Ice Pick Wound Is Reason of Walton's Waving Band Baton

When the orchestra of the First Baptist church plays Sunday, O. L. Walton will wave a baton, rather than play his usual "mean" trumpet.

An ice pick wound in the jaw, sustained while working on his car Wednesday, has caused him to be temporarily hors de combat, he explains temporarily hors de combat, he explains.

The pick slipped and made a deep wound in his cheek bone, narrowly missing the eye. It required all the strength of Mrs. Walton to remove the pick.

The injury affected nerves in his face, much like temporary paralysis. A physician administered tetanus antitoxin, a prophylactic to prevent possibility of lockjaw resulting 15 to 20 days later.

As a result, orchestra practice this week has not been held.

He was feeling improved today.

ADA, Okla., April 22. (UP)-Through barbed wire fences, across fields, and along highways and lanes Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd and his aid, George Birdwell, beat their way today a few minutes ahead of pursuers.

The escape of the tactic bandits was described by Estel Henson, 18, filling station attendant who was captured by the pair and held a prisoner for 13 hours and released at 1:30 this morning unharmed.

During the search yesterday, Henson said the bandits drove their car into the brush at 2 o'clock and kept it covered with brush until 1 o'clock this morning. Pursuers were passing nearby.

The bandit dar contained two machine guns, two shotguns and many pistols.

They treated Henson well and offered him food. They asked him road directions, gave him a dollar and his hat and released him.

WHY THIS BUSINESS IS GOOD

The magazine Variety reports that fortune tellers, crystal gazers and other psychic wonder-workers are finding business better during the depression than ever before. This is especially true in the theatre; whereas in ordinary times there are seldom more than 25 active fortune tellers on the stage in the United States, there are now more than 100-and they are drawing crowds, too.

This, of course, isn't as puzzling as it seems at first glance. When times are good, the ordinary citizen is content to let tomorrow take care of itself. It is when times are bad that he wants to look into the future. He wants ! to know if he is going to lose his job, or if he is going to get a new one, or if anyone is going to leave him any money; and no matter how hard up he is, he can usually dig up half a dollar or so for the man who professes to be able to tell him.

Horse racing meet . Other suggestions

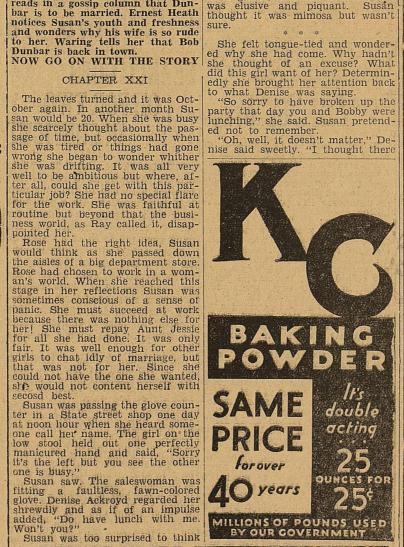

It looks like the main thing that is needed is leadership. Why don't the old timers themselves hold a meeting and get an organization together for the purpose of staging the reunion, then ask for just the kind of support they believe is needed? Personally, I am so old fashloned that I believe a barbecue, the Midland way, is a good thing, and also I believe that a committee could go to the cowmen and get the 50 beeves subscribed in about 50 minutes. My main authority for this is the cowmen themselves. I've heard several say they would give two calves now to where they would have given one a year or two ago. have given one a year or two ago.

In Speaking Contest

Two additional schplarships in West Texas colleges were added to the list already announced a choice of which will be given the winner of the My Home Town speaking contest at the fourteenth annual convention of the West Texas chamber of commerce at Sweetwater, May 12-14. Midland may have a speaker there.

They are from the College of Industrial Arts at Denton and the Texas Christian university at Fort Worth. Eight such scholarships have been offered so far, and the total expected from which the winner makes his selection will be 14. Entries in the contest have been received from Frances Louise Adams, Santa Anna; Nancy King, Albany; Carson Glass, Littlefield; and Cecil Byrd, Colorado. Vernon, Lubbock, Wichita Falls, El Paso, Plain view, Portales, Rising Star, Pecos, Eldorado, Eastland, Dublin, and San Angelo have advised B. H. McLain, secretary of the contest, that elimination contests are being held and that they will have participants.

LETTERS EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Midland, Texas April 22, 1932.

While railroads, banks, and big business institutions of the nation are borrowing from the $2,000,000,000 Reconstruction Finance corporation in lump sums of as much as $10,000,000 or more, thousands of Texas farmers are as shy of government loans as horses were of automobiles in the late 90's ally enditled to it should take advantage of this opportunity of obtaining a government loan because of the scarcity of commercial credit for financing the present crop."

As to the importance of businessmen giving their support to government crop-production loans, John W. Carpenter, president of the Texas Power and Light company and chairman of the advisory committee appointed by Governor Sterling to arrange for Texas getting its share of Reconstruction Finance corporation money, says:

tomobiles in the late 90's.

Texas business leaders agree that the placing in circulation of $10,-000,000 for farm supplies would be a genuine stimulant to business, but records of the regional agricultural loan office in dallas of the Reconstruction Finance corporation indicate that less than $5,000,000 of the $10,000,000 available for Texas farmers will be used.

As April 30 is the "deadline" for farmers filing applications for Uncle Sam's Reconstruction Finance corporation money, it is expected there will be a last minute rush in filing applications with county loan
