Haley Is "Out" At Texas University

Jeffersonian Demo Satisfied By Action AUSTIN, Sept. 12. (P)—H. Y. Benedict, president of Texas University, said today that J. Evetts Haley, new deal critic, no longer was a member of the school's faculty.

Whether or not Haley will be reappointed when the budget adopted is a matter of conjecture.

Mrs. John Haley, Midland, mother of J. Evetts Haley, Saturday afternoon told a reporter that her son had known for some time that his affiliation with the Jeffersonian group was the cause of general disapproval in Austin.

Several other favorable positions offered him, plus extensive literary work to be completed, appear to definitely determine that he will not return to the school, his mother stated.

HEALTH WORK FOR NEGROES STARTS HERE TOMORROW

Itinerant Colored Nurse to Aid In Locality

Continuation of negro health work at Midland will be taken up Monday, to cover a two weeks period, with Anna May Mathies, state colored itinerant nurse, personally in charge.

She will conduct classes in prenatal care, infant welfare and social hygiene and also will conduct a sanitary survey. Special work among school children will be done under her direction.

Six years ago she assisted in organizing a health committee, a part of the local health board, which since has been responsible for immunization of colored children against small pox, diphtheria and typhoid fever. Negro health work has been observed regularly since that time.

Local health workers said they were extremely fortunate in securing again the services of Anna May Mathies, as she is a graduate nurse, a university graduate and a graduate public health nurse.

Electric and gas services for the negro section have been obtained but water and sewer connections still are lacking. Those are the goals in the negro health program at present, committee members said.

Attention On Crane Tubb Area As The Week Closes

BY FRANK GARDNER The Tubb area of western Crane county merited attention of West Texas oil operators as the week closed, with Humble Oil & Refining Co. No. 3 Tubb, deep Permian test, developing the largest natural production of any well yet drilled to the "Tubb" pay, and Gulf Oil No. 2 Waddell, deep wildcat, reported to have tapped the Ordovician formation.

Thought at first to have found no increases above its initial production of 543 barrels in 12 hours by deepening from 4,373 to 4,410 feet, Humble No. 3 Tubb set a record for natural production from the Tubb pay zone approximately 2,000 feet in the Permian lime by flowing 410 barrels of oil in 3 1/2 hours through 3/4 inch choke on tubing. This is well above the natural rating of Gulf No. 2 Tubb which flowed slightly better than 65 barrels an hour. The Gulf well was later treated with 5,000 gallons of acid and flowed 1,008 barrels in three hours, the largest production of any Tubb area well. Decision had not been made as to whether the new Humble well would be acidized. Location of Humble No. 3 Tubb is 40 feet out of the southwest corner of section 10 block B-27, public school land. First pay was from 4,355 to 4,373, with increases from there to total depth at 4,410.

A break in section at 6,003 in Gulf No. 2 W. N. Waddell Estate was thought to be possibly the top of the Ordovician or Pennsylvanian formation. Top of the Simpson, middle Ordovician, was logged at 5,878 in Gulf No. 1 Waddell, deep discovery of the Sand Hills pool, and the only West Texas well outside of the Big Lake Field of Crockett county producing from the Ordovician. Drilling in the No. 2 Waddell continued below 6,009 feet. Location is 1,980 feet from the south and west lines of section 18, block B-21, public school land, two miles northeast of the No. 1 Waddell.

Farther southeast Moore Bros. No. 1 T. C. Barnsley, scheduled Ordovician test in section 43, block 32, public school land, reported 500 feet of water in the hole believed to have come in while drilling from 5,572 to 5,577. Last week, the test set a string of 7-inch casing at 5,555 to shut off upper water, and while the new water may be coming from behind casing, it is thought more likely to have been encountered in the lower strata. The test is now drilling below 5,584 feet in lime and is gradually filling up with water.

Dawson Strike To Bail Another bailing test was scheduled to start up late yesterday in Ray Albough et al No. 1 Robinson, northwest Dawson county's bid for an oil field. On the last test, bailer was run to bottom four times, the first three times coming up full of brackish water, but on the last run showing only a little water and mostly oil. There is now more than 1,200 feet of oil in the hole, gravity of which is reported to be around 35 degrees. Present total depth of the well is 4,964 feet, steel line measurement, but it will probably be drilled deeper if further testing proves that water is exhausting.

The Albough well has caused more excitement than any wildcat drilled in West Texas in several years. It is located in the northwest part of the county, in the center of the northwest quarter of section 46, block M, E. L. R. survey.

The first test to be started as a result of the Dawson strike is about seven miles to the northwest, in southeast Terry county practically on the Dawson line. It is being carried by W. L. Picketts et al No. 1 Estella Lewright and is located in the northeast corner of section 1, block C-37, public school land. Water well is being drilled and material is being moved into the location. The position of the test would indicate that its operators are playing a northwest trend from the Albough well, the predominating trend in the West Texas district.

Terrell Well To Deepen An out-of-the-ordinary development, but one that deserves attention, is the report that Ohio Oil Co. has built derrick and is moving in rotary to the old Transcontinental No. 1 Goode in Terrell county. The No. 1 Goode was originally completed. See (Oil News) Page 6

Historic Room of Old Hawaii to Exist Again

HONOLULU, Sept. 12 (U.P.)—Acting Governor Charles M. Hite of Hawaii has decided that the United States hereafter shall be in a position to compete with European monarchies by having at least one throne room.

He has taken the necessary steps for the complete restoration of the throne room of Iolani Palace in this city, now used as the meeting place of the territorial house of representatives. The plans include the reproduction of the original thrones.

The latter are now in the Bishop Museum of this city, to which they were decided in 1897 by the republic of Hawaii, which followed the monarchy before the annexation of the islands to the United States in 1898.

Acting Governor Hite is having the throne room rearranged in keeping with the glamour of the former monarchy, relics of which remain in the portraits of former rulers on the walls, tall mirrors and huge crystal chandeliers, as well as the crossed spears, symbolical of early native armies. The room is furnished in native woods, principally island koa.

The dais upon which the throne chairs will be placed is still overhung by the heavy canopy that once graced kings and queens.

Legion Is On The March Again-- Older And Stronger Than Ever

By WILLIS THORTON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 11.—The same Cleveland streets that felt the measured tread of its second big parade, in 1920, the American Legion will march again on September 22.

Sixteen years ago the Legionnaires, still unformed mostly in the "O. D. woollies" in which they came back from the World War, their ages averaging perhaps 25 years, swung down Cleveland's Euclid avenue in their first really big mass demonstration.

A local paper commented that it "swept into Cleveland like a strong, clean breeze . . . the convention has gone, but Cleveland still feels the impulse and the touch of the youth of the whole country."

Today, resplendent in bright, smartly tailored uniforms, average age verging upward from 40, and growing under its wing a fast growing organization of its own sons, the American Legion, in its 18th convention, will present a contrast to that other big parade of 1920.

Greatest In History This year's convocation is expected to be the Legion's greatest convention, and probably the greatest gathering of war veterans in all history. Every advance preparation indicates that 250,000 Legionnaires, their families, and their friends, will storm Cleveland.

Distribution of the bonus earlier in the year has put cash in the pockets of veterans who never before were able to attend the convention—may never again be able. A month before the opening day, Sept. 20, every hotel room in downtown Cleveland was reserved. Private homes, lake boats, and downtown buildings in which cots and sanitary arrangements can be set up will fill the deficiency.

The big parade this year is expected to take more than 10 hours to pass a given point with its 90,000 marchers, 500 bands, innumerable floats, and grandly uniformed special organizations.

Great Growth Achieved Back in 1920, the American Legion was just the American Legion. Now it draws about it a number of satellite organizations which add to the influence of its nearly 950,000 members. There is the Woman's Auxiliary, with 413,000. There is the "40-and-8", and the rapidly rising Sons of the American Legion, who already number 38,919.

There is the National Organization of French War Brides, and hundreds of associations of men formerly identified with specialized peace or "outlets". All these have special meetings within the time of the Legion convocation, Sept. 20-25. This year's convention, scanning a world at war or preparing for war, will open on a note of peace. Waiting the opening are certain boxes of earth, from the heights of the Meuse, from a forest called the Argonne, and from St. Mihiel.

There are clods from Portland, Me., where Henry Wadsworth Longfellow was born, and boxwood plants from Mt. Vernon, direct in descent from the boxwood shoots planted there by George Washington.

There is earth from the grave of Kosuth, the Hungarian lover of liberty, from Switzerland, from Venezuela, from each of the 48 states. All will be molded carefully into a garden which will remain permanently in Cleveland's Rockefeller park.

Message of Peace And then National Commander Ray Murphy dedicates the garden, on Sunday, Sept. 20, a plaque will carry this message to the future: "Here is the soil from the historic shrines of the nations of the world are planted trees to create the American Legion Peace Gardens.

"May the intermingled soil of these nations symbolize the united effort of their peoples as they advance to a better understanding. These gardens, planted by men who know the horrors of war, are dedicated to the brotherhood of nations and peace throughout the world."

Following this opening ceremony business sessions begin Monday, Sept. 21, with the "40-and-8" par-

J. Ray Murphy, at top, national commander, will preside at the Legion's business sessions, while Newton D. Baker, left below, and Josephus Daniels, right will be honored guests. Baker and Daniels were secretary of war and navy res-department's field men, throughout the nine Chevrolet regions and 47 zones, keeps dealers informed of the facilities at their disposal, and suggests expansion or remodeling where such course is indicated by the local business potential.

"The whole program," said Mr. Wood, "is based on the recognition that the time to build for tomorrow is today. We have found our dealers decidedly open to the idea of plowing back profits in order to assure their own permanency. Most important of all, the results have justified the step.

"Customer labor sales by Chevrolet dealers are at their highest point of all time. In the first seven months of 1936, they totaled $30,124,125, as compared with $24,560,037 in 1935, the best previous corresponding period. While it would be too much to attribute this entire increase to service modernization, it is reasonable to assume that at least a part of it was due to that cause.

"Dealers who have improved their service departments in line with Chevrolet's suggestions report several important results. In the first place, they find that their new facilities attract a larger volume of service business, which is desirable not only on its own account but also because it furnishes customers for accessories and for new and used cars and trucks. In the second place, this added volume is being handled with maximum efficiency, due to the scientific layout of the facilities now being installed. This makes for lower prices and tends to hold an owner's trade. And finally, there is a sound margin of profit left for the dealer himself."

Rural Schools

The Prairie Lee School is reported to be progressing rapidly during the last four weeks with an enrollment of 98 pupils.

Miss Ozella Bryant, primary teacher, has charge of the first three grades. Mrs. W. E. Figg, intermediate teacher, has charge of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades. The principal, A. M. Bryant, teaches all the high school grades.

The teachers are well satisfied with the work of their pupils, especially since they have been obliged to study during the warm summer days.

The bus, operated by Joseph Franks, is reported to be giving excellent service. It makes two routes daily, covering about 68 miles.

The visitors at the school this week were W. J. Biancetti, Rev. Walter Smith, Mrs. B. T. Graham, J. T. Bradley, J. M. Franks, J. M. Livingston, Mrs. Walter Smith and the County Health Nurse, Miss Elizabeth Wilson.

One of the outstanding accomplishments of the week was the miscellaneous shower given by the ladies of the community for the purpose of replenishing to an extent, the household necessities which were destroyed when a fire burned the house of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Bramblett.

Mrs. J. M. Livingston, who has been ill at her home, is now recovering satisfactorily. The prayer meeting was well attended Tuesday night at Greenwood. Rev. W. H. Wren will give an address Sunday evening on the Old Testament Prophecy.

The McClintic School opened Monday morning, and the patrons of the school all joined in and clean pectively during the World War. Priscilla Eveleth, Winter Haven, Fla., who won first honors at last year's convention as the "struttin'est" drum major, and who will twirl a baton at her third Legion convention.

ade as a garnish. Tuesday sees the big parade.

On Wednesday and Thursday will come the business sessions to elect a new commander to succeed Murphy, a new national executive committee, and set the policies for the coming year.

Among distinguished speakers who will address the convention are Newton D. Baker, war-time secretary of war and honorary chairman of the convention; Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio; Mayor Burton of Cleveland; M. Victor Beauregard of France, representing French veterans; William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; and Representatives J. E. Rankin, chairman of the House veterans' committee.

Notables To Attend There will be plenty of other distinguished guests, including Josephus Daniels, now ambassador to Mexico, but war time secretary of the navy, Eddie Rickenbacker, one of America's leading World War aviators, will appear and entertain them again.

Reports of Legion activities will be read, and it will come as a surprise to many to find: That the Legion is sponsoring nearly 2500 Boy Scout troops. That it is turning from efforts to legislate patriotism by oath and flag-respect laws to efforts to inculcate such respect and patriotism through education.

That it sponsors four "Boys' States" for training in citizenship and government, and has 300,000 boys playing on Legion Junior baseball teams. That it has carried on a year's campaign against Communism, Fascism, and Nazism alike. That its auxiliary has brought Christmas gifts and comfort to 66,745 hospitalized veterans, and aided the families of 32,910 more.

Policies To Be Decided The trend of its Americanization and defense policies will of course be decided for the future at the

The Town Quack. (Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything). This is a funny country, come to think of it. A newspaper isn't allowed to run an advertisement about a raffle, yet it isn't against the law to have a raffle. However, that isn't so funny. I know a man here in town who is a robber and a skin-flint, but it would be criminal libel if I said so in the paper. A farmer south of town was born in Europe. When he landed here thirty years ago and official scolded him because he did not have a permit to enter America. He said he would have to go back to Europe after it, but the official said he had no authority to grant the man a permit to leave this country. Addison Wadley belonged to the chamber of commerce so long ago that they called it the commercial club. He said he could remember the time when the old fashioned committee told him the town would go to the bow-wows if he didn't help underwrite the Chataiqua. George Phillips says Fred Wemple can't even pronounce Aristophanes, Aeschylus or Thucydides.

Otelia Flynt Honored At Birthday Party

Miss Otelia Flynt was honored with a party at her home, 508 South Main, in celebration of her tenth birthday, Friday evening.

When the guests arrived at 7:30, the hostess had arranged a game, "bug" for their entertainment. Dorothy Sue Miles won high score and Miss Elsie Schlosser won second high.

A color scheme of purple, yellow, and white was carried out in the refreshment plate and beverage. Clever little cakes, in the shape and colors of a sunflower, were served for the dessert, with ice cream and lemonade tinted purple and yellow.

Those attending were Dorothy Sue Miles, Mary Sue Cowden, Eddie Gene Coe, Elsie Schlosser, Margaret Mims, Nelly Elkin Brunson, Jean Louis, Emily Jane Lamar, Martha Jane Preston, and Roy Rarks Jr., and the honoree.

Miss Martha Jane Majors, who has been spending the summer at Ruidoso, New Mexico, visited with Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Mackey before returning to her home in Colorado.

Mrs. John B. Thomas and son, J. B., went to Big Spring Saturday to visit relatives.

Belmont Bible Class Entertained Friday

Mrs. W. L. Fickett and Mrs. W. L. Sutton were co-hostesses to the Belmont Bible class Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Sutton, 307 West Florida.

Mrs. Fickett taught the lesson from the 9th chapter of Romans. At 5 o'clock, the lesson meeting was over, and the members met in a social meeting.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Meses. Herbert King, Paul Smith, J. B. Vivian, A. W. Lester, George M. Kirkwood, R. L. Stewart, W. G. Attaway, O. H. Lamar, C. E. Strawn, J. M. King, Fredrigill and the hostesses.

Busy Bee H. E. Club Honored at Hallmans

The Busy Bee Home Demonstration club met at the home of Mrs. A. L. Hallman Friday afternoon. Mrs. Leonard Hallman was elected Wardrobe demonstrator.

After the business and social meeting, refreshments were served to the following members: Meses. A. C. Caswell, J. M. Hundle, S. H. Gwynan, C. C. Carden, G. C. Driver, S. L. Alexander, O. M. Tyner, P. P. Barber, and a guest, Mrs. A. C. Francis.

Dainty Sandwiches, Cakes Will Please Guests to a 'T'

By NEA Service

Eugene Field once wrote a charming poem which began:
"I wished I lived away down east where codfish salt the sea.
And where the folks have pumpkin pie and apple sass for tea."
Well, maybe they do, but most modern women will forego the pumpkin pie for tea, and even the "apple sass." One sees less and less of food-burdened tables. Everyone is figure-conscious today and, even if vanity isn't the reason for avoiding heavy foods, few want to gorge themselves so near the dinner hour.
The rule of good taste (in more ways than one) still is simple refreshments for tea or cocktails.

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: Stewed figs, braised eggs, toast, jam, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Baked tomatoes stuffed with macaroni and cheese, beet greens, apple cobbler, tea, milk.
DINNER: Hamburger steak, potato strips, mixed diced vegetables with French dressing, pear and black cherry compote with spice cookies, coffee.

This can't be stressed too often. Dainty, simple sandwiches, not distorted into fancy shapes, either plain cookies or good, old cinnamon toast are, especially in this day of slender figures, the best refreshments.

Use Simple Fillings
Don't expect your guests to eat a large piece of rich cake at 5 in the afternoon. The hostess who plans such refreshments is doomed to disappointment.

Now, for some practical suggestions. Tea sandwich fillings may be just plain butter with a little chopped parsley or olives mixed with it, cream cheese diluted with a little cream and just a taste of ginger in it, or watercress chopped and mixed with butter. Yes, as simple as that.

No sharp cheeses are in order at tea time. Save them for that glass of cold beer around mid-night.

If you want something hot with your tea, cinnamon toast, as mentioned above, of very, very thin slices of bread, or tiny baking powder biscuits spread with jam, but not too sweet.

"Marmalade rolls" are a variation of the biscuit and jam combination. They're easy to make and very, very good.

Marmalade Rolls
Two cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons shortening, 2/3 cup milk, marmalade.

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cut the shortening into the flour mixture. Add the milk to make a soft dough. Roll out half the dough into rectangular sheet about 1/3 inch thick. Spread lightly with softened butter and liberally with marmalade. Roll jelly roll fashion and slice 1/2 inch thick. Place cut side down in greased muffin tins. Place on one-half teaspoon marmalade on top of each roll. Bake in hot oven 12 to 15 minutes. Repeat with remaining half of dough. This makes 24 rolls.

Barbecue Entertains Guests of Dohertys

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Doherty entertained two friends who were visiting them at a barbecue at Cloverdale Friday evening. The honorees were Mr. Jenkins of Houston, and C. P. Parsons of Duncan, Oklahoma.

Others who enjoyed the festivities and the barbecue were Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. John House, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Crump, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Holmes. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Haygood, Mrs. Elliott Cowden and the host and hostess.

Miss Cowden Hostess At Bridge Friday

Miss Ida Beth Cowden entertained with a bridge party at her home 201 North C, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The rooms were attractively decorated in white and blue, these colors being accented in the vases of ponpon chrysanthemums and corn flowers that adorned the tables. The bridge tables and the prize wrappings also carried out this theme.

A lemonade set was presented to Mrs. Clifford Heath for winning high score. Mrs. Alf Reese, who won second high, received a walnut wood sandwich tray, and Mrs. Nancy Stevens received a novelty ash tray for high cut.

Program For The Junior League

The Junior League of the First Methodist church will meet Sunday evening at 6:30 at the Methodist church for their regular Sunday meeting.

The leader will be Mary Katherine Taylor.

The program will open with a hymn, No. 269, the Scripture, 19 Psalm, and the prayer.

Miss Bettie Jo Pate, and Minnie Francis Merrell will present stories, and James Merrell will read a poem.

The program will close with Psalm No. 269, the roll call and the benediction.

Entre Nous Club Honored Friday

Miss Marian Cartwright and Mrs. Bill Connor complimented the Entre Nous club Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Connor, 407 North Loraine.

The rooms were decorated in white and red, these colors also being accented in the table appointments and refreshments and prize wrappings.

Four tables of bridge were arranged for the entertainment of the won high score for the club members, Miss Annie Frank Stout won high cut, and Miss Ina Mae Vaught won high score for the guests.

The members present were Meses Jerra Edwards, Theresa Klapproth, Cordelia Taylor, Lotta Wil-lams, and Meses. Aldredge Estes, and J. B. Zant.

The guests present were Meses Ruth Carden, Ina Mae Vaught, Helen Miley, Annie Frank Stout, Francis Reast, Vada Crawley, and Meses. Elizabeth Wright, Suzie G. Noble and the co-hostesses.

Miss Marcelline Wyatt will leave for Denton today where she will enter Texas State College for Women this year. Her father, A. W. Wyatt, will accompany her to Fort Worth and Dallas where they will attend the Centennial expositions.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben W. Smith of San Antonio are moving to Midland and will be associated with the Haley Hotel. Mrs. Smith is a sister of the Halesys, and Mr. Smith has been associated with the Geo. C. Eichlitz Insurance Co., of San Antonio.

The SPORTS HORN

BY JESS RODGERS

Before ever playing a game the Midland Bulldogs are being proclaimed champions of the district! It seems to be the rather unanimous opinion over this area that the club is the "cream of the crop."

Claims by Travis Moorman of Pecos that the Eagles would root on top of the heap this year were sadly shattered by the exhibition that club put up against the Bowie-Bears Friday night.

True, Pecos came out on the long end of a 25-0 score, but they had to have some marvelous help from the Bowie club to do so. The Bowie quarterback was the best player that Pecos had on the field. Time after time he called pass plays then threw the ball directly to Williams, Pecos half. The stocky-built little Eagle never returned one of the passes for a score but usually managed to carry to about the five yard line time before he was downed. As Pecos went on the offense Williams would trot across the goal line and take an ante-over pass from Kelton or Oglesby for a score.

The first score of the game was what a suspicious-minded person would call a deliberate gift. From about the Bowie 12 Oglesby tossed one of his fungoes into the end zone, one of the Bowie Mexicans slipped the ball sideways into the hands of one of his mates, and he, not to be outdone at the juggling game, very graciously batted the ball into the hands of Williams.

Pecos showed only one good trait—a punter, Richards, left end, was pulled into the backfield for the kicking and really got off some homeys, constantly punting the ball deep and far to the side to prevent the opposing safety from making a return. But their blocking was rotten, their tackling putrid and their passing indescribable.

"Bare-foot" Joe Kelton, "Class-B's" Bobby Wilson, was kept bottled up by the Mexicans like a bottle of rare wine. Outside of one punt return of some 20 or 30 yards the only conspicuous part he played was the apparent ease with which he became injured several times.

Statement in another paper about the game: "Little Joe Kelton didn't need to pull off his shoes during the game." Kelton evidently doesn't care what kind of game he plays if pulling off his shoes would have aided him. He couldn't have been worse had he played in the raw.

Lee Johnson, who would call the Detroit Lions a bunch of punks if he were coaching them, swears by all that is right and holy that he does not have a darn thing to work with at Wink this year. He says that he'll beat Kermit and Stanton and lose the rest of them. Without doubt, Johnson is going to be sorely handicapped for material this year but if any other club think they are going to have a "gravy train" when they tackle the Wildcats, they are in for a surprise. Johnson can get more fight out of a bunch of kids than a tereotator can a mad bull.

Haven't met the Odessa coach—neither does the paper there lend much information—but it is extremely doubtful if they have the club they boasted last year. A new coach, new system to learn, and the loss of several outstanding players from the near-championship aggregation last year seems to doom any hopes they might have for the budding.

Crane is of unknown quality, but unofficial reports say the school can be dismissed now as an also-ran.

Kermit, latest addition to the district, admittedly does not have anything that will cause them to have even any remote hopes of a championship club.

Stanton again is without hopes, aspirations or chances. Bryan Henderson will be back over there this year; but Kuntie Rockne could not have won with the material. Looks like a cellar scrap between the Bulldogs and Kermit.

Monahans is due to be the "public enemy number one" as far as the Bulldogs are concerned. They have plenty of brawn, darn well distributed, too, but whether the gray matter is there or not remains to be seen. In Leroy Hary, quarterback, the club has one of the outstanding men in the circuit, but he will have to have some help. The school will have by far the heaviest club seen in these parts in several moons and it'll take a lot of power to make a hole in their line.

And speaking of Monahans brings up that appetite-destroying name John Smith. As usual he makes his weekly feeble gesture of defiance at us. After criticizing us for taking up space for real news he devotes three columns of a six-column page to a lot of crap that sounds like it might have come from the number one patient in a psychopathic ward. (Try that ten-dollar word on your two-bit molar, Smith.)

Having a lot of spare time on my hands I finally decided to try to figure out what the devil the entire idea was about in his column, and, though I'm not positive, my opinion is that he is sore as everything because he was able to promote a press box for the games here. He can't get the school board there to even get him a wooden box to sit on.

If Monahans does come through with the championship they can give credit to most of it for the mental handicap opposing clubs will face rather than physical. According to reports, someone has to go over the sand-dune Monahans field before every game with a lighted torch and force out all the rattlesnakes from under the covers scattered over the field. The Monahans boys have to work out with the snakes every day and have become so well acquainted that they have a pet name for each, and have become such good friends with them that they have no fears of being bitten.

After devoting a lot of good space to talks about how rough, tough, mean and unbeatable the Monahans crew will be, Smith, in true style, starts whining for a bet with us on the outcome of the Bulldog-Lo-bo game—"If I'll give him 18 points I gave him 18 points last year and the Bulldogs deliberately threw me when they took play on Monahans after scoring a couple of early touchdowns and spent the rest of the evening playing tag with the sand and brush country team so I would lose."

And just to get out on a limb I'll pick the clubs to end up like this: Midland, Monahans, Pecos, Odessa, Crane, Stanton, Kermit.

The press box is completed! Well, not entirely, but all that is lacking is the windows in the front of it. Who says there isn't a Santa Claus? It is not the largest, neither is it the most comfortable one in the world, but there are no complaints coming from this department. It is built up

Indian Jewelry On Display at Exhibit

AUSTIN, Sept. 11—Rare and beautiful pieces of jewelry of the Indians, not bones and shells but works of art, are now on exhibit in the main exhibit room of the architecture building as a part of the university centennial exposition.

The exhibit consists of selections from the large collection of Pueblo, Navajo, and Hopi jewelry, ancient and contemporary, which Witter Byner of Santa Fe, New Mexico, has gathered during his life time. The articles which he has lent to the exposition are valued at over $3,000.

In the exhibit are a great many decorations which are made of beaten silver and studded with turquoise. There are shown heavily decorated belts, buckles, pendants, skirt ornaments, buttons, gatos, wrist guards, and several strings of very beautiful beads.

Mr. Byner has written a short article about his jewelry collecting hobby, and the article was published in the August issue of the magazine, New Mexico. In the article he tells of the years he has spent in collecting the jewelry and of the manner of his trading with the Indians. The Indians usually wear the valuable old jewelry, but they manage to keep it hidden from sight under blankets and clothes. A trade with them may take some time even after the jewelry is uncovered.

Mr. Byner also gives something of the history of the Indians work with metals. The Navajos, he says, first got copper in large amounts in 1864 when they were put in the Esqueje Redondo to be made into farmers. They later started to making all of the silver money that they could get into ornaments. They preferred the Mexican money because it had a higher percentage of copper.

Each piece of the jewelry meant some particular thing to the different Indians. Most general was the belief that the wearing of turquoise would keep off the rattlesnakes and ward away the lightning.

A tiny curved pendant would mean to one tribe the dagger of their war god; to another tribe it would signify the peacefulness of the gently curved rainbow in the sky.

Most of the modern blankets and pieces of jewelry which are bought by tourists are made by the nomadic Navajo Indians, but these Indians learned to make these things from the Pueblo and the Hopi Indians. It might be that they learned to work their metal from the early Spanish explorers who wandered over the country.

Also still on exhibit in the art division in the architecture building is the Mrs. Henry B. Drought collection of etchings, lithographs, pencil drawings, engravings, block prints, and water colors. Among the works in this group is shown a valuable Rembrandt and three Whistlers.

In the main exhibit room with the Indian jewelry are shown the representative works of Texas artists of all kinds.

COMPLAINING WITNESS JAILED

TOLLEDO, (U.P.)—Arthur Pantazopolis, of Cambridge, Mass., told police he lost $112 in a dice game. Police arrested the three men he named as winners of his money, then released them on bond. Pantazopolis, however, couldn't provide a bond, so he was jailed to assure his presence as a complaining witness.

LAKE KEEPS SECRET CEDAR CITY, Utah. (U.P.)—The mystery lake of central Utah is Duck Lake that lies at an elevation of 11,000 feet in the mountains above here. Although it has no visible outlet, it contains clear, fresh water and abounds in eastern and rainbow trout.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

COWBOY OF SOUTH AMERICA

STATUES and stamps honor the character of the typical South American who helped develop that continent and liberate it from Spanish tyranny. He is the "gaucho," the cowboy who not only tended cattle, but was trapper, hunter, and pioneer over the broad pampas of South America.

The gaucho is a survival of Spanish colonial days. Son of a Spanish father and Indian mother, he was more white than Indian, and became the pioneer of white civilization in the plains of Uruguay and Argentina.

When word of revolution spread through the land in 1810, the gaucho was first to take up arms, load his horse with food and ammunition, and join the patriot armies. For more than a decade he fought, and finally gained independence. Today, he is the chief element in the agricultural development of Uruguay and Argentina.

Uruguay honors her gaucho in a regular stamp of 1895, and an airmail stamp of 1925. The former type is shown here.

200,000 Persons See University Exhibit

AUSTIN, Sept. 11—Though the University Centennial Exposition never anticipated entertaining record-breaking crowds, the total number of visitors registered and counted at all the exhibits on the university campus has passed 200,000 according to William L. McGill, director.

Everything on the campus being free to the public, there is no central admission gate at which all visitors may be counted. But tests of registers at the various exhibits has shown that in no one day more than 30 per cent of the visitors see two exhibits. Consequently Mr. McGill was led to estimate that about 140,000 persons have seen the campus exhibits.

"This is quite a pleasant surprise," he said. "We had no idea when we began that such crowds would come to the campus."

The attendance registers show that not more than 30 per cent of the visitors are residents of Austin. Nearly 90 per cent are Texans, but the remaining 10 per cent came from 34 foreign countries and the 48 states and the District of Columbia. Nevada was the last state to register its first visitor to the university centennial.

Foreign countries from which visitors have registered are France, Scotland, Bermuda, Columbia, Honduras, Cuba, Venezuela, Finland,

Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers Now In Their Biggest Show, "Swing Time"

Those toe-ticking hum-provoking melodies you've been hearing over the radio for the last few weeks will be presented at the source of origin when Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, the ace dancing comedians of the screen will be seen at the Yucca Theatre today thru Tuesday in their latest musical comedy singing-dancing fest, "Swing Time".

"Swing Time" has left a trail of super-enthusiastic reviewers and audiences in its wake. It out-tunes and out-dances any of the Astaire-Rogers screen musical predecessors—and you know how mighty grand they were!

Set to music by Jerome Kern, of "Roberta" and "Show Boat" fame, with lyrics by Dorothy Fields, "Swing Time" brings to the screen two smart, spectacular dance sequences which are a feast for the eye and a thrill for the heart. One is a syncopated, "hot waltz," "The Waltz in Swing Time." Fred and Ginger's big dance number. The other, titled "Bojangles of Harlem," brings you a pleasant surprise—Fred Astaire in black-face. "Bojangles" is Fred's solo specialty, in which he is supported by a bevy of delectable septa gals, in which a novel tap dance amid a myriad of surprise novelties against a sensational setting by John Harkrider.

The score is completed by "The Way You Look Tonight," "A Fine Romance," "Pick Yourself Up" and "Never Gonna Dance."

But wait—there's a cast in "Swing Time" which can be described by an overworked but appropriate word—colossal! Victor Moore, Helen Broderick, Eric Blore, Betty Furness, Georges Metaxa—all experts in comedy, melody and romance contribute to the zest and zip of the show with splendid performances.

Fred has already attained the acme in dance perfection, but he is better than ever in "Swing Time." And Ginger is as pert, effervescent and pretty as ever. Wait until you see this lovely creature swathed in those new gown sensations by Bernard Newman!

RKO Radio, responsible for every previous Astaire-Rogers success, sponsors "Swing Time," a Pandro S. Berman production. Make a date with yourself to see the singiest, dancingest and tunefullest screen musical of the season, "Swing Time" now showing at the Yucca Theatre.

Miss Louise Mullino, 28, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Mullino, prominent residents of Haskell county, died Friday at a Knox City hospital from a blood infection. Miss Mullino had been living and working in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Wallace Irwin, who is the sister of the deceased and Mr. Irwin left Friday for Haskell where they attended the funeral which was held Saturday afternoon at 3:30.

King and Queen of Rhythm

Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire are again starred together in a lively musical melange of mirth, romance and terpsichorean delights titled "Swing Time" which is showing today thru Tuesday at the Yucca Theatre.

Co-Stars in Romance

George Raft and Dolores Costello Barrymore, as hard-eyed gambler and lovely socialite, have lead roles in "Yours for the Asking", comedy romance now at the Ritz Theatre.

"Yours for the Asking" Is Sprightly Film Fare Now Showing at Ritz Here

Members of the excellent supporting cast for the stars include Ida Lupino, Reginald Owen, James Gleason, Lynne Overman, Richard "Skeets" Gallagher and Edgar Kennedy.

Raft, outstanding of filmdom's "polished hard guys," appears as a big-time gambling house proprietor who arranges with a society girl, Miss Barrymore, to set up an ultra-swank gambling layout in Miss Barrymore's mansion, which has been plastered with mortgages since the death of her banker father.

Miss Barrymore aids him in giving the place a society atmosphere and in drawing the wealthy class with which she has always associated. All is proceeding nicely, and everybody is happy but three of Raft's aides: Gleason, Overman and Kennedy. They are afraid the boss is falling for the lovely socialite.

To check the romance, they arrange with Ida Lupino, beautiful adventuress, a scheme by which she is to win Raft then jilt him. She poses as an upper-cruster, so that Raft will be disillusioned about society in general.

Meanwhile, Miss Barrymore has realized that she is in love with the gambler. She conceals the fact, however, and aids him in plotting his campaign for the affections of Miss Lupino.

Raft has seen the light at the close but not before the machinations of his three aides, Miss Lupino and Reginald Owen, posing as the girl's uncle, have led him through a laugh-filled comedy of errors.

has 34 teachers, and enrolls 850 pupils. The other five years of experience were all had in one school. Mr. Armstrong comes to Midland highly recommended by both of his former superintendents as one of the outstanding band and orchestra men of West Texas. Mr. Armstrong is a leader among young people, a good organizer and an excellent musician, playing several instruments in the band, and playing the piano well enough to accompany his soloists in the contests. He will have charge of the high school band and orchestra, and of the junior high school band in both of which organizations he plans to enroll at least 100 members. He has the position to which Burgess Brown was formerly assigned.

Miss Agatha Bruner

Miss Agatha Bruner has the B. A. degree from Kansas Wesleyan University, and has done one summer's work on her M. A. She majored in English and dramatics, has had four years of successful experience, and comes to Midland highly recommended by the school authorities under whom she has worked. Miss Bruner will be assigned to an overflow room in the junior high school, specializing in English, reading, and dramatics. She has been very successful in these fields, and is an accomplished musician.

Mrs. Iva M. Noyes and son, Billy, are leaving today for Lubbock where Billy will enter Texas Tech for the coming school year.

Cattle Purchases Made By Christian

Hugh Christian, whose cattle purchases for California buyers have led the local trading for the past few weeks, added to his deals late this week with the following:

2 loads of heifer yearlings, one car load of cows and three carloads of heifer calves from B. H. Blakey.

2 loads of heifer yearlings and one load of cows from A. N. Hendrickson;

5 loads of heifer yearlings and 2 loads of cows from Donald Hutt;

1 load of cows from O. B. Holt.

Cows represented in the various deals are mostly fat, with a few "clean-ups." Heifer yearlings were reported to be bringing good prices, the season and range condition considered.

Christian has been buying for a commission firm, also for ranchers packers and feeders of the west coast.

J. W. McMillan has returned from visits to Dallas and El Paso.

Their Sole Interest Is Tennis

Between matches in the National Single Championships at Forest Hills, L. I., Donald Budge (left), American ace, and Fred Perry, Great Britain's Davis Cup star, get together in the stands. They prove that tennis is their sole interest by discussing the merits of tennis shoes that Perry inspects closely.

Training School Is Started By Pontiac

Pontiac Motor Co. have organized a Salesmanship school on a national basis, which is available to all Pontiac dealers and salesmen in the United States. Through arrangements with the leading institution of automotive sales training, Pontiac will conduct these courses in all principal cities in the United States according to Harry Payne, Pontiac district manager who was in Midland Saturday on business.

This training school will be attended by all dealers and salesmen in West Texas and New Mexico, which will be held in El Paso about Oct. 1. Time and ability are the principal assets, and through the advantages of this school, these men taking the course, will improve their ability. Payne stated that 1936 has been a record year, and that officials of General Motors Corp. are planning for an increase in business in 1937.

ed in March, 1931, at a total depth of 6,120 feet. Located on a structure evident from the surface, it encountered gas in several horizons which increased in volume to 6,500,000 cubic feet at 5,605. The original derrick and equipment were destroyed by fire, and Ohio is moving in new rotary tools to carry the hole down to the Ordovician formation. It is located on a 10,000-acre block.

More Winkler Wells

Winkler fields were credited with more producers as the week closed. In the Henderson pool in the north part of the county, Humble No. 5-C Walton, section 34, block 74, public school land, registered natural initial production of 821 barrels in 24 hours flowing through 7-inch casing. The producer drilled to a total depth of 3,008 feet in lime.

Success Attends The Opening of Market

"Our opening of the new supermarket and delicatessen was a grand success," L. C. Rhoads, president of the Wes-Tex Food Market, said Saturday night. The Midland store was added to his holdings a year ago and at that time had the lowest volume of any of the five, he said.

The business has increased, with the growth of the city, Rhoads said, and now leads all of the stores in volume. He expressed pride in its growth and thanked the people of Midland for their patronage.

Ask Masons Attend Instruction School

Chapter Masons of Midland have been asked to attend a school of instruction which opened Friday and will continue for a week, Sunday included.

H. A. McFarland of Breckenridge instructor from the Grand Chapter, committee on work, will be here to conduct the classes.

He will be at the Masonic hall at 9-12 a. m. 2-6 p. m. and 7 p. m. each day, it was announced.

SON TO RODERICKS

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Roderick are parents of a boy born this week in a Midland hospital.

Elliott Cowden is spending the week in Fort Worth on business.
