INSURGENTS ROUT LOYAL TROOPS IN PITCHED BATTLE

Strategic Point City Captured After Attack

RUSSIA IS CITED Portugal Says Soviet To Blame For The War

Spanish insurgents pressed a new path in their drive on Madrid today when Fascists overwhelmed government defenders north of Aranjuez, strategic point south of the capital, as Portugal charged Russia was responsible for the civil war.

The allegation against the Soviet union was made in a Portuguese reply to Russian charges that Lisbon was sending Fascists military aid. They charged Soviet agitators had created the situation in Spain that had resulted in the Fascist rebellion.

The arrival of 20,000 Russian volunteers to bolster the Madrid defense was reported imminent by Portuguese citizens arriving in Lisbon from Barcelona.

The insurgent advance on the capital was shifted into low gear at three points on the offensive line. Communications with Madrid were slow and uncertain and all dispatches were heavily censored so that it could not be fully determined the extent of danger confronting the capital defenders.

A Fascist attempt to capture El Escorial, important city in the Guadarrama Mountain range to the northwest of Madrid was reported repulsed by government troops under Colonel Mangada. Art treasures, including valuable Goya tapestries, were taken from the city for safe-keeping in Madrid.

A Fascist radio broadcast from Salamanca declared the insurgent forces had checked Socialist fighters in northern Asturias and had cut communications between Oviedo and Monte Narango. Fascist Spanish government at Burgos announced that Madrid was completely isolated from the rest of Spain and predicted its fall to insurgent armies "within three to ten days."

BROWDER IS KEPT FROM GIVING TALK IN TAMPA SUNDAY

Platform Is Turned Over By Group Of Citizens

TAMPA, Fla., Oct. 26. (AP)—A band of citizens Sunday broke up a meeting at which Earl Browder, Communist candidate for President, tried to address a crowd of several hundred in a vacant lot.

A group headed by a husky man wearing an orange American Legion cap mobbed the speaker's stand and tilted it over just as Browder started his address.

The Communist candidate and others on the platform slid to the ground unhurt, but a dozen others suffered minor injuries from swinging fists and pistol butts of raiders.

The crowd stood around the lot for some time afterward but Browder went immediately to the seclusion of hotel and said he would not appear publicly again until his departure at night for Detroit.

"It is clear the mob is working in collusion with the police," he said. Browder was prevented from delivering another speech here last month when he found the hall where he was to make it padlocked.

Former Midland Man Visits Here

J. N. Wells, former Midland man, was here today from his ranch near Graves, N. M. His daughter, Mrs. Holly Roberts, returned here with him after a visit at the Wells ranch.

The former Midland man has been active in political affairs of his section, having been named a delegate to the democratic state convention at Santa Fe. He also is vice president of the Stockmen's Cooperative Association, organized in his grazing district to work for repeal of the Taylor act and to promote constructive protective legislation for small ranchers.

He operates an eleven section ranch, stocked with cattle, in a well watered area between Roswell and Fort Sumner.

Germany, Japan May Align Selves With Duce

ROME, Oct. 26. (AP)—A tri-partite alignment against communism, including Italy, Germany and Japan was hinted today in a newspaper story by Virginia Gayda, known as "unofficial spokesman of the Fascist government."

Weekly Cotton Market Review Shows Price Decline, Spot Sales Are Large

Cotton prices declined and the ten market average of 11.99 cents for middling 7/8 inch on Friday, October 23, was 22 points lower than a week earlier. The decline in cotton prices occurred despite reports of some damage to the crop by unfavorable weather and was attributed to heavy hedge selling, but the general level of prices of other commodities and of securities also declined.

The volume of sales of spot cotton reported in the ten designated markets continued large and inquiries were numerous. Forwardings to domestic mills continued to increase and domestic mill activity has shown some increase following considerable slackening in the unusually high rate during the first week in October. Trade reports indicated further increases in the volume of industrial production. Indications are that sales of unfinished cotton cloth were slightly smaller than in the previous week, but cloth prices continued to advance. According to press reports the volume of retail and wholesale sales of finished goods continued at levels above a year ago, but some slackening was reported in retail sales. Exports increased. Prices of American cotton in Liverpool declined less than prices of Indian.

Sales of spot cotton reported in the ten designated markets were again large and inquiries for new business for both prompt and deferred shipment continued numerous. Sales of 440,000 bales reported in the ten designated markets compared with 393,000 in the previous week of five business days, and 311,000 in the corresponding week a year ago.

Prices in the ten designated spot markets averaged 11.99 cents for middling 7/8 inch on October 23, compared with 12.21 cents on October 16 and 11.05 cents on the corresponding day a year ago. Prices of spot cotton declined slightly less than prices of December and January futures but about the same as prices of contracts for the more distant months. The ten market average premiums for white good middling and strict middling were

SUPREME COURT TO GIVE DECISION ON NEW DEAL ACTS

Constitutionality Of Wagner Bill Will Be Ruled On

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26. (AP)—Two cases involving the constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act were added today by the supreme court to the list of new deal litigation awaiting a final decision.

The court agreed to pass on challenges at the legislation filed by the Washington, Virginia, Maryland coach company.

The act was sustained by lower courts. The statute guarantees collective bargaining to labor and sets up a national board to settle industrial disputes.

unchanged from the previous week at 53 and 34 points respectively on middling. The discount for strict low middling was also unchanged at 50 points of middling, but that for low middling narrowed 3 points to 119. The six quoting market average premium for 15/16 inch advanced 4 points to 57 points on middling 7/8 inch, and that for 1 inch advanced 4 points to 99. In the Memphis market the premium for 1-1/16 inches decreased 10 points to 155 points on middling 7/8 inch; the premiums for 1-1/8 and 1-3/16 inches also decreased 10 points to 230 and 315 points.

Domestic mill buying continued active for both prompt and deferred shipment but the scarcity of offerings of the medium and higher white grades tended to restrict purchases. Forwardings to domestic mills were again large and for the season to October 23 were substantially larger than in the corresponding period in either of the two preceding years. Domestic mill activity showed some increase following a considerable reduction in the high rate during the first week in October, according to the New York Times seasonally adjusted index. For the week ended October 17 this index was 127 per cent of estimated normal against 123 in the previous week and 105 a year ago. Trade reports continued to stress the unusually favorable position of domestic mills with respect to cloth stocks, unfilled orders and gross manufacturing margins, which have shown substantial improvement during recent months despite the unusually high rate of domestic mill activity.

Sales of unfinished cotton cloth appeared to have slackened somewhat again this week but probably exceeded the large volume of mill output, according to trade reports. The slackening in sales of coarse and medium goods was apparently due to a shortage of fabrics available for immediate delivery and to buyers' resistance to recent advances in price of these goods. Sales of fine goods were also apparently reduced somewhat by a scarcity of available cloth. Wholesale and retail sales of cotton goods were (COTTON MARKET) Page 6

DRASTIC SLICING OF PENSION LIST INDICATED TODAY

Committee Reports Expenses Must Be Cut

FIGHT FORESEEN Bitter Controversy Expected to Hold Up Passage

AUSTIN, Oct. 26. (AP)—The conference committee studying a tax plan to raise money for old age pensions in the state recommended drastic delimitation of the law in a report to the legislature today.

The report, expected to be the cause of one of the bitterest controversies in years over legislation, was made as the body met for the final two days of the special session.

The report said that the number of persons receiving pensions must be decreased and more funds provided with payments going only to them in necessary circumstances.

The administration would be transferred from the present commission to a board of control. Seven million dollars would be appropriated for the year ending August 31, 1937.

The senate was the first to concur in the report. Senator John Redditt, Lufkin, said the bill would yield over $7,000,000 annually.

The committee report on the unemployment insurance bill had priority in the house. Representative Taylor Russell, Mount Pleasant, urged its rejection, saying there would be no limit to the number of employees administering the act.

CUMMINS AREA OF ECTOR HOLDING OIL SPOTLIGHT

New Pool Promised Two-Mile Spread By Test

By FRANK GARDNER The Cummins area of north western Ector county held the spotlight as the week opened, with the promise of a two-mile northwest extension to the pool opened early this year by W. H. Dunning, Jr. Empire No. 1-C Cummings, 2,300 feet from the south and 440 feet from the east line of section 22, block 45, township 1 north, T. & P. survey, is estimated at 125 barrels of oil per day, natural, as it prepares to shoot. The well has been flowing 15-minute heads five times every 24-hour period. It is showing between one-quarter and one-third barrel of sulphur per hour.

Operators do not consider it coming from bottom-hole formation. The well is getting its oil from 4,203-35, and it bottomed at 4,293.

In the main body of the Cummings pool, Dunning No. 2-A Cummings flowed 541 barrels through 2-7/8 inch tubing on the 24-hour potential test. It topped pay at 4,237, halted drilling at 4,296, and was shot with 280 quarts from 4,227 to 4,292. Location is 1,320 feet from the south and 440 feet from the east line of section 33, block 45, township 1 north, T. & P. survey.

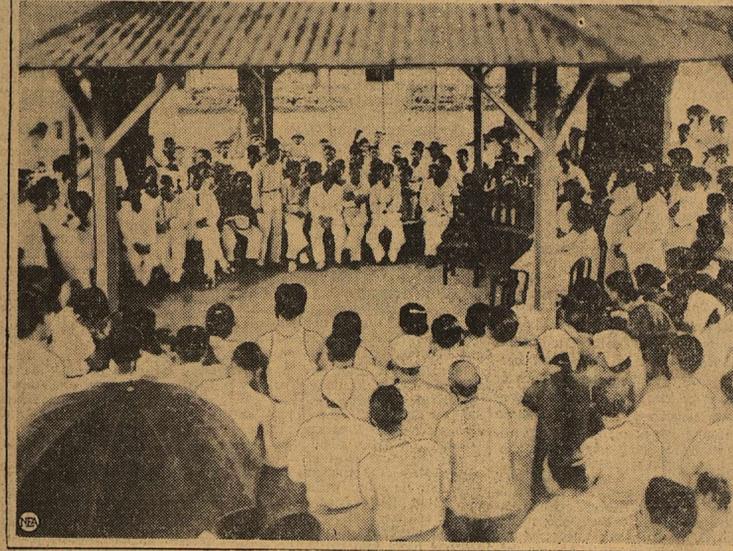

A wildcat southeast of the pool, Humble No. 1 Cowden in section 30, block 44, township 1 north, set surface pipe this morning, bottomed at 287 T. P. No. 1 Scharbauer, another wildcat a half-mile farther southeast, in section 31 of the same block, is running the first string of casing, bottomed at 150.

Cochran Well Testing Honolulu, Cascade and Deonian No. 1 E. B. Duggan, southeast Cochran discovery, testing today to ascertain whether a bailer and a half ton of salt water per hour was shut off by plugging back from 5,098, the total depth, to 5,068 with lead wool and lathe cuttings. As soon as operators decide that the water has been completely shut off, they will run nitro shot, which will be exploded tomorrow or Wednesday. The well has been heading an average of 60 barrels of oil per day from pay topped at 5,025. Gas volume is between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000 cubic feet. Location of the discovery is in Oldham county school land.

The Texas Co. No. 1 Bob Slaughter southwest Hockley wildcat eleven miles southeast of the No. 1 Duggan, is milling on casing shoe at 3,075 feet.

Waddell Pool Well Magnolia No. 7 Edwards, Waddell pool well in northern Crane county, rated a potential of 4,364 barrels per day based upon a four-hour gauge during which it flowed 727.32 barrels. The test was made through 2-inch tubing. The No. 7 Edwards, offset to the north by 4,000 feet, well and to the south by a 10,000 barrel well, showed no free oil in the pay horizon of the pool, and was drilled into sulphur water at 3,614. Plugged back to 3,598, it was shot with 160 quarts, filling up with oil, and was (OIL NEWS) Page 6

As Manila Lepers Asked Liberty Or Death

Chanting "Give us Liberty or Death," 235 Filipino lepers, normally segregated in Manillas San Lazaro hospital, marched on the Philippine capital and demanded immediate release on their claim that leprosy is not contagious. Manila health officials, shown here conferring with the lepers, informed the marchers that the government is building regional leprosanaria where lepers may live with their kin and that as soon as a leper was pronounced cured, he would be freed. Only one of 20 may expect to be cured, doctors advised. Returning to their hospital, the Manila marchers formally incorporated their demands in a resolution to the National Assembly.

FORT WORTH FLIER KILLED WHEN SHIP CRASHES TO EARTH

Body of Aviator Is Found in Remains Of Plane

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 26. (AP)—The crushed body of Frank E. Orsbee, 44, of Fort Worth, Bureau of Air Commerce patrol pilot, was found Sunday near the wreckage of his plane on a mountainside northwest of Ardmore, Okla.

The discovery ended a widespread search which began Saturday night after the veteran flier was reported missing to L. C. Elliott, manager of the Fourth Air Navigation Division with headquarters here.

Armsbee last was heard of as he talked with the airways radio station at Ardmore. He asked for ceiling and general weather conditions and reported he would attempt to land at Ardmore instead of flying through to Fort Worth as had been his original plan.

At the time he was within fifteen miles of Ardmore and said he could hear the radio marker at Gainesville. Elliott believes Orsbee crashed into the top of the Arbuckle Mountain range as he headed his ship downward through the murky overcast sky.

Employees of a funeral home at Ardmore, who recovered the body, said the plane apparently struck a peak and careened down to splinter itself against the rugged mountain-side.

First word of the tragedy came from a woman who called the Ardmore airport. A short time later a pilot of one of the planes sent out by Elliott sighted the demolished ship.

Dr. Thomas' Book Is Praised by Reviewer

The book Selected Stories, Quotations and Aphorisms, written by Dr. John B. Thomas of Midland, was given high praise today in a review of it by the Texas State Journal of Medicine.

Following is the review as it appeared in the magazine: This volume of humorous stories, quotations and aphorisms is the best of its kind that has come to the attention of this reviewer. It represents as the author states in the preface, a compilation of the wit and lore of many countries, and no originality is claimed other than perhaps some furnishing. It contains material for illustrating almost any kind of topic or subject desired. While it furnishes entertaining reading, it should prove of greatest value to speakers or writers. We heartily commend it in every particular and are grateful for the privilege of reviewing it.

Revival Is Brought To Successful End At Christian Church

The Revival which has been in progress closed last night with splendid attendance at all services throughout the day. A record attendance at the Bible school for the past two years was present, and perhaps the greatest service during the revival was witnessed at 11:00 o'clock when many additions to the church were made. The greatest attendance of the meeting was present last night when practically every available space of the auditorium was occupied, and chairs placed in the aisles and vestibules to accommodate the attendance.

The pastor, Rev. J. E. Pickering gave this statement to the press this morning: "Our revival has come to a close! God blessed us in a wonderful way and we had a great meeting. May I express deep and kind appreciation to our people for their loyalty and cooperation. To every one who helped in any way; to the two pianists who were present and played for every service; to the many homes who had the ministers for dinner and lunch; to the ushers who did such a splendid work; to the ones who looked after the flowers; to every one who uttered a prayer or help; to the reporter-telegram for their cooperation. Most of all the church and pastor desires to express kind appreciation to Rev. Winston F. Borum, pastor of the Baptist church who led the singing in such a fine way and the help of his people; to Rev. Cliff M. Epps, pastor of the Methodist church and Rev. W. J. Coleman, pastor of the Presbyterian church, who dismissed their services at night to help with the meeting. May I say that it would have been utterly impossible to have had the meeting we did, and the success without their prayers and cooperation and help. This church and pastor is deeply grateful, and will certainly be looking for every opportunity to return every kindness and prayer! May God's blessings rest upon all the people of Midland and may we all be a little closer to our Saviour because of this revival."

Electoral Votes In East Sought By Candidates

By Associated Press Squaring away for the grand finale in the presidential struggle, President Roosevelt and Governor Alf Landon came almost within speaking distance of each other today as they prepared eleventh-hour bids for electoral votes in the east.

Roosevelt remained at the White House writing speeches for Pennsylvania, New York and nearby states while Landon at Baltimore said "the overwhelming issue" is whether the American people "want dictatorship" of foreign kind, and added "essence of the new deal is that the constitution must go in order to give men in Washington power to make America over and destroy the American way and establish a foreign way in its place."

Recruiting Base Is Established Today

Six members of the United States army, with Sergeant Riley in charge, arrived in Midland today from El Paso to open temporary recruiting offices here. A base was established across the street east of the postoffice. Riley announced there was about 300 vacancies to be filled with West Texas males and that all wanting to join either the field artillery or cavalry groups would be accepted today, Tuesday and Wednesday. All males between the ages of 18 and 35 will be signed if they can pass examinations, Riley said.

PANHANDLE TOWNS SHIVER IN BELOW FREEZING WEATHER

Drizzling Rains Are Routed By The New Cold

TO GET COLDER Storm Wends Way To Gulf After Moving Into Texas

(By Associated Press) A new norther, sweeping in from the northwest, sent temperatures in the Texas Panhandle below freezing today, and gradually moved toward the gulf.

Bot's, Amarillo and Borger reported temperatures of 30 degrees. The norther put an end to the drizzling rains which fell over the greater part of the state last week.

Temperatures in Midland fell almost 30 degrees over Sunday night. The maximum recorded Sunday was 59 while the maximum today (before 3 p. m.) was 44. Minimum for the day was 42, recorded at 10 this morning.

The total amount of rainfall that fell in Midland last week was gauged at 1.14 inches at the Southern Ice and Utilities company.

West Texas Gas company officials reported this morning that temperatures were falling rapidly in all Panhandle towns. At Fritch, where the company's field is located, the mercury tumbled to 27 this morning. At Lubbock it was 36 at the same time.

Even colder weather is forecast for Midland and vicinity with the possibility of freezing weather tonight.

26,000 Fewer Listed As Certified on WPA Than 6 Months Back

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 26.—There are 26,000 fewer persons certified as in need of jobs on the Federal Works Program in Texas than there were six months ago. It has been announced by H. P. Drought, state works progress administrator.

Current figures place the number of needy persons eligible for employment on the Works Program at 144,358. At the end of April there were 170,368 persons certified for such employment.

"These figures are particularly encouraging to us," declared Administrator Drought, "for the task of the Works Progress Administration is to work itself out of a job. During the entire operation of this program we have attempted to reduce our payrolls by placing workers in private employment."

Of the 143,368 currently-eligible persons, 16,580 have been absorbed by private employment, 72,146 are employed by WPA, and 17,876 persons are working on projects operated by other federal agencies. The remaining 37,756 are either engaged in seasonal employment, other temporary work, or are awaiting assignment to projects.

"We feel that a considerable number of the 37,756 are at work on temporary jobs," Drought said, "as National Reemployment Service officials inform us that practically every WPA district now has standing requisitions for workmen."

"Although we anticipate an influx of job applicants during the winter months as seasonal employment is terminated, we feel certain that the degree of need will not approach that of last February when 121,782 persons formerly on relief rolls were employed on WPA projects alone," he said.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa. Oct. 26.— Pennsylvania is the state where Republicans have concentrated their charges of politics in WPA and their choice appears to have been well made.

Anyone who supposes there isn't plenty of Democratic politics in the administration of WPA in Pennsylvania qualifies himself for the booby prize of 1936.

The prize should be shared with the other fellow who thinks there would be any less politics in the hands of the Republicans.

The Keystone state always has been notorious for its political corruption and an astonishing proportion of its more conspicuous office holders and political leaders have at one time or another been indicated, disbarred, convicted, or otherwise involved in public scandal.

As far as WPA is concerned, a brief glance plus consultation with certain non-partisans who preserve a cold and fishy eye — as well as with politicians of both parties — convinces this writer that politics has flourished far more in WPA in Pennsylvania than Harry Hopkins would have you believe and that the atrocities arising therefrom have been far less numerous and flagrant than Republicans allege.

Hardened to Scandal
It further appears that the voters of Pennsylvania aren't registering any dangerously high blood pressure over the politician's prostitution of WPA and that the WPA workers themselves are impressed with the iniquity of it to only a very limited degree.

One hears some very violent objections to WPA, its program, and its operation on other grounds. But the state is hardened to political scandal and its politicians aren't acting more wickedly than anyone would expect.

Industrial corporations in Pennsylvania for decades have had unequalled record for political as well as economic coercion, pressure, and exploitation of employees.

No one has had a chance to make a survey, but the impression — even among many New Dealers — is that, all added up, a great amount of political pressure is being exerted upon WPA workers. It varies with localities and in many sections there isn't any at all.

Ten percent of WPA personnel is on an appointive basis. That covers the administrative staff. Thousands of foremen, supervisors, and timekeepers, consequently, are political appointees.

Usually they owe their jobs to Democratic county chairmen, who under the present state administration, are nearly all public officials. They include many small-time politicians. Even by the mere law of averages some of these men would be misfits and there is no question that some of them are spoolmen of the meanest and worst type.

Incidentally, you'll find a sprinkling of Republicans among them, none of whom would be openly active for London.

Some Dirt Uncovered
A while ago the Republican state chairman, broadcast by radio an appeal for affidavits from WPA workers who found themselves coerced into campaign contributions or other political activity. An undercover squad paid by the Republican national committee searched Pennsylvania, as well as other states, for horrible examples.

The result is blurry. Some dirt has been uncovered, but this writer finds informed Roosevelt sympathizers expressing astonishment that the G. O. P. hasn't uncovered far more scandal than it has an admitting the belief that competent investigators could easily do so.

Affidavits were collected — and widely broadcast — from ex-convicts, locally notorious cranks and psychopaths, and even from men who never worked on any WPA project. Repeatedly dragged out is a letter written months ago by the Democratic chairman of Indiana county in which political contributions were demanded from WPA administrative workers. But it is never added that the WPA county administrator promptly posted a bulletin board notice advising all employees to disregard same.

Sometimes local Democratic politicians raid the WPA workers with active aid from foremen, supervisors, or others and sometimes not.

Some Cases of "Herding"

A man in Somerset county swore that he had been fired for wearing a Landon button. Investigation revealed that he was working for a Republican group that he had had another job, anyway, and that he apparently had tried to be fired.

Just the same, there's good reason to believe that in some spots WPA workers have been herded into trucks by WPA foremen and ward heelers and driven to the registration booths. Sometimes they were told they must register Democratic.

Girls on sewing projects in certain places have told friends they were ordered to give five registra-

Famous Brother of Midland Man Made Sets For Ziegfeld Picture

Fifteen years ago, Coke Harkrider's boy, and brother to C. M. Harkrider, popular Midland man with the Gulf State Insurance Company, was trimming windows in Abilene storerooms.

Today, John Harkrider is one of the foremost designers of stage and motion picture sets and costumes in Hollywood.

When "The Great Ziegfeld" starring William Powell, Luise Rainer and Myrna Loy, came to the Yucca Theatre, Midlanders had an opportunity to view some of Harkrider's work. All designs for musical numbers are his.

Harkrider was born in Abilene, Nov. 16, 1900. His father, C. W. Harkrider, was head of the New York Life insurance company until the anti-trust laws forced the company out of the state. Then he organized an independent insurance company and later operated in Abilene and Fort Worth. Today, he is again in the insurance business in Abilene.

Young Harkrider's mother was Carrie Rollins, daughter of E. B. Rollins, pioneer of West Texas and the man who opened Abilene's first store.

Jack Harkrider's education began in the Abilene public schools and he was graduated from Ft. Worth public schools in 1917. During his Texas school days, Jack decorated floats for Labor day parades, and "every parade meant money in my pockets," he says. "I also took window decorating seriously, and one of my finest masterpieces was an exhibit at the Fort Worth horse show, which I designed with beer bottles and bunting."

"My father's cows had a great deal to do with my floats," he said. "I milked the cows, delivered the milk on my bicycle, then spent the money for more float decorations."

Later the artist discovered that it was the great Ziegfeld whom he had kidded over the phone and who had hung up without telling him what he wanted. Harkrider caught the train to New York on the strength of one costume, Ziegfeld hired him to do the show he was taking to open the new Palm Beach theatre Tony Biddle and Paris Singer had built for him there.

One summer Harkrider led the choir in a church. "Everything was rosy, and there were more singers in the choir than worshippers in the church—until the pastor found the whole choir attending a dance at my home. It was the inspiration for his sermon the following Sunday—and the passing of the choir."

In 1917, Harkrider left Fort Worth with two dollars and a railway ticket to Abilene in his pocket. Speaking of the incident, he said:

"In a Linen Basket"
" My father tried to have me taken off the train and returned home. Father knew the conductor, but I knew the porter, who hid me in a linen basket."

Back in Abilene, Harkrider trimmed enough windows to earn railway passage to El Paso. There he worked in a rubber tire shop, changing tires, through the summer. He saved enough money to reach Hollywood and arrived in the movie capital with three dollars.

"I invested the three dollars in a week's room rent and, next day, earned $2.45 as a movie actor by sitting in a pullman car seat back of Helen Holmes. I found another job on an old Fox-Western lot as one of the mob in a banquet scene. I didn't like the costume, so I took my lunch hour to hitch-hike to my hotel, to get one of my own costumes used in a Ft. Worth horse pageant. When I arrived back at the studio, I was mistaken for Art Acord, who was playing one of the chariot drivers in the picture was "Cleopatra" starring Theda Bara. For driving Acord's chariot, I received $2.45."

Harkrider gave up acting after Cecil B. DeMille "bawled me out" during a scene in Gloria Swanson's "Don't Change Husbands." He came back to Texas. One pageant led to another—a pageant in Dallas, another at Houston, the Mardi Gras and fiestas throughout the south. He was then sent to Mrs. John Lyons, the president of the National Federation of Music clubs, to stage "Pan in America" prize lyric drama by Carl Vench, dean of music at Fort Worth college. Success of the pageant led to an invitation by Mrs. Frederick W. Abbot to direct the Philadelphia musical pageant. While in Philadelphia, the young designer met Leopold Stokowsky, conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra. He spent two years as pageant master for the symphony.

Ziegfeld Aid
For two years he attempted to see Florenz Ziegfeld.

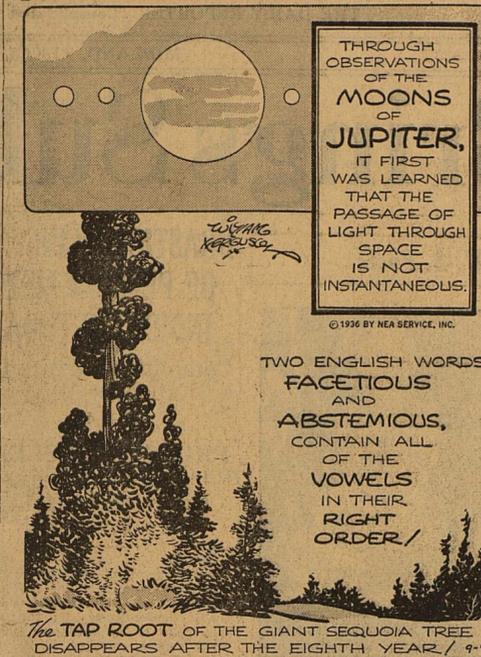

"Each time I got no further than the phone girl and Sam Kingston, Ziegfeld's big doorman. I had despaired of ever seeing Ziegfeld when I revived an old friendship with Louise Brooks, whom I had known in California while she was studying dancing at the Denishawn school.

"One day while I was in Philadelphia, Louise called me from New York. She told me that the Lafayette fete was to be staged at the Astor hotel, with all the guests in costumes of the period. I arrived in New York in time to design two costumes and have them made for Louise and me.

"We arrived just as Ziegfeld and Billie Burke were leaving. Louise had been in the Ziegfeld Follies and Louis XIV productions, so she stopped to chat with Ziegfeld."

"The famous showman was impressed with Miss Brooks' costume, and asked who had designed it. A few weeks later, Harkrider received a telephone call from New York. "I had been kidded quite a bit about appearing at the party," related Harkrider, "and I thought someone was playing a practical joke on me when a voice said 'Florenz Ziegfeld speaking.'"

From that time on, the former Abilene boy designed every Ziegfeld show, first the costumes and after two years the sets. His title was Artistic Director, Ziegfeld productions.

"Florenz Ziegfeld was the finest man I had ever known, and that still goes. He took me into his family—and our relationship was one of father and son, instead of employer and employe. Wherever he went, I went—to Palm Beach, to his camp at Lake Edward in Canada, and at Montauk and in South Carolina on fishing and hunting trips.

Other Creations
"While I was with him, he sent me to take charge of the Madison Square Garden pageant, after Mrs. Arthur D. Claffen, head of the charity, had asked him for someone to design and direct." From then until he left New York, Harkrider directed the pageant annually. Ziegfeld also loaned his designer to Murray Anderson to design sets and costumes for opening of the Paramount theatre in New York. Later, Harkrider directed the Follies sequences for "Glorifying the American Girl," made by Paramount on Long Island. For eight consecutive years he won first prize for costume designs at the Everglades ball where designers from all over the world competed.

He returned to California with Ziegfeld, shortly before the showman's death, to aid in producing Samuel Goldwyn's first musical production "Whoopee," with Eddie Cantor.

After Ziegfeld's death, Harkrider was identified with the Little Theatre in East Hampton, L. I., where he directed productions featuring Helen Warren, Michael Bartlett, Jimmy Melton, Norma Terris, Countess Olga Albani and others. Upon invitation of Goldwyn he went to California again, to assist in production of "Roman Scandals." Screen Successes

He was next signed by Universal to do "Showboat" for the screen. With postponement of production on that picture, he was transferred to "The Great Ziegfeld" upon invitation of William Anthony McGuire, who first conceived the idea of a screen biography of Florenz Ziegfeld. "The Great Ziegfeld" was purchased by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and Harkrider was employed to do sets, costumes and scenic ideas for the Harriet Hector ballet.

That completed, he went to Lake Tahoe to rebuild and redecorate the Walter Hobart camp for Mrs. Edward F. Hutton. While at Lake Tahoe, Bill McGuire called on him for a scenic conception of another number Seymour Felix, dance director, wanted to include in "The Great Ziegfeld."

Harkrider was then summoned to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer at the request of Hunt Stromberg, producer, and engaged by Cedric Gibbons, art director, to design musical numbers

Dinner and Reception Honor Guest Of Father Harrison, Bishop Robert Lucey

His Excellency, the Most Reverend Robert Emmet Lucey, D. D., delivered an inspiring address to an audience of approximately three hundred people Sunday evening in the Crystal Ballroom in the Scharbauer Hotel. Mrs. Tom Sealy assisted in the program with two violin selections, "Angel Serenade" and "The Rosary," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. W. J. Coleman.

The room was impressively decorated with tall floor palms and huge baskets of yellow chrysanthemums.

The profusion of richly colored garden flowers which were arranged in attractive displays in the Messanine floor, afforded a beautiful setting for the crystal plunk bowl on venetian lace and flanked on each side by silver candelabra holding red tapers and silver platters of red minis. Mrs. W. T. Walsh, Mrs. Allen Tolbert, Mrs. James FitzGerald, and Mrs. C. C. Duffey assisted at the punch bowl.

At the dinner in the private dining room in which the Catholic men of Midland honored his Excellency, the following attended: Messrs. C. Duffey, James FitzGerald, W. T. Walsh, Ralph Geisler, Earl Moran, Ed Flannery, Jack Cusack, Pat Carr, James Maxwell, J. H. Reagan.

Messrs. H. Egan, Grady Cole, Jack Jordan, H. S. Forgeron, Pete Droleman, Captain Russell, Joe Kelley, Richard Jones, Charley Brown, W. J. Moran, D. B. Greene, Don Trainer.

Ghosts and Witches Help Sonny Wright Entertain Guests

The juvenile guests of Sonny Wright were admitted into a room of horrors Saturday evening when they were left by loving parents at the door of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Wright, 409 North A, who were honoring their son with a Halloween party.

A weird ghost leered at the children out of the darkness of one corner while a great pumpkin hung out of the darkness above in the opposite corner. The children were lured by glowing lights to the old witches pot in which they were surprised and delighted to find heaps of pop corn balls.

After the small guests had become acclimated to the clammy atmosphere, they proceeded to enjoy the Halloween games and tricks arranged for them, and were delighted with the refreshment plate holding orange cups filled with chocolate ice cream, half moon chocolate cookies and sandwiches, and crickets for noisy favors.

A paring gift of a bag of pumpkin candies was given to Bill Hamilton, Gene Dupe, Frank Scott, R. A. Meed, Marvin Prager, Donny Prager, Bert Hemphill, Kelly Joe Proctor, Gerald McClinton, John Larch, John S. Caselman, Doris June Bayless, Susan Schouten, Betty Pickering, John Stanley, Betty Joe Green, Ann Ulmer, Ann Mason, Irvine Lee Recer, Harley Wright, and the honored, Sonny.

Sharpen Appetites With Sausages And Scrambled Eggs

By NEA Service

Eggs are like some people—if you rush them, they get tough. Scrambled eggs with tiny sausages or bacon have become a great favorite with the young set for after-theatre parties. Moist, tender, golden eggs — not tough little bunched.

Here's the way the famous chefs handle the problem — break fresh eggs in a bowl, allowing 2 per person. Add a little salt and pepper and 1 tablespoon milk for each egg. Beat with a fork until eggs are more or less mixed up, but do not beat until fluffy. Melt butter in pan, then remove pan from fire and pour in eggs. Return to fire and keep flame very low. Slowly cook the eggs, stirring with fork as they begin to coagulate. When they are no longer wet and not yet

Epicures Steamed Up Over Boiled Potatoes

By NEA Service

Bad cooking can humiliate a potato. But potatoes, themselves, need never be humble. They are the best food for families on low budgets. Together with milk, they can constitute a balanced meal if necessary. For thrift plus health, use potatoes once a day, together with one cooked vegetable and a salad. Meat and other things if the nervous dollar permits, but potatoes, vegetables and milk as the bountiful minimum.

Boiled Spud Tests Chef

A boiled potato is the test of a chef. Wash the skins well, then place the unpeeled potatoes in a pan of cold water. Add a liberal amount of salt. Bring water to boil and continue boiling until potatoes are tender. Drain off water at once. That is the secret. Pour off the water while it is still boiling. Stand the drained potatoes over low fire until they dry. Then sprinkle with salt and shake gently. Stand without cover until ready to serve. A cover causes steam to accumulate and the steam will make the potatoes soggy. Dryness is the mark of aristocracy in a boiled potato. The salt helps to make them dry and meaty when the diner removes the skin.

Royal Cold Potatoes

Cold potatoes, boiled with their skins on, can assume a courtly destiny. Peel, then chop fine. Melt a little butter in saucepan, add 1 cup milk. Turn in the chopped potatoes. Stir gently until milk is absorbed. Add more milk as necessary. Season with salt and pepper and a dash of paprika. Simmer for one-half hour, stirring occasionally. They should be slightly thick by then, not too moist, not too stiff. Turn into a shallow baking dish. Spread a layer (1/16 inch) of grated American cheese over the top. Dust with paprika, then place under low flame in oven until the cheese is melted and browned. The layer of cheese will be crisp and piquant, the creamed potatoes will be smooth and tempting. Potatoes, milk butter, cheese—a low cost meal in itself.

Thirty-one per cent of the world's railroad mileage is controlled by the United States.

hard, turn off the fire. Stir again and break into small nuggets. Serve at once on a hot plate, flanked by sausages or bacon and triangles of hot buttered toast. For breakfast.

Monday's Menu

BREAKFAST: Grape and orange juice, ham waffles, syrup, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Scrambled eggs, fried tomatoes, Melba toast, apple sauce, tea milk.

DINNER: Pineapple and lime iced cocktail, lamb croquettes with mushroom sauce, baked potatoes, baked acorn squash, mixed green salad, apricot charlotte, coffee.

luncheon or supper, such scrambled eggs are social favorites. Tenderness is always welcome, even in an egg.

Culinary License

Yes, hard guys may like their fried eggs, but they don't want them tough. Lay 2 strips of bacon on a cold iron frying pan. Slowly heat the pan, pouring off grease as it melts and turning the bacon regularly to keep it from curling. When half-cooked, pour off the grease and remove pan from fire. Break 2 eggs carefully right over the bacon strips. Return to fire, and cook eggs slowly until the yolks are set. This is a bacon and egg recipe which should be written across the top of every marriage license.

"Never boil a hard-boiled egg" is another bit of egg lore important to the happiness of any wifely cook. Place the eggs in a pan of cold water. Place over a low flame, bringing the water slowly up to the point just below boiling. Never let it get higher. Cook the eggs in that under-boiling water for half an hour. Drain and plunge into cold water to make peeling easier. When in doubt, serve eggs — the 100 percent value for your budget money. But don't destroy their flavor and appearance by reckless drying.

Filthy Flour Is Condemned

AUSTIN, Oct. 26.—A warning to consumers that low standard flour is being offered for sale in Texas was issued today by the State Department of Health's Division of Food and Drugs. At the same time, Mr. F. D. Brock, director of this division, sent notices to millers and dealers in flour calling their attention to the law prohibiting the sale of adulterated food. He based his notice on Article 707, section 6, of the Texas Food and Drug Law which provides that, in the case of food:

"An article shall be deemed to be adulterated if it consists in whole or in part of a filthy, decomposed or putrid animal or vegetable substance, or any portion of an animal or vegetable unfit for human consumption, whether manufactured or not. The penalty for violating this law is a fine of from twenty-five to two hundred dollars."

"It has long been the custom of certain dealers and manufacturers of flour and other cereals," Brock said, "to resort to the practice of sifting out worms from flour which has thus become contaminated and again offering this flour for sale to the consuming public who are ignorant of the fact that the flour has been infested by worms in great numbers, in many cases. Dealers and manufacturers seem to labor under the impression this practice is legitimate, though in our opinion, this is deceptive and in violation of the law."

Flood Menace of Miss. Is Rapidly Fading

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (UP)—A network of stout levees and canals have cut down the menace of the Mississippi's high water during flood periods according to engineers who are seeing completion of plans begun more than a quarter of a century ago.

The so-called "American Bottom" from which protrudes mighty Monks' Mound and its neighbors—built centuries ago by sun worshippers—has been flooded when the Illinois, Missouri and Mississippi joined their seasonal waters and rushed toward the sea.

But today the region has taken on a different appearance. Fifty levees and nearly as many canals are in service. Hidden from view are enormous culverts which are actually canals in themselves. Flood gates are used for certain types of diversion.

The cost of this enterprise so far has been $10,000,000 to be paid by a direct tax on the property protected. A WPA loan and a grant have aided.

By Harry Grayson

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—That $50,000 stake which Joseph E. Widener is offering for older horses at Hialeah Park, is something in the way of competition for Santa Anita, which has drawn the big name horses for the past two winters. Many of the larger establishments are going to Miami with their finest. It used to be that winter tracks had to beg horsemen to come in. Now they turn them away.

"We arranged the horsemen in four classes, A, B, C, and D," says Henry Collins, foreman at Tropical Park. "John Campbell, the racing secretary, told me to write to the first three, in that order and the D class we'd not write unless we needed horses."

"But before I got to the C's I found I had more horses than we can put in our 740 stalls. I've been around Tropical Park since it was built, and never saw so many horsemen wanting space."

Widener's plan to make Hialeah winter headquarters for 2-year-olds has been received with favor, judging by the number of requests for stable room at the Miami Jockey Club, where the demand also exceeds the capacity. Owners and trainers who ship older horses to Hialeah are permitted to bring along juveniles, even though they may not run during the season.

"I do not want owners to suffer a division of their stables," asserted Widener. "Those who have highly regarded runners they do not wish to send to the post until spring, are welcome to include this group among their active winter campaigners at Hialeah."

Miami Juveniles Fare Well
Many of the 2-year-olds, which made their racing bows in Miami last winter, went on to score in major stake events during the summer. Goldey F., Maedic, Maelocud, Rookwood, John P. War, Talked About, Court Scandal, Conservative, and Sophia Tucker are among those which raced first at Hialeah.

Goldey F., owned by Mrs. W. A. Bridges, was the outstanding racer of the last Hialeah meeting. The chestnut filly has gone to the post 14 times this year and won 11 races, finished second twice, and third once. She captured the Hialeah Juvenile championship after four other victories at the Miami oval. She won the Aberdeen stakes at Harve de Grace, the Rose Dale stakes at Jamaica, and the Betsy Ross stakes at Suffolk Downs.

Maedic's major triumph was in the Hopeful at Saratoga, which netted the Maemere farm $32,000 and brought his earnings for the year to $51,500.

My favorite Miami operator, Jack Bell, advises you to do your Miami shopping early. They anticipate the biggest winter season in history down yonder. Perhaps the boom of some years back wasn't so far wrong after all.

Long, Large, and Warm Winter
Hundreds of neat little homes, big homes, apartments, and a few hotels are going up in the Greater Miami area. Beach apartment houses are busy sporting requests, and this is only October. There are new accommodations on the beach—hotels, apartments, and private homes—for 8000 more people than could be cared for a year ago.

Schools have a higher percentage of out-of-state students than ever before. College courses have more winter membership requests than any time since 1924-5.

The harbor is cluttered up with big yachts and all the creeks and canals are filled with smaller fry. Dog tracks have so many requests for accommodations that all the greyhounds in the land will be in Miami if they don't watch out.

Football is playing to the biggest crowds in the history of the city. Even the beak busting business is picking up to contribute its share to a long and large and warm winter for Miami.

Retail Sales in South Improved

Retail sales in the Gulf Southwest as reflected by reports from 1,055 independent stores in Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico, increased about 15 percent in dollar volume for September 1936 as compared with September 1935. Without adjustment for the extra working day in September of this year, there was an increase of 20 percent.

This preliminary estimate is based on figures collected by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, in cooperation with the Bureau of Business Research, University of Texas. It covers the larger independent stores, in 21 kinds of business, 8 of which, due to an insufficient number of reports, are included in miscellaneous or group totals.

Without adjustment for the number of working days, the greatest increase was shown for New Mexico where reported sales for 59 stores were 26 percent above September a year ago. The sales of 760 Texas merchants showed a 21 percent increase and 236 firms in Oklahoma recorded a gain of about 12 percent.

Without adjustment either for the number of working days or for seasonal influences, September sales for the three states were 12 1/2 percent higher than for August 1936. There was one more working day in August than in September.

All the kinds of Business represented registered gains from last year. The greatest increase was shown by Lumber, and Building Material Dealers with a 40 percent gain. This was followed by Motor Vehicle Dealers with an increase of 34 percent, other gains ranging down to the 7 percent rise shown in Filling Station sales.

Of the 1,055 firms reporting for September, 743 (70.4) reported an increase over September a year ago;

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

Slain in War For Liberation

SOUTH AMERICA was rising in revolt against Spain early in the 19th century, and Simon Bolivar was its guiding genius. Among his subordinates was Antonio Jose de Sucre, a courageous Venezuelan who had enlisted under Bolivar at the age of 16. Eleven years later he gained his first great victory at Pichincha.

The victory placed him in command of Bolivar's army in Peru, and soon his energy and genius helped bring defeat to Spain. As a result, that part of Peru that became Bolivia elected him its first president.

But the constitution which Bolivar forced upon the new country was too much for Sucre, and he resigned and left the country. Sucre was on his way back to Bolivia, in 1830, seeking to reform its administration, when a band of assassins murdered him. He was only 35 years old. Five years later the capital of Bolivia adopted the name of Sucre in his honor.

SIGHT CRAMPS THIEVES
BUFFALOR, N. Y. (U.P.)—Three near sighted burglars stole some much needed spectacles from the DeMart Optical Co. After apparently testing their eyes on a machine, they escaped with the spectacles and a dollars worth of dimes. Presumably because of their poor eyesight, they overlooked valuable lenses and gold mountings valued at $3,000 and $100 in cash.

The Whisky Rebellion of 1794 was the climax to the first instance of bootlegging in the United States.

From The Bunker

Golf, golf, golf. It has been a long time since Midland has had a Big Time golf tournament. The Midland golfers have been going all over West Texas playing in tournaments, and have quite well upheld the name of the town. In every tournament, there are Midland golfers bringing home the trophies.

On Oct. 31st and Nov. 1st, the people of Midland are going to see Midland golfers pitted against the best this entire West Texas area can offer. The outstanding golfers in tournaments all over the western plains will be here in Midland to compete for the many prizes offered in not less than five or six flights.

A special invitation is being sent to Eddie Morgan, winner of the Big Spring County Club Tournament, Jones the runner-up and about the best 1 golfer of Big Spring. Obie Bristow may be invited to auction off the player in the Calcutta Pool, his name has been mentioned as the best auctioneer in the vicinity. Obie is a top golfer and will add to the very fast field, as will Shirley Robbins and many others from there.

An invitation will be sent to the Lubbock golfers, such as Joe Dick Slaughter and his Lubbock sharpshooters, a special invitation is being sent to Derrill Lehman, a probable favorite here if he comes and the top golfer of Abilene. There is little doubt that Morgan Neal of Odessa will be on hand, along with the best of the Odessa golfers. Long shooting Poe Woodard and all the Stanton bunch will more than likely enter our tournament, as will the Lamesa, Fort Stockton, Iraan, Texon, McCamey, Pecos and golfers representing every town in a radius of 100 miles or more in each direction.

When you gather 100 golfers competing for prizes, you will have the opportunity of seeing as perfect golf here in Midland as will be seen anywhere in Tournament play. The top 16 players in the Championship Flight, will be golfers all able to beat par wide open, and since the tournament is a one day affair and the playing will be in foursomes, the match play will be exceptionally keen competition. Instead of being matched against a single opponent, each player will be matched against three in the same foursome. Picture in your mind a foursome composed of Eddie Morgan, Morgan Neal, Forgeron and Derrill Lehman. They all shoot sub par golf most of the time, and a slip will eliminate any one of the contestants. Picture a foursome composed of Doug Jones, Pat Riley, Joe Dick Slaughter and Johnnie Marston of San Angelo, we have made a special invitation for all the top San Angelo golfers. There are literally dozens of combinations for foursomes with each playing for top scores against the other three, that would make a spirited match, one well worth watching in progress.

This Midland course is tough, it calls for near perfect golf to beat par. Perhaps the scores will not be so low, but when a low score is registered, the shooter will have made a fine record in his round, because to shoot below par on this Midland course is quite a feat. Every green is well trapped, and the rough is truly rough, but the fairways are in the most perfect condition in their history. They all have well cut and a thick bed of grass, thanks to our many rains this summer. By using an extra green and a couple of extra tees, the ninth hole Midland course is converted into an 18 hole par 72 course that is quite a tough course to par. On qualifying day, it is doubtful if half a dozen of the best golfers in West Texas will be able to shoot par or better. And any golfer shooting a 71 will likely be medalist, and take home the nice prize offered for low medal score among the qualifiers.

Carrying on with our introduction to Midland golfers who have a chance to win a fair chance to win the tournament here, we have mentioned H. S. Forgeron and Pat Riley, we are now going to introduce Johnson. Frank is not so large as the other two, but when his woods and irons are working, he can hit the old golf ball just as far and as straight. Frank has a deadly putter, and is a fine tournament player. He shoots his best golf when the rough is truly rough. Since the tournament in Big Spring, some of the golfers have let up, and Frank is one of them, he has not been playing as regularly as he did before Labor day, but there is plenty of time for Frank to brush up his game, and when he is going good he is hard to beat. Frank has played better than his best golf team for years and he generally pays in the No. 1 or No. 2 position, pitting him against the best in the section and he has managed to hold his own with the best of them, Midland No. 1 and No. 2 golfers on the Midland teams have broken far better than even all season.

These players playing a great deal of golf, but not so constituted that they perfect their games to par or better, will have just as much fun being pitted against players of like ability as the par busters. The south

Snake Catcher Blasts Myths About Rattlers

PIERRE, S. D. (U.P.)—A. M. Jackley, snake expert, says that hunting rattlers is as simple as the A. B. C's—"if you know your business."

The veteran uses a leather noose on the end of a stout stick to pick up snakes and put them in a sack for safekeeping.

Precautions? "Just watch your step," Jackley said, "and don't take too much stock in the wild theories about rattlers. Most of these are utterly groundless."

"For instance the myth about a horsehair rope around a tent being protection against rattlers is foolish. Hundreds of rattlesnakes have been photographed crossing ropes."

Asked about the interbreeding of rattlers and bull snakes the weather-beaten professional snake hunter explains: "Rattlesnakes are born and bull snakes are hatched, so interbreeding is a biological impossibility."

And the much heralded feud between the rattler and the bull snake amounts to nothing, Jackley said. It is true that they sometimes battle to death, he admitted, but this is the exception rather than the rule.

In Japan, only husbands can sue for divorce.

Massachusetts abolished the pillory in 1839.

paw slants of Pat Patterson, the educated slice of Dozier, E. B. Sr., when his slice is not hooking, and the long shots of Young Dozier will vie for prizes. Mobeley, Jack Rettig, Walter Sealey, Doley, Roettger, Rusty Buyers, K. P. Hart and literally dozens and dozens more will enter in the flights graduating down from the Championship 16 in the top flight. There are prizes for all, and as hard fought battles are scrapped for the fifth flight championship boys, with lots more fun for the contestants.

In the recent Handicap Tournament, The Presbyterians and the Baptists squared off, and when two clergy meet, the battle is on. Brother Borum was the favorite, but when the smoke had cleared, there was some question as to whether Brother Coleman, the good Presbyterian had given in quite all his scores, in computing the handicap, as Brother Coleman burned down the fairways with a rollicking 39 in the second round to go so far out in the lead that the Baptists were submerged. Shortly after winning the City Handicap Title, Brother Coleman hung up his trusty clubs and has not been playing much, but Brother Borum has decided that there will never be such a slip-up again, he is out with Wadley and M. D. Johnson fairly regularly. If it were not for the meeting coming on Sunday, Brother Borum would be a man to watch in one of the flights in the early 80's.

Our next introduction will be in the near future. We couldn't pass up an opportunity of getting in a word about Paul Oles, Cap Lyman, Bill Simpson, and Don Sivals, also others. There are perhaps from fifty to one hundred Midland golfers who will likely enter the tournament, and although we will not have time nor space for all, we will get as far as we can.

Talk up the tournament when ever you go places. This Midland tournament looks like it is going to be one of the best yet held out in this section. The various committees are working and under the directorship of Earl Whitcomb, they will likely do their bit. Earl is like that, and a fine man for the job.

Beware The Cough

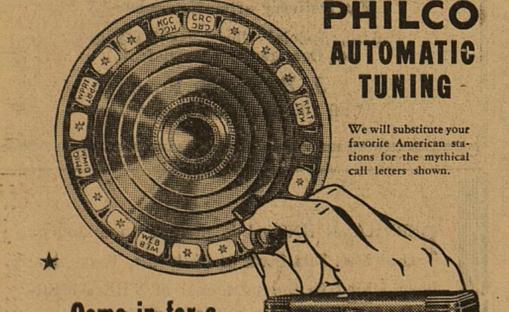

From a common cold That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies, such as Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Wild Cherry and Menthol, but also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations and especially those stubborn ones that start with a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Don't worry through another sleepless night—phone or go get a bottle of Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

Free Barber Service Enjoyed in Alberta

CALGARY, Alta. (U.P.)—Albertans are getting free haircuts, shaves, neck and beard trims, face massages and shampoos. Astonished citizens are being accosted on the streets by eager and somewhat apologetic barbers and offered free service.

The explanation is that Alberta barbers are being examined by government appointed examining boards under the Tradesmen's Qualification Act. The act is designed to regulate the trade in the province and lead eventually to standards of proficiency and also standard charges for tonsorial services. The barbers need "models" to work on. Hence the free service.

continued in volumes substantially above the comparatively high levels of a year ago. Continued improvement in industrial activity, especially the recent increases in automobile production, is favorable to sales of industrial fabrics as well as to consumer buying.

Inquiries for new business for foreign account continued numerous, but purchases were apparently restricted by a scarcity of the medium and higher white grades. Exports increased and were substantially larger than in the corresponding week a year ago. Exports from August 1 to October 23 were 1,346,000 bales against 1,195,000 in the corresponding period a year ago. Exports of 298,000 bales to Great Britain for the season to October 23 were 5 per cent larger than in the corresponding period a year ago and 104 per cent above that for two years ago and recent reports indicate that English mills are fully maintaining their relatively high rate of activity and that sales of yarn and cloth are exceeding mill output. Total exports to the continent of Europe of 619,000 bales to October 23 were 8 and 16 per cent respectively larger than in the corresponding periods a year ago and two years ago. Total exports of 379,000 bales to the Orient to October 23rd were 28 per cent larger than in the corresponding period a year ago, but 13 per cent smaller than two years ago. Most of these exports were to Japan where mill activity and cloth exports have been well sustained at high levels in recent weeks according to reports.

Built In "Gadgets" Striking Note In Autos Offered to 1937 Buyers

Windshield Defroster on Many of Newest Models; Seats Give More Comfort; Rotary Door Lock Ends Rattling

BY NEA Service

So thoroughly have automobile manufacturers done their jobs in designing the 1937 models that there is scant room for the little alterations popularly known as "gadgets."

Gadgets there are, to be sure, but they're the kind that either are built in as parts of the car bodies, or are offered as optional or secondary equipment.

The built-in varieties are in the majority, and they seem to be so necessary to safe and efficient operation of the automobiles that they'll soon become adopted through out the industry.

There's the windshield defroster, for example. Here is something that automobile drivers in Canada and the greater part of the United States have sought for years, only to be provided too often with some half-developed electrical devices that, when they did work properly, wore down the batteries.

USES HOT AIR The kind of defroster that has been built into the bodies of several new cars, and offered as optional equipment on others, carries hot air up from the car heater through a Y-shaped pipe arrangement to both sides of the windshield.

Then, through narrowed slots in the windshield panel, the hot air is forced out in fan shape along the inside of the windshield.

The drawback to this arrangement is that, where there is no heater, there can be no windshield defroster unit. But it should be a simple matter to connect the unit directly to the exhaust manifold with an extra fan arrangement to force through the hot air.

Among the cars providing this device are the Studebaker, Buick,

Hudson engineers this year have placed the automobile battery where it is easily accessible, under the hood, as shown in top photo. Below is shown the new 1937 Studebaker door, which its makers claim a child can close with one finger because of new rotary door locks.

Graham, Dodge, Hudson and Terraplane, Nash and LaFayette, and Pontiac.

LESS BACK STRAIN

Another improvement designed for the comfort of the short driver, especially the woman, is that which tips the back of the front seat slightly forward and more in a vertical line, as the seat itself is being moved forward.

Of course, instrument panels have had to be changed, with the change in interior design. Most new panels have been set flush with the dash, to eliminate the accident hazard of protruding instruments. And each company has tried to surpass the other in beauty of design.

This really new feature, about all these panels is the adoption of electric indicators--either red, or glow, lights; or actual flash signs that tell the driver when his upper headlight beam is on, when the generator is not supplying current to the battery, or when the oil pressure falls.

STOPS RATTLES

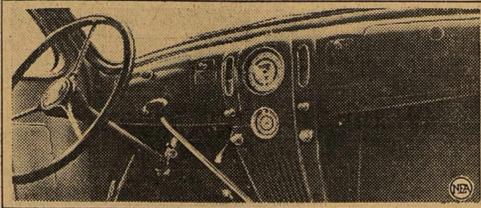

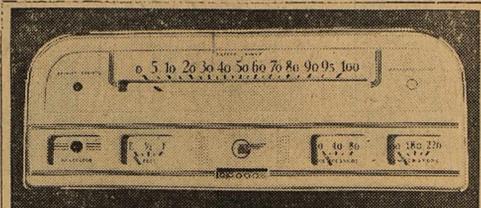

Studebaker has pioneered with an improvement that probably soon will be seen on all other cars. That is the rotary door lock, a device which "shakes shut," and which eliminates rattles in the doors. Another valuable feature is that the device automatically takes up the wear so that rattles at this point are eliminated throughout the life of the car.

Most manufacturers have added a third light in the rear, this being in the center of the trunk. Here the license plate is placed, and in some cases the third light is made so that it can throw light into the trunk compartment when it is opened.

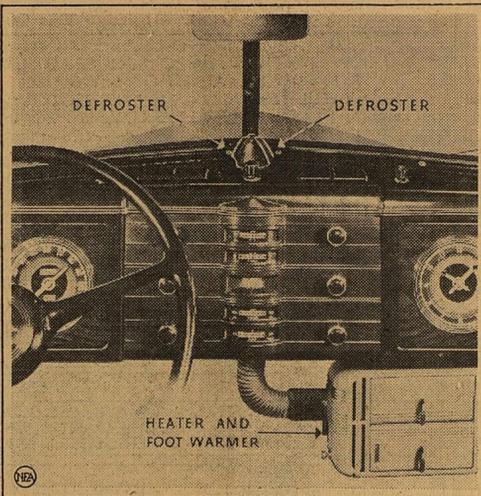

The "electric hand" is continued as optional equipment on the Hudson and Terraplane, and Hudson has added a selective automatic shift in connection with the "electric hand."

ANTI-BRUISE PROTECTION

Hudson and Terraplane also have moved the battery from underneath the floor board to a place alongside the left front fender, under the

Here are two of the striking new instrument panels of 1937 models. At top is the Pontiac panel, chromium louver. Its chief feature is the large and easily visible speedometer. Lower photo shows a Lincoln Zephyr panel with its enclosed grille designed to screen installation of a car heater and radio.

This is the distinctive new instrument panel and three-purpose heater of the 1937 custom Supercharger Graham car. Instrument numerals are etched on glass and "edge lighted." Note the departure from panel designs in this board.

400 YEARS AHEAD OF HIS TIME

MORE than 400 years ago a famous Dutch scholar proposed for world peace what only recently was attempted with sorry results--the League of Nations and the World Court.

The man was Desiderius Erasmus, great humanist, teacher and philosopher.

Monks would buy his picture merely for the pleasure of spitting upon it, and he was placed upon the Catholic Church's "Index of Prohibited Authors" because he dared to criticize the church.

Erasmus was born at Rotterdam in 1467. Educated in the school of Holland, and trained by travel through England and Europe, he became one of the most widely read scholars of his time. He was a modernist, a progressive thinker, and a profound Latin and Greek scholar. In his later years he retired to Basel, Switzerland, where he wrote much of his great works. He died there in 1536, at the age of 69.
