ROOSEVELT CITES 'GOOD NEIGHBOR' POLICY OF NATION

Advocates Party As One to Maintain World Peace

ON TO CHICAGO

Knox's Home Town To Hear President Tonight

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 14. (P)—President Roosevelt, dedicating a world war memorial site here today, said "we had best honor the memory of those dead by striving for peace that terror of days of war will be with us no more."

The president recounted what "we have done during the last three years to promote recovery at home, extend the hand of a good neighbor to the nations of the world and to break down barriers to commerce which divide nation from nation promoting the course of peace throughout the world."

He will make a major address in Chicago tonight, carrying his campaign for reelection into Illinois.

He said "America has lost a good many things during the depression. Some of them needed to go and I am glad that they have gone. We have lost that false sense of values that puts financial success above every kind of achievement. We have lost a little of our cocksureness, a little of the bumptiousness which the Pharisee had when he thanked God that he was not as other people."

OUTSIDERS TO BE EXCLUDED FROM AUSTIN HEARING

Committee to Hear All Testimony In Secret

AUSTIN, Oct. 14. (P)—Outsiders are likely to be excluded from the remaining sessions of the legislative committee investigating the teaching of communism in state-supported schools, it was reported today.

A committee member said that loud applause at the hearing last night when Dr. R. H. Montgomery, University of Texas professor, central figure in the investigation so far, scored points and interrupted work.

Dr. Montgomery emphasized his belief in democratic institutions and said he did not believe in abolition of private ownership.

A crowd, estimated by officials to be in excess of 6,000 persons, last night crowded into the huge tent of the Cole Bros. and Clyde Beatty circus on its visit here.

LUZON ISLAND'S DEATH LIST 193

654 Persons Are Missing And Hundreds Are Left Homeless

MANILA, Oct. 14. (P)—Casualties in Luzon Island's three-day typhoon stood officially Tuesday night at 193 dead and 654 missing. The number of homeless persons in Nueva Ecija Province, where the storm hit hardest, was estimated at 20,000. Relief authorities feared disease epidemics would develop.

Unofficial reports indicated the death list probably would reach 400. Many of the missing apparently perished.

Every relief agency in the stricken region, centering about 100 miles north of Manila, went into action. Major Gen. Paulino Santos, Philippine army chief of staff, surveyed the flooded Pampanga River Valley by air and said it resembles a broad sea. A Pampanga River dike broke Tuesday. Ten persons drowned and fifty houses were destroyed.

All towns and villages in the valley were inundated. In some places the flood water was twenty feet deep. Nearly all crops and livestock in the flooded area were destroyed.

Flood waters, rising as the result of terrific rain brought by the typhoon, offered the main disease threat. They ran through a narrow but well-populated valley south of Cabanatuan provincial capital.

Relief workers called the typhoon the worst in modern Philippine history.

Grand Rapids to Hear Landon Address Tonight

FORD BACKS HIM

Says Country Tired Of New Deal, Ready To Drop It

ABOARD LANDON TRAIN ENROUTE TO GRAND RAPIDS, Oct. 14. (P)—Governor Alf Landon, whose presidential campaign received the endorsement of Henry Ford during his Detroit stay, was on a tour of Michigan today going to Grand Rapids for a major address tonight. He will make five stops on the tour today. He will be the guest of Senator Arthur Vandenberg in Grand Rapids.

Ford said: "I am not criticizing the new deal, only saying that we have had enough of it, had about all of it that the country can stand."

Landon said that the new deal was a "threat to the American form of government."

Landon said unfavorable supreme court decisions were mere annoying setbacks in the new deal drive for greater executive power. Even the court, he said, did not escape the gigantic propaganda machine he said the administration used to discredit critics of laws forced through congress without adequate debate and declared unconstitutional.

PROF DENIES HE FAVORS DIVIDING PROPERTY RIGHTS

Number of Witnesses Examined By Probers

AUSTIN, Oct. 14. (P)—Dr. R. H. Montgomery, economics professor in the University of Texas, told a legislative committee investigating charges of communistic teachings in state-supported institutions tonight that he did not believe in the abolition of private ownership of property.

The professor was one of a number of witnesses interrogated by the committee of the house of representatives before a big audience which included Governor James V. Allred, members of the legislature now in special session and students and faculty members of the school.

With Charles A. Timm, associated professor of government and Otto Mullinax, a student, Dr. Montgomery was subpoenaed to give testimony before the committee.

"Do you believe in the abolition of private ownership of property?" asked Rep. Joe Caldwell of Asherton, committee chairman and author of the investigation resolution.

"I certainly do not," Montgomery said.

"Well, do you believe in the profit system?" Caldwell queried.

The audience applauded when the professor replied: "I most certainly do. There is no greater advocate of it in the country. I would like to see it extended to 100,000,000 people."

Other witnesses included Herman Wright, former student of the university and secretary of the progressive democrats of Texas; Van M. Kennedy of Austin, press correspondent and secretary of the democratic state executive committee, and Everett L. Looney of Austin, executive committee member and counsel for Wright.

PLANS FOR FINAL ATTACK MADE BY MADRID LEADERS

Insurgents Declare 3-Mile Advance Is Made

GIVE ULTIMATUM

Russia Demands All Intervention Be Halted

By Associated Press Madrid militiamen pounded back today at San Martin, newest Fascist-won objective in the march on the capital, while Russia demanded Europe act speedily to isolate the Spanish war.

The government prepared for a final attack and announced they had already penetrated to a strategic point. Insurgents declared, however, Madrid forces had been pushed back three miles.

A second note from Moscow to the international non-intervention committee was described as a virtual ultimatum. Previously the Soviet had threatened to repudiate the neutrality agreement unless alleged German, Italian and Portuguese assistance to the Spanish insurgents ceased.

In addition to San Martin, the towns of Cebreros, El Tiembol and El Hoyo were bombarded and then attacked by infantry.

The loyalist commander at Navas del Rey said rebel casualties were heaviest in the San Martin sector and that capture of the town was a virtual certainty. When San Martin is captured the loyalists may be expected to press northward on the Madrid-Navalperal road and mop up the other three towns attacked Tuesday but still held by rebels.

RUSSIAN DEMANDS AIRED IN LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 14. (P)—The Soviet ambassador, in a personal visit to the British foreign office, demanded today that the international neutrality committee be summoned this week to act on Moscow's charges of Fascist violation in the "hands off Spain" accord, informed sources said.

Ivan Maisky, Soviet ambassador, personally assumed charges of Russia's case against Italy, Germany and Portugal, which are accused of sending military aid to Spanish insurgents.

From Moscow came word Russia had demanded the establishment of a virtual blockade of Portugal by British and French navies to halt arms supplies to insurgents.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—When President Roosevelt refers to the election as "in the bag," that's what he believes.

The president's unquenchable optimism is so pronounced among his characteristics that his self-assurance is hardly to be recommended as a tip to gamblers. It does, however, provide the key to one of the chief phases of New Deal campaign strategy as laid down by F. D. R. himself.

He has insisted that Democrats must not embark on a slambang, bitter, harsh-tongued attack. Some of his advisers have argued heatedly with him about this, stressing the need of their own personal desire to "take the hide off" Governor Landon and other opposition leaders.

But Roosevelt, confident that he can afford to avoid that sort of thing, insists that he is most of all desirous of having as little bad feeling in the country after the election as is possible.

The president — and this goes for many other New Dealers — is said to fear that the nation must sooner or later face the menace of Fascism. The more bitterness and class hatred now stirred up, he is reported to feel, the harder it will be to combat that threat. The president gets the jitters before election day — and some of his best friends think he is much too confident — he probably will let the boys take off their wraps. For the present he holds that only the more "glaring" examples of opposition propaganda should be answered.

Among the barb-tongued gentry who have been severely curbed by this policy are Secretary Tokes, Harry Hopkins of WPA, Gen. Hugh Johnson, and Senators Lou Schwelb and Burt Wheeler of Montana.

"American Way" Is Old Cry Political researchers have found that the expression "the American Way," which is being plugged heavily in this campaign, was first used by Henry Clay as he ran unsuccessfully as the Whig candidate against James K. Polk in 1844.

Gerald K. To Tell "All" Your correspondent gets inside tips even from the camp — or perhaps one should say the tent — of the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, who is campaigning ostensibly for Lemke, but primarily for the future power and glory of the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith.

Gerald's pals whisper that he is going to "tell all" at a mass meeting at the Hippodrome in New York the night of Oct. 20. They say that he has the late Huey Long's secret files and that he will drag therefrom some hot dope concerning Jim Farley, the "real story" of Jimmy Roosevelt's insurance business operations, and other "revelations" of sensational nature.

There's no doubt that the Rev. Mr. Smith will try very hard. But if he produces any new facts which cause more than a tiny ripple in the campaign, he will be surpassing all his previous efforts, which invariably have been on the wild side.

Unless your correspondent has been sadly misled the secret files of the late Huey — the sensational nature of which probably was overrated — passed into the hands of his secretary, Earl Christenberry, and thence into the possession of Mrs. Long.

Guessing on Cabinet Berth Nobody knows yet who will be the next secretary of war, although many are guessing. Three possibilities are General Johnson, Gen. Paul McNutt of Indiana, and Act-

U. S. EXPERIENCES DISADVANTAGES OF INSUFFICIENT PRODUCTION OF THE WORLD'S COTTON CROP TO MAKE PRICE

By Dr. A. B. Cox, Director University of Texas Bureau of Business Research

For the first time in over one hundred years the United States is experiencing the disadvantages of a cotton producing country which does not have sufficient production to dominate world prices. When the United States produced close to 80 percent of the world's cotton, a short crop in this country was compensated for by a corresponding rise in price. Now that the United States is producing only about 40 percent of world cotton, a large part of that disadvantage has been lost and cotton growers now experience all the disadvantages of widely fluctuating income resulting from a short crop and a comparatively low price at the same time.

This year the United States has had a sharp reduction in supply without a corresponding rise in price. On August 8 the estimated crop in the United States was 12,461,000 bales, and the price on New Orleans middling spot cotton closed on that date at 12.42 cents. On September 8, the date of the last Government report, the estimate was reduced 1,361,000 bales to 11,100,000 bales. Moreover, the estimated world supply of American cotton as of September 1 was about 2,500,000 bales less than on September 1 last year, which should normally cause an advance in the price from then to now of about 350 points. On September 8, however, the price of New Orleans spots closed at 12.52 cents.

ing Secretary Harry Woodring of Kansas. But it is easy to cite reasons why none of them will get the job. If Landon is elected, of course, the post will go to a Republican.

Gov. Jim Curley of Massachusetts, Democratic candidate for senator, was in Washington a while ago promoting Gov. Louis Brann of Maine — a defeated Senatorial candidate — for the berth. But one of his representatives later telephoned Woodring, who was then at the American Legion convention in Cleveland, and said that if Woodring would persuade Mayor Bob Greenwood of Fitchburg to withdraw his independent candidacy for senator, Curley would support Woodring for the permanent, full secretaryship. Woodring denies there was any deal, but Greenwood has withdrawn.

General Johnson is believed to desire the job, but most administrationists consider him to be erratic and undependable in his public statements, although admitting he has helped effectively in the campaign.

Governor McNutt could use the secretaryship to keep himself in the public eye pending 1940, but organized labor opposes him and — although one report says Farley has promised him the post — he is not popular in Washington.

of the dollar in 1926, the average value of lint cotton produced in Texas during the three pre-depression years was about $434,000,000. The 1932-33 value, about $220,000,000, and the 1935-36 value, about $200,000,000. When cotton benefit payments are added to the lint cotton income, the total buying power is raised to about $238,000,000.

The significance of the above figures to Texas becomes all the more impressive when it is realized that 88.1 percent of the gainfully employed workers in Texas in 1930 were in agriculture, and that on an average about 56 percent of agricultural cash income in Texas comes from cotton and cotton seed, which constitutes nearly 80 percent of the cash income from crops of all kinds.

As already suggested, a portion of the loss in cash income from cotton and other farm enterprises has been made up by the Federal subsidy payments of various sorts. Since the duration of these subsidies is at best uncertain, the gravity of the situation becomes manifest. In many sections of Texas over 90 percent of the farm cash income comes from cotton.

Indicated supplies of cotton in the United States September 1 were 15,775,000 bales, compared with 17,986,000 bales on this date last year. The supplies this year were the lowest since 1927, when the supply was 15,925,000 bales. The price in 1927 was 22.50 cents, compared with 12 cents now. World supplies of American cotton amount to only about 17,500,000 bales.

According to the average of the past seven years, a change of 100,000 bales in the supply of American cotton in the United States and of American cotton in European ports and afloat to Europe causes a change of about 20 points in the index price. If this ratio should hold true now, the decline in these items of 2,162,000 bales should cause the index price of New Orleans middling spot to advance about 40 points. When this index price is adjusted to current price levels and the spinner's margin, the indicated price for New Orleans middling spot cotton is about 16.20 cents.

When the calculation is based on percentage changes, the calculated price is 14.13 cents. Worked out on the basis of the total world supply of American cotton, the indicated price is 12.87 cents. If the world supply of all cotton is taken into account, the indicated price advance is negligible because indicated world production this year is about equal to last year's record consumption of about 27,250,000 bales. These figures represent most strikingly the effects of increased foreign cotton production and other outside factors on the price of American cotton.

Spinners ratio margin on American cotton, based on the price of 32's twist yarn in Manchester and the price of middling 7/8 inch cotton in Liverpool, was 178 in August, compared with 157.5 in July and 161 in August last year. The average pence margin for August was $4.84, compared with 4.25¢ in July and 4.01¢ in August last year. These figures indicate a strong demand for cotton.

Birth Rate Showing Decline in America

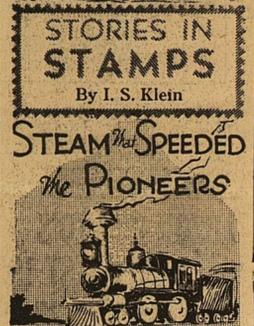

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The American birth rate is still declining, according to statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, who declare that the drop to 16.8 births per 1,000 population in 1935 — nearly the lowest point on record — indicates that the rather marked gain, which had been registered in 1934, was only a temporary improvement, and that the threat of an ultimately declining population has not been averted. During the current decade the birth rate in this country has declined 11.1 per cent, while the drop of 15.5 per cent for Canada is even greater.

In 1934, the statisticians explain, the American birth rate rose for the first time in ten years and reached 17.1 per 1,000, as compared with 16.6 in 1933, the lowest birth rate ever registered for the United States.

"Each of 33 states and the District of Columbia, comprising 59 per cent of the country's population, showed a fall in the birth rate," the statisticians say. "This group included every state, with two exceptions, in New England and in the Middle Atlantic, the West North Central and the West South Central divisions. Six states, comprising 20 per cent of the population, recorded no change in the birth rate from 1934 to 1935. This leaves nine states, representing 21 per cent of the population, which registered increases. Three of these — Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin — were in the east north central division. Three others — Arizona, Colorado, and Montana — were in the mountain division. The remaining three — show rises were California, Florida, and Mississippi.

"The per cent decline of the birth rate in Canada has been even more marked than in the United States during the current decade, namely, 15.5 per cent as compared with our 11.1 per cent. Also, our one exceptional year, 1934, which showed a rise, has no counterpart in Canada, where the fall has been uninterrupted since 1930. On the other hand, it is true that Canada still has a somewhat higher birth rate than the United States, and can better afford the declines which it has experienced. Its birth rate in 1935 was 20.2 per 1,000 as against our 16.8."

STORIES IN STAMPS By I. S. Klein STEAM AND SPEEDED THE PIONEERS

It took some time, after James Watt had discovered the principle of the steam engine, and Robert Fulton had invented the steamboat, to convince people that steam could replace the horse for transportation. John Stevens had to show them that cars on rails would not jump off the tracks when they rounded curves, and Peter Cooper, in 1830, surprised the country when his "Tom Thumb" pulled a car for 14 miles out of Baltimore at the lively speed of 15 miles an hour.

But that began a remarkable growth in railroad building. Within 14 years there were almost 3000 miles of railroad in the United States. By the time of the Civil War the railroad had supplanted the canal as a means of transportation and some 20,000 more miles of track had been added. The lines stretched as far west as St. Joseph, Mo.

Those monkey jockeys were pretty good race riders, out at the circus, but likely as not none of them has lost the (*) bug.

Editor J. C. Estaback of the Donley County Leader, guest columnist for Old Tack in the Amarillo Globe, gave a treatise on early day cowpunching, devoting a part of his column to the manly art of bronc peeling. He inferred that all of his treatise dealt with something which has long since gone. But, if he will look around this part of the country, there are still some of the bronc riders who do it the hard way. Here's his comment, or at least a part of it:

As a cowpuncher, he roped the wildest horses on the range, saddled him single-handed and rode him. A cowpuncher refused to do anything that could not be done on a horse, except cook. Every man could cook sour dough bread, fry meat, boil beans and coffee.

MIDLAND WINS EXECUTIVES' APPROVAL OF CONTESTED GAME

UNANIMOUS VOTE GIVES DECISION TO MIDLAND CLUB Clean Slate of Team Is Maintained By Ruling

BY BILL COLLYNS

Midland high school was awarded a unanimous decision by the district executive committee in Odessa yesterday afternoon in the court room tilt advanced by Pecos high school officials who sought a reversal of the decision awarded Midland following the 7-7 tie game played between the Midland and Pecos football teams here on the evening of October 2. Immediately following the game, the Midland Bulldogs had been declared the Press reports today stated that Henry Blackwell, superintendent of Pecos schools, had issued a formal denial that Pecos protested the Midland game, saying that he had asked only for an interpretation of the rules after both referee and umpire officiating the game said they had not ruled the game in either team's favor.

winner on first downs, 17 to 6, since both clubs were tied on total score, 7 to 7, and on penetrations, 2-2. The decision gave Midland a clean slate in district competition.

However, after considering the decision for several days following the game, the Pecos high officials decided they had grounds for protest of the decision since Pecos should have scored a third penetration when Pecos took charge of the ball after Wafford, punting from behind his own goal line after Pecos had advanced and lost the ball on the Midland 5 yard line, kicked out of bounds on his own 17 yard line. The question was whether or not a team could score 2 penetrations as a result of the ball changing hands twice in the 20-yard marker. Since the Interscholastic League rule covering such a play is rather vague, it was up to the executive committee of this district to decide the winner. The committee decided in favor of Midland.

The rule governing penetrations reads as follows: "In interdistrict elimination contests a team shall receive one point for each time it penetrates its opponent's 20 yard line. In the meaning of this provision, a team has penetrated its opponent's 20 yard line when the ball has been declared dead in its possession inside the opponent's 20 yard line. It is understood that only one penetration may be counted during one continuous possession of the ball."

The Pecos protest was based on the explanation of the rule rather than on the rule itself, while the final decision of the executive committee was decided on the rule itself, rather than the explanation following.

In executive session, the motion which gave the game to Midland was made by Supt. A. E. Lang of Monahans and was seconded by W. C. Glazner of Stanton. The vote was unanimous.

Midland high school officials offered a well prepared and convincing argument, which won the decision for the local Bulldogs. Coach Maurice Baumgarten defined the word penetration and gave his interpretation of the rule in question in a very capable and convincing manner. Principal D. D. Shifflett briefly discussed the spirit of the rule and read the opinion of Roy Henderson, Interscholastic League director. Supt. W. W. Lackey ably concluded Midland's defense with a brief but concise rebuttal.

The Pecos charges were presented by Supt. R. H. Blackwell and Coach Buddy Withers of the Pecos school.

Officials who worked the game in question, Oochie Earl of Odessa, and Thad Steele of Pecos, were present to offer any explanation wanted. Both officials stated they were not familiar with the rule in question and that they had not made a decision favoring Midland following the game, and that neither had they made any decision since that time. Committeemen recognized the fact that the officials had relinquished their rights to make a de-

SMALL SCHOOLS ATTACK LURE OF LARGE COLLEGES

BY TINY THORNHILL

Head Coach, Stanford University STANFORD UNIVERSITY.

Ever since the Praying Colonels of Centre College astounded the football world by defeating fair Harvard back in 1921, the rise of smaller schools on the gridiron has been rapid. Today they are competing on nearly equal terms with recognized powers, and often turn in upsets.

This could not be accomplished without money. The only chance they had of getting revenue was through channels of major athletics, particularly football.

Games played among themselves would not produce sufficient money for the smaller colleges, so they had to schedule a few games with larger institutions. To do this, they had to compete on a somewhat equal basis with major squads, with the result that they went out and obtained the best available coaches who were willing to step in and take a chance on building up good teams.

Then the schools set out to sell the idea of this program to high school students, stressing the idea that the advantages in smaller colleges were greater than in larger universities, in that the former gave them more of a chance for recognition.

On the Pacific coast, and particularly in this area, where we have such schools as University of California, Stanford, St. Mary's, Santa Clara, San Francisco University, and College of the Pacific, you find several instances that bear out this fact.

For a long time the only football that really attracted attention in this neighborhood was played by California and Stanford. Now we find the other four institutions crowding us for popularity and ranking on a par in ability—Santa Clara beat us, 33-0, this season.

"Take St. Mary's, for example. I can remember in 1922 that the Gaels were considered only a warm-up for any of the larger teams on the coast. Slip Madigan started slowly and built his teams to compete against California and Stanford. Finally he came through with victories over both. Today we find his squad one of the most powerful in the country, traveling from coast to coast for big inter-sectional contests every season.

Brones Follow St. Mary's Example

Santa Clara, a natural rival of St. Mary's had to keep in step. Following the example of the Gaels, the Brones revived football, after it had slipped back at their institution. They now rate high on the coast and in the nation.

San Francisco University, a very recent school to step out in the football picture, took the experience of Santa Clara and St. Mary's, and now is a comer that will give all of us trouble very soon.

College of the Pacific was practically unknown of the west coast until it brought the grand Amos Alonzo Stagg from Chicago. He immediately began building a team that has been throwing a scare into all the big boys in this section.

To sum up:

Building good football teams was imperative for smaller schools because it made it possible for their student bodies to have the same physical educational advantages of the larger colleges. In this way, they attracted students who formerly turned to institutions where every advantage was available.

Trucking Group Will Consider Uniform Rates

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Two thousand members of the American Trucking Association are expected to take decided stands toward railroad competition and the problem of regulating rates for long and short hauls when they meet Oct. 19, 20, 21 for their third annual convention.

Ted V. Rodgers, president said the national conference of truck tariff bureaus and the Household Goods carriers division will meet with the A. T. A. for the first time.

Safety legislation and progress, national and state taxation on motor vehicles, and the rising gas tax, and the tendency to divert such state and city revenue to other purposes than for which it is levied also will come up for legislation, Rodgers said.

Speakers will include:

William E. Lee, interstate commerce commissioner, member of motor carriers' division; H. H. Kelly, chief of the section of safety of the bureau of motor carriers, interstate commerce commissioner; H. Markham, director, American petroleum industries committee; William H. Day, chairman, executive committee, national industrial traffic league.

John R. Turney, former chief, traffic section, office of the federal co-ordinator of transportation, and Luther Walter, Chicago, specialist in the transportation field.

They done it with mirrors! Yowzah, they out-Houdinied Houdini, out-Thurstoned Thurston and made an Indian fakir look like a Gypsy faker.

Anytime there is any contest in district committee involving Midland the town is what is put on trial. As the largest town in the district it is a permanent desire among all other schools to hang something on them.

But, sometimes, even a school superintendent will listen to reason. And that is the only reason Midland won their decision over Pecos in the meeting held yesterday in Odessa.

Remember we tried to bet the committee would rule in favor of Pecos. Take a look at the rule and see what your reaction is. The part in black face is the part the Pecos officials underdeserved for consideration in their plea.

Ruggles, Boland In New Comedy Feature

A thoroughly delightful and hilarious comedy of married life, "Wives Never Know," which shows today and tomorrow at the Yucca theatre brings to the local screen that charming and inimitable screen husband and wife, Charlie Ruggles and Mary Boland.

"Wives Never Know" is a story of a happily wedded pair whose romance goes on the rocks when they take the advice of suave Adolphe Menjou, cast as a novelist who believes himself too wise to get married but is free enough with his wild-eyed theories on what constitutes happiness in marriage. He urges the husband to make his wife jealous so that she may know the joy which comes with forgiveness. Always anxious to please, Ruggles takes the advice, getting himself into a series of scrapes and complications that work in a side-splitting climax which ends with the wise one finding himself tricked into the bonds of matrimony.

Ruggles and Miss Boland carry the lead roles in inimitable manner which has endeared them to millions. The cast also includes brunette Vivienne Osborne as the "other girl." This picture marks Miss Osborne's return to films after an absence of two years.

BUYS DODGERS?

Reports are going the rounds that Col. Tillinghast L'Honnemedeu Huston, above, former part owner of the New York Yankees, has purchased the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League. It also is said that Huston, long an admirer of Babe Ruth, will install the Bam as manager of the Flatbush flock. The colonel fronted an offer of $1,500,000 for the club last spring, but it was refused.

State Board Urges Water Conservation

AUSTIN, Tex. —Texas today was urged to conserve all underground and surface water supplies by the Texas Planning Board's water resources committee in a statement of policy made in connection with an exhaustive survey which is being made of the State's water supplies.

Agriculture was asked by the Committee to conserve water through such methods as terracing, contour plowing, strip cropping, rotation of crops, destruction of weeds in pastures, control of livestock grazing, and the retirement to timber of such areas as are best adapted to the growing of timber crops.

The committee also advised the construction of storage dams on all tributaries as well as on the main streams of Texas for the purpose of storing water for every useful purpose, as well as for the prevention of floods and the regulation and control of stream flow.

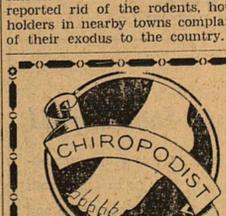

Legislation which will enable the State Board of Water Engineers to exert a positive control over the utilization of underground and surface water, including drainage water in artificially constructed channels, was proposed in the committee's statement of policy.

The State Department of Health was requested to strictly enforce existing regulations against pollution of Texas streams and the cooperation of the Texas State Parks Board and the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission was asked in the development of water recreational areas in the State.

Turning to the threat of future floods, the Committee recommended the construction of a coordinated system of levees in connection with
