News Behind The News THE NATIONAL Whirligig

WASHINGTON By George Durno

Hard—
Just before President Roosevelt left for his fishing holiday he received a report on political conditions in Pennsylvania, New York and part of New England that wasn't so hot from the New Deal standpoint.

A government official who recently visited this territory used to make a specialty of political surveys before he took a federal job. On his latest trip he followed his old practice of talking to fellow railroad passengers, taxi drivers, hotel clerks, store clerks, etc., in an effort to get a line on present-day sentiment.

The resulting report intimated—on the basis of the limited eastern territory covered—that Roosevelt would find it hard to win an election should it be held next Tuesday.

Scant—

Business men, bankers, industrialists and the like who were contacted registered deep dislike for the New Deal. Most of those who said they had voted for the President in 1932 talked loudly of casting their ballots elsewhere in 1936. Their grievances—in the order named—were gold devaluation and currency uncertainty, sundry and divers errors made by NRA, and the pending bill which would put utility holding companies out of business.

The man-in-the-street when interviewed indicated scant interest in President Roosevelt. Almost without exception those picked out for casual cross-examination wanted to know about Senator Huey Long.

Intrigued—

This official's report might well be substantiated by the finding of a highly political observer from New York who had occasion to swing through Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio.

The people he talked to also focused their curiosity on the Louisiana Kingfish.

Both the Washingtonian and the New Yorker say questions asked about Long denoted everything from admiration to extreme interest but neither ran into any hard criticism of the Delta Dictator among modestly situated workers. Most of the latter appeared to be intrigued by the magic of Long's share-the-wealth plan.

Margin—

Professional observers in national Democratic headquarters are aware of this swing away from the Roosevelt administration, but their interpretation of the outlook is much rosier.

They point out that the 113 electoral votes from the Solid South should still be safe for Mr. Roosevelt in 1936. Next they claim the three Pacific Coast states with a total of 35 votes. Then they confidently assert that the New Deal should once more pull about all of the Mountain states—which total 24 in the electoral college.

And finally—praise be to the organizing ability of Senator Joe Guffey—that erstwhile rock-ribbed Republican state of Pennsylvania is counted in the bag for Mr. Roosevelt's reelection.

Thus without the border states, New York, the entire Middle West, etc., headquarters still figures on a minimum of 200 electoral votes despite all current setbacks.

That only leaves 39 votes necessary to insure FDR's continued occupancy of the White House.

Of course history has seen candidates defeated by a much smaller margin. But headquarters goes on the assumption that the necessary additional states can be had.

Expensive—

One of the most astute Democrats in President Roosevelt's corner is convinced the Kingfish will NOT be a third party candidate in 1936.

His slant is that Long is actual by building himself for 1940. He predicts that next year Huey will run against Mr. Roosevelt for reelection in the Democratic convention, wage a losing fight, raise a lot of hell—and then take his delegates and stage a rump convention.

The idea of this gesture would be to nominate a third candidate for the '36 race, but it would be some one handpicked by Long rather than the cagey Kingfish himself. It is pointed out that the expense of third parties runs into big money, particularly when they aren't winners.

Devilment—

Two raids were made Thursday afternoon on places suspected of selling intoxicating liquor in defiance of state laws. Sheriff Jess Slaughter and his deputies struck swiftly, raiding a downtown beer parlor and a road house in the western portion of town. Nothing but legal 3.2 beverages could be found at either place, officers said.

Slaughter said Thursday afternoon that agents had been unsuccessful in attempts to buy hard liquor at four places. He indicated that his department was to continue a policy of rigidly enforcing the state prohibition law in Howard county.

"Any citizen knowing where hard liquor can be purchased is urged to make it known to my department," said Slaughter. "We will raid the place and file charges if any contraband liquors are found."

PROCLAMATION!

The week of March 30 to April 6, inclusive, has been designated as SPRING FIRE PREVENTION CLEAN-UP WEEK.

There are many reasons why the Spring Clean-Up Campaign this year should receive the enthusiastic support of every man, woman and child. FIRST, because the Fire Prevention Clean-Up Campaign this year is of particular importance, as it can be combined with general welfare work and be of particular benefit to the unemployed. SECOND, because every dollar in property destroyed by fire, which so frequently is the result of "careless" housekeeping in the home and in the average place of business, is a serious drain upon our present economic condition. THIRD, every citizen should have a wholesome pride in his home city, its streets, playgrounds, parks and buildings. Homes and surroundings freshly painted, with well kept lawns and gardens, increase property values and intensify community interest. Cleanliness creates cheer, courage and confidence. FOURTH, because in the past ten years entirely too many of our citizens have lost their lives due to carelessness in their daily use of fire, and the preservation of human life is an important matter.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, C. E. Talbot, Mayor of the City of Big Spring, Tex., do hereby designate the week of March 30 to April 6, inclusive, as SPRING CLEAN-UP WEEK and most respectfully call upon all departments of the city, the chamber of commerce, civic clubs, patriotic clubs and our people in general, to take an active part in this Clean-Up Campaign.

I further designate the Fire Marshal and Fire Chief as a committee of two to work with the city officials in selecting active committees to carry on this Campaign and ask the cooperation of all of our people in this enterprising campaign for a clean city.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I hereunto sign my name and seal of office, this 20th day of March, 1935.

Housing Program To Be Discussed By Federal Men

Large numbers of men connected with building and allied trades, bankers and public officials were expected to arrive here late today for the district FHA meeting to be held at 7:15 p. m. from the municipal auditorium.

From Colorado came word that R. F. Fee, FHA chairman in that city, and a committee would attend the meeting. Midland indicated that a large delegation would come here from that city.

Stanton, Sterling City, Garden City, Coahoma, Ackerly and Lamesa were other places expected to send representatives.

E. S. Luttrell, FHA supervisor for the western part of Texas, will lead in discussions of the revamped federal housing set up. He will probably bring a group of aides with him.

Under the new federal arrangement, provisions of the housing act are somewhat liberalized. Loans may be made up to $16,000 at an interest rate not to exceed 6-1/2 per cent including all carrying charges. Amortization may be spread over a period of 20 years. As under the former set up, the government does not loan money, but private bankers. The government stands back of the bank with a guarantee on approved loans.

Loans may be made for repair work, new construction, and financing of mortgages.

The program here today includes a vicarious showing with remarks by the chairman of the better housing program, introduction of bankers attending and three brief addresses from bankers on modernization of credit, and explanation talks on the FHA program by FHA representatives.

J. B. Collins, local FHA chairman, will preside over the session.

Investigation Of Water Pollution Completed Here

Investigation as to cause of pollution of water supply for several hundred head of range cattle had been completed Friday at the request of the city.

Samples of water had been sent to Austin for analysis in order to trace supply of the pollution.

D. H. Snyder and Lay Powell complained to the city that cattle last week suddenly refused to drink water from a creek which had supplied them.

Theory that the city disposal plant was responsible for the change in the water content was held generally in disregard after an investigation. It appeared more probable that heavy showers of a week ago flushed out dry beds of gypsum lakes and sent a saturated solution of the mineral down stream.

W. D. Staples head of the Nolan county health unit, inspected water drainage from lakes west of here to the place where the cattle were ranged. Friday V. M. Ehlers, state sanitary engineer, made a further inspection.

Ehlers also conferred with city officials on a project to reclaim waste water from the disposal plant for industrial purposes. "It is the sensible thing to do," he said.

ALL PLANS COMPLETED FOR TEXAS RELAYS SATURDAY

STARS ARE WELCOMED TO AUSTIN

AUSTIN, (Sp.)—All plans have been completed by the city of Austin and the University of Texas to accommodate the track and field stars of the nation who are gathering here in preparation for the leading spring carnival in the Southwest, the Eighth Texas Relays.

From Pittsburgh university in the east to the University of Minnesota in the north and down through Nebraska and Kansas as far south as Tulane university of New Orleans, schools have sent in entry lists to swell the number of contestants to 1100, the largest number ever to attend the relays. In the group there are an even 100 teams entered, 5 in the university and college division and 95 in the high school section.

Welcoming committees are prepared to take the visiting athletes on tours through the city and the university campus, and all details have been worked out to handle the meet at Memorial stadium Saturday in orderly fashion.

S. U., Chambers of Nebraska, Trotter of Kansas, Allen of Oklahoma Baptist, Petty of Rice Institute, the Brown twins of Abilene Christian, Wallender and Reeves of Texas, Zori of Alabama, Simmons of Tulane, Gallagher of Oklahoma A. & M., Evans of Minnesota and Abbey of North Texas Teachers.

Abilene Christian
In the college division there were: Abilene Christian college, North Texas Teachers, East Texas Teachers, Sam Houston Teachers, Southwest Texas Teachers, Hardin-Simmons, Miami university, Oklahoma Baptist university, Howard Payne college, Southwestern Louisiana Institute, Stephen F. CLEVELAND LOOKS LIKE TOPS TO HORNSBY; AND HIS BROWNS MAY GET IN UPPER HALF

By FOGGERS HORNSBY
(Manager, St. Louis Browns)
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 29.—We're hoping to pull up into the first division this year. We've got the best pitching I've had with the Browns, and if we can match that with enough hitting to pick up half of the 31 games we lost by a single run in 1934, we'll make it.

Cleveland looks best to me on the present dope, with the Tigers, Yankees, and perhaps Washington providing husky opposition. After that it's every man for himself, and I figure someone will relax and we'll climb up there.

The Yankees are going to miss Ruth more than people think right now. When Ruth and Gehrig were side by side in the batting order you couldn't pass them both. If you passed Ruth you still had Lou to figure on. Now it's different. Without Ruth getting on bases, the pitchers will pass Gehrig a lot more and he won't get a chance to drive in the runs he usually accounts for.

Not Scared of Red Sox
I don't think the Boston Red Sox will be dangerous until they plug holes at first and second base. Max Bishop can't play a full season any more at second, and the scouts tell me Babe Dahlgren will field all right at first base but won't hit up to major league standards.

The Athletics, I think, have weakened themselves considerably by making a catcher out of Jimmy Foss. With him playing first base they might be the dark horse of the league. But Jimmy can't get in every game as a catcher. His bat won't be there many times when they need it. Even if he turned out to be the best catcher in the American league, I still don't think he'd be as valuable as at first base.

In There With It All
We're going to have more punch this year to back up improved pitching from Buck Newsom, Jack Knott, Dick Coffman, Paul An-

PERSON'S SOCIAL VALUE NOT SET BY GAIN

Mrs. Roosevelt made a nice point when she named the eleven women who have been "a constant inspiration and a help" to her. By drawing up such a list it is possible to get a new line on the kinds of human conduct which have the most social value.

What sort of women got into Mrs. Roosevelt's list, anyway? Well, there were two suffragists, three social workers, two flyers, a business executive, a novelist, and two women—Frances Perkins and Josephine Roche—who could be classified roughly as being in "public service."

Now the interesting thing to notice about these women is that nearly all of them have been devoting their lives to other people rather than to themselves.

Perhaps that isn't entirely true of the business woman and the two flyers. Yet from Mrs. Roosevelt's viewpoint it is, for by making notable successes in their callings, these women have opened new fields for other women, and have made possible a wide extension of the field of feminine activities.

And it is unquestionably true of the others. No one whose first thought was for her own ease and comfort would dream of following a career like that of Jane Adams, for instance, or of enduring the public criticism that early workers for woman suffrage had to endure.

In general, then, it may be said that these women, who most strongly aroused Mrs. Roosevelt's admiration and provided her with inspiration in the building of her own career, were women who possessed the capacity of self-forgetfulness to a rare degree.

And the value of a list like this lies precisely in the fact that it reminds us that the really valuable members of the race are not the self-seekers, but the self-forgetters. The chief prizes of this world, of course, go to the self-seekers. It always has been that way and probably it always will be. But when we sit down to name the people who have seemed to us to be most worthy of emulation, we use a different standard of value.

Instead of naming the great prize-winners, we name the people who have struggled for others rather than for themselves. They are the ones who persuade us that life is something better than a blind scramble for gain.

They are the ones who help to bring the real world into line with the world we see in our dreams.

CAMP BOASTS A HEAVY TEAM

Big Spring CCC athletes, fresh from winning the state Civilian Conservation Corps basketball championship, have swung into baseball training grind. The boys pictured above were not only outstanding court performers but bid fair to strut among West Texas diamond kings.

The local aggregation boasts a number of good prospective college athletes. Among the heavier boys is Finch, 227 pound 6 ft. 3 inches who held down one of the forward berths on the basketball team. Diddle Young, however, was the scoring sensation, and he comes in at two pounds over the two hundred mark. Young scored 468 points with the CCC team alone, and doubtless tallied 125 more in other games.

Heavies
Greer, 6 ft. 3 inch pivot man, weighs 184, and Curry, 6 ft. 2 inch guard, 185. Rogers and Coleman, two capable guards, weigh in at 172 and 165 respectively.

Lieut. Satterwhite, camp athletic director, reported that it was too early to get a good slant at the baseball team, but that prospects have been looking mighty good in first work-outs. With all its weight, the team should at least be a heavy hitting one. Young has been the "Babe Ruth" of the softball diamonds.

Aggies Round Out Practice

COLLEGE STATION (Sp.)—Encouraged by two victories over the Galveston Buccaneers early in the week, the Texas Aggies will round out their pre-Southwest Conference diamond schedule in games here today and Saturday with the Beaumont Exporters. Their 9-3 and 1-0 scores at Galveston brought the Aggies record to four victories and a tie in six games to date.

Capt. Jake Mooty, Fort Worth and Homer Martinez, Hebronville, leading hurlers, are slated to start the Exporter games. Mooty turned the Bucs back with five hits Monday and Martinez allowed them only two Tuesday. With the exception of one outfield post, the remainder of the Aggie lineup seems set for the season, barring accident.

Clyde Reynolds, from Bastrop, and Mike Langley, Fentress, are dividing time in left field. Other players are: Ed Steves, San Antonio, and Pete Dowling, Houston, catchers; Tommy Hutto, Coahoma, 1b; Travis Voelkel, Shelby, 2b; Bob Connelley, Fort Worth, 3b; Bill Couser, Breckenridge, ss; Bill Sodd, Fort Worth, and Ted Jones, Belton, outfielders. All are lettermen except Langley and Dowling.

Construction On Greens Started

Guy Rainey, one of the Muni course aces, made a flying start in the Spring journey with a 6-5 victory Thursday over A. L. Rogers.

Construction on the two new greens is going forward at a rapid clip, and one is almost finished. Work is being rushed on the other. Charles Akey, pro, expressed hope that the work would be completed by the time the swimming pool is ready.

Brownwood plays here.
Sweaters are to be awarded the basketball players, Satterwhite said.

LOVES TO EAT THIS CEREAL, IT CHECKED HER CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Helped Miss Kesterke

We quote from her letter: "Three years ago, I became constipated. I tried many laxatives. But as soon as I got used to each kind, I began to get the same trouble."

"Last summer I was on my vacation. They served Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I just loved it. I eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every morning, and ever since I have not had to take any more laxatives."

"Due to insufficient 'bulk' in meals."

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN is also rich in vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is gentle. It resists digestion better than the fiber in fruits and vegetables, so it is often more effective.

Isn't this food safer than risking patent medicines? Two tablespoons of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. If seriously constipated, use with each meal. See your doctor, if you do not get relief.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Menus Of The Day

By MARTRA LOGAN

Do you remember "way back when you were very young and you would run into the house after school—just staryed to death, and ask Mother for something to eat? You probably had designs on the cake box or the cookie jar. Mother's ideas were different. She handed you a nice big piece of bread and butter. "Aw, shucks, you'd better eat that bread and butter."

Of course, all good cooks know that "butter-made is better made." They have found that butter can often change an ordinary dish into a delicious one. The butter flavor, too, has been the secret of many famous chefs.

For your approval, then, we submit the following "butter-made" recipes:

Scotch Short Bread 1 cup butter, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 1/2 cups flour (unsifted).

Cream butter and add sugar gradually. Add flour and work mixture with hands until the dough can be shaped. If the dough becomes too soft due to room temperature or overworking, the texture is coarse. Put on floured board and press out to one-half inch thickness. Roll out into shapes.

Modern developments in the job of creamery handling in butter making, a process calling for the highest skill, insure a good product at the start. Scientific marketing organizations which carry the best creamery product to you in refrigerator cars, packed in readily identifiable packages, make it unnecessary to ask your dealer, "Is it fresh?" but freshness remains the standard for judging butter. And the term, "creamy fresh," meaning that the butter reaches you as fresh and sweet as when first made, is more than a catch phrase—it is a way of judging the best butter for your table.

Scientists Tell How To Keep Cut Bananas From Discoloring

Those household Editions, those scientists of the kitchen have been at it again! Fresh from the testing kitchens, and hot from the notebooks of the best cooks, comes the news of how to keep bananas from discoloring, once they've been cut or sliced. It's easy—easy as peeling a banana itself!

All you have to do is use fruit juice—sprinkle it on, dip the bananas in, or hold them in it a while. Use grapefruit juice, canned or fresh; use canned pineapple juice; orange juice; or lemon juice. The kind you will use depends largely on what you have handy—or what fruit you plan to combine with the bananas. Lemon juice has been used for the purpose for some time, but the other juices are new.

Always effective as a splash or decoration, always delicious in salads and fruit cups, the tendency of the mellow banana to lose its golden gleam once it has been sliced, has been a bit of nuisance to homemakers. Now there isn't the slightest chance of the blonde banana turning to a brunette; just apply any of the above named fruit juices, sprinkling them generously on the bananas. Or dip in the banana slices first.

Good News For Leftovers Not content with preventing discoloration the inventors have gone a step farther and discovered that they (and you, too) can restore the color and firmness of cut bananas which have already darkened somewhat or become a little sticky from being allowed to stand. For this magic process you may use either canned or fresh grapefruit juice, or canned pineapple juice. Immerse the fruit in the juices until they have recovered!

This little trick is a most important factor in using up leftovers.

for it means that no left over bananas need ever be thrown away! Simply "restore" their complexion and utilize them in any of the many ways bananas are so delicious.

One more tip: always use a sharp knife for slicing or cutting bananas. Be sure to select the fully ripe bananas (the all-yellow ones with brown flecks) for serving as a sweet fruit, with cereal, in fruit cups, salads, pies, cakes, puddings, and other desserts. And now, try these:

1-4 cup butter, 1-4 cup sugar, 1 egg, 4 tps. baking powder, 2 cups flour, 1-2 tsp. salt, 1 cup milk, 1-2 thinly sliced bananas, 1-2 cup sugar, 2 tps. cinnamon.

Cream the butter and add the sugar and well beaten egg. Sift the baking powder with the flour and salt. Add to the first mixture, alternating with the milk, then fold in bananas. Pour mixture into two greased pie pans, sprinkle with mixed sugar and cinnamon, and bake 30 minutes in moderately hot oven, 400F.

Banana-Caramel Custard 1-2 cup sugar, 2 cups scalded milk, 2 tps. flour, 2 egg yolks, 1-2 tsp. vanilla, 3 to 4 sliced bananas, 10 to 20 marshmallows.

Put sugar in frying pan, and stir constantly over a low fire until melted. Add this (caramel) to scalded milk, stir until dissolved, then add to flour mixed with beaten egg yolks, and place in double boiler. Cook about ten minutes, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add vanilla and pour over sliced bananas in baking dish. Cover with whipped cream, marshmallows or meringue, and brown in moderate oven, 375F. For vanilla custard, use the sugar plain instead of caramelized, and add one teaspoon vanilla. Serves 6.

Rice Pudding Rises In Society, New Recipes Are Discovered

Rice pudding news? Yes, a thousand times yes, when it is prepared with "fluffed" rice, when it is glorified with flavoring or fruit, when it is molded or frozen!

Do you know that there are twenty-five ways to make rice pudding? Don't blush and admit you know but one! Do you know that rice pudding, once lowly and humble, has been awarded a place in the social register and even now is the daily special of one or our most famous hotels?

This virtuous dish once had a reputation for mediocrity, was even the butt of the perennial boarding-house joke. But that was before we learned how to cook the rice properly, or because the spice of variety was omitted. Now we know it has value as a protector of our "pep" or energy as well as of our pocket books, and we are grateful to it for the extra milk it adds to our diets.

Name Your Favorite Despite the new recipes, the men still vote for the old-fashioned kind of rice pudding—the kind you put into the pot with milk and sugar, slow-bake for hours, and serve with a filling of cinnamon. For parties, most "puddin' heads" vote for a butterscotch or pineapple variety, and the youngsters like all kinds. Try them all, and name your favorite; be sure to learn to cook the rice properly in the first place, according to directions below.

1-2 cup rice, 1 quart milk, 4 tps. sugar (white or brown), 1-2 tsp. salt, 12 tsp. cinnamon or nutmeg. Wash the rice thoroughly, add the other ingredients and pour into a greased baking-dish. Bake for three hours in a slow oven stirring several times during the first hour. The mixture should not be too hot. Serve either hot or cold. This is the old-fashioned creamy pudding which has such a delicious flavor because of the long, slow cooking. One half cup of raisins may be added, if desired. 6 servings.

1-2 cup butter, 1-4 cup sugar, 1 egg, 4 tps. baking powder, 2 cups flour, 1-2 tsp. salt, 1 cup milk, 1-2 thinly sliced bananas, 1-2 cup sugar, 2 tps. cinnamon.

Put sugar in frying pan, and stir constantly over a low fire until melted. Add this (caramel) to scalded milk, stir until dissolved, then add to flour mixed with beaten egg yolks, and place in double boiler. Cook about ten minutes, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add vanilla and pour over sliced bananas in baking dish. Cover with whipped cream, marshmallows or meringue, and brown in moderate oven, 375F. For vanilla custard, use the sugar plain instead of caramelized, and add one teaspoon vanilla. Serves 6.

Butterscotch Rice Bavarian 2 cups cooked rice, 1-4 cup cold milk, 1 cup brown sugar, 1-2 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1 tps. plain gelatin, 1-2 cups hot milk, 3 tps. butter, melted, 1 cup whipped cream, 1 cup nut meats.

Soak the gelatin in the cold milk. Dissolve in hot milk. Add cooked rice, brown sugar, butter and salt. Cool. Fold in flavoring and the whipped cream and nuts. Turn into a wet mold and chill. Serve unmolded with butterscotch sauce or whipped cream flavored with maple syrup, 6 servings.

Glorified Rice 2 cups boiled rice, 1 cup pineapple, cut in cubes or shredded, 1 cup whipping cream, 24 marshmallows cut in quarters, 1 cup chopped eating apples, 1-2 cup sugar.

The rice should be cooked until it is soft but not mushy. Mix all the ingredients except the whipped cream and let stand for one hour. Fold the whipped cream into the mixture just before serving. Garnish with candied cherries.

Note: Whipped cream and cherry garnish may be omitted. Red cherries, strawberries, red raspberries or peaches may be used in place of pineapple. Serves 6.

"Fluffed" Rice Fog snowy-white, fluffy grains of rice, neither too dry nor too moist, be sure to "fluff" it after boiling. Boil the well-washed rice in boiling salted water (allow 2 quarts water and 3 teaspoons salt for each cup of rice) until a strain pressed between fingers is soft (12 to 25 minutes). Do not drain. Cook in cooking. When done, turn rice into colander or sieve, run water through it, then drain. Then cover with a cloth and put over a pan of hot water on back of stove until grains swell and rice dries out. Or, put the boiled rice in a shallow pan and set in a warm oven for 20 while. Properly cooked rice may be reheated again and again without loss of flavor.

A FULL SEASON OF RIOTOUS COLOR

Blooms From June Through October Should Abound In Every Garden

In the picturesque garden, in which flowers are grown to make a picture, a major problem is planning for a succession of bloom. In such a garden there must be a continuous show. The gardener is a stage manager, who must plan and produce a series of spectacles to charm the beholders.

To the uninitiated this may seem more difficult than it really is. The supply of actors for the garden show is almost unlimited. A seed catalog gives an amazing list of all types, tall, short, blonde, brunette, vigorous, delicate, whatever you may want. Nature has provided them in great abundance.

Each flower has its season of bloom, determined by nature, and you have only to select from those which bloom each season, types which will fit into the composition of your garden picture.

It is possible to produce a continuous show of flowers with perennials and annuals grown from seed. No one need hesitate about combining these classes of flowers in the border. The modern idea is to consider flowers solely from the standpoint of their effectiveness in the picture, without regard to whether they live one year or twenty.

Of course perennials give the earliest flowers and the largest plants. A perennial starts the season full grown, whereas annuals must make their growth from seed and produce their flowers the same season. Perennials often last four years, while annuals die each fall.

Nevertheless among the modern annuals, with their constantly improved types, there are many which rival perennials in size; though none which bloom so early as the earliest perennials.

Among the early perennial which can be grown from seed are anemone myosotidiflora, which has flowers like the forget-me-not, in April; the columbine, which flowers in April; arabis alpina, which makes a carpet of white flowers in April; the Elder daisy, which blossoms in May; dictamnus, or gas plant, which flowers in May; linum perenne, or flax, which flowers in May; mertensia virginica, or Virginia cowslip, which flowers in May; nepeta mussini, mauve catnip, flowering in May; polemonium coeruleum, or Jacob's ladder, bearing racemes of blue bell flowers in April; ranunculus asiaticus, double buttercup, flowering in May.

ALL-SCHOOL PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN MONDAY EVENING AT AUDITORIUM BY ALL WARDS

Beautiful Costumes and Sparkling Entertainment To Vary With Musical Numbers; Program Is Well Planned

Color and rhythm and hundreds of beloved little familiar faces constitute the appeal that will draw all Big Spring to the P.-T. A. operetta being given Monday evening in the Municipal auditorium; so hope the P.-T. A. officials. Never before have the local schools united in an all-school program. It was the idea of the committee for raising...

The main show of the evening is called "Cinderella in Flowerland." This is a four act play in which children of all the schools will take the part of flowers and fairies. The main cast will be composed of: Dean Miller as the prince. Marjorie Potter as Cinderella. Sara Jane Strange as Tiger Lily. Myra Lee Bigony as the Proud Sister. Andree Bulot as the godmother.

Those who have seen the costumes for East Ward's "Wedding of the Painted Doll" say that it is worth a quarter all by itself. The Glee club will furnish the overture, singing "Spring Song." Special numbers will be given by Cornelia Frazier, who will play a piano solo; by Mary Ann Dudley, who will do a toe dance; by Mary Margaret Hayworth, who will sing, "I'll String Along with You."

It will be such a program as Big Spring has never seen before, said Mrs. C. W. Dickerson, who is ticket chairman. Mrs. E. W. Potter is chairman of the ways and means committee which is putting on the play. Monday night is the night.

A continuous supply of vegetables can be grown on a plot of ground 35 to 40 feet. As a vegetable matures it is removed and another planted immediately.

Mrs. F. Tinsley, food supply demonstrator of the Chalk Home Demonstration club has such a garden. She now has lettuce, turnips, mustard and radishes for the table. Spinach will be large enough for use the last of next week. English peas are blooming.

Other vegetables in her garden now are: bush and pole snap beans, carrots, corn, onions, hot peppers, sweet corn and tomatoes.

"Confessing Christ," Rayburn's Subject At Revival This Evening

Tonight Dr. Rayburn will talk about "Confessing Christ." Sunday night he will discuss "A Much Disputed Question." Don't forget the men and young people's prayer meetings this evening at 7:00. You will find them well worthwhile.

Both meetings this morning were well attended.

"What It Costs Him to Be a Christian" was Dr. Rayburn's subject Thursday night.

Scripture: Eph. 2:1-22.

Text: Eph. 2:12: "That at that time ye were without Christ, being aliens from the commonwealth of Israel, and strangers from the covenants of promise, having no hope, and without God in the world."

"During our life time we have been separated from many things that we consider very desirable. . . . Next Paul uses figures here that are easy to appreciate: one political, the other domestic. First, he says to be without Christ is to be an alien in God's kingdom. You know what it means to be an alien, without the privileges and protection of a citizen. To be without Christ is to be without the protection of the Kingdom of God. You remember that the Egyptians did not have that protection when the Death Angel came.

"How do you come to be a citizen of the Kingdom of God? You will have to come in the way God has provided. You will have to conform to His requirements, just as you would have to conform to federal laws if you desired to become a citizen of the United States. You can speak the language of a country and still not be a citizen. You can also speak the language of Christianity and still be an alien. You can likewise go to church every Sunday and sit by a Christian wife and still be an alien in the Kingdom of God. . . . I am convinced that a lot of this sick bed religion and general piety is nothing but a story of a revival.

in Montana and the funeral of a wicked miser, over whose body an un-Christian double quartet sang "It Is Well With My Soul." I thought I never saw such a farce, such hypocrisy in all my life. If religion is no account on the sidewalk, what good is it at a funeral? If I can't talk Jesus Christ to you while you are living, I do not want to talk about Him over your dead body.

"So if you are without Christ, you are an alien from the Kingdom of God."

Next, Paul uses a domestic figure. He says, "As many as are led by the spirit of God, they are the sons of God. For ye have not received the spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father. The spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God: And if children, then heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ. Again he says, in Galatians, "When the fullness of the time was come, God sent for his son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons. And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the spirit of his son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ. And so God says he will give us adoption. What do you have to do to adopt a child? You must conform to the laws of your state. And if you adopt a child legally and fully, that child becomes your heir and can claim an equal share of your estate. I am an adopted son of God, and if I am adopted and come into the family, I become an heir. If I won't come into the family and I won't take the name, what right have I to the inheritance?"

"Our God is rich unto all that call upon him." If you are a spiritual pauper, it is your own fault. The devil knows that all he has to do to keep you from salvation is to stop you at the point of decision. You say, "I do not have the feeling." We are not saved by feeling; we are saved by faith. Saul of Tarsus was struck blind. . . . but did you ever hear of Paul preaching that you had to be blinded to be saved? The isleler came trembling. The quiet, reverent Cornelius made no demonstration at all. What is the difference? The difference in temperament. You get to work, get into the church, get into prayer life; and the feeling will take care of itself. It is only common sense that God will not give Christian experience without your being a Christian. You say, "I would be glad to be a Christian if I just knew that I could hold out." You don't hold out, Christ holds out. Paul said, "I know whom I have believed and I am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day." I have a saviour who is not only able to save me; he is able to keep me. When I have turned my soul over to the Almighty, I do not have to worry about whether he can keep it.

"You go through this land of songs and prayers, ministers, evangelists, Sunday schools and churches; everything that God can put

Albough Well At 4,770-Ft. Depth Sprinters Are Born, Not Made

Ray Albough No. 1 John Robinson well in Dawson county was drilling ahead in dark gray lime late Thursday at 4770 feet. It was indicated the well was at a critical depth and within the next hundred feet a showing would be made. It was reported that a showing of gas had been made.

By W. A. WELLS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Track coaches eager to get full credit for "developing" star athletes may not like it, but Dr. Horace Gray has the scientific analysis of nearly a thousand 100-yard dashes to back up his conclusion that "sprinters are born, not made."

Dr. Gray, of the Stanford university school of medicine, comments on his technical report that: "It appears speed is a trait that is inherited. You either can or you can't run fast. I doubt if a track coach teaches very much to a sprinter."

One of his conclusions is "the rate of speed in running of which school boys are capable has been shown to be correlated with age and, hence, to be one of the phases to mathematical treatment like growth in size of the body as a whole and of its various organs, systems and activities."

A Meteoric Minority

To obtain his data, Dr. Gray and Frederick J. Daly, principal at San Rafael, Cal. high school and a former coach at Yale, made 902 tests by having youths from nine to 20 1-2 years run that many "centuries."

Campaign For Memberships In AAA Is On

W.D. Willbanks Appointed Special Representative For This Area

W. D. Willbanks has been appointed special representative of the Big Spring branch of the South Plains Automobile club, Jack Douglas, general manager announced Friday.

Headquarters will be in the Crawford hotel lobby. The Phillips Super-Service Station A. Shrover, manager, has again been appointed the official AAA service wrecker, and top and body unit.

The local office has affiliation for receiving authentic information on road conditions from coast to coast, Canada and Mexico through affiliated AAA clubs throughout the United States. Motorists receiving such information may rest assured that it is up to the minute.

The South Plains club has a membership roster of 4000, according to Douglas. This unit of AAA has branch offices in Plainview, Abilene and San Angelo, with headquarters in Lubbock, and is to the sprints and not to distance runs, pole vaulting, shot putting, hurdles and other sports.

One of 1200 clubs that comprise the AAA in national non-profit civic organizations interested in promotion of safety in traffic, particularly among school children, together with service of mutual benefit to motorists everywhere.

One of the chief motives of the club in Big Spring is to organize school boy safety patrols throughout the territory with the cooperation of the city commission. They are contemplating a meeting with the city commission in the near future in an effort to work out the program. Such patrols have been functioning in schools throughout the United States for the past ten years and are inaugurated in all other cities where the South Plains automobile membership unit is in connection with public schools. The club furnishes the teachers safety lessons and posters which are used in regular school curriculum each month.

The local membership drive is under way, and Mr. Douglas urges car owners to acquaint themselves with the services and advantages of AAA membership.

The new wheat cereal that you've sampled...

BLENDED FOR CRISPNESS

RECENTLY, you received a free sample of the new Kellogg's Wheat Krispies. As soon as you taste this new cereal, you know why the Kellogg Company selected samples to introduce this unusual product.

A sample is better than any words to describe the new blended wheat cereal.

Just pour milk or cream on Kellogg's Wheat Krispies. And taste them! They actually keep their crackling crispness—right down to the last delicious spoonful!

It's never been done before

That's a brand-new feature. For years the vast Kellogg kitchens have experimented with whole wheat in various forms.

Just recently, came the BLENDING idea. As coffee is blended from berries that grow in different parts of the world—so a ready-to-eat cereal was blended. Different combinations of grain were tried until, finally, this new cereal was created with surpassing crispness and flavor.

Just enough rice is blended with whole wheat to make a marvelous difference in crunchy goodness. Wheat Krispies have something that no wheat cereal ever had before. Buy a big package from your grocer. Enjoy them often for nourishment. For flavor. For new lasting crispness. Always oven-fresh.

Chapter Eight SCHOOL DAYS

It must be confessed that James at this period was neither a beauty nor a prepossessing young man. The year before he suddenly had begun to grow and after he had a good start it seemed as if he were determined never to stop. His growth, that only in one direction and was so exceedingly thin for his height—he finally reached six feet one and a quarter—that when he sat down he had the effect of doubling up like a Jack-knife.

His curly red hair was another crown. Each morning he soaked it in water, parted it in the middle, plastered each half firmly into place and put his cap on to set the mold. But a certain cowlick on his crown refused absolutely to stay where it was put more than twenty minutes at a stretch. James' eyes were not bad. When he wore the girls used to claim they were "speaking eyes" but at present he avoided girls, considering their pests.

His best feature in after life, a deeply musical and resonant speaking voice, had as yet only found a little of its own. While it was already inclined toward the bass and had many notes, it was not yet fully developed. It was unfortunately punctuated with little sibilant squeaks which not only annoyed the ear but embarrassed the owner to the verge of tears.

James was sent, of course, to the "old academy" in Massachusetts where his father and grandfather had been such shining lights. James, however, lacked altogether the grand air possessed so abundantly by the senior Simmons. He was much given to dreaming and was neither alert nor self-confident and appeared just what he was—somewhat helpless and ineffectual. Possessing at this time what would be the longest neck in the world outside a zoo he was violently addicted to collars so high they looked more like cuffs.

James' clothes had been made by Mr. Davis, the best tailor in New Concord, of his finest wools and cloths. They were well and carefully made cannot be denied, but neither is there doubt that they, like their owner, lacked that indefinable flair and style which distinguished both the clothes and the manners of the gilded youth with whom James now found himself surrounded.

Miss Sarah went East with her nephew and, the dormitories being full found him a room recommended by a helpful member of the faculty. In a charming old Colonial house whose owner, Mrs. Bliss, was in "reduced circumstances" and forced to rent rooms to young gentlemen. Miss Sarah, after arranging for the payment of James' room and his board with a friend of Mrs. Bliss, gave her nephew twenty-five dollars in cash for incidental expenses during the remaining three months of school, kissed him goodbye without breaking down and departed bravely to visit her Eastern relatives without letting James guess in the least what the parting cost her.

To James who had never needed more than a dollar or two at a time, twenty-five dollars seemed an ample amount and he wondered vaguely when his aunt gave it to him what he would do with all that money. He was to learn very shortly.

That very evening when he was unpacking his trunk a delegation called on him for a subscription for the school football team. James was about to offer them a dollar when the supercilious upper classman who was spokesman, shyly taking James' measure, made it plain at once that anyone giving less than ten dollars would be branded for the rest of life as a piker.

James, fairly trembling with relief at the narrowness of his escape, promptly handed over ten dollars. The news spread. The next morning he gave ten more to the baseball team. The following afternoon he promised a third ten to the track team and wrote hurriedly to his aunt for fifty dollars.

The request staggered Miss Sarah and she did not sleep a wink that night debating with herself whether to send the money. While her father lived it had never occurred to her to worry about her nephew's future, but when the Governor died just as James was budding into manhood and made her his sole guardian, Miss Sarah was stunned by the pressure of her responsibility.

She realized only too well that she knew nothing of a certain dark side of young men or of their temptations. On the other hand, James might need the money very urgently, in the novels she had read the young heroes often got into desperate straits for want of a little ready cash during the process known as "sowing wild oats."

How James in forty-eight hours and under the watchful eyes of his preceptors could have already begun to plant his oat crop his aunt could not figure out. Miss Sarah's thoughts were as delicate as wild cherry blossoms. When something was forced on her notice that she did not consider "nice" she preferred to shut her eyes and pretend it was not there.

But in a matter where her duty lay plain before her, Miss Sarah could be counted on to keep her eyes fully open, no matter what the cost to her new-billies. Therefore after praying for help until her knees ached Miss Sarah rose to what she felt was a "crisis" and prepared to do battle as best she was able.

ADVOCATE 'GOOD NEIGHBOR' POLICY

The "good neighbor" policy outlined by President Roosevelt with respect to world relations found a domestic application when his mother, Mrs. James Roosevelt, dropped into the New York apartment of Col. E. M. House, wartime advisor of Woodrow Wilson, during her morning walk. They are shown as they chatted on affairs of the day. (Associated Press Photo)

"P. S. Of course, if anything should occur that would make the possession of more money imprudent, you must let me know. I trust, however, no such contingency will arise. Auntie."

The letter embarrassed James terribly. When he answered it he scribbled only vaguely to Aunt Sarah's writing. The letter made him feel more alone than he had ever believed possible.

A longing for his grandmother more overwhelming than he had yet experienced swept over James and twisted and tore his heart. His grandmother would have understood. His grandmother would not have prided on temptations. I came to him as if for the first time that when he went home his grandmother would not be there. He would never see her again. It was years before James could bear to look back and relive his school days at school.

James' room was on the third floor front of the Bliss residence and directly below him was a suite occupied by two upper classmen, who had achieved respectively positions no less exalted than the captaincy of the football team and the editorship of the school paper. The captain of the football team made it a matter of policy to be on a friendly footing with even the lowliest and most insignificant. The editor of the paper, being a student of human nature, saw in James something of the pup the judges had visualized shut out in the cold and trying his best not to whine.

Consequently their mightiness were on the whole inclined to be friendly, even though they flibed at James and his native state for the good of his soul.

Unfortunately James remembered the Judge's advice to go slow in making friends and ignored the friendliness. Later, when he had discovered the emptiness of the two who dwelt just below him he was too proud to make any but the most tentative advances, which were in turn ignored. James immediately retreated into the fastnesses of his own soul and surrounded himself with prickles.

It took but a week or two at school to make him doubt his own importance. It took less than a month to make him wonder whether there was something inherently wrong with him that made strangers shun and avoid him. James was naturally the most sociable of souls and he missed companionship fearfully.

He took refuge in books or long solitary walks, varied occasionally by the company of another parish like himself. As for the temptations from which his aunt had urged him to flee, they seemed to be confined, as far as James could discover, to her imagination.

TODAY and TOMORROW

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Opponents of the Wagner labor bill have been saying that it would set up a "labor dictatorship," and Senator Wagner has declared that there is not a scintilla of truth in the charge.

The underlying fallacy of the whole bill is that Senator Wagner has not distinguished between protecting the right to organize and promoting union organization.

The purpose of the bill is to use the power of the Federal government to protect the right of wage-earners to organize in order to bargain collectively.

Now the Federal government has no power to promote unionism. It can not refer to constitutional power but to actual power assumed by the Federal government.

It is a bad bill. It extends the scope of the government responsibility beyond the government's power to discharge that responsibility.

The trouble is that Senator Wagner is trying to extend the Federal power over labor relations as widely as possible.

Having embraced all commerce vaguely, the bill then defines the "rights of employees" which are to be enforced by civil and criminal sanctions.

The trouble here is that Senator Wagner is trying to use the cumbersome process of litigation to enforce his rights.

It is true that in section 9 Senator Wagner provides for elections. But this section, which ought to be his main reliance and the most carefully worked out part of the bill,

Science Class Visits Herald

High School Group Studies Art of Printing; Shown Through Herald Plant

The general science class of the Big Spring high school, taught by Miss Nell Brown, visited The Daily Herald plant Friday morning to witness the making of a newspaper.

The class is now studying the art of printing and writing. After the class journeyed through the composing room and were shown the working of the typesetting machine, the members then went through the press room, where the Sunday comics were being printed.

A description of the history of printing, from the use of handtype up to more modern means of typesetting was given to the class. Members of the class are: Edna Gray, Annie Griffin, Eldredh Watson, Frank Wentz, Raymond Plunkett, Pilar Yanez, Charles Sikes, George Paylor, Cecil Whisenhunt, James Skalkley, Berlie Fallon, Charles Campbell, Dale Smith, Loran Warren, Dan Bearden, Jack Lane, L. E. Ben, J. Olin Kirk.

Congressman Mahon Attends Stage Party Given By Roosevelt

George Mahon of Colorado, among the new congressmen from Texas, was guest at a recent "Stage party" given at the White House by President Roosevelt, a news story from Washington states. The story stated that Mr. Mahon came away delighted with the wonderful personality of the president.

In commenting of the affair Lloyd Crossin, secretary to Mr. Mahon, said: "Only a limited number of 'rookie' Democratic congressmen were at the small stage party which the president gave to get better acquainted with the new members of the party in the house."

"Mahon says that a story told by one of the few senior congressmen who were present which got a big laugh out of the president was about the constituent who wrote to his congressman asking for a lot of 'reun' matter for the long winter evenings."

"This was before the days of alphabetical major league emergency departments which issue bales of orders and rulings each day, and so this old ranch hand asked for copies of the memorials which congress issues at the demise of any of its members. In closing his remarks for a copy of all the remaining memorials, he said, 'There's nothing I like to read about any more than a dead congressman.'"

Oklahoma Clay Becomes Art In Student's Hands

There has always been plenty of clay soil in the Southwest to trouble gardeners and flower-growers not to mention oil well diggers and water witches. Not until recently has a university discovered any great use for southwestern clay.

The University of Oklahoma recently imported an art professor from the East who became interested in a bed of clay near Norman, Okla. He found it was good for pottery, and put the university students to work modeling.

The vases and other forms of pottery began to attract attention because hand-made pottery is not common in the Southwest. The pottery was given a name, Frankoma, and merchants began to stock it. The Gibson Office Supply Company of Big Spring has joined the list of merchants who have found it profitable to carry art pottery alongside commercial pottery.

Each piece is modeled by a student by hand. No two are alike although both may appear alike at first sight. The pottery is in many colors, with green and cream predominating. Quite large figures

Auto Wasn't Bargain
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—Granville H. Morgan got no bargain when he paid $1.50 for an automobile, along with Thomas Crubbs, from whom he purchased it. Crubbs told him, he said, that the car was "slightly warm," so he paid him but $1.50, whereas Crubbs originally demanded $3.

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Woodwork in the Robert A. Johnston mansion, once one of the showplaces of Milwaukee which now is being wrecked, is valued at $80,000. The house was built a half-mile from the lake shore which the wealthy families of the time shunned as unhealthful.

Stephen F. Austin To Be Honored At Annual Round-Up

AUSTIN—Stephen F. Austin, often called the "Founder of Texas," will be honored by the sixth annual round-up to be held at the University of Texas April 5, 6 and 7.

Documents and maps pertaining to the life of Austin and the colony he founded will be exhibited during the celebration. The display will be at the University Archives, located in the new library building. It is being prepared by the Stephen F. Austin chapter of the Daughters of the Texas Republic and will be under the direct supervision of Mrs. Mattie Austin Hatcher, archivist of the University.

Officials will get the material for the exhibit from Austin's personal papers, memoirs, and letters in the University library and from documents in the possession of the Ryan and Perry families of Houston.

Among the family relics which the exhibit will contain are two miniatures of Austin, painted when he was in Mexico; oil portrait of Moses Austin; his powder horn; and his calling card, used when he was in the United States trying to obtain funds to carry on the Texas Revolution.

All close relations of the Austin family have been invited to attend the round-up and to receive visitors at the Austin exhibit.

Track, Field Meet Be Held At Baylor

WACO (Sp.)—Announcement was made here today that the annual high school track and field meet which has been held at Baylor in the past, will be held April 27 this year. The meet, which will take place on Carroll field, is under the sponsorship of the Baylor Bear club and Baylor University.

In past meets, the event has drawn about 300 athletes from more than fifty high schools all over the state. Suitable prizes are awarded, and since the date set is between University library and from documents in the possession of the Ryan and Perry families of Houston.

New Streamlined Dodge Truck Shown

The public has seen stream-lined cars, hats, shoes, frocks, tricycles, furniture, but still a novelty as far as the body of a truck is concerned is the new Dodge streamlined tank truck, which has been catching the eye of all who see it, not only because of the distinctive shape of the truck, but also because it was bought by the Texas Co. and painted their characteristic red.

The truck which has five different tanks in the center of the body has a gasoline capacity of seven hundred gallons of gasoline, as well as side storage tanks for the transportation of oil.

The headlights, bumpers and grills are all nickel-plated, as is the railing which extends the length of the two-cat-walks on either side of the truck. Also the cab of the truck is regulation Dodge truck size, the over-sized tank construction gives the appearance of enormity, which is further emphasized by giant white letters on the side of the truck, standing out in relief against the brilliant red background.

The truck was purchased from the West Texas Motor Co.

Another Bank For Colorado Rumored

COLORADO—That Colorado is soon to have another bank is being rumored about the streets, although no definite statement in that direction had been given newsmen up to Thursday noon. The report gained circulation after the old City National bank building was sold by C. H. Lasky to W. E. Reid.

Lasky told The Colorado Record Thursday morning that the property transfer had not been concluded, pending approval of abstract and other title documents at Dallas. He expressed opinion, however, that the deal would be concluded.

A price of $13,000 cash was paid for the property. The building was erected several years ago as home of the City National at a cost of $16,000. Fixtures placed total cost of the property around $20,000.

Dr. Root To Reopen Colorado Hospital

COLORADO—The C. L. Root hospital, on North Chestnut street, is to be formally reopened to the public Monday morning, Dr. Root, owner of the institution, outlined in statement given The Colorado Record Wednesday. The entire plant is being thoroughly renovated and will be in first class condition throughout when the doors are swung open the first of next week, the surgeon said.

Mrs. Nell Scott, superintendent of the hospital for 15 years prior to its closing several months ago, is to be continued in that capacity, Dr. Root stated. Other nurses identified with the staff are also being retained.

HALIFAX, N. S. (UP)—The Halifax city prison menu has been changed. The change was ordered by the city council after convicts threatened that if porridge was served for breakfast and supper much longer they would "throw it right back in the faces of the guards."

Another Bank For Colorado Rumored
COLORADO—That Colorado is soon to have another bank is being rumored about the streets, although no definite statement in that direction had been given newsmen up to Thursday noon. The report gained circulation after the old City National bank building was sold by C. H. Lasky to W. E. Reid.

Lasky told The Colorado Record Thursday morning that the property transfer had not been concluded, pending approval of abstract and other title documents at Dallas. He expressed opinion, however, that the deal would be concluded.

A price of $13,000 cash was paid for the property. The building was erected several years ago as home of the City National at a cost of $16,000. Fixtures placed total cost of the property around $20,000.
