ODESSA WOMAN KILLED AS CAR OVERTURNS NEAR SWEETWATER

Mrs. F. M. Coffee, 69, Odessa, was almost instantly killed early Sunday afternoon when a small sedan driven by her husband got out of control on a turn 20 miles south of Sweetwater, and turned over several times.

Five Big Spring persons were injured later in the afternoon in a collision of two automobiles, 11 miles from San Angelo. These were Mrs. W. M. Dehlinger, Lafern Dehlinger, 5 year old child, Roy Bartlett, Mrs. Cora Bartlett, and Miss Louis Weeg.

BELIEVE VICTIM OF SHREVEPORT TRAGEDY FORMERLY LIVED HERE

Probability that Miss Maxine Garrett, 22, who fell from a second story window at a hospital in Shreveport, La., Friday night, was formerly employed in the Midland office of the Southern Crude Oil Purchasing Company is borne out in statements made to a Reporter-Telegram representative upon inquiry here today.

A. L. Ackers, of the Southern Crude oil here, said that Miss Garrett left Midland several months ago to work for the Louisiana Oil and Refining Company at Shreveport, and E. H. Stafford, head of that office in Midland, said she was employed in the Louisiana's Shreveport geological office up to 10 days ago. Neither of them knew for sure that she was the young woman who, according to newspaper reports, met her death there Friday.

QUAKE FELT IN CANADA AND IN EASTERN STATES

BUFFALO, August 12.—(P)—A series of earth tremors, varying considerably in intensity and length of duration, rocked portions of five eastern states and one Canadian province today.

The effects of the shock were confined mostly to awakening of sleepers and to violent rattling of windows and dishes, but considerable damage was done in western New York.

SWISS AVIATORS TO TAKE OFF FOR NEW YORK SOON

LISBON, Portugal, August 11.—(P)—Three Swiss aviators, missing for three days, were located here today working busily on the airplane in which they shortly, possibly tomorrow, expect to take off on a flight to New York.

The aviators arrived here Saturday afternoon, landed the plane at the airfield, and began secret preparations for their trans-Atlantic flight, starting from Lisbon.

"Mystery Ship" Is Heard Sunday Night

The nights when the "mystery ship" used to haunt the skies above Midland were at one time limited to once or twice a month; but now, inside a week, the ship has been heard here. Its singing motor awakened several Midland people at 12:30 last night as it went over toward the east.

Popular opinion has it that the ship is engaged in dope peddling from the border. It may be associated with the ring operating with San Antonio as headquarters.

Miss Derryberry Back from Vacation

Miss Genavieve Derryberry, Midland county Home Demonstration Agent accompanied by her sister Miss Inez Derryberry, who is demonstration agent at Sherman in Grayson County arrived in Midland yesterday after a two weeks vacation spent at College Station and Clinton, Oklahoma.

Misses Derryberry plan to spend the rest of this week in the Davis mountains and at Carlsbad, New Mexico.

Graf to Start For Tokyo Tuesday Night

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, August 12.—(P)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, this afternoon ordered the dirigible "cleared for sailing," on the Tokyo stage of its round the world flight, at 7 o'clock tomorrow night, Central time.

He admitted that the departure of the big air liner might be delayed by unfavorable weather until the same hour Wednesday.

New Yorkers Visitors In Thomas Home

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Shelton, of New York City, after spending several days with Dr. and Mrs. John B. Thomas while en route home from California, left Midland today.

Mrs. Shelton is a sister of Mrs. Thomas.

Erh, whom doctors say has not long to live, is showing no interest in the efforts to secure his pardon. "I expect to receive a pardon from heaven soon," was his comment.

Wounded Beauty

Here are Virginia Amarat, 17-year old Spanish beauty, who was wounded, and John Burnett, lawyer, both of Elizabethton, Tenn., who died after a mystery shooting at Burnett's summer camp near Elizabethton. Although a coroner's jury adjudged Burnett's death a suicide, authorities are investigating. Miss Amarat was a ward of Burnett.

COMMISSIONERS IN SESSION TO NAME ARCHITECT TODAY

County Commissioners of Midland County are holding regular session today, the principal business being the selection of an architect who will furnish plans for a new court house, subject to the vote of Midland County property owners.

Judge Hill, by telephone, advised The Reporter-Telegram that full consideration was being given the plans and argument of each competing architect, and that it was not likely that the procedure would be completed in time for publication this afternoon.

Other business, including the routine of county affairs, occupied much of the time this morning.

UNITED GROWERS WITH 50 MILLION CAPITAL FORMED

NEW YORK, August 11.—(UP)—The United Growers of America, a $50,000,000 nation wide marketing association, has been formed, men in agriculture announced today, to work in harmony with the policies of the farm board. It is headed by Julius H. Barnee, chairman of the board of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Murder Charge Not Yet Filed In Sandlands Death

DETROIT, August 11.—(UP)—John Heath, elevator engineer who had admitted struggling with Richard J. Sandlands, federal prohibition officer, on Heath's yacht, Maxine, before Sandlands' body was found in the Detroit River, stood mute when he was arraigned in federal court here today.

He was remanded to jail under $50,000 bond, charged with resisting a federal officer, use of a dangerous weapon, and rescue of seized property. No murder charge has been filed as yet.

Heath's wife, who was on the boat, is being held under $25,000 bond on the same charges which carry a total of 12 years imprisonment. Examinations of both have been set for August 26.

Women's Air Derby Racers Here Today

Blanche Noyes, and Mrs. Thaden, two entrants in the Women's Air Derby, which will land at Midland for a night control stop August 21, set down their Travelair planes at Sloan Field Sunday afternoon, refueled and took off for the west coast. Mrs. Thaden had the new speed cowling installed on her racing plane. Each plane was powered by a J-5 radial motor.

A representative of the Travelair factory landed a few minutes later, making the third landing of that model ship within a few minutes.

A Liberty Douglas, pathfinding ship for the Women's Derby, landed at Midland, air mail pilot on the Chicago to Cleveland line, was at the controls.

A Wasp Douglas, with L. H. Mills at the controls, landed a few minutes later. This ship was en route to the east, to Dayton.

Midland Fans See A Ship Crack Up

In an attempted landing from a flight, Haley Haynes and Ed Slover of Big Spring crashed their Army Standard biplane Sunday near the hangar. Several Midland people on their way to San Angelo to the Midland-San Angelo baseball game saw the ship fly into the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tolbert and Misses Cordella Taylor and Lottia Williams being within a few yards of the crash.

Neither passenger nor pilot was hurt. Haynes was at the control column, a telegram from Editor Bedichek of The Herald said. The plane is the property of Slover, Haynes and Ralph Ashlock, all of Big Spring.

Memorial Figures in "Extortion Plot"

This design for a "Memorial to Motherhood," lofty in structure and Purpose, lies in the background of an alleged $20,000 extortion plot in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Clarence C. Calhoun, upper right, capital city society woman, caused arrest of W. Clark Noble, well-known sculptor, and three others, charging that the four attempted to blackmail her and her husband under threats of revealing "scandalous letters." Noble's design for the memorial had been rejected by the Women's Universal Alliance, of which Mrs. Calhoun was a sponsor. Noble, it was alleged, demanded payment for it anyway.

A Proclamation

By virtue of the position reached by the Midland Colts baseball team as leaders in the West Texas League, and in the interest of encouraging clean sports and wholesome amusements for the people of Midland, I do hereby proclaim Tuesday, August 13, as MIDLAND-BALLINGER DAY in the City of Midland.

The attendance, support and cooperation of the people of Midland at the crucial series between the two leading clubs of the league is urgently requested.

LEON GOODMAN, Mayor
City of Midland.

McLarty Sentenced To Federal Prison

FORT WORTH, August 12.—(P)—David McLarty returned here last week from Canada to face trial on a charge of concealing assets in bankruptcy, following the failure of a $2,000,000 Dallas automobile distributing concern two years ago.

He pled guilty in federal court here today and was sentenced to 14 months in Leavenworth penitentiary.

Fred McLarty, his brother, was sentenced to three years in the federal penitentiary on a similar charge last June.

Army Planes May Be Big Spring Opening

Big Spring may get a detachment of army planes to fly to the opening of her new airport Sept. 11 and 12, dispatches from Washington say.

At the request of Senator Tom Connally, the Secretary of War has directed the commanding officer of the air corps training center at San Antonio to detail as many planes as are available to the opening.

Whether Col. Lindbergh will be present at the opening remains a matter of conjecture.

A. & M. Students To Meet Near Sweetwater

All former students of Texas A. & M. College who can do so are asked to be present at the Boothe Ranch, seven miles from Sweetwater, at 6:30 Wednesday afternoon, according to Aubrey S. Legg, secretary of the West Texas A. & M. Club.

E. E. McQuillan, secretary of the alumni, and Mattie Bell, coach, are expected to be present at the meeting.

THIRTEEN KILLED NEAR DALLAS AS TRUCK AND SUNSHINE SPECIAL HIT

Week End Accidents Over State Take Heavy Toll; Reports Continue From All Sections Today

Death rode the highways of Texas over the week end, with 5 automobile accidents taking a toll of 16 lives. Thirteen of the victims were members of the Sherwood, Badgett and Charles McHenry families, killed at a crossing near Mesquite, 18 miles east of Dallas, last night, when they were returning from a picnic and outing in Dallas.

Arms and legs were strewn along the track for half a mile when the Texas and Pacific Sunshine Special struck them.

Identification was extremely difficult. An inquest was being held this morning to fix the blame.

2 PREDICTIONS ARE REALIZED

A few months ago, a Midland man said that the day would come when oil companies of the country would be using scout planes for geological work, and he has seen the day come when his prediction ceased to be a prediction.

H. M. Becherer also said at the time that radio work would abolish some of the danger of the Allegheny mountain route for aircraft. This prediction, too, has been justified in practice.

The part directional and ground to plane voice radio is playing in making the much discussed Allegheny mountains safer for flying had much to do with lowering the scheduled time over the eastern division of the N. A. T. lines during July.

"The hazards of the Alleghenies, about which much has been said by persons not conversant with the facts, are being rapidly reduced by the increased use of radio on N. A. T. planes," said Mr. Seymour of that company.

"During the last few months many scheduled trips with mail and express would have had to be forfeited because of weather conditions, if N. A. T. planes had not been equipped with radio," he continued. "The development of this branch of the science of radio, for which the major credit must go to the airways division of the Department of Commerce, is of the utmost importance to air transport operations today and in the future."

"Recent agitation on the part of some persons to have the route of Chicago-New York airway changed to a more northerly course and thus avoid the mountains, as an extra safety measure, is not borne out by the facts.

"There have been seventy-eight fatalities in the air mail service since the beginning of the government operations eleven years ago, according to figures just released by the post office department. Of this number two were mechanics struck by propellers and one clerk, killed in an unauthorized flight. Out of this number only seven fatalities have occurred in the Alleghenies.

"Of the total number of fatalities, thirty-three have occurred on the transcontinental airway from New York to San Francisco. Of this number, only six fatalities have taken place in the Allegheny mountain region.

"These facts tend to refute the arguments of those who contend that the Allegheny route is too dangerous to fly over. It is the most direct route and airplanes fly on a straight line between two points. With reasonable care and preparation, combined with the advantages of radio communication and directional beam equipment, the Allegheny mountains will soon offer no more of a barrier to the mail pilot than any other region."

TANK EXPLODES

HOUSTON, Aug. 12.—(P)—The cause of an ammonia tank blast, which took the lives of three men and injured several others yesterday at a dairy plant here, is being investigated today. The explosion shook the neighborhood for several blocks and spread deadly fumes over the section.

DENISON MAN KILLED

DENISON, Aug. 12.—(P)—A. J. Lovell, 65, was instantly killed today when he was struck by a Missouri, Kansas and Pacific train while he was crossing the track near his home. He was going after a bucket of water.

GIRLS HURT

LUBBOCK, Aug. 12.—(P)—Madeleine Kelly, 17, and Winta Stubbs, 13, were injured, probably fatally, in an automobile collision here last night.

MORE FOOLISH THAN BRAVE

Arthur Schreiber and Albert Buschka have a lot in common—they can now sympathize with each other, but the public on both sides of the Atlantic probably will sympathize with neither of them.

Arthur, you will remember, is the youth who stowed away on the trans-Atlantic plane, Yellow Bird, just before it hopped off from Old Orchard, Me., for Paris. His added weight caused the flight to fall short of its goal, the French flyers being forced down in Spain when triumph was almost within their grasp. He got a cold reception when the French aviators finally reached Paris.

Albert, you have doubtlessly read, is the German youth who stowed away aboard the Graf Zeppelin on its record flight to this country. Commander Eckner, enraged, clapped Albert in irons, put him on a bread and water diet aboard the dirigible and announced that he would be sent back to Germany in disgrace.

In both cases, the public seemed in hearty accord with the treatment the stowaways received. Arthur's rebuff in Paris and Albert's punishment at the hands of Dr. Eckner seemed to meet with popular approval.

All of which is as it should be. These two young daredevils were more foolish than brave. They accomplished nothing for the good of themselves or for the good of aviation. Merely to satisfy an abnormal—and unnatural—craving for a thrill, they risked their own lives and endangered the lives of others by their foolhardiness.

The world respects and admires men who risk their lives to attain an object, an aim or a principle. It has little patience, especially in this day of sane and practical aviation, with sheer daredevils, however spectacular their feats may be, who recklessly endanger the lives and enterprises of others for the sake of a mere thrill.

AVIATION'S REAL SERVICE

While endurance flyers circle over airports, trans-Atlantic flyers spin off over the sea and other spectacular stunts go about their tasks, the rank and file of aviation continues with the ordinary, unexciting tasks that are making aviation valuable to the people as a whole.

Lost in the dispatches telling of more stirring events is a brief paragraph from Ottawa, Ontario, telling how Flight Lieutenant N. C. Forks has just finished an experiment in dusting trees in a northern Ontario forest from an airplane to exterminate the spruce bugworm.

This insect pest ruins many acres of trees annually. Lieutenant Forks has found that it can best be attacked with the airplane—and thus, unnoticed, proves himself a more valuable airman than a dozen of the more famous ones.

A POLICE CHIEF RECANTS

The American flapper, apparently, has a certain dauntlessness before which even the determination of a chief of police is as nothing.

The police chief of a small Illinois city the other day stirred by the outrages his modesty suffered whenever he walked down the street, announced that the girls must wear stockings. Any girl, he declared, who appeared on the street bare-legged would be taken to the city jail. Then he sat back and waited for developments.

They came rapidly. The girls who had been going stockingly continued to do so, and defied the chief to arrest them. And, presently, the chief wilted. He rescinded his edict; more, he announced that he had never issued it, and said that anyone who said he did, lied blackly.

And there the matter stands. Evidently it takes a strong man to defy the American flapper.

Reporter-Telegram Blanks

The Irishman who, in a moment of weakness, beat up a collector and two policemen deserves the sympathy of all strong men.

And then, there was the man who got talked about by the neighbors when he brought home a manhole cover and tried to play it on his phonograph.

Headline in a New Mexico paper: "Snyder denies he was killed in gun battle." Snyder did not give the method by which he was killed. He didn't even say where he was buried.

To break into print one should be named Huston. First, Walter Huston stars in a new talking picture, then Wilbur Huston is chosen by Thomas A. Edison to be his successor, and Claudius H. Huston is named by political forecasters as the probable Republican national chairman.

The Atchison (Kas.) Globe says: "Every age has had writers who said the world was going to the devil. But the world is still here." Yes, but where are the writers?

How altitude affects Jimmy Smith, the editor of the Snyder Times-Signal, is seen in a letter written from a cabin in New Mexico mountains: "As I noted the white and black silver lined clouds that were rolling over the top of the Sandia mountains, I wondered to myself just how infinitesimally small we humans are and what a marvelous panorama of all phases of human endeavor our Creator has prepared for us."

Jim Ferguson, who still keeps a watch on state politics says in the Forum: "At last count we had a lodge-man, a cowboy, an ex-mayor, an old maid, an aviator, a disappointed representative and three or four wind-bags all running for governor." Before reading this, we didn't know that "wind-bag" was a hyphenated word.

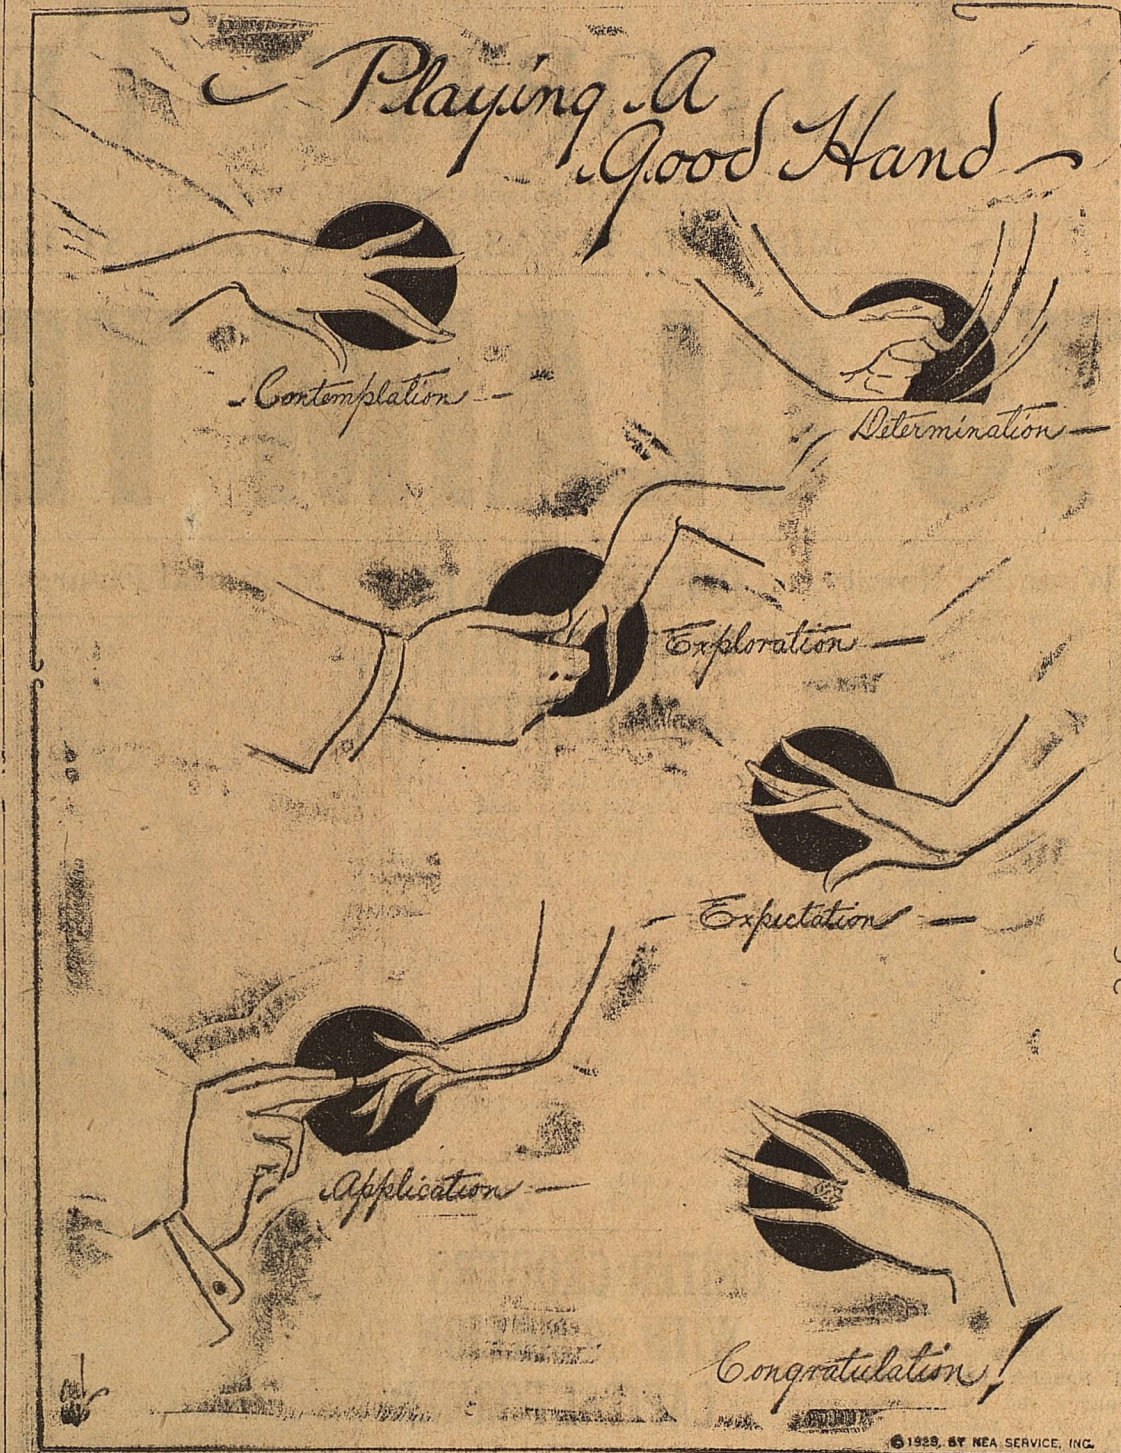

We wonder if the man who was killed in the New York grave diggers strike got a decent burial.

When Ralph Shuffler moved to Odessa as editor of the News-Times West Texas got another good citizen. The Reporter-Telegram editor already knew him, even of the golf trophies he has carried off at various press conventions.

Ralph proves himself to be a good West Texan by the following hospitable paragraph taken from his "Brainstorms by the Boss" column:

The Boss appreciated the friendly greeting sent over by special plane from friend Paul Barron of the Midland Reporter-Telegram. I appreciate it because it shows the proper co-operative and friendly spirit on the part of a neighboring city and its citizens and I appreciate it because I like Paul Barron. The only thing I can think of which I'd appreciate more would have been for Paul to come over and spend the day and deliver his message in person. But this getting out a daily newspaper must be quite some undertaking. If Paul Barron works six times as hard getting out his six papers a week as the Boss has to work getting out this one, he wouldn't be able to come to Odessa if he had time and he wouldn't have time if he was able. So, we can understand Paul's absence and we are glad to state that some of his fellowtownsmen who are not so darn busy, were with us and enjoyed our party.

CRUCIAL SERIES OPENS TUESDAY WITH BALLINGER IN MIDLAND FIGURES SHOW MIDLAND LEADING LEAGUE IN EVERY BRANCH

TEAMS ONLY HALF GAME APART AS EACH HIT HARD TO WIN SUNDAY JOUSTS; BIG ATTENDANCE EXPECTED

Midland wins; Ballinger wins. The same old story. Midland beat Angelo, 12-9; Ballinger beat Abilene, 10-8—that was about the only difference. Midland remains a half game ahead of the charging Bearcats. And that half game, while a mighty slim lead, may be the means of bringing the ole piece of bunting to Midland this season.

To slip you the sub rosa stuff, mates, the big thing on the baseball horizon is the coming series with Ballinger, opening right here at Cowden Park, Tuesday and continuing for two more days. The teams cannot be more than a half game apart on that opening day, and each will have approximately a dozen games more to go.

May Be Decisive The series will be more important than the club of things seem to warrant; the fact that wins two of the three-game series will probably win the last half, scribes of the circuit say. Other clubs of the league show little inclination to brace up and beat either Ballinger or Midland. Midland has won eleven games in a row, and Ballinger has won something like 85 per cent of her games played during the past month.

Johnson Talks "If you're going to come out during the season, now's the time to do it," Vice President Arthur Johnson said this morning. "Those Colts are in there to either win or lose, and that right away. It is up to the supports to largely decide which."

Johnson said that it is the patriotic thing to come out to the park for the three days of the series and boost the Colt spirit by rattling pop bottles and yelling encouragement.

How Maulers Hit! The Midland Maulers fell upon the slants of the elongated Siki Sikes Sunday and before he could quip the pillock they had garnered seven hits and 5 runs in 2-3 innings.

The Maulers continued their hard hitting to lay up 15 hits and 12 runs in the Sheep Herders' 9 blows and 9 runs. Eight home runs were hit during the melee. Eubank, Andrews, and Virden followed Sikes on the mound against the Colts but suffered the fate of their teammates. John Kings' antics kept the huge crowd in an uproar.

Bean Saves Game At the same time, Bean, first sacker for Ballinger, was blasting out a home run in the ninth with two on bases to keep that club from dropping down in the percentages. Abilene was the victim of the Bearcats' 10-8 count.

Halbert of Coleman kept Big Spring down to three hits and won a tight game, 3-2.

SPORT BRIEFS

And now baseball is becoming so serious a part of the life of the town that the mayor has declared a Midland-Ballinger day. All the fans will take off their hats in deference to the good sportsmanship of the gentleman for that. Midland winning is distinctly a sure-fire baseball town.

Other towns are much the same. The winner always comes in for his share of acclaim; its the poor gutterite or cellarite who catches the butt-end of the whip the public wield.

Its gate attendance that the Colts need now; those stands need to be crowded. And every fan should not only buy cushions; he should bring out bells and pop bottles and everything which can be rung, clashed, blown or otherwise treated so that a noise can be made. Ballinger is not visiting Midland just to observe the amenities. The club will step off with three baseball games and the second half decision if Midland, assisted by the fans, does not go the Bearcats three better. If you are patriotic you will be at the park. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, y'know.

Take a look at how Midland is treating the average column of the league these days. In almost every department of the game, the Colts are excellent, or barely missing first honors. Its all tabulated; read for yourself.

The Bushers were skidded for a loss Sunday by the Gulf Club from Carroll. "Too good for us," Manager Carroll Hill said this morning. Which is a mighty fine thing for Hill to say, considering that his club missed every chance to win, and that the club he put on the diamond Sunday was nothing like the strength of their pine at ordinary times.

"Forney pitched a nice game, but there were 15 errors," Hill said. The score was 15-4.

The Bushers still are ahead in the percentage column, having won 16 and lost 13 games this year.

Some of the players of the league are being touted as being such-and-such in the records. Among them we find Stagner, catcher for the Colts. The endurance record for catching will be claimed by Stagner, now the regular receiver for the Midland Colts, until somebody comes along with a better one. Stagner is said to have served an entire season for Paris in the Western association without relief, taking double headers and all.

That strain on the Salina product apparently did not bother him. It has been several seasons since he performed the iron man catching act, but today he is one of the best maskmen in the West Texas league, and this loop, by the way, is far better equipped with receivers than it is in most other departments.

Outside of the pitcher, the catcher has the most strenuous assignment. He is up and down around two hundred times each game, chasing fouls, steady the pitcher, and keeping an eye on enemy base runners. Managers like to let their regular backstops have an average of one day or more of rest out of every week.

Business conditions in this city are above average for the month of June according to the map of Texas business appearing in the August issue of the Texas Commercial News.

A few sub-average areas, relatively small in size, are portrayed by the map but the great majority of the state is shown as being either fair or good, the latter areas including the greater part of West Texas and the Panhandle, Central Texas, a section surrounding Houston and Beaumont and a long strip following the Lower Rio Grande Valley to a point well beyond Laredo.

Accompanying the map is a detailed commercial review of general business conditions in Texas prepared by Bernard Nichols, Bureau of Business Research, University of Texas.

One third of the commercial spinach crop of the United States is grown in Texas, most of it in the Rio Grande Valley.—Texas Commercial News.

The Texas public road system comprises about 180,000 miles of which nearly 20,000 miles are known as 'improved.' State and Federal improved highways total 9,645 miles and there are about 10,000 of gravel, sand, clay or other 'improved' roads.—Texas Commercial News.

Hereford claims the largest single wheat field, under one fence, in Texas. It comprises 6,000 acres.—Texas Commercial News.

LARGE VARIETY OF PLANES TO BE AT EXPOSITION

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 12—With the decision made less than two months before the opening of the International Petroleum Exposition and Congress here, October 5-12, to devote more than 40,000 square feet of space to airplane exhibits, every effort is being made to bring as large a variety of airplanes to the oil show as has ever been presented in the United States.

General Manager William B. Way announced this week. The addition of the aviation department to the Exposition came as an official recognition by the petroleum industry of the benefits the industry has derived from the infant science.

The airplane, Way points out, is not to be considered as merely a new market for products of the industry.

"In the exploration, drilling, producing, refining and marketing branches of the industry," says Way, "the airplane has cut down time, an important consideration in the industry."

"This saving of time is not confined to enabling the executives to make their trips at high speed and high above bad roads, to permitting superintendents to keep in closer touch with the units in his jurisdiction, and the contractor to keep in practically continuous contact with his scattered strings."

"Probably aviation's greatest service as a time saver is in its assistance to the geologist. By aerial photography the geologist is enabled to explore large tracts in a tenth of the time required without the use of the airplane."

"After the geologist has pieced together the photographs he has taken from an airplane he does not make out a long wordy report but merely sends the topographical map to the chief geologist who will consider his course of action from it by studying it under the stereoscope, an instrument which brings the markings into high relief."

"The airplane has caused the industry to produce gasoline of great efficiency. The airplane fuel is highly volatile and has a low vapor pressure, thus greatly minimizing the chance of vapor lock which 'kills' the motor."

"The airplane has proved of great value in testing fuels and lubricants. 'Volumes could be written on the close association of the airplane and the lighter-than-air craft with the petroleum industry.'"

Way has sent invitations to 179 airplane manufacturers in the country to take part in the aviation program at the Exposition.

INGRAM'S LATEST IS MASTER PHOTODRAMA

At once a searching study of men's—and woman's—secret motives and a fast-moving drama with a rapid succession of big moments, brilliantly acted, Rex Ingram's United Artists production of Cosmo Hamilton's "The Three Passions," now at the Grand Theatre, is as striking a piece of work as this great director has ever given us, while entirely different from any of his earlier achievements.

The first picture in which the creator of "The Four Horsemen," "Scaramouche," "The Prisoner of Zenda," and "The Garden of Allah" has told his story against British backgrounds, it has much more to recommend it than its pictorial originality, yet its studies of London life are fascinating; they include the fashionable "West End" and the sordid "East End" and there is real drama in both settings. Then there are glimpses of life at Oxford University, with beautiful studies of Magdalen College, and by way of contrast, of the struggle for existence in a huge shipyard.

These new and fascinating backgrounds are, however, always subsidiary to a story in which the clash of those overmastering passions, Money, Religion, Love, is the theme; in treating it, Ingram's fine imagination and power of inspiring his artists are seen at their best.

Money is typified by the personage of Viscount Belmont, a roughhanded, uncultured shipbuilder who has fought his way to the peerage and the distinction of being "the richest man in all England." Shayle Gardner, the British screen and stage player, who creates this part, is yet another Ingram discovery.

In conflict with him is Religion to which Belmont's son Philip (Ivan Petrovitch) turns in revulsion from his father's materialistic creed. As the idealistic "undergraduate," Ivan Petrovitch will certainly increase his already tremendous following among women picture-goers.

Then there is Love in the personage of "Blossie," Lady Victoria Burlington (Alice Terry) a capricious, lightly, modern English Society girl on this occasion, and as delightful as ever in that character—one that develops with the story.

Needless to say which Passion wins in the end, but before it is reached there is rich entertainment, many thrills and more than one sob.

T. F. Smalling, of Balbuckle, Tennessee, was in Midland Sunday and today, returning from a visit with his son T. F. Smalling Jr., formerly of Midland, who is now Chevrolet dealer at Pampa.

R. A. Disney of the Disney & Gohson Oil Company has been in Midland on business from his home in Ranger, Texas.

BIG ED AHEAD WITH BAT AS DAYS NARROW

Ed Kallina, Midland's stellar first sacker, stands off by himself in the lead of all the West Texas league hitters in this week's averages after a big week with the stick. His .432 average is ten points better than his rival for top place, Garland Orr, who has left the league to join the Springfield, Mo., club. Kallina holds undisputed home run honors now with 35, nine of which were added during the past week. He is second to Flowers of Midland the leading run getter in the league. Anderson of Abilene leads in the number of hits with 154, followed by Orr, of Abilene with 141. Lynch of Ballinger has 53 stolen bases.

Club batting averages reflect Midland's big week and Midland tops Abilene by seven points, and leads in home runs. Ballinger leads in stolen bases with 167. Blake of Midland added to his string of victories until his count now stands 9 wins against one loss. Parker of Ballinger has won the most games with 15 victories to his credit. Moore of Midland leads in strike-outs. 300 hitters, pitchers winning half or better of their games, and club batting through Monday, August 5, follows:
