MARCH ON MADRID WILL BE STARTED BY REBEL TROOPS

Insurgents Camped At Talavera Ready For Attack
AMERICANS FLEE
Bilbao Consulate Is Abandoned When Port Mined

MADRID, Sept. 15. (P)—Twenty-five thousand reinforcements at Talavera for a march on Madrid were pledged by General Francisco Franco, Fascist commander-in-chief, government high command announced today.

The main rebel forces are encamped at Talavera and Fascists are attempting to establish a line linking Castile and Andalusia. Fascists renewed their campaign to subdue socialists in northern Spain with an advance toward the government lines at Orio. The object of another new advance is Bilbao, where foreigners have been evacuated and the consulate abandoned. The American consulate was abandoned Monday so that the consul and his staff might flee to safety in France. The action was ordered after an insurgent warning that the harbors of Bilbao and Santander were being mined and that it would be dangerous after midnight for ships to enter or leave those ports.

Reporting this to Washington, Consul William E. Chapman, whose home is in Oklahoma City, asserted that there was no means of leaving except by warship, before the mid-night dead line. He asked instructions as to whether he should leave aboard the American destroyer Kane, which then was available in near-by French waters.

Lower Interest Rate First Step In Aiding Tenants To Own Farms

This is the second of three articles on what is being done by the Resettlement Administration to assist tenant farmers to become landowners. In helping low-income farmers to win ownership of their land, the first problem is to help them earn a better living in their present status as tenants. They must be helped to build up the reserve necessary both for purchase of land and for operating it. The Resettlement Administration this year made loans to 29,653 Texas farm families to purchase livestock, equipment and supplies. These farmers had been ineligible for financing from any other source. Without it they would have had no means of carrying on the farming activities which were their only means of livelihood. The average amount of the loan was $304, repayable in one to five years. It bears five per cent interest. One dollar out of every three was invested by the borrowers in livestock. The total amount of the money loaned in Texas was $9,011,000. Investment in livestock amounted to $2,856,404. This sum was used for the purchase of 17,311 hogs, 9,286 horses, 7,839 milk cows, 13,926 hogs, and 80,186 chickens. There is no need to go into the matter of the credit system under which the tenant farmers, and particularly share croppers, have been forced to operate. For reasons which it appears have been unavoidable in the past, the tenant has been required to pay interest and other charges which often amounted to forty per cent or more. The difference between that and the five per cent which is charged by the Resettlement Administration is in itself a long step toward helping the tenant get on a basis where he can lay by a reserve. But it is also a requirement of the Resettlement Administration that all borrowers adopt a live-at-home program, carefully mapped out for them by the county supervisor of the Resettlement Administration with the aid of the county agricultural agents and a county advisory board. This is a second means, on top of the lower interest charge, which works toward a better farm income, and acts as a step toward ownership. In the matter of actually providing land, the Resettlement Administration has made a start this year by placing under option land enough for 963 farms in Texas and Oklahoma, which will be sold to selected farmers from low-income groups. These farmers are to be chosen with the aid of county advisory committees. They will be placed on the land under a five-year lease contract. During that time they may be asked to purchase the land.

BY FRANK GARDNER
After logging a sizeable increase in pay, Floyd C. Dodson & Barney A. Duffey No. 1 Carter, new Glasscock discovery, is shut down at 2,669 feet in lime while operators decide whether to drill deeper. The oil increase came in from 2,658 to 2,667, with a possible increase from there to 2,669. A slight showing of gas was encountered at 2,663. The hole was balled dry at 2 o'clock this morning and the well allowed to stand until 9, at which time operators bailed out 12 barrels of oil, and accumulation of approximately 12 1-2 barrels in seven hours. 'Queen of Tragedy' On New Errand

BY HELEN WELSHIMER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—When former Queen Victoria Eugenia of Spain sailed for America the other day, the world's most tragic queen embarked on a mission that has nothing to do with the red clouds of battle that are devastating the land she loves.

Victoria, once the best-dressed and one of the best-loved monarchs on the continent, comes as a de-throned queen and forsaken wife, to the bedside of her eldest son, Count Covadonga, formerly the Prince of Asturias and heir to the throne, who is stricken with haemophilia—the "curse of the Hapsburgs."

The count renounced his claims to the Spanish crown when he married a commoner, Edelmira Sampedro, of Cuba. Now they are getting a divorce. And another rumor which has reached Queen Victoria's ears, says that the Count, prior to his illness, had become romantic about another Cuban commoner. So it has been reported, too, that Queen Victoria is eager to give him the benefit of her royal counsel about matrimony.

It was not long until the ladies-in-waiting at the court were whispering that the king wasn't true to his queen; that his dashing Majesty had questing eyes and a roving heart. Victoria heard the gossip. She ignored it. Queens did, she knew, and she was the granddaughter of the late Queen Victoria of England; niece of King Edward VII; and daughter of Princess Beatrice and Prince Henry of Battenburg.

When her first baby was born on May 10, 1907, the evil omen persisted. The infant Alfonso, Prince of Asturias, was a victim of haemophilia, the uncontrollable bleeding that is a Hapsburg curse. The rejoicing populace proclaimed a national holiday, never suspecting when Jaime and Gonzales, the next sons were born, it was discovered that they, too, were haemophiliacs, who never could indulge in normal, healthy exercises because of the bloody curse that lay upon them. Almost worse, Don Jaime was born deaf and dumb, also.

Meaning there were minor tragedies. Bandits attacked a train on which Queen Victoria and her brother, the Marquise of Carisbrooke, were traveling from Madrid to Seville. Though the robbers fired on the train, the queen and her brother escaped unscathed. They were more train accidents and several motor car accidents, too. Threats of revolution gained momentum.

ized January 14, 1935.

In September of that same year continental newspapers announced that the Holy Rota of the Vatican had granted King Alfonso a marriage annulment but Rome denied it. Stories were given credence, too, which stated that Queen Victoria wanted a divorce but that the King would be satisfied with a friendly separation.

Be that as it may, the dethroned Spanish monarchs, exiled from their country, were definitely separated. Victoria returned to England; Alfonso remained on the continent.

During this period another tragedy occurred to throw deeper shadows on the queen's life. The young child of the Spanish royal family, Don Gonzales, bled to death in the summer of 1934, as the result of a minor wound suffered in an automobile accident while he was a student at Louvain University.

Only last August Queen Victoria and the Prince of Asturias were threatened by a Popular Front mob of 100 persons at Menton. Meantime, as the civil war grows more and more fierce in Spain, the dangers to the lives of the former Queen are increasing.

For the moment she has put aside royal cares. She is a mother who is crossing the ocean to help her first-born son to health and happiness.

Separated From Husband
In June of that same year, 1931, the family, now established at Fontainebleau, celebrated the silver wedding anniversary of King Alfonso XIII of Spain, who was just 20 years old. True, the marriage began in a splurge of glory that cost the Spanish government $10,000,000. As the royal couple, who married in Madrid, were driving through the cheering throngs in the street on their wedding day, a bomb was thrown at their carriage. In the resultant explosion several people and two of the six horses attached to the royal carriage were killed.

form of a "banty" worth one dollar.

How times have changed. I remember when we regarded it as sweet music to be awakened by the tuneless cawing of the domestic fowl.

I know a local independent oil operator who will give a flat dollar bill, round silver dollar, certified cashier's check or any other coin of the realm equivalent to one hundred cents, just for one "banty" rooster. He thinks he wants a bantam rooster. He knows it is a rooster. He thinks he wants one of the feather-legged variety. The oil man wants to stow the rooster, not necessarily to eat. He just wants to stow it. That doesn't mean he will give a dollar for just anybody's bantam rooster. The rooster he wants is the one which starts crowing at 4 o'clock every morning, just across the fence or a short distance up the alley from where the oil man lives. Now if you have a bantam rooster which crows at 4 o'clock every morning and if there is an independent oil operator in your neighborhood, and if you will take a dollar for the rooster, you may be about to take in some money. If you don't start the negotiations yourself, you will be awakened at about 4 o'clock some morning by the sound of a 410 gauge, the crowing will stop and you won't have any collateral left in the cannot be controlled by quarantine and immunization, each individual should see to his own protection against these diseases if they exist, while they are in a state where control may be effective. The annual physical examination is the major defensive weapon against such diseases.

"The annual physical examination has two definite objectives in the life of an individual; namely, to establish the fact that there is or is not present a disease which calls for prompt control measures, and to determine the margins of safety in health habits. When the family physician has established the facts brought to light in a physical examination, he is in a position to advise the individual as to procedures which must be adhered to in order that a proper balance may be maintained.

Physical Check-Up Needed Every Year

AUSTIN, Sept. 14.—Great strides have been made in mass control of public health in the past twenty-five years by public health officials and the use of scientific methods in the control of disease. The job of the individual in getting fit and remaining in good health, however, is a personal rather than a public matter, according to Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer.

"While the ravages of diphtheria, measles, typhoid fever, and other devastating diseases have been definitely checked by public health measures" he said "there are left many health enemies whose onslaught is stealthy, and whose approach is definitely individual. Heart disease, cerebral hemorrhage, nephritis, and cancer continue to stand high in the list of major killers."

HONOLULU (UP)—When zoo keepers wanted to coax Bruno, huge Rocky Mountain grizzly bear, out of his cage, they turned to cream puffs.

For 16 years Bruno was a resident of Kapiolani Park zoo. Transfer of the bear back to his native forests in Colorado was agreed upon. Attendants, knowing Bruno's likes and dislikes, laid a trail of cream puffs from his cage to a waiting car door. USE THE RAILROAD

Railroad men are good neighbors. Every merchant likes railroad families for customers—churches and lodges like them for members. Steady and responsible, most railroad men own their own homes. They pay their bills, meet their taxes, keep up their insurance. Some of them live in your neighborhood. For the railroad is a home industry.

When you travel or ship via train you help your own community by making more railroad jobs for local men, supporting local families, patronizing local businesses. Western railroads and allied industries last year employed 750,000 workers.

Fall Modes Require Trim Waist and Hips

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

New fall clothes call for trim hips, a full chest and a supple, slender waistline. A form-fitting Empire gown isn't flattering if the figure under it is bulky in spots. A skirt that molds the hips, then flares outward below them isn't for one with fat hips and thighs. This is a season when every dress you own will show every curve of your body.

Naturally, you don't have to be as slender as a reed or a size 12 to look lovely in new clothes—or old. Provided you—hold yourself erect, step lightly and look curved and round instead of lumpy, you can be lovely though stout.

Everyone ought to realize the importance of a perfectly fitted foundation garment or a good girdle. Unless you are definitely thin with a minimum of flesh on your hips and thighs, you need something to make you look firm and trim.

If you have little faith in what a fine, supple girdle can do for the appearance of your figure, try on a tight-fitting dress without the girdle then again with it. No one will have to point out the difference to you. Naturally, it takes a little time to get used to wearing any kind of corset, but, once you do, you'll feel badly groomed without it. By then, you will be willing to admit that the first few days of discomfort are really worth while.

Don't, however, rely on a girdle to make you look fifty pounds lighter. If you want to accomplish this, you must do special exercises and eliminate greasy, rich, fattening foods from your diet. Rolling routines are good for the hips. Stretching exercises will improve your waist line. Try stretching backward instead of forward, thereby pulling upward all the lazy muscles around your middle. Incidentally, backward and forward stretches are splendid for chest and shoulders as well as waistline.

Montreal Jobs Gain, But Not For Females

MONTREAL, (U.P.)—The return of "better times" is reducing instead of increasing employment among girls here, the Big Sister Association reports.

Semi-annual statistics of the association show that in the first six months of 1936 the association found jobs for 104 girls, compared with 156 in the same period of 1935. The association attributes the decline to the fact that house-wives, with their income increased, are able to employ experienced servants at the highest wages demanded.

TROUBLE COMES DOUBLE

MORRILL, Kas. (U.P.)—Mrs. W. A. Besack is convinced trouble comes in bunches. In the morning, her gasoline stove exploded. She extinguished the flames, although her home was damaged. Later in the day she caught a hand in the wash wringer and suffered a painful injury.

Mother's Cowardice Often Spoils Child

BY Olive Roberts Barton
Parents of young children have to learn to break their own hearts sometimes.

Perhaps this won't sound so startling if I add that the greatest factor in spoiling any child is the mother's own heart, her moral cowardice in seeing disappointment on little Jean's face or hurt in Howard's eyes. Or father's, either.

Daddy comes home every night with a bag of gumdrops or a rubber monkey in his pocket. The youngsters run to meet him.

"What did you bring us tonight, daddy?" And then rummage for their loot. He knows darn well that he shouldn't be encouraging the habit, that some day he will have to break it up, but he can't bear to have them think he suddenly doesn't love them. So he continues to stop at the news stand in the subway and throw down two dimes, the price of popularity.

Extremes Equally Harmful
Mother knows that she can't take Howard to town with her this Saturday as she has always done. But if Howard has to stay at home and see her drive off without him, she pictures the quiver of his lip and the dying gaze look in his eyes.

Well, let's see. She could run into the dentist's on Wednesday, maybe and call off the luncheon date with May. Yes, she just can't bear to disappoint Howard. This is WHAT SHE thinks. Truthfully, she can't bear to break her own heart.

Science has urged the modern mother to use as little emotion as possible in training her family. The result was the cold, automatic woman of sorts, who carefully submerged herself lest her children discover that she loved them. There weren't many, but there were a few. It was pitiful, what the little folk went through during that era. Children have to know they are loved by both parents. They must have that, that lie beyond the realm of correct routine and provision.

Discipline in Disappointment
But as any extreme is unwise, they don't need to be wrapped around with over-indulgence, over-pity or over-affection. Not in an emotional sense, I mean.

There are many times when the parent has to turn soldier, and say, "Can I bear to disappoint my baby? Can I stand to have him think me cruel? Must there be times when I have to turn general rather than friend and confidante? Times when I risk losing his faith and trust, and must shock him to the fact that after all I am his master?"

The trouble is that when small children never see this side of a mother or father, they fail later to reconcile themselves to the inevitable; to accepting dictation. Confidence is retained all through young life if wisdom is used about merging privilege and discipline. Occasional disappointment is discipline. Unwelcome tasks, discipline. Certain prohibitions, discipline. And small punishments fall right into line. Love is all the more intense where there is respect. Constant humoring is not the answer.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

FOUNDER OF RELIGIOUS FREEDOM

FIRST CHURCH AT SALEM

THE Puritans had come to America to seek the freedom of religious worship that England had begrudged them. But when they got here, the same religious intolerance prevailed among them.

Rebelling from such narrow views, Roger Williams, young Welsh-born pastor of Salem, sought a more liberal attitude and was banished from the colony in 1635. Journeying southward, he came to Narragansett Bay, where he bought some land from the Indians and established what is now Providence, R. I. Other settlers came and set up the foundation of Rhode Island.

In 1639, Williams established the first Baptist congregation in America. He treated the Indians with kindness, and continued to denounce religious persecution. He died in 1683, at the age of 79.

In 1936, 300 years after the founding of the first Rhode Island community, the United States issued a stamp honoring Roger Williams.

The SPORTS HORN

BY JESS RODGERS

Midland football fans will get their first view of the Bulldogs in scrimmage tonight when Dutch will give the boys a long workout on Lackey field at 7:30.

There will not be a great lot of scrimmage, most of the session being devoted to general work on the large number of plays given the boys by Taylor and Baumgarten, but there will be enough to give spectators a view of what the club is going to look like.

With better than three weeks of work behind them, the club is taking shape rapidly and all position are practically "set." With the exception of the guard slots the coaches are satisfied on a starting line-up. Five boys are trying for these two positions and are keeping the coaches in a "dither" over who to call their regulars. The quintet, Klebold, Mitchell, Eldson, Cowan and Klatt assure more protection at that important position than has been offered here in several seasons. A sixth boy is going out for the guard notch, Wilson, but his weight, 116, is likely to keep him relegated to the subs.

Two men are battling hard for the center position with Wimberly holding an edge right now over Whitaker. However, both are capable and the coaches are not worried over that job.

A backfield shake-up was necessary this week when Francis, imported from Eastland, was discovered to be ineligible, but Barbour is showing up well despite a lack of experience. However, if he doesn't hold up, the coaches are prepared to move Lawson, right now the number one left end, to the position and shift Hart, left end of the scrubs to a place on the first 11 if he continues to show the improvement that has characterized his play so far.

Big Lake will present much the same club here Friday night that they had last year, as far as names are concerned. Not a man on the club has failed to gain from 15 to 40 pounds and the two clubs will be about even in weight when they take the field.

Bob Nail, Owl coach, has announced that he will have a "pretty good" team and that he is confident of "taking" the Bulldogs and avenging a long string of defeats that the locals have plastered on the Reagan county aggregations for the past few years. Unless our history is muddled, the club to the south of us has never been able to defeat the Bulldogs, their only honor coming from having the first man on any opposing club ever to score a touchdown on Lackey field.

Our guess is that Midland will take the Big Lake club by two, possibly more touchdowns; but I won't stand good for any wagers made and lost on that basis.

The two aggregations that will line up opposite each other tonight—given the names of the Reds and Whites by this department will line up like this; (Reds being first team)

All Aboard For A Subway Series

--- By Harry Grayson ---

This is the second of five articles on Bernie Bierman football's foremost coach—by himself.

BY BERNIE BIEMAN

Minnesota coach whose teams have been unbeaten in three years.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 14.—My older brother, Al enrolled at the University of Minnesota two years ahead of me and liked it so much that I guess I couldn't have gone to any other institution if I had so desired. Of course I didn't care to go elsewhere, for a country boy going to school in Minneapolis struck me as real big time stuff.

My high school coach Dr. A. W. Robertson, was a Minnesota man, and naturally he wanted me to go there, too.

Conditions were different than they are now. Back in 1912, when I was ready for college, few parents or boys ever thought of any school but the state university. Now if any youngster in prep school shows the slightest ability in sports, old grads from a half dozen institutions are on the job early to sell their particular alma mater to the "stars." That wasn't the case when I was a boy. I don't recall any one mentioning any school but Minnesota.

Paynesville, and Litchfield, in that order. I remember rather distinctly being in the fifth grade when we reached Litchfield.

Two years later we moved to Minneapolis, and I finished my primary school studies there.

Brother Al usually had a baseball or a football for the gang in the neighborhood. As I recall all the advice and information I got from my brother, I suppose I was pretty much of a dub. At least that's what they used to tell me—and still do for that matter.

The fall of 1908 found the Bierman family back in Litchfield, this time to stay for quite a spell. I spent my high school days there.

I didn't need urging to report for football as soon as school opened. In scrub games while still in the grades, I played end more than any other position. Naturally, that's what I said I was when Dr. Robertson canvassed the freshmen.

I forget how heavy I was, but I know it wasn't much, for my school mates called me "skinny" when we were bathing around on the corner lots of Minneapolis.

As you may have guessed, I didn't make the team as a freshman. In fact, I believe my family thought I should give up football entirely when I failed to make much of a showing. But I loved the game too much to quit that easily.

In my sophomore year I made the Litchfield first team, still as an end. As a junior, the squad was a little short of backfield material, and because I had shown that I had a little speed I was switched to left halfback. I stayed there through my senior year.

Dental Bill Nearly Ruins Career

Litchfield High was unbeaten and unscored on in seven games in 1911, and we were pretty proud of our record. Football wasn't generally played in Minnesota high schools in those days. We took on all schools close to Litchfield. St. Cloud was making claims to the state championship. Our coach challenged St. Cloud for a post-season game. His deft was quickly accepted. The game wasn't played, however. The day before we were to get into action a terrific snowstorm began and a good old-fashioned Minnesota winter set in.

The one game that I remember in high school was against Hutchinson in 1910. Tackled hard on a frozen field, I had two teeth clipped. I thought that would ruin my athletic career, as the folks didn't care so much about piling up doctor and dental bills.

I started as a catcher in baseball, tried first base, second, and the outfield. I started out as a left-handed hitter, but eventually was forced to switch to right when I found that I was frozen to the ground when swinging from the left side.

Litchfield High didn't have an abundance of material in track and field, so I went in for the weight events in addition to dashes—100, 220, and 440. State track meets were not held in those days, but each year a Northwest event was staged at the University of Minnesota. I considered myself pretty much the coo of the walk in Litchfield when I finished second in the 100 and 220-yard dashes in Minneapolis.

I believe that those happy days in Litchfield decided my career when my school days were concluded.

Aggie Candidates Advancing Rapidly

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Sept. 14.—Hitting the high spots in their intensive pre-season training grind, nearly fifty Texas Aggie football candidates are farther advanced than any Aggie team has been at a like time within recent years. They reached the "light scrimmage" stage, with sets of ends, tackles or guards blocking on different plays, their second day out and then cleared decks for heavy scrimmage the coming week.

Early-day workouts saw emphasis placed on punting, passing and place kicking in addition to more usual early fundamentals drills. Leaders in the punting and in the passing end of aerial maneuvers included Jim Shockey, left-hander from Gilmer who was the Aggie's passing ace the past year; Dick Todd, Doc of Crowell, who is expected to be a star sophomore halfback; and "Doc" Pitner, back from Denton. The shift of Pitner from quarterback to halfback duties has left Dick Vitek, letterman from Granger, and Owens Rogers, sophomore from Mart, as two leading candidates for signal barking duty.

Among outstanding candidates, by positions, in the opening days of practice were:

Ends—Johnny Morow, Wortham, letterman; Bill Stages, Waco, sophomore; Rankin Britt, Ranger, and Bill Seago, Gilmer, Sophomores.

Tackles—John Whitfield, Tascas; Roy Young, Port Arthur; Martin Lindsey, Dallas; Selmer Kirby, Amarillo. All are lettermen.

Guards—Walt Phythian, Taylor, and Joe Rout, Chapel Hill, lettermen; Virgil Jones, Sweetwater, Squadman; Bill Minnock, Galena Park, sophomore.

Centers—Charley DeWare, Brenham, letterman; Zed Coston, Dallas, sophomore.

Quarterbacks—Dick Vitek, Granger, letterman; Owens Rogers, Mart, sophomore.

Halfbacks—Jim Shockey of Gilmer, Bob Nestra of Flatonia, "Doc" Pitner of Denton, Bill Boyd of Gilmer and Waylon Manning of Beaumont, lettermen; and Dick Todd, of Crowell, sophomore.

Fullbacks—Les Cummings, Bryan and Bruno Schroeder, Lockhart, both lettermen.

Best Husband Caller Credits Choir Singing

EASTHAMPTON, Mass. (U.P.)—Singing in the church choir has a practical as well as spiritual effect, according to Mrs. William Underwood of Mount Tom, winner of the Hampshire Pomona Grange husband-calling contest.

Mrs. Underwood said that church singing helped develop her vocal chords.

"It's important to choose a name that has plenty of open vowels," she explained after letting go a loud "Richard." "On a good day I can make my son Richard hear me when he is swimming in the river more than a half-mile away. It surely saves a lot of steps."

Bathing Suit Czar Decries Present Style

GODERICH, Ont. (U.P.)—Chief of Police R. C. Postelwaite, for 20 years dictator of bathing suits decency rules here, admits he is shocked by this year's styles.

"I've seen many kinds of bathing suits in my time," he said, "but this year's models are the worst ever."

Bashful Bernie Considered Too Light

Brother Al liked football as much as I did. Once I reached Minnesota he didn't waste any time getting me out for the freshman squad. Al, of course, was out for the squad in 1912 and 13.

I was a bashful country boy when I enrolled at Minnesota. I had read so much about the Giants of the North that I was a bit skeptical about going out for football because of my weight. I tipped the scales at about 160 pounds as a freshman, but that wasn't very much considering the size of most of the boys who were out. But Al wouldn't let me quit. He saw to it that I stayed out there every day.

Because of my lack of weight, I didn't get much of a tumble from Dr. Williams when I reported for the varsity squad in the fall of 1913. Doc used to scrimmage a lot in those days, because we didn't have spring practice and it was the only means he had of determining the respective abilities of the players.

I was the victim of a tough break as a sophomore. I came up with a charley horse early in the fall and was relegated to the sidelines. I did get into a few games that year, but that early season setback was a handicap hard to overcome once I was sound again.

But I suppose any life story should start from the beginning, so that is what I'm going to do now.

I was born on March 11, 1894, at Springfield, a small town in the western part of Minnesota. My folks did a lot of moving in a short time. We moved to Oklahoma when I was still a little tike. Returning to Minnesota, we made our home at Waseca, at this time appear, Allie White, Russel Hensch and I. B. Hale, tackles; Ki Aldrich, center; Charles Mabry, end; Horace Carswell, full; Pat Clifford, half; and Dave O'Brien, quarter.

The Frogs take the field of battle for the first time next Friday night in Brownwood against the Howard Payne Yellowjackets, after just ten practice sessions.

"We'll probably give every man on the squad a chance to show what he can do in that first game," Coach Meyer says.

"After we've had a chance to see the boys in action under fire we'll begin to have a lot better line on what's what."

Saturday, Sept. 26, the Frogs go up against the strong Texas Tech team in a night game at Lubbock. Then the conference season gets under way the following Saturday when the Arkansas Razorbacks come to Fort Worth.

"And, boy, will that be a battle!" Coach Meyer observes.

"Those Razorbacks are picked as one of the strongest teams in the circuit and they'll be plenty tough for us!"

One pair of meadow mice could have 275 billion descendants within 10 years, if every descendant lived and bred normally over that period.

BEST BALANCED CLUB IN HISTORY CLAIMED BY TCU

FORT WORTH, Sept. 15.—The best balanced football squad that T. C. U. has ever had.

That is the general verdict around the Horned Frog camp after the first few practice sessions.

No, the Christians are not claiming the conference flag at this early date. They may not even have as strong a team as last season. But good men are available at every position—three-deep at most spots.

In the not far distant past Horned Frog coaches were pleased to have eleven good men on the squad. Old-timers can recall road trips made with a squad of 13 to 15 players.

"There is no such thing as a first-string man on this squad," Coach Dutch Meyer told his men.

"Any position is wide open, and it belongs to the man who will hustle the hardest."

Forty-five men are on Coach Meyer's squad, 16 of them being letter men and 21 sophomores.

Canada Guards Its Giant Arsenal From All Hazards

VALCARTIER, Que. (U.P.)—The Canadian government is building a village of fireproof houses here as the preliminary step toward establishment of a giant new arsenal.

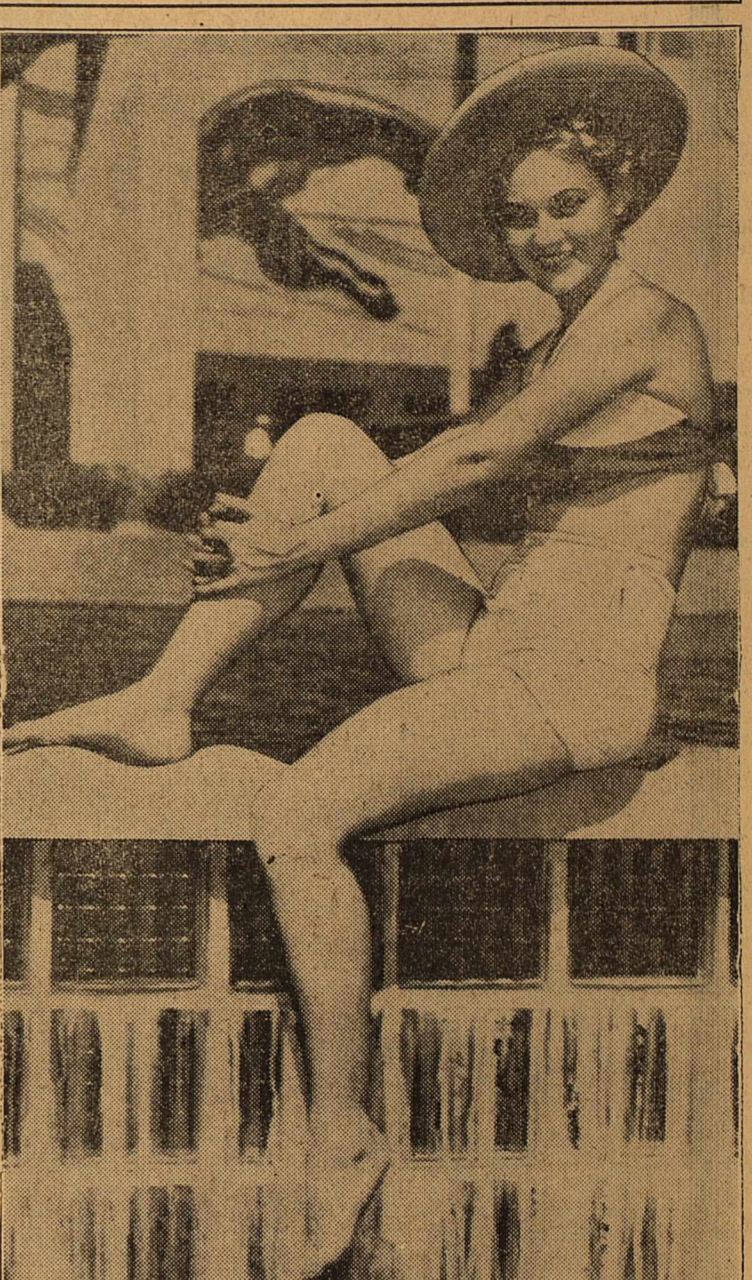

The new arsenal, expected to be the largest in Canada, will replace the buildings at present in use on Palace Hill and the Plains of Abraham and will be surrounded by a small town, where the employees of the plant and their families will be housed in specially built residences.

Valcartier Camp, scene of the mobilization for Canada's first expeditionary force in 1914, and later used as an unemployed relief camp, has long been regarded as an ideal site for an arsenal. Men are already engaged in erecting houses for the many munition makers to be employed at the plant, and once their task is completed work on the arsenal itself will begin.

Villages of Unemployed Rejoice Over Ore Find

GLASGOW. (U.P.)—The chance discovery of a new vein of lead by an unemployed miner has brought hope to a thousand people living in two remote villages 50 miles from here. Since 1931, when the lead mines closed down, 8 per cent of the working population of the village of lead-hills and Wanlockhead have been unemployed. Now their hopes are centered in Robert Marr, who discovered a new vein, and in five other men who are testing a new seam in the desolate hills around the district on the estate of the Marquis of Linnithgow, Viceroy of India.

five years they will have an opportunity of accumulating enough to make a down payment of fifteen per cent. When they are able to make that payment and when the Resettlement Administration and the prospective purchaser are both satisfied with the agreement, a sale contract will be executed by which the purchaser will have forty years in which to make payment, the interest rate being three per cent. Only the best land is being bought for these farms, and it is bought only at such a price as is justified by the past production record. Incidentally, the Resettlement Administration is thus stabilizing the price of land at figures upon which the land will pay out. This is a very important contribution toward getting and keeping the title to the land in the hands of the man who operates it.

Dugan said he daily receives apples, oranges, candy and invitations to birthday parties.

Humble 997 Motor Oil is made from the heart (a very small percentage) of specially selected crude stocks by a special patented process. It is, moreover, a 100 per cent paraffin oil. Like all Humble products, it is continuously improved. Available in bulk or refinery sealed cans as you prefer.

From Texas oil fields—Humble motor fuels and motor oils

When Texas was young, crude oil was produced with dippers from the surface of springs and from water wells gone wrong. It was used as a medicine—for man or beast!—and locally as a poor sort of lubricant. Today, Texas produces more oil than any other state in the Union—(approximately four hundred million barrels annually)—and ranks first in proven oil reserves.

NO INDUSTRY STANDS ALONE, and the vast oil industry of Texas is no exception to that rule. Its expansion has been fostered by the widening use of the automobile, which has created an ever widening market for the products of Texas oil fields and Texas refineries. On the other hand, the development of the automobile has been dependent on the development of motor fuels and lubricants, so that the two industries are interdependent, each on the other.

The Humble Company recognizes this fact and it stands behind Humble's policy of continuous improvement, a policy rigidly adhered to. As new automotive needs appear, Humble technicians discover new ways to satisfy them. Behind the Humble trademark stands an army of over 11,000 Texans seeking day by day to improve the motor fuels and the motor oils sold under the Humble sign... We ask you to try Humble motor fuels and Humble motor oils, to test them the only sure way—in your car. We know they'll please you, because we know—continuous improvement keeps Humble ahead.

At the Centennial Exposition, Dallas-Humble's Hall of Texas History

You are cordially invited to visit the Humble Exhibit at the Central Centennial Exposition in Dallas. Striking dioramas recreate dramatic moments and vivid episodes from Texas History. See the battle of the Alamo, the capture of Santa Anna, the prisoners of the Mier Expedition drawing the black beans, the battle of Sabine Pass, Colonel Goodnight treating with Comanche Quanah Parker. Then see and listen to the story told by the rocks of Texas, and how Texas oil is drawn from many thousands of feet under the ground. On your way to and from Dallas—stop for service where you see the Humble sign.
