AMELIA, AIDES SAFE AS PLANE RUINED IN CRASH

Quick Work Forestalls A Possible Fire

Ship Veers As Tire Bursts, Then Undercarriage Gives Way
WILL REPAIR SHIP AND RESUME FLIGHT
Aviatrix And Associates Immediately Set Sail For California

HONOLULU, March 20 (AP)—By a hair's breadth Amelia Earhart sidestepped disaster for herself and two colleagues today when she wrecked her $80,000 "laboratory plane" and her world flight plans during an attempted dawn takeoff for Howland Island, 1,532 miles out in the Pacific.

Plane Starts Swaying
Tearing down the Luke Field runway at 50 miles an hour in the half light, the powerful plane began swaying under its three-ton gasoline load.

The right tire burst. The plane veered to the left. In a flash Miss Earhart "gunned" the left motor in an attempt to level the ship.

Quickly and coolly Miss Earhart cut the ignition switches—and thereby saved herself and her two companions from possible death in a pile of gasoline-soaked wreckage. A single spurt of flame came from the hurtling ship. It spun to the right and stopped on its right wing.

Everybody's Okay
Miss Earhart's white face appeared at the cabin door, as horrified army ambulance men dashed up.

"Something must have gone wrong," she said. She was unhurt. The navigators, Captain Harry Manning and Fred J. Noonan, climbed out unscathed.

"Sure, I'm okay," said Noonan as he surveyed the broken plane.

Reviewing The BIG SPRING WEEK

by Joe Pickle
Big Spring sorrowed with other towns of the state and nation over the catastrophe which blasted over 400 lives into eternity Thursday afternoon at New London. The horror and tragedy can not be realized fully, just as the magnitude of the disaster itself is vague and sickening. Imagine children behind books, laughing, reciting, squirming in their seats, anxious to be on their way home in another 10 minutes. Then in a split second something has happened. The living are dead. Bodies of almost every New London mother's "baby" lie somewhere beneath the twisted mass of steel and brick. It is not a pretty picture. It is a real picture. And Big Spring and other towns should be thankful that they have spared the destiny of New London.

Some mothers here kept their children out of school Friday after learning of the East Texas disaster. There was really no need for that, but mothers are mothers. To offset fears, the school officials had buildings checked by the gas company for possible gas leaks and accumulations. Inspections were also made of buildings of ascertain safety in construction, for school officials remembered how the lives of 30 children and a teacher were spared miraculously here a few years ago. Only a few minutes after school had been dismissed, the entire ceiling of one room collapsed, crushing desks under tons of debris. Every since then, school officials have checked buildings closely.

IT'S JIMMY—AND HE'S ALIVE, 'THANK GOD'

More fortunate than many another mother in the East Texas oil field region, Mrs. H. J. Horenshell holds the hands of her boy, Jimmy, hurt, but still smiling, after the New London school disaster. Physicians held little hope for the lives of many of the injured, fearing that the death toll, now at 455, would grow larger. Sulphur Tax Hike May Be Considered

Graves To Seek Increase From $1.03 To $2 Per Ton

AUSTIN, Mar. 20 (AP)—The legislature may see renewal next week of the perennial struggle to boost taxes on the sulphur industry.

Rep. Harry N. Graves of Georgetown said he hoped to bring up his bill to increase the levy on sulphur from the present $1.03 per ton to $2 and that if he could get the measure to the floor it ultimately would be enacted.

Others were less sanguine about the prospects of the proposal for the record of past years was to do plenty of talking about sulphur company profits and taxes and take little decisive action. Last fall, however, the levy was increased from 75 cents to the current rate.

The senate probably will resume consideration of a proposed constitutional amendment which would authorize appropriation of $1,000,000 annually for five years to advertise Texas' industrial, recreational and other industries.

Wager Repeal Hearing
A big highspot will be hearing before the senate criminal jurisdiction committee Thursday night on bills proposing to obliterate the present legalized status of horse race betting. The arguments for and against repeal were well known, and interest centered, first, on what report the committee would make, and secondly, what action the senate would take.

The house has approved repeal by a big majority while the senate endorsed a repeal bill and then sent it back to committee in order to give livestock raisers and track operators opportunity to protest.

SUSPECTED PLOT ON KING PROBED

Knife Found With Map Of King George's Coronation Route; Man Quizzed

LONDON, Mar. 21 (Sunday) (AP)—The Sunday Referee reported today a suspected plot against the life of King George VI was being investigated by Scotland Yard following a raid on the room of an unnamed man where detectives found a throwing knife wrapped up with a map of the coronation route.

The newspaper asserted high officials of Scotland Yard were questioning the unnamed man after the search of a house in a London suburb yielded the knife and a number of documents.

It reported that detectives who raided the man's room found, besides the throwing knife wrapped up with a map of the coronation route, more than 100 newspaper clippings giving details of the coronation procession May 12.

Details covered by the clippings, it said, including the position to be occupied by the king's carriage in the procession, the times when the procession was scheduled to pass certain points and the exact route to be followed.

Inquiries at the special branch of Scotland Yard—the department which protects royalty and deals with political matters—brought neither confirmation nor denial of the Sunday Referee's report.

"We are not in a position to give any information," the duty officer said. "We have no statement whatever to make."

Abilene Gets Judges' Meet

State Hospital For West Texas Favored In Resolution

LUBBOCK, Mar. 20 (AP)—Unanimously choosing Abilene as next convention city, West Texas County Judges and Commissioners association concluded its 17th annual convention here this afternoon.

Thirteen resolutions, the majority of them involving proposed legislation, were presented to the association, which adopted 11 of them.

Attorney General William McCraw was principal speaker at the closing session, which also heard Mrs. Viola Perkins, assistant director of relief.

Establishment of a hospital for the insane in West Texas met with unanimous approval. No effort was made to suggest a location for the institution.

Garner First In Contests

Coahoma Ranks Second In League Events Staged Saturday

Garner jumped into the lead of the county interscholastic league meet here Saturday by winning the senior boys tennis singles title, and all but making a clean sweep of the playground ball division. The school won the high school junior boys and girls and the junior girls contests.

Coahoma ranked second with wins in the senior boys doubles tennis play and junior boys playground ball competition. R-Bar was the only other school to win a first place, ranking ahead of the field in girls doubles tennis play. The senior girls tennis tournament will be run-off here this week.

Wednesday night the meet will be resumed here with choral singing at 7 p. m. in the city auditorium. The following evening, at the same hour, declamation contests will be held in the auditorium.

Literary events will be held at Coahoma beginning Friday morning. In the afternoon the junior tennis tournament will be played in Big Spring, and at night the extemporaneous speaking competition will be held in the Big Spring high school.

DRYS WIN ELECTION

CENTERVILLE, Texas, Mar. 20 (AP)—Leon county voted down legalization of liquor and beer today on the basis of incomplete returns which accounted for over 1800 ballots. The count stood 1085 against legalization and 799 for.

Hurls Threat Of A General Auto Strike

Labor Leader Says 'Brutal' Eviction Of Sit-Downers Must Stop

MAKES STATEMENT AFTER RIOT FLARES

Raids Must Cease, Or All Factories Will Be Shut Down

(By the Associated Press)
A threat of a general strike in Detroit automotive plants hung over the heads of mediators Saturday while they strove to bring peace in the nation's major labor dispute.

From the lips of youthful Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America came the terse announcement that the general strike would be called unless "the brutal eviction of sit-down strikers and the ruthless clubbing of workers by Detroit police is stopped immediately."

His statement followed eviction of strikers from the Newton Packing company and the Bernard Schwartz Cigar company factory in Detroit. Rioting which accompanied the ejection of 75 women from the cigar factory resulted in injuries to six persons.

Although his announcement contained no reference to eight Chrysler plants 6,000 strikers have held in defiance of a court injunction, it said "every organized automobile plant in the city will be closed down Monday" unless the raids ceased.

K. T. Keller, Chrysler president, asserted a "lawless element" was "striving to tear down all that the corporation has built up."

Representatives of the strikers in an earlier statement addressed to Gov. Frank Murphy asserted use of force to eject them would bring "bloodshed and violence and more strikes."

Keller's statement was directed to the corporation's 60,000 or more idle employees, most of them in Detroit.

"Lawless Elements"
"We cannot operate our plants with lawless elements in control," the Chrysler head said.

The strikers told the governor they did not "intend to leave these plants without a satisfactory settlement."

James F. Dewey, a federal labor conciliator, reached Detroit and conferred with Gov. Murphy, who on the previous day met separately with strike and corporation representatives. Dewey said he expected to arrange several conferences.

Hearses Line Highways In London Area

Numerous Funeral Processions Tie Up All Road Traffic

SERVICES ARE HELD THROUGHOUT DAY

Bereaved Families Take Turns At Churches To Conduct Rites

NEW LONDON, Mar. 20 (AP)—Funeral processions jammed the country roads of Rusk county today.

The homes and family churches of the 455 victims of the London consolidated school explosion Thursday sent a steady stream of hearses and attendant automobiles into the highways.

Texas highway patrolmen were ordered out on the roads as traffic early in the afternoon came to a complete standstill in many places.

A line-up in the vicinity of Pleasant Hill cemetery, where scores of burials were planned for the day, had automobiles stopped at times for more than a mile.

Processions ready to move from churches and homes waited in the bright sunshine for an opportunity to enter upon the highways, already burdened with hearses, trucks and automobiles.

Local ministers, helped in the endless task of comforting the grieving by more than a hundred pastors from various cities of East Texas, spoke tirelessly from their pulpits while others visited the saddened homes to conduct services there.

The ministers did not know when the need for their services will end. Many burials will take place Sunday and plans are still indefinite in several homes.

The services were all about today. Weeping mothers and grief-stricken fathers, accompanied by friends and relatives, filed into the churches, sometimes behind a single coffin, often behind two or three.

Others file in Most of the little coffins were gray. Many had a single floral wreath upon the top, while some were heavily banded.

After the pastor had spoken his compassionate words, the groups departed and others, waiting patiently outside, filed in to hear the divine words of mercy tenderly spoken by their spiritual leader.

WITNESS SAYS HE TOLD OFFICIAL OF SCHOOL DANGER

Military Court Seeks Information On Cause Of Disaster As Grief-Stricken Survivors Bury Their Dead

Pictures—two full pages of them—connected with the New London school disaster, may be found on Pages 4 and 5 of the second section.

NEW LONDON, March 20 (AP)—A military court of inquiry into the school disaster which took the lives of 455 children and teachers today heard A. J. Belew testify he had warned school officials "it was dangerous" not to install a new gas regulator leading into the main building.

Dr. E. P. Schoch, explosions expert from the faculty of the University of Texas questioned Belew, representing James B. Clow and Sons Company, while in nearby communities reverent thousands bowed in grief at the burials of the dead children in rich oil lands.

The court of inquiry adduced first evidence that the reputed richest school in the world had sought to save money by installing an unsafe heating system.

Told Superintendent
Dr. Schoch, who earlier had expressed a theory that an accumulation of gas caused the blast, asked Belew if he had told officials of the regulator fault. The salesman replied:

"I told Mr. Shaw (W. C. Shaw, school superintendent) that it was dangerous. I told him he would have to reduce the pressure."

Belew testified that a new gas regulator was installed in the main building sometime after Jan. 1 and a change from dry gas to wet gas was made. He said he told school officials the regulator would not hold the increased pressure following the change.

George H. Greenway, Dallas heating engineer and an unsuccessful bidder on the heating contract for the destroyed school building, testified that "it is a crime to put gas steam radiators in public buildings." When you put in 72 such radiators, you have 72 chances for individual explosions.

Jesse P. Vaughn, an oil field worker, told the court that he and a companion who previously had theorized that the explosion was caused by nitrogen gas had changed their minds.

Dr. Schoch pursued relentlessly
The question of efficient venting of the heating appliances.

"The vents I inspected were all right," Belew told him.

"There were 72 radiators in the school," the chemist said. "Do you feel they were safe whether or not they were vented?"

Officer At Littlefield Is Wounded

Sheriff F. A. Loyd Shot As He Attempts To Arrest Negro

LITTLEFIELD, Mar. 20 (AP)—Sheriff F. A. Loyd of Lamb county was taken to a local hospital for treatment of gunshot wounds early tonight after his attempt to arrest a negro near a compass here.

While his condition had not been diagnosed completely a half hour later, friends said the officer had been shot twice, in the shoulder and over the left ear.

Partial paralysis had set in, said Ed Anderson of Littlefield speaking from the hospital, but surgeons were quoted as saying nothing in regard to his condition immediately suggested alarm.

Fragmentary reports established the officer had his gun in his right hand and reached out with his left to take the negro's gun. The shooting followed immediately.

Whereabouts of the negro was not immediately learned following the shooting.

Revival Will Start Today

Ten Churches Join In City-Wide Pre-Easter Campaign

Ten Big Spring churches launch today upon a simultaneous revival campaign which will be climaxed with Easter services next Sunday.

Services will be held in the churches each evening with pastors doing the preaching.

All churches participating in the joint campaign sponsored by the pastor's association will come together for morning services at 10 o'clock each day for services at the Lyric theatre.

Rev. F. Walter Henckell, pastor of the St. Mary's Episcopal church, will deliver the opening message Monday. Rev. R. E. Day, First Baptist pastor, speaks Tuesday; Rev. G. C. Schurman, First Christian pastor, Wednesday; Rev. C. A. Bickley, First Methodist pastor, Thursday; and Dr. D. F. McConnell, First Presbyterian pastor, Friday. Music for the morning services will be in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Powell.

The meetings are being held downtown in the hopes of encouraging larger attendances among business people. None of the meetings is to last over one hour.

People Urged To Stay Away From Disaster Sector

AUSTIN, Mar. 20 (AP)—Chief L. G. Phares of the highway patrol tonight appealed to prospective visitors to the New London disaster to stay away and "allow the bereaved parents to bury their dead without adding to their grief."

When the roadways became clogged with sightseeing motorists who blocked funeral passage this afternoon, Phares was forced to call highway patrolmen, who had worked 48 hours straight, back on the job only a short time after they had been allowed to return to their homes.

"There is nothing to see there now," Phares said, "and there will be nearly 200 funerals tomorrow. Isn't it hard enough for these people to bear up under their terrible loss without causing them further trouble in making decent burial difficult or impossible?"

STATE DAY OF MOURNING FOR VICTIMS OF SCHOOL DISASTER

AUSTIN, March 20 (AP)—Governor James V. Allred today proclaimed a state day of mourning Sunday in memory of the boys and girls who lost their lives in the New London school catastrophe.

"This terrible tragedy," the governor said, "reached and horrified every home throughout the land. When the lives of boys and girls in the full flush of inspirational youth are blasted and snuffed out as happened at New London, it is almost unbearable.

Political Events May Be Affected By Bitter Battle Between Groups Over Rep. Stevenson's Land Bills

By RAYMOND BROOKS
Herald Austin Correspondent
AUSTIN, Mar. 20 — Political events of future years were shaped, and future history affected, by the five-way open break on Rep. Coke Stevenson's land bills.

W. H. McDonald, the land commissioner, who will seek re-election in other state office; District Judge Ralph Yarborough, former assistant attorney general who likely will be in the attorney general's race; leaders in the state board of education, spokesmen of the teachers' association, who included officials of Texas colleges, made up the formidable group which took one side of the issue. Stevenson, author of the bills, represents the other.

The question now is one of state policy, rather than politics. The politics will come in the alignment of support and opposition in various groups, for candidates in future races.

The issue is confused, in that Representative Stevenson would create a school land leasing board, made up of board of education members, and the school forces join the land commissioner in opposing the form of the measure.

District Judge Yarborough, who praised several features of the Stevenson leasing bill, criticized others; and he drew most bitter criticism for having gone before the committee, by invitation of its chairman, the school people, Austin public schools, the land commissioner and others, to discuss the bill.

But the content of the near future narrows to Stevenson's leadership among West Texas groups in respect to West Texas' own land commissioner's future races.

It is improbable that Stevenson will run for the office. He has been mentioned repeatedly for senator, congressman, attorney general, governor, but chose to stay in the house.

The spectacular clash of Stevenson and McDonald left marks that will be visible in the 1938 state races. It created issues that will be fought out whether McDonald seeks re-election or aspires to lieutenant governor or governor. It made for McDonald an issue, if he chooses to adopt it, but it put influential West Texans in a corner to choose sides. It challenges Stevenson to take his controversy back to West Texas.

In the heat of a legislative fight, both sides may have over-stated effect of Stevenson's land and leasing measures.

Land Commissioner McDonald quite baldly declared it would "give away at least 50 million dollars belonging to the public school fund, probably much more."

Judge Yarborough, who as land assistant attorney general, recovered over $1,000,000 for the public school fund, told a house committee the bill would reduce state royalties on sulphur in certain types of public land, would surrender valuable mineral rights, would reduce the price of certain kinds of land, and would destroy any incentive or effort for the state to recover any more of the vacancy lands. These lands, usually ignored until oil is found, become extremely valuable then, and the state has taken excess surveys or vacancy strips back in nearly all the oil fields.

lands sold but not paid for, mostly are in West Texas, but everybody agreed that the school fund had an interest in possible vacancies in the East Texas and South Texas oil areas as well.

Protects Schools
Stevenson insisted his plan protects the interest of the schools, and affords justice to the settlers on public lands. He was quite firm in saying he set up safeguards for the school fund and machinery for it to realize more out of its land endowment.

The heat this fight generated showed there is very much at stake. Both Stevenson and his opponents declared its subject-matter was "the biggest before the legislature."

In the good old land-stealing days of Texas, the railroads were given about 44,000,000 acres of Texas public lands. That was back in the time they were getting half a billion acres of federal public domain in western states. Texas doesn't have anything like that much school land to dispose of now. It does have some tracts of immense value because of oil discovery. The land laws are sufficiently complicated that the political issue that has developed can be fought out by people who float in utter ignorance as to them; but a few men, like Stevenson and McDonald and Judge Yarborough, knowing the complexities of these laws, add heat to the flames by fundamental disagreement over the laws and proposed changes.

The Golden Text is: "I have desired, and have saved, and I have showed, when there was no strange god among you; therefore ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, that I am God" (Isaiah 43:12).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might" (Deuteronomy 6:4,5).

The Lesson-Sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "We shall obey and adore in proportion as we apprehend the divine nature and love Him understandingly, warping no more over the corporality, but rejoicing in the affluence of our God" (page 140).

Trotsky Case Bears Fruit For Cardenas

Leon Trotsky paces the floor as he dictates in his room in Mexico.

MEXICO CITY, Mar. 20 (AP)—Now that the smoke is clearing away, hind-sighted observers of the Mexican scene declare that President Cardenas was more foresighted than his counselors when he invited Leon Trotsky to reside in Mexico.

The famous Russian revolutionary has pretty well dropped out of the news since the bargain he offered a month ago: "I am willing to let the world alone on the one condition that the world lets me alone."

The world has taken him at his word. More timely topics divert attention from the controversy which raged after Cardenas' invitation.

Four Achievements
And the political aftermath has been favorable to the president. He may not have seen them (although most observers think he did) but, with his invitation, Cardenas accomplished four things:

1. Effectively silenced the Stalinizing Confederation of Workers of Mexico, which some government quarters thought was getting too obstreperous.

2. Gave the lie to critics who charged Mexico was under soviet Russia's influence.

3. Reiterated Mexico's absolute adherence to the doctrine that asylum shall be granted all political refugees, no matter what their creed or faith.

4. Demonstrated his confidence in the stability of his regime, his belief it had nothing to fear even from such an influence as Trotsky's might be.

Trotsky Keeps Promise
Trotsky is abiding carefully by his promise not to meddle in Mexico's politics.

The Moscow trials over he has lapsed into silence. He lets Muralist Diego Rivera, his friend, disciple and host, answer attacks upon him while he devotes his own time to preparing documentary evidence to present to the international commission of inquiry he hopes will some day "smoke out the truth" about the trials—the greatest frame-up in the world.

So often, you hesitate to spend the time to crochet a light purse, because it gets soiled so quickly. So, we've designed one that you can launder every time you do your gloves—the handles are buttoned on and can be removed instantly whenever you like! The gloves have their advantages, too; they're made just like fabric or leather ones, with separate sections between the fingers, and then the pieces are crocheted together, making raised seams. They are just the thing to complete your costume, but they are delicate enough to be appropriate with any outfit. The pattern stitch is easy to make, and is used without changes on both articles.

The pattern envelope contains complete easy-to-understand directions, also what crochet hooks and what material and how much you will need.

To obtain this pattern, send for No. 611 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address: Big Spring Herald, Needlework Department, 72 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Reading + AND + Writing

By John Selby

Here is a book which makes one rub one's eyes. It cannot be true—and yet it is.

Just to keep up the suspense, let us consider first how the book happened to be written. A couple of years ago a Boston publisher decided to award what he called fellowship prizes to writers who had worthy projects in hand, but needed money to complete them. One of the two first fellowships went to the author of "Green Margins," the other to Jenny Ballou, a Brooklyn girl engaged in writing a book on Spain.

This was long before the Spanish civil war. Miss Ballou retired to her writing desk, the publisher began waiting. And war started. One can imagine what that did to the project—what rewriting and altering and refocusing was needed to fit the book to a completely different market. Miss Ballou had plenty of material—but it all dealt with the Spain of Alfonso and Primo de Rivera.

Which circumstance has been cleverly circumvented. Miss Ballou's book is called "Spanish Prelude," and everything is quite all right. It is like seeing back into time, or rather like leaving Washington Square at a speed greater than light, and catching up to the now forgotten scenes of our own Bohemia in its heyday.

We see such playboys as Miss Ballou's little count-to-be rushing around Madrid making a fool of himself. We see incredible numbers of safe revolutionaries, and rioting students. This one of the latter's pranks might have come out of either large New York university: A chap dressed as a burro, parading the length of Madrid for the fun of being addressed continuously by his friends as Senor Minister! This was a demonstration against Rivera's minister of education.

Mad doctors, tubercular families, strange settings such as jails, odd characters such as John, the Hispanophile, twisted social movements, and color of all sorts abound in "Spanish Prelude." It is written sensitively, every page; often very beautifully. It describes a lot of monkey-business to be sure, but out of that monkey-business Spain got a civil war. Perhaps we were luckier with our own Greenwich Village period than we knew.

"Spanish Prelude," by Jenny Ballou (Houghton Mifflin; $2.50).

Verdant Growth Is 'Rescue Grass'

And There's Plenty Of It This Year, Because Of Abnormally Wet Autumn

This verdant growth cluttering up the lawns and apparently possessing the land is none other than "rescue grass."

Commonly mistaken for wild oats and wild rye, the winter grass is exceptionally prevalent this year. Many lawns, with not a speck of bermuda showing, are almost as green as in mid-summer. Creek banks and flats, right-of-ways and abandoned fields are sporting a heavy covering of the grass.

Whether it is spreading at a speedy rate is a doubtful matter. Fred Keating, U. S. Experiment farm superintendent, and O. P. Griffin, county agent, are of the opinion that there is more of the grass this season because of the abnormally wet autumn last year. Keating says that rescue grass is very dependent upon moisture. It will flourish only after wet fall seasons, he asserts. For that reason it is a dependable winter grass and is apt to fail when needed most.

Absence of the grass from slopes is explained by Griffin. "Rescue grass produces an abundance of very light seed," he says. After any sizeable amount of rain, the seed float to the low places."

The grass, very desirable for winter pasture, attains a height of six or eight inches and yields heads of seed much like oats. The seed stalk is flat and large for the size plant. It matures about June when the grass dies with the approach of the summer season.

This fact eliminates it as a crop hazard for it dies before the growing season gets well under way. Unlike Johnson grass, it will take a field only in the winter time. The county agent believes that it is often confused in lawns with grasses commonly, if not correctly, known as "rye" grass and "Texas blue" grass. The common grass burr also is confused with rescue grass. About the only way of ridding a lawn of the growth is to pull it out by the roots, he advises. A wide area around the lawn should be cut to offset the possibility of seed blowing in from adjoining property.

Right now the grass is regarded generally as a boon to farmers and ranchers, even if discomfiting to urban homeowners, and it appears there is no immediate need for being rescued from rescue grass.

Old-Style Home Comes In For Some Criticism From Modern Architect

PRO-MODERN A foremost exponent of modern architecture is William Lescase.

By CHARLES NORMAN (AP Feature Service Writer)
NEW YORK, Mar. 20—Like Shakespeare's rustic philosopher, William Lescase sees "sermons in another form, but a process of thinking versus a total lack of thinking.

He sees modern man, able to project himself great distances via the plane, the automobile and the radio, cramping himself in houses that served his forebears in a "horse-and-buggy" era.

"Basically," he says, "it is a question of approach or reaction to: 'What is it all about?' The modern architect wants to create a new form of shelter in keeping with modern life. He is more interested in creating space than in creating patterns. I think we give people more of house for the dollar spent than any other form of architecture."

Lives In Glass House

If there is a destiny "that shapes men's ends," it is probable it had a hand in the career of the 41-year-old, Swiss-born architect. In appearance he seems a typical "modern man." Tall, broad-shouldered, urbane and smartly tailored, his face and figure present an impressive structure of massive, yet simple planes in which his brown eyes are vividly alive.

He lives in a glass house he designed, and has his offices on the ground floor. His own office, with one wall gray, another white, and a third dark gray, gives him an environment in which space and utility combine with dramatic effect. A deep but narrow drawer in his desk serves as a scrap-basket. Like the ordinary variety, it has to be emptied; but it doesn't take up floor space.

HOME Outdoing the three little pigs, Lescase built his house of glass.

of being inside a box. On the other hand, if you study what's going to happen in a particular case you find out quickly a reason for accentuating certain phases."

First Modern School

At present he is looking forward to completion of what he terms "the first modern school in the country," which he designed for Ansonia, Conn. It is a high school, with a capacity of 1,000 children.

In an article he wrote, he quoted from Sacha Guitry's autobiographical rhapsody:

"Why should all schools give off the atmosphere of prisons? The architects who put up such horrors should be punished."

"I think," adds Lescase, "we should, in all fairness, have asked the architects and the boards of education."

He has no hobby but his life's work, and when an article about him appeared in a magazine he was visited by a woman who tried to sell him an accordion.

"You should have a hobby," she told him.

Govt. Bonds Off Sharply

Losses As High As $10.90 In Heavy Trading; Few Buyers

NEW YORK, Mar. 20 (AP)—U. S. government bonds resumed their downward march today in the heaviest Saturday trading since last October, with losses running as high as $10.90 per $1,000 face value bond, and few buyers in the field.

The new decline, which bankers said was engendered in part by a conviction of investors higher returns on their money was overdue, carried some issues to new low prices—and new high yields—for 1937.

Since the sharp downward movement began March 12, declines in some instances have reached as high as $30 per $1,000 face value. Gains of the long upward climb of the second half of 1936 have in several cases been wiped out.

High grade corporation bonds joined in today's slump, although the fall in prices was less pronounced.

Mrs. J. Gault, Mrs. W. A. Majors and Mrs. C. H. McKelvy. Jessie Loper of Big Spring visited her mother, Mrs. R. A. Loper, and Mr. and Mrs. Burt Loper last week.

Paul Johnson of the Cosden Oil Co. was called to the bedside of his sister in San Angelo Thursday.

Proximity Of Oil Wells No Factor In School Blast, Expert Asserts

NEW YORK, Mar. 20 (AP)—The oil wells weren't to blame for the New London schoolhouse blast, the safety expert of the American Petroleum Institute, Harry N. Blakelee, said today.

The veteran of the oil fields stated that the 435 children and teachers who died in the explosion were theoretically just as safe as they would have been in any other building anywhere that natural or artificial gas is used.

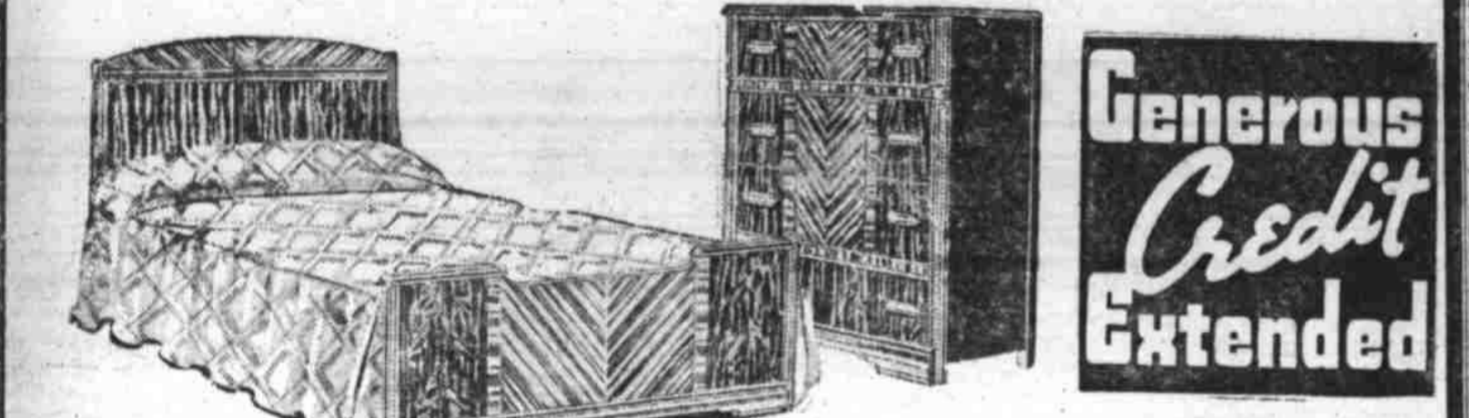

Facts he obtained about the school's location and the type of its heating plant indicated, Blakelee said, that the gas could have wrecked the building in only one way: by accumulating from an as yet undetermined leak in the school's fuel supply and being set off by an as yet unexplained spark. Asserting this could have happened in any building where gas is used, he declared:

"I am convinced that the proximity of the schools to the oil wells had nothing to do with it. The only responsibility of the gas is that it was there."

Blakelee said "most credence" could be given the school superintendent's theory that the gas might have come from an improperly sealed pipe leading into the sub-cellar beneath the building, but that thorough investigation was necessary to establish the source of both the leak and the detonating spark.

Once Pride Of Dewey's Fleet, U.S. Warship Now Serves As Breakwater

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 20 (UP)—The U.S.S. Boston, which participated in the battle of Manila Bay, is serving as breakwater for the navy docks on Yerba Buena Island in San Francisco Bay now.

Once the pride of Dewey's White Squadron at Manila, and the only ship to feel the force of the Spanish fire—it was hit twice—the Boston's downward path has been longer and perhaps more inglorious than that of other warships. During the World War, the Boston still had the honor of serving as a receiving ship for thousands of sailors who were recruited at that time. Many of those who served with the fleet during the World War got their preliminary training on the Boston.

Unfortunately, the mud of San Francisco Bay caused the Boston's hull to deteriorate faster than the Spanish fire at Manila Bay. As a consequence, naval officers decided the warship had outlived its usefulness and it was ordered scrapped. The ship was towed to Mare Island for that purpose.

Then naval officers had a new idea. They discovered that in the Boston's absence from Yerba Bu-

LOYALTY IS A MATTER OF GOOD BUSINESS

Strangers judge a town by its retail stores. Visitors seldom see any part of a town except the business district and their opinion of "just what kind of a place is this?" is formed by what they see of the down-town section. But this is only one of many good reasons why, price and quality being equal, it behooves Big Spring citizens to do all of their shopping with Big Spring stores.

Every dollar spent away from Big Spring for something that could just as easily and just as economically be bought from a Big Spring store certainly does not help this city. Neither does it help that twenty-five per cent of our people who depend on merchants of Big Spring for a livelihood.

Too many of us too often assume, without actually taking the trouble to investigate, that Big Spring stores do not have a particular thing we want, after this, why not find out? Big Spring merchants buy in the same markets with merchants of other towns, large or small. Anything sold anywhere can be had right here. If it isn't in stock it can be obtained for you promptly and at no premium in price.

Let us keep Big Spring money in this community, all things being equal. Each of us not only get another chance at it when it remains here, but as it passes from hand to hand a certain part of it goes with each transaction into the coffers from which we maintain our streets, build our schools, carry on our machinery of local government and keep our justly proud place in the scheme of things. A country, a state or a community that is forever exporting money becomes impoverished, however abundant its natural resources.

This matter of buying from Big Spring stores concerns all of us. We can't escape it. It gets back to the fundamental fact that we could not carry on without our retail institutions. "We will buy from Big Spring stores, quality and price being equal," has become a slogan with all civic minded men and their families. Join the movement and share in the benefits.

More Words, Pro And Con, As To Court

Pecora Asserts Roosevelt Bill Would Save U. S. From Dictatorship

WASHINGTON, Mar. 20 (AP)—Judge Ferdinand Pecora of the New York supreme court declared before the senate and judiciary committee today that the Roosevelt court reorganizing bill should be enacted to save the country from danger of "dictatorship."

His testimony followed these other developments in the struggle over the courts:

1. Senator Burke (D-Neb.), in a radio speech directed at farmers, condemned the presidential proposal as a "startling suggestion, the like of which no man ever before dared breathe in this country." He said the aim of the legislation was "to make reasonably sure that the court will never again dare to act as an independent tribunal of justice."

2. Irving Brant, St. Louis editorial writer, supported the Roosevelt proposal, telling the senate committee that "you cannot allow five men (a majority of the supreme court) to set themselves up in irresponsible aloofness and rule 125,000,000 people by judicial fiat."

3. Brant, member of the staff of the St. Louis Star-Times, tangled with Senator Connally (D-Tex), an opponent of the bill. Brant said Connally's manner of questioning witnesses was a "disgrace" to the committee. Connally in turn accused the writer of "taking advantage of a public forum to deliberately insult senators."

4. Representative Pettengill (D-Ind.), opposing the presidential legislation on the radio tonight, declared judges must be protected from "political pressure" so that rights of racial, religious, social and political minorities may be assured.

5. Representative Flannagan (D-Va.), an advocate of the bill, criticized supreme court Justice McReynolds, who recently contended that the sporting thing to do was to accept the verdict of the tribunal. Flannagan said "this is the first time I ever heard the man who is battling to keep the score straight, being accused of lack of sportsmanship."

Pecora urged the Roosevelt bill as a measure "to preserve the courts."

Would Swap Knives At Any Time

C. W. Stone, 67, Veteran At Trading, Ready To Do Business With All-Comers

The ancient and honorable pastime of "dropping" knives has its latest exponent for "30 miles around here" in Charles Wesley Stone, 67-year pensioner known to every knife swapper in these parts. "I'll swap knives with anyone it don't make no difference," boasts the knife trader. He means what he says for he has "dropped" knives with the best of them and has a record of seldom being beaten in the swap.

"Dropping" knives, it may be explained, is a technical or trade term for trading knives eight unseem. Interested parties reach into their pockets and grasp a knife in their hands. Then at a signal, they simultaneously drop the knives to the ground, each taking the one the other dropped.

Usually both ask each other a few questions about the knife to be dropped. Stone adheres to a policy of strict honesty. Indeed he prides himself on this point.

"It don't make no difference how good I git at it, if the fellers go to tellin' it around that I would be about a knife," he explains, "for then I wouldn't get nobody to swap with me."

Another rule which he religiously observes is his staunch refusal to offer a bounty on a trade. "I don't aim to give no boot," says Stone, but he admits that he'll take it when he can get it.

His uncanny knack in this direction enables him to turn a battered 20-cent barlow into a couple of dollars during a lively day of dropping and trading.

As a general rule he trades only for knives or cash. However, he recently acquired a pair of socks, a string of beads, and a ring from a "feller who told me he was goin' to quit wearing socks."

22 On Hand
His present stock of "dropping" knives totals 22. In addition he had about a dozen "tradin'" knives. If he had all the knives he had owned during his 20 years trading, he estimated they would fill a space three feet wide and four feet deep.

"I've had hundreds since I been dropping and swapping here," he

TRENDS INDEFINITE IN STOCK TRADING

NEW YORK, Mar. 20 (AP)—Stocks tumbled over a rough terrain in today's market.

Cross-currents prevailed throughout the list from the start and trends were indefinite at the close. Chrysler put on a last-minute rally for a gain of 3 1/8 points at 127. The belated runup was attributed partly to short covering on the thought the company's strike might be settled over the weekend.

A few steels led by Bethlehem with an upturn of 1 1/8 at 95, bid better, along with a handful of rails, sils, utilities and specialties. But declines were in the majority. As in the past week upsets in the ranks of labor proved the market's principal handicap. Business developments were fairly cheerful. Another release of U. S. government securities tended to accentuate nervousness.

It was the slowest session since Jan. 2, last, transfers totalling 715,330 shares compared with 1,129,070 last Saturday. The Associated Press average of 60 issues was off 1.1 of a point at 72.

COTTON CLOSE

NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 20 (AP)—An early dip was followed by a nominal advance today that carried cotton prices up around 25 cents a bale.

Poor foreign markets and an accumulation of overnight selling orders caused temporary easiness. The opening bid soon saw a good volume of trade buying, cropped out more than absorbed the weekend liquidation in the market and carried prices forward.

May ended the week at 13.89, July at 13.76 and the other four positions all finished at 13.22 bid. Middling spot cotton at 19 southern markets averaged 14.21 cents a pound, up 25 cents a bale.

It was a comparatively active market for the curtailed trading period, but the bullish operations on the part of speculative interests played a small part.

The main news item of the day was the final ginnings report for the 1936-37 crop. The government placed the total at 12,287,403 bales, or approximately 20,000 bales under the crop estimate of December 1, 1936.

NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Mar. 20 (AP)—Cotton was steady today on trade buying and week-end covering which absorbed liquidation. July sold up from 13.74 to 13.88 and closed at 13.90, with final prices 1 to 8 points net higher.

The market opened unchanged to 5 points lower following easier Liverpool cables. Foreign and commission house selling was taken by active trade price-fixing, re-buying and covering. Offerings were less active following declines of 25 to 64 points from mid-week highs.

Rallies extended to net gains of 7 to 13 points during the middle of the morning but renewed liquidation appeared on the bulges and final prices were off about 1 to 8 points from the highs.

recalls. "I started out with three, lost 33 in drops I never got none back from, traded a lot for money and things, and still got a lot more left than I started out with."

The nearest he came to being set done recently was when he dropped a rather presentable "sticker" and got back a peppercorn G-man badge prize. After a good laugh, his competitor returned the knife after Stone had cheerfully picked up his badge.

Not long ago some of the lawn loungers tried to frighten him by saying a $16 per annum tax had been imposed upon knife swappers. "I told them I'd just as lief trade with (Sheriff) Slaughter," he recounts. "Why I just dropped for this one down the courthouse hall."

And from out his pocket he pulled a good looking pocket-knife. He had out-traded someone again.

Plan Tests To Tap Huge Reserves Of Copper In Arizona

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Mar. 20 (AP)—Phelps Dodge corporation announced today it would inaugurate test work and engineering at Morenci, Ariz., looking toward tapping what has been estimated by government engineers as the largest undeveloped copper reserve in the Southwest.

Work on the clay mine project at Morenci has been suspended since 1932. The new program, said P. G. Beckett, vice-president of Phelps Dodge, will give steady employment to 200 men.

"Commercial copper production from the clay project is not anticipated for several years," Beckett said.

J. B. Tenney, mining engineer for the national resources board has estimated that the Morenci property has an undeveloped copper reserve of 6,500,000,000 pounds. "With the shutdown of the Morenci property in 1932 all test work and engineering on the clay mine project was stopped," Beckett said. "Plans now have been approved for the continuance of the work which is of an engineering and experimental nature."

OBSERVATORY BUDGET IS GIVEN APPROVAL

AUSTIN, Mar. 20 (AP)—The University of Texas board of regents today accepted an additional PWA grant for the Galveston negro hospital and approved a budget for maintenance of the McDonald observatory.

The original grant for the Galveston hospital was $112,500 and the regents accepted an additional $15,819.

Dr. Otto Struve's budget of $10,000 a year as the university's share of the operating cost of McDonald observatory, near Fort Davis, received approval. The observatory is operated jointly by the Universities of Chicago and Texas.

The regents also adopted a resolution of sympathy to the bereaved communities in the vicinity of the New London school disaster.

Dr. D. M. Higgins, president of the School of Mines in El Paso, reported a museum, erected with Centennial funds, would be dedicated April 23 and 24.

EPHRATA, Wash., Mar. 20 (AP)—Two fliers were killed south of here in an airplane crash today. They were identified as Burtleigh Nick, of Wenatche, the pilot, and Wilbur Anderson, a state patrolman.

POSTS 1936 BOND Leonardo Gonzalez posted $500 bond Saturday and was released under charge in the county court of possessing intoxicating liquor for sale without a permit.

THE SPORTS CIRCUIT - They May Be Serious About WT-NM Loop

BY TOM BEASLEY

BIG SPRING is peering up and showing a little more interest in the West Texas-New Mexico Baseball League...

WE ARE told that Neal Rabe catcher for the Big Spring team in the old West Texas League...

Joe Louis, Detroit's Brown Bomber, signed contract No. 1 of the National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress...

BEAUMONT EXPORTERS would have backed a Big Spring team in the West Texas league if the setup had been right...

CARTER CHEVROLET may enter a team in the local softball league, and Jack Potter may have a team representing Mir to Inn.

HAROLD AKEY, Muny golf pro will stage a city tournament this year but no invitation meet.

Akey also plans on running the city league this year, started a year ago by his brother Charles.

Flap Jack Ferris First In Subscription Stake

TYLER, Mar. 20 (AP)—Flap Jack Ferris, pointer owned by R. A. Johns, Austin, and handled by John Parker, Wichita, Kas., won first place in the $500 subscription stake today in the third day of competition in the East Texas field trials.

Flap Jack turned in the best performance of the meet thus far, finding four coveys and handling to perfection.

MOSES IN SPOTLIGHT MEXICO CITY, Mar. 20 (AP)—Wally Moses again basked in the spotlight today, wallowing a home run and three singles to help the Athletics team B defeat team A 10 to 4 in an intra camp game.

Eight times the score was knotted before the mountain team came up with the spur that carried it to the final win.

LOU GEHRIG AND DIMAGGIO SIGN ON DOTTED LINE PEACE IS MADE WITH HOLDOUTS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 20 (AP)—Lou Gehrig is all set to do $36,000 worth of first-basis for the New York Yankees this season.

With Joe DiMaggio, young outfield star, sharing the stage with him, Gehrig brought down the curtain on his holdout drama today by signing his 1937 contract with the world champions of baseball.

Gehrig's 1937 salary is an increase of $5,000 over what he received in 1936.

Gehrig intends to continue his streak of consecutive games with the Yankees which already has passed the 1800 mark.

"I'll be in there for 154 more ball games this year," he said. "I never felt better in my life."

BEAUMONT EXPORTERS would have backed a Big Spring team in the West Texas league if the setup had been right.

HAROLD AKEY, Muny golf pro will stage a city tournament this year but no invitation meet.

SAFETY WINS AAU TOURNEY DENVER, Mar. 20 (AP)—The Denver Safeways, the team that beat the jinx, won the National A. A. U. basketball championship tonight by defeating the Phillips Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla., 43-38 before 6,500 joy-craved fans.

Beaten back at the quarterfinals of four previous national meets, the inspired Denver team drove to a beautifully-played triumph over the star-studded outfit that was rated as the No. 1 tourney favorite.

The battle of two combinations of master cage artists gave basketball's blue ribbon event its most spectacular climax since the Wichita Henrys completed their string of three straight titles with a one-point victory over Maryville, Mo., Teachers in 1932.

It was a brilliant example of basketball competition, bristling with tension from opening tipoff to final gun.

DIZZY'S CARDINAL MOUNDMATE Rates Hubbell As Best Hurler

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Mar. 20 (AP)—Who is the greatest pitcher in major-league baseball today—Southpaw Carl Hubbell of the New York Giants or right-handed Louie Herman Dean of the St. Louis Cardinals?

Ask Jim Winford, the Meeker, Okla., lad, who pails around on the Cardinal mound staff with Dizzy during the baseball season and goes home to pass the winter with Carl.

Without hesitating, he'll say: "Hubbell." Then he'll explain: "Look at the records. 'Say what you want to about won-and-lost averages. They don't tell the story. The earned-run averages do. Ditz is a great pitcher, but he has a long way to go to catch up with Carl.'"

A Lot of Travel "After that," Winford continues, "I batted around from one farm club to another—St. Joseph and Shawnee in 1930, Springfield, Greenboro, Scottsdale and Columbus in 1931, Columbus and Rochester in 1932, back to the Cardinal camp, then Rochester and Columbus in 1933, St. Louis and Rochester in 1934, and Columbus in 1935."

What about Winford's salary? The Cards should have just about doubled it over last year.

"They did, just about, I'm satisfied."

"They called me into St. Louis late in 1935 and I stopped the Cub streak at 21 games, remember? Won 7-5, in 11 innings."

"They had to give me a better chance to deliver last season or do something with me. It's hard to break in as a pitcher with the Cards, because they have so many farms to pick from. I got off good won 11 and lost 10, and never missed a turn."

Members of the Big Spring Women's Golf association, playing matches in San Angelo Friday, were defeated 12 to 6.

The following members made the trip: Mmes. J. Gordon Bristow, Carl Moseley, C. W. Carnest, H. L. Ellis, E. Tatum, Harry Stalcup, Theron Hicks, E. O. Ellington, A. Swartz, Jarby, E. V. Spence, Oldham, Hodges, and Charles Worley.

Mrs. Hicks won a prize for low putts for the day, with 25 for 18 holes.

Entries for the women's invitation tournament here have not been set, and although it was planned to hold the tournament some time in May, a number of important women's golf events already have been scheduled during that month.

Harry Yardon, Great Master Of Golf, Dies

LONDON, Mar. 20 (AP)—Harry Yardon, who never took a golf lesson in his life yet ranked jointly with Bobby Jones as one of the two greatest masters the game ever produced, died at his home in Wheatstone, Middlesex, today, at the age of 66.

Death resulted from a chill Yardon contracted Wednesday evening while walking around the South Herts golf course which only six years ago he shot in 67 strokes.

His passing removed the only player whom English and Scottish adherents of the game ever were willing to mention in the same breath with Jones. They still are undecided which was the greater.

Yardon started playing when he was 15 at Grosvenor, Jersey, where he was born. Yardon first played with a rubber ball and a "club" cut from a hedge.

He won his first open at Mulfield in 1896 with the old gutta ball and repeated in 1898, 1899, 1905, 1911, and 1914.

He captured the United States Open in 1909, and 13 years later tied Ted Ray of England and Francis Ouimet of Boston for first place only to see the sensational youngster, Ouimet, win out in the playoff. In 1920 he finished second to Ray in the American Open at the Inverness club, Toledo. He was a member of the Ryder cup team in 1921. In all he won 62 first class championships.

Walker Breaks Worlds Indoor Hi-Jump Record

INDIANAPOLIS, Mar. 20 (AP)—Mel Walker, lanky Ohio State negro, broke the world's indoor record for the high jump here tonight in the Butler relays when he cleared the bar at 6 feet, 3-4 inches. Officials announced that the leap also tied the world's outdoor record.

The official indoor record is 6 feet, 3-16 inches, but Ed Burke of Marquette has an unofficial mark of 6 feet, 9-14 inches.

Walker leaped over the bar three times in an effort to reach 6 feet, 10 inches. But each time the official measurement showed the bar slightly lower than that mark.

Walker's team, the Metropolitan A.A.U. track and field championships in the slow time of 4:21.3.

TEXAS CAPTURES TRIANGULAR MEET, SCORING 82 1/2 POINTS

AUSTIN, Mar. 20 (AP)—The University of Texas team easily captured a triangular track meet here today, scoring 82 1/2 points to Abilene Christian's 66 1-2 and Baylor University's 15.

H. V. Reeves, Hugh Graves, Lee Ramsdell and George Morris Longhorn sprinters, swept all places in the 100 and 200-yard dashes. They swirled around the track in the 440-yard relay in the Southwest conference record time of 41.8 seconds.

The Longhorns won 13 first places, Abilene Christian three and Baylor none. Dowell of Abilene took the 120-yard high hurdles, Ellis the two-mile run and the mile relay event went to the Christians.

Reeves, winner of the century in '35, the furlong in 213 and starter of the Longhorn relay team, was high man with 11 1-4 points. Nelson Hall of Texas took first in the shot and discus to become second high man with 10 points.

Representatives Of Ten Teams Attend Initial Session Of Year

By HANK HART Assurance that the Big Spring Softball Association will be far stronger during the coming season than in 1936 was given Friday night when representatives of ten teams attended the initial meeting of the season in the Herald office.

The members agreed to meet again each Friday for definite reports. Meanwhile, a committee composed of Matt Harrington and Ben Daniel will canvas the business section in effort to interest the service clubs in a 'slow league.'

Three local service clubs, Kiwanis, Lions and the Rotarians sponsored outfits in 1934, the first year of the association.

Two Loops May Operate If as many as twelve clubs can be organized, two circuits of six clubs each will operate with two games each night. If it is not possible to organize more than one loop, one nine inning game will be played each night.

A committee will be appointed at the next meeting to draw up a set of rules and the schedule, and a president, to be given more authority than ever before, will be elected.

The season will open around April 15 and last until August 15. The representatives voted in favor of a split season with winners meeting in a best four out of seven game series following the close of the regular season.

Iron-Bound Rules The representatives voted to force players to respect the league's rules and regulations more closely and to give the umpires dictatorial powers. Hereafter, a player has been allowed to violate rules governing transfers without penalty.

As was the rule last season, players will be allowed to wear spikes. Spiked shoes were adopted last season after being outlawed during the first two years of the league's operation.

The same ball used last season—12 inches in circumference—will be used this year.

Majority of the teams, including Lee's Store, Elbow, Coaden, and the T&P Shoppers, will begin practice Monday.

Ben Daniel's Devils, who will play under the Anderson Music Company banner, have been out for several weeks.

FUHRER MAKES PLANS FOR BIG OPENING SHOW

Big Spring's wrestling season will open the last week in April or the first week in May in the outdoor arena west of the Crawford hotel, Promoter Herman Fuhrer said Saturday. If the opening match is held the first week in May it will be a feature of the Lion's club convention to be held here. In any event, Fuhrer promises a big card.

For the opener he expects to have Walter Stratton, the strong boy; Andy Tremain, Arizona college boy; Buck Weaver; Vic Webber, clean-cut German grappler, a favorite with local fans; Danny McShain, the riot-provoking Irishman; and Count Von Bromberg, bearded German.

YANKS CLUB BEES ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 20 (AP)—The world champion New York Yankees picked on their favorite grapefruit area stogees, the Boston Bees, again today and clubbed out a 5 to 3 victory with Lou Gehrig making his 1937 debut in the lineup.

By a slow field and won about as he pleased.

Exporter Right - Fielder Leads In Hitting With Two Doubles, Single

COLLEGE STATION, Mar. 20 (AP)—The Beaumont Exporters of the Texas League swept a two-game series with the Texas Aggies today, winning the final 13 to 9. Beaumont took the opener yesterday 8 to 4.

Only five Exporter runs were earned. Beaumont scored seven in the third inning on three hits and Aggie errors.

Jack Suydan, Exporter right-fielder, led in hitting with two doubles and a single. The Aggies got but three blows off Steve Rachunok, John Johnson and Stan Corbell.

The score by innings: Beaumont . . . 107 010 013—13 10 2 Aggies . . . 000 000 000—0 3 9

Rachunok, Johnson, Corbell, and Hank Parsons; Cohn, Spreen and Dowling, Pythian.

Bobby Jones 'Tunes Up' For Augusta National

ATLANTA, Mar. 20 (AP)—Mr. Robert T. Jones, Jr., whose name is analogous with the royal and ancient game of golf, slipped on his knickers today for a tour of the East Lake course—a tune-up for his fourth effort in the Augusta national tournament.

The retired world champion, who is mainly responsible for the organization of the tournament, returned to Atlanta after a business trip in the East. He said he would play regularly until the Augusta affair starting April 1, but is proceeding on a different plan.

The Kansas City Trails won third place in the tourney by defeating the Hollywood Stars 47 to 42 tonight.

The Whites defeated the Reds 9 to 6, Atwood racking 96 yards, catching Ray Cole behind his goal line for a safety.

ELEVEN RECORDS FALL AT S'WESTERN TRACK, FIELD MEET

ONE NEW ALL-MEET MARK SET

FORT WORTH, March 20 (AP)—Eleven records bit the dust and another was shared at Louis J. Wortham Field Saturday afternoon as the fifteenth annual Southwestern Exposition track and field meet was brought to a rousing finish. One new all meet mark was tacked up as the army of young athletes from three states battled for points and trophies.

Heaviest carnage in the record list occurred in the college class where members of the crack squad of the North Texas State Teachers College led an assault that sent six of the 13 old marks crashing into discard. The high schoolers accounted for two of the new records as did the boys in the prep school division.

The other record was chalked up in the junior college class. Texas A. and M. Aggies had little trouble bagging the team trophy in the university class. The Cadets runners, jumpers and throwers piled up 52 1-3 points to 31 2-3 for the second place T.C.U. team. The fine North Texas club of Coach Choc Sportman, one of the best college teams assembled in these parts in years had no trouble in its division. The Eagles scored 95 1-2 tallies to 25 for the East Texas Teachers who finished second.

Connors Agricultural College of Oklahoma walked away with the junior college crown with 52 1-2 points. John Tarleton was second with 30. The A. and M. frosh bagged the prep school title with 56 counters to 14 1-4 for the Eagle first year club.

The hotly contested high school division went to Woodrow Wilson of Dallas, thanks to Lonnie Hill, ace freshman. The Wildcats scored 20 points, twice as many as the second place Grand Saline club. As usual, points were widely scattered in the schoolboy section.

U. OF T. TRIMS OILERS
SEGUIN, Mar. 20 (AP)—Seguin's baseball fans were downcast tonight as their Tulsa Oilers, in training here, allowed Texas University two runs in the ninth and lost a ball game today 9 to 8. The game was played in Austin. Tomorrow the Oilers play an Austin semi-pro club here and Manager Connater will start his strongest lineup, with Andy Bednar starting on the hill.

CATS BEAT INDIANS
JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 20 (AP)—Three runs in the ninth gave the Fort Worth Cats a 7-4 victory over the Oklahoma City Indians here today.

Lou Bower, and Johnny Stoneham of the Indians each got two hits, the latter a double and homer. Shelly hit for the circuit for the Cats. The teams play here again tomorrow.

OPEN WITH WIN
CLEARWATER, Fla., Mar. 20 (AP)—Brooklyn's 1937 Dodgers, featuring a brass of base running Flatbush won't recognize when they get home, opened their grapefruit league campaign today with a 6 to 0 conquest of the Philadelphia Phillies.

THE STORY OF A MAN WHO CAUGHT YOUNG BOB FELLER

By FRED WILLIAMS
NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 20 (AP)—Once I was a catcher in the old Marble Valley league in Vermont. I thought I was good and that pitcher could not serve them up too hot.

FELLER

But I faced this young Bob Feller. There had been a lot of trumpeting about his prowess, but I didn't believe it. Now I am sadder but wiser because I have first-hand information.

Behind a catcher's mask, chest protector, shin guards and the nerve of a greenhorn I stood before this pitcher over what appeared to me the shortest 60 feet imaginable.

WILLIAMS

After he had pitched one warm-up ball he took on the appearance of an opposing guard on a football team. I questioned the distance. Bob assured me he had paced it off, reared back, raised a very large foot and turned the first one loose. It was easy. I made what I thought was a very snappy stop and smirked at a group of Cleveland's Indians, who insultingly had inquired why the chest protector and the shin guards.

The next pitches came in with a little more speed, but nothing unusual, and I was beginning to wonder why this so-so hurler had caused all the puffing by writers and pondering by Judge Landis when Bob said:

"This will be fast on the outside." This was understatement of the rankiest sort. Instead of the ordinary baseball, something that appeared the size of a golf ball came hurtling down that very short 60 feet. I caught it, unfortunately. First there was the shock, then the sting, and then 65 porcupines marched up my left arm, across my shoulder and back down again.

The ball had disappeared. "It's in the mitt," young Mr. Feller said kindly. There were a few more like this, but it didn't matter. After that first one nothing mattered.

"Now we'll try a curve," Bob said. This displayed a lack of geometrical learning on his part. It wasn't a curve. It was a right angle. It started out like the fast ball and in the fleeting second I thought he had changed his mind. He hadn't. Just before it reached the plate it made a right oblique and dropped three feet. The fact I stopped it at all is proof that the mind may be weak, but the reflex motions strong.

"We'll try that again," Bob said. "I didn't like it." I told him that made it unannounced—I didn't like it either. This time it didn't drop, just that sharp off-slant ahead of the plate. I made a nice catch off the backstop. My hand had taken on the rosate hue of a boiled lobster by this time and I vaguely recalled all pitchers had a slow ball in their repertoire.

"Don't you have a change of pace?" I asked. "Yes," Job replied. "Do you want me to throw my fast one?" This was too much of enough and with profound sympathy for American league batsmen—and Cleveland catchers—I turned the equipment back to Frankie Fylik of the Indians, who is a good catcher, too.

Picard Enters Finals Best Ball Tourney

Henry Drops Long Putt To Break Up Extra Hole Match

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., Mar. 20 (AP)—Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa. stylist, dropped a long putt today to break up an extra-hole match and enter the finals of the $3,000 amateur professional best ball golf tournament along with his partner, Frank Ford of Charlestown, S. C.

Opposing the Picard-Ford team was Jimmie Hines of Garden City, L. I., and Mark Stuart of New York. Both semi-finals matches were exhibitions of near-flawless golf. Matching stroke for stroke with Picard and Ford, Horton Smith of Chicago and Fred Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, were even after the first 18 holes and Haas sank a 25-foot putt to square the match on the 36th.

Picard planted his second shot on the first extra hole to within eight feet of the pin and calmly made good his first putt. Smith and Haas could do no better than par 4s.

Harry Cooper of Chicago and Paul Leslie of Baton Rouge, La., gave Hines and Stuart a merry tale all the way. Leslie sank a 25-foot putt on the 35th to prolong the encounter but his team could not overcome the one-stroke deficit on the last hole.

Both the Picard-Ford and Smith-Haas combinations were 10 strokes under par for 36 holes. Each had 18 hole rounds of 68-66-154. Hines and Stuart fired a 66-67-135 while Cooper and Leslie turned in a 69-67-136.

DALLAS BEATS ST. PAUL
MARSHALL, Mar. 20 (AP)—Les Mallon's bat featured an offensive that gave the Dallas Steers of the Texas League a 5-0 victory over St. Paul of the American Association here today.

Air-tight pitching by Al Baker, Chester Klarnner and Robert Uhle which held the Saints to four hits and Mallon's lusty hitting set the double A club back in the first of a two-game series.

ed all the puffing by writers and pondering by Judge Landis when Bob said:

Bowman Fights Subsidization Of Athletes

Calls For New Athletic Policy Following Resignation Of Harrison

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 20 (AP)—Chancellor John G. Bowman of the University of Pittsburgh called for an athletic policy against subsidization of athletes today following the resignation of W. Don Harrison as Pitt's athletic director.

Harrison's resignation was accepted by the athletic council, ending his long feud with Dr. John Bain "Jock" Sutherland, football coach.

The chancellor laid down a three-point program which he summarized as follows: (1) That football as well as other forms of athletics at the university shall be conducted primarily for the benefit of the students. The students should have fun in the games. x x x.

(2) Too often I have met the inference that indebtedness upon the stadium is a reason for football emphasis. That is all wrong. x x x (Pitt stadium, which seats 65,000, still has an indebtedness against it of more than $1,000,000.)

(3) Much discussion of athletics center around the subsidization of athletes. Much of this talk is nonsense. x x x I cannot express to you too strongly my desire that the university shall discourage the giving of special help to students who have nothing to recommend them but athletic ability. x x x

Coach Sutherland had demanded a showdown on control of Pitt's football activities following a showdown with Harrison about whether the players should be given money to attend a dance after Pitt's Rose Bowl victory over Washington.

Savage Hurls One-Hit Game

Calves Win From Garner Here Saturday Afternoon, 16-0

Bobby Savage struck out nine men, walked five and allowed only one hit as Ben Daniels' Calves high school softball team, defeated Garner here Saturday afternoon, 16 to 0.

Burns, next to the last man up for Garner in the ninth stanza, singled sharply over second base to spoil Savage's record but was tagged when he tried to stretch his hit into a double.

The Calves play Soash here Monday at 7:30 p. m. Lee's Store team here Tuesday night, and Forum high school here March 29.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Mar. 20 (AP)—Young Horton Cooper was wild and ineffective, yielding four runs in the tenth inning to give the Washington Senators an 8 to 6 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in an exhibition game today.

VARSIITY FITTING
AVALON, Calif., Mar. 20 (AP)—Varsity pitching continued to embarrass varsity hitting today as the Chicago Cub recruits defeated the regulars, 7 to 1, for their fourth straight training camp victory.

PATE BACK FROM TRIP TO SANTONE

Final plans for the West Texas-New Mexico baseball league, comprising Midland, Monahans, Odessa, Wink and Hobbs and Roswell in New Mexico, will be worked out at a meeting to be held this week in Hobbs, Joe Pate advised The Herald Saturday.

Pate spent most of last week in San Antonio and Houston working out details of the W. T. league with Texas league officials. He was accompanied by Johnny Neal of Hobbs who was looking for a manager for the Hobbs team.

Monahans failed to close a deal for the much publicized all tank which they proposed to turn

Cooperation Urged In School Census

Enumeration of the scholastic census had not proceeded at a satisfactory rate through Saturday, George Gentry, senior and junior high school principal, indicated. He said that every effort would be made throughout this week and to April 1 to list every child between the ages of 5 and 18 (as of Sept. 1).

Patrons were urged to cooperate in making certain that their children, and the children of their neighbors had been listed by census-takers. Each scholastic listed and an

the quality of the plants. Four thousand additional rose bushes in the city and 1,000 more in the park should make a difference in appearance. Chalk up to the unusual fact that Howard county's fruit crop escaped serious injury last week from temperatures which dropped as low as 26 degrees. Total damage to the crop was estimated to be less than $1,000. The escape seems very fortunate when it is remembered that white frosts with temperatures as high as 40 degrees have killed almost every bud in the county in times past. Howard county officers are watching their expense accounts a bit closer this year. For the first two months they were $159 under the total last year, and the same two months last year were the lightest of the 12 months period. Revenues are showing gains, according to monthly reports from part of the offices. Some offices did not report fee collections. They should do this just as religiously as they report expenditures. It's good business. Incidentally, the commissioner court is sort of sitting down on the boys in some instances. While there is not really much need of kicking on items of expense, a little now and then doesn't hurt anything. And now for a subject of interest, warmth, etc., something open to a lot of conjecture and speculation—the approaching city commission election. A week ago there were two candidates. Now there are five. Incumbents, J. W. Allen and Leo Nall, will stand, of course, on the administrative record, pretty firm ground. Two others, Jess Hall and Ray Ogden, stand for much the same thing but with an avowed liberal policy under the title of "progressive" ticket. The fifth entry, Bob Scherrhorn, may be expected to see eye to eye with these on most issues of paving, water supply, sound economy, plus injecting a new issue—improvement of the airport. He has not definitely committed himself to this point, but his support of it will be no startling news. A year ago the Scenic Mountain state park was pronounced complete so far as the state parks board program was concerned. The board, without appreciable funds, was unable to provide a salaried caretaker and a budget for maintenance. Consequently the park has taken the only logical course, that toward depreciation. Fortunately, most of the construction is of durable rock type and has withstood vandalism attempts. The park stands now at the cross roads. It needs to either be taken in hand to clinch improvements already made, or left to soon be just about like it once was. If the state parks board is unable to do this, it is not unreasonable to believe that some local unit might undertake the responsibility. The Red Cross, cooperating with county, state and national health officials, is to launch a campaign which may evoke some consternation in ultra-conservative camps. Local physicians are preparing a series of semi-weekly programs, informing the public about the unpleasant but growing menace of typhoid. This has been a taboo subject in pollster circles for generations, but silence has only contributed to the alarming spread of the disease. The time has come when truth and enlightenment must be brought into play. Perhaps the ugliness of the situation may shock people into sensing the need for action.

son said the legislative explosion investigating committee might not take testimony. "The military court is going into the matter so deeply that we may be able to formulate our policies," he said. F. Waggoner, principal of the New London elementary school, gave a graphic eye-witness portrayal of the blast. Cuts on the principal's forehead showed how close it was to the building when the tragedy occurred. Captain Coombes began the questioning. A Dull Boom Q. What sort of an explosion was it as far as its sound was concerned? A. Well, it wasn't a sharp report—just a dull boom. Q. Did you see a flash or flame? A. I did not. Q. What did you see? A. I saw a mass fly over my head. Q. Did the debris seem to be coming more or less in a horizontal plane? A. Yes, sir. Q. Did you notice the roof? A. No, sir. Q. Did the particles go to great heights? A. No, sir. It didn't take them long to come down. Q. Did you notice the nature of the wounds of those who were trapped in the building? A. Some had the tops of their heads blown off and others were mangled. Q. After the school changed from dry to wet gas for its heat did you notice any change? A. The flame would come up higher. Some of the pupils complained of headaches. Q. What corrective steps were taken? A. A regulator was put on and the following day the pressure was too low. We didn't have any more trouble, however, after the first week. Dr. Schoch took up the questioning. No Evidence of Fire Q. Did the children in the school wreckage show any evidence of burns? A. I saw one boy who looked like the hair had been burned off his head. Q. In general was there any evidence of fire? A. I don't remember seeing any corpses which were burned. The hearing recessed for the night after the Waggoner testimony, planning to resume tomorrow in the hope of completing testimony tomorrow night. Captain Zachariah Coombes Texas national guard, sat as judge advocate at the court and closely questioned witnesses. Change in Plans Contractor Ross Maddox, called to testify concerning the heating system, told the court original plans for building did not call for a gas heating system, but for a boiler. "The change to gas steam radiation was on account of cost, I presume," he said. The contractor said the London school building committee carefully inspected various gas heating devices in other East Texas schools before deciding to install gas in its structure. No state agency passed on the installation of the radiator system, said Maddox, but he added "it was done according to the code with no formal inspection." Prosecutor Present District Attorney Stone Wells of Rusk county sat deeply interested and listened to testimony but said he "didn't think there was a possibility of criminal law violations." Graphic, eye-witness account of the explosion was given by Frank Hodges of Henderson. "I was standing at the northwest corner of the building, only about five feet away from it when the explosion happened. It made a muffled noise." Hodges said it seemed the wall "was bursting towards me," but added he did not see whether the roof had been blown upward. Hodges, plumbing contractor on the school house, when asked if he found horizontal and vertical layers of tiles in the few times that he drilled holes for vent pipes, replied: "There was a draft every time I made a test. It's possible I didn't test all the holes." Normally, the largest and busiest petroleum sector in the world, the East Texas field today was silent except for only the imper-

SHOE-FITTING CARAVAN TO BE HERE WEDNESDAY

Dr. Scholl's foot-comfort caravan, pictured above, will be seen in front of the Albert M. Fisher company store on Main street throughout the day Wednesday. This traveling unit of Dr. Scholl's foot comfort service brings more than 1,000 pairs of Dr. Scholl's scientific shoes, a range of styles including new numbers for the spring season, in 623 combination fittings. All the latest methods of fitting shoes scientifically, including X-ray, will be used in obtaining right fitting shoes for those who have foot troubles or unusual feet.

SPRING'S HERE, BUT WEATHER IN NORTH DOESN'T SHOW IT

By The Associated Press That cold breath on the back of Northerners' necks Saturday night was spring. Spring began—so the meteorologists said—at 6:45 p. m., when the sun crossed the equator on its northward journey. But there was little corroborative evidence in most of the nation. Snow, ranging up to three inches at Detroit, fell in Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Iowa. Skilling remained in vogue in western Massachusetts, Vermont and New Hampshire. Temperatures near or below freezing formed the rule in the northwest. A chill north wind moved across Missouri and Kansas. Nebraskans regarded a blizzard of melting snow, measuring from a quarter inch to nearly a foot, as beneficial to spring planting. A misting rain kept New York cool. Rain offset the enjoyment of warm weather in parts of Kentucky and Pennsylvania.

RED CROSS IN NO NEED OF FURTHER DISASTER FUNDS

The local chapter of the Red Cross, through Shine Philips, chairman, Saturday morning voiced appreciation for voluntary subscriptions to the relief of New London, Texas, disaster victims, and announced that no further subscriptions would be asked. William M. Baxter, Jr., manager of the American Red Cross, wired Saturday that in view of recent generous response to flood relief appeals, no special appeal was to be made for the New London disaster. He added that "it is not intended to deny those wishing to contribute to this disaster the privilege of so doing." Philips said that although the chapter was not seeking donations, it would be glad to transmit contributions to national headquarters for use in the New London tragedy. He said a full report of the amount collected will be given to the press and radio next week.

PAVEMENT REPAIR WORK IS STOPPED DURING WEEKEND

Crews of city street workers rested Saturday from their task of filling gaping cracks in the downtown pavement. Heavy week-end traffic was the reason. Filling of the cracks with emulsion asphalt and rock aggregate has been in progress during the past week. The tedious task of repairing damage occurring from expansion of a concrete base material may require several weeks.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT PROJECT IS SLATED

WPA district headquarters Saturday announced that a four-mile improvement project on the Lamesa-Stanton road was scheduled to be opened at Lamesa Monday. The job is to be accomplished as a NRWR project. It includes drainage and ditching, base material and topping in addition to construction of one large structure just south of Lamesa.

LICENSE BUYING AT A SLOW PACE

With approximately one-fifth of the cars to be registered for 1937 issued license plates through Saturday, Tax Collector John Wolcott expressed doubts that all would be registered by April 1. He warned that unless automobile owners secured their plates the forepart of this week, they will have to stand in long lines. Through Saturday afternoon only 1,679 passenger car license plates had been issued. A total of 134 commercial, 31 farm, and four motorcycle license plates had been disbursed. Wolcott passenger car licenses to be estimated that there were 5,000 cured here not later than April 1.

Crack-Up

Manning, Noonan and Paul Mantz, technical adviser, called for Los Angeles on the steamer Malolo, determined to have their plane repaired at its Southern California factory preparatory to resuming the projected 27,000-mile world flight. Although Miss Earhart gave no outward sign of agitation as she first emerged from the sixth narrow escape of her aviation career she seemed bedraggled and tired as she hurried up the gangplank to sail. She wore several leis, somewhat the worse for rain, and still wore a leather jacket she wore when she started her world flight from Oakland last Wednesday. Her always tousled hair seemed more awry than usual. Her eyes appeared tired. Accompanied by Mantz, she rushed up the gangplank without speaking to interviewers. "I'll Be Back" Miss Earhart's chin went up however, as the liner moved out to the strains of the inevitable Aloha Co. "I'll be back," she said. "I hope this is only a postponement," she added. "I talked with Mr. Putnam (George Palmer Putnam, her husband, now in Oakland) and he was happy to hear our voices. He said as long as we were safe, nothing else mattered." The aviator said the plane would be crated and shipped back to its factory in Los Angeles as soon as possible. Before sailing Miss Earhart conferred with postal officials regarding several thousand special stamp cancellations she was to have carried around the world. They were held for further instructions. The coast guard and the navy recalled three ships which had been standing by along the unflown route to Howland Island.

ALLOWABLES FOR MONTH ARE TRIMMED

April Crude Quota Over 50,000 Barrels Less Than This Month AUSTIN, Mar. 20 (UP)—Texas' oil operators received today what they had been apprehensively expecting for several weeks, a cut in their allowable production. The state railroad commission set the allowable for April at 1,348,994 barrels daily, 50,450 barrels less than the basic schedule for March but 51,064 above the estimate of market demand for Texas' crude made by the federal bureau of mines. With the exception of the East Texas area, and after deductions for marginal production had been made, a horizontal slash of 15 per cent was applied. C. V. Terrell, commission chairman said, Ernest O. Thompson, another commission member, said East Texas was excepted from the reduction because of strong demand for its product. With the factor of 2.32 per cent of the hourly per well potential unchanged, it was estimated the allowable of the East Texas field on April 1, effective date of the order, would be 455,500 barrels, compared with 453,000 on March 1.

RABBIT DRIVE SET TUESDAY AT LOMAX

Third rabbit drive of the season will be waged Tuesday at 9 a. m. southwest of Lomax, scene of the season's opener March 2. The drive is to originate at the M. G. Chapman place, one mile south, two miles west, and one south of the Lomax school house. Plenty of ammunition will be on the grounds. Second drive of the season was held at Vealmoor last Thursday. One casualty resulted when J. N. Lane, Jr., received a gunshot wound in the foot as he unloaded his gun at the conclusion of the drive.

QUAIL AVAILABLE AT STATE DEPARTMENT

Sportsmen, ranchers and farmers of this area who would like to stock their property with Bob White quail may procure the birds by writing to the game and fish department at Austin, Mrs. Hal C. Peck, Midland, game commission member, said Saturday. Price of the birds is 30 cents each and a minimum order of 24 will be accepted. A maximum order of 200 is fixed. The department is offering 20,000 birds at cost. Mrs. Billie Baker, Mrs. Lila Cason and son visited with their sister, Mrs. J. B. Pickle, here Saturday. Miss Cleo Griffin, many years ago a resident of Big Spring, visited here Saturday.

LOCAL SCOUT TROOP SEEKS SIXTH CHARTER

Boy Scout Troop No. 7, sponsored by the Lions club, is making application for a charter for the sixth consecutive year. Scoutmaster John R. Hutto and his assistant, Jaun Garcia, who have served in their respective positions since the organization of the troop in February, 1931, will again head the troop. Troop committee members appointed from the Lions club are Elton Taylor, Burma Barley and O. R. Bollinger. Reorganization of the troop was accomplished Friday evening with Frank Moncada being named leader of the Indian patrol and Ynez Yanez leader of the Wild Cats. Patrols started practicing for the Round Up here in May, a function in which they have repeatedly made creditable showings. Members of the troop are Frank Moncada, Ben Mancha, Robert Mendoza, Joe Aleman, Fabian Gomez, Noah Layva, George Valdez, Wilfred Yanez, Raymond Lujan, Tony Rodriguez, Manuel Fierro, Jose Hernandez, Leon Duron, Alfred Perez, Rudolph Fierro, Ynez Yanez, Chico Saavedra, Jesse Mendoza, Clarence Yanez, Simon Roldan, Dolores Yanez, Jesse Hernandez, Ismael Valdez, Julian Villa, David Marquez, Tony Fierro, Arthur Marquez, Gilbert Diaz, and Clemente Guzman.

143 ATTEND LODGE CEREMONIES HERE

Twenty-three Texas lodges and five out of state lodges were represented in ceremonies at the Masonic lodge here Friday evening when the musical master degree was conferred by the Abilene team. Total attendance for the colorful affair, seldom seen outside a grand lodge meeting, was given at 143.

Gas Lines In All Schools Here Are Found To Be OK

Gas lines and appliances in all Big Spring school buildings were checked Saturday by the Empire Southern Service and found to be in perfect condition. The inspection was prompted by the untimely gas explosion in the New London, Texas, school which claimed 425 lives. Several parents had expressed fears a similar occurrence could happen here. One mother told the gas company she had kept her children out of school Friday pending an investigation. Bill Olson, supervisor of school buildings and grounds, said that lines and outlets under steam boilers in the high school and auxiliary appliances, had been checked thoroughly. Similar tests were conducted in the junior high school, South, East, West, North, Kate Morrison (Mexican) and negro school buildings. The Mexican and negro school buildings use gas exclusively.

French Children Make Up Fund For Texas Catastrophe

CHERBOURG, France, Mar. 20 (UP)—The New London, Texas, school tragedy brought a touching response today from children traveling in an Easter street fair here. They made up a collection of 190 francs, about $37.4, which they presented to the American consul to help victims of the school explosion. BONHAM, Mar. 20 (UP)—Mrs. M. A. Taylor of Bonham, president of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, started a movement today to raise funds for a memorial at New London, scene of the school explosion. She asked those desiring to contribute to send their funds to Gov. James V. Allred.

FORT WORTH, Mar. 20 (UP)—Funeral services will be held here Monday for Ruth Devore Fairtrace, 5, daughter of City Manager and Mrs. George D. Fairtrace. The child's death occurred Friday night after pneumonia had followed an attack of measles. Besides the parents the survivors are a sister, Ann Fairtrace and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Fairtrace and Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Boone all of Dallas. Fairtrace formerly was city manager of Wichita Falls.

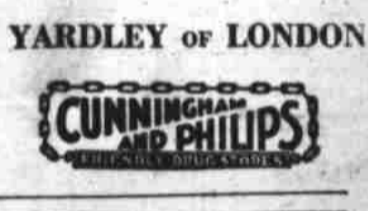

SEVEN INJURED IN S. CAROLINA STORM

GAFFNEY, S. C., Mar. 20 (UP)—A tornado hit here early tonight, demolished four houses, damaged a number of others, and resulted in injuries to seven persons. The twister struck in the Chambers' Knob section of town, where the houses were blown down, skipped over the business section, and hit again in the western part of the city, where it demolished a brick garage. A number of other buildings were damaged. The door to the county courtroom was blown away, and also the porch of the county jail. Trees in many parts of the city were uprooted and electric service was interrupted an hour.

Music For Easter Is Arranged

Offerings To Climax Week Of Pre-Easter Evangelistic Meets

Climax to the pre-Easter evangelistic meetings held in majority of churches throughout the city will be the services to be held on Easter morning at sunrise and throughout the day when special music has been arranged by many of the churches.

Sunrise services will be held jointly by the members of the H. League and Young Peoples' department of the First Methodist church at the Boy Scout hut at the city park beginning at 6 o'clock Easter morning. Prayer will be offered by the Rev. C. A. Bickley and, as a final part in the Pass-over Week services to be conducted during the week by Mrs. Bickley, she will give Easter meditations.

SHE WRITES OF CAVALCADES

Jan Isabelle Fortune, of Dallas, author of 'Cavalcade of the Americas,' dramatic outdoor spectacle of the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition scheduled to show in Dallas this summer is a sister of Mrs. W. A. Stall of this city.

Sister Of Local Author Adds To Reputation As Cavalcade Writer

Fortune has smiled upon the two Labelle girls when the gods gifted with a flair for writing and now as Mrs. W. A. Stall of this city and Mrs. Jan Isabelle Fortune of Dallas they have gained enviable reputations as authors throughout the state and nation.

While Mrs. Stall, who has just sold the rights of her first novel, 'Big Drift,' to a London syndicate has gained much in public favor as a novelist, Mrs. Fortune is well known as a writer of prose, plays and poetry.

3 Local Women Take District WMU Offices

Mrs. J. J. Strickland was elected president of the eighth district of Baptist Women's Missionary Union at the second annual general convention at Lamesa Friday.

MRS. WYNN HERE

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Price have as their guest Mrs. Frank Wynn of Fort Worth, who accompanied the Prices here Friday after a several days' visit in that city.

Pre-Easter activities keep the younger set very busy and while they are busy they will need some dashing clothes. Here are pictured models of some of the latest design for spring wear. Something new has happened to the silver fox scarf you see in the upper left photo. It is tipped with two tails, slit through the center and worn like a necktie to fall over the shoulder in soft swirls. It steps out with a bolero suit, bright printed blouse and beige accessories. Sheer black shadow lace, feminine as perfume, makes a distinctive dinner frock. It is designed with a little rolled collar, long bishop sleeves and a full skirt hemmed in horsehair braid to make it swirl. Adding sparkle are rhinestone clips at the neckline and the belt.

Holy Week Services At Catholic Church

Joan Crawford, William Powell And Robert Montgomery Featured In Ritz Attraction

'Last Of Mrs. Cheyney' Plays Today And Monday

The glittering star triumvirate of Joan Crawford, William Powell and Robert Montgomery comes to the Ritz screen Sunday and Monday in a polished screen translation of Francis Londsdale's famous stage success, "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney." These three capable and popular stars have the support of an outstanding cast which includes Frank Morgan, Jessie Ralph, Nigel Bruce, Colleen Case, Benita Hume, Allison Pringle and Melville Cooper.

Black Legion Acts Depicted In Photoplay

Film From The Headlines Offered At Queen Sunday And Monday Taking its theme from a story that hit the headlines of the nation's newspapers last year and exposed a thrilling drama of hoodlums that considered themselves the rightful rulers of the country is the Sunday and Monday attraction at the Queen theatre, "Black Legion."

AT THE QUEEN

Ann Sheridan, a Texas girl who is making good in Hollywood, has a featured part in "Black Legion," a dramatic film booked at the Queen Monday and Tuesday, and which was based on activities of the Michigan secret society recently in the headlines.

Dancing Star In Picture At Lyric Today

Dazzling Steps Presented By Eleanor Powell In 'Born To Dance'

America's queen of the tap dancers, Eleanor Powell, returns to the "local screen in the picture, "Born To Dance," the Sunday and Monday attraction at the Lyric theatre. In support are James Stewart, Sid Silvers, Una Merkel, Frances Langford, Virginia Bruce, Raymond Walburn and others.

FUN FOR EVERYBODY BUT HER

Elevy is one of those eventful persons—always in a bad humor. She fusses with fellow performers and the audience as well, in her part of the show presented by the Weaver Brothers, who will appear on the stage at the Ritz Tuesday.

Jimmie Ross Orchestra On KBST Each Morning; History Review To Be Presented Daily At 9:45 A. M.

Jimmie Ross and his orchestra, currently playing at the Settles hotel, are appearing over KBST in a mid-morning program of dance melody. Jimmie and the gang are well known in West Texas, and have made several engagements in Big Spring in the past.

THREE STARS CO-FEATURED

Robert Montgomery, William Powell and Joan Crawford have co-starring roles in a new film presentation of the popular play, "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney." The picture is offered Sunday and Monday at the Ritz theatre.

The Lobby Interviews broadcasts from KBST have been replaced for the present by a very educational and interesting program, Brief Moments in History.

Baroness Caene, internationally known style authority, is being presented in a series of transcribed fashion talks over KBST. Her very interesting talks will appear Sunday evening at 7:30, and Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7:45.

Sunday evening, 6:00 until 6:30, a trio including Mrs. R. E. Blount, Miss Ruby Bell, and Ira Powell will present an all sacred program over KBST.

The regular week-day devotional services broadcast by KBST have been changed to 8 o'clock each morning, instead of the usual 7:45. The period 7:45 until 8 is now the "Snooping Around" broadcast.

Pearson, original tap dancer whose hands are as expressive as his feet; "Bugin' Sam" DeKemel, who gets all manner of music out of an army bugle; Everett Sanderson, who plays three clarinets at once; the modern choir; the Weaverettes; Don Gil's mandolin ensemble; and Paudie McKenzie.

The Weavers will present two stage shows, one in the afternoon and one at night, in addition to the regular screen program. It is the first time the entertainers, known throughout the nation after 20 years on major vaudeville stages, have ever played in Big Spring.

A bit of Arkansas—or that part of the Ozark state's popularity supposed to be the habitat of the hill-billy—is to be transplanted to the stage of the Ritz theatre Tuesday when the Weaver Brothers and Elviry come to town. These entertainers, veterans of the big-time vaudeville circuits and as popular a troupe that has ever been on the stage, present almost every type of vaudeville entertainment, with the help of some 25 "kinfolks." The Weaver brothers—Abner, the homespun master of ceremonies, and Cicero, the bashful bumpkin who has such fun with his watch and his trick tie—play banjos and guitars of every size and description and then top it off with presentations on saws and assorted home-spun instruments made of implements and utensils. Elviry doesn't laugh, but gets laughs from the audience with her songs, dances and haranguing. Others who add to the act are Wills Weaver, "solo singer"; "Tots" 4:30 Xavier Cugat Orch, NBC. 4:45 Olive Eroughton, Accordion. 5:00 Modernistic Varieties, NBC. 5:30 American Family Robinson WBS. 5:45 Dance Ditties, NBC. 6:00 Dinner Hour, NBC. 6:30 Studio Program. 6:45 Curbatons Reporter. 7:00 Evontide Echoes, Standard. 7:15 Mexican Orchestra. 7:30 Melvyn Console Moments Jimmie Wilson. 7:45 Newscast. 8:00 "Goodnight."
