AIDS LOCALLY

Ask Public to Give Quick Response In Campaign

When you leave home for your work in the morning, put an extra dollar on the table so that when the Red Cross solicitors come to your house, your wife can enroll as a member.

Those who will be absent from their regular places of business, or housewives not remaining at home for the morning can materially aid the canvass by leaving their membership subscription with an employee to be given the worker when she calls.

Unless too many return calls are necessary, the major part of the solicitation will be completed in one day and it is hoped that all will cooperate in making the task as light as possible on the more than fifty voluntary workers that will start the canvass at eight-thirty tomorrow morning.

A goal of 700 memberships has been set by the local committee which will be a record Roll Call for the Midland chapter. All but fifty cents of each membership, whether it is for one, five or twenty-five dollars, remains in the local treasury and is spent for relief and assistance in this community.

A Red Cross button is the badge of membership. Don't fail to get a badge tomorrow.

TOLBERT RECOMMENDED FOR LOCAL POSTMASTER FROM ELIGIBLE LIST: APPOINTMENT SOON IS PREDICTED

Allen Tolbert received yesterday from Congressman R. E. Thompson advice that he has been recommended to the Postmaster General for the postmastership at Midland. Tolbert, one of three to be put on the eligible list, was given final recommendation because he made the highest civil service grade, with military preference, the congressman's letter said. Strong endorsement from Midland citizens also was cited as contributing to the final decision.

Although not made as an official appointment, the advice received by Tolbert said that within a few days he should receive his appointment as acting postmaster, with permanent sanction when congress convenes and the senate gives its approval.

Besides Tolbert, on the eligible list, were D. B. Greene and E. F. Bridgewater.

Tolbert formerly was assistant cashier of the First National bank here. Later he was in the hardware business but for several months has been associated with Higginbotham-Bartlett Company's offices here. He served in the world war, and was overseas for several months. He will succeed John P. Howe who was named postmaster during the Hoover administration. Should the appointment as acting postmaster be made soon, Tolbert would be in charge of the moving of the Midland postoffice into the new federal building which will be completed and ready for occupancy early in the year.

Moffett, vice-president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, plunged to his death Sunday from a fourteenth floor Park Avenue apartment. She ran into the bedroom and collapsed. After telling an incoherent story to Detective Charles Watkins, who called the death an accident, she was put to bed under care of a physician.

The 26-year-old broker and his wife had just returned home from visiting friends at about 3 a. m. Taxi drivers and others in the street saw the body strike the sidewalk. Death was instantaneous.

PACKER FAILS ON FOURTH ATTEMPT TO TEST AVERITT

Operators Are Pulling From Gaines Strike

By FRANK GARDNER
Packer failed this morning on the fourth attempt to test Avenida No. 1-A Averitt, Gaines county, by discovery three miles northwest of Seminole, and tubing is being pulled. Since deepening from 5-015 to 5-022 packer failures have prevented tubing tests of the well's possibilities. When bottomed at 5,015, it flowed 2 1-2 barrels of oil hourly through tubing and was believed to have found more pay by deepening. The discovery well is located 660 feet from the north and east lines of section 228, block G, W. T. R. R. survey.

Stanford No. 1 Dewey Davis is plugging to abandon after total depth of 5,012 was corrected to 5-238 by steel-line measurement. The well drilled into sulphur water without logging any important oil showings. Location is 1,980 feet from the south and east lines of section 18, block A-21, public school land.

Three miles west of the No. 1 Davis, Stanford No. 1 J. A. Morrow, wildcat in section 20, block A-24, public school land, is drilling at 1,426 feet in red rock.

Resumes Drilling

Drilling has been resumed in Uscan & Illinois No. 1 Brownfield, southwest Terry wildcat and it is now at 4,664 feet in salt, carrying 4,591 feet of 7-inch o. d. casing. The test is in section 54, block K, public school land. It encountered flowing salt water at 4,615-25.

W. L. Piekens et al. No. 1 Le-wright, southeast Terry wildcat in section 1, block C-37, public school land, has derrick up and will start moving in rotary equipment this week.

The southeast Cochran county discovery, Honolulu, Cascade and Devonian No. 1 E. B. Duggan, has cleaned out to 5,060 and is preparing to run tubing and start potential test. It is bottomed at 5,068, plugged back from 5,098.

Tabb Well Flows

In the Tubb area of western Garza county, American Liberty Oil Company No. 1 Tubb, an old well deepened to 4,419, flowed 100 barrels of oil the first three hours of test, then died. It made 43 barrels the first hour. The well has been acidized with 5,000 gallons. Location is in section 11, block B-27, public school land.

Moore Bros. No. 1 T. C. Barnsley, deep test in the area, is shut down for orders at 6,262 feet, while Gulf No. 2 Waddell, also a deep test, is drilling plug from 7-inch casing cemented at 6,105 feet. Gulf No. 2 McKnight, bottomed at 3,702 in lime, is balling water and oil at 2,200.

Big Keyes Pool Well

In the Keyes pool of Winkler Humble No. 3-C Colby registered the large potential of 1,350 barrels in 24 hours, flowing through tubing. It was shot with 49 quarts from 2,784 to 3,040. Mid-Continent No. 8 Walton flowed 80 barrels the first hour after shooting with 150 quarts from 2,800 to 2,950, the total depth. It logged the first pay sand from 2-See (OIL NEWS) Page 6

The canguard of Fascist troops, first to penetrate Madrid occupied a building in the capital's University City today, gaining the objective after hard fighting. The first of the besiegers crossed the Manzanaras river, not retarded by the government's destruction of the bridge over Los Franceses.

The defenders mobilized labor battalions to construct new fortifications against threats of further drives by the Fascists from the north and west.

FASCIST WARPLANES BOMB CAPITAL

MADRID, Nov. 16 (P)—The largest fleet of Fascist warplanes yet to bomb beleaguered Madrid swept over the city today, killing an undetermined number of persons and demolishing tenement buildings. Scouring residents counted 26 planes in the fleet.

Twelve bombers escorted by 14 pursuit planes appeared from the west at 9:10 a. m. (4:10 a. m. E. S. T.) flying low over the city.

Defying a barrage of anti-aircraft fire, the attackers headed directly for government troop concentrations in University City in the northwest section of Madrid.

The bombers spread their cargo over the whole northwestern section, including Arguelles and Vallehermoso districts.

Six bombers returned in the afternoon and killed and injured many in bombardment of Cuatro Caminos suburb. Most of the projectiles fell in the Avenida de Pablos Iglesias near the evacuated British-American nursing home. Seven were killed and 100 injured in the morning raid. The number of dead in the later attack was not determined immediately.

Two of the attacking planes in the second visit were reported downed by 15 government ships guarding the city.

Reward For The Money He Failed to Find

MIDDLEBORO, Mass., Nov. 16 (P)—A reward for not finding lost money waited a street cleaner here Sunday night.

H. J. Vaughn of near-by North Carver came to Middleboro Saturday to do some shopping.

He lost $35 in bills. Sighing, he returned home but early Sunday mumbled into Middleboro for one last look on its deserted Sunday streets.

Lying in a gutter lay a $10 bill. Elated, he hurried back to North Carver and had breakfast. There he reasoned that if he had found one bill in a gutter, a street cleaner must have swept up the remainder.

Back to Middleboro he hurried and on his refuse dump inspected the last pile of rubbish. There he found his remaining $25.

On his way home Vaughn stopped Patrolman Alton Rogers and handed him $1—for the street cleaner who had not found the bills.

Marketing of Fed Cattle Next Year May Be Reduced, According to a Federal Survey

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—Range and soil conservation projects will be the greater factors in determining the condition of beef cattle production throughout the next two years, the Department of Agriculture states in their outlook survey for 1937.

Sounding a doubtful note in an otherwise optimistic report, the Agricultural Economics Unit expects there will be fewer cattle for 1936-37 than were fattened for 1935-1936. There is a distinct shortage in present grain feed supplies and consequently cattle this year will receive less grain per animal than last year and feeding operations will be confined largely to the production of short fed cattle. Hay and roughage will constitute a greater than usual proportion of cattle fattening rations.

Grain Price Unfavorable
Grain price ratio will be unfavorable to feeding, because of this shortage, during this winter and early spring, but by next fall a rather favorable position, even though slaughter requirements are exceptionally large, because of the reduced hog supplies in prospect for the next two years.

Total Slaughter to Be Less
Total slaughter of both cattle and calves is expected to be smaller in 1937 than it was in 1935 or 1936, but will be larger than the average of the five years preceding 1934. Because of reduced supplies and high prices of feed and the unfavorable returns from cattle feeding operations in 1936, the number of grain-fed cattle in the slaughter supply is expected to be considerably less than that of a year earlier.

The decrease will be the most marked in supplies of the better grades. Because of the relatively small decline in the prices of feed—cattle from the levels prevailing in 1935 and the much higher cost of feed supplies, the total cost of producing finished cattle for the market in 1936-1937 season will be higher than it was during the previous season.

Prices of cattle are expected to rise to much higher levels. The advance probably will not be so great as that which occurred in late 1934 and early 1935, following the 1934 drought. Prices of lower grades of slaughter cattle during the first half of 1937 probably will advance at least as much as is usual for the period. A rather broad demand for replacement stock of all kinds is in prospect next spring if crop and pasture conditions are fairly normal and this will result in relatively high prices for cows and heifers at that time.

Conditions in general indicate that prices for cattle of all kinds in 1937 will average higher than in 1936 and will be increased nearly to the levels of 1929-1933. Prices of well finished cattle are expected to shoot quite high. After reaching an all time peak as of Jan. 1, 1934, the supply of cattle on farms was reduced sharply. (See FEED CATTLE, Page 6)

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16—Perhaps the summer and fall of 1940 will find a few persons with very long memories recalling how extravagant were some of this year's campaign utterances.

The most cockeyed piece of tax legislation ever imposed on a modern country was what the republican presidential candidate called the New Deal's new tax on undivided corporate profits.

The tax was also said to be a milestone around the neck of the little fellows and a body blow to the poor.

So now the steel and automobile industries are leading what promises to become a big parade of corporations merrily passing out money to employes and stockholders in the form of wage increases, bonuses, and dividends.

The only cause for these sudden bursts of generosity as far as anyone has been able to determine, is that "cockeyed" piece of tax legislation which levies heavily on undivided corporate surpluses.

Distribution of profits in higher dividends and wages is exactly what Mr. Roosevelt said would happen as a result of the tax.

It is worth noticing that the steel and automobile industries are leaders of the drive by organized labor to bring the unorganized workers into unions. Announcements of wage increases and dividends were generally withheld until after election. If the election had resulted differently, the disbursements might have been withheld, since Landon had promised to repeal this tax and it might not have been considered so advisable to sweeten labor with the hope of slowing down unionization.

He Learns About Law
One garment manufacturer in New York was so impressed by republican propaganda against old age benefits phase of the social security program that he deducted 1 per cent of his employes' wages for each week, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1936. This left many of his workers with pay envelopes containing from $3.61 to $6.69.

When certain outsiders got after him and warned him that he had committed a penitentiary offense, he said he had read in the newspapers and heard over the radio that this was his duty. He paid it all back the following Monday morning.

Don't Worry About Blanks
The Social Security Board would like to have it emphasized that prior to Nov. 24 none of us should go inquiring around postoffices and SSB field offices about the act and its "payroll tax" for old-age benefits.

During that week it plans to put application blanks for old-age benefit account numbers and information sheets in the hands of about 26,000,000 eligible employes. If you are eligible and haven't received one by Dec. 1, it will be time to start inquiring.

Certain agencies, acting on the theory that certain large employes would like to know everything they could find out about employes' affairs, have sold copies of unofficial blanks which have nothing to do with the case. The only blank anyone needs to answer is marked Form. SS-5, Treasury Department.

Farmers Scream For 'Em!

Letter To Editor

Midland Reporter-Telegram:
Five counties in the 16th Texas Congressional District exceeded their quotas in contributions to the Democratic National Campaign fund. Roy Miller, State Director announced here today following a tabulation of receipts by counties.

El Paso County with a $2,480 quota subscribed $2,95; Crockett County Democrats contributed $140, exceeding their quota by $10; Culberson County had a quota of $100 and remitted $186; Terrell County, with a quota of $114, raised $131.50; and Winkler County citizens contributed $230.25, or $6.25 more than their quota. The district as a whole, however, fell slightly below the $6,396 total set for it by the State Committee, with contributions totaling $5,144.40.

Those counties, however, which failed to reach their quotas in the pre-election drive for funds for the Roosevelt-Garner cause will have an opportunity to do so in a new campaign started this week in an effort to raise $50,000 in Texas, or 10 per cent of the $500,000 needed to put the National Party organization "in the black."

W. Forbes Morgan, Treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, notified Mr. Miller of the half-million-dollar deficit, and requested a post-election campaign to raise part of the funds in Texas.

"Because of the splendid record the loyal Democrats of Texas established by contributing approximately $275,000 to the National campaign fund before the election, we have been asked to shoulder this new responsibility which we have accepted with utmost confidence that we shall encounter no difficulty, if our State organization functions as admirably as it did in the pre-election campaign," Mr. Miller said.

"I feel certain that the good Democrats of the 16th Congressional District will be glad to cooperate with those in other sections of the state in rendering this further service as an expression of their appreciation of our Party's glorious victory at the polls."

ROY MILLER,
State Director,
Austin, Texas.

Since the game won't be played until Thanksgiving day, I am of the opinion that Odessa lacks a smart deal of having the Bulldogs knocked out of the district pennant. Geologists Return From N. M. Field Trip

A group of Midland geologists returned last night from the field trip of the New Mexico Geological Society made Saturday and Sunday.

Gathering Friday night at La Verna Hotel in Carlsbad, the geologists attended a short session early Saturday morning at which talks were given by George Kropf, president of the New Mexico society, and by the managers of the two potash mines east of Carlsbad.

All Saturday morning was spent in a trip through the potash mines, the party of geologists having divided into two groups. That afternoon, a short field trip was made west of Carlsbad, where surface exposures of Permian rocks were examined. Sunday was spent in a field trip in the northern part of the Guadalupe mountains, with the party returning to Carlsbad at six o'clock that evening.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

FIRST SIGHT OF AMERICA

FOR three weeks Christopher Columbus headed his three small sailing ships southwestward to the Canary Islands, and then the little fleet set sail to the unknown west. For two weeks only the blue waters of the deep Atlantic were seen. Then the ships struck an area of floating weeds, and the land-hungry sailors thought their goal was nigh.

But this was nothing but that extensive "prairie" of floating seaweed known as the Sargasso Sea, and so for days more Columbus went on toward what he believed to be Cipango, or Japan. The sailors were getting fretful.

Columbus deceived them daily by reducing the distance that he covered, so that they would not become panicky over getting too far away from home.

Finally, on Oct. 11, carved logs, stalks of rose berries, and other sure signs of land floated by, and early the next morning land was sighted. It was San Salvador, one of the Bahamas.

For Safety's sake PAVE THE GAPS WITH Concrete

Why do state highway departments warn the public: "Concrete pavement ends"? Because it is universally accepted that speeds which are reasonable and safe on concrete become dangerous on other surfaces.

To save lives, to prevent accidents . . . demand concrete all the way.

True and even, it has no high crown—is usable to its full width. Brakes are at their best on its gritty non-skid surface. Its light gray color and sharply defined edges give high visibility at night. Any car is a better car on concrete.

And concrete saves money for motorists and for taxpayers. Insist on concrete for your roads.

Miss Juanita Cox and Johnny Sherrod Announce Their Marriage of October 22

The marriage of Miss Juanita Cox to Mr. Johnny Erwin Sherrod, which was solemnized by Rev. W. C. Harrison of the First Baptist Church of Odessa, October 22, was announced Sunday afternoon at a tea in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Ray Parker.

Receiving the guests in the reception room, which was beautifully decorated with lighted tapers and vari-colored chrysanthemums interspersed with autumn leaves, was the bride, Mrs. Sherrod, the bride's mother, Mrs. M. D. Cox, the groom's mother, Mrs. W. A. Sherrod, and the hostess, Mrs. Parker.

Tall, lighted tapers in crystal holders banked the exquisite centerpiece of red rosebuds and baby's breath arranged in a silver bowl.

At either end of the table, the handsome tea and coffee services were presided over by Mesdames Holt Jowell, John M. Speed, Jr., Ernest Neill, and Miss Emma Graves.

Mrs. Jack Brown and Miss Harriette Ticknor assisted in the dining room, and Mrs. Jake Tibbetts and Mrs. Earl Ticknor assisted the hostess in receiving the guests.

Clever announcement cards with a cup holding a wedding ring from which hung a scroll with the inscribed words, "Juanita and Johnny," were placed on the attractive tea plates.

Novel Mexican Party Entertains Bridge Club Saturday

Mrs. Alf Reese Jr. was hostess Saturday afternoon to the Saturday club at her home, 712 West Story.

In accordance with a Mexican theme which was carried out in the table appointments, score pads and tallies, a novelty in the form of a miniature carved Mexican donkey was used as the plate favor.

How Horsehead Crossing Got Name Related by Pioneer

How Horsehead Crossing on the Pecos river got its name is described in an article by the Iran correspondent of the San Angelo Times.

Many a change has been made in the wide open spaces of the west since some 65 years ago when little

Tom Shaw came riding into this territory in the saddle in front of Captain B. D. McAnely.

Leaving the country later, young Shaw returned again with a Mr. Sheffield, after whom the town was named. When he arrived there was no Sheffield, no Iran, nor Fort Stockton—only a negro fort on the Pecos.

"When you hear people say there were buffaloes this side of the Pecos," "Uncle Tom" said dryly, "you can just laugh at them. The river was up all the time and a buffalo could not cross. Of course there were Indians this side, but not many. I helped hold off 1,800 Indians one time on Peace river and then went on up to the fort and helped hold off some more.

Indians Killed His Father
"My father and two uncles were killed by Indians; I watched another brother die—never to return."

"Uncle Tom" supplied his version of the naming of Horse Head Crossing on the Pecos. One day when he wanted to cross the river while it was up he forced his horse into the water. The horse drowned but they got the animal out, turned his head toward the river, and christened the place Horse Head Crossing.

Mr. Shaw's father walked from Tennessee to Texas and his son was born May 5, 1863, and reared in the first county and first capital of Texas.

Drove 400 Miles Without Wood
When he first came into West Texas they drove for 400 miles without wood. Mr. Shaw drove a wagon with two horses hitched to it and four more tied to the saddle horn.

All for some time lately, "Uncle Tom" said all he needed is "35 years back" that old age was all ailing him. Soon, he declared, he will "ramose para el campo santo," meaning he is soon to be a resident of the forgotten city. His desire is to be buried at home when that time comes, out in the back yard of his little stucco home, on the road leading to Ozona from Sheffield.

Two Mexicans, Gerónimo Trevino and Florencio Barron, help care for him.

With wry humor he has hung a sign over his gate—the lettering reading "The Unforgotten Man." He's mixed his words a bit for he declares he is forgotten by the world.

AGGREGATE BUSINESS ACTIVITY SHOWS INCREASED GAINS OVER NATION LATELY

President Roosevelt's labor policies during his second term may be gauged by his handling of the insurgent seamen's sit-down strike which is rapidly developing into a serious situation.

At the present time, 325 ships lie idle on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and on the Gulf. 49 of these are express liners or mail packets. Shipping losses date amount to about $2 1/2 million, with an estimated future loss of approximately 1/2 million dollars per day. The northwest lumber industry is at a standstill. 65,000 men of whom 39,000 are seamen, have been called out as a result of the present feud between the Seamen's Defense Committee and the International Seamen's Union, an A. F. of L. affiliate. The I. S. U., supported by the International Mercantile Marine, has been unsuccessful in its efforts to get the men back to work and charges the strikers are swayed by agitators and thugs. The strikers claim the I. S. U. failed to negotiate with shipowners for (1) overtime pay and a wage rise of 5 cents per hour; (2) curtailing employment of Asiatic help.

While many informed sources believe a complete accord in the near future is improbable, an early compromise may be effected through the intervention of the president. Private shipowners depending upon federal subsidies may find it expedient to concede a point on the hourly pay increases. Should disorders increase, however, the recently formed Maritime Commission may find it necessary to recommend many crews to operate privately owned ships. If such a step is taken, the chances of a reconciliation between the I. S. U. and the strikers are regarded as slim.

Farm Buying Power Up
Within the next two months, $470 million in farm benefits under the AAA soil conservation program, will be paid to 6 million farmers, or 1 million more than participated in 1935 payments.

It is significant to note that in the first batches of checks being mailed to farmers in the northeast 50 per cent of the estimated 500,000 were signed up as against only 7 per cent under the old adjustment program.

In addition to benefit payments, usually heavy liquidation of livestock in drought areas has brought the cash income total for nine months, up to $670 million, or 8 per cent above last year's aggregate.

Supreme Court Busy
Scheduled for early decision by the supreme court during its present session are: (1) Wagner Labor Act. Held unconstitutional by three federal district courts but sustained by five, and by three circuit courts. (2) Revised Frazier-Lemke Farm Moratorium Act. No previous test. (3) Social Security Act. Three cases pending. No previous test. (4) Securities and Exchange Commission and Securities Act of 1933. (5) Silver Purchase Act. Action of Court debatable. (6) Interstate Commerce and State's rights as reflected in minimum wage controversies, revised Guffey Act, conflicts in state and federal rights. etc. (7) Public Utility Act of 1935—Electric Bond and Share case scheduled for this month.

These are the more important of the cases slated to be heard in the next two months. Before the present supreme court session ends in May, 1937, 400 cases will have come up for decision.

Crop Plan Weighed
If, as has been recommended under the proposed terms of the crop insurance program, farmers will be able to pay "premiums" in wheat, the federal government may find itself buying or selling 25 million bushels of wheat annually. This would make the government a factor to be reckoned with in determining wheat prices.

Those who are working on the plan are using 50 million bushels as a tentative wheat reserve. Since some grades of wheat deteriorate if stored over two years, the government may have to renew its reserves by selling one half, or 25 million bushels of its reserves each year and buying a like quantity of new wheat to keep reserves up to standard.

To carry these reserves, the government could hold them: (1) in the form of futures, but stocks would be subject to speculative fluctuations; (2) in warehouse receipts (which might compel government to carry the bottom of the carry-over) and (3) in elevators leased from private companies. According to Secretary Wallace, the best method is the best as it would enable the government to curb fluctuations and assure good quality wheat for the government's reserves.

The danger in this plan lies in placing the projected crop insurance corporation in direct competition with private elevators in the acquisition, storing and selling of commercial wheat.

IT RUNS IN THE FAMILY

Michigan always has produced more than a full share of athletic stars, and the Barclays of Flint are helping the Wolverine state to maintain the pace. Bill Barclay, University of Michigan quarterback, and his 100-pound sister, Mrs. Don Weiss, inspect trophies won in golf. Bill was a member of the Western Conference championship golf team this year; quarter-finalist in the national collegiate, and semi-finalist in the Michigan amateur. Mrs. Weiss captured the state women's title.

$130 million, public attention has been directed to the world's rush toward rearmament. Since 1934, there has been a big increase in arms buying. $9 7/4 million was spent last year, 12 per cent over 1934. The 1936 total for aeronautical exports alone is expected to reach 23 million, according to Washington experts. (6 months figure—$14 million).

U. S. airplane production in 1935 was 1,600 planes. The present average will reach 200 a month, or 2,400 for 1936. Production experts believe it possible to step production up to 1,000 planes a month by May, 1937. This will double the annual production claimed by Soviet Russia, of nearly 6,000 planes a year. Foregoing figures do not include the many foreign licensees who manufacture American planes and parts under contract from which the American companies derive sizeable royalties. Also omitted from the above figures are the half dozen large aircraft companies which are at present confining their activities to U. S. government orders and therefore must maintain a secrecy from the curiosity of foreign experts.

Our own government has stepped up its aircraft requirements considerably. The exact figures are not available but judging from increased activity, army and navy orders must be 50 per cent more than last year. Engine, instrument and parts orders also difficult to compute because of licensing arrangements abroad are reported to be unusually heavy.

Transportation Heavy
There is great encouragement to those who are convinced that railroads are resuming their place of importance in the American economic scene. Transportation which has languished in late years as an income producer, has risen in 1936 to fifth place following: (1) manufacturing, (2) trade, (3) agriculture and (4) service industries.

Transportation is now responsible for 10 per cent of all income produced in the United States. The revival of heavy industries and the consequent increase in rail shipments this year has been a big factor in raising the earning status of transportation. A slight increase in freight shipments by water, as well as increased rail passenger traffic has helped to swell income totals.

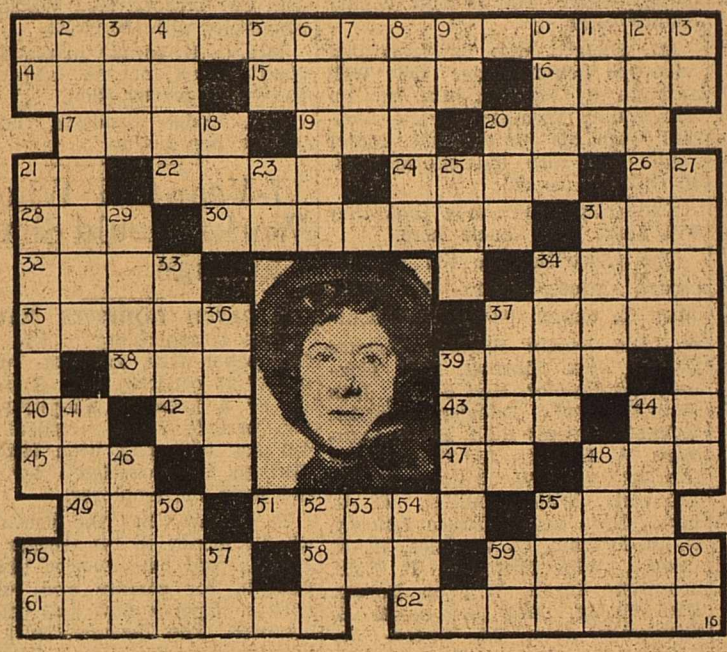

Inventories Too Small?
Aggregate inventories of raw materials and finished goods have been reduced approximately 40 per cent since November, 1933, according to the U. S. Department of Commerce. Taking the 1923-1925 period as 100, the present index is 101, as compared with 171 in 1933. With an approximate increase in population of 15 million, or 12 per cent over 1925, it would appear that on a per capita basis, present inventories are below the former normal.

Wages and the Cost of Living
After having successfully avoided the issue during its campaign for reelection, the administration is again face to face with the unemployment problem. The opinion is being expressed that it will be solved through a revival of the NRA. Possibly the advocates of the 30 hour week will press for their cause in the next session of congress.

Regardless of the final proposal it becomes increasingly evident that discussion of the matter must take into account a prospective rise in the cost of living. As the smoke screen of campaign charges and counter charges clears, recognition will be given to the fact that all major items in the cost of living index—food, shelter, clothing and sundries—are rising and will continue to rise in 1937. Hence, a share-the-work solution to the unemployment dilemma faces definite limitations if it is to avoid restricting the worker's ability to improve or even maintain his present standard of living. An arbitrary reduction in working hours without a corresponding increase in the hourly wage rate will merely divide the same pie into smaller pieces. This is not a satisfactory solution nor is it what the average worker wants. There has already been a substantial reduction in working hours since 1929. In that year, the average employee in manufacturing industry worked 48.3 hours and in 1936, only 39.4 hours a week, a decline of approximately 20 per cent. A 30 hour week would mean

Deadly Horse Malady Baffles Utah Experts

SALT LAKE CITY, (U.P.)—Baffling all efforts at control, encephalomyelitis, a deadly horse malady, killed approximately 100 horses in northern Utah in 1936. Dr. W. H. Hendricks, chief veterinarian of the state department of agriculture, said.

Although attempts of veterinarians to control the disease, commonly called brain fever, have failed, Dr. Hendricks said Utah horses may be developing immunity to the disease. Three years ago 4,000 horses died of the malady and 800 in 1934. There was no epidemic in 1935, he said.

Earl Vest, Monahans cattleman, is here today on a business trip.

a decline of some 38 per cent from the 1929 figure.

To date, the reduction in working hours has not had an adverse effect on the real wages of the worker. Weekly money earnings since 1933 have risen faster than has the cost of living and while weekly money earnings in the first half of 1936 were 13.3 per cent below 1929 levels, the cost of living was 16.3 per cent lower. In other words real wages or the purchasing power equivalent of earnings are 3.6 per cent higher than they were in 1929. The prospects for an early return in living costs, however, will more than wipe out the balance now in favor of the worker unless his weekly wage can be increased. This latter certainly cannot be accomplished by having him work 34 less hours per week unless his hourly wage is raised over 30 per cent. It goes without saying that the average manufacturing concern today is in no position to withstand a 30 per cent increase in wage costs.

The present problem is twofold—first, to provide employment for the millions out of work, and second, to prevent the cost of living from rising faster than the worker's earnings.

The solution to the problem is also two fold. 1. It is seen from the index of employment that there is some 20 per cent less work today than in 1929. It is also known that there is a tremendous need for rehabilitation in heavy industry, and for the expansion of new industries such as air conditioning and aviation. The factors which at present are holding back the fulfillment of this demand can and must be removed. 2. Curtailment programs such as the AAA which raise food prices, and waste in government and relief which increases taxes should be abandoned thereby preventing an abnormal rise in the cost of living.

Red Cross Public Health Nurses engaged in typhoid epidemic in Kentucky start for their rounds of visits. Red Cross nurses, besides year around work in almost 700 communities, are called for disaster relief and in epidemics.

BANDIT'S DEATH FOLLOWS HOLDUP

Disagreement Over Loot Believed The Cause

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 16 (AP)—After John Benedetto, 33, of Rockford, was shot to death Sunday at the wheel of his auto on a North Side street, he was identified, Supervising Police Captain John Stege said, as one of three gunmen who kidnaped a wealthy Chicagoan and his wife a few hours earlier and robbed them of jewelry worth $40,000.

Stege said the man was identified as Benedetto through his fingerprints and his automobile license plates. At Rockford, police said they learned from relatives that the man last was seen Saturday night.

Stege said Mrs. John Cuneo, wife of the head of the Cuneo Press, Inc., positively identified the slain man as one of the robbers. Cuneo, Stege said, was less positive but said Benedetto resembled one of the robbers. Stege said he believed the shooting followed a quarrel over a division of the loot.

Cuneo, his wife and their chauffeur, Frank Grubb, were held up as they stopped their car in front of their Lake Shore home after returning from a theater. The gunmen also took their sixteen cylinder auto and $116.

Benedetto was known at Rockford as a wrestling promoter and operator of the Jolly Fifty Club, described by police as a gambling establishment. Relatives told police Benedetto went to Rockford eleven years ago from Donaldsonville, La.

Robert Benson, 12, newspaperboy, found the body in the car. The man had been shot three times, from behind. His hat, clutched in his hand bore two bullet holes.

000 tons of cotton seed were stored in the place. The loss is covered by insurance, he said.

Possibility that the fire was arsonous in origin was advanced by Nick Harris, head of a private detective agency employed by the cotton oil company. David Davies, negro foreman of the plant, was ground to pieces in a conveying machine at the place Monday, Harris said, and the fact that the wallet he usually carried was not found, prompted an investigation to determine if he had been the victim of foul play.

Company officials found a bent stained piece of pipe near the conveyor. Harris said Davies might have been slugged and thrown into the machinery and that his wallet, after being emptied, might have been tossed in a pile of cotton seed.

With a search for the wallet in progress, the detective advanced the theory the man's assailant may have set fire to destroy the wallet and all traces of fingerprints.

Anthony Adverse Spectacular and Dynamic Drama

Portraits of the leading players listed in the cast of the Warner Bros. picture "Anthony Adverse," now showing at the Yucca theatre were sent to Hervey Allen, author of the famous novel, by Director Mervyn LeRoy. These portraits were in character and costume as the players appear in the film.

LeRoy asked the writer to check the photographs of Fredric March, Olivia de Havilland, Claude Rains, Anita Louise, Edmund Gwenn, Louis Hayward, and some thirty other principals of the story, to see how closely they tallied with his own mental picture of the characters he created.

He wanted to know from Allen whether or not the tall slim figure and handsome blonde head of Fredric March filled all the requirements for the title role. He also asked Allen how well the youthful beauty of Olivia de Havilland matched the writer's own conception of Angela.

He hoped that Allen would agree with him that Claude Rains had caught the sinister power of the character of Don Luis, that Steffi Duna was perfect as Neleta, and that no better John Bonnyfeather than Edmund Gwenn could be found in the whole of filmdom.

Mr. Allen put his stamp of approval on all the players from Mr. March down. He was particularly pleased because he believed the noted actors and actresses selected

Feed Cattle

The number of cattle on farms Jan. 1, 1937, is expected to show a further decrease, the extent of the reduction depending mostly on the number of cattle and calves slaughtered during the last three months of this year. The slaughter of cattle under Federal inspection during the first nine months of 1936 of 7,877,000 head was the second largest for that period on record. Slaughter of calves during the same period of 4,514,000 head was also the second largest, and the combined total slaughtered was the largest for the period ever on record.

Slaughter of cattle and calves the last three months of 1936 is expected to continue at the same rate, although the increase over the corresponding months of 1935 may be less marked than during the three months July to September.

Heavy marketings of both cattle and calves from all the areas where feed production was greatly curtailed by the 1936 drought are expected to continue until the end of the year.

The calf crop was greater in 1936 than in 1935, although the number of cows of breeding age on farms Jan. 1, 1936, were about 500,000 head smaller than for the previous year. Reports from most of the important cattle producing states indicate that the 1936 calf crop, as a percentage of cows in herds, was above the average and was considerably above that of 1935, when it was the smallest in recent years because of the poor condition of cattle in the spring of 1935 following the 1934 drought.

The character of the slaughter supply of cattle during the present year so far was larger than last year but below the average in quality. Slaughter of cattle and calves in 1937 is expected to be much smaller than in 1936, but is likely to be larger than the five year average of 1929-1933. The slaughter supply in 1937 will include a relatively small number and proportion of the better grades of fed cattle.

There is a rather favorable outlook for cattle producers during the next two years especially in the areas bordering the Mississippi River and in the southern states. The large increases in numbers in the south were chiefly accumulations in the years of low feed costs. In the more intensive cattle areas of the cotton belt the present tendency in production methods seems likely to increase the supply of veal and heavy slaughter calves more than that of other slaughter cattle.
