know of the game from Dutch and he is more optimistic over a championship club this year than any time since his arrival—Not only does it look like a winner in football but also in track and basketball—The Midland basketball record for the last two seasons, is really something to be proud of if one will only look "behind the scenes"—Despite the fact that the club has to get all their practice on outdoor courts the Midland quintet would have carried off the district honors last season had it not been for a series of tough breaks that would have wrecked any club—Injuries, sickness and other things completely wrecked their chances—With his track team Dutch gave the local school something that it had never had before—a district championship—He did not have any men capable of breaking any state records, in fact none of them capable of even placing in the state meet, but he had a well balanced aggregation that had no trouble in capturing the district meet here—He loses only about one or two men from the championship team this year and next year promises even better material coming up—

If Dutch is allowed to leave over a few dollars in salary Midland is liable to have to wait a few more years before they turn out a championship football eleven for the same reason that they have had to wait the past two years—Should a new coach be brought here, however, he will definitely be on the spot—The material for a championship club is there and it would be hard to convince the average fan that it could not be molded into a champion.

The Big Spring Sand Belt golfers won a match here Sunday, 22 to 18, to remain undefeated and 34 points ahead of the Second place Midland teams. The 18 points tallied by the locals was enough to put them in front of Odessa and Colorado.

The League standings:

Club	P.	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Big Spring	5	0	0	1,000	136
Midland	5	2	1	500	104
Colorado	5	3	2	600	96
Odessa	5	2	2	500	100
Lamesa	5	1	2	400	82
Stanton	5	0	5	0	80

The doubles tennis team of Jack Hitt and Don Oliver won the championship of the city tourney just finished when they defeated Latham and Thomas yesterday 6-3, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Officials of the City Tennis Club are optimistic over a big season, and plans are being made for an "open to the world" invitation tournament for the last of July. A big dance is planned on to open the tournament.

HUMBLE COMPLETES NEW WELL IN SAYRE

In the Sayre pool of Winkler county, Humble Oil and Refining company has completed its No. 8 Howe for a potential of 1,014 barrels per day flowing through casing. The well was shot with 260 quarts from 2,848 to bottom at 2,980. It is located 1,650 feet from the east and 330 feet from the south line of section 12, block 26, public school land. A proposed half-mile northwest extension to the Halley pool in southern Winkler, Phillips No. 1 McCabe, 330 feet from the south and 900 feet from the east line of section 1, block B-12, public school land, is drilling sand at 2,615 feet.

GOLDSMITH WELL KILLED, WILL CORE AHEAD

In the Goldsmith pool of Ector, Gulf No. 5 Goldsmith, 2,200 feet from the north and 1,320 feet from the east line of section 22, block 44, township 1 south, T. & P. survey, killed heavy gas flow with 250 barrels of salt water and is cleaning out near bottom in preparation for coring ahead. It flowed 100 barrels of oil in 11 hours while cleaning out. Total depth is 4,136 feet in limme.

Also in Ector, Tide Water No. 2 Abrams-Kloh in section 11, block 43, township 1 south, T. & P. survey, flowed 117 barrels of oil the first hour after shooting with 400 quarts from 4,135 to total depth at 4,222. Gas is estimated at 4,000,000 cubic feet per day. The well was not expected to maintain the huge oil flow registered immediately after the shot.

LITTLE IS THREAT IN WESTERN OPEN

DAVENPORT, Ia. (U.P.)—Over one of the Middle West's most exciting layouts—18 holes of rolling hills, winding creeks and wooded roughs—most of America's top flight amateurs and pros will fight for fame and money in the Western Open golf tournament here June 19, 20 and 21.

Headed by Johnny Revolta of Milwaukee, the defending title-holder, a field of more than 100 will participate in the 72-hole medal play tournament for prize money totaling $2,500, with the winner receiving $850.

The annual meet, one of America's top flight golf tournaments, will be held over the naturally hazardous Davenport Country Club course, but all golf clubs of the tri-cities—Davenport, Rock Island and Moline, Ill.—are collaborating to stage the affair.

Little to Play

That Revolta may find rough going in his drive to make it two straight, is indicated by the tentative entry list, which includes such names as Horton Smith, of Chicago, last winter's big money winner; Law son Little, former amateur king who recently joined the professional ranks; Walter Hagen of Detroit; Jimmy Thompson, the long-hitting Californian; and MacDonald Smith, another Chicago shot-maker.

Harry Cooper of Chicago, the pro who made golfing history in the Western Open two years ago at Peoria, Ill., has indicated he will compete. Cooper established an amazing scoring record of 25 strokes under par for 108 holes in winning the Peoria meet. He was forced to go two extra 18 holes matches, despite his sizzling sub-par shooting, to defeat Ky Laffoon, Denver, for the championship.

36 Holes on Final Day

Contenders will play one round of 18 holes on each of the first two days, completing the tournament on Sunday with 36 holes. The field will be sliced to the low 64 shooters on the final day.

The course is 6,359 yards in length and golfing architects had little extra work to do in making it hazardous. Many of the fairways are narrow with dense thickets on both sides, making it necessary for straight shots down the middle.

It is a hilly layout with several blind holes at the foot of steep banks, a creek winds through the course, crossing three fairways. There are only 18 traps on the entire course but additional ones were considered unnecessary with the hazards nature so graciously planted.

Waikiki Beach Children Turn Treasure Hunters

HONOLULU, U.P.—Hawaiian beach boys have found a profitable enterprise in searching for "lost treasures," including jewelry, rings and trinkets, in the labyrinth of coral off Waikiki.

A dozen Hawaiians paddle out in outrigger canoes or on surfboards daily to hunt for valuables which careless bathers lose in the sand.

One beach boy, Peter Makea has a collection of watches, rings and silver, which he says is worth more than $1,000. One find was a wedding ring dated 1898.

Austria Rears Wall of Hate Against Nazi Party Members As Tension Grows Higher

VIENNA, June, 16. (U.P.)—Alarms of invasion by Hitler's mighty military machine keep the frontier zone between Austria and Germany in a periodical state of nerves, but life along the border is nevertheless not without light diversion.

Over an area stretching 250 miles from the Swiss frontier to the edge of Czechoslovakia, armed guards who speak the same language and who fought side by side in the World War as comrades glare hatred and defiance at each other.

On one side of the frontier, in Germany, followers of Fuehrer Hitler are heroes. If they cross the border south and wave a Swastika or cry "Heil Hitler!" they are bundled off to concentration camps or locked up in one of the prison fortresses in Austria.

Motorists Remove Emblem

The motorist in Germany always flies a swastika from his car to show he is a good Nazi. But as soon as the Austrian border is reached, if he wishes to cross, he must tear down the flag and hide it. Possession of the Nazi insignia in Austria means arrest.

Raising of the arm in the Hitler salute is automatic in Germany, as is the "Heil" slogan. But the absent-minded Nazi who steps on the Austrian soil and forgets his geographical position finds himself in the custody of a gendarme if he gives the National-Socialist greeting.

What is proud patriotism in Germany is rank treason in Austria.

On the German side, Nazi swastikas fly from every house. Every customs headquarters along the northern edge of the border bears the words "The only greeting we want is 'Heil Hitler!'"

Austrians going into Germany must ignore both the flags and the Hitler salute unless they want to be under suspicion as Nazis when they return to their homeland.

Like Alice's Wonderland, a more bizarre frontier could only have been devised in "Alice in Wonderland." On fete days, or to celebrate a date in the history of National Socialism in the Third Reich, an unusual abundance of swastikas float in the breeze on the German side, opposite Braunau.

Hitler was born in the village of Braunau, but no Nazi flag adorns the little house where the ruler of Germany saw the light of day, because Braunau is on Austrian soil.

If the frontier line had swerved a few kilometers south at this point, Adolf Hitler would have been German-born.

The military and gendarmic guard along the length of the Austro-Germany frontier is probably the strictest in Europe, excepting some border in the Balkans where the traveler often finds barbed wire barring his progress between countries.

Austrians who go to Germany are closely searched for Nazi propaganda, while Germans go through customs to establish the purpose of their visits to Austria. They are doubly suspected if they carry much money. Nazi gold is feared in Austria.

It may be used to pay Austrian Nazis and help them in their underground fight against the Schuschnigg government, which proclaims National Socialism as the mortal enemy of Austria.

Despite the restrictions at the frontier posts for Germans and Austrians, thousands of workers cross from one side to the other daily to earn their livelihood.

The German laborers who are Nazi either by faith or persuasion must forget about Hitler while they are at work in Austria during the day, while the Austrians who cross to Germany must try to ignore the fact that they are laboring under the sign of the swastika.

All along the Austrian side of the border, watchfulness is the motto. The Austrian government keeps a log, because it professes it never knows what to expect from the Nazi Reich. Spy-glasses scan the fields and valleys and mountains for signs of military activity in Germany or for a trace of the almost mythical Austrian Legion.

These men, numbering between 5,000 and 8,000, are Austrian Nazis who fled to Germany and banded themselves together pledged to fight for Nazification of their native land. They are supposed to be concentrated just beyond the border ready, so it is said, for the opportune time to march south to help to achieve their patriotic wish.
