CAUSE DAMAGE OF
$750,000 IN WACO

Five Persons Hurt In Accident, One May Die
CAUSE UNKNOWN
Inspectors Seek To Discover Reason For Accident

WACO, Oct. 5. (P)—A terrific explosion which rocked the downtown section of this city early Sunday injured five people, one seriously, and did damage estimated at $750,000. The blast originated in the basement of the nine-story Liberty Bank Building, wrecked offices on six floors of the structure, smashed plate glass windows in three surrounding blocks and started a fire which completely destroyed the stock and fixtures of the Woolworth company next door. Two nearby drug stores were badly damaged. Some looting was reported. The Bauer-McCann store, half a block away, lost a $300 fur coat. Bystanders saw two men and a woman take the merchandise from a show window when the glass shattered. Warren Moore, 65, negro janitor, was critically burned, but may survive. He was alone in the building at 5:20 a. m. when the explosion occurred. Four firemen, New Dickens, Frank Gillette, A. Sullins and Fort Tynes, were burned while fighting the fire but not seriously.

Cause of the explosion has not been determined. Water was being pumped from the basement to facilitate an investigation. Fire Marshal Dan Nicholson gave the estimate of damage which was first thought to be $500,000. Witnesses, of whom there were few because of the hour, said there was a resounding blast and the building seemed to burst apart as glass flew outward in shattered sprays. Clots of fire, probably from liquor bottles in drug store windows, fell into the street and sheets of flame flew from the shaken building.

WEEK IN MIDLAND
STARTED SUNDAY
Schools, Town Will Observe Week In Various Ways

Sunday marked the opening of Fire Prevention Week which will be continued through Saturday 10. The week is being observed in Midland in various ways; school children are making "fire prevention" posters, talks are being presented to clubs by speakers from the Committee of Fire Prevention, and the following is a list of good safety points and fire cautions compiled by Mims and Crane. 1. Keep children and fire safely apart. Children can be taught the dangers of fire. Keep matches out of the way of children. 2. Do not throw away cigars, cigarettes, and matches without first See (Fire Prevention) Page 6

Retail Merchants To Hold Lubbock Meet

LUBBOCK, Texas, Oct. 5.—Several hundred retail merchants from West Texas and Eastern New Mexico and approximately one hundred wholesale representatives will gather in Lubbock, beginning Thursday, October 8, for the thirteenth semi-annual West-Texas-New-Mex Wholesale Clothing Market. Latest styles in men's and women's clothing, ladies' ready-to-wear, millinery, hosiery, shoes, novelties, and miscellaneous items will be displayed. Wholesalers will set up their displays in sample rooms at Hotel Lubbock and Hilton Hotel. The feature events of the market will be presented Friday when Henry W. Stanley, Trade Extension Specialist of the Dallas chamber of commerce, will lecture on selected subjects concerning retail sales, displays and problems confronting the retail merchant. These lectures will be held in the Hotel Lubbock ballroom at 11 a. m. and 4 p. m., and are absolutely free. The Friday program will be climaxed with a fashion revue at 3 o'clock in the senior high school auditorium, where the latest in ready-to-wear, both silk, and cotton; coats, millinery, hosiery and sports wear will be presented. Reservations for sample rooms continue to come in and over 75 different wholesale firms are expected to display their merchandise during the four day period. Reservations have been received from Dallas, San Antonio, Kansas City, St. Louis, Seattle, Washington, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Omaha, Nebr., and Lubbock. Retail merchants, their employees and a few choice customers will be admitted free to the fashion revue.

Arrest 'Spices' Race

Pneumonia Is Fatal To Jesse Strauss In New York
NEW YORK, Oct. 5. (P)—Jesse Strauss, 64, who recently retired as United States Ambassador to France, died Sunday. Pneumonia was given as the immediate cause of death. Straus, who retired from his Paris post in August due to continued ill health against which he long had struggled, died in his New York City apartment. As early as July the strain of his work abroad was manifested when he fainted during a Bastille Day parade in Paris. He was appointed by President Roosevelt in March of 1933, and was succeeded by William C. Bullitt, who had been Ambassador to Russia. Straus' career before entering the diplomatic service had been that of one of the world's greatest merchants. He came out of Harvard university in 1893 to begin as a clerk in the Hanover National Bank here. In 1896 he became connected with R. H. Macy & Company, the department store, and by 1919 was its president, a post he held until accepting the Paris assignment. Surviving are his wife, the former Miss Irma S. Nathan; a daughter, Mrs. Robert L. Levey; two sons, Jack Isidor and Robert Kenneth Straus, all of New York City. Straus was born here June 25, 1872. His parents were Isidor and Ida Blum Straus. His business connections have included banking and insurance concerns.

$1900 STOLEN IN ROBBERY OF TRAIN

Thief Bores Hole in Side Of Car After Making Forced Entry

HOUSTON, Texas, Oct. 5. (P)—The year's savings of twenty-five circus electricians were taken in a spectacular robbery of the Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey circus train between Corpus Christi and Houston early Sunday. With almost unbelievable dexterity, the robber apparently swung on the side of the speeding circus train and bored through the side of a heavy wagon to the money box. A total of $1,900 was taken. "Either an acrobat or a human monkey pulled the job," said Raleigh Davidson, chief electrician and heaviest loser. When the circus train pulled out of Corpus Christi at 1:30 a. m., the money, representing the layover funds of Davidson and twenty-four other electricians, was in a wooden chest in a rear corner of the electricians' supply wagon. During the trip, as circus officials reconstructed the robbery, the robber, carrying a huge brace and bit, located the wagon. Then, while the train sped through the night at sixty miles an hour, he hung on the steel hooks used for racking tent poles and bored through the wagon. He removed a section of paneling a foot and a half square, then reached through and took the money. The robbery was discovered when the train reached Houston.

Howard Residents Bring Motocade To Meet

Today is Big Spring, Rankin, McCamey, Iraan, Crane day at Midland Downs, and the largest delegation of out-of-town visitors of any day heretofore made up a caravan from those cities to attend the races. An estimated crowd of more than 300 persons made the trip from the Howard county capital to the meet. Included in the party were all members of the Big Spring high school band. The band, a colorful array of young musicians, were guests at the fair last fall and made a favorable impression. The caravan was led by Grover C. Dunham, president of the chamber of commerce, who, in cooperation with directors of the meet, gave passes to all the visitors from Big Spring. The motocade left Big Spring at 12:45 and the first members arrived in Midland at about 1:30. Lack of time prevented a parade through the streets of Midland as had been planned. Some of the outstanding races of the entire meet are scheduled today, including one with eight 2-year olds making their first track appearance in the first race. Taking into consideration the fact that Monday is usually expected to be the day of the smallest crowd of the entire meet, officials were more than pleased with the number present at the opening today. Approximately 2,000 persons were estimated to be in attendance. Pari-mutuel windows reported a continued heavy play, insuring pre-empted attendance and one for the entire amount of money going through the windows would be established. Tuesday has been designated Andrews, Seminole, and Lea County, N. M., day. Intensive advertising of the event has been done in those places and it is expected that a big response will be accorded. Wednesday, besides being the day of the feeder calf show, will honor visitors from Fort Worth, El Paso and Amarillo. Good crowds are expected from all towns listed.

Reliable Reports Of War Situation Sought

Conflicting insurgent and government claims today made a question mark of the Madrid sector of the civil war in Spain. The government contended its militiamen took the important junction of Maqueda on the Toledo highway and then fought westward to a point near Santa Olalla. If this is true it would have severed the main line of the insurgent supplies. Insurgents, however, said their southern column had taken Illescas and cut the government supply line to Madrid about 22 miles from Madrid, then marched toward Navalcarnero on the Madrid-Maqueda highway.

Hal Schumacher Pitches Giants to 5-4 Win Over Yankees Ten Innings

'They're Off' to Race Around World

The 'round-the-world' race in which H. R. Ekins and Leo Kieran, newspaper writers, were the original entrants was turned into a three-cornered affair by the last-minute decision of Dorothy Kilgallen, New York reporter, to pit her speed against the men's. Here the rivals are, Ekins at right, on the gang plank of the dirigible Hindenburgh, just before soaring eastward from Lakehurst, N. J. Connecting with the China Clipper for its maiden eastward passenger flight across the Pacific is the basis for the hopes of each to set a new globe-circling record.

MALONE LOSER
Last Frame Double By Moore Leads To Victory

NEW YORK, Oct. 5. (P)—The New York Giants built up a three run lead in the first inning of today's world series game and saw it vanish under an onslaught of New York Yankee hits in later innings, but finally managed to push over a run in the tenth inning to win, 5-4. The Giant hitters, impotent for the last three days, started on Ruffin, Yankee pitcher, in the first inning today and felled three men across the plate before they could be halted. The Yankees kept pecking away at Schumacher, picking up one run in the second on Selkirk's home run, one in the third on a couple of basehits and an error and finally tied the score in the sixth at four-all on two hits, combined with wildness on the part of Schumacher. The Giants got their fourth run in the sixth with the aid of one hit, a sacrifice and an error. Schumacher was as wild as a proverbial March hare, but usually had enough power to get himself out of some tough holes. He walked the bases full in the third inning but bore down and struck out Gehrig and Di Maggio and escaped with only one run being scored off him. Altogether, he walked six, struck out eight. Ruffing started for the Yankees and after the first frame pitched steady ball until the sixth when he once more got into trouble. He was taken out for a pinch hitter in the Yank half of the inning, Malone took the mound and pitched by Terry. The Yankees got one man on in their half of the tenth but Schumacher managed to retire them without a score. Joe Moore of the Giants led off in the tenth with a rousing double to left and after being sacrificed to third by Bartell came home on a long outfield fly to give Maggie by Terry. The Yankees got one man on in their half of the tenth but Schumacher managed to retire them without a score.

Afraid Action Would Delay Passage Of Pension Taxes
AUSTIN, Oct. 5. (P)—Senator Will D. Pace, Tyler, announced today that he would seek to withdraw his resolution proposing an inquiry into the Texas liquor law administration, and said that he was afraid if the inquiry was started that it might delay action on a bill to raise pension money. Another resolution for a liquor board inquiry is still pending in the house. The revenue-taxation committee begins tonight hearings on the tax bills and hopes on conclude by Wednesday.

400 Soldiers Will Make Encampment
In Midland Sunday

Midland will assume a military atmosphere on next Sunday afternoon and evening when approximately 400 soldiers, comprising the 1st Battalion of the 77th Field Artillery, U. S. A., stationed at Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, will spend the night here on a march from Ft. Sill to Carlsbar Cavern. The march will be made in trucks, some 60 vehicles composing the equipment. Captain John F. Fiske of the 77th F. A., who is mapping the route to be followed on the march, was here Sunday making arrangements for the Sunday night stop. He stated that his Battalion would march from Ft. Sill on October 9, spending Saturday night in Sweetwater, Sunday night in Midland and arriving in Carlsbad on Sunday. The soldiers will spend Monday going through Carlsbad Cavern, starting the return march on Tuesday, October 13.

AUTHORIZE NEW CONSTRUCTION

Two-Story Addition To Building Plan Of Baptists
Members of the First Baptist church, in a business meeting Sunday afternoon, authorized the finance committee to begin raising funds toward the construction of a two-story addition to the present building, providing approximately 4,000 square feet of space for Sunday school departments. The church membership previously had voted to remodel and re-finish the interior of the church auditorium, making it more attractive and capable of seating larger crowds. The remodeling project was expected to cost from $4,000 to $6,500, depending on what steps were undertaken by the building committee. The two story addition was estimated to cost approximately $17,500. With new equipment which probably will be bought, the entire program will exceed $25,000, it was expected. Two plans were presented Sunday afternoon by the building committee, one for the two story addition and the other for the first story of a separate educational building to which additional stories could be added later. Plans for both projects were furnished by Architect J. J. Black and were presented by J. O. Nobles, chairman of the building committee. Percy J. Mims is head of the finance committee. Through the church's regular financial program, the building fund already has $4,500 in cash to begin the remodeling program and funds were expected to be received at once in pledges and cash payments to assure the entire project.

Goodman, Moran Return From American Legion Meet in Van Horn
Jas. H. Goodman and Earl J. Moran, Midland delegate to the American Legion district convention held in Van Horn Saturday and Sunday returned home last night. Both men reported a large attendance and a successful convention. Congressman R. E. Thomason, made the trip from Midland to Van Horn with the two men and was one of the speakers of the two-day program. Fred Young, state department adjutant, was another of the speakers. The convention nominated committees to assist San Angelo when the state convention will be held there in 1937. The committees will also put in applications asking that the 1938 convention be held in El Paso. Pecos was unanimously chosen as a site for the spring district convention, the date to be announced later. Goodman, post commander, announced that a membership drive would be started by the Woods W. Lynch post at the next meeting, October 13. New officers of the post will also be elected. Dr. and Mrs. John B. Thomas went to Big Spring today to visit Mrs. Thomas' mother, who is ill.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—A month before election day, leaders in both political camps bubble with more confidence—even in their most secret conferences—than at any previous period in the campaign.

ing them as representing the opposition's most effective issue. He may be expected to give figures comparing the total debt increase with the annual national expenditures for tobacco, cosmetics, chewing gum, and things like that.

They are encouraged by the Maine result and by the Massachusetts and Michigan primary votes. They know they are hurting Roosevelt, with the help of Hearst, by exposing the radicalism of some of his supporters.

The immediate sore spot is the fact that President David Dubinsky of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, which sent funds to the republican-worker forces in Spain, is a Roosevelt elector in New York state on both the Democratic and American Labor Party tickets.

Roosevelt "Building Up"
Roosevelt and his aides have the theory that Landon, despite what they regard as feverish if not panicky campaigning on his part, has been losing ground and that the president, a master campaigner, will gain ground with great strides now that he is beginning to make admittedly political speeches.

Some high Democrats would like to get Dubinsky off the ticket. But it's too late and Roosevelt could hardly afford to risk losing as much labor support as such action might effect.

His recent maneuvers, keeping him constantly in the public eye in a persistent process of "bulldozing," have helped Roosevelt politically. Smart Republicans are aware of that and privately deplore the president's success in establishing himself, to much of the public mind, as possessing gifts of leadership in domestic and international affairs.

These men feel Roosevelt's statement attacking "a certain notorious publisher" was one of the worst blunders of the campaign, because it assured Hearst's subsequent "blast

The Dry Issue Returns

Deep Significance Of Liquor Fight Is Traced

This is the first of three stories telling of the vigorous reworking of the 100-year-old battle over the liquor question, with the results of repeal from both wet and dry points of view.

alcoholic beverage sales." According to this authority, even Massachusetts has 118 closed towns; one-fourth of the people of Missouri live in dry counties, and one-fifth of the people of Minnesota.

Even New York, popularly regarded as the wettest state, has 37 bone-dry towns. Two-thirds of all Texans live in dry counties.

BY WILLIS THORNTON

The "prohibition question" is back again!

The wets who thought the liquor issue was settled in 1933 are just as wrong as the dries who thought it was settled in 1920.

Two thousand delegates attended its latest annual convention in Tulsa, Okla., and many attended a "School of Alcohol Education" to train leaders in the educational fight against alcohol.

Revival of the dry campaign during recent months has been so lusty as to throw a pronounced scare into the liquor and beer industries, and to be a cloud, perhaps no bigger than a man's hand at present—but, anyway, a sure enough cloud—over the political situation.

But the campaign for national prohibition is on again in full swing. The dry organizations which carried their drive to victory in 1920 are all active.

True, the Anti-Saloon League is not the power it was when it was able to put in the hands of the late Wayne B. Wheeler such a persuasive bull-whip. But the Women's Christian Temperance Union is extremely active, and the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition, and Public Morals is in the fight again.

Efficiency Is Increased
Aside from the big increase in optimism on both sides, one of the most noticeable developments of the last few weeks is a tremendous improvement in the efficiency of national Democratic and eastern Republican headquarters in New York and of Republican national headquarters in Chicago. They're all operating in high gear now.

Science is Testing Drug Creating 'Crazy' Effect

LONDON, Oct. 5 (U.P.)—A red Indian drug, Peyoth, used in pagan ceremonies and producing "daymares," is being studied by research workers at the Maudsley hospital.

It is being used by the workers to produce in themselves, and normal people who volunteer for experiments, states of mind found in mental patients. The results already recorded by Dr. Erick Gudgiman in "The Journal of Mental Science" are described as "crazy."

One patient treated with the drug said: "I felt as if my head had been turned to 180 degrees. My abdomen became a soft fluid mass, my face acquired giant dimensions, my lips swelled, my arms became wooden, my feet turned into spirals and scrolls, my jaw was like a hook and my chest seemed to melt away."

Another declared: "To my great surprise I found that I had no head, but in its place, a sheet of ground-glass like a camera screen. I drank a spoonful of soup and looked again at my plate. It had been before me for hundreds of years."

Some patients reported suicidal tendencies.

and crime and gambling." Foremost activity of the W. C. T. U., however, is its educational campaign, for which it plans to raise $1,000,000. This is being carried on in the most widespread manner, and with a streamlined technique which is far ahead of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room."

Tactics Have Changed
Two thousand delegates attended its latest annual convention in Tulsa, Okla., and many attended a "School of Alcohol Education" to train leaders in the educational fight against alcohol.

The attitude of many who are neither rabid wets nor dries was expressed by the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick of New York's Riverside church, when he said, "I am taking it for granted that prohibition was a failure, and that in any such form as we had it it will be a failure. But I am taking it for granted also that any man with eyes in his head must see that the repeal of prohibition did not solve our problem."

NEXT: Three years and more of repeal have built up a huge industry, brought vast revenues to federal and state governments. What is the state of that industry, what are those revenues, and what of the bootlegger?

You couldn't find better races at many places south of the Mason & Dixon and they last only a few days long.

New houses continue to make their appearance over town. To drive around on Sunday afternoons and watch the building progress will convince anyone that Midland is steadily growing into a sizeable little city. And the type of construction tells a big story. These are not shacks, they are homes—built to stay, in a town that is built to last.

A lot of folks are going to be hard to find this week, what with it still so early in the month and the grand jury in session too.

The crowds were a little disappointing Saturday at the races, but I'm expecting them to pick up considerably this week when delegations from surrounding towns and cities come in to join the local folks and the visiting cattlemen. Efficiency Is Increased
Aside from the big increase in optimism on both sides, one of the most noticeable developments of the last few weeks is a tremendous improvement in the efficiency of national Democratic and eastern Republican headquarters in New York and of Republican national headquarters in Chicago. They're all operating in high gear now.

Announcement
DUE to rising costs of materials used in beauty work, it has been necessary for the Midland Beauty Shops to study the situation co-operatively. This group, after analyzing the situation carefully, believes that the only solution to the problem is to adopt standard prices in this city. This step is necessary in order to keep up the standard of beauty shop work that has been maintained here for years. The standard prices of work are listed below, together with various shops that have pledged themselves to work co-operatively in this program of giving better service in the face of advancing costs of materials used.

Jr. High P. T. A. To Hold Fall Meeting

On Tuesday afternoon, October 6th, at 3:30, the P. T. A. of Junior High School will hold its first regular meeting of the fall season. All meetings will be held at the Junior High School, will start promptly and last one hour. The meetings will consist of a very brief business session, and any reports of committees will be short and concise.

The program committee will endeavor to have interesting, educational topics presented in a way to appeal to parents and teachers alike, sometimes followed by a panel discussion. These brief talks will be given by people outside the organization.

All teachers and parents are cordially invited to attend, that they may become acquainted, and help solve in a spirit of friendliness any problems that may arise in the school or home life of the students.

Children Keep Eyes On Adult's Actions

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Here is a subject I must handle without gloves. It concerns the child's worry about his parents' moral conduct.

The parents may be the very essence of purity, but if the boy or girl gets it into his or her head that all is not right, according to their puritanical young consciences, we have one of the greatest factors in the world for unexplained conduct.

I am not speaking of immorality in parents, but of the imagined foolishness or indiscretions that the child may pick up and exaggerate from the most infinitesimal causes.

One day a lady called, the next day after a party, and teased her friend about a dinner partner who had been most attentive. The hostess' small daughter was listening, although they thought she was reading a book. For days thereafter the child was unbearable and cross, and no one could make it out. Long later, the man's name came up at dinner and the little girl burst into tears. "Oh, that old, old fool!" she screamed. "I hate him!"

She had never even seen the man. Memory flew swiftly, and her mother sensed the moment of the damage. She asked the man to leave for dinner and bridge. The little girl was presented. The man paid his hostess the most courtly attention, and the father paid his feminine guest some compliments. Little by little the child was drawn into the warmth of the meeting. She was all so natural that she forgot about the silly remarks of the caller. And not one word had been said to her. A denial would only have made things worse.

Child Is Sensitive

But there is a great lesson to be learned from it, I think. Children are more sensitive about their parents than anyone else in the world. Far more sensitive than they are about themselves. They cringe if they think their beloveds are overstepping the bounds of good taste. What must some of them think when their mothers and fathers come in half-seas-over from drink? They suffer and they don't forget. In time they may get accustomed to the idea so that it does not shock, but humiliation is not cured so easily.

True, it is impossible to regulate one's life entirely in conformity with the rigid standards of childhood. But who is responsible for

Valley View Club To Presents Play

The Valley View Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. W. S. Hudson on Thursday, October 1, 1936 in a called meeting to finish a quilt that was started on Tuesday, September 29, 1936.

The quilt is to be sold to raise money for the club. The parts in the play that is to be put on in the near future were assigned and the book distributed. The name of the play is "The Blue Ribbon Pie" and is being produced by special arrangement with the Dramatic Publishing company of Chicago.

The following ladies helped with the quilt: Mmes. G. O. Brunson, H. L. Matteson, V. G. Hudson, C. C. Carpenter, Marion Holder, Lois Lewis, J. D. Bartlett, and the hostess.

open-minded, turn to your kitchen cupboard, make use of what you find there and remember that the results will justify the means.

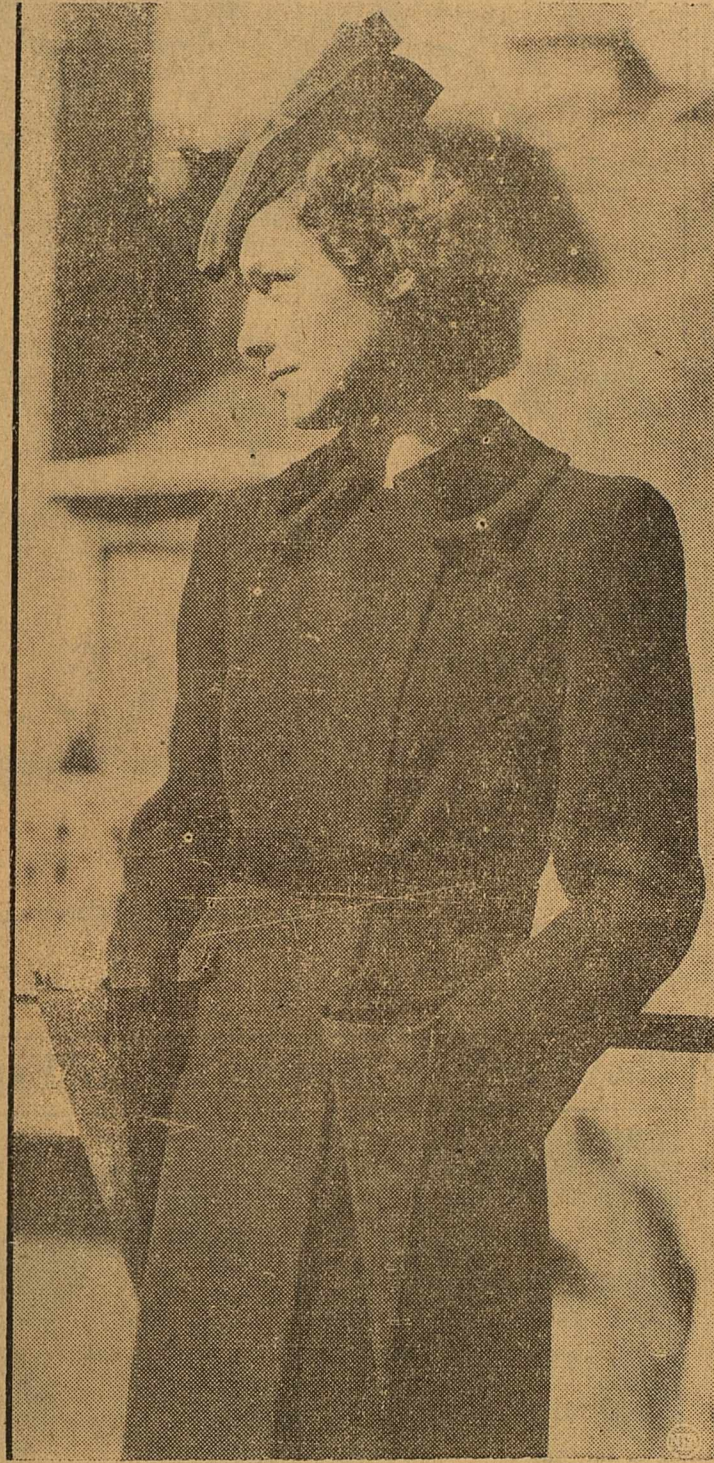

Barbare Pepper, one of Hollywood's prettiest young actresses uses a mask of strained honey once a week. She cleanses her skin carefully, applies the honey from the base of her throat upward to her hairline, then lies down to rest for 20 minutes. Afterward, Barbara removes the mask with lukewarm water, pats on a softening cream and goes to bed.

Jane Hamilton, another picture star, endorses egg masks. She takes one fresh egg, separate the yolk from the white and beats each one until it is frothy and light. Next, Jane cleanses her skin, smoothes on a layer of white, lets it dry, then puts on a layer of yolk, letting it dry. She repeats until all of the egg has been used. She rests for a half an hour, then rinses off the mask with warm water.

Remember, of course, that any mask must be applied on scrupulously clean skin and, unless your complexion is oily, should be followed by an application of cream. Keep in mind, too, that it is a good idea to look as pleasant as possible while you are putting on a mask. Don't frown and don't let the corners of your mouth turn downward.

If you are anxious to get rid of your suntan or slight discoloration on arms, neck and elbows, try a fresh lemon juice lotion three times a week. Simply mix equal parts of lemon juice and water and pat on with a piece of cotton. Cleanse first, of course, and use cream afterward.

Umbrellas Catch Rain

A coat with two umbrellas—neither of them designed to be the least bit helpful in case of rain, is the sensation of Paris' fall season. They are diminutive black silk moire parasols, substitutes for old-fashioned patch or slit pockets. Marcel Rochas got the idea, and put them on tailored coat of heavy black cloth with collar and belt in black velvet. It is pictured worn with Maria Guy's black felt hat, also trimmed with moire.

VOODOO DANCES EXPLAINED
PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 5 (U.P.)—Captain James B. Hardie, U. S. Marines, will argue with anyone who thinks voodoo is a religion and voodoo drums are used as telegraphic instruments. Voodoo ceremonies are Haitian native dances, he says, and the sole use of the drums is to furnish rhythm for the dance.

these high ideals, if not ourselves, who have ingrained them? Are we to be the first to shatter them? I think not. To bear a child means that we cannot wash our hands of duty toward him as far as our own personal indulgence is concerned. Whether we would change it or no, we can not. In time the child adjusts himself to the real world and its deviations, but, while he is a child, his standards will be almost cruelly strict. This should not be forgotten.

GREATEST FINISH UNDER FIRE IN GOLFING HISTORY

Tony Manero came through with a spectacular 282 to win the 1936 National Open Golf Tournament. His digestion stands the strain. As Tony says: "I'll go on record as one who thanks Camels for stimulating digestion. I enjoy food more—and have a feeling of ease afterward when I enjoy Camels with my meals. Camels set me right."

CHAMPION BOWLER. Johnny Murphy says: "Smoking Camels at meals and after works out swell in my case. Camels help my digestion. After a meal and Camels, I really enjoy life."

ALL-AROUND ATHLETE from Texas, Miss Mary Carter says: "Since I've learned how pleasant Camels make my mealtime, I wouldn't be without them. They never get on my nerves."

WHETHER YOU ARE CATCHING A QUICK BITE OR DINING IN STATE—

"FOR DIGESTION'S SAKE ... SMOKE CAMELS!"

Camels increase digestive activity—encourage a sense of well-being!

With healthy nerves and good digestion, you feel on top of the world. When you smoke Camels with your meals and after, Camels help in two special ways: Tension is lessened and Camels promote digestive well-being.

So enjoy Camels between courses and after eating. Strain eases. The flow of digestive fluids, so vital to proper nutrition, is speeded up. Alkalinity is increased. Food tastes more delicious and you get more good from what you eat.

For good cheer—for invigorating "lift"—for matchless taste—and "for digestion's sake"—the answer is Camels. Camels set you right! And they don't get on your nerves.

The SPORTS HORN

BY JESS RODGERS

Giant supporters, pay off. If Hubbell couldn't take the Yanks, your money is gone. But it took a lot of tough breaks to beat him. Had Jackson not erred on Powell's ground ball the Giant infield undoubtedly would have been playing in normal positions when Selkirk was at bat and would have retired him. But it is all in the game, and everyone is to admit that "Poey on Texas" statement.

Scheduled makers for the Bulldogs this year used their head-plenty. They placed a set-up in between the Pecos and Wink engagements.

If you think Wink is going to be easy, study this over. "Wink beat Ft. Stockton, 26-0. Fort Stockton beat Pecos, 7-6. Pecos tied Midland."

No amount of ballyhoo can make a team out of the Big Spring Steers this year. They haven't got it. However, they may manage to beat Cisco. Rain ruined their chances with Eastland.

And look what happened to them. Put all the names in a hat and draw one. That looks like it is as good as any other way of deciding the eventual winner.

This department doesn't claim to be a movie critic; but "The Texas Rangers" really is a swell picture. And Jack Oakie must have been somewhere in the Monahans vicinity area when he made that "Poey on Texas" statement.

Who'll win the Southwest Conference? Our first guess—before the season opened was T. C. U. Tech changed our mind about them. Second choice was A. & M. They were very lucky, indeed, to nose out a 3-0 victory over Hardin-Simmons, a club that Baylor had already defeated. Third choice was Arkansas.

HIGHWAY COMMITTEE MEMBER VOICES OPPOSITION TO LOAN PLAN OF ALLRED

AUSTIN, Oct. 5.—In discussing the recommendation of Governor Allred to transfer highway funds to the Old Age Pension Fund, Jeff D. Stinson, Dallas, chairman of the house committee on highways, presents this viewpoint:

"The plan to appropriate $3,000,000 from the highway fund to pay old age pensions should command close scrutiny, and action should be taken only after deliberate consideration and full reflection on the drastic consequences such diversion would have on the highway program and the state generally. An investigation of the facts surrounding gasoline tax collections and the finances of the highway department shows conclusively this procedure would virtually wreck the road program.

"Diversion would mean that the federal aid program for the next three years would be drastically disrupted with consequent harmful reactions on employment in interrelated lines within the highway industry. Ninety per cent of every dollar expended in highway construction eventually finds its way into the pockets of labor. In this time of stress, when every energy is being exerted to keep labor gainfully employed, it would be especially undesirable and disturbing to do anything that would adversely affect the highway program. Diversion can be followed only by serious consequences.

"The act of congress making the appropriation to the federal bureau of public roads to match state funds in improving highways on the federal aid system provides a severe penalty on states diverting any of their highway revenues. Under this act federal aid could be withdrawn to the extent of one-third of the federal appropriations. This would total approximately $1,500,000 on the 1937 federal aid program of $7,711,000, and about $4,000,000 on the 1938 and 1939 programs, which aggregate about $12,000,000 each. The highway commission now is preparing to submit its 1937 federal aid program and hopes to award the first contracts in November. To take $3,000,000 from the highway fund would force a delay of months in this program since the state would be unable to finance its share and contracts could not be awarded until after the payment of motor vehicle registration fees next spring. In the meantime, scores of projects now under construction will have been completed and thousands of workmen thrown out of employment until the highway department can recover from this loss and refinance its operations. The temporary benefits accruing to the old age pensioners from such a plan would be more than offset by a heavy increase in unemployment among the laboring classes.

"The state highway commission has strained every resource to facilitate the use of federal emergency recovery funds. Much state money has been used to supplement federal and local funds so the communities of Texas could take advantage of every opportunity offered to stimulate employment and improve the road system with meritorious projects. This restriction of funds has contributed largely to the delay on the federal program. It is true that the department has a balance of about $3,000,000, but commission is committed to contractual obligations far in excess of this amount. It was because of these obligations and a decreased working balance that the department delayed inauguration of the 1937 federal aid program.

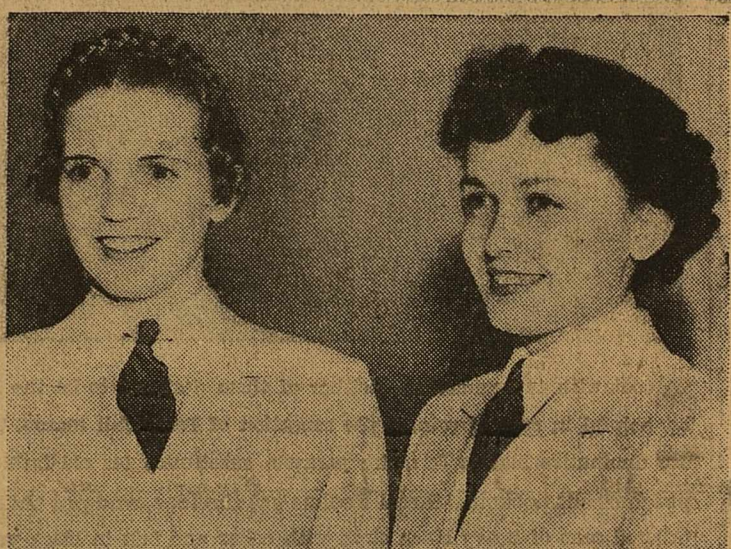

"The department will have a balance of only $2,000,000 by next March if its program is left undisturbed. To take $3,000,000 from the highway funds at this time would force the department on a deficit for the first time in years. The proposed diversion would be extremely undesirable because it would result not only in the withdrawal of a substantial amount of federal aid, but would cause an unwarranted delay in placing even a curtailed federal program under way.

of the highway department each time a new crisis arises? To convert the funds of the highway department is the easy way to get money for the old age assistance fund, but it is not the proper way to secure such funds. There is a surplus in the available school funds, and someone will be trying next to take the money for pensions. Old age assistance is getting to be an enormous burden, and we had as well recognize this fact at this time and prepare to carry the load ourselves. To take money belonging to another department is evading and shirking the responsibility.

"Let us not at the very beginning of the old age assistance program fall to face the cold fact that all governmental expenditures must come from taxes and taxes must be paid ultimately from the savings of those who toil and earn."

MUD ENABLES 'BLUES' TO DEFEAT THE 'NIVADING BLACKS' IN THE ARMY GAMES

HEADQUARTERS, THIRD ARMY, Fort Sam Houston, Oct. 5.—Aided by tenacious Texas mud bogged down mechanized units our forces swept to glorious victory.

Our flanking horse cavalry swept away the enemy mounted organizations as the fifth day of the battle for San Antonio started. Blue horsemen captured four mechanized Black units of brigade tanks, two infantry regiment and a battalion of field artillery for a total of 1400 prisoners.

The second Division joined in the advance moving from the eastern flank deep into enemy territory. Blue air forces were busy meanwhile on bombing missions. They laid waste many enemy supply bases and wrecked line of communication.

Following their forward engagement our cavalry began to close in on the rear in an encircling movement.

Meanwhile the intensity of our assault on the mainline of the foe increased. Black defenses crumbled and indications pointed to their ammunition supply being low.

The exercise was conducted under the direction of Major General Frank Parker, commanding the Third Army and the Eighth Corps Area. Major General George Van Horn Moseley, commander of the Third Army during the exercises; Maj. General Herbert J. Brees, commander of the Eight Corps Area; Brigadier General Robert O. Van Horn the 4th Corps, and Brigadier General Ben Lear commanding the Provisional Cavalry Corps.

All of these officers expressed belief that the exercise had been of great educational value to all concerned. The exercise was hailed as a success by the 500 command and staff officers who participated.

After being pushed back some 8 miles yesterday the Black occupied a strong line at the start of today's engagement. Their line extended from a point 11 miles east of Christine on the west to a point 12 miles southwest of Karnes City on the east.

Our advance, begun at 5:00, was in the face of delaying action by the retreating enemy.

The Blacks had strong trenches protected by barbed wire in front of our VIII Corps positions. The lines in front of our IV Corps were not so strongly fortified. The advance of the latter corps met with slight opposition but poor visibility and soggy ground made progress slow.

The 36th Division was met by heavy machine gun fire and pinned down at the jump off.

Our cavalry found the stream and creeks running bank full and proceeded fearlessly against the mechanized units. As they anticipated they found them bogged in the mire. They surrendered.

However our own mechanized force on our east flank managed to keep on the paved highways and swept down to Goliad from near Kennedy. One platoon advanced to the outskirts of Victoria. Our cavalry on the western flank pressed on into McMullen county before turning to the east.

On the left of our line the 31st Division moved forward rapidly flanked by our cavalry. The 4th Division was unable to overcome the stubborn resistance of the enemy line.

Shortly after noon the Second Division moved into line on the left of the 31st. Flanked by cavalry they made rapid progress to the southwest.

By 3:00 p. m. the whole of the VIII Corps renewed their drive. They were reinforced by the Third Cavalry reserves. Meanwhile the 23rd Cavalry on the west was making rapid progress in its encircling movement.

Dodd Field, near San Antonio, was bombed by the Blacks last night. Major General George Van Horn Moseley, commander of the Third Army, issued a proclamation today warning evacuated residents of the theater of operations from returning to their homes at this time.

Our forward sweep yesterday was made in the face of desperate fighting by the Blacks. Enemy tanks and artillery of all sizes were in action against us. Black airmen also were active against our advance.

With the withdrawal of three divisions of Blacks for service on another front and from other causes the foe which totaled 235,000 when their sweep on San Antonio began had dwindled Sunday. Black casualties through five days of fighting were estimated at 30,000. Their forces available for combat was about 143,000.

Today transports were in the Corpus Christi harbor, base of the Blacks. The Blacks were observed by our aviation entraining the three Black Divisions withdrawn from our front Saturday to aid in operations on the New England front.

The Blue forces total 150,000. At the start of the battle we had 156,000. Battle losses were 16,700 with 10,000 replacements.

The Blacks have lost 75 planes leaving them 556. The Blues have lost 50 planes leaving 352.

The Blacks have 600 pieces of artillery left on their line after 198 were transferred with the retiring divisions. The Blues have 508 pieces of artillery. It is assumed that losses were equal.

The Blacks were still about two to one stronger in machine gun strength, but the Blues were twice as strong as the Black in automatic rifles.

In tanks, after transferring away 72, the Blacks had 168, while the Blues had 132. The Blacks had three to one more combat and armored cars than we did.

The Blacks had about two days ammunition supply while the Blues had sufficient for contemplated operations.

The enemy chemical force totalled seven battalions with 84 mortars. We had one unit equipped with eight mortars.

The battle for San Antonio opened early Wednesday along a 32 mile front some 40 miles below San Antonio with a general attack by the Blacks.

Holding our line from west to east were the 36th, 45th, 4th and 31st Divisions. The 2nd Division was in reserve. Our 23rd and first cavalry Divisions were on our west flank.

During the night our advanced line was withdrawn and our front shortened eight miles, and the 4th Brigade of the 2nd Division was moved into line. The 30th Division from the 4th Corps area moved into reserve position at Stockton.

Airplanes of both sides were active. The Blues bombed enemy docks at Corpus Christi. The Blacks bombed our airdromes at Belton, Bartlett and Waco.

The Black force was made up of ten infantry divisions and one cavalry division.

Thursday the Blacks continued their assault. The Black cavalry on our west flank pushed our cavalry back to the main line of resistance. A heavy assault on the east portion of the line was stopped.

Our forces held their position intact throughout the day. A Blue submarine made a successful attack against a Black convoy in Corpus Christi harbor sinking several ammunition ships in the channel.

Bluearmen bombed and put out of commission Black Airdromes at San Benito, Raymondville, Edinburg and Hidalgo. Black aviators bombed Stinson Field, San Antonio.

Friday the Blacks made their heaviest assault on our lines. Their infantry followed a wave of tanks into a salient occupied by our 45th Division. The enemy also penetrated the lines held by the 36th. After discouraging our forces the tanks withdrew. Our force held fast at the reserve line of resistance. The 18th Field artillery was destroyed. Showers and low visibility aided the foe in shrouding his movements in the early part of the day.

Our VIII Corps then made a successful counter-attack. The Blacks let loose tear gas as they fell back. After dark striking movements started behind the main line of Blacks. Through intercepted radio messages, it was learned that three enemy divisions were withdrawing to aid on another front in another theater of operations. Ammunition shortage also added to the difficulties of the Blacks. The enemy retreated along its entire front. General Moseley at once ordered a general attack for Saturday morning.

Our troops pressed the retiring foe as our airmen bombed the rear echelons and long range artillery centered on the retreating Blacks.

The Blacks morale was low and the forces at the front somewhat disorganized. Saturday night they dug in at the front while continuing movements to the rear echelons. During the night rain fell and the difficulties of the mechanized forces began.

of the soy bean for continued experimentation in the Ford laboratories. Progress in the development of the soy bean as a source of raw material, use of a simplified plant for extraction of oil from the bean, and production of automobile parts from soy bean meal are shown.

Agricultural "over-production," farm and factory interdependence, and future possibilities of farm crop conversion into raw materials are among the subjects treated in the film. Also included is a dramatization of the natural partnership of agriculture and industry, the mutual interests of the farmer and the industrialist being portrayed.

The film's consideration of the problem of farm surplus production accords the belief of Henry Ford that this problem will eventually be solved through the use of farm crops in the world's industries. As an indication of what may lie ahead, the film presents a pictorial summary of that which has already been accomplished by scientific research in the realm of farm crop conversion.

SPEED LAW 78 YEARS OLD... OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 5 (U.P.)—Oakland records, just unearthed, show the city had an anti-speed ordinance 78 years ago. At least one conviction is recorded under it when a justice of the peace in 1858 imposed a $10 fine on a local horseman for "furious driving."

'The Big House' Is Now Showing at Ritz

Life on the "inside" in a great penitentiary is echoed in thrills, sensations, grim episodes, comedy and heart throbs, in "The Big House" Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's much heralded drama of penitentiary life, which is showing today at the Ritz Theatre.

Stark realism and men in the raw, are contrasted with home life and a love romance in the vivid story. There is a great prison riot, with a thousand men quelled by machine guns and army tanks; there is a pathetic story of the friendship of two convicts, and the regeneration of one by love, and the startling spectacle of a boy first offender thrown into the company of hardened criminals until he becomes worse even than they.

Chester Morris, Wallace Beery and Robert Montgomery play the central male roles as three cell mates about whom the riot, hate, and ferocity revolves. Beery enacts a gangster slayer, vicious, yet with a sardonic humor about his characterization; Morris is seen as a forger and crook who eventually finds regeneration in the furnace, and Montgomery does a splendid characterization as the boy, showing the corrosion of a human soul.

Lela Hyams plays the heroine, and is clever as well as beautiful, gaining sympathy from the audience without over-sentimentality.

The most effective scenes are in the prison yard, as a thousand convicts scatter to cover under withering machine gun fire, and riot in the mess hall.

The Great Ziegfeld Coming to The Yucca

Heralded as the "Greatest Show on Earth," with a cast of 205 speaking roles, 200 glorified American Beauties and 5,000 extras topped by the stellar triumvirate of William Powell, Myrna Loy and Luise Rainer, "The Great Ziegfeld," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's giant caravan of entertainment at the Yucca Theatre this week, for five days commencing Friday, October 9th.

In preparing this sensational production whose cast is studded with such luminaries of the stage and film world, as Frank Morgan, Fannie Brice, Virginia Bruce, Reginald Owen, Ray Bolger, Nat Pendleton and Harriet Hoctor, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer duplicated the profligacy of Ziegfeld himself, using sixteen reels and 15,300 feet of film.

Although "The Great Ziegfeld" is not merely another motion picture revue, it has many and elaborate

& S. F. survey, is drilling at 1,340 feet in anhydrite.

Encounters Change

Moore Bros. No. 1 Barnsley, Crane deep wildcat southeast of the Tubbs area, is rumored to have encountered a change in formation and is thought to be going out of the Permian. It is said to have logged a section of red shale, and, at 5,805, is drilling a crystalline gray limestone. Location is in section 43, block 32, public school land.

Gulf No. 2 Waddell, also a deep try, is coring below 6,301 feet in hard gray lime. Loffland Bros. No. 2 Tubbs, new strike indicating production from a new pay horizon 200 feet below the regular Tubbs pay, ran bailer yesterday 500 feet from the top and made a head following the bailer out. There is now 4,000 feet of oil in the hole coming from pay at 4,820-28.

Gaines Wildcat Cleaning Out Cleaning out 200 feet off bottom is in progress today in Landreth No. 1 Kirk, Gaines discovery which was shot late last week. The well made two heads after a shot of 560 quarts from 4,694 to 4,842, then bridged. It is bottomed at 4,850 feet, plugged back from 4,870.

Stanolind No. 1 Dewey Davis extension wildcat northwest of the Landreth well resumed drilling after rigging up standard tools and is now below 4,332 feet. Shows of gas were reported at 3,905 and at 3,020 in Amerada No. 1-A Avenir, Seminole structure test. The gas zones are said to correspond with those logged by the Walsh and Adams wells, a big gasser drilled early this year a short distance northeast of the Amerada well. Drilling had reached 3,062 feet in anhydrite and sand.

Water Shortage

Delayed by a shortage of water, drilling of plug from 5 1/2-inch casing set at 3,070 will not start until today in Fields, Cherry and Finley No. 1 Lum Daugherty, northwest Winkler discovery two miles north of the Leck pool. The well showed for a producer when it drilled broken lime pay from 3,120 to 3,157, but no estimates on its size are possible due to drilling-in with heavy mud.

Sinclair-Prairie No. 1-C Walton, Keyes pool well in Winkler, flowed 1,000 barrels in 24 hours through tubing. It is bottomed at 2,952 and was shot with 110 quarts from 2,785 to 2,841.

Logs Water Increase North of the Foster pool in Ector Sinclair-Prairie No. 1-A Johnson encountered an increase in water from 4,410 to 4,420 and is drilling at 4,430 in lime carrying 3,000 feet of fluid. It is in section 42, block 42, township 1 south, T. & P. survey.

East of Penwell, York & Harper No. 1 R. L. York is drilling at 3,962 feet in lime.

In the Foster pool, Barnsland No. 2 Foster is approaching the pay section as it drills below 3,960 feet in lime.

Stanolind No. 2-B E. F. Cowden, extension test northwest of the Foster pool, recovered tools blown up by gas at 3,975 and is drilling again at 3,983.
