No Armed Encounters Reported Though War Threatens

HARBIN, Manchuria, July 20.—(UP)—The Chinese are detaining the Soviet consul general here pending further reports of the border clash yesterday between Soviet troops and Chinese on the eastern frontier.

POWERS AT WORK

(By The Associated Press) The Great Powers were working actively today to avert war in Manchuria between China and Russia, the Kellogg pact being one of the chief mediums through which this was in progress.

Great Britain joined the United States and France in seeking to bring about a relaxation of tension "by friendly advice."

Both Russia and China announced they were fully conscious of their obligations under the Kellogg pact and intended to observe them, but that invasion would mean military resistance and war.

China and Russia disavowed their intention of invading the other, but it was clearly recognized that border incidents constituted the chief danger to peace.

GIST INVITED TO CHICAGO ON MEAT PACKING MISSION

John Gist, Midland and Odessa cattlemen, has been asked by Amarillo cattlemen to come to that place to join a delegation which will head for Chicago, there to go into conference with officials of Armour & Company with a request that the big packing company consider taking over the Amarillo packing house. Cattlemen say that such operation would insure for Amarillo a much larger plant, something that is vitally essential insofar as cattle are bringing high prices and ranches of the section are well stocked.

The Amarillo packing company had operated for a time before the large building boom, but had virtually shut down operations. After revival of the packing industry, however, it was found that Amarillo had outgrown the size of the plant.

Dynamite and Music Bad Combination

They're telling a good one on Ned Watson since Friday. It seems Mr. Watson awakened to find a box of dynamite before his house. A construction company was dredging a sewer ditch by his place and the powder was evidently intended for it.

Watson called a hardware company and complained that he would not have the dynamite where it was. The hardware house manager, an acquaintance of Watson and known for his humor, told Watson to go ahead and move it.

Watson retorted that touching the dynamite was the last thing he would do, but that it had to be moved.

Now Watson has a music school and the store manager cautioned the maestro to be careful and not detonate the dynamite by making a jarring discord—or by playing hot jazz.

LION ROARS FILL BEASTS HAVE GUESTS CLOVERDALE FETE

A story of what the Lions club did at a party and picnic at Cloverdale Friday night could not be bound by the circumscribed rules on the mechanics of writing. In adapting the story to words a lack of formality would be necessary in conveying the rather delightful informality which prevailed there.

Lions, their ladies and friends began arriving at the Cloverdale water supply plant between 6:45 and 7:30. Ned Watson, Thomas Inman, Walter Elkin, and Dr. D. K. Ratliff had French harps, banjos, guitars, mandolins, clarinets and saxophones going by 7, and for a time it looked like the lunch would, despite its American picnic style, be turned into a Dutch affair—what with the brewing dance on the green, a survival of old Amsterdam.

Immediate indication of this, however, was frustrated when the orchestra changed off on what Ned Watson called "The Old Gray Mare Came Tearing Down the Wilderness," "Run Nigger Run," and other equally anti-dance hits—unless the ante-bellum dance flings qualify the expression too much.

Lion President M. C. Ulmer assured the crowd in a short talk that the picnic was not for Lions, expressly, but for all who were present as guests. He said that the Lions organization exists for more than those who make up its membership; the body was organized, and exists, for the service it can (Continued on page 8)

Wallace Sells Much Feed To Himself

W. E. Wallace has fed out more than 100 calves, mainly on hegar, he says. He, by this experiment, has sold more than $2,500 in feed to himself. He made the land planted in this grain pay him $18.66. He uses a Sudberry-Huminger loose hammermill to prepare his feed, and not only feeds heads but stalks as well.

Wallace paid $48.95 a head for his calves and sold them for $80. He estimates that he made a net profit per head of $27 on the calves. Wallace says he believes every farmer should feed out some of his cattle, and that ranchmen should grow more feed on their ranches.

Lions Anticipated By Liberal Donors

When Lions and their ladies arrived at Cloverdale Friday night to have a picnic spread under the cool trees, they found preparations of the ultra-modern sort already made for their reception.

There were regular picnic tables, solidly constructed, of well planned boards and with seats attached, up on the well-sodded expanse.

Over near one of the pump houses was a drinking fountain. Grafa - Garlington construction company, Anderson-Sundquist Lumber company, Prideaux Lumber company, Burton-Lingo Lumber company, Higginbotham - Bartlett Lumber company, Rockwell Brothers Lumber company, and Cragin & Sons Lumber company were donors of the tables.

The Abilene Plumbing & Supply company donated the fountain.

MIDLAND COUNTY FARMERS HAVE BIG BARBECUE AT RAY FARM SATURDAY

More than 750 persons from Midland and surrounding counties met at the farm of D. A. Ray, four miles southeast of Midland, Saturday for a barbecue.

Attendance was largely made up of farmers, ranchmen and their wives and children. More than 150 cars were counted on the picnic grounds.

Immediately after the barbecue was over, a baseball game began, players being made up from the crowd. A diamond had been prepared for this purpose and a wire netting backstop erected.

The picnic was arranged as a medium for exchange of farm ideas. All the color and appurtenances of a standard picnic were present.

Several Midland county officials were among those present, as well as the county farm agent, county demonstration agent, merchants, and a staff writer of The Reporter-Telegram.

At the end of the first half of the third inning, the "Big Boys" had a one-run lead over their "Guess Who" opponents in the baseball game.

Two Midland Men Honored By Press

Records of Jimmie Smith, secretary of the West Texas Press Association, and editor of the Scurry County Times-Signal published at Snyder show T. Paul Barron, editor of the Reporter-Telegram as one of the new directors of the press body. Smith ran the following article in the Times-Signal about the secretary of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, who was toastmaster at the banquet held last week at Sweetwater.

As a toastmaster, Paul T. Vickers of Midland need not take a back seat for any living human being, for he kept the West Texas Press banquet moving at express speed, with quips and soft "patter" that kept the more than 250 banqueters in an enjoyable mood. Mr. Vickers is not only a past master in launching into remarkable flights of oratory but is one of the best publicity men in the state, and as secretary of the Midland Chamber of Commerce is an outstanding executive.

More power to Paul T. Vickers. The only think we hold agin' him was his red neck-tie, and calling on us to sing when we were not prepared with either music or an officially appointed accompanist. But we didn't get murdered, so that's that!

WHAT MEN CAN ENDURE

By Bruce Catton

The California endurance flyers have set a record that ought to stand for a long time. And if anybody tries to tell you that their flight was interesting and valuable solely because it showed the marvelous stamina and capability of the modern airplane and its motor, don't you believe it.

Those chaps didn't go up in order to see how long a Whirlwind motor would run without stopping, or to see how long an airplane could fly without being damaged.

Indeed, none of the endurance flyers did, with the exception of the army men who went in the Question Mark.

What all of these airmen wanted to find out was how long they themselves would last. The endurance flight presented itself to each of them as a challenge. Like the ocean flights, it was a thing that could only be undertaken by men who could defy both the fear of danger and the deadly, almost unbearable effect of extreme physical fatigue.

And that—no matter what the dignified editorial writers say about "the value of the flights to aviation" is the main reason why we bother to read about such stunts. It is what makes them interesting.

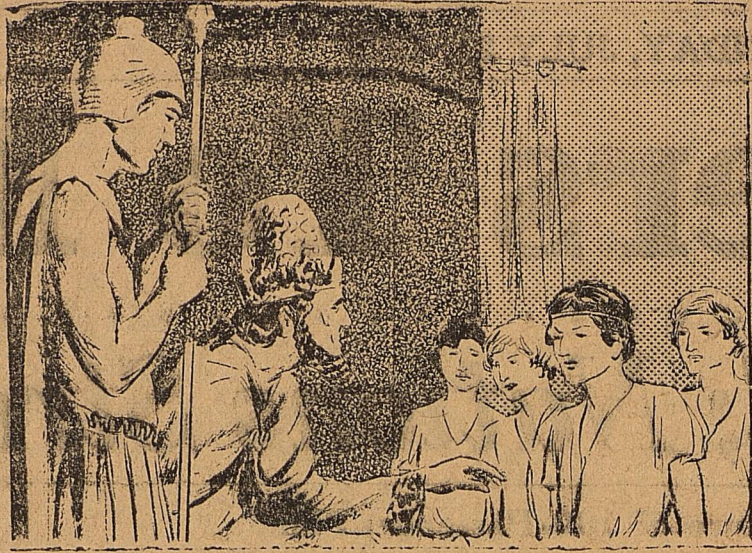

A rather irritating attitude is being shown by lots of people in connection with these flights. They say: "Oh, they're very boring and they don't do the least bit of good except that they show how well our airplanes and motors are made—and the men who make them might be better flying the airmail, or piloting transport planes, or doing something else that is really useful."

That attitude is quite mistaken. It is always valuable to see men go out and prove that they can ignore the demands of their bodies. Any kind of triumph over the physical man—the creature that demands food and sleep and relaxation and comfort—is worth looking at.

Why do we like to read stories about the old-time sailing ships that fought stupendous gales off Cape Horn in mid-winter—ships that were half-buried in foam for days, ships whose sails were stiff as boards and whose rigging was sheathed in ice, ships whose seamen brought them through unimaginable dangers and hardships, going a fortnight without a bite of hot food or drink?

Why? Simply because it is endlessly encouraging to know that men can do things like that. Simply because it raises our confidence in the whole human race to know that it can endure every extreme of danger and discomfort without whimpering.

Character and Career of Daniel

Text: Daniel 1:1-4, 19, 20; 2:17-24
In the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon unto Jerusalem, and besieged it.

And the Lord gave Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of God: which he carried into the land of Shinar to the house of his god; and he brought the vessels into the treasure house of his god.

And the king spake unto Ashpenaz the master of his eunuchs, that he should bring certain of the children of Israel, and of the king's seed, and of the princes;

Children in whom was no blemish, but well favored, and skillful in all wisdom, and cunning in knowledge, and understanding science, and such as had ability in them to stand in the king's palace, and whom they might teach the learning and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

And the king communed with them; and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the king.

And in all matters of wisdom and understanding, that the king inquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and astrologers that were in his realm.

Then Daniel went to his house, and made the thing known to Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, his companions:

That they would desire mercies of the God of heaven concerning this secret: that Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babylon.

Then was the secret revealed unto Daniel in a night vision. Then Daniel blessed the God of heaven.

Daniel answered and said, Blessed be the name of God for ever and ever: for wisdom and might are his: And he changed the times, and the seasons; he removeth kings, and setteth up kings; he giveth wisdom unto the wise, and knowledge to them that know understanding.

He revealeth the deep and secret things: he knoweth what is in the darkness, and the light dwelleth with him.

I thank thee, and praise thee, O thou God of my fathers, who has given me wisdom and might, and hast made known unto me now what we desired of thee: for thou hast now made known unto us the king's matter.

Therefore Daniel went in unto Arioch, whom the king had ordained to destroy the wise men of Babylon: he went and said thus unto him: Destroy not the wise men of Babylon: bring me in before the king, and I will shew unto the king the interpretation.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for July 21, The Character and Career of Daniel, Daniel 1:1-4, 19, 20; 2:17-24.

By Wm. E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of The Congregationalist

It is difficult to deal with the Book of Daniel without making some reference to the careful and scholarly study of the book in recent years which has resulted in a somewhat different conception of it from that of a generation ago.

At that time the Book of Daniel was regarded as an authentic historical narrative, and there was a tendency to regard the teachings of the book as dependent upon the acceptance of the story as literal history. Today the prevailing view in almost all outstanding centers of Biblical study regards the Book of Daniel as an apocalypse—some what of the same general type of literature as the Book of Revelation in the New Testament.

Written After Events Occurred
Broadly speaking, it seems undoubted that the book was written long after the events described could have happened historically, and the book came out of a period of persecution very much like that out of which the Book of Revelation came a little later. It was one of the latest to be admitted to the canon of the Old Testament.

From the standpoint of its spiritual teachings the interpretation of the book is not greatly affected by the view of it which one feels must be taken. One might just as readily refuse to see spiritual truth in the parables of Jesus or in the Book of Revelation itself as refuse to regard the Book of Daniel as valuable in its religious teachings because it happened to be an apocalypse rather than a piece of literal history.

The dominant theme of the book lesson. It is the character and career of Daniel, illustrating the life of the man of firm purpose and integrity of faith whose character cannot be overwhelmed by outward circumstances of comfort or preferment, but who stands by the things in which he believes regardless of outward consequence or result. Here, in an age of trial for the faithful under conditions of bitter persecution, is the conception of a young man and his companions of unblemished character, well disciplined, and able in the things that pertain to life—men in whom goodness is not merely a futile lack of evil, but whose goodness is expressed in positive strength of mind and soul and in thorough ability and equipment for the fulfillment of their work in life.

Surely that great ideal ought to stand out for the youth of today, especially at a time when there is so deep a contrast between the ideals that govern in many quarters and this ideal of character combined with strength.

Daring Out of Humility
It is the man of deep humility, who feels how little he is in comparison with the greatness of God's purposes, who becomes the man of real daring when he is conscious of the call of God. Daniel appears before us as a young man ready for any emergency. Just what he had planned for his life work is not clear, but in submitting himself to the will of God with a readiness for every emergency that should arise he found the highest career possible.

It would be well if our young folks might bear that in mind also in these days when so much stress is being laid upon determining a vocation. To equip oneself to the knowledge is the first great essential. Life almost invariably brings a career that is worth while to the one whose spirit is consecrated and whose consecration is accompanied by all the preparation and equipment that one's opportunities have made possible. From every standpoint Daniel ought to be a great and inspiring study for the young.

ALL-STEEL BUILT like a SAFE

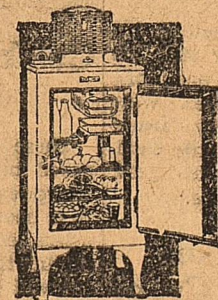

BUT two months ago General Electric announced the first ALL-STEEL refrigerator ever built. Now this outstanding scientific development of the times has been made available in six popular models.

The all-steel refrigerator cannot warp. It is strong—built to last. The doors, fitted by hand at the factory, retain their close fit. The new exterior baked enamel finish, smoothly white, as hard and durable as porcelain, has the added virtue that it does not check or crack.

Coupled with these advantages is the previous perfection of the General Electric mechanism which is permanently self-oiling, hermetically sealed in a steel casing and mounted up on top, safe from dust and difficulties. Quietly, economically, it constantly maintains the temperature in the refrigerator at several safe degrees below the danger line of 50. It freezes ice cubes rapidly.

Yet, notwithstanding these exclusive features these new models are offered at surprisingly low prices and on our plan of conveniently spaced payments. The small family model, at the factory, is priced at $215. New all-steel models in six different sizes at our display rooms invite your inspection.

MOVIEDOM'S MOST FAMOUS BLONDE TELLS HOW SHE CARES FOR HER LOVELY HAIR

Mary Pickford

By MABEL DUKE For NEA Service

A blonde who has gained world-wide distinction partly because of her spun-gold hair should have a few words of advice to other blondes who would make the most of their yellow locks.

Although Mary Pickford has clipped the long golden curls which formerly hung to her waist, her neat bob is probably the most beautiful blonde hair in Hollywood.

"The greatest difficulty blondes have in caring for their hair is in keeping it light and vivid," Miss Pickford believes. "Most blonde hair turns darker gradually without proper care, until it finally becomes a dull, lifeless mouse brown without color or personality. Innumerable girls have asked me what to do to make blonde hair retain its original yellow-golden shade. This can be accomplished in most cases, although it demands unrelenting care."

There's a Tea Hour!

"Camomile tea as a rinse is beneficial to light hair, giving it a gloss and fluffiness as well as helping to retain the color. This may be used after a shampoo with castile soap. Camomile leaves may be obtained at the drug store. To make the tea, pour one-fourth box of leaves into one and one-half cups of water. Bring to a boil and strain.

"An especially good shampoo for blonde hair is the egg shampoo. Melt two tablespoonfuls of castile soap shavings in a cup and a half of hot water. When cool add the beaten whites of two eggs. Lather the hair well and rinse until clean and soft.

"Always dry the hair in the sun rather than by hot air or heat.

"Brush the hair for five minutes every night," Miss Pickford continues, "and follow this by rubbing the scalp with the finger tips, actually moving the scalp about over the skull. This treatment stimulates the hair, bringing the blood to the surface and feeding the roots. If there is any trace of dandruff, use a good tonic. Only healthy hair can be beautiful hair."

FORMER MIDLAND ATTORNEY THANKS WATSON FOR STORY

Tom Garrard, formerly district attorney of Ector county and then of the Midland district, has written C. C. Watson a letter of personal appreciation for a story written by Charles C. Watson, Jr., staff writer on the Lubbock Avalanche.

Garrard, lately confirmed for position on the state board of education, said in the letter:

"In letting my friends at home know how I am getting along, I could scarcely do better than include a clipping from the typewriter of one of them, your son Charles. This account of my appointment ran in the Avalanche and is one of the finest written stories I have seen.

"Charles, incidentally is taking every advantage of his opportunities here, and is developing into a real journalist.

The story referred to in Garrard's letter follows:

The appointment of Tom T. Garrard, of Lubbock, as a member of the newly created state board of education by Governor Dan Moody and the subsequent confirmation of the appointment by the state senate was announced in a message to the Avalanche from Austin late Tuesday. Mr. Garrard was chosen to serve by the governor as one of nine men in the state of Texas who will make up the personnel of the board.

When informed of the district honor thus thrust upon him, Mr. Garrard was greatly surprised. "This comes so unexpected that I am overwhelmed and hardly know what to say," he stated. "My appointment by Governor Moody comes without any solicitation on my part and naturally I feel highly honored and most certainly will accept the position.

To Continue Practice

"I feel sure that my duties on the board will not interfere with my present professional activities and I will continue with my practice here as before. I am very happy of the opportunity to serve the people of Texas in this capacity and will do my best to study the systems and needs of the educational institutions of the state."

Mr. Garrard first started his career in the service of the public when, in 1912, he was elected county attorney of Ector county. From that time his record of service has been one of distinction. He was elected district attorney of the Midland district, the largest in the state of Texas, in 1914 and served in that capacity until 1920. From 1923 to 1925 he served as assistant attorney general of the court of criminal appeals by appointment from Governor Pat Neff. When his time had been completed in the attorney general's office he moved to Lubbock where he again took up the practice of law. In the early part of this year he was appointed to the state textbook commission by Governor Moody and Tuesday announcement of his latest achievement was made.

Board Newly Created

The newly created board of education was passed in conformity with a constitutional amendment voted last summer. The duties of the board will be wide and varied. The financial needs of the public free schools of the state will be studied and a report made to the governor, who in turn, will report to the legislature. It also will consider the financial needs of the state institutions of higher learning and submit recommendations to the state board of control whose budget will embody the recommendations. Formal recommendations also will be made by this body for all proposed new institutions in the state for education. The board will make a careful study of the scope of the work and the purpose of the higher institutions and will make a written and statistical report if they desire. It will recommend such changes in the course of study of the higher institutions as the needs of the state may warrant, with special reference to needless waste of duplication work.

All of the duties of the former state textbook commission will be taken over and performed. It will fairly consider the athletic necessities and activities of the public schools and biennially and in advance of each session of the legislature a report will be made to the governor for proper and legal division of time to athletics, to holidays and to educational purposes. Rules and regulations for the certification of teachers and for a system of examination of applicants for teachers certificates will be made. It will approve the investment of the permanent school fund in class of bonds which may be bought with funds under the existing laws.

Nine members will make up the board and meetings will be held once every three months at the state capitol in Austin.

DEMONSTRATION IN REFINING TO BE AT OIL EXPOSITION

TULSA, Okla., July 19.—How 100 percent of a barrel of crude oil can be converted into motor gasoline will be shown at the Sixth International Petroleum Exposition here, October 5-12, if plans of Wm. B. Way, exposition manager, are successful.

Unless the company holding American rights to the German hydrogenation process considers the October dates of the Oil show as too early to demonstrate the process, the exposition manager is confident that an exhibit at the petroleum fair will be arranged. The Standard Oil of New Jersey interests hold the American rights to the process.

According to technologists who have studied the process this invention enables man to turn every gallon of crude oil into gasoline and to manufacture quantities of gasoline and other products from lignites, low grade coal or oil shales.

To understand the basic principle of the process it is necessary to know something about the "atom" and "electron" theories. The term "atom" means indivisible and was applied to the smallest particles of matter known before the discovery that atoms are made of still smaller particles now known as "electrons."

All matter is made up of atoms. Elements are made of a single type of atom and compounds are made of two or more of atoms. Hydrogen is an element because it contains only one type of atom, the hydrogen atom. Water is a compound because its largest particle or molecule, contains the atoms of two elements, hydrogen and oxygen.

In compounds which contain large numbers of atoms in their molecules the properties of the compounds differ not only in cases where the number of atoms is unlike but also where the arrangement of the atoms is dissimilar.

Sugar and alcohol have the same kinds of atoms, carbon, hydrogen and oxygen, but the numbers of atoms in each are different. Sugar has 12 atoms of carbon, six atoms of hydrogen and one atom of oxygen, in each molecule.

The alcohol above mentioned is known as ethyl alcohol. Two other alcohols, propyl and isopropyl, furnish an example of two compounds with the same kind and the same number of atoms, but which differ markedly in their properties.

Both propyl and isopropyl alcohol are made up of three carbon atoms, eight hydrogen atoms and one oxygen atom, but the atoms are arranged differently in each case. Science has learned to rearrange the atoms and thus form different compounds from the same material.

Hydrogen, oxygen and carbon atoms make up the gasoline molecule. After gasoline is distilled the residue is a liquid known as fuel oil and contains less hydrogen atoms per molecule than the original liquid before the gasoline was removed.

By the hydrogenation process the fuel oil is "rebuilt" and assumes the characteristics of almost any petroleum product desired. Hydrogen is added to the "hydrogen-lacking" molecules.

This addition is not so simple as it appears and very often an agent known as a "catalyst" must be used. A catalyst is a mysterious worker but many elements will not combine unless a catalyst is present. The catalyst may be platinum, mercury or even a certain type of light ray, and the catalyst remain unchanged throughout the process.

So the development of the process by which all of the crude oil is changed to gasoline means that under conditions of heat and pressure, in the presence of a catalyst, hydrogen and carbon can be linked together in just about any desired combination.

Stanton Letter Written from War Salient in China

The Reverend H. G. C. Hallock, who is in China and has been writing some letters to The Stanton Reporter may be in danger, now that Russia and China have broken relations. China has always been characterized as a dangerous country for the foreigner in time of war.

A recent letter from the minister read:

Wars in China suggest sending you "Wu-ti" the Chinese God of war. He is seated. Behind his armor-bearer. The general idea about Wu-ti is that he delights in war. That is not the Chinese idea for him. Once, a man nine feet high, he did great exploits in war, yet is best known for loyalty to his friends and for protecting the weak.

Officials and scholars worship him as the ideal of loyalty, soldiers do it to make them brave and protect them in battle, and the people worship him to protect them from war's horrors. He's called "Peace Bringer, Protector, Great God of Loyalty." But he makes not peace, nor protects nor makes loyal so is a failure. He's also called "Warrior Prince."

As to that name he's a great success. In spite of the claims of Nanking that China is united wars break out constantly, the Chinese war-lords fighting each other—not fighting for patriotism nor for freedom but for money—to squeeze money from rich and poor alike.

The most fighting is where the loot is the richest. Reports make this war mess a real Chinese puzzle; but keep it in mind it's just a big scramble for money and power, then there's no puzzle about it except the puzzle as to how men can be so cruel as to bring such havoc and pain for money. But they know not Christ. We must stay and preach—not run.

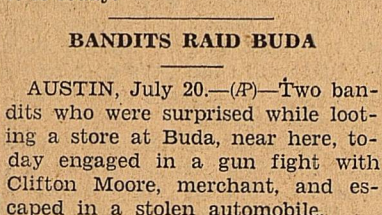

Recently I have received letters from America suggesting that since "China has altogether gone to the bad and the Chinese are absolutely impossible" and since our "work among them has gone for nothing" then I should "quit and come home." I hope you don't think thus. The masses of Chinese that reminding one of "dumb driven cattle" are still friendly as ever. The war lords, the Nationalists, the Reds, the bandits, wars and evil propaganda are disturbing elements; but they do not represent the Chinese and their attitude toward us. Most of our Christians have kept loyal and have stood by us in time of real danger. This is true not only of the Christians but of many heathen too who have helped and protected us at much risk to themselves. The troubles in China have come from a fiercely aggressive and "noisy minority," who makes the great mass suffer. Humanity has done for China during all these years has not "gone for nothing" but is planted deep in myriads of hearts of men, women and children.

Not only for Christianity's sake but for humanity's sake the Chinese common people's need calls us today. The wars and bandits have made sad havoc in many places and the famines, caused in some places by too little rain and others by too much rain, have brought millions to starvation. The Chinese "Government" has made a wonderful show of helping on paper but has done comparatively nothing to save the starving. The Chinese Red Cross and Famine Relief people are working hard but their efforts and their funds are hopelessly inadequate for the task. And for some reason very little help has come from organizations abroad, so that the famine-stricken people are indeed in an exceedingly bad way. I have never known a time when a lot of the common people was as hopeless as it is today.

ALTITUDE FLIGHT AT SLOAN FIELD SCHEDULED TODAY

Weekly altitude flights at Sloan Field have their place on Sunday, Pilot H. M. Becherer says.

Last Sunday two passengers went with the pilot to 14,000 above sea level. "The cost of such flying is nominal," Becherer says. "For $20 a man can take his wife or sweetheart to dizzy heights, and that without transgressing any law of safety or convenience."

The plane, a Curtiss-Robin monoplane will take the air at 9 o'clock this morning. First passengers to make reservations will make the flight.

Drawings at 4 and 6 will allow two free flights.

FOXX GIVES LEAD OF LEAGUE TO H. MANUSH OF LOOIE

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP)—The job for setting the pace for the American league batsmen, handled during the last seven weeks by Jimmy Foxx of the Philadelphia Athletics, passed into practiced hands of Henrie Manush, St. Louis Brown outfielder, during the thirteenth week of the campaign, unofficial averages including Wednesday's games reveal.

After leading the younger circuit for nearly two months, the sensational first baseman of Connie Mack's league leaders, slipped just enough to permit Manush to top by the scant margin of one point. Manush had compiled a mark of .391 to .390 for Foxx.

On the whole the week was not so good for the ten leaders, only two, Al Simmons of Philadelphia, and Earl Combs of the Yankees, improving their averages. Behind Manush and Foxx were: Fothergill, Detroit, .385; Simmons, Philadelphia, .362; Lazzari, New York, .361; Fonseca, Cleveland, .355; Combs, New York, .352; Cochran, Philadelphia, .351; Heilmann, Detroit, .350; Ruth, New York, .348.

Along with Foxx, the Athletics as an organization, failed to maintain their hitting pace and dropped into second place behind Detroit Tigers. The Mack's fell from .309 to .303, while Bucky Harris' team retained their average of .308. Detroit also led in runs scored with 554, and the Athletics continued to be the most difficult to score upon, having held opponents to 321 runs.

Bob Grove, the Athletics' star southpaw, was credited with one victory during the week and topped the list with a record of 15 victories and two defeats. He also continued to reign as strikeout ruler with 112 in 22 games. His teammate, George Earnshaw, was second among hurlers working in turn with a mark of 12 triumphs and four defeats. Tom Zachary, of the Yankees, was the only undefeated pitcher in the league, having been credited with four victories.

The Athletics' fielding held up better than their hitting and they led with a percentage of .975. St. Louis and Washington were for the runner-up position with .974.

Other leaders: Runs batted in: Simmons, Philadelphia, 92. Hits: Manush, St. Louis, 137. Home runs: Ruth and Gehrig, New York, 22. Triples: Miller, Philadelphia, 12. Doubles: Gehring and R. Johnson, 32.

Stolen bases: Gehring, Detroit and Cissell, Chicago, 13. Double plays, Cleveland, 95, triple plays, Chicago, New York and Detroit, one each.

John Barrymore is Alpine Daredevil In Forthcoming Film "Eternal Love"

Stage and Screen Idol to be Seen as Bold Adventurer in Stirring Romance of the Tyrol Directed by the Celebrated Ernest Lubitsch

Thrills surpassing anything ever seen on the screen, a love quadrangle that provides the strangest clash of passions ever depicted, superlatively acting in a story that holds audiences spellbound, combine to make "Eternal Love," the attraction at the Grand today, perfect entertainment.

The genius of Ernest Lubitsch, director of this United Artists film special, and of John Barrymore, star, reach new heights in "Eternal Love."

The Lubitsch triumph presents Barrymore in the role of a Swiss—an Alpine mountaineer and daredevil, an uncouth hunter whose love affairs defy screen story traditions. He and his sweetheart, the slender German blonde, Camilla Horn, who appeared opposite him in her first American-made release, "Tempest," marry—but not each other—and what happens then is expected to startle fans when they see the picture.

"Eternal Love" is revealing a yet different Lubitsch; although the picture is rich in spectacle and humor a deep spiritual love sweeps through the store as the predominating note.

The locale of the story, the high

Swiss Alps, is familiar ground to Lubitsch, to Hans Kraly, who adapted the tale from Jacob Christoph Heer's best selling continental novel, "Der Koenig der Bernina," and to Barrymore. It is not generally known that Barrymore is one of the few Americans who has a certificate from the Swiss government for his feat in climbing Mount Blanc.

High in the Canadian Rockies, where the Lubitsch company spent a month on location at the start of filming "Eternal Love," Barrymore amazed the professional guides by his daring and his knowledge of scaling peaks, until they learned he had made the Mount Blanc climb, back in 1921. Barrymore, by the way, sprained both ankles while performing before the cameras 10,000 feet up in the American Alps near Banff. The company was constantly in danger of glacial slides, and on one occasion the director, actors and camera crew scrambled out of danger just in time to avert a tragedy.

Among the supporting players in "Eternal Love" are Victor Varconi, Hobart Bosworth, Mona Rico, Bodil Rosing and Evelyn Selbie.

SECRECY WRAPS PREPARATION OF NAVY SEAPLANE

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 19.—(UP)—Two of America's cleverest aeronautical engineers today are putting the finishing touches on a slim little seaplane being secretly built at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. With it the Navy's champion flier, Lieutenant Alford J. Williams, hopes to bring back to the United States the famed Schneider Cup and the world's speed record.

William Thurston and Harry Booth, Long Island, N. Y., expert civilian airplane builders, are assisting the government in the plane's construction. For months they have been tinkering with the tiny racer and soon they hope to have it ready for its first test flight.

Off in a secluded corner of the Naval Aircraft Factory at the Navy Yard, America's hope for the Schneider trophy is being completed in secrecy. Even Navy fliers and mechanics have not been permitted to become too curious concerning the details of the craft. Only "Al" Williams, who makes weekly visits from Washington, D. C., and high navy officials are permitted to inspect the plane closely.

Officials of the aircraft factory refused to give out any information about the "mystery plane," but it was understood to be the same one Williams intended to race last year but withdrew when he was unable to make sufficient trial tests. It was said, however, that the ship had been almost completely rebuilt.

Motor of 1200 H. P. The powerful motor of William's speeder will be a 25-cylinder, X-type Packard of 1200-horsepower, according to information emanating from reliable sources.

Details of the body style are not yet known. It was said the craft is a bi-plane extremely stream-lined and trimmed down to "almost nothing." The fuselage is very narrow and the cockpit just large enough for the pilot to squeeze in. Once seated, he will have no room to shift his position more than a fraction of an inch to the right or left.

Williams has said that unless the plane will fly faster than 300 miles per hour he will not try to wrest the Schneider Cup from Great Britain at Cowes, England, in September. He believes the other nation will enter planes that will easily fly faster.

The public will get its first look at "the Navy's flying knife"—as the craft has been dubbed—when Williams makes his first trial flight over the Delaware river.

Those who have had a fleeting glimpse of the plane believe Thurston's and Booth's tedious work of many months will not have been in vain. The consensus is that those who witness the test flights will see man traveling faster than he has traveled in the United States before and it is believed possible that Williams may shatter the 338-mile record of Major de Bernhardt, of Italy.

BABE HERMAN IS ATOP NATIONAL WITH .404 NOW

NEW YORK, July 20.—(AP)—Babe Herman, the Brooklyn slugger, remained at the top of the National league batting list, but with an average swelled to .404 as the result of steady pounding against western pitching at Ebbets Field in the last fortnight. Herman's margin, however, is none too wide, as Frank O'Doul of Philadelphia, is holding his ground at .393. The averages, issued today, include games of last Wednesday.

Melvin Ott, of New York, who yielded the home run crown to Charlie Klein of Philadelphia in the course of a week, leads the league in scoring with 85 runs and with runs batted in with 94. Bill Terry of New York sets the pace in total hits with 136, while Johnny Frederick of Brooklyn and Chick Hafey of St. Louis are tied for the top in doubles with 27 apiece.

Lloyd Waner of Pittsburgh has hit 14 triples to lead, while Klein's 28 home runs top Ott's crop by three. Cuyler of Chicago still leads in steals with 26.

Following Herman and O'Doul in the batting averages are these regulars: Terry, New York, .373; Klein, Philadelphia, .373; L. Waner, Pittsburgh, .361; Traynor, Pittsburgh, .360; Hornsby, Chicago, .358; Frisch, St. Louis, .355; Hafey, St. Louis, .353; and Stephenson, Chicago, .351.

The defeat of Burleigh Grimes at Boston on Wednesday cost him the pitching lead, Guy Bush, the Chicago ace, slipped into first place with 12 victories and only one defeat for the percentage of .923, while Grimes fell back into second with fifteen games won and two lost for .882. Henry Mehlie of Pittsburgh is the nominal leader with four games won and none lost, but of course, cannot be classed as a regular.

The Phillies lead in team batting, with a margin of 309 to 307 over Pittsburgh. The Giants are third with 305 and the Cubs fourth with 303, rounding out the largest list of teams ever seen in the 300 class at this stage of the season. The Giants and the Cubs are tied for the top in fielding with .974. The Reds are third with .972.

March of the newest era of progress unless they make provisions to be included in the itinerary of airplane routes or receive some service from them. For example Snyder has received more publicity and more direct good from their exceptionally attractive airport than from any other source upon which their town rests. Everywhere the same experience is being had.

With land donated for the use Monahans has the opportunity of realizing a great deal of good from a good field. Adriance & Son are represented in Monahans by Arthur Hayes. The firm has the appreciation of the city for its aid in building up the town. In a very short time the air field can be used if present plans for clearing it are carried out.

Monahans to Have Port In Future

Monahans is growing air-minded with the rest of the Southwest, a story in the Ward County News says. "The story goes on:

Most West Texas towns and cities are becoming "air minded" with the advent of commercial service in airplanes of mail and passenger routes and most of the progressive towns have provided for air ports to take care of present and future needs for airplane service.

Monahans is not to be without its air port also with present plans calling for immediate clearing of eighty acres of ground one mile south of the city to be made into an air port. The land is the donation of Adriance & Sons, agents of the Sealy estate. The 80 acres is included in a grass lease held by Aldridge Estes at this time. Mr. Estes gave his consent to the use of the land the past week and through the aid of the city council and business men of the town it will be cleared, markers provided and more done to encourage local enthusiasm for aviation.

The centers of aviation in the southwest, El Paso, Fort Worth, and Dallas, are continually asking Monahans as well as other towns as to their airport facilities and ask for co-operation in placing markers here on a field and on buildings. At present aviation is making great strides in the southwestern country and rapidly becoming a factor in the commercial life of every town. Just as towns were cut off from railroads in the late nineties and early part of twentieth century so are towns to be cut off from the

Bound To Be Read

By PAUL W. WHITE United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK, July 20.—(UP)—For the second time in little more than a month a book describing the life of a German soldier on the Western front has issued from an American publisher.

The first was "All Quiet on the Western Front," by Erich Maria Remarque, which in volume of sales is already tending to duplicate its sensational success in Europe. And no woeome "War" written by Ludwig Renn and published by Dodd-Mead.

"War" is the account of a young non-commissioned officer and is apparently veracious—that is to say, it probably is wholly autobiographical whereas Remarque's volume was shaped in fictional form.

The keynote of both books—and comparison is inevitable—is simplicity, but "War" lacks the humanity (perhaps internationalism is the better word) of "All Quiet on the Western Front." One has the feeling that Renn is describing a German "War" just as Charles McArthur in "War Bugs" described an American war. "All Quiet" on the other hand, judged in its forceful sentences the powerful tragedy of organized conflict, as it affected every combatant nation.

Nevertheless, "War" is a vivid study of life at the front, which now, more than ten years after and stripped of any hysteria of the moment, turns out to have been such a futile, ghastly, incoherent waste.

Not only is war international and the experiences of a soldier of one country closely parallel to those of a fighter under another flag but so is the theatre.

That is proved again with "The House of Joy," by Jo can Ammers-Kuller, an Amsterdam novelist best known in this country for her "The Rebel Generation."

"The House of Joy" published by Dutton's, tells of the theatrical career of Jenny Heystien, who of patrician lineage first was forced to choose between a home and her profession and then was confronted with the problem of conduct.

Believe it or not, the New York Sunday School commission has placed "Sex in Civilization" on its recommended list.

among leading actresses. But it would be folly to deny that standards of morality in the theatre are exactly similar to those in other professions. The glamor inherent in the stage lends itself to a shift of values.

But maybe, it being summer, you have no interest in either the war or the problem novel and merely want a good detective yarn to distract you from the heat. We recommend "Barron Xell: Crime Breaker" by Oscar Schisgall, which gives you not one story but four, with the same master-detective operating in each novelette. Follow the Barron and forget the thermometer. The book is published by Longmans-Green.

More or less personal... The inspiration of John Owens "Lark's Fate" came with acquisition of one of those bird-in-the-box toys wherein a mechanical bird emerges to warble an even more mechanical note.

Margaret Mead has gone native (at least as far as dress is concerned) according to photographs received from Lorengau, New Guinea, where she is plotting a successor to "Coming of Age in Samoa."

George Harrison Phelps ("Our Biggest Customer") is an advertising man! Almost incredibly, however, there is scarcely any mention of advertising in his book.

Edna Bryner writes from Spain that she has been seeing too many bull fights, Spanish vaudeville acts and 12th Century doors.

S. S. Van Dine, the creator of Philo Vance, has been appointed Police Commissioner of Bradley Beach, N. J. Van Dine is the pseudonym of Willard Hunting Wright.

David Wooster King ("Living East") is coming home from India and Afghanistan without his beloved "Judy," a war-scarred lady bull terrier that proved too mortal. "Judy" has been King's constant companion since the latter came out of the Foreign Legion and in far away places developed a sort of seismographic sixth sense which warned of impending earthquakes.

Believe it or not, the New York Sunday School commission has placed "Sex in Civilization" on its recommended list.

SPEAKING OF SPORT

BY FRANK GETTY United Press Sports Editor

Aftermaths from Olympia

The good Dutch burghers who dug down into their picturesque patch pockets for funds with which to underwrite the recent Olympic Games at Amsterdam have just received a refund of 70 per cent. of their subscriptions.

The games, therefore, were not self-supporting, despite the attendance at the football and field hockey matches, the most popular features from the Dutch viewpoint.

When we were in Amsterdam last summer, it was announced that receipts from the Olympic football matches and hockey exhibitions had been sufficient to pay for the big red brick stadium and the other expenses of the IX Olympiad.

Such, apparently, did not prove to be the case. But the Dutch are not complaining. They get what they wanted from the games, which wasn't money.

As for Los Angeles

The 1932 Olympic Games are to take place in Los Angeles. There will be no trouble about underwriting the expenses of the Tenth Olympiad. The advertising value of such an event is worth the less which inevitably will be incurred.

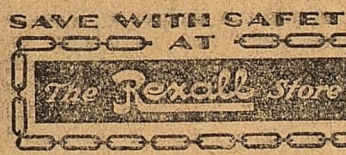

In view of the fact that many nations will not send athletes to Los Angeles because of the expense involved, it has been suggested that the city which is playing host to the next Olympics provide transportation there and back.

Los Angeles well could afford to do this to have a real Olympic representation on hand in 1932, but by doing so would, to my mind, violate the spirit of the games. In the old days, the Pan-Hellenic states sent their athletes in the spirit of rivalry, not real estate.

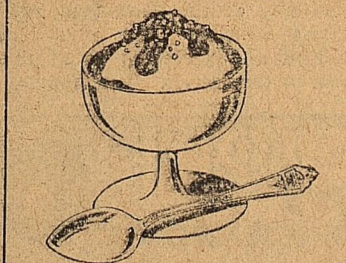

An Off Year

A handful of American athletes are enroute to Europe to compete in Germany, Sweden and elsewhere; but for the most part there has been a decided let-down in international competition in track and field.

This is only natural, following an Olympiad. Paavo Nurmi has been around for a long time, attracting comparatively little attention. The large causing serious embarrassment to the Central authorities who already have major military problems in both the north and south.

A typical example of the terrors to which foreigners in the west China areas have been subjected is the case of the Rev. Edgar Truax of Boone, Iowa, and the Rev. Harry Schwendener, of Chicago, Ill.

The two missionaries were seized by bandits April 24, near Sungtao, on the borders of the provinces of Kweichow, Hunan and Szechuen; dragged bare-foot across a mountain range and over the stony bed of a dry creek to be imprisoned and tortured in a dark and gloomy cave. Truax was released after some days to obtain ransom from the Christian Missionary Alliance Headquarters in Hankow but Schwendener did not regain his freedom until May 13.

Dad Has the Keys

Dad? What's he? Aw, he's the person I go to for the keys to the car.

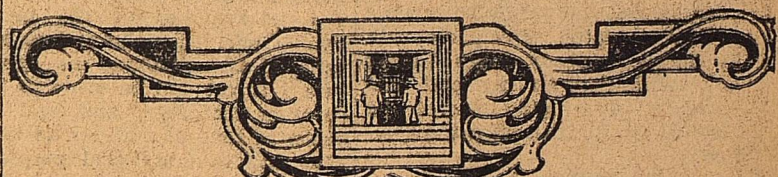

This sums up—all too completely—the whole relationship between some fathers and sons. But this kind is few, after all. For a renewed warmth of comradeship seems to be developing, and speaks well for the future.

Dad holds not merely the keys to the car, but also the keys to his boy's success in life, if he uses them wisely. The ideals of thrift and credit—the basis of financial integrity—are usually copied from Dad.

Lion Roars

reder society, and, as such, the community.

An egg race demonstrated more than a scrambling of henfruit; the ladies did some scrambling on their own. Mrs. Ulmer won the first race over a fair field, but B. Grafa, judge, got so excited that he was not able to do more than stutter, "I think Mrs. Ulmer won." It is thought that the fact that Mrs. Grafa was entered in the race accounted for Grafa's lack of tenacity.

Harry L. Haight, looking like a corpulent Turk in the lady's hat he affected, announced another race, a run-over of the egg scrambling. Miss Lillie B. Williams won this race and was presented a negro doll. Herein entered another of Grafa's judging prejudices, too, it is thought. Miss Williams is "Sweetheart of the Lions." Any way, Grafa was dislodged as judge. The contests were over. It was time to eat.

As guests took their places at the board, Haight, advertising the orchestra like the whistle of a show beat does its cast, paraded before them on the green sward. The joke was on him, however; the orchestra was playing "Look What's Ahead."

An attempt to say what was served would be like listing a catalog. As one of the baseball players, who arrived in their bus at this juncture, said: "If it isn't here, it just isn't made."

The moon came out from behind the mottled clouds. Lights began appearing in the power houses. Groups with plates and cups began strolling about the shadows of the cool grounds. Babies rolled somersaults on the inclined plane of the reservoir embankment. A laugh duet drifted up from Elkin's sax and Imman's clarinet. Cars on the sandy road were packed as on a boulevard. A negro servitor was rushing here and there serving those who needed bread, but who couldn't for the life of them quit eating long enough to call for it. "Get Out and Get Under the Moon"—from the orchestra; general apathy to the suggestion, especially from those at table.

Outfielder Flowers of the Colts, Cliff Maple, Lion Famer, and Ira F. Lord ran a fifty yard race, and the speedy Flowers showed that his football with Georgia Tech had not slowed him up in his sprinting.

Paul T. Vickers, strangely amiss because of his poppy-like being somewhere else, was saying at one corner of the table. "Here, Doc, take one of these Eskimo pies on the club; I may want you to buy me a Coca Cola tomorrow."

Doris Lynn Pemberton surprises one with her grace. "I don't believe you know my mother, do you? Let me present—" What do you know about that? And the special school of sociology has something to say about courtesy rapidly leaving the younger generation!

Over there under the dapple shade of one tree is a group trying to inveigle Judge Klapproth into having his picture made while yo-yoing. The judge is as serious in his denial as he is when refusing to grant continuance in a trial which has proceeded strictly according to law and which is ready to go to the jury.

Those ballplayers can sing as well as they can connect with the horsehide pellet. And run—there was a potato race, and Melton, "F. W." won a tiny baseball. Dave Cheeves, second, was presented with a baby pacifier. The fast outfielder and infielder (and what have you?) tried to hide the evidence of his victory. Lefty Moore took a steamboat whistle to signify he had won third place. Manager John King was presented a baby doll that could sing and whistle. He will probably use this as a fetish.

Harry McClintic mysteriously disappeared about this time. A check-up revealed that no eligible ladies were gone, so the matter was allowed to rest. You know, folks, Harry is a bachelor, and the responsibility for him is more or less taken on the club.

A sack race with W. Edward Lee, Ira F. Lord, Harry McClintic and one whose features could not be discovered due to his absolute coverage by the sack, resulted in McClintic winning. Lee, an attorney, won second on a technicality. The other gentlemen fell by the wayside. Neither of the four qualified as nymphs, so the ladies averred. Lord and McClintic talked of a side bet on who was the fastest human at the picnic, and the two only disagreed on two members of the assemblage. Lord thought Ira F. was the answer and McClintic always liked the word Harry.

Lefty Moore led a fast field to the tape in a sack race especially matched. He leaped like a kangaroo to outrace the field.

Mrs. B. G. Grafa and Mrs. M. C. Ulmer tried to do a Siamese Twins act in a sack, but the on-lookers could see little joint effort; Mrs. Ulmer fell one way and Mrs. Grafa another.

This brought on another race; Mesdames Grafa, Ulmer, Klapproth, and Haynie got into the sacks, and Mrs. Grafa edged Mrs. Klapproth out by what M. M. Seymour called the ruffle of a sack. Seymour, you know, is a furniture man.

Ned Watson and his boys now were ensconced on the embankment under a light. A few fitful swipes at night flying bugs and the music got under way. Ned rigged up a French harp arrangement on harness, and played a banjo while engaged with his stringed instrument.

In a backward crawl race, a "crawfish," M. M. Seymour beat out J. W. White, Harry McClintic, B. G. Grafa and M. C. Ulmer.

A following race resulted in a tie for Judge Klapproth and B. G. Grafa. In a fat man's race, Frank Elkin and Harry L. Haight ran nose and nose to the tape. Clipp Maple, Ira Lora and Harry McClintic emerged in that order from a special race.

A group of singers arranged themselves in the leeward of the orchestra and led the assemblage in a series of songs.

District Judge Charles L. Klapproth spoke briefly on the advantages of Lionism and of the appreciation of that club for so many guests coming to the picnic. He called especial attention to the fact that the baseball men were present and asked everyone to take advantage of meeting them personally.

SHIPS TO ASSIST IN LIFTING NEW GRAIN EMBARGO

GALVESTON, July 20.—(UP)—The embargo on grain placed here will be lifted in a short time, port officials predict. Twenty-six steamers were booked last night to transport 5,000,000 bushels of this month's grain.

Elevators are now working 24 hour schedules. The Fort Worth Grain and Cotton Exchange, through Senator Tom Connally, asked the U. S. Shipping Board to move ships to Galveston in which grain may be stored until the congestion is relieved.

Milk Plant Here Definitely Seen

A milk pasteurization plant is seen for Midland in the announcement of E. B. Sherman of a meeting of farmers and dairymen at 1:30 Saturday, July 27, in the district courtroom.

Sherman has not divulged the order of the meeting. Another Bank In Florida Is Closed JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 20.—(UP)—The 25th Florida bank to have been closed in two weeks failed to open its doors today, it being the Bank of Pablo, at Jacksonville Beach.

FLYERS STILL SAIL

ST. LOUIS, July 19.—Dale Jackson and Forrest Obrine still continued aloft in their plane "The St. Louis." The fliers had been up 168 hours before noon. Three days still separated them from the world's endurance mark.

FISH A GREAT TRAVELER

MANISTEE, Mich., July 20.—(UP)—A rainbow trout, 25 inches long, tagged on April 24, 1929, and released near here by the conservation department, has been captured by a Kenosha, Wis., fisherman. The fish, in the 60 days, had travelled at least 140 miles, if it crossed the lake in a straight line and nearer 500 if it followed the shore line.

Tumble Weeds Do Not Grow Near Her

Midland people interested in the cleanup of the city might well take a tumble for the philosophy of Miss Elma Graves.

Miss Graves, who has particular antipathy to great tumble weeds blowing about the town, lodging in fence rows and hedge rows and in alley, pulls up every one of the weeds she finds growing.

"I don't care if it is on Main street where I find them," Miss Graves says, "I pull them."

Tumble weeds in the Midland area grow to a size barely less than balloons, and the least wind sets the dried plant balls rolling over the country.

DEAN TO BUILD RAIL ROAD DUMP FOR NEW ROUTE

W. A. Dean, well known road builder of Midland, is leaving for San Angelo where he has accepted a position as superintendent in building the new railroad dump for the Santa Fe, formerly the Orient, on its new line from San Angelo to Sonora.

Mr. Dean built railroads before he ever built any highways, but his work for the past several years has been along the latter line. He has built roads for the Santa Fe on three previous occasions, and his work with them is well known.

"On With the Show," the first 100 per cent natural color, also an all talking and all singing production, is to appear in Midland soon, according to W. H. Williams, manager of the Ritz Theatre; this being one of the first steps for this wonderful feature.

The picture started its run in Denver last Friday, and was heralded there as something entirely new in movies.

Those who saw the colored scene of the "wedding of the painted doll" in "Broadway Melody" can have an idea of what runs all the way through "On with the show."

GOVERNMENT IN NEED OF INSTRUMENT MAKERS

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 20.—There are openings for instrument makers in the Government service at Washington, the Civil Service Commission announced today. The Bureau of Standards and the Geological Survey are employing the greatest number at this time.

The usual entrance salary is $1,620 a year. Higher-salaried positions are filled through promotion. The duties are to design, construct, and repair scientific and technical instruments and apparatus of high precision.

Full information may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or from the secretary of the United States Civil Service Board at the post office or customhouse in any city.

ELEVEN-WORD WILL NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., July 20.—(UP)—"This certifies that my aunt, Tillie Rearick, is my sole heir." In those eleven words Arthur Leseur of Stasburg, who died June 5, disposed of all his property and achieved the distinction of writing the shortest will ever filed in Probate court here.
