PRECINCTS CLOSED TO NEGRO VOTE

Court Ruling Applies Only to Primary Elections

HOUSTON, May 3. (UP)—Chairman W. O. Huggins, state democratic committee, today said the supreme court's ruling yesterday regarding school laws would not affect precinct conventions.

"I think it applies only to primary elections," he said.

A study of the court's full ruling is necessary before party leaders can determine what procedure is necessary, he said.

WHAT WE EAT AND WHY SUBJECT OF MRS. LENA IHRIG

Almost 200 persons were present at the cooking school at 2 o'clock this afternoon, which compares favorably with the estimate of the first attendance of the school last year. It is expected that before the school is terminated more than 800 women will attend sessions.

The closing sessions of last year's school were more than tripled attendance of the first session.

"What We Eat and Why" will be the central topic of Mrs. Lena Rusk Ihrig's discussion at the second session of The Midland Reporter-Tele-

MEN INVITED

Mrs. Lena Rusk Ihrig and the Midland Reporter-Telegram extend to the business men of Midland an invitation to attend the sessions of the cooking school at the Yucca theatre this week.

"One usually thinks of a cooking school as being strictly a woman's party. I have found in nine years of experience in conducting schools that men derive no little enjoyment from the meetings," Mrs. Ihrig says.

"Mrs. Ihrig brings more than cooking to the people of Midland," said T. Paul Barron, editor of the Reporter-Telegram. "Her lectures on dietetics and proper food habits are as important to a man as to a woman. Men will be astonished at the new developments recently introduced into the science of cooking, and they will become better acquainted with the new time and labor saving devices that invention has given the modern home-maker."

gram's second annual cooking school at the Yucca theatre Wednesday afternoon.

The school will begin at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Ihrig will give detailed instruction in cake baking in her demonstrations tomorrow. She will give recipes and will bake her famous "Pillsbury's Best" cake, "K. C. Everyday" cake. She also will present several new principles of cake baking which undoubtedly will prove valuable to all Midland cake-bakers.

In her lecture tomorrow Mrs. Ihrig will discuss in simple terms the biochemistry of foods, the elements which they contain, and the use to which they are put in the kitchen.

In her first talk this afternoon on "Why We Changed the Doormat," Mrs. Ihrig outlined the changes in kitchen cooking and eating habits which have taken place in the past ten years.

"In years gone by, all the visitors came in the front door, and sat in the parlor until dinner was served. The kitchen was kept well hidden and little attention was paid to its beauty or its attractiveness," she said.

"Now the kitchen has supplanted the parlor as a reception room. Visitors usually go to the kitchen as soon as they enter the house, and the lady of the home receives them without interrupting her work.

Modern science and invention have made it possible for the housewife always to be tidy and neat as she does her work. The kitchen has been brightened by the introduction of color in utensils and furnishings.

"What a drastic change from the kitchens in which our mothers, and our grandmothers worked, cooking for hours to load the dinner table with an enormous variety of food. Today we fix a salad, a vegetable, and a meat dish, top it off with a light dessert, and we feed our husbands just as well and ten times better for their dispositions and their digestion than mother fed our dad."

Start New Fight in "Honor Murder" Conviction

Determined to carry an appeal to the highest court in Hawaii, and as a last resort hoping for a pardon by the governor-general, Clarence Darrow, famous U. S. attorney, announced he was continuing the fight following conviction of the four principals in the Masse-Fortescue trial. In these new pictures from Honolulu, Darrow is shown with George S. Leisure,

Appreciation for Festival Expressed by Large Crowd

By PEARL WITTY

The most artistic and exquisite program ever to be given in Midland was the first annual music festival, chorus and piano ensembles, under the very able direction of Wallace Wimberly, pianist, and Mrs. Barney T. Smith, soloist, at the Yucca theatre Monday evening.

The event, which opened the observance of National Music Week in Midland, was marked with brilliant and harmonious presentations.

Stage settings, constructed under the direction of Mrs. Leon Goodman, blended perfectly with the expensive costumes of the artists.

"Poisoned in A Major" by Chopin, played at six pianos by 12 musicians, furnished a dramatic opening for the program. The number was so artistically presented that the audience was almost spellbound in its surprise at Midland's own artists.

Pianists directed by Mr. Wimberly in this number were Edna Marie Jones, Elizabeth Lomas, Mrs. L. C. Waterman, Mrs. J. H. Williams, Mrs. Holt Jewell, Mrs. George Glass, Mrs. O. L. Walton, Mrs. Rawlins Clark, Lydie G. Watson, Lady Faye Scott, Mrs. Lois Baughman, and Mrs. Jack

FAMOUS FLYER CHARGED WITH CLARKE DEATH

MIAMI, Fla., May 3.—Capt. W. N. Lancaster, former British flyer, was in jail today, charged with the first degree murder of Hayden Clarke, 26, author and fiancée of Lancaster's living partner, Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller.

State Attorney N. Vernon Hawthorne placed the charge against Lancaster after the latter's alleged confession he wrote and signed two suicide notes, purportedly left by Clarke to Lancaster and to Mrs. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix.

Filing of the murder charge climaxed ten days of investigation begun when Clarke, fatally wounded, was found in his bed at the Keith-Miller home the morning of April 21. The shooting occurred a few hours after Lancaster returned hastily to Miami on receipt of letters from Mrs. Keith-Miller and Clarke.

The letters informed Lancaster Mrs. Keith-Miller and Clarke, who was writing a story of her life for publication, loved each other and planned to be married.

Mrs. Keith-Miller and Lancaster were arrested shortly after the shooting, and were held during a three-day inquiry. Then they were released.

Hawthorne asserting his conviction Mrs. Keith-Miller knew nothing that would indicate whether her fiancé took his own life or was killed. He refused to make public his belief regarding Lancaster's innocence or guilt.

Truly remarkable display of technical skill and fascinating music. Thoroughly enjoyable. Audience could not get enough."—Globe (Lawrence Mason).

Interesting Reports At Health Meeting

Several brief but interesting reports were given at the regular monthly session of the Midland county health board last night.

John Butler, vice-chairman, presided in the absence of the regular chairman, Mrs. W. H. Sloan.

J. E. Hill reported that 235 postcards were turned in as a result of the recent contest and that 16 prizes were awarded to the winners were exhibited at the school fair.

Miss Myrtle Whitmore was in charge of the poster contest and her work was highly commended.

A summary of the round-up campaign now under way was made by the chairman, Mrs. E. C. Adams.

One hundred and eighty children received appointments, and 130 of these were to the public health nurse's office for inspection; 153 recommendations were made by doctors and dentists, 111 of which were made by the doctors. Only 28 of 111 children had been vaccinated against smallpox and 21 against diphtheria. All were advised to take this precaution. This project of the Parent-Teachers association is estimated to have taken up 198 actual working hours over the two-month period in which it has been carried on.

Mrs. J. V. Stokes Jr. spoke briefly on current health events over an international scope, and Mrs. S. H. Gwynn reported work done at the Biennial Nurses convention at San Antonio, April 11-16, to which she, Mrs. Sloan and Miss Martha Brede-meier, county public health nurse, went. She emphasized the value of publicity in the press for getting across to the public the value of the modern health campaign.

Miss Brede-meier reported the health library as numbering 138 magazines and 37 books, several of which are new. She made 28 home visits in April, had 172 office calls, taught seven classes, made 14 school visits and hid her usual routine work—in a time narrowed by her attendance at the San Antonio meeting. She explained additional work in health classes to begin soon, with Mrs. W. O. Walton in charge.

Annie Male Mathes, state health nurse among the negroes, reported conditions in the negro quarter as being slightly improved, though in decided need of better water. She reported on sanitation, garbage disposal, lights and vice. A committee, headed by Mrs. Edwin C. Calhoun and made up otherwise of Misses C. H. Goldsmith, George Glass, A. S. Legg, (See HEALTH MEETING page 6)

Drive to Help Draw Tourists

Action was taken Tuesday by the Midland chamber of commerce, authority of the open board meeting of directors, to help save the tourist business for Midland. The organization paid in $500 as its share of the Weatherford-Ranger cut-off costs.

The tourist business in Midland now averages $453 daily gross, figures based on federal and state compilations show. The Midland chamber and others from Ranger to Odessa, inclusive, have subscribed to the absolutely required sum as a matter of "saving their skins," not as an effort to get new business, leaders in the movement for the new road declare.

Filling stations, most members of the chamber of commerce will be asked to contribute to this sum, as they are the principal beneficiaries. Stations whose annual subscriptions would in no wise approach the benefits derived from the cut-off, in behalf of which Midland has been active, will be asked for contributions. The chamber of commerce took this action for the benefit of all Midland, but will particularly help filling stations, garages, hotels, restaurants and drug stores. Every channel of trade here, officials say, will benefit to some degree.

INSPECTOR SHOT; MIDLAND BROTHER GOES TO FUNERAL

John H. Heard, mounted customs inspector of the Mexico border, a brother of T. C. (Top) Heard and a cousin of Lee Heard of Midland, died last night at El Paso after suffering throughout the day from gunshot wounds received 60 miles south of Hachita, N. M., early Monday morning.

T. C. Heard left for El Paso upon receipt of news of his brother's injuries. John H. Heard was taken by train from Hachita to El Paso, arriving Monday afternoon. A news dispatch in the El Paso Herald-Post described the shooting.

"Heard was shot in the face, arm and twice in the chest."

Andy McKinney, another customs inspector, advised Grove Webb, chief customs inspector in El Paso, that Heard was fired upon without warning.

"The two men stopped at a ranch house 60 miles south of Hachita at 7:30 a. m. They were not looking for anyone."

A man who was staying at the ranch came out and asked, "What are you doing here, Heard?"

Before Heard could answer, the man began shooting. Webb was informed.

McKinney rushed Heard to Hachita and placed him on a train. He was to go back to the ranch later to seek the man who fired the shots.

Webb said McKinney told him the man who fired the shots is named Claude Gatlin. Gatlin locked himself in the house after firing the shots and McKinney decided to get him before he fired again.

Tom Boles, on whose ranch the shooting occurred, was standing in the yard when Gatlin began shooting. He was unable to explain Gatlin's asserted action. He helped McKinney to take Heard to Hachita. Heard formerly was stationed in El Paso.

Only Misfortune For Fortune Family

COLUSA, Calif. (UP)—Misfortune of every sort has visited the Fortunes. In fact, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fortune believe there's nothing fortunate about being named Fortune.

Fortune fell from the roof of a building on which he was working, crushing both heels and breaking a toe and leg. While his father was in a hospital, Dick Fortune, a son, sprained his ankle and then contracted influenza.

Frank Fortune Jr., another son, suffered an acute attack of appendicitis and was operated upon two days after he left the hospital. A truck collided with his automobile. His leg was broken.

Then when the elder Fortunes went to visit Mrs. Fortune's mother, they found she had sprained first one, and then another, ankle.

PROPOSES CHANGE IN CAMPAIGN

Texas Charges Mills Not Capable of Advising

WASHINGTON, May 3. (UP)—Representative Fattum of Texas, author of the two-billion dollar bonus bill, charged before the house ways and means committee today that Secretary of Treasury Mills and others opposing the measure "are not capable of giving sound advice."

He said the "best evidence of this is the fact that the country is in the condition that it is."

"This is what I was prepared to substitute for the section of his bill a clause which would substantially finance the bonus as the Owen-Thomas bill proposes."

This plan is for issuance of federal bonds to federal reserve banks in return for federal reserve notes. "This will answer all arguments against the new currency proposal," he said.

GOVERNOR WIRES PRAISES TO ETEX OFFICERS TODAY

AUSTIN, May 3. (UP)—A telegram commending civil and military officials of Etex for their part in uncovering wholesale thefts of oil was sent today by Governor Sterling.

Messages were sent Judge Will C. Hurst of Longview, District Judge H. F. Brown and the grand jury at Henderson, and to others.

Pay in Howard Test Is Reached

Schermerhorn Oil company's No. 4 Kohl was swabbing oil and balling water Monday morning with approximately 900 feet of fluid in the hole at total depth of 2,530 feet. Pay was topped late Saturday and drilling stopped Sunday at noon.

Indications were the well would test approximately 1,250 barrels per day on a second-hour test, which will be made probably today.

Schermerhorn officials were of the opinion No. 4, an inside well, would not show as high initial production as others on the lease, due to diminished pressure. The other wells test around 2,000 barrels when first completed.

Schermerhorn Oil company's No. 4 Kohl is in the southeast corner of the northeast quarter of section 13, block 33, T&S, Texas & Pacific Railway company survey, Howard county.

With considerable oil in the hole, F. H. E. Oil company's No. 1 Demman, southeast of the well, was fishing for a 6-inch bit. Total depth is 2,890 feet, six feet in pay.

New Connection With Shibley-Monroe Well

Pipe line connections have been made to the Shibley field in Ward county about nine miles north of Barstow.

A two-inch line was laid by the Pecos Production company, which took over the well already drilled and is drilling another in the territory. The line runs for about three miles and connects with the Burford Oil company's main line. The Burford plant will buy the oil from this new field.

This market for the oil is expected to encourage more drilling in the Pecos valley territory.

WHERE NOT TO CUT EXPENSES

One of the biggest dangers threatening municipal governments in the United States today is that the demand for economy will lead them to try to save money in the wrong places.

Tax receipts are down in every part of the country. Everywhere the city fathers are discovering that budgets must be cut into very materially. Reductions are long overdue, and there is hardly a mayor in the land who isn't being made to realize the fact.

Unfortunately, though, one of the easiest places to make a saving is usually in the welfare department—the branch that has such things as playgrounds, swimming pools and the like under its charge.

To close a few branch libraries, to shut down a few playgrounds, to lock the gates on a few swimming pools, and to remove from the payroll the officials who were in charge of those services, is fairly easy—and terribly foolish.

It is perfectly safe to say that there is not a sizable city in the country that really has adequate playground facilities for its children. There is not a city whose library facilities are too extensive, especially at a time when many men are unemployed. There is not a city that has too many swimming pools or baseball diamonds or public parks.

This year all of these things are going to be needed as never before. Many families that went away on vacations last year will not be going away this summer.

Children will play somewhere, no matter what happens; if there are not enough playgrounds they will play in the streets. Young men who can't find jobs are apt to drift into the wrong sort of environment if the swimming pools and ball grounds and parks aren't open for them. Families whose recreation budgets have vanished will feel the pinch more bitterly than ever if the neighborhood library has been closed.

City expenses have got to be cut—but they mustn't be cut in the wrong places.

That Salina (Kan.) woman who recently celebrated her eightieth anniversary by skipping a rope also showed how to skip a birthday.

No matter how many keys the honor student receives in school, still he must make the one which will unlock success for him.

Side Glances By Clark

THE MAN HUNTERS
BY MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Susan Carey, pretty secretary, is in love with Bob Dunbar, young millionaire she met at business college. At a party given by Denise Ackroyd, society girl, Susan realizes Bob is not for her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXX
Ben came occasionally to see Susan. By tacit agreement the night of Denise's party was never mentioned.

"This is the way boys and girls should be together," she thought afterwards, remembering their foolish laughter. She had forgotten that evening to be self-conscious with Ben. He had seemed more like a brother than a suitor.

After Ben had gone Aunt Jessie got up from her rocking chair where she had been darned stockings, and followed Susan into her bedroom. "That's a real nice young man," she said with unwonted approval.

"Susan was brushing her hair and did not reply. Aunt Jessie seated herself on the edge of the bed. "Isn't every girl has a young man give up a chance to get ahead, just for her," she commented.

"Susan tossed back a cloud of dark hair and stared at her astonishment. "I don't know what you're talking about," she said.

"Susan murmured. "Yes, he did mention it once or twice, but I thought it was all in the air. Anyhow what have I to do with it?"

"Aunt Jessie sniffed. "Plenty, I should say. He doesn't want to go so far away from you."

"Susan was annoyed and embarrassed. It seemed indecent to discuss this with Aunt Jessie.

"I must say I don't understand you at all," the girl said. "I was so anxious to start working and get ahead—to make something of myself. Now when I'm just beginning you seem to want me to do something else. She would not say 'you are encouraging me to marry Ben.' The bare notion offended her. Aunt Jessie tossed her head.

"You could do a lot worse than that," she stated. "He's a real steady, sensible boy. And it would be a satisfaction to me to see you settled."

"Let's not talk about it," Susan said with weary patience. She was angry at Ben for having confided his hopes to Aunt Jessie. How like him, she thought! She was bewildered, too. Every one seemed to be pushing her toward marriage. She felt a surge of rebellion.

Christmas Eve. The roofs of the city powdered with snow, the high stars blinking above. Along State street, plunging through the slush, crowds of furred women and well-dressed men. The shops alive with light and tinsel wreaths. Weary salespeople drooping behind their counters.

The old, old magic of the season caught Susan in its spell. Christmas was a time when anything might happen. Even as a child she remembered Aunt Jessie had never

The Town Quack

The man at the office that night lifted his receiver. "But I can't drop everything now," he said into the instrument, winking at the stenog on his knee.

In the city room of The Reporter-Telegram is an interesting paradox. The walls are almost completely covered, but are just as bare as they are covered. There are pictures of little girls in bathing suits, big girls in abbreviated and medium sized girls who wear necklaces.

C. L. Jackson likes the dancers in burlesque, but first of all he's a golfer. A friend overheard him say at an "amateur night" at a burlesque in Dallas not so long ago: "Will you pipe the back spin the girlie has on them hips!"

His Honor of His Nibs (it's sometimes hard to distinguish which he should be dubbed) T. Paul Barron may not approve of the following low-down on the difference in classification between doctors and editors. Doctors are fortunate in many ways, even though they do have to get up at all hours and go in the cold; while editors have the very deuce at times. For instance, an editor locked their doors on Christmas eve. Aunt Jessie had said they were safe from burglars, safe from all harm. It was as though a magic circle had been drawn around the day. Church bells rang and women put lighted candles in the windows. Susan felt unaccountably happy as she trudged homeward. She had a check from Mr. Heath (they all had) and she was satisfied for once with her present for Aunt Jessie. It was a padded robe of dark blue silk. She passed a Catholic church on the boulevard and heard the choir practicing the "Adeste Fideles." The thin soprano voices sounded sweet and unreal.

Aunt Jessie had hung a big holly wreath in the front window and the house smelled of spice cake. Some cousins were coming to dinner tomorrow. Susan had the sensation of holding her breath and waiting for something to happen, though she didn't know what. She turned through the little pile of cards eagerly almost feverishly. The name she sought was no among them. Slitting a huge white envelope she found, to her surprise, a greeting from Denise. The card was a mammoth silver affair with modernistic deers prancing across it. So like Denise. She went to the kitchen to find Aunt Jessie.

"There's a big box of flowers for you," Aunt Jessie threw over her shoulder. "It arrived this afternoon. I almost dropped when the boy rang our bell."

Susan flew. Her fingers fumbled at the knots. She was too impatient to untie them until she sliced them across with a kitchen knife. The green paper folded back, disclosing heaps of exotic blossoms. There were little yellow roses. There were fuchsia and tulips and violets and a spray of mimosa. Fabulous flowers to receive on a snowy Christmas eve. She found the card, her fingers trembling. It was a small, engraved calling card and the name it bore was that of Mr. Ernest Caldwell Heath. Susan gasped.

"Let me see it," Aunt Jessie demanded. Wordless, Susan held out the card. She would not admit even to herself how keen her disappointment was. Flowers like this should come from her thoughts. As if for the first time Ben's eye took in the expensive flowers. He frowned. "Who sent you those?" Susan thought, "I like his nerve!" but she answered calmly enough. "My boss, Mr. Heath." Ben glared. Susan put her hand on his arm and gave him a little shake. "Don't be silly. He's very nice."

As if that touch had galvanized him into life, the boy swept her into his arms. Rough, masculine arms they were, rudely possessive. Susan struggled. Furious anger welled up in her. "You—oh, I hate you. Let me go!" Ben tilted her face upward. She was a tall girl but he towered above her. His eyes were dark with emotion that looked like rage. Susan was conscious only of a sense of outrage, not of fear.

"I'll—let—you—go—all—right," Ben panted. He pressed his lips to hers. It was all over in an instant. Then he was flinging himself out the door.

Susan put her hands to her hot cheeks. She tried to laugh but discovered she was trembling. She was desperately afraid she was going to cry. Aunt Jessie called from the other room. "Ben gone already?" The girl steeled her voice to reply. "Is he coming to dinner tomorrow?" Susan waited a fraction of a second. Then she answered. "No—yes—don't know."

Nebraska May Limit Anglers

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP)—Fishermen in Nebraska may have to observe bag limits on their catches, according to State Game Warden Frank O'Connell. O'Connell plans to ask the state legislature next winter to grant the state game commission the authority to impose varying bag limits on fish at different state lakes in order to prevent the lakes from being fished out too rapidly.

"At some of the lakes," the game warden said, "they are catching the fish faster than we can produce them. The average

When Ben arose, lean and dark in his shabby clothes, the girl felt a surge of pity for him. He wasn't bad looking, really. Some girls would think that dark face distinguished. Susan sighed inwardly. "You're awfully sweet," he told her with unexpected humility as she relayed her aunt's invitation. He took her hand.

"Come for a walk," he begged. "Just half an hour." Susan said, "Whatever for?" "Oh, I don't know. I want to talk to you."

"Can't we talk here?" She didn't want to go out into the cold bright Christmas eve with this boy. It was enough to be sorry for him. Couldn't he go away and leave her with fisherman isn't to blame, but there are dozens of fishermen, who visit the lakes every day, and sometimes more than once a day, each time taking the full limit."

Several years ago the state launched a program of stocking streams and lakes with trout, bass, perch and other fish raised at state hatcheries. This restocking has been done at both state-owned lakes and in public streams. Fishermen get the "urge" to go fishing in the spring and hook the hungry fish with ease. The fish that have been planted are not given time to grow or multiply.

Tourists to Find Improved Roads

BUTTE, Mont. (UP)—Tourists to Montana this year will drive over improved roads in many of the most scenic regions. Poor highways, which in the past have deterred tourists from visiting many parts of the state, almost have been eliminated. Federal aid projects in which the state matches federal appropriation are rapidly providing high-speed roads.

No More "Slave" Days for Housewives, Says Cooking Expert at Yucca Theatre; Many New Recipes Are Being Exchanged

In her model kitchen on the stage of the Yucca theatre, Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig has all the ultra-modern developments in kitchen furnishings and equipment...

"The days of the kitchen 'slave' are over," said Mrs. Ihrig. "The modern mother puts the dinner on the Hotpoint and the desert in the Frigidaire, and goes for a round of golf with her husband, confident that the dinner will be practically ready when she returns."

"The scientist and the inventor constantly are striving to make the work of keeping house less. Conservation of energy has become a paramount principle. Electricity stirs our cakes and whips the cream, cooking with electricity eliminates unnecessary dirt and dust, and every day the home-maker's job grows easier and more enjoyable."

"Color has invaded the kitchen in cooking vessels and furnishings of brilliant reds, blues, yellows and greens. 'Were I furnishing a home, I first would outfit the kitchen complete in every detail, and then spend the rest of my money on the other rooms of the home—but the kitchen comes first!'"

DO YOU INHALE? Why is this vital question so much avoided by other cigarettes? EVER since Lucky Strike created that special process for purifying fine tobacco and told the full facts about cigarette smoking—the industry has been in an uproar. For Lucky Strike has dared to mention things that were considered "taboo" in the cigarette trade. You may have noticed a striking avoidance generally of the word "inhale" in cigarette advertising. Why? Goodness only knows! For everybody inhales—knowingly or unknowingly! Every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette. That's why it's all-important to be certain that your cigarette smoke is pure and clean—to be sure you don't inhale certain impurities. Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to raise this vital question—for it gives you the protection you want... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. It's Odd What Some of These Sports Things Remind One of

The house for the forthcoming Schmeling-Sharkey bout has been scaled at $3 to $20 plus 15 per cent tax, which makes the top price $23. That reminds me that a little lemon juice, squeezed into the water in which they are cooked will make potatoes white and impart a delicious flavor.

Good Word, Jeopardy

"Jim Londos' crown is in jeopardy every time he wrestles," says Mon Jacques Curley. That reminds me that if Charles Perrault, the creator of Cinderella and Little Red Riding Hood, was still alive he would be more than 300 years old.

Johnston's Million

Jimmy Johnston figures on a gate of $1,000,000 for the Sharkey-Schmeling affair. That reminds me that codfish sometimes have been used as a medium of exchange in Iceland, in lieu of coin.

Dempsey Ready

Almost any day now you will be reading an announcement of Jack Dempsey's plans to fight Primo Carnera in Reno during the summer. That reminds me that a rainbow sometimes may be seen all day long in Siberia.

What, No Arguments?

Olympic officials say they expect perfect harmony with foreign countries in the conduct of the Olympic games at Los Angeles in August. That reminds me that in certain parts of Borneo, a wife will wear, day and night, a sword of her husband's while he is away on head-hunting expeditions.

The Davis Cup

A number of tennis experts already have asserted their belief that the United States will win back the Davis cup from France this year. That reminds me that certain large fishes in the tropics climb trees.

Leity and George

Judging from the way they have started out, Leity Grove and George Earnshaw are going to have a tough time winning 10 games between them this year. That reminds me that, according to the Byzantine calendar, this is not the year 1932, but 7440.

That's Lots of Games

A Washington sports writer, following Montie Weaver's third straight pitching victory for the Senators, predicted that Montie would win 25 games this year. That reminds me that once a man has been created a Knight of the Garter, he must wear some part of the insignia day and night.

Here's a Pun!

Brooklyn seems to have more reserve strength than any other club in the National league, as far as grandstand seats are concerned. That reminds me that mushrooms have been known to lift and crack asphalt paths.

MAD FRUMP'S MEAN MANNERS BRINGS TO MIND HER FATHER, MAD HATTER

MAD FRUMP

By MAX RIDDLE

(Copyright 1932, NEA Service) Next to the unbeaten Top Flight, C. V. "Sonny" Whitney's Mad Frump seems the best of the Whitney band of runners that will compete in the 56th Kentucky Derby. Mad Frump is a horse of undoubted quality, with a world of speed, notwithstanding the fact he won but three of nine efforts as a two-year-old.

Perhaps the main reason why Mad Frump was not greater as a juvenile was that his temper was not the best. In this respect he is a typical son of his father, Mad Hatter, who was noted for bad manners. Mad Hatter had a trick of quitting when you wanted him to run, and vice versa, but despite his faults won 32 races and close to $195,000.

Before he was asked to run in a race Mad Frump had shown such high class speed he was put in the United States Hotel Stakes, at Saratoga, without a warmup race of any kind. He was placed in number 12 stall and broke tenth. At the half he was still tenth, but he had moved up two places when the field entered the stretch. He then gave a demonstration of sensational running to be fourth to Mortair, Osculator and Tick On.

Starting in 17th place in the Hopeful, Mad Frump broke with the leaders, then dropped back to fifth. He was seventh in the Belmont Futurity to Top Flight, his stablemate, and Mad Pursuit, his half brother. Mad Frump earned his brackets in an overnight race in Maryland when he beat Ladino, Thursday and others, including the English-bred Derby candidate, Heroville. He repeated the following week by beating Frederick and High Proof by two lengths, running the three-quarters in 1:12 1-5.

In winning the Endurance, a mile and a sixteenth, Mad Frump demonstrated great speed and courage. While Top Flight, Tick On and other high class runners were absent, he by no means had a cheap field to beat. Forced to run on the outside, he came from behind to wage a stirring stretch battle with War Plane, finally winning by a head. War Plans, Brandon Mint, Air Pilot, Osculator and On Post finished

"Better Food for Less Money with Less Work," Slogan of Cooking School

"Better Food for Less Money with Less Work." Midland Reporter-Telegram.

This is the slogan and the purpose of the Midland Reporter-Telegram's Second Annual Cooking School, according to the announcement made by Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig today at the opening session. The school continues through Friday. Meetings are held at the Yucca theatre at 2 o'clock. The course is entirely free, made possible for the housewives of this region by local and national advertisers, political candidates and The primary purpose of a cooking school, according to Mrs. Ihrig, is to bring new ideas and new recipes to the housewife, and to teach her new methods of preparing foods so that her meals will be more palatable. Cooking progresses just like every other science. New discoveries are made in the kitchen as often as in the laboratories. The inventions of a new way to cook an ordinary food-stuff so that "the family" will derive more pleasure from eating it is as important as the discovery of any planet, or the invention of a machine.

In accordance with the conditions prevailing at the present time, economy in the kitchen is a most important item. Every budget has been cut to a minimum. During the course of the school, Mrs. Ihrig will point out new and novel ways in which money can be saved. "A dime saved is a dime earned."

"A TOWN IS JUDGED BY ITS HOTEL" . . .

This is the statement of Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig, cooking school expert, who is stopping at The Scharbauer this week.

She complimented the service, the comfort, convenience and luxury of the hotel and said Midland should be proud to have an institution that makes such a splendid impression on its visitors.

"There's a Death Message for This Man, we must catch him when he comes through here"

His mother had died suddenly. His family was perplexed about notifying him, for he was "somewhere on the way to California." Just where, nobody knew.

They did know, however, he was motoring over a route selected by the Conoco Travel Bureau. So the death message was wired to Albuquerque, New Mexico, which was on that route.

The Continental office set every Conoco station attendant in Albuquerque looking for the traveler. All day Conoco men asked motorists their names. And finally the right man was found, the message delivered to him.

An unusual incident. Just one of many out-of-the-ordinary happenings, however, that have earned a Nation-wide reputation for the Conoco Travel Bureau and its services.

We do more than furnish road maps, help choose routes and supply other travel information. We look upon every Conoco Passport holder as a personal friend to be served in every way possible. Every Conoco station is a branch of the Conoco Travel Bureau, and every Conoco attendant is the traveler's well-informed friend.

If you are planning a motor trip, write us where and when you want to go. Or fill in convenient application at any Conoco station. so the budget is 20 cents ahead," Mrs. Ihrig declares. Less work is sought by every housekeeper. Proper management, and the knowledge of many details which Mrs. Ihrig will indicate during the progress of the school, will contribute toward decreasing the amount of effort which the housekeeper must expend. Years of contact with hotel chefs have given Mrs. Ihrig the knowledge of many short cuts and secrets employed by famous cooks. "There are tricks to every trade and cooking is no exception," she says. The Reporter-Telegram wouldn't dare suggest you grab your husband by the ear and tell him for whom he should vote . . .

BUT WE DO SAY THIS

consider these candidates for office and here's why:

In bringing to Midland Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig, nationally known Culinary Expert, for The Reporter-Telegram's Free Cooking School, the newspaper underwrote all expenses—a considerable sum—in the belief that the Cooking School would be worth many times its cost. Undoubtedly it is, but some one has to foot the bills.

These Candidates for elective office believe the Cooking School is a wonderful help to the people of Midland and Midland County. They are defraying a part of the expenses of the School and urge their friends and the public in general to attend every session. They are glad of the opportunity to help make possible this community event.

Runs for Editor School Paper

Celeste Hankins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hankins, 808 West Kansas, is one of the two candidates of Weatherford college for editor of The Coyote, college weekly magazine. She is a feature reporter this year. Jack Gordon of Weatherford is the other candidate.

Miss Hankins was recently elected treasurer of the Phi Theta Kappa chapter, national journalism society, according to the latest edition of The Coyote.

She did her senior work in high school here.

Work with Children Especially Valuable

Success marked the second annual health summer round-up of preschool children sponsored by the county health department of the Parent-Teacher associations, according to Mrs. E. C. Adams, general chairman.

Of the 183 appointments made, 130 called for examinations at the county nurse's office. Defects totaled 151, 23 of which were dental. Twenty-eight children were vaccinated for smallpox and 21 immunized from diphtheria.

Women who assisted in the work included Meses Herbert King, south side chairman, L. L. Kincaid, Moore, J. G. Gemmill, north side chairman, John Gay, L. C. Link, Andrew Wilson, O. L. Walton, J. S. Noland, J. M. Haygood, Ben Dublin, W. C. Riddle, R. V. Lawrence, E. C. Adams, Misses Adella McCall and Maureen Ham.

tonka" and "Pale Moon" by the choral club, opened the second part of the program.

The realistic setting, an Indian scene with several dances in Indian costumes, was marked with color and beauty.

The climax of the program was reached when six pianists played "The Blue Danube Waltz" by Strauss-Schultz-Eber, one of the most difficult any artist can give. Playing in this number were Miss Lomax, Miss Scott, Mr. Wimberly, Mr. Clark, Mrs. Waterman and Miss Jones.

Lovely was the "Venetian Love Song" at six pianos when again the Venetian scene was effectively used. Players were Mrs. A. J. Florey, Mrs. Glass, Mrs. Emily Kannon, Miss Lena Solomon, Mrs. T. B. Flood, and Mrs. Jowall.

Another of the most difficult and brilliant compositions was given by six pianists when they played "Prelude in G Minor" by Rachmaninoff. This was played by Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Hawkins, Mrs. Kannon, Miss Lomax, Mrs. Walton and Mr. Wimberly.

Appropriately closing the program, the singers, dressed as negro mamies, sang "Goin' Home" by Dvorak. The setting was a boat dock with real little negro children adding to the reality.

STEAKLEY SINGLES WINNER OF SAND BELT TENNIS ASSOCIATION; COUPLE OF LOCALS OUT IN QUARTER FINALS

Dan Steakley, Sweetwater, former Simmons University star and Texas conference title holder, won the singles championship of the eighth annual Sand Belt tournament at Big Spring by defeating H. B. Dunagan, Big Spring veteran, in the final Sunday afternoon by scores of 6-1, 6-4, 3-6, 6-0.

Steakley clearly outplayed his opponent in two of the four sets, winning the first and last frames with the loss of only one game, but was played to a standstill in the second and third sets by the Big Spring racketeer. Dunagan took the offensive to win the third frame, but Steakley came back after a brief rest period, to annex the concluding set in short order.

Both the finalists displayed fine form in their semi-final matches. Steakley carried out George Dabney, Big Spring, 6-3, 6-1 in one frame. Duke Dabney's victory over Kent Bishop, defending champion, was almost as decisive. Bishop winner of the junior singles, junior doubles, senior singles, and senior doubles in the 1931 tournament and successful in retaining doubles laurels last week, lost in straight sets 6-2, 6-4 to his opponent in the first of the finals and with the exception of the earlier part of the second set did not possess at any time an advantage in the match.

It was ample revenge for Dunagan, whose soft ball game forced Bishop to error after error in the first set, Dunagan winning 6-2. The champion led at 2-0 at the start of the second set behind a strong driving game, but weakened to trail 6-4 at the end of the set.

Dabney Loses
Steakley experienced little difficulty with Dabney, who had not entirely recovered from a hard-fought 6-2, 12-14, 6-2 victory over Richard Morse of Midland in the quarter-finals. The Sweetwater player displayed snop stroke to great advantage against the Big Spring racketeer to win 6-3, 6-1.

In the quarter finals, Bishop defeated The Ferguson of Midland in straight sets 6-3, 8-6. Steakley eliminated Bill McCarty, of Big Spring 6-1, 6-3, and Dabney defeated Richard Morse of Midland 6-2, 13-14, 6-2. Dunagan had advanced to the semi-finals over Joe Davis, junior champion, Friday by scores of 6-3, 6-3, 7-5.

Steakley's victory over McCarty was a repetition of his triumph of the tournament. In the second set the Big Spring player fell back upon a lobbing, defensive style of play that was successful in giving him a 2-0 lead, but Steakley began to smash his returns at the net and won the set 6-3.

Dabney and Morse played the longest set of the tournament after the former had won the first frame 6-2 and the Midlandite won 14-12 to even the match. Dabney came back strong to win the third set playing almost errorless tennis.

Bishop took the first set from Ferguson 6-3 behind a strong service and flashed a burst of hard-driving in the second to win 8-6 after the games had stood 5-4, and 6-5 in the visitor's favor.

The slogan was selected from hundreds in a national contest. His picture was printed nationally.

British Select Ronald Colman

LONDON. (UP)—Ronald Colman is the most popular film actor and Norma Shearer the most popular film actress among Britain's film fans, according to data from 50,000 replies to a questionnaire.

The others, in the order of their popularity, are:

Women
Constance Bennett
Marie Dressler
Ruth Chatterton
Janet Gaynor
Greta Garbo

Men
Clive Brook
George Arliss
Robert Montgomery
Maurice Chevalier
John Boles

The first three actors are English. Ronald Colman, an easy winner, is the only star maintaining his popularity since the last census-taking ballot in 1928. Former leaders of the 1928 ballot, who do not appear in the first 30, includes Dolores del Rio, Betty Balfour, Clara Bow, Vilma Banky, John Gilbert, Harold Lloyd, Norma Talmadge and Laura La Plante.

It also is revealed that 57 per cent of the public do not wish to see silent pictures again, though 43 per cent would tolerate them occasionally.

Last year's most popular films are "Hell's Angels," "Min and Bill," "Trader Horn" and "The Devil to Pay." The favorite British films are "Tone of Money" and "Phlunder."

COOPERATION OF MERCHANTS AND OF CANDIDATES ASSURES GOOD SCHOOL

Washington for Forestry Saint

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)—George Washington, whose destruction of the cherry tree is perhaps America's most famous folk tale, is proposed as the patron saint of forestry by Prof. Herman H. Chapman, of Yale Forestry school.

"The independence, self-reliance and judgment of Washington were developed by his activities as a surveyor of woodland areas," says Prof. Chapman. "His freedom from affectation and ability to persevere and await results grew from his occupation as a scientific, large scale farmer, a life which he preferred to the cares and responsibilities of war and statecraft."

In an age when forests were being destroyed as civilization pushed back the frontier, Washington showed foresight by planting shade trees at Mount Vernon, the professor points out.

"He was neither a prohibitionist nor a drunkard," Chapman says. "He could get angry and swear with terrific effect when the occasion demanded it. When the pressure of responsibilities permitted relaxation, he enjoyed himself in hunting and fishing, and enjoyed dancing and the social amenities as much as any of his associates among the blue bloods of Virginia."

A camera and x-ray combination is now lowered into the stomach of a patient suffering from stomach ulcers to determine the location of the sores.

Every indication points to a successful cooking school, the first session of which is under way this afternoon at the Yucca theatre under the auspices of The Reporter-Telegram.

The school is being conducted by Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig, nationally famous dietitian.

The bringing of Mrs. Ihrig to Midland has been made possible by the excellent co-operation of Midland merchants.

The following merchants, firms, and political candidates have made the school possible:

Texas Electric Service company, West Texas Gas company, Midland Hardware & Furniture company, Hotel Scharbauer, Southwest Dairy Products company, Addison Wadley department store, Wilson-Adams company, Scharbauer Coffee shop, Perry Bros. Variety store, Scharbauer Beauty Shop, Hokus Fokus and Piggy Wiggy grocery stores, Conner Bros., markets, M System grocery stores and markets, Clarence Saunders grocery, Gann's market, My Bakery, First National bank, Midland National bank, Midland Bottling company, Mrs. Nettye C. Romer, who seeks her first elective term for district clerk, inasmuch as she was appointed to her present position as clerk; Lenton Brunson, who is a candidate for the office of district clerk; Elliott H. Barron, for county judge; A. C. Francis, re-election for sheriff and tax collector; S. R. Preston, who seeks the office held by Francis; Mary L. Quinn, for re-election to the county treasuryship; J. V. Gowd, who would succeed Mrs. Quinn; Susie Graves Noble, who seeks re-election as county clerk; J. H. Fife, for tax assessor; B. C. Girdley, who asks another term as justice of the peace; and C. A. McClintic, who is an ambitious aspirant for commissioner of precinct No. 1.

The newspaper, Mrs. Ihrig and everyone connected with the cooking school wish to publicly commend these merchants and individuals for their part in making the school possible.

Charge Japs With Buying Munitions

BERLIN. (UP)—The Communist press in Germany has been printing detailed accounts of munition shipments from Germany to Japan.

Despite the general low level of employment in industry here, factories producing goods usable in war are compelled to put on night shifts, these papers say.

No confirmation, or denial, of these reports has been issued by official sources. The Communist papers assert that their information is being supplied by factory workers.

A large quantity of munitions was loaded aboard Swedish ships at Luebeck, the same source said. The crates containing munitions were labeled with names of German munition factories.

Furthermore, it was said that a poison gas, phosgen, has been produced on a large scale in Ammen-dorf, and that powder is being manufactured for Japan's order in Whit-tenberg.

It is thought that the temperature seven miles above the earth is nearly constant.
