COMPLETE TESTS ON TWO NEW TUBB AREA PRODUCERS

Gulf and Humble Wells Get Big Ratings

By FRANK GARDNER

Final gauges on two wells recently completed in the Tubb area of western Crane county served to further emphasize the importance of the "Tubb pay" as a source of large production.

The larger of the two wells, Gulf Oil Corp. No. 2 Tubb, flowed 1,494 barrels the last four hours on a six hour test, and on this basis was assigned a daily potential of 8,424 barrels. It drilled to a total depth of 4,391 feet and was treated with 5,000 gallons of acid. Natural raising was lower 65 barrels an hour from the Tubb pay topped at 4,315.

The other well, Humble Oil & Refining Co. No. 3 Tubb, flowed 1,280 barrels in six hours after treating with 5,000 gallons of acid to attain a potential of around 5,000 barrels a day. On the last natural test of the well it showed 304 barrels in eight hours. Total depth is 4,410 feet in line.

Gulf No. 2 Waddell, Ordovician test in the area, resumed coring at 6,204 and had reached 6,210 at last reports. Parts of the section showed oil stains. Top of the Simpson, middle Ordovician, was called at 6,003 feet in the test.

Old Mortgage, FHA Systems Compared

Eltor's Note: The following story which compares the old mortgage system with the present Federal Housing Administration plan, is related by R. E. Sikes, field representative of the Federal Housing Administration, who has been at the local Chamber of Commerce office during the past week assisting prospective home owners in solving their problems on house financing. If interested in buying, building or refinancing a home, local residents are urged to contact Mr. Sikes.

The Does bought a house in 1923. They had been wanting one for a long time, and the real estate agent of the suburban development did not have to resort to high-pressure selling to complete the deal.

The price was $10,000. They paid $2,000 in cash and gave two mortgages for the balance; a first mortgage for $6,000 and a second mortgage for the balance, $2,000. The first mortgage bore interest at the rate of 8 per cent. The second mortgage also bore interest at the rate

WORLD PEACE IS ASKED BY LEGION HEAD IN ADDRESS

Disarmament Can't Be Had Under Conditions

PRANKS PLAYED

Cleveland Swarmed By Legionnaires At Convention

CLEVELAND, Sept. 21. (AP) — The national commander of the American Legion, Ray Murphy, pleaded for universal peace, in an address opening the national convention today.

"America will never start a war but cannot disarm in the light of existing conditions," the commander said.

Legionnaires trooping into the city last night had their fun well under way. One group took a position on flag-draped public square and began a desultory bombardment with a toy cannon which made more noise than its size promised.

There was a kindly feeling in the air toward all traffic policemen. Legionnaires gave them their assistance and offered to relieve them permanently at most of the important downtown intersections.

A number of snarled traffic situations developed. The legionnaires blew whistles and somehow straightened these out in unorthodox fashion. It was like Halloween and most of the motorists accepted the delay goodnaturedly.

LOYALISTS FAIL TO HALT REBELS' DRIVE ON MADRID

Government Dead Scattered Over Wide Area

TALVERA, Spain, Sept. 21. (AP) — Government forces failed today to halt the insurgent drive along the Maqueda highway.

Government troops littered the fields as their troops retreated. Thousands were reported killed Sunday when the rebels launched a terrific attack on the poorly equipped, inexperienced militia defending that vital sector.

The rebels claimed a crushing defeat of Madrid's main army with more than 2,500 loyalists killed and many times that number wounded or captured. Loyalist defenders, demoralized, abandoned great quantities of war material which was claimed by rebels.

MADRID, Sept. 21. (AP) — Americans who boarded the United States destroyer Quinley at Alicante said today they were delayed three hours while officials searched the baggage of 45 persons. War Correspondent, Nephew of Local Attorney, Held by Spanish Insurgents

John T. Whitaker, young war correspondent for the New York Herald-Tribune and a nephew of Judge Ed M. Whitaker of Midland, is being held hostage by rebel forces in the Spanish civil war, according to a dispatch received by the Midland man from Chattanooga, old home of the young Whitaker.

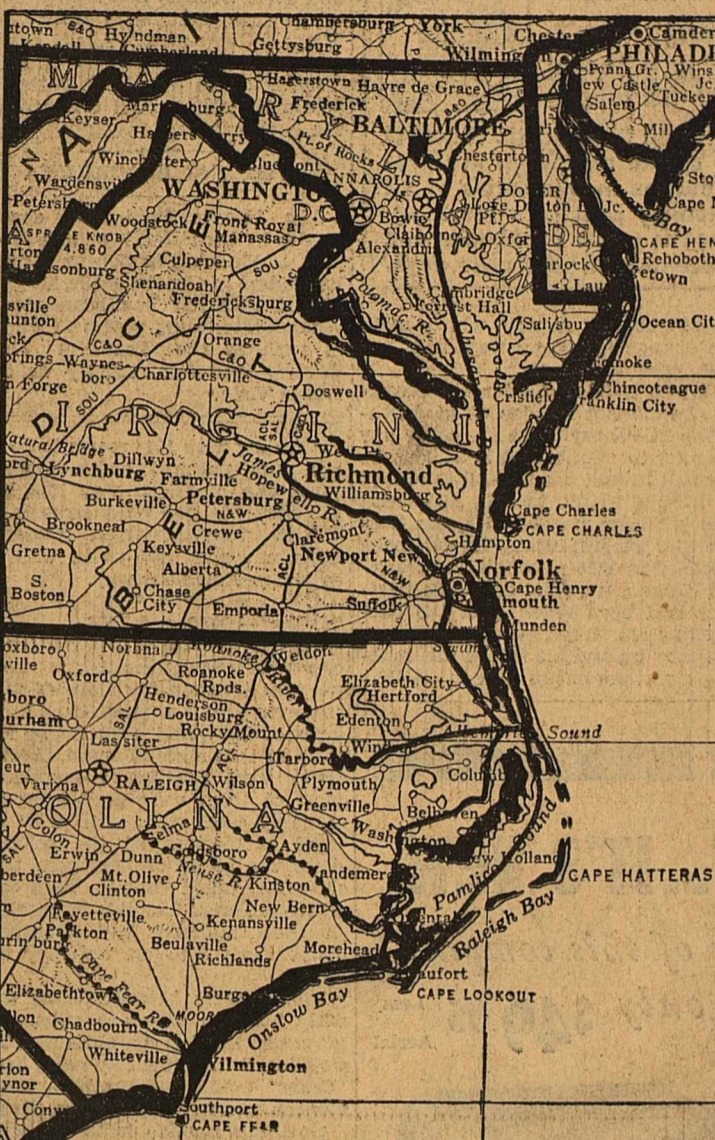

He was one of the three American correspondents detained at Carceres, in the province of Estremadura, southern Spain, on September 15. No news of his release had been obtained by Judge Whitaker.

According to the Chattanooga News, for which John T. Whitaker formerly was a reporter, the Americans are not allowed to communicate with their papers. They are not in immediate danger, however, according to the Herald-Tribune.

Whitaker, on leave from the Herald-Tribune recently, was called from Chattanooga to go to the Spanish war front. At the time of his departure, he laughingly predicted: "I'll be captured this time."

ONLY 2 DEATHS

Coastguards Set Up Rescue Base At Austin Today

SAN SABA, Sept. 21 (AP) — The Colorado river reached a 62-foot stage today as water spread over the San Saba-Lometa bridge area, inundating all houses in its path.

No additional lives were reported lost. Water covered the Bluffton bridge approaches. The 62-foot stage was reported at Red Bluff. Residents of areas along the river had been warned Sunday, by aviators flying low in a radio-equipped plane, to leave the low country.

Two deaths and untold property damage already had resulted from the floods. It was estimated that more than 300 were homeless. Coast guardsmen established a base at Austin as the floods continued toward the state capital.

SHOWERS REPORTED MIDLAND VICINITY

Light showers fell at Midland this morning, while shortly after noon the clouds became heavier and likelihood of rains appeared more imminent.

The country north of Midland, not more than ten miles out, received a good rain Sunday night.

Rain was falling steadily at Midland shortly after noon today, indicating that the total precipitation for the present "wet spell" would soon approach the four inch mark.

Intermittent showers had been added to the 2.98 inches of rain recorded from Thursday night to Friday afternoon. This afternoon's showers were harder but, like those of last week, were without electrical display or wind.

Showers also were reported to have fallen at the airport early this afternoon.

Ranges to the northwest also were reported to have been soaked again. From Lubbock to Seminole, rains fell late Sunday, with portions reported as "very heavy."

Sunshine was scant Sunday, adding to the beneficial effect of the slow rains late last week. It was believed that the maximum of moisture was given to crops and grass from steady rains varying in amounts from two to five and a half inches over the entire Midland country.

Franklin Roosevelt is the first president in the tradition of the American pioneer since Woodrow Wilson. True, the frontier no longer swarms with native Indians. But it is still a frontier where hunger and cold and ruthlessness menace Americans. It is the frontier of a changing economic order. THE SPORTS HORN

By JESS RODGERS. You've heard of a "one-man team" in a private dining room... The Big League boys can give a lot of credit to the officials for keeping the score down as low as it was. They stopped several potential Bulldog scores by inflicting 15 yard penalties at inopportune moments for the locals. The American way, nor the American mind, nor the mind of the true pioneer of either yesterday's or today's frontier. It is the mind of the Tory. The American way, the way of the frontier, new or old, is to go forth and meet difficulties gallantly, to meet them and to beat them of the Kansas prairie or the whether they are scalping Indians equally savage gentlemen of frenzied finance and special privilege who are likewise unmindful, when they shear their victims, whether the scalp comes away with the hair. Roosevelt—"Trail Blazer" Franklin Roosevelt even enlisted his own modern type of Indian scout. When he sought to save Wall Street from the scalpers he sent ahead of him that leader of many a financial war party of the old days, Joseph P. Kennedy. And though he was denounced for it at the time, the very men who are now denouncing him for something else are admitting that the system for controlling the stock markets of the country set up under Joseph P. Kennedy has restored the confidence of the public in this system so vital to our economic life. When he sought to save the farmer from the savages among his ranks he enlisted that trusted chief of farm movements, Henry Wallace. And however politicians may denounce such words as "regimentation," "control," "reduced production," the indisputable fact is that in 1932 the total net profit available for living expenses to the families of six and a half million farmers was $1,460,000,000. In 1935 it was $4,110,000,000—almost quadrupled! Similar examples might be chosen all the way through the business scale from farm to stock market. The indisputable fact remains that at a time when every savage tribe of the new frontier seemed bent on this nation's destruction, Franklin Roosevelt strode out through new paths. He did things. And they worked.

Dear Jess: You have griped for several years for a press box, and justly. And only a few days ago you dropped a terribly strong hint for some floor covering. We were out of Broadloom carpet but had a little linoleum on hand and we spread a piece on the floor for you. It is not such a passionate color but it will at least keep the wings from whistling up your breeches leg and if you happen to drop your typewriter it won't fall through a crack. Give us a full cover-up of all the games and we will forgive you. RAY UPHAM. Thanks a lot, Ray. By glancing at this page Sunday you can tell whether or not you are getting "complete coverage". By clipping most of the stuff that I wrote last week Johnny Smith and Travis Moorman managed to get out a creditable column each this week. The Peecos and Monahans editors should put me on a payroll if these punks can't have any original ideas for their "columns". If I stopped writing this they would be forced to quit their jobs. But the subscribers (if any) of those papers would be without anything interesting to read if I stopped. Maybe I'm wrong. I thought a press box was for representatives of the press?

Field Trip Into Wichita Mountains Of Okla. Planned

Notice has been received here from the Panhandle Geological Society of a field trip to be made through the Wichita mountains of southwestern Oklahoma Sept. 26.

The purpose of this trip is to give Panhandle geologists an opportunity to examine surface exposures of "granite wash", early Paleozoic strata and Pre-Cambrian rocks, the equivalents of which are reached in the sub-surface by wells in the Panhandle field. It is hoped that field studies of these rocks will lead to a clearer understanding of the nature of the Pre-Cambrian surface, and of the character of the "granite wash" and its relation to the granite. The early Paleozoic rocks to be examined are the nearest outcrops of Cambrian and Ordovician strata which are important in deep drilling in the Panhandle.

Those planning to attend will meet at the Howaka Hotel in Hobart, Oklahoma, Friday night, September 25, and the trip will begin at that point Saturday at 8:00 a. m. A stop will be made for luncheon at Medicine Park, where those not able to reach Hobart Saturday morning can join the group at noon. The trip will then return to Hobart, making additional stops at points in the mountains. A dinner will be held in Hobart Saturday night, which will provide opportunity for discussion of various features which will be seen during the day. It is probable that the trip can be continued Sunday morning in case it is so desired by those in attendance.

There will be sufficient room in other cars for those who are not able to provide their own transportation, and requests for such accommodation should be made to Clarence M. Sale, Magnolia Petroleum Company, Oliver-Eagle Building, Amarillo, or to W. D. Henderson, Standard Oil and Gas Company, Pampa, O. A. Seager, Carter Oil Company, Wilson, Oklahoma and Frank Gouin, Duncan, Oklahoma, have consented to give their time as leaders for the trip and have prepared maps. Each of them has spent much time in the area and is thoroughly acquainted with the exposures.

All members of the Society are urged to make the trip, and any other interested geologists are cordially invited.

the bank, as well as every other bank, had to have its money in liquid assets. He suggested that Mr. Does try at some other bank or, perhaps, an insurance company. Mr. Doe did so, but the answer was always the same. Mortgage money simply was not available. The bank started foreclosure proceedings and the house was sold. The selling price was $8500, barely enough to pay off the mortgage and the interest and costs.

Had the national housing act been in existence in 1928, and had the Does taken advantage of it, such a thing would not have occurred. Here is what would have happened: The Does would have arranged the deal as before, so far as it concerned the real estate agent. He would have agreed to pay the $2000 in cash and give a mortgage for the balance, provided he could find a private financial institution that would lend the money and provided the location of the house and the manner of its construction met the safeguards prescribed by the federal administration.

The national housing act permits private financial institutions that have been approved as mortgagees by the federal housing administration to lend up to 80 per cent of the appraised value of residential property intended for occupancy by not more than four families. The limit of such a loan is $16,000. The payments are to be in equal monthly installments throughout the period agreed on between the property owner and that financial institution, which period, as stated before may be any number of years up to 20.

The monthly payments cover various items that accrue with home-ownership. A portion goes to interest. A portion applies on the principal, so that, in the end, the debt is fully paid. A portion (one-half per cent on decreasing balances) goes to the lending institution as a service charge. For handling the account. A portion goes for taxes and fire and other hazard insurance. The balance goes for a highly important item which is new in mortgage procedure. This item is a mortgage insurance premium collected by the lending institution and forwarded to the federal housing administration for the purpose of insuring the mortgage. It amounts to one-half per cent a year on the amount forwarded. By this, a fund is created for safeguarding the financial institution against loss.

The existence of the insurance fund accomplishes two important things. It creates a greater willingness on the part of the financial institution to lend its money for so long a period and in an amount up to 80 per cent of the appraised value of the property. It standardizes mortgages to an extent that they will find a ready sale to other financial institutions and insurance companies in the event the original mortgagee sees fit to sell.

One thing this country never had before was a standard rate of interest for residential mortgages. In some sections of the country they were relatively low, while in others they were as much as 8 per cent. The rates are standardized now in the sense that a maximum is established for mortgages to be insured by the federal housing administration. There is nothing to prevent, of course, the lending of money on a very low rate. The rate for insured mortgages must not be more than 5 per cent.

The period for which the loan is extended is worthy of consideration. general practice in the past limited the terms of mortgages to from three to five years, although there were exceptions, especially among building and loan associations. At the date of expiration the borrower was taking a chance that he would be able to renew the loan. Now the borrower sets out a definite program, the details of which both he and the financial institution advancing the money feel fairly sure he will be able to handle.

The chaotic conditions relating to wholesale mortgage foreclosures developing during the depression from which we are emerging can not occur again with the new system in force. A definite contribution has been made to the cause of safe home ownership in America.
