STRENGTHENING OUR ORGANIZATION FROM DAY TO DAY

THE MIDLAND LOCATING COMMITTEE IS RECEIVING SOME STRONG ENDORSEMENTS

Has Full Line-Up on Pecos and Barstow and Confidently Expects El Paso's Support

Continued enthusiasm featured the activities of the committees in charge of the preparatory work for the location of the Texas Technological College here this week. The executive committee had several important meetings during the week and the reports from the sub-committees were full of good news.

Last Thursday a committee journeyed to Lamesa for the purpose of securing the indorsement of the chamber of commerce of that town. It found that an enterprising delegation from Lubbock had secured the official indorsement of a majority of the board of directors of the Lamesa organization over eight weeks ago.

The sentiment of the majority of the Lamesa people, however, appears to be with Midland now that it is known that Midland is a contestant for this rich legislative plum. At the time that Lubbock secured the indorsement of Lamesa, the Lamesa people were not aware that Midland was in the race. The encouragement which the committee received from Lamesa merchants and professional men was especially good news and it can be safely said that a large majority of Lamesa people, in spite of the indorsement which Lubbock has received, will work in behalf of Midland, which is the center of Lamesa's trade territory.

A booster committee of twelve on Friday made a trip to Garden City where the indorsement of the chamber of commerce of that place and Glasscock County were secured. The meeting was full of enthusiasm and Garden City people were so filled with the spirit of Midland's efforts that they will work actively for the locating of the college here.

On top of this came the good news on Monday of this week that Midland had received the indorsements of Toyah, Pecos and Reeves County, and Barstow and Ward County. Dr. E. F. Gibbons of the Odessa Commercial Club, which organization is working for the success of Midland, made a special trip to Toyah, and lined up the entire town 100 per cent for Midland and he announced that either Bill Hosey or E. B. Daniels, president of the First National Bank of Toyah, or both, would accompany the Midland delegation to El Paso on Wednesday.

In spite of the fact that the chamber of commerce of Pecos had received overtures from Big Spring, Abilene, Lubbock, and San Angelo, the arguments of Midland were so strong and impressive that at a special meeting of the Pecos chamber on Monday morning Midland received its unanimous indorsement and a copy of the resolutions adopted were mailed to the Midland Locating Committee and to the Locating Committee appointed by Governor Neff. The following letter was received from D. W. Bozeman, president of the chamber of commerce of Pecos:

"3-26-23. Midland Location Committee, Midland, Texas. Gentlemen: Our Chamber of Commerce met this morning and took up the matter of co-operating with you in securing the location of the West Texas Technological College at Midland. We unanimously went on record as favoring your city for this school and appointed Mr. J. J. Simms, vice president of our Chamber of Commerce, to represent us with you in El Paso next Wednesday in soliciting the aid of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Simms will meet you at the Sheldon Hotel Wednesday and do all in his power for you.

"Assuring you it is our pleasure to be of any assistance to you in this matter and wishing you all the success you deserve, we are, yours very truly, Pecos Chamber of Commerce."

The resolutions adopted by the Pecos Chamber were as follows:

"Chamber of Commerce, Pecos, Texas.

"Whereas, The Chamber of Com-

MIDLAND NATIONAL AGAIN IN BUSINESS

A BIG CROWD AT OPENING AND DEPOSITS HAVE HEAVILY INCREASED

The Midland National Bank opened their doors for business Tuesday afternoon and there was much rejoicing among not only the depositors but among all the people of the town. There has never been any doubt after the first few days that the bank would re-open, but the time was the thing considered by all as we did not know whether it would be a week or a month more. All depositors were carried forward as if the bank had never closed and the new organization is here to continue the business of the bank and solicit new business.

It was quite noticeable Tuesday that there were none who drew their money out, but that a large number made deposits, thus showing that there is absolute confidence in the bank. We are indeed glad to welcome into Midland the new bankers who connected with the bank, as they are men who have had much experience in the banking business.

Henry James, of Abilene, the new president, is a banker of large interests in the West and controls several large banks in the surrounding territory adjacent to Midland.

J. B. Wilkinson, the active vice president, is a banker of many years experience and is prepared to conduct the business of the bank in a successful manner. He comes to us from Ovale.

J. V. Stokes, vice president and chairman of the board of directors, and R. M. Barron, cashier, are known to all of the citizenship of Midland and have the esteem and confidence of the community.

The directors are as follows: Henry James, J. B. Wilkinson, J. V. Stokes, H. E. Cummins, Roy Parks, R. M. Barron and Andrew Fasken.

With the re-opening of the Midland National Bank our community is able to boast of two strong, outstanding banking institutions and two in which all the people have absolute confidence. May it mean the continuation of prosperity in the best year we have had. Nothing but sympathy and good will have been shown those who have suffered loss in the recent closing of the institution, and even the depositors have been utterly uncomplaining and patient. Every one had the utmost confidence in those who were working for the re-organization, knew the kind of men who were bending their energies to this end, and that such success as has attended their efforts, while no surprise, has been an occasion for gratification.

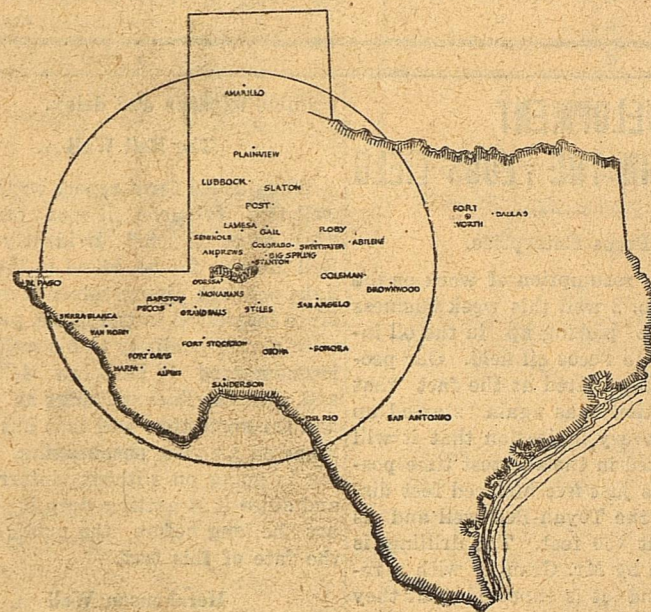

With the re-opening of the Midland National this week and the fine rains, all sufficient for every present demand, there is a general feeling of optimism among our people and "the smile that wont rub off."

L. I. Creek and wife were in yesterday from their ranch northeast. Mr. Creek reports a dandy rain, though perhaps not so much as fell in the vicinity of Midland.

Ranchmen from the south and southeast say the rains this week, though not as heavy as at Midland, were all that was need for a fine season.

MAKING FIGHT FOR TECHNOLOGICAL COLLEGE UPON GROUNDS OF ACTUAL MERIT

Advantages Offered in Location, Growth and Development Are Among Basis For Claim.

The following article, setting out Midland's claims for the West Texas Technological College, appeared in last Wednesday's issue of the Dallas News:

Midland, Texas, March 27.—Midland, which is an applicant for the Texas Technological College, claims that it will receive the backing in its aspirations of El Paso and all towns west along the T. & P. Railway between the two points.

In fact, a strong delegation of Midland people went to El Paso Tuesday to appear before the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of that city to ask for formal indorsements of the candidacy of Midland. Delegations from towns along the T. & P. west of Midland will be picked up and will accompany this town's delegation to the terminus of the line to assist it in getting El Paso's indorsement.

The Midland committee has received notification that this city had been indorsed by Andrews County, northeast of here, as the best place for the location of the college. In addition to this, the committee has been informed that "Tech for Midland" clubs are being organized at A. & M., the University of Texas and C. I. A. by students of those institutions who come from Midland.

All of which would seem to indicate that Midland intends to make a stubborn fight to get the college.

Midland has entered the contest to obtain the Texas Technological College with a full determination to win the prize if it is possible to do so. Already it has organized for the fight and continues to strengthen its organization from day to day. A strong executive committee has been appointed to conduct the campaign with Edward J. Wall as manager. Members of the committee are B. F. Whitefield, chairman; Judge Charles Gibbs, B. Frank Haag, W. R. Chancellor, Addison Wadley and W. S. Hill. In addition to this, there are several other committees to arrange details.

Basis of Claim for School

The city bases its claim for the college first on the admirable location of the town; second, on the material advantages to be offered, and thirdly, on its opportunity for growth and development. For 25 years Midland has been the center of a prosperous trade territory whose radius extends in all directions, but principally north and west for seventy-five miles. It is claimed that the civic development of the town is fully 25 years in advance of its present needs and requirements. The altitude of the locality is approximately 2,800 feet and the climate is mild the year round.

"The soil," said Manager Wall, "is a rich sandy loam seasoned with potash and it has been truthfully stated that anything will grow in this locality."

"There are probably more crops adapted to the Midland territory than can be grown with or without irrigation than to any other farming section of the United States. Among these are cotton, milo maize, kaffir corn, June corn, feterita, all the sorghums, alfalfa, Bermuda grass, wheat, oats, barley, cowpeas, pie melons, peanuts, sugar beets, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, sudan grass, rape, clover, and many other varieties of grass. Some of the truck crops which produce abundantly are watermelons, cantaloupes, onions, tomatoes, strawberries and fruits, such as pears, apples, apricots, peaches and plums. Watermelons raised here have weighed more than 100 pounds.

Stock-Raising Country
"Midland gained its greatest fame as a stock-raising country. For years it boasted of the largest herd of registered Hereford cattle in the world and at present ranches of the locality are stocked with thoroughbreds. Horse and mule raising has also proven to be a profitable industry in this section and polo ponies, formerly raised and trained here in large numbers, have been sold to polo clubs in all parts of the country and in England.

"Midland is surrounded by about 900,000 acres of University or State lands, the price of which would be greatly enhanced if the Technological College should be located here. This is a distinct feature of which no other aspirant can boast and will undoubtedly influence the locating board in making a selection of a site. Another asset of unlimited value which developments now in progress are likely to uncover is what is thought by experts to be the largest potash deposit in the world, discovered near Odessa. The town is possessed of all the public utilities peculiar to a city except a street railway, and this will be forthcoming when justified by conditions. The Bankhead Highway passes through Midland and it is only a few miles to the Puget Sound-to-the-Gulf Highway, which crosses the Bankhead. What more the locating board could ask I do not know."

Four choice sites for the Technological College campus have been selected by the committee, to be offered to the locating board when it arrives. Three of these join the townsite and one is just outside the city limits. What is considered the choicest of these sites is known as the John M. Gist tract at the southern edge of the city limits. It has some improvements on it and an abundant supply of water from a number of fine wells.

It is strange to us that farmers will allow their farm implements to lie out in the weather from one season to another. We noticed one implement in for repairs yesterday. Nothing the matter with it but rust. It cost $200 perhaps, and may be good for this season, when it should be good for a dozen years yet.

"Jno. M. Gist was with us yesterday from Odessa. He reports not more than half as much rain there this week that fell at Midland, but quite enough to give them a thoroughly good season.

WE WISH

to congratulate Messrs. James and Wilkinson upon their good judgment in seeking a banking business in Midland, and we commend these gentlemen as being, in our judgment, worthy of the confidence of our citizenship.

We sincerely wish for the Midland National Bank a full measure of success in the banking field here.

OIL DEVELOPMENT IN THE PEGOS FIELD

From the Pecos Enterprise.

With the resumption of work on the Ramsey No. 2 well this week business seems to be picking up in the oil industry in the Pecos oil field. Our people feel much elated at the fact that this operation has again started up and with every indication that it will be completed in the shortest time possible. It is just five hundred feet distant from the Toyah-Bell well and is down about 560 feet. The drilling is to be done by Mr. Granger with a rotary rig and it is expected that they will make quick time.

The Bell well is getting down to where it should either prove a well or a dry prospect at an early date and the indications are said to be very good but the depth is now below where it was hoped oil would be found.

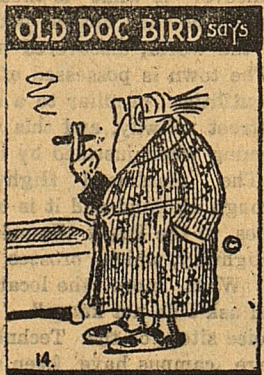

The Wheat well is still causing some attention since they are at work all the while getting things ready to go and that part of the work is about accomplished. If he could secure the funds the well would be going within a few days and it is expected that that part of the program will meet with success in a short time.

Ramsey No. 2 Well

Very satisfactory progress has been made during the past week at the above well. Considerable time was spent getting the water shut off and on the mud pumps.

Everything is now working smoothly and from reports direct from the well, the public may expect in our next issue to have interesting news regarding the amount of footage made.

Mr. Granger, ably assisted by Mr. Mix, both of whom thoroughly understand the business and have the practical experience, being at the helm, the success of the undertaking is assured and the Enterprise believes a well will be brought in with the least

RIDES FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

Watson B. Miller, Washington (D. C.) Bus Man, Sees That Disabled Get Attention.

If you see a crowd of happy disabled veterans riding in a sight-seeing bus in Washington, D. C., it's dollars to doughnuts that Watson B. Miller, national vice commander of the American Legion, is responsible.

Mr. Miller is head of a sight-seeing line in Washington and his hobby is to give long rides to disabled ex-service men of Walter Reed and other large hospitals in the Capitol city.

He also provides cars to carry Legionnaires and families of dead heroes to Arlington cemetery to attend the funerals of the overseas dead.

Hospitalization of disabled veterans is one of Mr. Miller's chief interests. He is a member of the Legion's Fourth district hospitalization board, comprising the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia. Mr. Miller has assisted scores of needy ex-service men visiting Washington for adjustment of claims with the United States veterans' bureau.

Although he was well over the draft age, Mr. Miller enlisted early in the World war and served as a captain in the Motor Transport corps.

PROUD OF LEGION WRESTLER

Charles Gordan of Dodge City, Kan., the Man Who Won at National Convention.

The Kansas department of the American Legion is proud of the record of Charles Gordan of Dodge City, Kan., who is rapidly becoming known as one of the cleanest wrestlers in the Middle West.

Gordan is a farmer and weighs 147 pounds. He has made such a reputation around Dodge City for his fast and clean work that he was entered in the wrestling contest held at the Legion national convention in New Orleans. In the final he met some of the best men of his weight in the country and threw them all. He received a gold medal and the honor of being the best that the American Legion had to offer.

Gordan is an active member of the Legion post at Dodge City.

BOY GOOD ESSAY WRITER

Of all citizens of this country the American Legion values the good opinion of none more than the boys of grade and early high school age; wide awake youngsters, still bound by affectionate ties to dogs and swimming holes and pirate caves, but beginning to take an unfeigned interest in mathematics and history and composition. Of such is Gene Haver of Vicksburg, one of the prize winners in Mississippi, in the recent national essay contest conducted by the legion.

Girls and boys were invited to write on the subject: "How can the American Legion best serve the nation." First prize was won by a young lad of Chinese extraction, of Hawaii; second prize by a school girl in Indianapolis; third, by an American lad of Italian blood in Bridgeport, Conn.

Gene Haver's essay was adjudged one of the best submitted by youngsters below the Mason and Dixon line. He was of the sort the Legion wanted to reach—an outdoor boy, with a pup for a pal; but a studious youngster, withal, first in his class in many subjects.

Despite his accomplishment as an essayist, Gene aspires to be a civil engineer, he says.

IN THE ARKANSAS HOSPITALS

Rehabilitation of Former Service Men Making Rapid Progress; Some Not Receiving Compensation.

Rehabilitation of the former service men in the hospitals of the state of Arkansas is making rapid progress, and the auxiliary members of that department express themselves as well pleased with existing conditions and the constructive plans which are being executed by the hospital management. Red Cross workers, etc., especially at the United States Veterans' hospital at Fort Roots, which was recently visited by Mrs. James H. Brooks, department president of Arkansas.

Mrs. Brooks was well satisfied with conditions and remarked upon the noticeable improvement in a number of the patients. However, she was much concerned over the fact that at least 30 per cent of the ex-service men patients were not receiving compensation, and because of this, are denied many little things they crave, particularly their "smokes."

This is a field for work for the members of the auxiliary, both in the department of Arkansas and other states.

Locating Committee Receiving Strong Endorsement

of the sixty cities and towns that are contesting for the institution. Midland's most outstanding claim is the fact that it is the center of the University lands. There are approximately one million acres of University lands surrounding Midland and Midland County. No other city or town endeavoring to secure the college can make this claim. The location of the college here would unquestionably enhance the value of these lands. It would increase their present market value many times and it is the belief of the Midland people, especially the executive committee, that a great portion of these lands would find ready sale; the money secured in this way would create an endowment fund which would be directed to the advantage of all the State educational institutions. In this manner the school tax of which every citizen of the State bears his or her part, would be appreciably lightened. So far as it has been learned Midland is the only city in the race which has an opportunity to effect every tax payer in the State. High up officials when informed of this condition were noticeably impressed with the importance of this argument and it will have a strong bearing in determining the location of the college. It is known that Gov. Neff is anxious to locate the college where it will do the entire State the greatest amount of good and at no other place could the benefits that will be derived be compared to those which will arise from the locating of the college here and increasing the value of the University lands.

The committee securing the options on the locations desired for the college reports good progress this week. The land owners of the town are entering into the spirit of the occasion and little difficulty will be experienced in securing the desired options on the properties. The most outstanding feature in this respect is the one hundred thousand dollar administration building of the former Midland College. This building is located almost in the center of one of the most desirable tracts which the committee is considering and the building will be turned in at a small consideration with the land. The building is in a fine state of preservation, modern and fire-proof in every respect and could easily be made one of the most attractive of the buildings that are to be erected for the new school. This, the committee feels, will be another point of great weight when the State officials come to consider Midland's many advantages.

Many of the cities and towns east of us are already conceding that Midland's claims and advantages, augmented by a superior geographical location, are so strong as to practically eliminate them and it would not be surprising in the course of the next few weeks to see these towns swing their support to Midland. Midland is the logical West Texas location and the people of West Texas are desirous of keeping the school in that section of the State for whose benefit the bill was passed. If the school is located north or south or east of this immediate vicinity a great many citizens feel that the spirit which actuated the legislators in passing the bill will not have been fulfilled.

As the time grows near for the filing of briefs competition gets keener every day. Sixty cities and towns, many of them with practically unlimited financial resources, are using every means at their command to influence the people in behalf of their claim. The Locating Committee appointed by Gov. Neff has already been deluged with requests from these various cities and towns. Most of the members say and issue statements to the effect that no consideration will be paid to any of these claims until the committee starts acting as a body on May 1st.
