GET THE KIDNAPERS — IT MUST BE DONE

Uncle Sam in the past has shown himself capable of performing some pretty tough jobs—all the way from digging the Panama Canal to pitching in to help win the World war.

Today he faces a new job, one of the toughest and one of the most important that he has ever had to tackle. He has got to catch the man or the men who killed the Lindbergh baby. It doesn't matter in the least what branch of the government system does the job—federal secret service, New Jersey state police, city officers or private investigators. But somehow the job has got to be done, and done thoroughly and swiftly.

It is not simply a matter of public grief and public indignation that makes this necessary.

It is a matter of proving that government in this country is capable of meeting one of the most insolent and shocking challenges it has ever received.

The pitiful tragedy of the Lindberghs is a thing that touches every home in the land.

If a family of wealth and high position, enjoying contacts with the most powerful people and institutions in the nation, cannot provide security for a child in the child's own home, cannot recover the child alive after the crime of kidnaping has been committed—then what child is safe?

The only way in which any of our lost feeling of safety can be regained is by finding the criminals swiftly and punishing them sternly.

This does not mean that we need give way to hysterical demands for more severe punishment. People are already talking about setting up more severe penalties for criminals; the old demand that the death penalty for kidnaping be incorporated in the federal law is being heard again. But all of that is beside the point.

We have plenty of laws now to deal with the kidnapers and murderers—if we can catch them. There is the job that must be concentrated on now, to the exclusion of everything else.

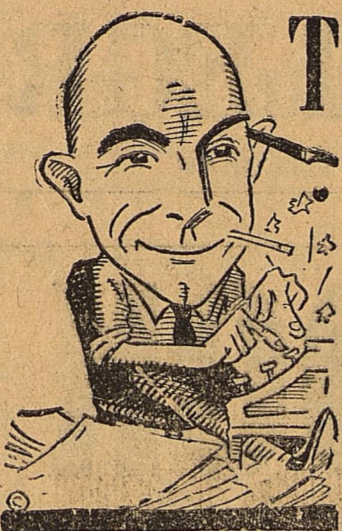

It does not matter how expensive the job may be, or how much work it may involve, or how difficult it may be. The murderers of Baby Lindbergh must be brought to book, if every policeman and detective in the land has to join in the hunt.

Until this is done, all of our pride in American civilization is meaningless. For if a crime of this kind cannot be punished, then our criminals have an immunity greater than anything the most lawless frontier mining camp ever dreamed of.

Side Glances . . . . . By Clark

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

Let him shift for himself. You know he is manager of the Willis Truck & Tractor company and sells Good-years. He is going to enter his mate at Odessa but can't figure out whether to name her Speedway or Pathfinder. If he doesn't train that "alter" off he will have to call her Heavy Duty.

Automobile smoke bombs were doing their worst around here yesterday, but wasn't it a trick of fate that the one placed in Prof Lackey's car refused to work when the hotel corner was lined with 50 or more spectators.

There are a few people left in the world who still offer a doubt occasionally as to whether or not advertising pays. The Oklahoma Publisher advises such people to remember that in the state of Colorado there are 26 mountains higher than Pike's Peak. Can you name them? Neither can the rest of us. Pike's Peak has had plenty of publicity and advertising given it, so it gets the business while the rest of the mountains just sit and complain that business is rotten. Take a tip from the mountains.

I've been assigned the job of finding out what Ab Cooksey got in the mail yesterday. It was a small package, addressed in an elite hand-writing and was delivered to him down town by special delivery. He made it a point to go where no one could see him open it, although he was advised by Roy Proctor and Roy Parks to open it in the hotel. Ab said it was probably a watch or a diamond ring that some friend had sent him, but the "damn sure" wasn't going to open it then to find out.

AIR PATHS of GLORY

Here is Ruth Elder, as she looks today when she dons flying togs for a short time and slips out of her role of being housewife Mrs. Walter Camp Jr. You'll remember her as the first woman to almost fly the Atlantic four and a half years ago. Perhaps you'll recall, too, her pilot, George Haldeman, shown at center left. That's her husband with her in circle. Below is her plane, "American Girl."

By DEXTER TEED NEA Service Writer A pretty, dark-eyed woman with a southern accent, an Alabama accent if you please, may be seen at most any day in her New York apartment. She will always be there in the morning or evening although she slips away sometimes during the day and goes out to one of the many flying fields around the city.

"Walter, how do you want your eggs?" she asks her husband at breakfast, and frequently prepares them herself. She is a housewife, and her name is Mrs. Walter Camp Jr. Four and a half years ago her name was splashed in big headlines on front pages of thousands of newspapers—and she was Miss Ruth Elder then. The drama of the airways, in which she played a leading role, was packed with thrills, suspense and a narrow escape. It began that October morning in 1927 at Roosevelt field when the plane, "American Girl," rolled down the runway, heavily-laden, and soared out over the Atlantic.

George Haldeman, pilot, was at the controls. In the other cockpit sat pretty Ruth Elder, hoping to be the first woman to fly from America to Europe. It was a gusty, rough day. Below white-caps rolled high on the sea. If the motor failed and the plane went down it probably meant death.

But the motor operated perfectly through the day and night. By then the Azores islands were not far ahead. Suddenly Haldeman glanced at the oil gauge. Pressure was dropping. Something was out of order. Down, down and it reached only five points. The motor vibrated dangerously; there was a grinding noise within.

Into the Sea Haldeman knew he must land—on a rough sea. The plane guided down, struck the ocean. No way away a ship stood on the horizon. But the plane was awash, spray shot over it. Haldeman shouted encouragement to Ruth, but she didn't need it. She smiled back bravely. And the plane stayed aloft until after the ship came alongside. The two were lifted aboard the "Barnedrecht," safe, 2,000 miles from America and only a short distance from the Azores.

A gas tank exploded and the plane burned as it was being hoisted aboard the ship, but that didn't matter so much. The two were safe—and millions of Americans breathed sighs of relief when first bulletins about the rescue told the world. Flies Little Now Ruth Elder has done some flying since then. She borrows one of her friend's planes occasionally and goes for an air ride when she wants to be alone. But she misses the excitement, that she admits. This, her third marriage, is a success, and she is content to be a housewife—especially if she can fly once in a while. The urge is still in her blood.

Haldeman, invariably classed among the best pilots, is still flying for a living. He has been chief pilot for an airplane company. He seeks records now and then. His mark from Canada to Havana was a record. He has been in several races. But his business might well be described as "private pilot for particular people." Often he takes a party on an aerial jaunt across the continent from New York—and enjoys the life he loves.

Flies call his "the perfect flight," yet soon after he made it he was to die in a crash. Who was he? Read "Air Paths of Glory" in tomorrow's Reporter-Telegram.

Women Raid Rocky Farms KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—Farmers in the vicinity are looking for a new kind of relief. City women looking for stones for their rock gardens have precipitated the latest crisis.

Not a pasture fence or an old spring house is safe if some woman sees a rock that looks desirable, the farmers say. One Jackson county orchardist went to the city for a day. When he returned he found his stone fence torn down, and the neighbor's cows had eaten the shoots from his young apple trees.

Another man, who likes to sit on an oddly-shaped rock and watch the rippling creek flow by, went out and found the stone was gone. Every rock with a big hole in it, or with some funny shape of any kind, is fair prey.

For a while they tried to scare the women off by advertising the rocks for sale. Many an extra dollar was made this way, and the farmer had the chance to choose the rocks he cared to sell.

But lots of the garden fans can't see any sense in paying good money for worthless stones—because they can't see why a stone fence is valuable, though the same rocks are worth a lot around a tiny goldfish pond—so they don't patronize the farms that have "commercialized" their stone. Only one farmer is admittedly ahead so far. He looked up from a far field and saw a truck deep in his apple orchard. Without attracting any attention, he closed the gate, and put a lock on it.

Then he called the deputy sheriff down the road. The woman directing the operations of the truck paid for the stones it hauled away, and she paid plenty.

She Reduced 38 Pounds The Safe Way "I have been taking Kruschen Salts for 4 months and I think they are wonderful. I am 32 years old and 5 ft. 2 in. tall. I was very fat. I weighed 165 lbs. and now I weigh 127 lbs. and feel fine. If I let up taking the Salts one morning I feel lazy and heavy", Mrs. Florence Loftus, Boston.

This is just one of hundreds of letters we get every month—Kruschen not only causes you to lose fat but while you are losing it you gain health—in vivaciousness—you lose fat where fat is most prominent and at the same time keep stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels functioning naturally.

Any drugstore in the world will sell you a jar of Kruschen for a trifling sum—take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning—go light on fatty meats, potatoes and sweets. But for your health's sake demand and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous. It's the little daily dose that does it. (Advertisement.)

Helpful Health Suggestions

By Martha Bredeleier

HEALTH QUESTIONS

Adenoids

Q. What injuries will adenoids cause? Is there a possibility that a child will outgrow them?
A. Adenoids most commonly injure the senses of speech, smell and hearing. Adenoid growths affect the circulation of the nasal passages and pharynx, so that slight irritations cause congestions, and make one extremely susceptible to catarrh, head colds, recurrent tonsillitis, etc. Children who suffer from adenoids become listless, stupid, backward, restless and sometimes ungovernable.
Children no more outgrow adenoids than they outgrow warts, or cancer, or any other abnormal growth.
If adenoids are suspected, a physician's advice should be sought.

Crooked Teeth

Q. Do crooked teeth really harm a person, other than disfiguring his looks?
A. If teeth are placed in an overlapping and irregular way, they are difficult to clean. It has been estimated that 50% of pyorrhea in later life is due to malformation of the teeth. If the dental arch is constricted, the roof of the mouth is high and narrow, tending to nose and throat infections and causing difficulty in breathing. If teeth do not fit together properly in chewing food, a child becomes under-nourished. Such cases tend to retard mental development.

Endocrine

Q. What is the meaning of the term "endocrine"?
A. Endocrine or indocrinous means "secreting internally." The term is applied to organs whose function is to secrete into the blood or lymph a substance which plays an important part in body activities.

New Books

"Ozardas" by Heltaf is a new book added to the county library rent shelf this week.
Others on the regular shelf are "Texas Cacti," by Shulz and "The Creative Arts in Texas" by Smith.

Tax Divorce Laws Target

CHICAGO. (UP)—Lax divorce laws will put divorce on a par with marriage before the end of the century, believes Prof. James J. Cherry of the law college of DePaul university, who excoriated Reno as the symbol of "easy, quick and painless divorce."

A legal maze more intricate than a jig-saw puzzle has resulted from conflicting state laws, said Cherry. He pointed out that present laws would call a man legally married in one state, while in others he would, at the same time, be variously single and a bigamist.

Tidal waves have been found to measure from 80 to 100 feet in height.

20 Shillings Now Worth 32

LONDON. (UP)—Being off the gold standard has its advantages as well as disadvantages, for some people, at least.
The considerable body of British pounds or sovereigns since the World war now are discovering that, comparatively speaking, 20 shillings is now worth 32 shillings, six pence in some places here, but where else in the world, or in the United States, they ask, can one get $7.50 for $5?
Signs in grocery stores and other shop windows in British cities now are announcing attractive revaluations of the gold pound as part of the "Gold Rush" now gripping the nation. One store announces that "we accept sovereigns as worth thirty-two shillings and six pence in payment for goods."
The sovereign was worth 20 shillings, like the ordinary paper pound note, before the pound sterling was abandoned. In terms of dollars it was then worth $4.86, but now is worth as much as $7.50. That is one of the paradoxes of quitting the gold standard. The pound, unbacked by gold, is now worth about $3.50.

Big Increase in Divorces Is Shown

RENO, Nev. (UP)—Nevada's act in liberalizing residential requirements for divorce seekers resulted in a tremendous increase in filings, it was disclosed today by a review of records for the first year the "six weeks' divorce" law was effective.

The so-called "easy divorce" law went on the statute books May 1, 1931, and in the 12 months since, approximately 5,200 suits have been filed.
Comparison with a similar period for the preceding year is impossible because court house records are not kept on a May to May basis and are not segregated by months. An idea of the increase may be gained, however, by a comparison with 1930, the last full year period during which the residential requirement was three months.

2,118 Divorces
In 1930, with three months as the minimum time of residence, Washoe county, of which Reno is the principal population center, granted 2,118 divorces—less than half the number filed under the six weeks' residential requirement for the year starting May 1, 1931.

Marriage always a profitable Reno sideline, held its own from May, 1931, to May, 1932, but dropped far behind in percentage of increase as compared to divorces.
In 1930 Washoe county issued 4,490 marriage licenses, more than double the number of divorces granted in a similar period. In the 12 months since the "six weeks" law became effective, 5,100 marriage licenses were issued, slightly less than the number of divorce suits filed.

In county fees alone, the revenue from divorces was in excess of $125,000. The marriage license fee of $2 is small change in comparison and yet it netted the county $10,200 during the 12-month period.
Estimates as to the expenditure of all divorce seekers and honeymooners is difficult because one may for board and room. Generally, they spend $100 per day and another work expenditures of divorce seekers are estimated at $5,000,000 per year, and some observers believe that is conservative.

Floating College Sails in October

Plans for a 35,000-mile trip round the world by more than 600 college students, to sail from New York in October and return in May, and to be joined en route by students from England, Germany, Norway and Italy, are being made by a group of nationally known leaders and by men and women prominent in the social, educational and business life of this and other states, it was learned today.

Senators Arthur Capper of Kansas, and Royal S. Copeland of New York, Secretary of Labor William N. Doak, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, Henry J. Allen, former governor and senator from Kansas, and Mrs. Allen, together with others well known here, are included among the patrons of the movement, which is designed to broaden the outlook of American university men and women and give them a first-hand knowledge of foreign peoples, places and conditions, without loss of time in their regular college work.

A trans-Atlantic liner, equipped with study halls, lecture rooms, science laboratories, auditorium, library, gymnasium and swimming pool, and chartered for the exclusive use of the "American Floating University" will serve as home and campus for the students during the eight months, or two college semesters spent on the world tour. Forty-three countries, sixty-two ports and 100 additional places of international significance will be visited and studied.

The University World Tour will be under the direction of a board of trustees of which Dr. Stanley P. Woodard of New York City is the chairman, and which includes Chas. K. Cooper, treasurer of the Santa Fe railway, Dr. Charles F. Thwing, president emeritus of Western Reserve university, Dr. John L. Merrill, president of All America Cables, and Dr. James E. Lough, former dean and director of extra-mural activities at New York university. Headquarters have been established at 66 Fifth avenue, New York City.

A faculty of 55 professors and instructors, most of whom will be on sabbatical leave from American colleges, is now being assembled by Dr. Lough, under the direction of the board. Classes corresponding to those in the usual college curriculum will be held regularly at sea, supplemented by field trips in the various countries visited.

The students will be selected for the tour on the basis of character and scholastic standing, with a quota assigned to each state in proportion to the number of college students resident in the state. Because of the international aspect of the movement, and the interest shown by foreign governments and university groups, a special effort will be made to have the student body represent the best in American college life, it is said. Patrons and patronesses are now being chosen here and in other states to aid in making these selections.
