GERMANY CALLS HER ENVOY HOME

Population 'Out Of Balance' From Declining Birth Rate

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18 (AP)—The American birth rate is going down so fast that if everyone up to 45 who died between 1930 and '35, had lived, they could not balance the deficit of unborn babies.

There soon will be more people at less fertile ages. When that balance is completed, if the fertile are producing only at their present ratio, the country's birth rate will read the "minus two."

Fairbanks And Rogers Are Starred

'Having Wonderful Time' Featured At The Ritz

Fresh from her dramatic triumph in "Stage Door" and "Vivacious Lady," Ginger Rogers shares stellar honors with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in RKO Radio's "Having Wonderful Time," which comes to the Ritz theatre Friday and Saturday.

Nearly all of the story, which is based on the stage hit of the same name, takes place at a summer camp, peopled with all manner of pleasure-seeking office-worker vacationists anxious to get the most out of their two-week respite from their jobs.

Miss Rogers has the role of a nervous and over-worked stenographer, fleeing from a nagging family and a sanctimonious would-be fiance to what she thinks will be the peace and quiet of the woods. Fairbanks is a penniless young law graduate who has taken a job as a writer at the camp. And the simple human romance between the two, a romance that at first seems destined to frustration because they can't afford to marry, forms the appealing theme of the film.

This theme is woven into a shifting pattern made up of the contrasting lives and love affairs and quarrels of the scores of others at the camp. Just as "Stage Door" presented a cross-section of life among a group of stage-struck girls, so "Having Wonderful Time" presents a cross-section of a larger and more varied group and their interlaced emotions, with a similar realism and appeal.

There are more than 50 speaking parts in "Having Wonderful Time." Peggy Conklin, noted Broadway favorite, and Richard "Red" Skelton, vaudeville's newest favorite, are in the list of supporting celebrities. Miss Conklin is Miss Rogers' girl friend and Skelton as the cocky social director of the camp. Others featured are Lucille Ball, Lee Bowman, Donald Meek, and Ann Miller.

Alfred Santell directed this Pandro S. Berman production, and Arthur Kober, who wrote the original Broadway play, also wrote the film version.

Musical Western Featured Film At The Queen

Another of the colorful dramas of the old West, Bob Baker's new musical western, "Black Bandit," is featured at the Queen theatre Friday and Saturday with Marjorie Reynolds and Hal Taliaferro in featured roles.

The picture reveals the powerful dramatic story of twin brothers, one a sheriff and the other a cattle rustler and badman, and shows what happens when they grow to manhood and face each other with blazing guns during a spectacular stampede of wild horses on the range.

In addition to the hard riding and fast action of the picture, Baker introduces several new western melodies and sings them in the rich baritone voice which made him a favorite over the national radio networks before his entry into films.

Romantic flavor is given the story through the presence of Marjorie Reynolds, famous "Queen of the westens," whose spectacular riding and daring stunts have long been a source of amusement to theatre-goers.

Impressive scenes include Baker's escape from jail when he goes off to capture his bandit brother, the stampede of a great herd of wild horses, and a blood-tingling race down a mountain side climaxed by a jump off a high cliff into a river below.

AT THE LYRIC

The popular westerner, George O'Brien, becomes a ranger to contribute to action and excitement in "Renegade Ranger," an outdoor melodrama which plays Friday and Saturday at the Lyric theatre.

VACATIONISTS

Ginger Rogers and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. are co-starred in a comedy, "Having Wonderful Time," which is at the Ritz Friday and Saturday. The picture tells a story of two young folk who find at a summer camp the problem of how to make out on no money.

George O'Brien In Ranger Role For Lyric Offering

Dealing with a Texas ranger's thrilling pursuit of a daring feminine fugitive, RKO Radio's new outdoor drama, "The Renegade Ranger," is at the Lyric theatre Friday and Saturday with the popular George O'Brien starred.

The story is laid along the Texas border, where the beautiful daughter of an old Spanish family has fled into the mountains, accused of having murdered an American rancher. A ranger captain is sent after her and by a daring ruse is admitted to the band of outcasts who have joined the girl at her hidden retreat.

But he is recognized and sentenced to death as a spy. Escaping during a surprise raid on the girl's enemies, the ranger manages to capture and take her to jail, only to find that he has fallen in love with her. The girl is "rescued" by a masked group pretending to be her own followers, but who are in reality a band of thugs assigned to kill her.

How the resourceful officer defeats the scheme, saves the girl, and unmasks the real murderer, makes for the thrilling climax of the picture. Abounding in gun battles and suspense-filled moments, the film presents a vivid portrayal of border life as well as of the operation of the ranger forces, one of the nation's oldest and most picturesque law enforcement bodies.

George O'Brien is said to give one of the best performances of his career as the hard-riding officer—a role made to order for his special talents. Rita Hayworth, a member of the famous Cansino family of dancers, is a perfect choice for the part of the unjustly accused Spanish heroine, while the supporting cast is headed by Ray Whitley, the singing cowboy; Tim Holt, son of Jack Holt; Charles Stevens, William Royle, Neal Hart, Lucio Villegas, Chris-Pin Martin and other players.

ENTRIES ARE SOUGHT FOR SANTA CLAUS AMATEUR PROGRAM

With only two entries listed in the chamber of commerce amateur contest, planned as a radio program feature to boost interest in the launching of a Christmas shopping season, an appeal went out from the chamber office today for more contestants.

Those who have entered are Edwin Harris, Hawaiian guitar player, and Harry Fenstamaker, steel guitar player. J. H. Greene, chamber manager, reminded contestants that the KBBT amateur program would be compiled in the order of entry.

First of the programs is set tentatively for December 8. Prompt entrance by contacting the chamber of commerce office may insure amateur artists a place on the initial program.

THE SPORTS PARADE

by HANK HART

Here's the way it looks from this corner. We're speaking of the all-important Oil Belt clash at Sweetwater this evening. The Mustangs broke the barrier with too great a burst of speed. At the quarter post they were living up to their buildup but at the half they had started to fade. Still leading until they reached the far turn they put on that last bit of reserve to edge out Big Spring and keep abreast of San Angelo, which had put Abilene out of the running. Now they're running on heart and heart alone and that won't be enough to beat the Cats, who like Sea'scut, have gained strength and are running at their best. Its Angelo by a touchdown, may be two.

Over in the eastern sector Breckenridge should handle Cis in a tight battle. Bill Ramsey looks too good for that Lobo bunch, which has arisen as a contender too quickly to figure largely in the running.

Elsewhere it looks like (winners in capital letters):

TCU can block Rice.

SMU in a game over Baylor that can certainly go either way.

NORTHWESTERN can floor Notre Dame. The nation's No. 1 team falls. The money's going the other way.

Wisconsin may be surprised by MINNESOTA.

VILLANOVA will not be troubled by Boston U.

CALIFORNIA can triumph over Stanford.

ILLINOIS should rout Chicago. COLUMBIA, with Luckman, should not be upset by Syracuse.

DUKE can protect their record against North Carolina State.

FORDHAM should trample South Carolina.

AUBURN will drop Georgia. GEORGIA TECH should have little trouble with Florida.

DETROIT will probably win from Tulsa.

HARVARD looks better than Yale.

PURDUE will shove aside Bo McMillan's Indiana Hoosiers.

NEBRASKA can win their second game of the year at the expense of Iowa.

OKLAHOMA can handle Iowa State.

MICHIGAN STATE should walk up Temple.

MICHIGAN is capable of trouncing Ohio State.

WASHINGTON is very apt of doubling Oregon.

Penn State should not be allowed on the field with PITT.

ARMY can punch Princeton.

TEXAS TECH is due to continue unbeaten and untied at the expense of New Mexico.

And TULANE can get around Evaneau.

Mr. and Mrs. Olie Cordill, Sr., parents of Rice Institute's gridiron flash, decided to wait until the SMU-Owl game to see their son in action and Houston for the first time. The local fire chief and the missus had originally intended to travel southward for the TCU battle Saturday but changed their plans.

Mrs. Cordill says Olie will not do any more punting this fall due to torn ligaments in his kicking leg.

Olie, even if he doesn't manage to play much from here on out, has a better than average offensive average to date. He ranks third in kicking to Kay Eakin of Arkansas, not out with injuries, and Baylor's Billy Patterson, boasts an average booting mark of 38.16 yards.

He also ranks third among the ball toters, directly behind Slick Rogers and Dick Todd of Texas A. and M. The Big Spring boy's mark is 4.92 yards. He has advanced the pig hide a total of 279 yards in 51 tries.

The NEA contributes the first 21 Southwestern team, names 10 conference stars, one Texas Tech player. It's major fault is the absence of Cordill who was placed on the second string along with Billy Patterson of Baylor.

They made other miscues. Ike Keying Ken Heinemann, Texas School of Mines, off all the three squads. Here's their "varsity" lineup:

Sam Boyd, Baylor, end; I. B. Hale, TCU, tackle; Jack Rhodes, Texas, guard; Ki Aldrich, TCU, center; Matt Landry, Rice, guard; Joe Boyd, Texas A. and M., tackle; Billy Dewell, SMU, end; Davey O'Brien, TCU, back; Eimer Tarbox, Texas Tech, back; Dick Todd, Texas A. and M., back; and Kay Eakin, Arkansas, back.

Named along with Cordill and Patterson on the second team's

Only Few Due To See Fight Tonight

Apostoli Heavily Favored To Trip Young Corbett

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Having finished their training without the fracture of a single sacroiliac, Freddie Apostoli and Young Corbett 3rd clash at Madison Square Garden tonight for the "world middleweight championship," as it is understood by the New York State Athletic commission.

Prospects are that the two Californians will settle their argument in semi-privacy, with fewer than 10,000 scattered about the big arena. The fight has failed to catch on, partly because the house has been sealed at championship prices and many fans do not think it is a bona fide championship fight.

The title for which Apostoli and Corbett fight is an ephemeral something, created by the state boxing commission. The other 160-pound title is held by Solly Krieger or Brooklyn, by virtue of his recent win over Al Hostak in Seattle. Apostoli beat Solly twice, knocking him out the second time, before Solly "snuck" up on Hostak. In the opinion of impartial critics, Apostoli and Corbett are the two best middleweights in the world today, whatever the status of tonight's scrap.

Corbett, 33 and a southpaw, won a 10-round decision from Apostoli in San Francisco last February, much to the surprise of nearly everybody. The betting is 5 to 9 that there will be a different result tonight, and the probability is that Apostoli will be declared the winner before the 15 rounds are up.

Still Trying To Get Cotton To Come To U. S.

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—You can't yourself tonight around this town betting when Notre Dame played its first football game in New York. It was against Rutgers in '21. And this corner was taken for a piece of change against that one (to be brutally frank). The Irish won only 4-0. Golf officials in this country are still hopeful Henry Cotton will come over for next year's campaigning, particularly that World Fair tournament around here. Incidentally, Henry averaged 72.25 for 20 rounds of competition to lead British pros in '38. Now that Jimmy Adamek is off the active list, the good Doc Kearns is looking for another "white hope." Got one up your sleeve? Any team out to skin the Yankees might take a gander at Heber (Rock) Stroud, a third-baseman who showed plenty of class at South Carolina. This department hears the Boston Red Sox have had an eye or two on him.

It is generally known that Frankie Frisch was once turned down for the army because of a "weak heart." And all he's done since then is play 20 years of major league ball. Southwestern Louisiana Institute, where Johnny Cain, the old "Bama boy, has a real small-college ball club, is booming. Clyde Abel, a halfback from Mississippi, and Bill Stevenson, a guard, are the best-looking footballers they've seen since Chris Cagle was taking things apart down thataway before moving up to Army.

Ever since Gene Sarazen wrote that nice saying golf pros lose money around the circuit, the folks are wondering what skin the Yankees, Denny Shute and Johnny Revolta used to build those Florida homes.

Recreation Director Malone Issues Sept. Report On Attendance

A grand total of 28,000 participants took part in the recreation department's September program, a report from Director H. F. Malone's department showed recently. Special events which took place during that period included a celebration of the first anniversary of the opening of the ABC playground, the finals of the city-wide croquet tournament, softball games, parties, "Kids Day" at the Muny swimming pool, and founding of the new South Side playground.

PONIES AND BEARS STACK UP EVENLY IN WACO GAME

SMU Has Shade The Better Running Game But Patterson Will Figure

WACO, Nov. 17 (AP)—Bullet Bill Patterson gave his famed forward passing arm a final workout today as Baylor concocted plans for keeping its ancient jinx over invading Southern Methodist here tomorrow. Never in the history of football relations between the Southwest Conference powers has S.M.U. defeated Baylor on its home ground. Tomorrow Southern Methodist will come here not only to smash a jinx but keep pace of the runaway Texas Christians. Three wins and no losses are on the Methodist books, the only team still with a good chance of overthrowing the Christians.

Patterson, the running, kicking and passing sensation who keeps Baylor listed as a dangerous club, has played 13 consecutive full games. His latest escapade occurred last Friday when he passed Loyola of Los Angeles into 35-2 defeat. Countless passing plays involving Patterson and Sam Boyd, rangy end, have been planned for the Methodists, but Coach Matty Bell planned to spring his own aerial show.

WHITES WIN OVER REDS IN CORRAL

The "Reds" and the "Whites" went at it in Steer stadium Thursday in the first of a series of two post-season intra-squad games and the boys around whom this year's Big Spring high school team is to be built had it all over the '37 crew in the way of scoring.

The Whites won, 19-12, but the game was so close that it could have gone either way. Too, the Whites tallied the winning touchdown when Lefty Bethell, Red's ace and the best performer of the evening, was resting on the sidelines.

Bethell, a constant threat when his team had the ball despite lack of blocking on the part of his mates, broke away in the most beautiful run seen at Steer stadium this year in the second quarter when he dashed some 80 yards for a touchdown. He took a pass from Tabor Rowe just over the line of scrimmage in a play that had the majority of the White defenders foolishly drawn to the other side of the field, faded out toward the sidelines in outdistancing the white line. Wood once he managed to turn toward the distant goal, then evaded the safety man, Johnny Miller, in an amazing bit of hip wiggling. Miller, coming over fast from his isolated position, seemingly had him beautifully in a down-to-earth tackle but Bethell pushed to do a "hula" dance and Miller slithered to the grass.

The Reds jumped away into a lead in the first quarter when Lew Nations caught a pass from Rowe and loped some 15 yards for a tally.

Back To Battle

The Whites jumped right back into the battle early in the second period when Owen Brummett hit for the Red flag 20 yards out and beat a host of Red tacklers there. The drive came after a Red attack had been repulsed on the Whites' 11-yard line. A pass from Bobby Martin to Bobby Savage gave the Whites the extra point and sent them into the lead.

The Reds made another distinct threat in the third when Bethell powered a drive that carried to the 10-yard line, started an end to the Whites' five-yard line but the southpaw fumbled at that point and the Whites recovered. Bethell then left the game and the Whites opened up in earnest.

On rushes at the line, the Whites moved out 15 yards before Wood snagged a pass from Martin and scampered all the way down to the opposition's one-yard stripe. Three times the Whites tried to power it over and three times they failed. On the fourth attempt Johnny Miller took the oval, started an end sweep and apparently was blocked off around his 10-yard stripe when he reversed his field and sliced through successfully. That put the Reds ahead, 13-12, and they added another for good measure in the fourth when Savage carried a pass 25 yards down to the Reds' 12 and Brummett drove over on three tries.

Had Bethell been outstanding for the Whites in defensive play.

Score by quarters:
Reds 6 6 0 0-12
Whites 0 7 6 6-19
Lineups:
Whites—Savage, le; Patton, lt; H. Bostick, lg; Kaach, c; Battle, rg; McDaniel, rt; Creek, re; Martin, rb.

Grim Rice Warriors Await Invasion Of Christians

Scribe Rides With Ponies, Christians

Looks For Irish, Pitt, Wisconsin And Soon—er Eleven To Win

By HERBERT W. BARKER
NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—This guesser, however misguided, hazards the following convictions as to this week's football program: Northwestern-Notre Dame: The temptation is strong to select this as the spot that marks Notre Dame's downfall. Northwestern can match the Irish in man-power, something no other rival has done, and has a habit of playing its best against South Bend outfits. But that's just whistling in the dark. Waving immunity, Notre Dame, Yale-Harvard: It's never safe to hold Yale lightly in an objective game but this ballot goes to Harvard.

Duke-North Carolina State: Can't see how Duke can lose this one.

Rice-Texas Christian: Unpredictable Rice may give the unbeaten Horned Frogs some trouble but Christian has proved his right to top-flight ranking and should win safely.

Wisconsin-Minnesota: One fatter vote for Wisconsin.

Pitt-Penn State: With or without Oklahoma, Pitt.

Princeton-Army: Hard to figure but Army gets the nod.

Iowa State-Oklahoma: The Cyclones are surprisingly tough but seem to lack undefeated and untied Oklahoma's all-around class, Oklahoma.

Baylor—Southern Methodist: Ouch! From the bottom of an exceedingly deep hole, Southern Methodist.

Louisiana State over Southwestern (La.); Northwestern (Tenn.) over Mississippi State; Tulane over Sewanee; Centenary over DePaul; Texas Tech over New Mexico.

Cordill, Lain Set To Play Part Of Game

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT HOUSTON, Nov. 18 (AP)

—Teammates bore the body of Jack Vestal, Rice Institute's scholarly fullback, to his grave today—a sorrowful prelude to tomorrow's clash with undefeated Texas Christian.

The "big game," the bid of down-trodden Rice to shake Texas Christian from its exalted national position, arrived in silence. Vestal, the junior redhead who took the blocks and knocks and made his number 75 a symbol of ruggedness, had whispered he wanted to live for the T. C. U. game.

But he died Wednesday of a cancerous affliction of the four-week-old fight of a stout heart at an end.

Tomorrow some 30,000 fans will bulge Rice stadium to watch the wrecked Owls play one of the nation's greatest teams, a Texas Christian eleven that has won eight straight games with ease in a show of power and pass cunning.

Out there as the foe of West Davey O'Brien in a heralded passing duel will be Ernie Lain, the 1937 gridiron hero who has been benched most of the season with damaging injuries. His ankles are unsteady from hurts, but Lain is expected to be taped up and shot into the game in hopes his old-time magic will return.

Doubtful was the appearance of his prize receiver, Olie Cordill, favoring a bad knee. The rangy kicker, runner and receiver did not play against the Texas Aggies last week and has been woking out in track shorts this week. Observers doubted that his knee would stand the strain of punting a severe blow to an Owl team that has leaned on his long sprats.

Up in the Rice line, one that must stand the shock of Texas Christian's stormy running game that has netted 1,416 yards in eight games, there may be another hole occasioned by the expected absence of Capt. Jess Hines, who re-built an ailing knee in acrimony.

Fair weather still prevailing, Texas Christian planned its usual forward passing game with David O'Brien at the helm the little, 150-pounder who has pumped across 15 touchdown passes, set up seven others inside the six-yard line, kicked across two himself and rashed 23 points after touchdowns to account for 185 of Texas Christian's total of 395 points.

Potent Game

Passes of every description had been conceived for the Rice game by Coach Leo Meyer, who opted a week ago the Owls would be gunning for the Christians. To date, the TCU aerial barrage has reaped 1,473 yards from 92 completions. Four regulars who didn't play against Texas last week while giving minor injuries time to heal, Capt. E. R. Hahn, beefy tackle; guard Forrest Kline and halfbacks Johnny Hall and Earl Clark, the running twins, will start against Rice.

Rice should have its courage up to the hilt, but Texas Christian appeared two touchdowns the better team.

PARIS BEATEN BY KILGORE

KILGORE, Nov. 18 (AP)—The Kilgore College Rangers for the third successive season hold the championship of District No. 1 of the Texas Junior College conference. The Rangers defeated Paris Junior College, 28-0, last night to clinch the title.

City Jr. Golf Finalists To Be Decided

Anderson To Oppose Bagley; House Vies With Watson

Jake Anderson, medalist, will oppose Noel Bagley in the semi-finals of the City Junior golf tournament at the Municipal course Saturday morning for the right to go into the last round November 26.

In the other bracket Marvin House, Jr., and Van Ed Watson are scheduled to battle it out for a semi-final berth, the winner to meet Nick Day. The House-Watson duel was postponed from last week.

Two of the quarter-final matches of the first fight had been played. Winfield Wells had triumphed over Sam Burns, 4 and 3, and Ed Wilkerson had decided Jess Coulter by the same score.

These two will meet in the semi-finals.

In the other bracket Lon Evans was to oppose George Little and David Lammus was to meet Odell Wood.

Wolves Seek To Avenge Defeat

Crouchmen And Forsan Six Tangle This Afternoon

WESTBROOK, Nov. 18—Deterred to make a better showing than they did last week when they fell to the tune of a 55-6 score, the Westbrook high school six-man griders entrenched themselves for the invasion of the strong Forsan high school Buffaloes, scheduled here this afternoon.

Coach R. G. Crouch's team has been beaten only three times this fall and the top heavy score by which the Buffs took them into camp was a bit humiliating.

Crouch was expected to open with Jones and Moody at ends, Board at center and Claxton, Rees and Redwine in the secondary while Brady Nix, mentor of Forsan high, will probably use LaBeff and Croelman at the wings, Craig at the pivot post and Leonard, Astbury and Parker as his behind-the-line combination.

COWHANDS AND FANS ARRIVE FOR BATTLE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18 (AP)—The Hardin-Simmons college football team, accompanied by the Cowboy band and scores of rooters, arrive here today for a gridiron encounter with Loyola tomorrow afternoon.

Arrangements were made for a breakfast for the party from Abilene, Tex., after which the squad will go into seclusion. A private workout during the afternoon was scheduled.

Loyola, loser of its last three games, promised its supporters a win tomorrow. The Lions ward set back by the Cowboys, 7 to 0, a year ago.

Peters Underdog In Hollywood Go

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Nov. 18 (AP)—Nick Peters, hard-hitting lightweight from San Antonio, Tex., will attempt to halt the winning stride of Ritchie Fontaine of Butte, Mont., in a 10-round main event at Hollywood stadium tonight.

Fontaine has outpouted most of the local crop of 135-pounders during the past few months, and was a favorite to add Peters to the list.

SMU Has Shade The Better Running Game But Patterson Will Figure

WACO, Nov. 17 (AP)—Bullet Bill Patterson gave his famed forward passing arm a final workout today as Baylor concocted plans for keeping its ancient jinx over invading Southern Methodist here tomorrow. Never in the history of football relations between the Southwest Conference powers has S.M.U. defeated Baylor on its home ground.

Tomorrow Southern Methodist will come here not only to smash a jinx but keep pace of the runaway Texas Christians. Three wins and no losses are on the Methodist books, the only team still with a good chance of overthrowing the Christians.

Three Clubs Are Visited On Tour Of County Work

Bedroom and poultry demonstrators in the Knott, Hiway and Fairview communities were visited Thursday on the third achievement tour conducted by the Howard county home demonstration clubs under the guidance of Lora Farnsworth, agent.

The largest number of club women to make the tours attended Thursday's activities including around 62. First place visited was that of Mrs. T. M. Robinson, bedroom demonstrator of Knott. She displayed a room that has been completely remodeled, furniture refinished, new clothes closet, and added a book shelf to complete a study unit.

The group also visited a wardrobe improvement unit at Mrs. Jones' daughter, Wynell, who is 43½ club wardrobe demonstrator. Several months ago she only had a corner behind a door for a closet but now she has a closet with all the conveniences.

At Hiway, Mrs. J. E. Brown, bedroom demonstrator, and Mrs. Shirley Fryar, poultry demonstrator, were visited. Mrs. Brown has improved her room by repainting, repairing and adding a reading table and lamp. Mrs. Fryar gave a poultry report and displayed a frame garden built in April. Since that time she has not been without some sort of green vegetables.

Lunch was served at the Moore school and the teachers and pupils presented a program. The improved bedroom of Mrs. W. H. Ward was visited in the Fairview community and Mrs. J. W. Wooten, poultry demonstrator, gave a report. She spoke of the addition of two watering tanks equipped with oil lamps for warm drinking water for the chicks.

P-T.A. Membership Drive Award Given At Unit Meeting

Mrs. H. H. Rutherford's room was awarded first prize in the membership drive for the Central Ward P-T.A. according to an announcement made at a meeting Thursday afternoon in the high school library.

Mrs. Harry Adams, president, presided over the business meeting and the program consisted of two vocal numbers by Bill Dawes, Jr., accompanied by Mrs. Dawes.

Sarah McClenon's room won the award for having the most parents present for the meeting. Fine arrangements were made for a benefit picnic to be held at the Crawford hotel Friday night. Registering were Mrs. T. A. Strohman, Mrs. L. D. Jenkins, Mrs. John Cate, Mrs. G. C. Fotts, Mrs. E. J. McCarty, Mrs. A. B. Kimble, Mrs. R. T. Lytle, Mrs. Togo Sullivan, Mrs. H. H. Autumn Tea Attended By Over 250 Guests

Society Pivots Around Affair At The Settles Given By Mrs. Harry Hurt And Mrs. R. V. Middleton In Form Of Tea

Society this week pivoted around an attractive autumn tea Thursday afternoon at the Settles hotel when Mrs. Harry Hurt and Mrs. R. V. Middleton entertained with more than 250 women calling from 3 o'clock to 6 o'clock.

A fall setting was created by floor baskets of roses, carnations, chrysanthemums, snapdragons and autumn leaves illuminated by yellow tapers on the tea table.

Members of the house party were beautifully gowned in velvets, tulle and crepes with unique hair-dresses, wrist corsages and jeweled combs completing the fashionable display.

Receiving Line Guests were greeted by Mrs. R. L. Thurman who was dressed in a black accented pleated chiton of sequin trim over metallic cloth.

Other Costumes A dusky pink bolero, topped a black tulle skirt, wore by Mrs. Wheelon who also wore a wrist corsage of carnations.

A beaming black velvet with a corsage of gardenias was a costume worn by Mrs. Pittman who had a single gardenia in her hair, and Mrs. Bennett was in black net with tulle applique trim.

Four Tea Mrs. Shilpa Phillips and Mrs. C. W. Cunningham poured tea the first hour, Mrs. M. M. Edwards and Nell Thach the second hour, and Mrs. W. E. Hardy and Mrs. Pittman the third hour.

Tea and coffee were poured from two antique silver services on either end of the table which was laid with an Italian cutwork cloth over yellow satin.

Presenting at the table, Mrs. Phillips was outstanding in a red velvet with a corsage flower in her hair, and Mrs. Cunningham was at the head in a white lace trim black velvet.

A black velvet gown topped with a line of autumn roses was the gown of Mrs. Wood and a white lace bolero over a black velvet was pretty on Mrs. Strom.

AMENDMENTS TO SOCIAL SECURITY

The November issue of "Social Security," the publication of the American Association for Social Security, makes a pertinent analysis of the proposals tentatively advanced in administration circles in Washington as efforts to the agitation for spectacularly increased pensions.

The first of the proposals is to increase the federal maximum grant to states from the present $15 per pensioner to $20. This, it is pointed out, would be virtually meaningless, since most states are not able now to match the $15.

A second proposal is to begin paying earlier and larger benefits than are provided under the old-age insurance section of the Social Security Act. But the association points out that this cannot be done without prohibitive expense unless the present coverage is altered to leave out thousands of higher paid employees and executives who do not need or want this insurance.

Finally, the article holds that talk of extending the insurance system to domestic servants, farm laborers and others should be postponed until the administration of social security is simplified and until the heavy demands on workers and employers to build up a reserve fund are eased by conversion to a pay-as-you-go basis with a government contribution.

All these seem sensible recommendations. They point to the fact that social security will be made workable by small, simple steps more than by dramatic and uncertain promises. Possibly the most significant advice of all—coming presumably from Abram Epstein, editor of the Bulletin and an old campaigner for pensions—is an admonition to the administration that nothing can be accomplished merely by political concessions.

Elliott's Column... Each Friday

Abie o' Thinkin' TROUBLE

An old vaudeville actor used to put on a one-man wrestling match. He would get half-Nelsons on his own neck or a toe-hold on his own foot, and finally pin his own shoulder to the mat. Some people are like that. They throw themselves. They blame "conditions" or their luck is bad. Trouble may come to anyone, of course, through no personal fault. But more often we bring it on ourselves. In this business, whenever something goes wrong, we find out if it was caused by conditions or luck—or by some fault in the business that could be corrected.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

WASHINGTON—So decisive was the swing toward the republicans in the election that close observers suspect it may have an important influence on a certain member of the supreme court.

For a long time it has been known to those intimate with the court that Justice McReynolds, one of the "conservatives" on the bench, has wanted to retire. That was true even before the court fight.

Kept the Court Conservative

But all during the early and middle years of the New Deal he held on because his vote kept the court "conservative." He has resigned an appointee of New Deal leanings would have swung the balance in the other direction. By staying on he became one of the five-man bloc which threw out one New Deal measure after another.

When Justice Roberts swung from the conservative group to the liberal group led by Chief Justice Hughes as a sort of liberal mediator, McReynolds was known to be bitter, not only against Roberts and Hughes but over the fact that the court was committed to a philosophy of which he disapproved.

Two of his fellow conservatives, Sutherland and Vandeverter, gave up the battle and retired. Their places were taken by known liberals, Justices Black and Reed.

Justices McReynolds and Butler, remnant conservative wing of the court, stay on. Butler evidently because he loves his job and McReynolds because he hates to leave the fight.

Holding the Fort Till '40

Now the republican political gains add a new factor. By staying through 1940, McReynolds might find a republican president in office to appoint his successor. So court observers are discounting the persistent talk that McReynolds will walk out soon.

Should he leave now, appointment of a liberal successor might mean the end of that philosophy for a number of years. If McReynolds stays on until a republican is president, he might naturally reduce the length of time that the present liberal tendency will prevail.

In Good Health At 76

Although 76, McReynolds is physically hearty, so questions of health need not dictate his decision about retiring for perhaps several years.

As to the remainder of the court, there is nothing to indicate that the election had more than academic interest to them. Justice Brandeis, just turned 82, is the oldest member, but gives no hint of a desire to retire. In fact, the reverse seems true—that he wishes to continue as long as he is able to handle his work, possibly with an eye to equaling the record of the late Justice Holmes, who remained until he passed 90.

Young People Here Interviewed For NYA Assistance

Frank Shaffer, National Youth Administration area representative for Taylor, Nolan, Mitchell and Howard counties, said Thursday evening results of a conference here with prospective NYA participants had been entirely satisfactory. He planned to return here next week to work out definite projects whereby young people between the ages of 18 to 25 years and in need would be given part time employment.

Shaffer and Ben Jackson, NYA supervisor for the San Angelo district, interviewed about 35 young people here Thursday afternoon at the Howard County Welfare association offices.

HOLLYWOOD — The "Seiznick touch" is not so ballyhooed as the "Goldwyn touch" but it ought to be. When young David O. makes a picture, it is worth looking at—and this is true again of his newest, "The Young in Heart."

It's a cinema fable of regeneration, and basically it's an old story as most good movie stories are. It's the way it's done that makes "The Young in Heart" a piece to warm young hearts and old.

The difficult role of the almost too sugary Miss Ellen Fortune is played, outstandingly, by the stage veteran Minnie Dupree. Roland Young and Billie Burke as the father and mother of the Carletons contribute typical performance.

THE ARMY POST MURDERS

By Virginia Hanson

Chapter 14 THE GIRL FROM THE TRAIN It seemed to me that she had been trying to attract my attention. But whether or not she was now aware of me I could not tell. Suddenly she staggered up one step and seemed to fall out of sight.

After the first icy shock of horror, when I was unable to scream, remembering the poor soul who had hanged herself, I clamped one hand over my mouth and sat there shivering violently, trying to get hold of myself and be sensible. However much she might appear to be an apparition, she had to be flesh and blood. I reminded myself that there were guest rooms off the balcony which, Adam had said, were seldom occupied. But seldom did not mean never.

I was positive she was not one of the guests at the hop. None of them had been dressed like that—all in flaming white. I began to shiver again. But if she had been up there all evening, if she were the relative of some enlisted man and occupying one of the guest rooms, she might know something, might even have witnessed the shooting.

It would not do for me to summon anyone else. I must follow her alone. I must at least keep her presence secret until Adam could talk to her.

Before my good resolution could weaken I slipped my notes under the stair rug and climbed upward as fast as my shaky knees would permit.

She was lying partially on the stairway, as if she had fallen forward just before she reached the top—a flesh-and-blood woman in a white nightgown and robe. Her body was limp as an old rag thrown down, and when I could bring myself to touch it, to turn the face upward to the light, I saw that it was so flushed with blood as to be almost purple, and there were flecks of foam on the lips.

To my untutored eyes it looked like asphyxiation or poisoning. And then, after the first wave of blackness had been fought off and I could see again, I recognized her. It was the girl from the train.

Somewhat I got past her and onto the balcony, somehow I edged my way along to the opposite side of the central well without being seen by any of the huddling groups below. There was another stairway that I had noticed leading up from the postmaster's room. I stood at the head of it and listened until I was sure there was no one below. And when I was still whispering to myself, "I won't scream, I won't scream!"

There was an outside door that corresponded to the one in the reading room—the one in which Elizabeth had used to slip out unseen. I hurried around the building in the darkness until I could look in through the reading-room window. Tubby Shaw and Mrs. Orpington were still glowering at each other. Adam had not returned.

Where would I find him? He had gone for Barney—to the Officers' Club where the bachelors had rooms. I started in pursuit and reaching the postmaster's room, I stood at the head of it and listened until I was sure there was no one below. And when I was still whispering to myself, "I won't scream, I won't scream!"

"Up the River" is a smartly staged, quick-paced piece with Preston Foster and Arthur Treacher as a pair of jailbirds who break through the annual prison frolics, stop a dice plot against juvenile Tony Martin and pretty Phyllis Brooks, and are returned in time to run the winning play for dead old Rockwell's convict eleven in the big game with Larson State.

Gagged to the limit, "Up the River" is a first-rate burlesque on prison life. It has some music and Bill Robinson's tapping.

BELIEVES CARDENAS MAY NATIONALIZE ALL OF MEXICO

CLEVELAND, Nov. 13 (AP)—Henry J. Allen, former governor of Kansas, believes that "unless President Cardenas is stopped he may decide to nationalize all property in Mexico."

"If Secretary Hull would say to Mexico, 'unless you return or pay for all confiscated property the United States will apply an economic boycott,' the whole problem would be solved because Mexico could not survive without American trade," Allen said.

John Abinck, president of the Business Publishers International corporation, described United States relations with South America as friendlier than ever, observing that the encroachment of Nazi Germany in South America had been exaggerated.

AUSTIN, Nov. 13 (AP)—Governor James V. Allred and Secretary of State Edward Clark will attend the Baylor-Southern Methodist football game at Waco tomorrow. "No other business is attached to the trip," the governor laughed. "Football is the one and only purpose."

DAKOTA CHAMPS READY TO MEET ANY CHALLENGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP)—Lost there be any misunderstanding, the Wahpeton State School of Science, North Dakota football champions, is ready, willing and eager to accept any reasonable challenge in any bowl, toss, run or kick for money, marbles or what have you.

Your agent happened to mention that if the atmosphere didn't clear old Wahpeton would play San Jose State in the Rose Bowl. Well, sir, the Wahpetons are all for it and apparently they have more than 11 football suits to back it up.

Wahpeton has just finished its third year of undefeated football. By some strange prank of fate it was tied once in 1937 but all the rest has been gravy.

The Scientists ran up 177 points to their opponents 39 this year in winning seven in a row. The future Pasteurs and Einsteins were scored 414 in the past three years, which is better than average football at either Wahpeton or South-bend.

THE REFUGEE COMES TO AMERICA—

Increased Flow Of German Immigrants Means Overtime Work For U. S. Agency

Since Hitler came into power thousands of German refugees have entered the United States. The nazis' renewal of their campaign against the Jews may increase the flow. This is the first of two articles telling how the refugees get to the U. S., how they are cared for, and what happens to them.

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW
AP Feature Service Writer

NEW YORK—Some of the saddest people in the world are finding their way to the heart of the gay White Way at the end of a cross-Atlantic trek in search of security and happiness.

In the middle of the theater district is an undistinctive office building. In that building is the clearing house for German and Italian refugees.

There, 80 workers of the National Coordinating Committee for Aid to Refugees and Emigrants Coming from Germany (now plans to help Italian refugees, too) daily listen to real life stories more dramatic than those enacted on the famous stages of the neighborhood.

Late Into The Night
Late into the night, the staff labors to help bewildered arrivals and relatives, jobs, places to settle. And it advises American relatives how to help their kin abroad.

Founded in the summer of 1934 by James G. McDonald, League of Nations refugee commissioner, the organization, composed of 20 cooperating units, cares for Jewish and Protestant refugees. (The Catholic Committee for Refugees from Germany, maintaining a separate office, watches over Catholics from abroad.)

At the office of the coordinating committee, of which Joseph P. Chamberlain, a Columbia university law professor, is acting chairman, there is bedlam. Every elevator brings a group of German-speaking men and women up to the large waiting room. Newly-arrived refugees sit alongside citizens seeking to help relatives from abroad.

Profound. Phones ring constantly. The man at the information desk answers questions all day long, speaking with a heavy German accent. His patient, encouraging smile never wavers.

Money A Mystery
Most of the refugees have heard of the committee while still abroad. Miss Cecilia Razovsky, executive director of the committee, explains how they get there:

"They come in on the regular quota, but the American consuls in the various European cities have laid down the restriction that each German and Austrian applying for a visa, have an affidavit from an American citizen guaranteeing him support in case he cannot find work."

There are strict regulations in the fatherland on the amount of money the newcomers may bring with them, but some of them get around the rules in one way or another. However, they're not telling. When the first refugees began to arrive, the immigration authorities allowed many who had converted their cash into suitable articles like cameras and microscopes to bring these things in duty-free. But as the pressure has become greater, they have enforced restrictions to the letter, though it may mean confiscating the refugees' only means of obtaining money.

Immigration On Increase
The American quota on immigrants from Germany, which had been 25,967 a year, was changed a few months ago to 27,370 because Germany took over Austria.

Until this last year, immigration was considerably under that figure (see chart). But in the 12 months ending June 30, 1938, 17,004 German immigrants were admitted. The Austrian immigration during the same period was 864, double that of the preceding year. And the Italian figure was 3,428, an increase of 500.

The difficulty of meeting immigration requirements has retarded immigration to some extent. Difficulties with government regulations abroad also are believed to have restricted the total.

But the state department says immigration from greater Germany is increasing.

many will exhaust the annual quota this fiscal year, and will probably continue to do so for some years to come in view of the large demand for visas registered in consular offices abroad.

To date, 70 to 75 per cent of the Germans coming in are Jews, but since the Austrian Anschluss, in March, a new group, consisting largely of Catholics and some Protestants, has begun to arrive.

Skilled Labor Rare
Ninety per cent of the Christians now coming in are reported to be professional people—Professors, doctors and lawyers—who seek intellectual freedom.

The Jewish refugees have engaged in a greater variety of occupations, since persecution has fallen on all Jews alike. When the purge began, most refugees were professional people but now the majority of incoming refugees are small merchants.

So far, there have been few skilled craftsmen among the refugees but with the coming of the Austrians, the organization feels perhaps a few European crafts and skills may be introduced here.

Chart is based on figures for fiscal years ending June 30. Until April this year, the quota was 25,967; now it is 27,370 because Germany took over Austria.

Anxious U. S. citizens check affidavits of support at the refugee headquarters before sending them to harassed friends in Germany. Only immigrants bearing these affidavits can enter.

NEW ADVERTISING STICKER PLANNED BY LOCAL C. OF C.

Ideas are in demand at the chamber of commerce—the chamber is planning on the issuance of a new sticker advertising Big Spring.

In order to get a representative, attractive and effective sticker, the ideas, criticisms and suggestions of any interested person are being sought.

Operators of hotels, service stations, tourist camps, garages and cafes were especially urged to submit their ideas.

A tentative sketch for a sticker has been prepared for the chamber and J. H. Greene, manager, asked Big Spring residents, to inspect it with the view of making suggestions.

Two Escape From Harlan Prison

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 13 (AP)—Two convicts, one a state-approved trusty, escaped from the Harlan state prison farm at Richmond last night by walking from the dining room to the barn and stealing two horses.

Capt. E. L. Seay informed the record office here the two prisoners were Hugh Nix, 24, of Atlanta, Ga., serving 10 years from Tom Green and Etow counties for robbery and robbery with firearms, and Horace Posey, 20 from Throckmorton, serving seven years from Throckmorton, Stevens and Haskell counties for burglary and theft over $50.

Posey was a trusty.

SHORT TALKS ON ADVERTISING

SELLING BETTER LIVING

Number 2

Calvin Coolidge once related that when he was a boy in the hills of Vermont the only merchandise he saw was in the country store, but his horizon was broadened by the advertising of things that appealed to youth. With his desires aroused for the interesting and better things in life, he strove to obtain them. Asserting that advertising performs a distinct public service, Mr. Coolidge explained, "It is essential in the first instance to produce good merchandise but it is just as essential to create a desire for it."

Only a short time ago our bathrooms were ugly as could be. Somehow, no one thought of making them beautiful. But when manufacturers began to advertise artistic tile, tinted bathtubs, and beautiful plumbing fixtures, everybody realized how much pleasanter life can be with beauty in the bathroom.

Our parents and grandparents were well satisfied with the heavy staple food of their time but we have learned to demand a balanced diet, with plenty of vitamins and minerals and a goodly assortment of light salads and tasty desserts, to say nothing of out-of-season vegetables and fruits. Our food is much better today, because our eating habits have been changed by advertising.

Where do you suppose the radio industry would be if manufacturers had not advertised their receiving sets? Only fifteen years ago home radios were practically unknown. Few people cared about radio or thought it would ever amount to much. But the infant industry embarked on a tremendous advertising campaign, through newspapers, magazines, signs, and circulars, and in a miraculously short time radio sets were introduced into four out of five homes in the land.

It is the same with many other articles. Millions brush their teeth because advertising sold them toothpaste, and many children have been persuaded by advertising to wash their necks and eat their spinach.

Better living comes not merely through natural desires, but through education, and advertising is one of the strongest forces in public education. Advertising is the salesman for better living.

Cattlemen Are Visitors Here

Kilpatrick Stop As Guests Of The T. J. Goods

W. H. Kilpatrick and son, W. H. Jr., prominent middle west cattlemen and breeders, accompanied by the former's niece, Mrs. Augusta Graff, all of Beatrice, Nebraska, spent Thursday in Big Spring, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Goods. The Kilpatricks, who have done business in this section in the form of cattle purchases for the past fifteen years, were en route from their Beatrice, Nebraska home to Redlands, California, where they will spend the winter at their home there.

The party was traveling by automobile, Enroute to Texas, Mr. Kilpatrick said his party had the pleasure of stopping off at Claremore, Oklahoma, to view the recently dedicated Will Rogers memorial. "Everyone should see this wonderful monument, which has been built in the memory of this great American."

Although in his 87th year, Mr. Kilpatrick has the appearance and activity of a man many years younger. He attributes his good health to the outdoor life and continued activity in affairs. Expressing his interest in national affairs, one of the first questions Mr. Kilpatrick asked was "How did the senatorial race in Nevada come out?" When told by a Herald reporter that Senator McCarran, an old-time friend of Kilpatrick had been re-elected, a broad smile came over his face.

While here, Kilpatrick's renewed acquaintance with Mrs. Dona Roberts, whom they met this summer while vacationing in Alaska, leaving early Friday for California, the Kilpatricks expected to return here early part of next week.

Don't Remove Object Driven Into Injured Person, Physician Warns

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 18 (AP)—Accident spectators were warned today not to attempt to remove any object driven into the body of a victim.

In a report to the Southern Medical association's closing meeting, Dr. Beverly Douglas of Vanderbilt university, Nashville, declared crude efforts ordinarily used to remove a splinter, glass or any other object piercing the skin might result in death of the injured person.

Discussing the treatment of "everyday wounds" the Vanderbilt physician said any such object should be removed only in a hospital or physician's office under sterile conditions.

To illustrate, Dr. Douglas described an injury to his own arm. The 12-year-old boy had fallen on a sharp pencil. It was driven through his abdomen and diaphragm and lodged with the point buried in a lung.

Instead of jerking it out Dr. Douglas took him to a hospital where an incision as long as the pencil was made to remove it. The boy recovered without complications.

In another case a dagger with which a man was stabbed was withdrawn from the lung by a bystander, admitting air into the lung cavity and killing the patient.

A new treatment for burns and some other wounds by enclosing a hand or leg in a transparent rubber casing and applying air pressure to it also was described by Dr. Douglas.

Dr. Douglas described how air pressure will constrict the small blood vessels near the surface of burned skin and thus prevent the absorption of poisons generated by a burn and to some extent prevent the formation of scar tissue.

Movie Queen Will Appear Saturday

Star Of Forthcoming Play To Be Seen In Parade

A "Movie Queen," whose real identity is still shrouded in mystery and who will take the leading role in an American Business club sponsored home talent play December 2-3, will arrive in Big Spring and great ceremony at 2:33 p. m. Saturday.

C. O. Nalley, in charge of arrangements, said that plans were complete for "welcoming the movie queen" to this city. The young woman, whose identity will be revealed only when she steps from a Greyhound bus at the Union Bus terminal, will be met by Mayor R. V. Jones, who will present the key to the city, by Dr. Preston R. Sanders, who will present a bouquet from the club, and by Postmaster Nat Shick.

Motion pictures will be taken of the welcoming ceremonies and of a parade that follows through the business district with the high school band, a police escort, the "movie queen," and commercial entries participating. These movies will be shown on the municipal auditorium screen during progress of the home-talent play.

Nalley said that the parade would form on Runnels street between the 200 and 600 blocks at 2:15 p. m. Saturday.

Assisting in the "welcoming" details are R. E. Lee, Newton Robinson, W. C. Spencer, C. A. Amey, Charles Frost, Roy Reader, Don Robinson, Hugh Duncan, D. J. Venable, Charles Boyd, Fowler Emberton, and J. W. Joiner.

"Movie Queen," the December 1 production, is the story of a local girl who made good in the movies and then became involved in a major turn of events.

Young Man Held In Woman's Death

CHICAGO, Nov. 18 (AP)—A young man held today as the confessed slayer of Ella Peterson, 35, a woman who was found strangled in a closet of her room.

Ernest Mognin, assistant state's attorney, said the man, Joseph Kallio, 27, confessed. Last night he stabbed the woman with a eight-inch kitchen knife which she possessed his advance.

Mrs. Peterson was the daughter of a noted physician, Dr. Edward Peterson, 82, and lived in a apartment house, 2200 North Dearborn street, and together with her mother and a group of friends, one of whom was Kallio's brother.

Kallio was seized in front of a bank where he had made an attempt to meet a leader for the purpose of borrowing money. He was accompanied by the woman, who had a key to the door at the bank.

A Swedish version of the slaying was reported by the District Attorney, who was substantially as follows:

Mrs. Peterson was a well-to-do woman who had a number of friends. She was a member of the Y. W. C. A. and had a reputation for being a good housewife. She was a member of the Y. W. C. Turkey Tasters Tackle Task

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—A quartet of professional tasters, armed with a dull appetite and sharp cutlery, attacked today what has grown to be an annual task—the government turkey.

The stuffing's different, but the whole business is getting to be old stuff to them. However, it's all in the job and part of a program to bring better birds to the American holiday table.

"Imagine getting tired of turkey!"

The experts on the festive fowl sit around a table at the agriculture department to light into the bird. It is their business to determine by taste the success of the government's experiments with model turkeys.

Two women tasters and two gentlemen tasters usually comprise the board. The birds have to start from scratch unadorned by salt and pepper.

Campaign Goes At Slow Pace

Red Cross Chapter Only One-Third On Way To Goal

With only a few more Red Cross roll call workers reporting, the membership total crawled like a crippled snail Friday to 789, just about one-third of the chapter goal of 2,500.

This figure, Red Cross officials explained, was not representative of the actual membership in the county but was an accurate check on the number of members reported to the central headquarters.

Seeking to boost the lagging campaign, Mrs. Mary Phillips, president of the chapter, today called on all Red Cross workers to report their names and addresses on their membership cards by Saturday, November 23.

Phillips said that the chapter has only a few more workers to go to reach its goal.

The chapter has a total of 789 members, including 100 new members reported since the last roll call.

The chapter is working hard to reach its goal of 2,500 members by the end of the year.

James E. Carey, president of the electrical workers, was also a fine worker, was also a fine worker, was also a fine worker.

In responding to the question, Lewis said:

"This marks my transition from the role of a doctor to the role of a servant of a constitutional democracy. What a change for a dictator."

"Your servant I am and proudly so."

Turning to the Committee of Industrial Organization which this week became the permanent congress of industrial organizations, Murray said his chief aim is to have devoted during the past three years to building the "greatest labor monument."

The C.I.O. was organized three years ago by Lewis and leaders of eight unions which bolted the American Federation of Labor.

All but one of the unions, the International Ladies Garment Workers, are members of the congress.

Murray's founding of the C.I.O. resulted in the raising of wages and shortening of hours for industrial organizations, and "benefitted all the nation's worker either directly or indirectly."

Murray estimated the gain of all workers either directly or indirectly to be $100,000,000 a year on the basis of contracts and wage increases won by the C.I.O., steel workers union.

Mrs. Jim Black and daughter, Mrs. W. D. Scott, were called to Merkel Friday on learning of the death of Mrs. Black's brother.

EINSTEIN WARNS OF ANTI-JEW MOVES IN THE U. S.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 (AP)—Dr. Albert Einstein spoke out today against what he termed a "small, unscrupulous and insidious group" in Germany, and warned of anti-Semitic attempts in the United States.

The 69-year old author of the theory of relativity, writing in Century's Magazine, asserted that anti-Semitism not only had protected privileged classes in Germany, but had enabled a small, unscrupulous and insidious group to place the German people in a state of complete bondage.

Himself a refugee from Germany, when he fled in 1933, Einstein cautioned of past anti-Semitic attempts in the United States. He warned, "they will repeat the attempt in times to come. So far, all such tendencies have failed because of the people's strong political instinct."

"And so it will remain in the future, if we cling to this rule: 'Beware of flatterers, especially when they come preaching hatred.'" treatment in concentration camps or other persecution.

The president smiled, but had no comment on the summoning of Hans Dieckhoff, German ambassador to Washington.

Calls For A More Effective Boycott

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—William Green, president, called on the American Federation of Labor today to "redouble efforts" to make effective the federation's five-year-old boycott against German goods and services.

He asked this as evidence of the federation's opposition to the treatment of Jews in Germany.

Green sent a letter to all AFL affiliates, saying the United States laboring man should make his resentment known "in a vital and striking way."

"It is not enough to protest," he declared. "We must supplement protest with action."

Young Co. Officials Visit Court Here

Members of the commissioners court at Graham, Young county, were guests of the Howard county commissioners court here Friday morning for an exchange of ideas and an explanation of the county cooperative plan for terracing.

The Graham men were seeking information on the details of the plan whereby Howard county has cooperated in the construction of terraces with the use of road road machinery.

In the visiting party were Judge E. M. Remington, serving out his third term; A. D. Adams, county agent; C. W. Akers, veteran member of the court with 14 years to his credit; and Sam Copeland, a pioneer West Texan with another record of long service. Copeland, who as a cowboy worked in this section as far west as Pecos 50 years ago, held office six terms without interruption.
