BY REPRESENTATIVE MARVIN JONES

Chairman, House Committee on Agriculture
The Roosevelt administration is the first since the World War to make a sincere attempt to solve the problems of agriculture.

Improvement is all the more remarkable since it took place despite the droughts of 1934 and 1936, the worst on record.

The recovery of agriculture is strikingly told in the figures on farm income, debt, surpluses; in every trend. It is told in increased farm buying power; in the recovery of the nation itself.

more than $7,500,000,000. Approximately 500,000 farms have been saved from foreclosure. Farm indebtedness has been reduced approximately $1,000,000,000 since 1932. For the first time on record, tenancy decreased in the period from 1932 to 1935. The huge 1932 surpluses of almost every farm commodity have been eliminated.

For the first time, a systematic, national effort is being made to conserve and rebuild the nation's most valuable heritage, the soil. For the first time, also, farmers, through the AAA's benefit payments, have had crop income insurance. Commodity loans on corn and cotton have helped to stabilize prices. Steps have been taken toward additional crop insurance and toward programs that will decrease tenancy.

In brief, government has given agriculture some of the protection and

Rapid Progress of Science Mirrored By New Inventions Used in War Games

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Texas, Sept. 24.—"The rapid progress of science, and its manifold and direct applications to war make it necessary for our armed forces to have and be able to use the latest and best developments of science," states Major General Frank Parker, Commanding Third Army and Eighth Corps Area.

In this connection the Third Field Army Command Post Exercise being conducted at Fort Sam Houston, Texas marks the introduction to military personnel of one of the most modern means of communication—the teletype or printer-teletype machine. This means of communication has been used effectively by news agencies for some time, however, this is the first time that it has been operated by army personnel, except experimentally, and it will be used mainly to replace the telegraph.

Colonel Walter E. Prosser, Signal Corps, who is charged with operating all means of communication in the Third Army, stated that the most difficult problem of the Signal Corps is the training of enlisted men to perform the many technical duties required of communications personnel, and that this particularly applied to training of telegraph operators. Colonel Prosser further stated that it takes a minimum of 200 hours to train a telegraph operator whereas an ordinary typist can be trained to operate a teletype machine in about three days.

Colonel Prosser pointed out that this new equipment would not only effect a saving in time from the standpoint of training but would also increase the speed and efficiency of transmitting orders. The Army Commander may now dictate an order to a stenographer, and it is typed on the teletype machine and put in the hands of his Corps Commanders by the time it is ready for his signature in his own headquarters, thereby reducing distribution time from hours to minutes.

The teletype being used is of commercial design, but the signal corps is conducting experiments with a view to its improvement, and adaptation to military requirements. It is of interest to note here that, through this equipment offers distinct advantages, it also introduces certain difficult problems which must be worked out before its use may be most efficient.

An important one is that wire lines may no longer be laid along the ground, but must be raised on poles. This necessitates new equipment in order that this work may be done with greater speed and proficiency demanded in modern warfare.

It must be understood, according to Colonel Prosser, that the teletype will not replace the telephone in army communications. The teletype is still the most important in that ninety per cent of military business both administrative and tactical will be transacted by phone. Nearly 25 phones have been installed in various headquarters. The principal use of the teletype will be in speedy transmission and distribution of orders, messages, and other information which must be written and would otherwise be sent by telegraph or the slower messenger service.

In this exercise there will be sixteen teletype stations in operation at army, corps, and division headquarters. Army radio, carrier pigeon, and messenger service will, as usual, be in operation during this problem, however their use is more restricted than is generally supposed.

Radio messages may not be sent in the clear, but must be coded, in order to keep the enemy from securing the information sent. Coding and decoding messages takes time, and there is always the danger of error in sending and receiving. A letter may be wrong and give the message the opposite meaning than intended. Radio will be used only between army headquarters and the cavalry corps, between planes in flight and air-ground, and between units of the mechanized cavalry. Regular messenger service will be maintained between all headquarters. Carrier pigeons will be used between the cavalry units and army headquarters.

In this problem we find the signal corps, through its agencies, the telephone, teletype, messenger, carrier pigeon, and radio service performing the all important role of establishing communications by the most efficient and modern methods available. Without good communications the commander would be at a loss in controlling the large units that compose the armies of today.

'Choral Speaking' Being Introduced

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (U.P.)—A new form of vocal expression "choral speaking," is being introduced in the world of arts by Miss Georgina Johnson, of this city, whose work may revolutionize the spoken word in poetry and drama.

"Choral speaking" is described by Miss Johnson, a graduate of Wellesley in 1930 and a holder of the degree of master of fine arts from the Yale School of Drama as a development of the possibilities for an appreciation and interpretation of modern poetry recently introduced in this country. Lecturing at Yale, she said it differs from the choral responses characteristic of Greek and Elizabethan drama.

Through the development of this new form of expression, Miss Johnson hopes that it may be used in aiding backward or reticent children in group interests and participation. "Choral speaking," accord-

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything).

I never did like to hear anyone bragging about their good deeds, especially about their charitable gifts. However I don't think any enthusiastic citizen can be blamed for bragging about his home town. All of which gives me leeway to comment on how Midland came across when San Angelo had the big flood.

Some big-hearted citizens got their petitions together before it was announced that relief was sought. They made substantial donations themselves, then put in a few short hours seeing their friends. Result, over $800 subscribed and not even the Red Cross had to call out a committee. Meanwhile, bigger towns than Midland, and closer to San Angelo in some ways, have been putting on high-pressure solicitations and have even had to flay their citizens in the public press because of inability to raise $100 or $250 "quotas." If Midland was assigned a quota, nobody around here knew about it.

The money had been forwarded to San Angelo before a general plea was sent out. I hope nobody will construe this as boasting on the part of the people who gave the money. It isn't. I gave my little wad and gladly. I'm bragging on the fellows who gave the big wad and who did it so cheerfully before any "campaigns" were started. Those towns which sent telegraphic expressions of sympathy might have been doing the best they could, but when hundreds of people are homeless, clothless and foodless, there's nothing like cold cash for getting the job done.

The Angelo neighbors have been heroic. They really had hard luck and I imagine we don't realize the half of it. The more fortunate citizens there have sacrificed much to help take care of the less fortunate, but with millions of dollars worth of damage done, not a citizen escaped a share in the loss. San Angelo people, however, will come out of it, and on top. They're our kind of people.

How To Make Use of All Your Left-Over Meats To Nourish An Underfed Budget

In these days of careful budgeting and economizing the consumer has the ever present problem of finding ways to serve leftovers attractively. If there is one place that no one enjoys seeing scrapping, it's at the table. You really do not have to make hash (good as it may be) or serve leftover meat sliced cold. There are many more appetizing ways to present the last of the roast.

"Swedish Meat Roll" is easy to make and a dish that would do credit to the most experienced chef. Of course, there's no reason why fresh meat can't be used in this roll. If you do use fresh meat, instead of left overs, buy 1/2 pound of round steak or cooked ham and prepare it by the same recipe. Brown the round steak well with the onion.

Swedish Meat Roll for Six

One and one-half cups chopped or ground left over meat, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons left over gravy or bouillon cube dissolved in water.

For the pastry: 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons shortening, 3/4 cup milk.

If you don't have left over gravy, dissolve a bouillon or gravy cube in water and use three tablespoons of that.

Mix the meat with the onion, browned, salt, pepper and gravy.

To make the pastry, sift the dry ingredients cut in the shortening

Ham roll-ups are so appetizing no one would ever guess left-overs were used in the dish. To make them, prepare a cheese sauce, using 4 tablespoons shortening, 5 tablespoons flour, 1 3/4 cups milk, 1-2 cup grated cheese and seasoning. Trim fat from ham slices which should be 4 to 6 inches in size. Roll four tips of asparagus in each slice and put rolls, seam-side down, in shallow baking pan. Surround with cheese sauce and bake in hot oven 15 or 20 minutes until lightly browned.

with 2 sharp knives or a fork. Add the milk to make a soft dough.

Roll the dough 1/4 inch thick. Spread this with the meat mixture and roll it lengthwise like a jelly roll.

Then cut this roll in slices 1 inch thick.

Places the slices on a well greased baking pan. Dot each slice with butter and bake it in a hot (400 degrees) oven 15 minutes.

Serve with additional gravy to which more fried onions have been added.

Don't serve potatoes or starchy vegetables with this roll. You might plan a menu around the meat roll something like this: tomato juice cocktail meat roll with gravy whole buttered carrots or cauliflower, with browned butter, salad bowl of mixed greens with French dressing, sliced oranges, cookies and coffee.

The dessert, in particular, should be a light one. Any main dish that is made with a pastry crust, such as this roll or a meat pie, indicates a light fruit dessert.

serve grilled potatoes or potato chips.

Crab Ravigote for Four

One cup canned crabmeat (6 o. can), 1 cup thick white sauce, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon capers, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1 minced chopped, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon green pepper chopped, 1 tablespoon minced parsley.

Make the white sauce following the first recipe.

Stir the crabmeat into it, and add the seasonings and the beaten egg yolk.

Then fold in the stiffly beaten egg white.

Pour this mixture into a greased casserole and cover the top with fried bread crumbs.

(This, by the way, is always a good idea for oven-prepared meat or fish dishes—frying the bread crumbs instead of merely using buttered crumbs. They are more crisp and taste delicious.)

Dust the top with paprika and bake 30 minutes in a moderate (350 degree) oven.

If the dish gets too brown on top, cover the casserole. Baked potatoes are delicious with Crab Ravigote.

Buttermilk As A Beautifier

By ALICIA HART

All purpose face creams seem to become more popular all the time. College girls and women on limited beauty budgets like the idea of getting all their money on one good cream and using it for softening as well as cleansing. Travelers know how handy it is to go about with one jar instead of three or four.

A new type of all purpose cream has been developed. It contains buttermilk, an ingredient that always is beneficial to complexions, whether mixed with other items and sold in cream form or smoothed on as a home made mask. The all purpose buttermilk cream is to be used twice a day. In the morning, smooth on a thin layer and remove with a wash cloth which has been dipped in very hot water.

At night use a bit of buttermilk cream to remove surface dust, wash your skin thoroughly then apply a heavier layer of the same cream. Allow this to remain on for about twenty minutes. Remove carefully. If you have a few lines underneath your eyes, cover them with cream and leave on while you sleep. Incidentally, the cream seems to have a soothing effect on blemishes, which have been irritated by squeezing.

Always remember to wash your face thoroughly with soap and water and to steam it for three or four seconds before you start to remove blackheads or other troublesome blemishes. Don't squeeze too hard. When you have finished, pat each irritated spot with alcohol. Let it dry, then apply cream. If your skin is dry—astringent if it is oily.

Christian Church Ladies Compliment Recent Bride

Mrs. Mack Standridge, formerly Miss Mary Howe, was honored Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Ratliff by the ladies of the First Christian Church at a surprise shower for four o'clock.

The rooms were decorated in gorgeous vari-colored roses and zenias, with a color scheme of green, white, and orange predominating in the refreshment plate, the favors, and the room appointments.

A mock musical wedding game was arranged to amuse the guests while awaiting the arrival of the bride, to whom the shower was a complete surprise when she was ushered into the house by Miss Gertrude Vance.

Patsy Lou Arrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Arrington, sang two songs to the abashed bride, "Wedding of Jack and Jill," and "The Glory of Love."

Titan little Harman Cornelius, son of Mrs. Lee Cornelius, dressed in a pair of overalls with a Hughes Tool sign on the back, and carrying some welding tools, came up to the bride, and said:

"I'm the welder from Hughes, and I've had the good news of a wedding of Mary and Mack; So man in my shoes Brings you things you can use From your friends, Find the pack!"

At the end of his speech the little "welder" handed Mrs. Standridge a long chain which she followed into another part of the house. At the end of the chain she found a huge tool chest with a giant pad lock on it. The chest was filled with gifts for the bride.

The three hostesses at the miscellaneous shower were Mrs. Frank Elkin, who represented one class of ladies at the church, Mrs. Clint Myrick, representative of another class and Mrs. George Ratliff, who represented the bride's class. Approximately two hundred guests were invited.

"ALL-BRAN KEEPS ME IN SHAPE EVERY DAY"

"When I had eaten a heavy breakfast, I would feel lousy. After a couple of days of this, I would have to take a laxative.

"One morning I had a dish of ALL-BRAN. Believe me, it beats any laxative, as it keeps me in shape every day."—Wm. C. Billings, 1330 19th St., Denver, Colorado.

Why put up with half-sick days, when a delicious cereal will make you feel so good? Because ALL-BRAN has "bulk" which absorbs moisture within the body. Then gently sponges out your system, wipes away the listlessness, the "blues," the headaches.

Scientific tests prove this natural food is both safe and effective—worlds better than taking patent medicines. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Take it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Serve as a cereal or use in cooking. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Canned Sea Food Freshens Menus

By NEA Service

Many of us just couldn't get along without canned salmon and canned crabmeat. You can serve them in the routine ways so that they soon become a bore, or you can turn these foods into the basis for excellent and unusual meals.

Here are two tried-and-true recipes made with canned crabmeat.

Crabmeat Chops for Four

Two cups canned crabmeat, 1 cup thick white sauce, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley, 1/2 teaspoon chopped onion, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, dash of cayenne pepper, 1 egg, cracker crumbs.

First, the method of preparing the thick white sauce:—Melt 2 tablespoons of butter or shortening in a hot frying pan and then add 1/3 cup of flour gradually. When it bubbles add 2/3 cup of hot milk at once and then 1/3 cup (making 1 cup in all) slowly, stirring constantly until smooth. Add 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/8 teaspoon pepper. There's the thick white sauce.

Now, to this white sauce add all the ingredients in the list above except the egg and cracker crumbs. Cook together for a minute or two.

Cool the mixture.

Make 8 heaps of the crab mixture. Take each heap and form into a chop, dip into the beaten eggs and then in the cracker crumbs and then fry in hot, deep fat.

Serve at once with tartar sauce. These "chops" are wonderful, light and delicate. With them you can

BULLDOGS, 23 STRONG, DEPART FOR COLORADO

POWER BATTLE IS FORESEEN, RESULT OF MUD, WEATHER

Wafford and Rankin Carry Offensives Of The Clubs

The Midland Bulldogs, 23 strong, left with coaches Baumbarten and Taylor this afternoon for Colorado where they will meet the strong Colorado Wolves tonight in their second game of the season.

Several Midland people, many more if weather conditions improve, are planning on driving to the Mitchell county metropolis to see the game, conceded to be one of the outstanding on the 10-game schedule booked by the Bulldogs. With the weather remaining as is the battle is expected to develop into a power vs. power conflict with Midland holding an advantage through their superior weight.

The Midland club will pit Wafford, 195-pound battering ram, against the 165 pound ball carrying demon Rankin of the Wolves. Glowing reports considering the ability of Rankin continue to be heard by all persons who have seen him play. According to most reports, he is absolutely unstoppable until he has rolled up a few yards. But Baumbarten is confident that even if Rankin does plow the Bulldog line for some gains that Wafford will more than match his example when he gets possession of the pigskin.

Wafford was practically the entire show in the initial game of the Bulldogs last week, rolling up three times as many yards as the combined efforts of the opposing backfield.

Thurman Bryant, regular end last season, out for the team this year after missing the first week or two of practice, has been shifted to the backfield and will probably start at left half instead of Barber. Bryant is a more aggressive player and packs more power in his drives.

Bryant is not as fast as Barber, neither has he shown the pass catching ability in practice, but the coaches believe he will prove more valuable on a slow field. He is conceded to be a better blocker and tackler than Barber, and his inability to shag passes this week any better than he has is blamed to the fact that he has not been out for the club long enough to get the "feel" of the ball. He was regarded as a sure catch last year. The game will be called at eight p. m. Officials of the game have not as yet been discovered other than Dalton Hill of Roscoe as referee.

Rattlesnake Snared With Short Shoestring

HELENA, Ark., Sept. 23 (U.P.)—A 12-inch shoestring and a steady nerve was the only equipment used by Laron Mathews in capturing a four foot diamondback rattlesnake that he found while walking in the city park.

Mathews said he made a small loop with a shoestring and tossed it over the snake's head. It is easier to thread a needle if the end of the thread is cut on a bias.

Natives of Timbuctu put roosting posts on minarets to serve as resting places for returning spirits of dead relatives and friends.

TULSA HITTERS POUND DALLAS TRIO OF PITCHERS FOR AN EASY 9-5 WIN

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 25 (U.P.)—The Tulsa Oilers sprang another surprise Thursday night and took a leg up on the Texas league playoff series by defeating the Dallas Steers 9 to 5.

Taking kindly to the offerings of the touted Dallas pitchers, the Oilers shelled three hurlers for 14 hits.

Max Thomas pitched a good game for the Oilers, allowing seven hits and struck out seven batsmen. Besides that he hit three singles out of four times at bat.

Jim Levey was the batting star for Dallas, driving in three runs. The weather carried a touch of fall, causing considerable shivering among the overflow crowd of 4,880 paid admissions, the season's largest crowd here.

SOPIA, (U.P.)—To celebrate the feast of St. Konstantine, their patron saint, the aged women of the village of Vulgari, Southeast Bulgaria, dance on a huge bonfire in the village square. This weird rite is carried out every year by the "nestinarki," or old women.

Children Picket Home

MILWAUKEE (U.P.)—Mrs. Edward Uhlar chased a group of children away from a bonfire on a vacant property near her home. They returned to parade in front of her home with signs reading: "Unfair to Children."

After its mate lays the eggs, the male hummingbird does not go near the nest.

Football Magazine
Of Humble is Placed With State Dealers

The first issue of the Humble Football News, weekly football news magazine published by the sponsor of Southwest Conference football broadcast, has just been placed in the hands of Humble service stations and Humble dealers for distribution to fans.

The magazine is made up of eight liberally illustrated pages, with authoritative articles written by experts from all over the state. It covers every phase of college and high school football in Texas. Among the well known sports writers represented by stories in the first issue are Kern Tips, C. C. Springfield, Don Scarbrough, Jinx Tucker, Johnny Lyons, Prexy Anderson, Bill Singleton.

An interesting feature of forthcoming issues of the Humble Football News will be a series of biographical sketches of Southwest Conference coaches. These short biographies will be prepared by Dick Freeman, Curtis Vinson, George White, Flem Hall, Jinx Tucker, Weldon Hart, and others.

The U. S. Government Printing office normally employs an average of 4000 persons.
