Senate Wants States, Other Sponsors To Pay 25 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, June 28 (AP)-The senate wrote into the $1,735,000,000 relief bill today a requirement that states and their political subdivisions contribute 25 per cent of the aggregate cost of their WPA project.

Delay PWA Fund

The chamber acted on the proosal, sponsored by Senator Brynes (D-SC) after temporarily delaying consideration of a proposal by Sen-ators Mead (D-NY) and Hayden (D-Ariz) to provide a new $500,-000,000 fund for the PWA.

Something that has always bothered me is, what do cashiers think when two or more customers, at a fill and refresh stand. stand arguing over who is to pay

I've watched their faces for signs of despair, disgust, or displeasure but the poker faces that they turn on the general public waiting for one person to out-fumble the other are too good to penetrate.

Seems like they would reach the point where they would just take the money out of the nearest hand, make change and let the customers exchange the money outside. But instead they wait until the one, who has searched frantically through purse or pocket while protesting loudly that he or she is to pay the bill, finally wins out and the other person produces the dime or quarter

Maybe cashiers would resent this but I'll bet they could give lessons in how to get out of paying the bill. A sort of "Learn in 10 easy lessons the art of out-fumbling your friends." If it wasn't for the fact that most people would immediately send for the booklet and commerce would so tied up with dead heats at the cash drawer, they could make a mint of money from the idea.

Think how the fellow who searches through the 29 pockets or however many a man's suit has, while saying loudly, "Now, I'll get this," could improve his technique. And the woman who lays out glasses, cigarettes, compacts and keys while hunting a dime could be more subtle.

Some of the tricks are pretty feeble and a cashier having seen the best and the worst could offer some good suggestions. At any rate, the idea is offered to them free of charge.

The Grand Canyon, our grantest national scenic wonder, is the world's most remarkable record of geological time. Forming its walls are some of the oldestrocks known to man, so altered by beat and pressure that their original character has vanished. It is 217 miles long, 4 to 18 miles wide, with its floor 5,500 feet below the surrounding plateau. The beauty of its famous "cities" and "temples" has held millions gripped in breathless wonder by the enchanting spell of its magnificent grandeur.

New Idea On Spending

Just about the time we'd gotten around to thinking the federal government really meant to economize, President Roosevelt comes out with a sugges tion to spend and lend about four billion dollars more in the next few years.

Necessity of the program is debatable; that will have to be "threshed out" in congress. But it is interesting to note that the new program, in contrast to some of those of the past, calls in the main for expenditures classed as "self-liquidating." This is significant, for it apparently means that no more money is to be dished out indiscriminately. Projects are to be sought out which will do good but which, at the same time, will give the government a chance of getting some of its money back in the future.

An example of this is the suggestion to allot $500,000,000 in two years to the Farm Security Administration for use in its tenant purchase program. This is an effective relief measure, enabling whole families to get permanently "on their feet," yet the government eventually will get much of its money

Other similar schemes envisioned by the presi dent are building of toll roads and bridges, buying and leasing of equipment to railroads who are un able to buy it, increased rural electrification work. All of these seem to be designed to give help now but to give the government a chance to get its money back. This type of spending, at least, seems more easily defended than some of the former New Deal

One item of the president's program needs clarification. That's the proposed additional loans by the Export-Import banks to foreign countries to finance the purchase of commodities in the United States. Use of the money to build up our trade with the South American countries might be defended on the grounds of the "good neighbor" policy. But lending more to any of the European nations, most of whom already are head over heels in debt with us now, wouldn't seem the proper thing to do.

Anyway, the whole proposal will have to be gone into carefully. It seems like the country ought to be able to get along without spending the extra four ons. But if it can't, then it's certainly better to the money so that some of it eventually will be returned than to dole it out to any and all comers.

WASHINGTON-Often enough the candidate no first tosses his hat in the presidential ring lives crowfully to see it trampled upon. Such a risk is sing taken by Paul V. McNutt of Indiana, but a ew of the wise ones here are advising against ratching off his name too early. The gentleman, it ne, is smart.

Political comets nearly always leave a train of orched lesser luminaries. McNutt had some of hose. When he left for the Philippines they said he was off for political Siberia. And after that affair with President Quezen over who should be toasted first, the ridicule reached historic proportions.

Yet his current return to the United States, this ime presumably to stay and run for the democratic nomination, finds him as much in the spotlight as a man could be coming back to a country so busy

His campaign organization paved the way for part of the show, including a statewide demonstration in Indiana and a wholesale distribution of pub licity material.

STOOD UP FOR U. S.

From the Philippines have come reports that by his hard-handed attitude in the cocktail affair he saved face for the United States in the Orient. In the Orient that is important. It seems that at a diplomatic partly someone proposed a toast jointly to the president of the United States and the president of the Philippines, McNutt declined to let it be used as

He notified each foreign consul that a toast for the president of the United States is to be separate and not jointly with the president of the Philippines If more toasts are desired, then one may be given first to the U. S. high commissioner (himself) and next to the president of the Philippines. The United States, said McNutt, comes first until the islands are independent. Filipinos boiled for a time with indig-

Just where McNutt stands with President Roo velt is anybody's guess. It is reported substantially here that before McNutt let his name be put up for 1940 he went to Roosevelt and asked if it would em barrass the president. Mr. Roosevelt reputedly said the more the merrier, but added that he was making no commitments.

MANY PROS AND CONS

As a candidate, he has advantages and disadvantages, as viewed by friends and foes. Many New Dealers distrust him. They call him the "man on orseback," a term that comes close to "dictator." Yet a recent meeting of the republicans in Indiana sought to damage him by crediting him with reponsibility for many "New Deal" ideas as governo f Indiana.

He revised the tax system in Indiana, substitutng a gross profits tax as the major revenue source It lowered the tax on farms and homes but made the governor the principal dispenser of money, giving him a terrifically powerful weapon to be applied in reapportioning revenue among the lower branches of

A recent visitor to this vicinity was Ray Osburne, director of investigation of the Texas Wildlife Commission, making a hurried survey of this sector, meeting friends of the state's movement for wildlife improvement.

Osburne, formerly employed as assistant sports editor of the Dallas News, was enroute to Amarillo where he is to attend that city's first annual Sportsmen's show, a week long varied presentation of the various forms of Texas wildlife and man's expressions of appreciation toward the best terment of that game.

Osburne expressed much interest in the work the local affiliate of the committee has been doing, disclosed that the state department would continue to do its part in the move for more bountiful game for this setcion, thusiasm of the sportsmen. It is Osburne's job to see that the enthusiasts are forever acquainted with the state's drives to better the hunting and fishing conditions.

Shows such as the one Amarillo is staging accomplish a purpose. Similar exhibitions would work to advantage locally, said Osburne. The department's assistance is all times available, he said, if local sportsmen should sponsor such a show.

It is Osburne's job to see that the state's primm, long affiliated with the Red Cross, may take an active hand in the exhibitions. He was a two year point winner for his school in the 50-yard free style.

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, June 28 GP—It seems almost like a dream that Tony Galento, the blowsy New Jersey barkeep, and Joe Louis, one of the fastest, most destructive big men in ring history, will climb through the ropes at Yankee Stadium about 8 o'clock (CST) tonight to fight it out for the heavyweight championship of the world.

A year ago the mere suggestion of such a match was considered ludicrous. Last winter, when Tony signed the papers in Miami, it still was good for a laugh. The idea of Fat Tony facing the Louis blasts seemed about as sensible as a barge sassing a battleship. And now, tonight, we actually are going to watch it happen.

Mrs. Tony Galento wraps a towel around the neck of her husband as he ends training for his bout with Champion Joe Louis. She was taking no chances he might get pneumonia, as he did once previous to a fight.

For Louis, the "defendingest" champion there has been, the occasion will mark the seventh time he has laid his title on the lien since he won it from Jim Braddock two years ago. The negro regards Galento very lightly, expects to knock him out inside three rounds of a fight scheduled for 15.

He has trained almost casually and, as usual, has said next to ened just a bit in the second frame, McGehee's Super Service edged out a 2-1 decision over time Forean Buffs in the feature Muny softball league battle at the city park diamond Tuesday evening.

The fray developed into a great four base blows and struck out 15 of the opposition, and Bill Lonsford weak-

He has trained almost casually and, as usual, has said next to ened just a bit in the second stansa nothing. He looks razor-sharp and unruffled. The gamblers, while when T. B. Kendall tripled with fond of pointing out that "any man with a punch like Galento's has a chance," still were offering unlimited money at 8 to 1 Louis retains his crown.

Never a top-notcher, scared and marked by a hundred hard bat-tles, the 230-pound Galento finds himself fighting for the championship at the fag-end of his career. Joe Jacobs, the smartest little in the fourth when Bobby Asbury schemer who ever managed a fighter, is responsible.

The experts have agreed almost to a man that Louis should make a shambles of his stocky, wide-open opponent within a few rounds.

Most of them, like the writer, figures it will end in a technical knock-to defeat Top Hat, 11-10. We look for Louis to finish Ga

Most of them, like the writer, figures it will end in a technical knockout. They doubt even Louis can put Tony on the floor, for Tony is supported by stanchions. Also, he has a fighting heart.

Galento, with all to gain, is almost certain to sail into his tall, sharp-shooting opponent, pinning his hopes on his mighty left hook. He has knocked out a long string of hand-picked opponents with this weapon. But hitting Louis with it is something else.

Maybe Tony, if he piles in hard enough and isn't discouraged by the whip-lash of the champion's fists, will land on Joe at the outset.

Then there could be a wild scene. Louis is not hard to daze. He still Maybe Tony, if he piles in hard enough and isn't discouraged by the whip-lash of the champion's fists, will land on Joe at the outset. Then there could be a wild scene. Louis is not hard to daze. He still doesn't take a stiff one on the jaw very well.

That, though, must be considered an outside possibility. Tony takes a long time to swing his left. While this momentous punch is in progress Tony is an inviting target.

The fight could end in a disqualification. Galento is a rough-and-tumble scrapper by preference. The things that have been written about him in that respect are not fiction. If he's hurt tonight, as he most likely will be, his instinct will tell him to close with his tormentor and fight it out alley fashion. The commission has issued warning that the referee can disqualify an offender, despite its "no four rule.
