BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Just what Tammany Hall will do to or for the Roosevelt ticket this November is a matter concerning which one finds considerable argument in New York City. But on one point practically everyone agrees; Tammany badly needs a courageous, forceful leader and is impoverished in leadership material.

It has never appeared that Dooling was a very strong leader, which doubtless was one reason Farley and Roosevelt put him over.

That's another thing many of most Tammany leaders hold against the administration. They think Farley is intent on making Tammany merely a part of his national machine, driving out leaders who won't take his orders.

The organization is badly split right now. To some extent the split is life between supporters and enemies of Roosevelt and Farley.

Eyes On City Hall Plums

Tammany likes to boss itself. Also, in general, it expects to see the administration backing Mayor LaGuardia for re-election in 1937 and has no intention of being balked in its confident anticipation of a return to power at City Hall.

The Roosevelt administration ran a municipal ticket of its own against the Tammany candidate and LaGuardia in the last mayoralty election, which is another item in the feud.

Dooling probably will soon be out. How soon or whether he will be succeeded by a pro-administration man are speculative questions.

Its closest relation for the time being is with Jimmy Hines, leader of the Eleventh assembly district and the most powerful individual in Tammany. He is an old friend of Farley, is awarded most of the federal patronage in Manhattan, and even has an entree at the White house.

"Knifing" Is Hinted

Most Tammany leaders, according to some who know them, would rather see a Republican in the White House if not in the governor's chair as well. Then there wouldn't be such danger of administration politicians trying to barge in on them.

The leaders feel Tammany never has got anything from Cleveland, Wilson, or Roosevelt. The Tiger "knifed" Cleveland in 1888 and Wilson in 1916, both men being up for re-election.

"Knifing" by Tammany, one is told by old-time political observers in New York, means that Tammany simply lies down and fails to get out the vote.

There are some predictions of a "knifing" for Roosevelt. Other experts say Tammany has so many candidates of its own for local offices that it can't afford not to turn out a full vote and that most of its controlled voters will vote traditionally under the Democratic star emblem on the ballot even if they're not for Roosevelt.

Some observers say the people of Manhattan will turn out a thumping majority for Roosevelt regardless of Tammany. Some strategists at Democratic national campaign headquarters are counting heavily on the American Labor Party's efforts for Roosevelt in the city.

How Tammany Functions

Tammany functions in the same old way. It remains powerful in a patronage sense, thanks to its control of key positions, despite LaGuardia's presence in City Hall. Roughly speaking, the Tammany idea is to get contributions from corporations of individuals for whom leaders arrange certain favors or jobs and to pass on charity money or minor favors to underprivileged voters, not forgetting occasional free ice cream for the kids.

The big money, according to Tammany foes, comes from assessments on jobholders, takeoffs from receivership and trusteeships, handed out by Tammany judges, tampering with or winking at laws and ordinances, profitable legal and business connections or, it is charged in some cases, protection of rackets.

The voters get some of this in the form of food, winter coal, minor jobs, help in police scrapes, fresh milk for babies, Thanksgiving or Christmas turkeys, clothing, picnics, boat rides, and so on.

In each election district is a captain responsible to the district leader.

He is supposed to know every family in his territory.

If he gets out a full vote, he gets ahead in Tammany. Any time Tammany is out for a big vote, he and a crew of sub-leutenants watch the polls, check on those who haven't and in the last two or three hours make a tremendous effort to bring all laggards to the voting booths.

Many big men have been beneficiaries of this system—Roosevelt,

Airship Production Increases This Year

Producing 1,363 aircraft in the first half of 1936, the aircraft manufacturing industry in the United States made a notable gain over the corresponding part of 1935 and produced more craft than were built during the entire year of 1933, the Bureau of Air Commerce, Department of Commerce, announced today.

Production in the first half of 1936 totaled 851; in the calendar year 1933 it was 1,324.

In the light plane classification, production increased from 393 in the first half of 1935 to 622 in the first half of 1936, continuing an upward trend that had become noticeable in 1935.

The total of 1,363 aircraft produced in the period January-June 1936, included 764 domestic civil aircraft, 407 airplanes built for military delivery and 192 for export. Of those for domestic civil use 656 were monoplanes and 108 biplanes.

Among the monoplanes, cabin planes led over open cockpit craft, there being 96 cabin craft against 12 open cockpit.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

I've seen several Midland cars with mud splashed over the fenders and bodies lately, but practically all of them picked up the mud from forty to 100 miles away. I still believe it will rain here soon. Come to think of it, the race meet is soon. And did you ever hear of horses running at Midland Downs on a dry, hard track?

One of our staff members visits our former city editor, R. C. Hankins, at Lubbock and finds him sitting up at one a. m. writing feature articles about the recent gambling raids there, giving details of peep holes, dot and dash signals, etc., with which the house men took the guests to a fair cleaning.

Not every gambling joint has such elaborate systems of handling the guests, but all of them have one fixed asset, the "cinch." Did you ever hear of a gambling house where the customer had a chance?

A lot is being said about a press box lately. It will be a big convenience, but I have yet to walk in one which wasn't over run with some lot of fellows who had no business whatever with the press. There is a press bench eight feet long at the fair grounds grandstand, but our biggest problem has been to find a place to put down a typewriter.

Cotton Exhibit Is Shown at University

AUSTIN, Sept. 7.—Cottons of Texas and of the world may now be seen in the exhibit case in the division of botany in Gregory Gym, main exhibit hall of the University Centennial Exposition.

The display of cottons was lent to the exposition by Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the University Bureau of Business Research. It is especially interesting to Texans because of the extent of the cotton industry in Texas.

With each sample of the cotton has been placed a few fibers showing the length of the staple. This is shown the comparative length of the fibers of the cottons over the world.

Sea Island cotton, raised in several counties of Texas with the aid of irrigation and in Aransas county without irrigation, has the longest staple of any cotton in the world.

Egyptian cotton takes second place for length of staple and value. The Arcadian cotton of Louisiana is distinctly unusual to the white cotton growers of Texas as it is naturally colored a rich tan with almost a touch of orange. It is not, however, a very valuable cotton.

Some of the cotton from India, is the least worthwhile of any of the cottons raised in the world. Its fiber is very short and knotty.

Other cottons shown are from Fiji, Mexico, Australia, Ceylon, Asia Minor, China, Brazil, and others.

DEAF TO HIS OWN MUSIC

VIENNESE society was glorifying the young genius, Ludwig van Beethoven, great pianist and composer. Born in 1770, he had appeared as a "prodigy" at the age of 6. For 20 years he reveled in the rewards of fame.

Then, at the age of 30, the great musician began to lose his hearing. He became irritable and drew away from society. He shut himself from all except his closest friends. But he continued composing symphonies, sonatas and other forms of music that remain among the finest masterpieces in musical history.

He was almost stone deaf when he wrote his great "Ninth Symphony," and in the last miserable seven of his 56 years, he is said to have produced his best work. He wrote fewer pieces than the great Mozart, who taught him, but nearly every one of his selections was a finished composition.

He died in 1827, a bachelor, honored and mourned by the world. Austria included his picture in a set of stamps issued in 1922.

Lessening School Child's Appetite

WAY IT'S PUT UP IS IMPORTANT AS WHAT'S IN LUNCH; PROVIDE VARIETY

Here it is September and Johnny and Susie, no doubt, have been counting the days until the school bell rings. Vacation playthings have been put aside. Arithmetic, geography, tablets and pencils are the thing now!

It means that Mother must set to work packing school lunches again. They must be nourishing lunches—the right foods to build strong, energetic little bodies—and they should be inviting, too.

Sandwiches, well wrapped in waxed paper to keep them fresh, a raw fruit, a thermos of milk to drink and a small amount of wholesome sweets make a properly balanced lunch of the growing child.

Use Different Breads
Two kinds of sandwiches are much better than one in any child's opinion. It's a good idea, too, to use a variety of breads in making sandwiches—whole wheat, rye, nut bread, raisin bread and sandwich buns.

Brown bread with a filling of cold baked beans will please youthful appetites.

White bread, spread with peanut butter and sprinkled with bits of crisply broiled bacon, makes another popular sandwich.

Waxed paper containers with securely fastening tops can be filled with simple salads such as a mixture of apple, celery and nuts or shredded carrots or cabbage. When you pack such a salad in the lunch box, add a cinnamon bun instead of a sandwich.

When there are no other sweets on the menu add cookies, cupcakes or "Magic Coconut Strips." These are easily made and children like them.

Cut slices of day-old bread into strips 3/4 inches thick and about 2 inches long. Dip the strips in sweetened condensed milk, roll in dry shredded coconut and brown under the broiler at low heat.

Here is a recipe for cup cakes that have the frosting on the inside where it will not get fingers sticky.

Dainty Cup Cakes
Two eggs, separated; 2/3 cup sweetened condensed milk; 3/4 cup flour; 3 teaspoons baking powder; 1/2 teaspoon lemon extract.

Beat egg yolks with rotary egg beater. Add sweetened condensed milk and continue beating until well blended. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and sift again. Add gradually to first mixture and stir until well blended. Add lemon extract. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into small greased cup cake tins. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 15 minutes. With a sharp knife slice off the top of each cup cake as thinly as possible. Hollow out center and fill with Orange Cream Filling. Replace top carefully. Dust top of cake with confectioners' sugar.

Orange Cream Filling
Two-thirds cup sweetened condensed milk; 3 tablespoons lemon juice; 1 tablespoon orange juice; 2 tablespoons grated orange rind; 1 egg white, stiffly beaten.

Blend sweetened condensed milk, fruit juices and orange rind. Stir until mixture thickens. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Chill. Spread on cold cake.

The school lunch should include, besides nourishing sandwiches, milk to drink and fruit, a small amount of wholesome sweets. The coconut strips and cupcakes shown are easily made, not too rich for a child's diet.

Use Sizable Bowl
The bowls that come with electric beaters have been carefully manufactured in suitable sizes. In selecting bowls to be used for hand mixing, consider the size, shape and material. A good mixing bowl should have a flat base with a rounded taper to the bottom. It should be generous in size for stirring is difficult if the batter is over two-thirds of the depth of the bowl.

For blending shortening into flour, a pastry blender does the work faster and more efficiently than can be done otherwise. If you have had trouble making pie crust, invest in a pastry blender and your luck may change. The electric mixer will blend shortening and flour expeditiously, too.

Your hand beater should have a strong, well-shaped handle that is easy to grasp, and gears that mesh smoothly, and easily. It should be rustproof and easily cleaned and friction with a minimum of noise and wear. It's a good plan to have two sizes of these beaters, so that you can beat 1 egg yolk in a small bowl as efficiently as a dozen in a larger one.

Wire Whisk Used
A wire whisk is another type of beater that you will need even with an electric mixer. Souffles and meringues, depending on the air that it beated into them for their perfection, should be made with egg whites beaten on a platter with a wire whisk. Meringues and souffles can be made with rotary beaters, but the volume is less.

Had they gone on, disregarding the "stop" sign they would have escaped unscathed, they said.
