BONUS TREK THREATENS IND. TRAIN
Police Ordered to a Resistance at All Costs

WASHINGTON, Ind., May 25. (UP)—A clash between the Baltimore & Ohio and the 400 bonus marchers is impending. The veterans arrived here yesterday in trucks furnished by East St. Louis merchants. They are encamped along the right of way. Police were ordered to protect railroad property at all costs.

NEFF TO RESIGN RAILROAD POST JUNE 1, LEARNED

AUSTIN, May 25. (UP)—Pat M. Neff will relinquish his post on the railroad commission June 1, it was learned authoritatively today. Ernest O. Thompson will receive the appointment for finishing the term. Neff declined to confirm the change but said an announcement was likely this afternoon. Neff is to become president of Baylor university at Waco. Meanwhile, W. Gregory Hatcher of Dallas has announced his coming election platform. Thompson is also to be a candidate.

Scholastic Census Shows 1466 Total

The scholastic census for the Midland independent school district for 1932-1933, as compiled by L. A. Brunson, shows a total of 1,466, as compared with a total of 1,597 for 1931-1932. The total enrollment in the Midland public schools for 1931-1932 was 1,592. The records of enrollment, as compared with the census count, show that approximately 130 Mexicans and 36 negroes were not enrolled in the public schools during the year. This does not count the enrollment in the Catholic school, which was, no doubt 60 or 70 for the year. This leaves practically no white children who failed to enroll in the schools during the year. The census count shows, according to age:

6 years old	125
7 years old	146
8 years old	133
9 years old	132
10 years old	137
11 years old	129
12 years old	147
13 years old	110
14 years old	110
15 years old	98
16 years old	104

Fuhrman Well to Run Casing Soon

Fuhrman Petroleum Corporation's No. 1 Borer, which drills and cased, was scheduled to run 2 1/2-inch upset tubing with a packer today on Thursday, after having cleaned out to the bottom. The packer is intended to shut off water from above the pay which is believed to be coming through a split joint in the 5-8 inch casing that was cemented at 4,034 feet. Four and one-half barrels of water hourly was struck at 3,840 feet. Because the oil has been cut by the water to such an extent, estimating the rate of oil production has been difficult but it appears to be the consensus that No. 1 Borer is good for 200 to 300 barrels daily, some believe it will make more when conditioned. The well was shot on Thursday evening, May 12, at three levels with a total of 300 quarts from 4,220 to 4,330 feet, after showing no increase below 4,310 feet in drilling to 4,541 feet, 1,346 feet below sea level. While cleaning out was underway to most estimates, was making last mid-week No. 1 Borer, accordingly around 1,500,000 cubic feet of gas daily. Continued casing made cleaning out difficult. The well is 1,320 feet from the north line and 440 feet from the west line of section 24, block A-43, public school land, three-quarters of a mile southeast of Fuhrman No. 1 W. T. Ford, the largest producer in Andrews county unless exceeded by No. 1 Borer. Andrews county wells have no pipe line outlet.

Given 35 Years In Borger Murder

BORGER, May 25. (UP)—Joseph Melin today was given 35 years for killing Roy Owens on March 22. Owens was slain as he stepped from an automobile two miles east of Whittenton.

Theatre Owner Is Found Dead

HOUSTON, May 25. (UP)—Paul Baraco, 58, owner of several neighborhood theatres, was found dead in his bedroom on Tuesday. He had been shot through the head. His death was apparently suicide.

Giles Liked Midland So He Broke Out of Breck Jail and Headed Home

BRECKENRIDGE, May 25.—Lester R. (Red) Giles, who escaped from the Stephens county jail on May 12, was arrested at Lubbock, local officers have been notified. Giles is under three sentences totaling 11 years. He was convicted last year at Eastland on a charge of robbery with firearms and given a five-year term in connection with the hold-up of Ty Christian, manager of a Rialto theatre. Later he drew a one-year sentence at Midland on a liquor law violation charge. Subsequently a five-year term suspended here in 1927 was invoked and Giles was brought here a few weeks ago to be sentenced. Conviction here was on a charge of theft of all oil casing. Giles sawed his way out of the run around on the fourth floor of the Stephens county courthouse, and let himself to the ground with a rope made of shoes. The grand jury in district court here indicted Dick Yarborough on a charge of aiding Giles in escaping from jail.

Others Also Held In Connection

LUBBOCK, May 25.—L. R. (Red) Giles, 28, under three sentences totaling 11 years, was arrested by Lubbock county officers as Giles and two companions left a hotel here. Giles sawed his way from the Breck-enridge jail May 12. The two other men are being held in an effort to determine whether they also are wanted. Giles said he left the Stephens county jail about 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon, escaped into a waiting car, and spent six days "in the brush" near Breck-enridge before going to Graham. From that place he went to Midland, and came to Lubbock Monday night. "I told that bunch at Breck-enridge I was going to break jail if they didn't put me in another one," Giles said. "I didn't like the jail." "It will make it harder on me," you know, about getting out," he explained, and repeated, "but I didn't like that jail. I wanted to go to Midland. That's a swell place." "Those saws were there when I went in about three months ago." "Why I had the bars sawed 30 days before I left. The sheet broke. I fell right by a man who was gardening. Nearly scared him to death," Giles laughed. "There was a whole bunch of people on the court house square and they all yelled, but they didn't do anything to stop me," he said. "The car starter hung, and I bet I had to push it half a block before the engine started." Giles readily told of his escape from the Stephens county jail, of hiding "about a week" in the brush, and of "getting away" from 30 men.

Humorous Talks At Lions Program

Humorous impromptu talks were made at the Lions club today by J. S. Noland, Homer W. Rowe, Harlan Hight, and M. M. Seymour. The Rev. Howard Peters in charge of the program, assigned the subjects. In a heated contest, Albert Oreck won the election of club last twister from A. B. Coleman and Mr. Peters. A request was made by the Rev. Winston Borum that Lions furnish jobs for boy scouts in order that the club might attend the annual scout camp next month. Mrs. Holt Jewell, club pianist and sweetheart, was presented with a gift, a silver picture of the north of Odessa, to make her home. Newly elected officers will be installed next week.

Sheriff Raids Rankin Booze

RANKIN.—Sheriff W. C. Fowler made an inroad on the supply of liquor stored for use during the Frontier days celebration last week when he visited a hotel here and nabbed more than 42 gallons of whisky, 600 bottles of beer and a barrel of beer mash. Slim Henderson, proprietor of the establishment, was arrested and charged with possession of the intoxicants for the purpose of sale. He was released under bond of $1000 for the action of the grand jury. Officers first visited the place early in the evening and found the whisky, they later returned, found the beer and proceeded to break more than 600 bottles.

Harrison Well Drills to Pay

Reports of Tuesday night indicated that Lee C. Harrison's No. 2 L. C. Denman, farthest southwest test in Howard county's easternmost oil pool, located southeast of Coahoma, would make the best producer. The test had drilled to 2,750 feet and had 900 feet of oil in the hole. Depth of the top of the pay had not been learned. In the H. C. Denman company's No. 1 Denman, east and slightly south of Harrison's No. 2 Denman, the main pay was topped at 2,702 feet and the test was drilled to 2,812 feet, where it is cleaning out following a 400-quart shot from 2,701 to 2,808 feet. Harrison's No. 2 Denman is a 10-barrel producer, which is pumping 100 barrels per day.

NO SCHOOL VACANCIES

There are no vacancies in the public school system, every teacher having been re-elected and all having announced they will return, it was learned through the office of the superintendent this afternoon.

IMPROVES TODAY

Mrs. J. H. Barton, who was removed from her home to a Midland hospital Tuesday afternoon because of an attack of bronchitis, was improved today.

Plane and Flyer that Spanned Atlantic

This picture, transmitted by radio to The Reporter-Telegram and NEA Service, shows the red and gold, high-wing monoplane of Miss Amelia Earhart after she flew the Atlantic and landed in a pasture at Culmore, five miles from Londonberry, Northern Ireland. Despite mechanical trouble with the plane and bad storms she kept the weakening plane aloft and brought it down safely. She thus became the first woman to make a trans-Atlantic solo.

TRIAL OF CURTIS TO GRAND JURY; LINDY WITNESS

HOPEWELL, N. J., May 25. (UP)—The misdemeanor charge against John Curtis goes to the Hunterdon grand jury Thursday, Prosecutor A. W. Hauck announced today. Col. Charles Lindbergh does not intend testifying against him, but may be called in as a defense witness.

KING REED CASE GOES TO BAT IN MITCHELL COUNTY

Trial of King Reed, former police official here who shot down J. C. Holcomb in a gun battle on the streets of Midland in July, 1929, will come up in District Judge A. S. Maury's court at Colorado this week, according to announcement. The case has been tried several times. It went to Mitchell from Midland county on a change of venue.

Changes License, Gets Fine Here

A man who had hit it hard in the trucking business left Arizona in his truck for Ohio, his former home. Not having enough money to register the truck, which had not been used for months, he stuck the license of his passenger car on the truck and set out. State patrol officers intercepted him near Midland and charged him with four counts. He wired Ohio relatives for money after a fine was set by Peace Justice B. C. Girdley. The man, wife and two children were with him.

300 Scouts May Enter Encampment

Between two and three hundred scouts are expected to attend the annual summer camp of the Buffalo Trail council which will be held from June 13 to 27 near Barksdale, on the Neeces river, in Edwards county. The campsite is the property of the Southwest Texas scout council and is being loaned, together with all equipment, to the Buffalo Trail council for use this summer. The camp, in addition to being an ideal natural location, boasts of a large concrete kitchen and mess hall, excellent sanitation system, and a concrete water wall with gasoline pump and storage tank. The water has been repeatedly tested by the state health department and is known to be exceptionally pure. Running water is piped to the kitchen and to different parts of the camp grounds. Swimming facilities are among the best in the state and the water is as clear as can be found anywhere, pebbles being easily seen on the bottom in 12 feet of water. The camp is located in a grove of beautiful pecan trees which afford a dense shade over the camp throughout the day. Everything considered, the camp is the best that the Buffalo Trail council has ever had the privilege of using. The camp fee has been reduced this year to $6 for one week and $10 for two weeks, thus bringing the cost within reach of most scouts. All applications for camp must be mailed to the council office in Sweetwater by June 4.

Candidates Must Run for Places

AUSTIN, May 25. (UP)—Democratic candidates for congressman-at-large must run for places one, two and three in the primary as ordered by the state executive committee, the state supreme court ruled today. Opponents had held that the race should be run a free-for-all.

California Leases Water Valley Land

The lease play that brought $35,000 to $40,000 to Sterling county land owners in bonuses early in April, extended later into northwestern Tom Green county as evidenced by the leasing by the California company of 2,085.05 acres northwest of Water Valley from Mr. and Mrs. Joe Eddie Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Hall and Vernon Hall. The leases are for ten years without drilling obligations, with an annual rental of 25 cents per acre. The land leased consists of the north half of section 66, block 5, H. & T. C. Ry. Co. survey, 320 acres; section 246, L. S. Mundt survey, 327 4/5 acres; section 90, N. Kimbro survey, and section 81, Marion Gage survey, except 160 acres out of the northwest part of the survey, being 884 acres. The 160 acres in the northwest part of section 81 was leased by Southern Crude Purchasing company on Feb. 19, 1930.

OTHERS EXPECTED TO SURRENDER IN OIL THEFT CASES

LONGVIEW, May 25. (UP)—The surrender of the remaining four of 11 defendants named in oil indictments was expected today. Seven made bond yesterday. Those added to Tuesday's list of those arrested were R. W. Porter, 10 cases; Bill Anderson, seven cases; Hal Byers, one case and M. C. Torbert, 26 cases.

Area Gets Over Half Inch Rain

Rainfall in Midland last night was .61 inch. A heavy rain fell at Big Spring and Canyon, a light one at Fort Stockton, Rankin, Playview, and Lubbock, but none at Lamesa, Seargraves, Florey, Wink, Kermit or Amarillo. The entire area was clear today.

Heavy Fine Makes Pretty Woman Hot

The pretty woman in the sheriff's office not only had red hair, but she was hot. She had been picked up by Midland officers on a complaint telephoned here from Big Spring, saying the woman had given a check for more than $45 before leaving the Big Spring bank early today, before the check had been presented for payment. She was leaving Midland with a male escort when arrested. What burned the woman up, as she put it, was that she had to pay more than $45 before leaving the sheriff's office. Big Spring calling to collect the fine here and free her. She didn't want to be placed in jail, so she paid her fine.

Plan Needed for Assisting Scouts

Several scouts can not attend the summer camp next month at Barksdale because they are not able to earn the camp fee. The executive committee has learned. A check of the number of scouts who have already paid their camp fee or registered for the camp shows about 12 or 15 boys. Scoutmasters present said there are a few more to register but there will be some deserving scouts who will be unable to attend unless a plan can be worked out whereby advances can be made. The council selected the Rev. W. F. Borum to speak before the Lions and Rotary clubs in connection with a plan to assist as many more boys as possible who will otherwise be prevented from attending the camp. Some of the precautions taken to safeguard the camp is that every boy must be examined by a physician to determine the condition of his general health before he can attend. John Howe told the council this service would be made by either Drs. Jno. B. Thomas, Herman Klapproth, T. C. Bono, W. E. Ryan, or W. G. Whitehouse without cost. It was also agreed that the council would pay transportation from Midland to the camp and back, thus eliminating any additional expense to the boys other than the regular camp fee.

New Movie Serial Begins in Paper

"Night Court," the Reporter-Telegram's new serial, begins in this newspaper today. The story is one that offers realism, love, excitement, the cupidry of public officials of some of the large towns—and all in a swift handling that carries one breathlessly from one situation to another. The story will engross you.

Appeal Suggested

Steve Pinckney of Houston, leader of the anti-prohibition element suggested that there was not anything before the convention and suggested that if there was any dissatisfaction with the convention action that the matter be appealed to the national convention. Former Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller rushed to the rostrum and grabbed the chairman's gavel. He pleaded that the convention proceed to name the delegation to Chicago. That was the only unfinished business of the convention, said Chairman Brown said he would not tolerate adjournment. "As far as I am concerned you will stay here and have a roll call if you want it," he said. Delegates still opposed a roll call. They said they wanted to quit and go home. The convention adjourned at 11:30 p. m. in confusion as the final vote was announced on the submission resolution.

Delegate Report

Mrs. Sarah Hughes, assistant secretary of the convention, began reading the committee report of delegates to the national convention. The report was adopted. Maudy Hughes of Dallas moved adjournment, but Brown held him out of order and ordered a roll call. Pinckney appealed from the chairman's decision to order a roll call. Congressman Sam Rayburn of Bonham closed personal report of John N. Garner, speaker of the national house of representatives who had been given the convention's 46 votes in the national convention, was on the stage. He refused to take a hand in the situation and said he did not want to discuss the development. Pinckney later withdrew his motion to appeal and insisted that a motion to adjourn be put. The convention voted to give the state's 46 votes in the national convention to John N. Garner for president and to "vote for none other under any circumstances, until released by him."

To Vote as Unit

The Texas delegation was instructed to vote as a unit upon all questions coming before the convention. An amendment proposing that the delegation not be required to stay with the convention for the purpose of personally was voted down after a controversial floor fight. The convention was in wild disorder while "proponents of the amendment attempted to speak on the proposition. It was indicated that a part of the convention did not want to commit Texas to a second choice. Rayburn's Address. Rayburn started the convention to enthusiasm in his keynote address. (See CONVENTION page 4)

Liberals Lose Keynote

The liberals also lost in an effort to name one of its group temporary chairman and keynote of the convention when Congressman Sam Rayburn of Bonham was chosen over C. L. Francis of Wichita Falls. J. C. Adams of Dallas was re-elected Texas national committee man over A. J. Wirtz of Seguin, former state senator. The wet and dry issue had been injected into that election. Wirtz being an outspoken advocate of repeal of the 18th amendment.

Bandits Escape In Car Stolen From Longview

TYLER, May 25. (UP)—Two unmasked bandits robbed the Winona State bank, 14 miles north of here, of $755 today. J. F. McClung, aged president, was forced into a vault after he had been made to open it. The robbers overlooked $150 in silver. J. B. McClung, cashier, said the two appeared yesterday, asking if anyone had appeared to escort money. An investigation revealed that the bandits had stolen an automobile from the Longview oil company a few days ago.

RIOT IS PRECIPITATED IN DEMO CONVENTION ON PROHIBITION ISSUE

Row Begins Over Roll Call; Prohibition to People to Decide Goes Over by Vote of 851 to 564

HOUSTON, May 25.—The convention adopted a resolution proposing submission of the question of repeal of the 18th amendment to the various states at last night's session. As angry delegates surrounded Clint Brown of San Antonio, permanent chairman, police intervened. Brown finally decided to adjourn the convention. There were efforts to adjourn the convention, but the convention never could be brought back to order. The delegates were milling around excitedly and the Old Gray Mare band of Brownwood struck up a tune. "Dirty, dirty," cried some of the delegates. It was the first time since Texas adopted statutory prohibition in 1918 that a democratic convention had gone on record with reference to that controversial issue. W. A. Tarver, chairman of the insurance commission, rushed to the stage and demanded a roll call. Senator John C. Garner of Athens joined Tarver in his efforts. The delegates surged down to the stage and crowded through the press section.

Appeal Suggested

Steve Pinckney of Houston, leader of the anti-prohibition element suggested that there was not anything before the convention and suggested that if there was any dissatisfaction with the convention action that the matter be appealed to the national convention. Former Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller rushed to the rostrum and grabbed the chairman's gavel. He pleaded that the convention proceed to name the delegation to Chicago. That was the only unfinished business of the convention, said Chairman Brown said he would not tolerate adjournment. "As far as I am concerned you will stay here and have a roll call if you want it," he said. Delegates still opposed a roll call. They said they wanted to quit and go home. The convention adjourned at 11:30 p. m. in confusion as the final vote was announced on the submission resolution.

Contributions Asked

Almon G. Carter of Fort Worth, chairman of the state Garner finance committee, appealed for contributions to the national fund. Presidential electors were chosen by congressional districts in order, as follows: R. T. Wilkerson, Jr., E. J. Mantooth, Carl L. Estes, J. W. Furell, Charles McCook, Scott Reed, Mrs. Theodore Stubbs, John T. Dickson, J. V. Frank, Ralph Goethe, E. C. Street, Frank Rayburn, C. S. Edwards, Arthur Geshlin, H. P. Hornsby, Robert F. Cunningham, Milburn McCarty, N. C. Oulay. Electors at large chosen were Charles E. Sidney, Johnson of Dallas, Charles E. Sidney, Johnson of Dallas, Nat Gentry of Tyler, John E. Shelton, Jr., of Austin, Mrs. John Davis of Dallas. Mayor C. Adam of Dallas was re-elected Texas national chairman. Brown, also of San Antonio, the permanent chairman.

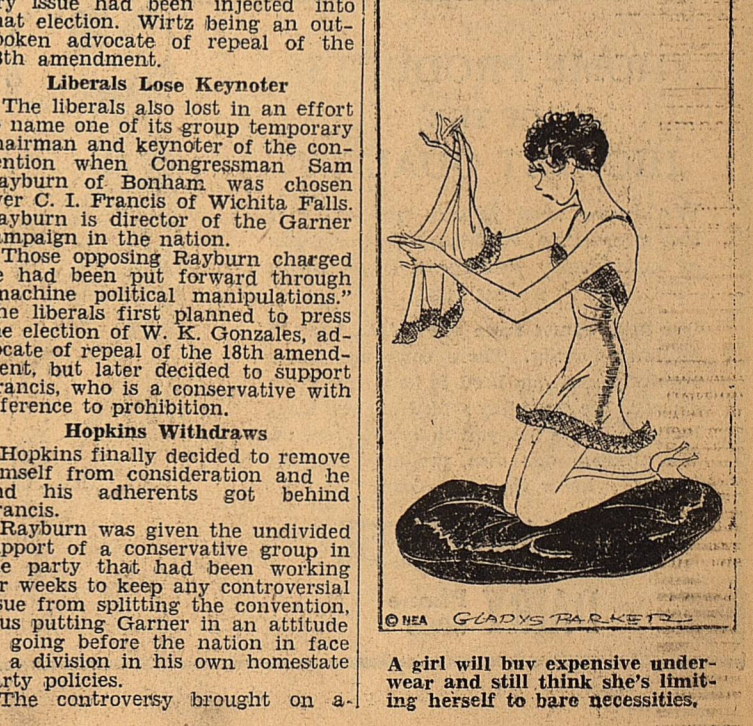

Revolt of 1928

Revolt of Texas democrats in 1928, when the Lone Star state voted for a republican presidential nominee, was injected into the afternoon debate. Hecklers wanted to know how State Senator Walter Woodward, political friend of Governor Ross S. Sterling and advocate of Rayburn, stood in 1928 and he was asked on the floor if he were not the same man who had conducted himself with reference to the 1928 defection. Maudy Hughes of Dallas and Almon G. Carter of Fort Worth joined Woodward in seconding Rayburn's nomination. Senator Hopkins, Senator J. J. Hollbrook of Galveston, and Pinckney spoke for Francis. Sentiment in the convention was highly partisan as the speeches proceeded and no one escaped hecklers.

Rayburn's Address

Rayburn started the convention to enthusiasm in his keynote address. (See CONVENTION page 4)

MONEY WE NEED TO SPEND

Grasshoppers proved exceedingly costly to farmers in many western states last summer. Now, however, Dr. W. H. Larrimer, federal entomologist, predicts that there will be many more grasshoppers this summer than last, and that the infested area will be far larger.

THE POT AND THE KETTLE

The newspapers of France have made the Lindbergh tragedy an occasion for reminding their readers that nothing that happens in the United States can be very surprising. They have been calling this country "the land where Capone is king," and have been asserting that it is "under the tyranny of redoubtable and impudent bandits."

There is enough truth in these accusations to make any American blush, certainly. We do not seem in the least able to cope with our underworld, and some shocking things happen to us every so often.

But no nation has a monopoly on crime. Even in France terrible things can happen. It is not, for instance, so very many days since France buried a president who had been murdered while in office; and the crimes of Landru, the notorious "Bluebeard," are not so very far in the background.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything without taking a stand on anything.) It was that the Midland-made-brick buildings were washed away by rain.

Just as it began to dry up on top of the ground, and when lawn, garden and flower cultivators were about to complain of having to run some city water, along came another good rain. I hope it didn't interfere with planting too much and I hope it covered enough ranch country to do some good, because that little rain hit just right on growing stuff.

This may be another 1920, that summer when lakes were filled even before June, and along in August there came such rains that trains couldn't run for a few days between Midland and Odessa. Cattle shipped from Midland that year weighed up like they might have been full grown. Old timers talk about that summer like they do about 1884, or whenever CHAPTER I Two or three policemen in uniform, lounging about the wide open iron gates that led into the Night Court, straightened ever so little as young Thorpe, the bright, keen-eyed reporter from the press, accompanied by a cameraman, walked through the gate. They respected and liked, and a little feared, this brilliant newspaper man. They returned his brief, cheery greeting with a nod and a word, and when he had passed within the portals, resumed their lounging attitude, idly watching the passersby.

Thorpe and Williams the latter unslung the camera from his shoulder, made their way into the courtroom, where there was already a sprinkling of spectators, talking in low voices, waiting for the judge to appear. The court clerks were idly thumbing papers on their desks at either side of the judge's bench or talking in low voices to some hungry-eyed young woman with highly rouged faces and heavily painted lips, who cast sidelong glances at the policemen standing slightly back of them.

"Jim Thorpe's outside, Judge," he said in a low and guarded tone. Moffett made a gesture of impatience, but almost immediately his face cleared. "All right, I'll see him in a minute. Stay at the door until I'm ready." "You'd better get out of here, Lil," continued the judge, gesturing with his thumb to the door of a private entrance opening upon a side street. "I don't want to keep Thorpe waiting."

"No, that way, Miss Baker!" exclaimed Sergeant Cassidy towards the judge. "It's too late." He turned towards the judge. "Is it all right for the reporters to see the man?" "No," said Judge Moffett, decisively. "It is not." He crossed the room quickly to a closet and held the door open. "I won't keep you but a minute in here, Lil."

Lil Baker smothered a delighted giggle at the idea of her hiding in the judge's closet. "It's just like a medieval," she said. Judge Moffett shut the door carefully. "Tell Thorpe to come in, Cassidy." Cassidy nodded, unobtrusively opened the door into the court room. "You can come in now, boys."

As Cassidy led Thorpe and Williams in, closing the door as he went out, Judge Moffett walked to his desk behind which he stood, resting a hand on it in a judicial attitude. The man had disappeared and it was the judge who faced the reporters. He took hold of the doorknob gingerly, turned it and gave it a slight push. He coughed apologetically as he turned back to Thorpe. "I can't talk now. He's taking a siesta. He doesn't like to be disturbed until just time to come into court."

It was a peculiar kind of siesta that Judge Moffett was indulging in behind locked doors. He stood in the center of his office, his arms about a young woman who stood on tip-toe raising her lips for a kiss and looking over his shoulder at a handsome diamond bracelet sparkling on her arm. "That's the way you don't get out of a frigidaire," she said, a smouldering light of satisfaction in her eyes, a soft, purring quality in her voice. "Oooh, is he mama's boy?"

She tightened her arms about his neck and gave him an ecstatic kiss. She was a vivacious young woman in her early twenties, with honey-colored bobbed hair, soft hazel eyes, penciled eyebrows, Judge Moffett was nearly a head taller, with large cold gray eyes, clean-shaven, regular features. The coldness of his

"I just wanted to ask you a question or two, Judge. We'll talk about a committee of judges being formed by Judge Osgood to investigate crookedness and corruption in the courts?" "Judge Osgood is making the investigation. Why, because everything you say is important, I thought maybe you'd like to say something about this."

"Well, as a matter of fact, I would," replied Judge Moffett, and paused while he drew himself up a little more importantly. "Serene in the courtroom, or try your best to do. I welcome any investigation. At the same time I deplore the aspersions which are being cast at the judiciary. We magistrates are here to protect and to guard the common people. We must fight everything which tends to destroy the faith of these people in our probity and honesty and evotion to them. As far as this court is concerned, every record, every paper is at the disposal of any investigation committee."

He suddenly left off his aloof, pompous manner and became his genial self. "Well, how's that, Jim?" "It's swell, replied the reporter, with a short laugh. "If this had been at Gettysburg I'd have thought you were Lincoln."

Approaching Marriage of Miss Elkin And Mr. Ryan Is Announced at Lovely Affair Given by Mmes. Holt and Cowden

Announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Lilla Elkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Elkin, prominent West Texas ranch family, and Mr. Paul H. Ryan, well known business man of Midland, Mrs. O. B. Holt, Sr. and her daughter, Mrs. Frank Cowden, entertained with a beautifully arranged bridge function at the Holt home Tuesday afternoon.

The wedding, which will take place Saturday, May 28, is to be one of the outstanding social events in Midland and West Texas society this season. Masses of snapdragons, larkspur and roses of every hue made the setting for the party one of attractiveness and color.

Miss Elkin played high receiving a lovely silver mayonnaise bowl. She was also presented with a handsome silver sugar and creamer set. Mrs. Elliott Cowden cut high for a pretty linen bed set, which was given to Miss Elkin.

White candles standing in silver holders and tied with fluffy bows of pink tulle centered the long tables. Novel cards holding a tiny heart which revealed the news of the coming marriage were found on the plates, which also carried frozen cream cakes of white and pink cake. Sprays of lily of the valley decorated the nut cases.

At the dining table where ten tea guests were seated, a huge bouquet of larkspur flanked with candles furnished a lovely centerpiece. The guest list included Mmes. Clifford Hill, John Nobles, Joe Youngblood, A. N. Hendrickson, Helen Tolbert, Henry Wolcott, M. C. Ulmer, Harvey Conger, Elliott Cowden, Leon Goodman, Harry Neblett, Henry Rowe, Clarence Scharbauer, Harvey Sloan, Roy Parks, J. M. Caldwell, A. C. Weyman, Ralph Bucy, C. M. Goldsmith, Harry Tolbert, Charles Klapproth, Roy Proctor, J. R. Martin, George Glass, O. B. Holt, A. S. Legg, L. C. Waterman, Misses Fannie Bess Taylor, Lotta Williams, Leona McCormick, Lois Patterson, Louise Jennings of Lubbock.

Mmes. Glenn Brunson, W. W. Brunson, Guy Cowden, Ellis Cowden, M. E. Cole, Alredice Estes, Sanders, Mrs. Christian university and Mrs. T. S. Patterson, B. C. Girdley, C. A. Goldsmith, Walter Cochran and Ella Youngblood.

Calling at the tea hour were Mmes. Frank Elkin, Terry Elkin, Mrs. Estelle, Mrs. O. B. Holt, T. S. Patterson, B. C. Girdley, C. A. Goldsmith, Walter Cochran and Ella Youngblood.

Wedding Will Unite Well Known Families Miss Elkin was reared in Midland, and has been prominently identified with social and study organizations for several years. She is a graduate of the Christian university and has done post graduate work in other universities.

During the past two years, she has been on the faculty of Lubbock high school. Couples Disrobed By Robber Pair FT. WORTH—Taking one's money is not altogether right, but taking one's clothes also is going much too far, two couples agree here. They were held up last night, robbed of small amounts of money, forced to disrobe and walk to a nearby highway to summon aid.

The two men, Johnny Harper, 25, and Orlie Thomas, 25, were made to disrobe completely. One of the girls was forced to partly undress. After robbing them, the assailants, described as a white man and woman, fled with their clothing.

The two men borrowed bits of clothing from the second girl companion and walked to the highway where they were picked up by a passing motorist.

Wife Is Buried Alive in Coop MUSKOGON, Mich.—John Kozun, 43, a foundry worker, in a second confession told a sheriff's officers that he buried his wife alive in a five-foot grave inside his chicken coop October 31, after he had struck her over the head with a hammer during a fight the previous day. The body was recovered yesterday, after Kozun made his first confession.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Kozun after being told he was "acting queerly." A short time later he directed them to his wife's body and told them he had killed her.

Auto Insurance May Be Increased

AUSTIN. (UP)—Proposed increases in liability, fire and theft insurance on private automobiles in Texas will be considered by the Texas Board of Insurance Commissioners at a public hearing here Thursday, May 26.

An increase approximating 29 per cent for the state in liability rates for private passenger automobiles has been suggested, according to Chairman W. A. Tarver.

An increase of about 59 per cent in public liability rates and a decrease of about two per cent on property damage rates on commercial cars also has been proposed.

Revisions of the automobile fire and theft manual have been proposed by the department. The present manual provides but one level of automobile fire rates for Texas. Two additional levels are recommended.

The following are to be taken up: 1. Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, and San Antonio, including their suburban areas. Statistics for 1931 show a loss ratio of 27.5 per cent in this area. A rate reduction of 45 per cent is recommended.

2. Wichita Falls and its suburban area. The loss ratio in this section last year was 57.3 per cent. A rate increase of 14.6 per cent is recommended.

3. Remainder of Texas. Last year's statistics show a loss ratio of 100.4 per cent. A 100.8 per cent increase is recommended.

The average fire rate increase for the state in general approximates 40 per cent. An increase of 17 per cent in automobile theft insurance rates in Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, and Wichita Falls will be considered. For the remainder of the state an increase of 44.8 per cent is recommended.

Other topics among the 49 proposals scheduled for attention are: Fairness of present liability and property damage rates on garages. Changes in school bus collision rates. Increase in motorcycle and trailer collision rates. Reduction of the minimum premium for automobile fire and theft policies.

Whistle Failed to Win Horse Race

LONDON. (UP)—Boyd Davis, who is called the "whistling race horse owner," because he has taught his horses to run faster when he blows a piercing blast on a whistle, is not always successful.

Davis recently started a race crowd when, as the horses raced into view around the bend, he took a whistle from his pocket and began to blow it furiously. People clapped their hands to their ears, but Davis' horse picked his ears up and immediately lengthening his stride, won easily.

Davis tried the same tactics at a more recent race meet, in which he had two horses entered. This time, however, the crowd was ready for him, and as he began to whistle, the people and the jockeys who were not taking part in the race joined in with whistles pitched in every conceivable key.

The whistling did no good, however, for Davis' Dooley did not have a chance of winning.

Big Oil Increase In Humble Well

Striking the first oil at 2,191 feet, Humble Oil & Refining company's No. 2 C. H. Arrington in Glasscock county on the west edge of the Phillips-Coffee pool, filled 1,200 feet with oil in four hours after drilling to 2,288 feet in lime. Its first increase was from 2,250-52 feet and when a steel line measurement was taken at 2,278 feet there was 150 feet of oil in the hole. The rate at which the oil rose after drilling had reached 2,038 indicated a further increase between 2,278-88.

No. 2 Arrington is 1,300 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the east line of the lease, which is the west half of the northwest quarter of section 22, block 33, township 2 south T. & P. Ry. Co. survey. Amerada Petroleum Corporation has the east half of the northwest quarter of section 22 and Humble No. 2 Arrington is a quarter mile due west of Amerada No. 2 Coffee.

The latter has an elevation of 2,589 feet, seven feet higher than the elevation of Humble No. 2 Arrington, topped the pump at 2,186 feet, had an increase from 2,265-70 feet and was completed at 2,270 feet for 100 barrels an hour.

HOOVER TO GET VOTES OF TEXAS GOP AT CHICAGO

MINERAL WELLS, May 25.—A strong defense of President Hoover's administration of the nation's affairs was voted at the state republican convention here by John W. Philp of Dallas, fourth assistant postmaster general.

He declared that Hoover had been vilified deliberately in the elections of 1930 and that true conditions were misrepresented. The status of national finances was not due to a republican administration, he said, but to many conditions outside its control, including world-wide depression and shrinkage of national income.

He asserted that the country was more in need of tariff now than ever. He defended the Smoot-Hawley tariff act, saying its effects had been misrepresented. He cited statistics to show the need of a tariff act.
