COCHRAN WELL IS DRILLING AHEAD

Northern Discovery Has 2,500 Feet Of Oil BY FRANK GARDNER Drilling was started yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the south-east corner of the well drilled Honohulu Cascade and Devonian No. 1 E. B. Duggan. There was 800 feet of oil in the hole when operations were resumed at 5:03, and 2500 feet this morning at 5:06, an increase of 1,700 feet in approximately 18 hours.

The Cochran well had been shut down at 5:03 feet for two weeks while 7-inch casing was set and cemented at 4,946. Plug well drilled early this week, and the well was balled and swabbed to bottom with oil rising 1,700 feet in 20 hours. First pay in the No. 1 Duggan was logged at 5:025-28, and oil rose 1,000 feet in nine hours when drilling stopped at 5:038.

The northern discovery is located in the center of labour 13, league 55, Oldham county school land, over 25 miles north of the closest previous production, that of the Honohulu and Cascade No. 1 Bennett in Yoakum.

T. P. No. 1 Bennett, 660 feet from the north and 1,980 feet from the west line of section 678, block D, John H. Gibson survey, Yoakum county, is drilling red beds below 2,246 feet.

The rate at which water was coming in was not reported, but the well will probably be plugged and abandoned. It had small oil shows from 4,012-20, 4,160-65 and 4,175-80. Location is 660 feet from the north and east lines of section 10, block 44, township 3 south, T. & P. survey.

Further south, Continental No. 1 Edwards, located in the southwest corner of section 32, block 44, township 3 south, had drilled to 3,696 feet in lime without change. The only oil show reported was from 3,470-74.

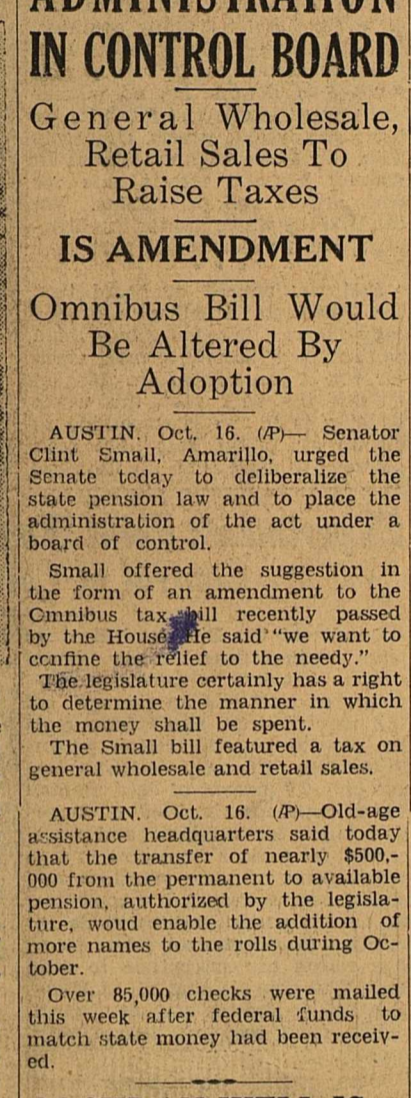

Shiell No. - Elliott Cowden, Ector extension test a half-mile west of the Harper pool, is drilling at 2,668 feet in shale and sand.

A showing of dead oil was encountered at 4,286 feet in the R. H. Henderson et al No. 1 Parker, three-quarters of a mile southwest of production in the Fuhrman pool of Andrews. Drilling continues below that depth.

New Henderson Pool Well In the Henderson pool of Winkler, Sinclair-Prarie No. 2-A Leck gauged a natural flow of 2,113 barrels the first 2 1/2 hours of test through 3/4-inch choke on 2 1/2-inch tubing. It drilled to a total depth of 3,089 and is located 990 feet from the south and 330 feet from the east line of section 33, block 74, public school land.

Of all famous men, Christopher Columbus has been pictured on most stamps of most countries. All, except one, of these countries are in the Western Hemisphere. Spain, the only one of these countries outside the Americas, has issued 35 stamps in Columbus' honor. The first country to remember the great discoverer was Chile, which issued a Columbus stamp in 1853. Since then Chile has brought out nearly 100 different stamps in honor of the explorer. These differences are in values and dates of issue.

Radio Entertainers In New Yucca Film

A dozen big time radio entertainers in addition to a strong line-up of screen and stage talent has been assembled by Paramount to make "The Big Broadcast of 1937" which shows Preview Saturday night, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Yucca, the most lavish production of its kind.

With Jack Benny, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Bob Burns, Martha Raye, Benny Goodman and his Swing Orchestra, and Leopold Stokowski and his Symphony Orchestra heading the list of radio headliners, and Shirley Ross, Ray Miland, Frank Forest, Eleanor Whitney represent the Hollywood "Big Broadcast of 1937" is an all-star attraction whose individual performers have followings running into the millions.

The story is a comic treatment of the broadcasting business. Benny, as station master, has the unenviable job of keeping Gracie Allen, sponsor of an important program happy. He also is responsible for keeping Shirley Ross on the air so that she won't annoy Forest, an orchestra leader. But Miss Ross gets on the air-teaming with Forest, to the good fortune of the audience. She and Ray Miland carry the love interest.

The Town Quack

Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.

Caverns, they had better figure on some place besides Midland. This town is a-humming with building activity. You drive over town this week and you won't know some section when you drive back next week. Buildings down town are being remodeled and overhauled to make room for additional places of business and some of the present concerns are working out extension programs.

I made some reference the other day to entertainment facilities here. It's been a good while since we have bragged about our theatres. It's a well known fact that the Yucca theatre is one of the finest in the southwest. But, on top of that Manager Hodge brings us the best pictures here at a top price of 35 cents, whereas we would pay 40 to 50 cents in many other towns of this section, most of them with theatres far inferior to the Yucca for comfort and beauty.

Our society editor, Kathleen, finally got away this week end on her honeymoon trip. Her husband, Thomas Lee, went along to see the Aggie-TCU game.

Experiments Point Way to Effective Control of Cotton Root Rot Disease

Results of the Blackland Experiment Station near Temple have shown that cotton grown continuously on land had an average of 33.7 percent dead plants from root rot disease whereas cotton grown in the four different rotations average only 7.7 percent of dead plants. These rotations consisted of three and four year rotations and were carried for periods from nine to ten years. Some of these rotations included cowpeas which are considered as not particularly desirable in rotation to control root rot as they like cotton are susceptible to disease. The point is that all of these rotations reduce the amount of dead cotton from root rot disease very greatly.

More recent experiments have shown that the fungus develops small, dormant bodies about the size of turnip seeds which can transmit the disease and that these resting bodies are factors in the spread of the disease in addition to the normal spread by live roots. Experiments have also shown that the growing of non-susceptible crops such as grains and grasses on the land greatly reduce the number of these resting bodies in the soil and tends to reduce the chance of their being a major factor in the spread of the disease. The planting of a grass or grain crop on the land three or four years in succession before planting the land again in cotton, is the best practice known at the present time to control root rot disease.

With these facts in mind, it would seem that we have the essentials for formulating a practical method of control of root rot disease which will accomplish a great deal in reducing the disease. Such a method of control on any particular tract of land infected with root rot must involve the planting of a grass crop such as Sudan, sorghum, oats, wheat, or corn. The grass crop which most nearly occupies the land throughout the year is the most effective crop in combating the root rot disease. There are, of course, some practical issues involved in the extensive use of grass and grain crops in the blacklands where the disease is most severe, the chief issue being that farmers themselves have known for a long time that cotton pays the market today approximately $80.00, nearly the equivalent of a bale and one-half of cotton. Few farmers in the blacklands have the necessary equipment and experience for grazing and finishing cattle on farms, but not much equipment is needed and the necessary experience will be gained without loss if the practice is started in a conservative way by securing only a few head of livestock and caring for them well, and, like any other good business, expanded as the results justify. The main point is the use of livestock is to have some means of converting these non-paying crops such as grass and grains and corn, into values that will approximate the value of cotton and even though the returns with livestock may not be quite so large as from cotton, experiments thus far indicate clearly that the use of such grass and grain crops in the system of farming is imperative if the root rot is to be controlled. Moreover, it is not improbable that a combination of livestock and cotton in the blacklands where root rot is causing its greatest damage will be found very much more profitable and permanent than cotton alone.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. Any more or less comic episode wherein Landon and Roosevelt scrambled to get credit for original espousal of crop insurance has some previously undisclosed background.

You will recall that on Sunday, Sept. 20, Roosevelt appointed a committee to study crop insurance. The next day Landon hastened to announce that he had declined, several days before, to favor crop insurance and, to prove it, gave out two paragraphs of the speech he was to make in Des Moines the following night.

Well, just to show you the way things go, Roosevelt some three weeks previously had decided to come out for crop insurance or for a study of it—in the "fireside talk" he delivered the night of Sept. 6. He changed his mind.

Nearly all the notable New Dealers, it seems, were in on the writing of that talk. Everybody had ideas. At one time the speech was to be mostly about unemployment. At least one "final draft" was torn up and completely replaced.

Bullitt Fights Down Plan

Among the conferees was Ambassador Bill Bullitt—formerly to Russia, now to France. Bullitt talked crop insurance right out of the speech. He argued that it was just another half-baked idea that wouldn't work.

Roosevelt dropped it—for a while. Why he picked it up again isn't certain. Republicans think the Democratic espionage service, which seems to be at least as good as the G. O. P.'s, reported that Landon would endorse it in Des Moines. Or it may be that

Vegetable Casserole Undoes Sunday Meal

A vegetable casserole is ideal for Monday—refreshing, good to look at, easy to prepare.

Use fresh carrots, celery and parsley; canned lima beans, kernel corn and peas. You can buy small-size cans of vegetables for such dishes. The vegetables that are not used can be kept for several days, covered, in a modern refrigerator.

Slice the raw carrots into narrow strips. Cut the raw celery into cubes. Boil each separately in salted water until tender. Drain. Chop enough parsley to make about 2 tablespoons. Open the canned vegetables and drain. Use equal portions of each vegetable, depending on the number to be served.

Smooth Sauce Binder

For the smooth sauce which holds all these vitamin bearers in amiable union, melt 2 tablespoons butter in saucepan. To it add 2 tablespoons flour. Mix to smooth paste and simmer for 3 minutes. Then slowly stir in 2 cups milk. When it begins to thicken, season with salt, pepper, paprika and a dash of lemon juice. Grease a deep baking dish. Place a thin layer of sauce on bottom. Arrange a layer of corn, carrots, peas, celery, lima beans in turn, dusting each layer with a little parsley and covering it with a layer of cream sauce. Finish with a liberal blanket of the rich sauce, and dust the top with finely pulverized bread crumbs. Dot with butter, sprinkle with paprika, and bake in moderate oven for 35 minutes.

Fresh vegetables lighten the effects of too much Sunday feasting. Pumpkin and squash are in season, spinach is green and brussels sprouts and broccoli are ready to bring the promise of gaiety to your menus. It's easy to cook the blues out of Monday.

Drain Off Oil

You need 1 1/2 cups flaked fish. The combination of canned tuna with canned salmon is one of the best. When you have drained off the oil and flake the fish, mix it with 3/4 cup canned peas, 1/2 pimento cut in narrow strips, and 1/8 teaspoon black pepper. Stir in the cooked potatoes, celery and onion.

Grease a 1 1/2 quart heat-resistant glass baking dish. Place in it the fish mixture and over it pour 1/2 cup vegetable stock and 1/2 cup milk, perked up with a few drops lemon juice. Use a fork to blend the liquid and solid into a smooth texture. Dot with bits of butter, using in all 2 tablespoons.

A Fine Kettle Of Fish

When Friday comes, the family will be especially delighted with a Seafood Casserole topped by buoyant biscuits.

Dinner cooked practically all in one dish and fish for Friday—there is a problem in labor economy and menu making.

The answer is as easy as one, two, three—first quality canned fish, a medley of vegetables, and buoyant biscuits keeping everything ship-shape.

Pare and dice enough potatoes to measure 2 1/2 cups. Plunge these into boiling salted water, and add immediately 1 onion, chopped, and 1/4 cup chopped raw celery. Cook until tender, drain. Save the vegetable stock to use later in the recipe.

Bulldogs Go to Crane for Conference Game Tonight

LOCALS FAVORED TO TAKE AFFAIR IN THEIR STRIDE

Overconfidence Is Only Handicap Of Coach

The Midland Bulldogs will make their second appearance of the season away from home tonight when they journey to Crane to take on the light Crane aggregation.

The Bulldogs should have very little trouble in defeating the weak Crane bunch unless they let too much cockiness preclude their play. They really don't have anything to be cocky about just because Kermit rolled over and played "dead doggie" for them.

The Crane season to date has been a complete loss, the team not having been able to make a single tally. But Midland let both Kermit and Big Lake score on them so that should encourage the Crane boys.

The regular Bulldog line-up with Rountree and Lawson at ends, English and Adams at tackles, Mitchell and Cowan at guards, Wimberley at center, Barber and Taylor at halves, Wafford at quarter and Rettig at full will start the game for the Bulldogs tonight but the second squad should get some action before the game is over.

The district committee ruling in Midland's favor over the Pecos game managed to keep the record of the club clear so far and thus heightened interest in the team. Enough so that quite a large number of Midland persons will follow the club over to the oil field city tonight for the game.

Season records for the two clubs show Midland should be an easy winner. A glance at them shows:

Midland 26, Big Lake 6.
Midland 7, Colorado 0.
Midland 7, Pecos 7.
Midland 32, Kermit 6.
Crane 0, McCamey 12.
Crane 0, Ft. Stockton 19.
Crane 0, Monahans 13.
Crane 0, Odessa 37.

The SPORTS HORN

BY JESS RODGERS

Introducing, Fred D. Howe. New pro at the Country Club course, and a fellow who has proven he is mentally as well as physically capable when he bears an ex-resident of Pecos. Dear old Pecos.

Howe is no young sprout by a lot of seasons. In fact, he admits he cannot even hit a golf ball as far as he could when he was younger. Isn't 35 about the age a man starts that kind of talk? Anyway, that won't miss him far.

Along with Ellis Cowden Howe laid out and built the Midland course in 1927. A true character sketch of him can be garnered when it is known that he laid out the course while on a "vacation." For something like ten years he had been busy constructing courses, giving lessons, and taking care of the many other duties of a professional. (And they really don't spend all their time telling some old dodderer what is wrong with his swing for some fabulous amount per word.) But get back to Howe. After about ten years of steady work he finally decided to take a fortnight off work and go someplace where they didn't even know there was such a game as golf. Knowing that Midland didn't even have a course he came out here. But about the first person he saw after he got here was Cowden (they had met at various tournaments) and the first thing he knew he was building another course. By the time it was completed he had another job.

Most of Howe's jobs have been in West Texas and he takes solemn oath that he knows every person that knows the difference between a mashie and a caddie west of Dallas. He learned his golf under Sid Cooper and Scotch pro in Dallas.

And Cooper has a pretty fair name as a teacher, in fact a swell name. He doesn't have to go any further than into the next room to present one of his prize pupils, his son, Harry, known to the golfing enthusiasts as "Light Horse Harry." For several years he has been among the top flight club swingers of the country.

Howe has designed courses all over West Texas and Eastern New Mexico, his pride and joy being the Stamford country club course, conceded one of the "swankiest" in the state. Among others, the Hamlin, Pecos, Wink and Mentone courses were laid out by him.

Right now he is remodeling and overhauling the greens here getting the course in shape for an invitation tournament to be held here late this month. More about it can be found elsewhere on this page. (That is unless the make-up monkey puts it on some other one.)

"Bo" Williams, originator of the Tech to Rose Bowl idea, (he has since seen that idea blow up) informs us that both James and Bob White are on the Picador (Tech-trosh-squad. Both took part in the only game played by the club so far. James is holding down one of the half posts and doing a very good job, indeed. Bob is at end but has failed to impress as well as his big brother.

The good old Humble company will broadcast three Southwest Conference games this Saturday. The A & M-TCU, Texas-Baylor and SMU-Vanderbilt games will be put on the air by them.

Too bad the father and son angle of the Vanderbilt-SMU game is now among the forgotten dreams of publicists. Jack Morrison suffered a fractured ankle in the Fordham game and will be unable to appear against his dad's club.

There should be no danger of Arleigh Bentley, University of Oregon quarterback, getting a swelled head over scoring the tying touchdown against Stanford in the 7-7 battle at Palo Alto; yet maybe there is, for here is Arleigh, head just across the goal line, under the pile after registering the counter, the ball on his face, arm on the ball, and one big Indian's knee on his head.

OPEN TOURNAMENT TO BE HELD AT THE COUNTRY CLUB COURSE OCT. 31-NOV. 1

Announcement was made today by Country Club officials of an open golf tournament to be held on the Country Club course October 31 and November 1.

Invitations are being mailed out today to all West Texas and Eastern New Mexico clubs urging them to send entries to the affair.

Top flight golfers of West Texas are reported to have already indicated they would attend the tournament, many of them being contacted at recent tournaments held in Big Spring and Odessa.

A Calcutta pool sale will be held on the eve of the tourney and spirited bidding is expected to ensue over the purchase of some of the luminaries.

Fred Howe, new professional at the club, has an extensive acquaintance with better known stars of the state and has indicated he can get many of them here for the affair.

Tentative plans call for a dance to be held at the club after the first day's play and a big barbecue lunch on the final day. Prize lists have not been announced but first prize is expected to be a large loving cup. A complete program for the two days will be announced on completion of details.

Budweiser Beer To Be Offered In Cans

Budweiser beer, long famous as a popular brand the world over has been recently offered in cans for the first time to retailers of Midland at retail stores and taverns. Shipments of the new can will be made from St. Louis to distributing points all over the country.

While Anheuser-Busch follows a number of other breweries in placing its products in cans, it does so now with the assurance that use of the "tin" is practical and will in no way jeopardize the company's reputation for fine beer.

Even though it is not the first to use the can, Anheuser-Busch was a leader in experimentation with the can as a possible container for beer on the retail market. As far back as 1927, and through the intervening period, it's engineers have experimented, in conjunction with the American Can Company, but not until very recently was the decision made to use the can—and only after its practicability was demonstrated.

During the near-beer days of prohibition, company engineers advised against the use of the can, declaring it was not suitable for the product. Equipment then, too, was inadequate. The lacquering process was not adaptable, for the beer came in contact with the metal to form iron salts. Anheuser-Busch refused to adopt the can at that time.

Further experimenting continued, on a greater scale after prohibition was repealed and real beer came back. But Budweiser was not the first beer to appear in cans. As other beers were placed on the market in this type of container, Anheuser-Busch officials watched the response and results. Soon it became apparent that the time for can sales had arrived, the method was perfected and safe. Budweiser now sells in cans the same as it does in bottles.

The Budweiser can is aristocratic in appearance. It is of a rich gold color with red and jet trimmings.

He'll have to eat his words

"What's in a name?" scoffed Shakespeare. And then he made his own name the greatest in English literature... because the sublime quality of his writings gave that name a meaning.

You call for a product whose quality lives up to the promise of its name. How else could Budweiser be entitled to your constant choice if its quality were not daily maintained by skill that never wavers? Isn't that why so many people through three generations have chosen Budweiser as a friendly companion?

Cane Firm Forced To Close

LONDON. (U.P.)—A revolution in fashions has forced the 103-year-old firm of Henry Howell & Company, makers of canes of every description "for gentlemen," to close its doors. Men ride in cars today and no longer carry the gold and silver-headed sticks that were part of the costume of Victorian and Edwardian dandies. So the company closed.

WILSON DRY GOODS COMPANY

Article Tells of Accomplishments of Midland Woman

Success of a Midland county woman at feeding her family with home canned goods is described in a story, "Living at Home at the Hundies," by Mrs. Lura Hollingsworth, in the October 15 issue of Farm and Ranch.

Mrs. Hundie, whose canning accomplishments are outlined, is the wife of J. L. Hundie, of the firm of Pliska & Hundie here. The article is reprinted through courtesy of the magazine publishers:

Mrs. J. L. Hundie, who was home food supply demonstrator of North Midland home demonstration club for 1935 was a model home food supply co-operator for 1936.

Mr. and Mrs. Hundie with Raymond, their twelve-year-old son, live on their 100-acre farm, the father working in Midland. Their six-room house has an adequate bath room, front and back porches which make it quite nice. Around this home revolves a model live-at-home program.

In the garden fresh vegetables are grown the year round. Mrs. Hundie says her canned foods only supplement her garden. From the 896 quarts of canned home-grown fruits and vegetables of 1936, she has approximately half left to carry her over into 1937, and of course she canned her surplus again this year. In that way there is always a full cellar in case of unexpected reverses.

Mrs. Hundie's cellar was constructed according to blue print plan No. 62, furnished by the Extension Service of A. and M. College. It is 8 by 10 by 12 feet, and shiplapped throughout. Because of the sand often blowing in this section, the food shelves are enclosed by four doors.

On the opposite side, the shelves are open and are used for curing out garden seed and for storing wire baskets used in curing and keeping onions.

To the five-year-old orchard of fifteen trees, Mrs. Hundie has added thirty-three more 4-foot trees, including twenty-three peach, three pear, two plum, two apricot, and three apple trees.

From their six cows an average of 16 pounds of butter are sold every week during the summer and fall months. The heifers are saved for future dairy cows while the bulls are either sold or are canned at home.

A sow's litter of nine pigs will supply the pork and breeding stock for 1937.

The sixty-five hens produced twelve dozen eggs weekly during the year (with the exception of two months). Mrs. Hundie sold twelve fryers in February and kept eleven for home use. The poultry flock is rather cosmopolitan in its family of eight guineas, two geese, nine ducks, and five turkeys.

Mrs. Hundie plans to start land-scaping her yard this fall.

Chapple Davis is out of town for a few days on business.
