TEXANS ARE FOUND DEAD AFTER CALL

Police Hear a High Voice Thought A Man's

FORT WORTH, May 23. (UP)—C. M. Hamm, 39, building contractor, and his wife, 40, were found dead in their apartment this morning after a telephone call to physicians asking...

BEER TAX BILL IS DEFEATED BY HOUSE MEMBERS

WASHINGTON, May 23. (UP)—The House today defeated the O'Connor-Hull bill to legalize and tax beer containing 2.75 per cent alcohol by weight.

"Ma" Pours It on Administration

WACO, (UP)—Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson definitely linked her husband to a major part in her proposed second term as governor in opening her campaign for the office here.

"I may not be the best governor Texas ever had," she said, "but I will have the best governor Texas ever had to help me. We are ready to take the blame."

Mrs. Ferguson referred briefly to her defeat in the last election. "I wish I could go back to the people of the state and tell them that I was not elected because my prophecy came true."

"I shall ask nobody to vote for me because I am a woman. But I wish that everybody would vote against me for that reason. I am not asking for woman suffrage. I am asking for equal suffrage. I think all this talk about men running the state is so much better than women has all been exploded more or less. Just let your mind ramble back for six years with men and then remember the two years with just one woman and you will be ashamed that you ever said anything against a woman. If you think the last six years was not a fair sample of men, then go back to the six years before my administration. I had to clean up after that six years of Hobby and Neff, and now I have to do the same after two more of the same kind."

"If I have loved you well, then in these days of depression and despair you should not again experiment with a novice, nor trust the incompetent."

"I have no desire to be a two-bit economist or a peanut statesman. If I can't bring real relief, then I will disappoint myself and the people too."

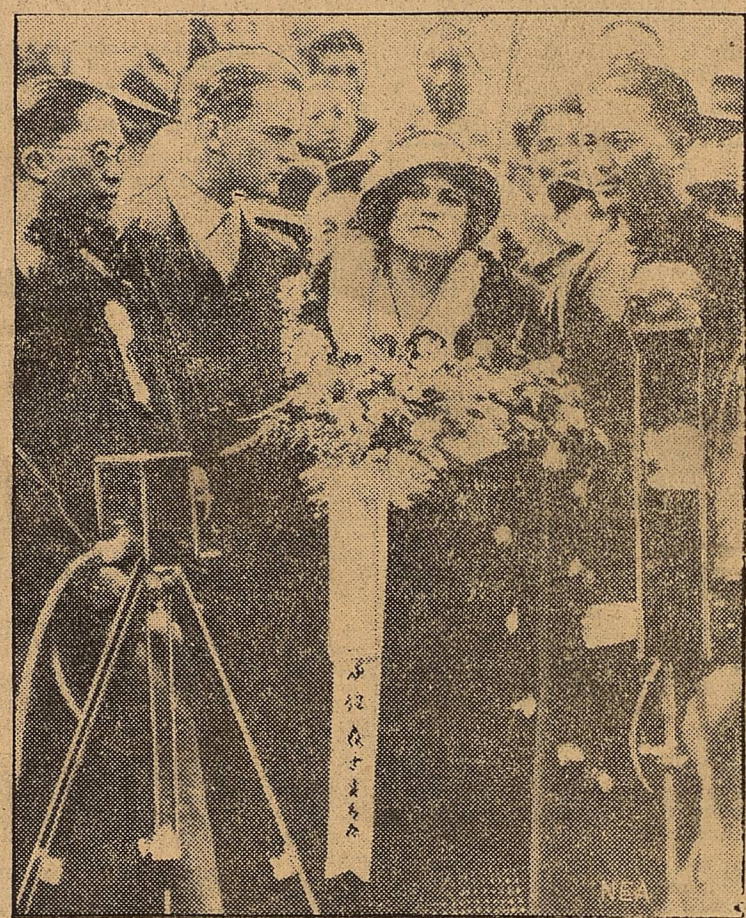

Legion Wins in Jackrabbit Row

ODESSA, May 23. (Special) County Judge Henry E. Webb today granted a temporary injunction in the jackrabbit roping controversy, and advised his son, Sheriff Reeder Webb, to withdraw his order restraining the event, which is scheduled at the Memorial day celebration here.

The injunction is effective for 30 days, a final hearing on which was set for June 21. Judge Webb held that jackrabbits were not animals, but rodents.

Amelia Doing the Rounds Of London After Flight

Chinese Greet Air Hero's Mother

LONDON, May 23. (UP)—Amelia Earhart Putnam today went on the first of several shopping trips to replace clothing borrowed from a Londonderry Irish woman and members of Ambassador Mellon's official household.

She is a guest today of the British Institute of Journalists. She announced she would receive correspondents this afternoon.

DO-X Takes off For England

VIGO, Spain, May 23. (UP)—The DO-X departed for Southampton, England, this morning en route to its base at Lake Constance.

Ira Yates Finally Gets in Airplane; Took an Emergency

SAN ANGELO—It took an emergency, the illness of his wife at Dallas to prevent him from getting in an airplane, and a landing at night at Hillsboro to await passage of a storm added to his worries before reaching Dallas eight and one-half hours after take-off. Mrs. Yates had suffered a heart attack reached him at McAllen, he related here Saturday.

The wealthy ranchman and his son, Louis Yates, had left San Antonio by automobile at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, May 14, for the lower Rio Grande valley. Mrs. Yates was stricken while in a store at Dallas at 2 o'clock that afternoon but her husband and son could not be located until they reached a hotel in McAllen. It was 7:30. They telephoned the Gunter hotel in San Antonio to have a safe placed and trustworthy pilot ready at midnight and Louis Yates drove 272 miles in a little less than four and one-half hours, he and his father entering the Gunter at one minute to 12.

The plane trip to Dallas was expected to require about an hour and a quarter but bad flying weather developed near Hillsboro and the plane landed there until Mrs. Yates could be reached. Mrs. Yates was found to be better and her condition has continued to improve. Mr. Yates came from San Antonio on a bus Thursday night and left on the train last night for Dallas where Mrs. Yates is still in the Rushing clinic.

He was too worried to pay much attention to the airplane trip, but it was all right, though a bit bumpy, said Mr. Yates. Asked if he intended to return to the air, he said he would stick to land travel.

Mrs. Sterling Is Ideal House Wife To the Governor

AUSTIN, (UP)—A wife who does not support her husband in all his undertakings is not worthy of the title, in the opinion of Mrs. Ross S. Sterling, first lady of Texas, whose husband seeks re-election as governor. She denied reports Gov. Sterling's candidacy was opposed by members of his family.

REAL STORY UNDIVULGED BY J. CURTIS

Prosecution in Hoax Must Wait for Development

HOPEWELL, May 23. (UP)—John F. Curtis may not be prosecuted, it was suggested as officials announced that "the real story of Curtis' work remains to be told."

Dr. Condon today was still looking at rogue galleries, attempting to identify "John," the receiver of the ransom money.

MACKAY, ONE OF RICHEST, DIES ON YACHT TODAY

MONTE CARLO, France, May 23. (UP)—Lord Inchcape, James Lyell Mackay, one of the world's richest men, died at the age of 79 aboard his yacht near here after an illness of several days.

Lutheran Occupies Methodist Pulpit

Midland people who attended the services in the Methodist church Sunday evening had the pleasure of hearing one of the outstanding ministers of the United Lutheran church.

Dr. Oliver D. Baltzy of Omaha, Nebraska, spent Sunday in Midland on the invitation of the Rev. Edwin Calhoun occupied the pulpit.

Dr. Baltzy has just closed a pastorate of 20 years in the Kowitz Memorial Lutheran church of Omaha, a church having a membership of more than 4,500. During this long pastorate more than 7,000 were brought into the membership.

The minister spoke on "The Gentleness of the Christian Faith." With dynamic power and pleasing personality he presented a note of optimism and encouragement to the large audience.

"Dry" Cow Gives Milk at Tahoka

TAHOKA—A cow owned by Jack Wells of near Tahoka, whose young calf is three years old, recently began giving milk again after being "dry" for two years.

It was a calf belonging to another cow that made the discovery of the milk supply, when it began suckling its own milk from the udder of its adopted mother. The cow is now milking about two gallons a day.

ONE JUST CANNOT WIN WHEN WHOLE OPPOSING CLUB HOTTER'N CRACKER

Midland just couldn't play good enough golf Sunday to down a club like Sweetwater had for the day. The hosts played far better golf than they had achieved in any other tournament of the season.

When prettier golf courses are built in West Texas, Sweetwater will be remembered for its up-hill-down-hill layout. Fairways go upward toward the horizon or slope downward towards beautiful Lake Sweetwater. One may tire eventually of trudging in and out of the rough, but he never tires of the pretty country.

Midland's golf pro, Sandy Auchterlone, and Mrs. Sandy made up a foursome that included Frank Morgan of Big Spring and the Midland sportsman. Coach Ed Hennig, well known for his district football winner and earlier, for his pitching prowess in the West Texas league, shot a 70—the second tournament in which he ever played. Delo Douglas, against whom he was pitted, shot one of his neatest rounds of the season, but who can beat a player who starts out with three successive birdies and two pars?

Ames for Stardom

No picture in which Adrienne Ames (above) will appear has a more luxurious setting than her own New York penthouse where Miss Ames is now vacationing for the first time since her departure for Hollywood. The terrace, for instance, accommodates 500 garden party guests.

POLICEMAN MURDERED IN HOLDUP OF TRUST COMPANY; THREE MEN ESCAPE; DESCRIPTION BROADCAST

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 23. (UP)—Three men, who had just robbed the Mahoning Trust company at Mahoningtown, near here, of several thousand dollars, killed Policeman Clarence Campbell and escaped in a car which was driven by a fourth man.

Seven Gulf Wells Sold for $300,000 In Etext Purchase

HOUSTON, May 23. (UP)—Sale was announced today of approximately 84 acres, on which are located seven producing wells in the Kilgore area, but N. W. Hunter, president of the Texas Gulf Producing company to the Tidal Oil company of Tulsa.

CONVENTION TO DECIDE COUPLE OF MOOT POINTS

AUSTIN, May 23. (UP)—State political interest centered today on two questions both of which may be answered at Houston this week. Lieut. Gov. Edgar Witt, who has announced he is now devoting himself to helping John N. Garner's chances for a presidential nomination, will probably definitely announce his own plans after the Houston meeting.

The state democratic convention on Tuesday may decide how candidates for congressman-at-large must run.

Senator Witt is in a unique position. If he passes up the chance that enough voters do not want a second term for either Governor Sterling or Former Governor Ferguson, he has the possibility of re-election as lieutenant governor without opposition provided he does not take active sides for either Sterling or Mrs. Ferguson.

Two Lives Lost In Pond Tragedy

DALLAS, May 23. (UP)—Thomas James, 14, lost his life in a pond near Garland while attempting to rescue his sister, Zola, 10.

ROBBERS ENTER STAND

Cigarettes and merchandise, valued between $8 and $10, were taken from the limit lunch room on West Wall Sunday evening by robbers who entered by breaking a window.

CONVENTION WILL START ON TUESDAY

Republicans to Meet At Mineral Wells On Same Day

HOUSTON, May 23. (UP)—Garner leaders, in caucuses preceding the state democratic convention beginning here tomorrow, mapped out a program that will vary only as liberals force compromises.

The Chicago delegation membership is to be made up of persons influential in other states rather than just Texas.

Walter Woodul, state senator, predicts that Garner will control the state convention and the wets will not muster over 300 votes to repeal the plank.

Republicans Caucus At Mineral Wells

MINERAL WELLS, May 23. (UP)—Texas republicans caucused here today in preparation for the state convention here tomorrow without evidence of discord.

R. B. Crocker of Brownsville, national committeeman, said he expected the convention to ignore the prohibition question and give the Hoover administration an enthusiastic endorsement.

Contest May Result For Midland Delegates

Paul L. Young of Midland and U. S. Goen of El Paso will represent Midland county at the state republican convention. These delegates were elected by different republican factions here, and a contest may result before either is seated.

Young was elected by one convention and Goen was named alternate for R. V. Lawrence by another.

Compromise Talk Heard at Houston

HOUSTON, May 23.—Everyone attending preliminary conferences preceding the state democratic convention set for Tuesday turned key-note Sunday, all the ultras and middle-of the roaders frankly declaring it will be a Garner meeting and that nothing should be done to embarrass the proposed democratic presidential nomination of the man from Uvalde.

With that as a starting point, a spirit of friendship and harmony prevailed at every caucus and every conference, more marked than at any Texas democratic convention in the last decade.

About 300 came in Sunday as the vanguard and discussion of the proposed anti-prohibition resolution occupied most of the day until four different angles of the wet program developed. It is not a contest between dries and antis, and it is conceded any resolution or plank for retention of the Eighteenth amendment in the constitution. A resolution asking for resubmission of the amendment. 3. A resolution calling for a referendum on submission either in the state or over the nation. (See POLITICS page 4)

SINGING IN THE BATHTUB

That men like to sing while bathing has long been recognized as one of the harmless but puzzling idiosyncrasies of modern life. Now, at last, comes Dr. Vern O. Knudsen, professor of physics on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California, to explain that this happens largely because the ordinary bathroom is so beautifully resonant.

The bathroom is small, and it is usually lined with glazed tile, he explains. Consequently, it makes an ideal sounding board for the human voice, lifted in song. The man who has no illusions whatever about his vocal gifts may, therefore, be pardoned if he warbles loudly while standing in the shower. The very laws of physics are on his side. Can he be blamed for taking advantage of them?

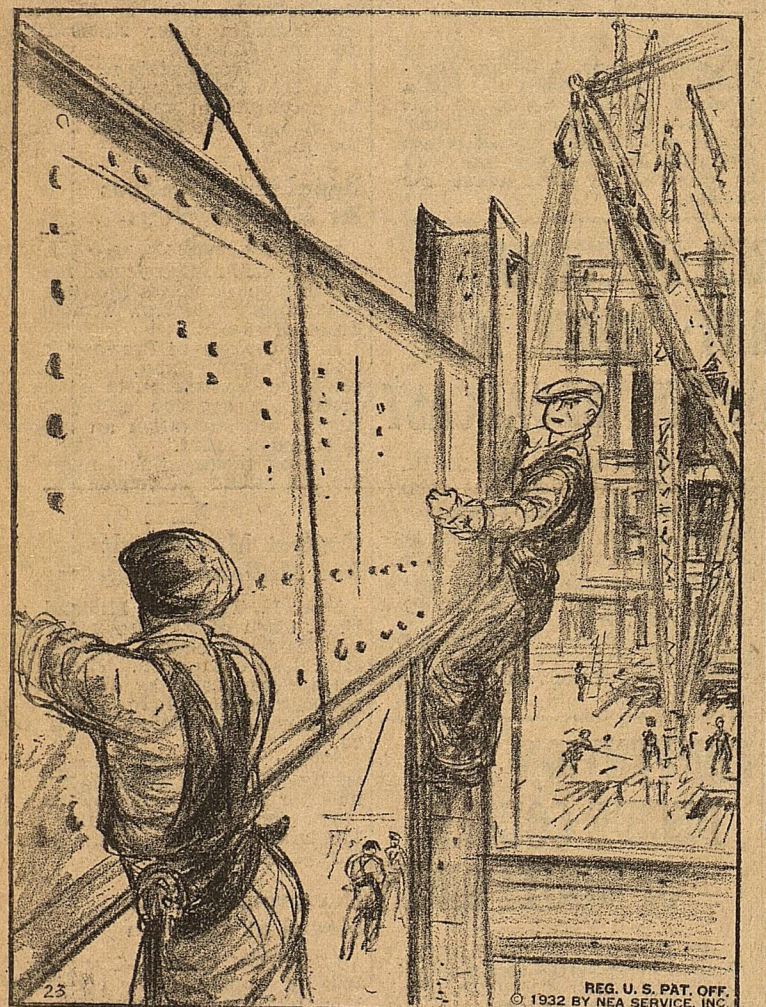

ONLY THE STRONG—

The death of the two scientists on the high slopes of Mount McKinley is a tragic reminder that the climbing of lofty mountains is one of the most perilous sports that the world offers to adventurous men.

It isn't a sport that draws a great many adherents, since most of us do not live close enough to high mountain peaks to be able to indulge in it. But in all countries—in the United States, in England, in Germany, in Canada and elsewhere—there are little groups of men to whom mountain-climbing is the sport of sports.

To climb far above timberline, drained of bodily strength by the rarefied air, heaving paths out of solid ice, crossing glacier crevasses on bridges of snow and struggling up an unblazed trail to heights that only two or three other human beings have ever visited—it is a thrilling and venturesome game. Only the strong dare attempt it.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.)

The case through Judge Webb's court, even if permission is granted to rope the rabbits, will not be many rabbits caught. Any way, say they do rope a few, it won't hurt any worse than a rabbit drive with shotguns and a heavy herd of an humane societies trying to enjoy rabbit drives in this section.

A business man from somewhere in this country said the other day that business was as dull as a can opener after it had been used for six months by a flapper bride.

A salesman, talking up a fountain pen, said it was impossible for him to escape anywhere; but the customer said he had owned plenty like that, and he wanted a pen that would write.

A man married, not for beauty, wealth or position, but for sympathy. And it developed that he had the sympathy of all who knew him.

Some of the boys who attended the Rankin rodeo say that instead of a "chunk the nigger baby" game they had a "chunk the nigger woman" game.

The jack rabbit ruckus over at Odessa is doing one thing, at least. It's advertising the Odessa rodeo over a wide territory. After taking home," he explained, pointing to the silver gray roadster parked a little ahead of the Dunbar limousine.

Denise welcomed the captain of finance, and charmingly, she looked exotic in her fitted black cloth suit with a swirl of silver fox. The man approved of her. From the tips of her slender shoes to the crown of her hat, she was exactly what he would have chosen for a daughter-in-law. He stepped into the car and Denise started the engine.

"What's up, darling?" He smiled at her benignly. He liked her smooth impudence. No one else would have dared to call this old lion "darling."

"It's settled," he told her with complacency. Denise pretended not to understand. "What's she wanted to know?" "Everything we talked about last night."

Denise widened her eyes with flattering amazement. "Who are you?" "Who do you suppose?"

She took one slim gloved hand from his arm. "Marvelous!" she murmured. "He pretended to growl at her. 'Watch the road, young woman, or we'll be in the ditch.'"

"You know better," pouted Denise. "I can drive in my sleep." "That's true," he admitted. "You do everything well." They smiled at each other understandingly. They understood each other's ruthlessness, the ability to take what was wanted with a quick, casual hand. Denise increased the roadster's speed.

"Well, that's that," she said with a tinkling laugh. "Where do we go from here?" "Dunbar knitted his brows. 'I thought we'd give him a few hours, maybe a day, to cool off,' he said. 'Then I'd call him up and tell him he'd better come home.'"

"Do you know where he is?" "Of course," the man shrugged. "I had my secretary call his club today. He's resisted there."

"Smart thing," breathed Denise. "After Bob comes back," pursued the father. "I think we'd better settle matters between you and him for good. This nonsense has dragged on long enough. How about a small wedding and then a trip to South America? The boy's been talking about that for some time. He's been restless."

"It suits me," Denise said. She turned the car into the drive and drew up neatly before the door. "You don't want me to drop him a line or anything?" she asked sweetly. The man considered this.

"No, I think perhaps you'd better not," he said. "His abhorrence of me sometimes we'll have to go about this very carefully. In a week's time, he prophesied. 'You and Bob will be eating the high seas and will have forgotten he ever had any other plans.'"

"You clever thing," the girl sighed. "I'll do just as you say." She hummed softly to herself as she drove away. How simple it all was. Then her smile vanished and a little sharp line appeared around the corners of her mouth. The melting sweetness she had exhibited for Mr. Dunbar's benefit was replaced by a look of stony determination. Bob would pay for this later! It would be fun, she thought, her lips curling in anticipation, to see him jump when she cracked the whip.

Denise drove like a demon and her smile was not pleasant to see.

In a narrow room furnished agreeably with Old English oak a young man was packing his traveling bag. His expression was stern, his eyes intent. He laid out shirts and handkerchiefs, with methodical care. On a luggage rack in one corner of the room lay a huge pigskin case initialed in gold. Everything about the place indicated departure. The telephone rang and the young man answered. He frowned, putting his hand over the mouthpiece instinctively as if wishing to gain time.

He said very quickly, "Yes, of course. Any time you say. At one then."

The young man's face was quite expressive as he hung up the receiver, but the message he had been a pleasant one because after a minute or two he began whistling.

His task finished, he called the office of the club and asked the porter to come up for his bags. Bob rummaged in his pocket for some silver and gave a last fleeting look around the room as though to crush certain he had forgotten nothing. Then he followed the man to the elevator.

When dinner was over Denise wandered from window to window, restless as a jaeger. She was not unlike a slink padding animal, set in her sleeky mess of buttercup yellow satin. It caught the light and its fluid movement followed the slouch of her lovely body. She lit one cigarette after another only to crush them out again. Now and then she would lift the heavy curtains to peer out into the night. It was raining

SOCIETY

Vickers Studio Stages Revue at Odessa Theatre

About 30 students of the Vickers studio staged a clever 40-minute revue Saturday evening at the Lyric theatre in Odessa.

The program included song novelties, dances, readings and other features.

Attractive costumes worn by the performers added a touch of color to the appearance.

Mrs. Minnie Cowden did the piano accompanying.

Those accompanying the party of students on the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. S. Noland, Mrs. John Gay, Mrs. Mabry Unger, Mrs. J. A. Tuttle, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Cole, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. H. Crawford, Francis Heard, Mrs. E. G. Riddle, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Beauchamp and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Beauchamp and family.

A strong Sand Belt Golf association team at Sweetwater Sunday played around par all afternoon and gave Midland a decisive drubbing, 34-10.

The win catapulted Midland out of the first division, placing the club in fifth place. Until the past two tournaments the locals were on top of the association.

Lamesa, through a decisive win over Big Spring at Lamesa, kept well in the lead of the loop but Big Spring held to second place. Colorado moved up to third place, held by Midland, and Sweetwater holds fourth place over Midland by one point.

Texas and Snyder played at the Big Spring course, Colorado at Odessa.

Only one Midland player won points, C. L. Jackson winning his individual match. Every Midland golfer lost his ball, which is of more consequence.

Midland was handicapped through the shift from the Midland course to that of Sweetwater only on approaches to the green. Greens on the model course are trapped so that one shoots blindly into them, no bunkers being thrown up to mark their position. The greens are somewhat heavier than those here, as well as Midland, however, gets Sweetwater here later in the season.

Sweetwater's course is one of the most beautiful in West Texas. There are wide, nicely cropped fairways, trees, slopes, long fairways and short fairways, roughs where one can find balls and, in general, a course where one finds every hole decidedly different.

Texas, vs. Jack Perry, placed in my hands for service, I, A. C. Francis as Sheriff of Midland County, Texas did on the 12th day of May, 1932, levy on certain Real Estate situated in Midland County, Texas, described as follows: to-wit: the North 257 acres of Section 13, block 41, Township 2 South, situated in Midland County, Texas, as said Attachment lien existed on the 15th day of November, 1931; being the same real estate herein above described; and did further levy upon the following described personal property, to-wit:

- 23 head of Jersey cows, 4 to 6 years old,
- 14 head of Jersey two year old heifers,
- 9 head of Jersey Heifer yearlings, and
- 13 head of Jersey steer calves, branded "Diagonal" on the right hip located on defendants farm about 11 miles west of the town of Midland, in Midland County, Texas; and levied upon all the above described property as the property of Jack Perry; and that on the first Tuesday in June, 1932, the same being the 7th day of said month, at the Court House door, of Midland County, in the City of Midland, Texas, between the hours of 10 A. M. and 4 P. M., by virtue of said levy and said Order of Sale, I will sell said above described Real Estate and personal property at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said Jack Perry.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Midland Reporter-Telegram, a newspaper published in Midland County.

Witness my hand, this 12th day of May, 1932.

A. C. FRANCIS,
Sheriff Midland County, Texas.

By Fisher Pollard, Deputy,

tion. 4. Elimination of all reference to the amendment, submission, prohibition or anti-prohibition.

Late Sunday as more delegates arrived and expressed their views, the first plan, for out and out repeal, apparently stood little chance. Compromise talk was in the air, either for resubmission or for a referendum, while there is a large group here opposed to taking action on prohibition, declaring in a chorus: "It will only mess things up, so let the Chicago convention handle it and draft the platform."

"Girl Crazy" Is a Wild Laugh Show

Pepped up to the cadence of rippling Gershwin melodies, a merry melange of comedy opened at the Grand theatre yesterday in the form of the all-star comedy "Girl Crazy." The picture will end its engagement here Tuesday night.

The film, which marks the rebirth of film comedies made under the new ideal sound reproducing conditions, permits one of the finest all-star comedy casts of the season in a screen rendition of the famous Broadway extravaganza of the same name.

Heading the imposing array of talent are the inimitable Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, who start the film as city slickers and wind up as rough and ready westerners. Eddie Quillan carries the romantic lead of a girl crazy youth who transforms a respectable cattle ranch into a whoopee dude resort. Mitzi Green, Hollywood's child miffo wonder, plays a pestiferous little sister and the romance and beauty brigade is headed by Dorothy Lee, Arline Judge, Kitty Kelly, and Lita Chevert. Stanley Fields and Christy Pin Martin play the shoot and run villains.

Wheeler and Woolsey make the most of this rich field for comedy and soon turn this dude ranch into the focal point for some of the funniest comedy situations of their careers.

The story is a farce throughout, with an abundance of novel comedy episodes which rise to extreme heights when the inimitable Wheeler and Woolsey, dressed as senoritas, fling amorous gauntlets into the faces of Mexican bad men.

Director William Seiter has wedded the two separate arts of music and comedy into a pleasing whole, beautifully mounted with striking sets and peopled with some of the prettiest girls seen in pictures.

PLAY 10 INNINGS WITH SCORE KNOTTED

Tied up with Penwell in the ninth, Southern Ice scored to take the lead in the tenth, thirteenth and fifteenth, only to have Penwell come back in each of those innings and tie the score then put the finishing touch on the Midlanders by holding the Icemen scoreless in the seventeenth while Penwell batsmen drove out enough singles to score the winning run, 12-11.

That is a nutshell of a great 17-inning affair staged at Penwell Sunday.

It was one of the hardest games ever staged in this area. Tying up in the seventh, the clubs had identical figures in the scoring column for nine straight innings—a full ball game in itself!

Robinson of Midland whiffed 17 men, to add impressively to an already impressive record.

Cook, Penwell center gardener, hit a home run.

Both pitchers were batted hard in the first six innings but allowed but four hits in the last 11 frames.

Five double plays were made by Dobson, Jones and Woods in the first nine innings, pulling Robinson out of several tough holes.

Southern Ice almost lost in the eleventh, when Tension, first up, hit a low liner to left that bounced over Branch and went for three bases. The bases were then loaded purposely. But Rogers fouled out; Cotton Ward, hard-hitting catcher formerly of Midland, hit a hard smash over second only to see Woods circle and make a beautiful one-handed catch and a fast peg to Jones for a double play that retired

Patagonian Kiss Leaves Nose Red

Claudette Colbert and Edmund Lowe kissed each other several times for a sequence in "The Misleading Lady," Paramount's new thrill romance which is at the Ritz theatre, and both came out of the experience with very red noses.

And this non-alcoholic ruddiness was not a new kind of blush. It's the result of a quaint old Patagonian custom.

In this story of a strong-armed man who kidnaps the girl after she scorns his proposal of marriage, Lowe is supposed to have just come back from an expedition to the tip of South America. He returns, meets Claudette, and they fall in love. Their first kiss is of the usual type and brand. Then Lowe decides to demonstrate the love technique in dear old far-away Patagonia.

It seems that rubbing noses is the customary mode of osculation there.

NOWADAYS, when so many people are talking about purity... pure food, pure milk, pure water... it's worth a minute to tell you something about the purity of Chesterfield cigarettes.

All the materials that go into the making of Chesterfield cigarettes are tested again and again by expert research chemists. Just like the things you eat and drink.

The tobacco is pure—the right kinds, Domestic and Turkish both, mild, sweet, ripe. The paper is pure—clean, white, the best cigarette paper that money can buy. There is purity in every ingredient and cleanliness in every operation.

You can know, when you light a Chesterfield, that it is as pure as science can make a cigarette. And your taste will tell you it's milder, it tastes better.
