The feature of the case was the brilliant argument before the jury by Semour.

Fire Department Asks Citizens To Give Cooperation

Cooperation of the citizens is asked by the volunteer fire department, according to Luther Tidwell, chief, when the fire truck is making runs to fires.

On last night, when the truck was en route to a small fire, a roadster passed the truck at a rapid rate of speed, throwing up such dust and gravel that the truck was forced to slow up. City ordinances provide that cars shall pull in to the curb and allow the truck to pass.

Attention of the public is also called to the fire whistle signals, denoting the nature of the fire. One long blast means a fire in the city, two short blasts denote prairie fire, and four short one call for practice of the firemen.

Rehearsal of Choirs To Be Held Tonight

The members of the senior class are inviting all the singers of the city to meet with them this evening at the high school auditorium for a brief rehearsal on the music which will be used Commencement Morning, May 26. The program for that occasion provides for a chorus of 300 high school singers and 100 trained town singers including members of all the choirs of the city, in three or four of the prettiest anthems and choruses ever used in the city. Two or three rehearsals will be necessary, and all singers of the city are cordially invited to meet at the high school this evening for the first rehearsal.

Watch for Flight Articles Soon

Flying on the Fort Worth to Midland route of the T. A. T. has become as much a matter of course as an automobile trip 80 miles away—and is made in about the same time. A staff writer of The Reporter-Telegram has been extended the courtesy of this trip, and a series of articles will tell of the journey. These begin this week. Watch for them.

Chamber Warns Against Bunyon Derby Accounts

Don't let any foot racers who without cash in advance, is a warning sounded by the Midland business men today by the Midland chamber of commerce. Recently the Midland chamber refused to guarantee any bonus or any money whatever for a transcontinental race.

Several chambers that did make guarantees have repented. The Midland chamber made a thorough investigation then refused to make any guarantee. Vaudeville performers accompanying one great bunyon derby have lost part of their baggage, when they could not pay their hotel bills, one of their busses was attached, and a string of bills have been left in various towns, according to news articles.

Cash in advance for everything sold is the only safe way, the warning concludes.

BANK BANDIT SHOT AS HE MAKES EXIT

TOLEDO, May 14.—(P)—A bank robber was shot and captured today after he had taken $6,000 from the branch Ohio Savings Bank & Trust Company here.

The robber was shot behind the ear by the teller after entering his automobile. He had entered the bank posing as a policeman. Employees were forced to sit down while he gathered the available cash.

Dozen Boys From Midland Are In C. M. T. C., Said

About one dozen boys from Midland have enlisted for C.M.T.C. training at Ft. Bliss, El Paso, from July 25 to August 23, according to County Chairman M. R. Hill.

All these men have been accepted, Judge Hill says. There is room for numerous other boys from this area, the judge says. When it comes to physical and educational training, there is little that cannot be had from a C.M.T.C. course, the judge says.

HOUSE PASSES STERILIZATION BILL 87 TO 38

AUSTIN, May 14.—(UP)—With minister members taking opposite sides in a theological debate over sex sterilization of the insane in Texas, the House today voted favorably on such a bill 87 to 38.

The bill failed to muster enough votes to suspend the rules, so it has little chance of final passage during the remaining time.

Reverend Forbes of Parker county led the fight against the bill, saying it is a violation of God's decree to multiply and increase.

Reverend Wigg of Lamar county advocated the bill, saying "if I had an imbecile daughter, it would be the most pitiful thing to think she might bring children into the world."

Two Men Join Hardware Co. Here This Week

Stanley McCarty, who has been associated with the furniture department of the Midland Hardware company, has announced his resignation effective upon the arrival of H. E. Wester, Spur, Texas, who is to take his place. McCarty resigned to enter the hardware business in Lovington, N. M.

Wester's father owns a furniture and hardware store in Sulphur Springs, and the son "grew up" in the business. Ronald Morgan, former all district fullback and since graduation associated with the Walker-Smith Grocery company, Carroll Hill Wholesale Candy company, and the Young-Mayer Drug company, is now with the Midland Hardware also.

BODIES ARE FOUND BY WOMAN

Started Across Field When Gas Needed For Car

WHITEWRIGHT, Texas, May 14.—(P)—Two brothers and their companion were killed four miles north of here when they walked into a high voltage wire which had been blown down.

The dead are Dock Webster, 20, Tommie Webster, 23, of Hermleigh, and Bowen Daniels, 21, of Pride. The men, accompanied by Mrs. Dock Webster, were en route to their homes when their automobile ran out of gasoline. The men started across the field in search of fuel, and their bodies were found by Mrs. Webster, entangled in the wire after they had failed to return to the car.

Ball Cast-Offs From Colts Are Heard From Here

Ball playing cast-offs of the Midland Colts continue to be heard from, and some of them are in good rosters.

Dutch Shires, former first baseman of the club, is with an oil company at McCarney, and Jack Smith, fast fielding first baseman, is playing semi-pro ball with a Chicago team.

Letters from these two players have been received by Flynn, catcher.

SUDDERTH BACK FROM CHEVROLET AD CONFERENCE

T. B. Sudderth, Midland Chevrolet dealer, returned last night from Detroit where he attended an advertising conference wherein ten picked dealers met with a group of Chevrolet officials of Detroit to discuss the advertising program.

Mr. Sudderth was the only Texas representative and represented an unusually large territory in an advisory capacity. This company, Mr. Sudderth pointed out, is now in the midst of the largest and most comprehensive advertising campaign ever undertaken in the history of the automobile industry, involving the use of more than 5,500 leading newspapers throughout the United States.

At the Detroit conference, Chevrolet executives met with a selected list of dealers chosen from the 11,000 who make up the domestic dealer organization of the company, Mr. Sudderth said. Every branch of advertising, from the huge newspaper campaign to electric spectacles, billboards, direct mail, national magazines, and trade paper advertising, was gone over in detail, he said.

"The newspaper schedule received major attention," he said, "because it is the most important medium now spreading the Chevrolet message through the country. The newspapers on the Chevrolet schedule are read weekly by millions of people in every city, town and hamlet of the United States, who, through the display advertising columns, are learning about the many quality features embodied in the Bigger and Better Chevrolet."

Mr. and Mrs. Wood are in charge of the ball room, and they promise the public clean entertainment, with good orchestra music. Extensive improvements to the place have been made.

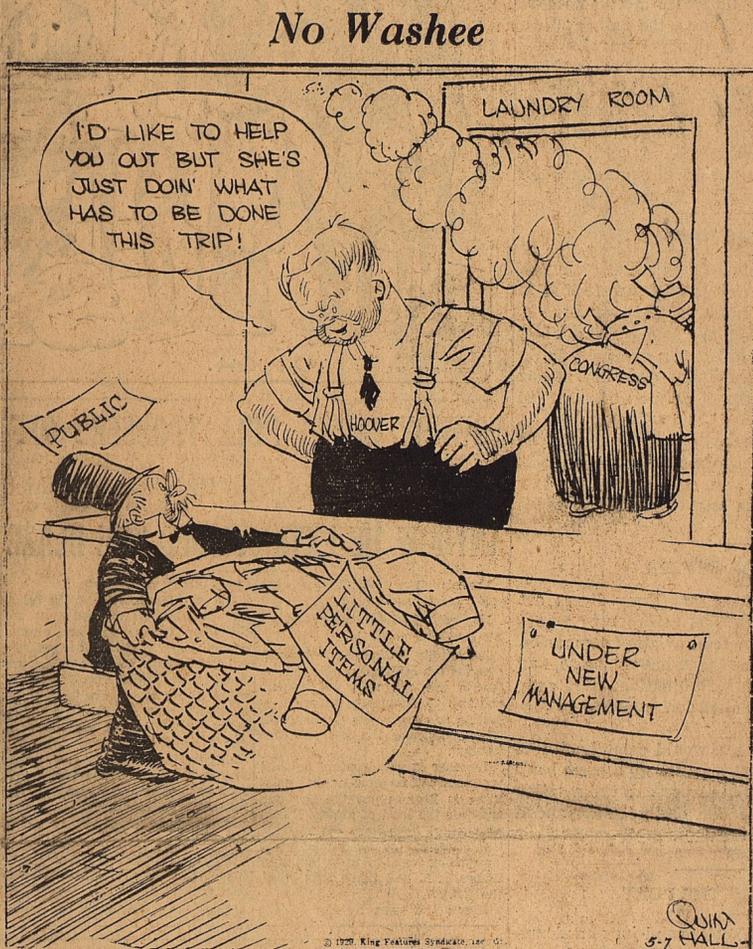

New Managers Are Operating The Takhoma

BODIES SOUGHT AS AFTERMATH OF TEXAS FLOODS

LIVINGSTON, Texas, May 14.—(UP)—No bodies had been recovered here at noon, although several are still believed to have drowned.

Relief work continued today under the direction of the Livingston fire department. All parts of Polk county were inundated last night.

LIVINGSTON, May 14.—(AP)—The search continued in this vicinity today for flood victims marooned by the sudden rise of the Trinity river yesterday.

Unconfirmed reports said that seven persons lost their lives; four of these are said to have been members of a family swept from a tree top.

Disrupted communications prevented an accurate check. The damage in and around Livingston is reported to have been tremendous. No train had entered the town for about 36 hours. Several relief expeditions were under way today.

France Grants Permission For Zeppelin to Fly

PARIS, May 14.—(AP)—The French foreign office today stated that permission has been granted for the Graf Zeppelin to fly over France.

The scheduled departure of the dirigible for the United States tomorrow had been postponed because France had withheld permission for the airship to fly over that country.

MOODY URGES JUSTICE FOR THE POOR MAN

AUSTIN, May 14.—(UP)—"Justice should be within reach of the poorest man," Governor Moody said in a new message to the special legislature today.

Moody urged the legislature to pass immediately the bill providing that appeals may be taken in civil cases by paupers without posting of court costs.

Under the recent San Antonio decision, a pauper is without the right of appeal, Moody said.

Local bills offered today are for water improvement districts ten, eleven and twelve in Cameron county.

Little Theatre Here Would Serve The Community

Late conference with members of the Midland Players reveals that tonight's meeting may be called for the express purpose of discussing reorganization into the Little Theatre movement.

For some time the change has been pending. The value to the city of such a movement here is self evident.

As the Little Theatre movement spreads in Texas, evidence of service to individual communities is seen. Although the name little theatre suggests a restricted influence, yet, in many cases, these amateur theatrical organizations are becoming an actual and necessary part of the community life.

Drama in America has reached the point, critics point out, where the little theatre movement must be depended upon more and more to provide those worthwhile plays that enrich the English and other languages. Even plays of a less literary value seldom can be witnessed outside of New York, Chicago and a few other centers.

Fort Worth, Houston, Dallas and other groups are carrying on the work in their communities. Next season is expected to be the best the State has seen in this respect and already groups are making plans for a better linking up of the theatres with the communities they serve.

The manner in which the Pasadena, Cal., group has served its community has received wide recognition. These players give many productions during their season, and the whole community is interested in the productions, helping in acting, making costumes or in other ways. Other cities follow the same plan.

THE RAILROADS' SAFETY RECORD

Although the toll of automobile traffic accidents continues to mount to even higher figures, the railways are yearly becoming safer and safer methods of travel.

According to Patrick E. Crowley, president of the New York Central system, only 16 people were killed in railroad accidents in the United States in 1928.

Now if we can only begin to cut down our automobile accidents, everything will be lovely.

A TIP FOR THE DRYS

The prohibition law probably suffers more from the activities of some of those who are paid to enforce it than it does from the attacks of its bitterest critics.

The sinking of the I'm Alone didn't hold matters a bit; neither did the De King killing in Illinois; and neither did the most recent case, the discovery that Ohio dry agents were using 16 year old high school girls as "decoys" to get evidence.

Friends of the law, if they are wise, will be among the first to demand a reform of such practices. Events of this kind simply give fuel to those who want to see the law discarded, while they do not in any way serve to bring about better enforcement.

NO DEARTH OF FLYERS

Secretary of War Good denies that army flyers are leaving the service in wholesale lots in order to accept better paid positions with commercial aviation companies.

Undoubtedly, a good number of men have done so, and will continue to do so. But even if resignations were coming in faster than they are, the situation wouldn't be particularly alarming.

In time of war all of these men would come back into the service instantly. If the country builds up a large body of competent flyers, as it is doing at present, the aviation branch of its national defense can easily be expanded overnight, whether the bulk of its flyers in peace time are in the army or in civilian life.

THE FREEDOM OF THE PORT

Despite the fact that a New York grand jury condemned as "un-American" the habit of granting "freedom of the port" to members of Congress who return to the United States after trips to foreign countries, it is announced at Washington that the Treasury Department will continue the practice.

The freedom of the port, as you no doubt know, permits the recipient to bring his baggage in unexamined by customs men. It is a graceful compliment for a nation to extend to a distinguished visitor; but just why a congressman coming back from foreign parts should be accorded the privilege is hard to understand—particularly in view of the public hunch that not every congressman's luggage is as dry as it might be.

THE NEW AGE OF FAITH

By Bruce Catton

It is a long time since the steamer Vestris went to the bottom off the Virginia capes, carrying 100 people down with her; but new facts about the tragedy are still coming out.

At the present inquiry in London it is disclosed that the steamer was considerably overloaded when it cleared from New York, and competent witnesses have testified that this was a contributory cause to her sinking.

The citizen who embarks on a steamship has not, naturally, any way on earth of telling whether the vessel is loaded properly or equipped properly. Things of the sea are a closed book to most landsmen. To make a sea voyage is to perform an act of faith—faith that unknown men have been conscientious and thorough in the performance of their duties.

Indeed, this is becoming increasingly true of everything we do. Never before was the average man so much under the necessity of taking it for granted that his fellow man would be upright and capable. The machine age might well be called the age of faith.

You do not have to make a sea voyage to demonstrate this. Every day of your life you stake your life on faith that the men you meet will do their parts properly.

For instance: you drive along a street in your automobile at a speed of 30 miles an hour. Coming toward you, on the left, is a stream of autos going the other direction. The cars whiz past you at a speed equal to your own, missing you by a scant two or three feet.

You are putting up your life on the faith that none of these drivers is drunk, or incompetent, or near-sighted. If one of those cars should swerve slightly out of line you would have a bad smash-up that would probably kill you. But you simply take it for granted that all of these unknown drivers are men as good as yourself.

You could find a similar instance in almost every hour of your daily routine. The whole complicated fabric of modern life is held together by nothing in the world but faith. That is why the bungler—the careless, witless incompetent—is able to do more harm today than ever before in history.

In the old days it usually took a certain amount of negligence to bring about disaster. Today a moment's inattention on the part of the most well-meaning of men can have fearful consequences. Incompetence may yet be rated the most serious crime on our calendar.

Calvin Coolidge Takes New Job

COWBOY DIDN'T PULL TROUSERS OFF

Fought Prairie Fire With His Coat and Shirt ANYHOW HE EXTINGUISHED THE BLAZE

Francis Orson didn't pull his pants off to fight fire! Out at Midland, Texas, the other day something happened that set old timers to chucking and reminiscing!

A magazine section of a newspaper asserted the Midland cowboy fought prairie fire out with his trousers and has an imaginary picture purporting to show young Orson in his "short" fighting the fire with his trousers.

Whether it was trousers or shirt is a matter of no moment. The main thing is Francis put the fire out, and he's the kind of a West Texan who might have been out fighting that fire in his altogether using everything else to beat out the flames, if it had taken that to do the job.

Here's the yarn as run in the Star-Telegram's magazine: On a day something happened that set old timers to chucking and reminiscing! Francis Orson, cowpuncher on the Frank Orson ranch, got caught in a prairie fire. He wasn't going to see the range burn down on him, so he pulled off his coat and started fighting. He wore out the coat and the fire was still lustily tearing through the dry grass.

Francis pulled off his pants and with the aid of other cowboys who reached the scene shortly after he adopted his last resort, the fire was extinguished. The flames burned off two sections, as well as Francis Orson's coat and pants. Fire always has been the terror of the plains, but it isn't what it used to be, those who punched cattle in the old days aver. Before the Texas plains were settled, there was no telling how far a grass fire might go; there was not only danger to human life, but the certainty of heavy property and financial loss if the fires were not quenched as they occurred. So heroic fights were staged when the short, matted buffalo grass got aflame.

One of the old time standbys was to kill a "crittur" on the spot and cut the carcass in two. A couple of cowboys would get ropes on the halves of the carcass and use it for a drag along the fire line. First one horse would run along the outside and then the other. Their feet would get so hot in the embers of the buffalo grass that it would be necessary to change places often and give them a chance to cool.

Many a cowboy, back from a hard prairie fire fight, has had his boots heels and soles come off in the bunkhouse when he tried to remove his legs, as the result of the burning of the leather in grass mat embers. Their eyes would look like holes in a coal sack. After you have fought a prairie fire for a while your tongue literally hangs out.

There were some terrific grass fires in Kiowa county, Oklahoma, along Elk creek. The Indians used to leave their grass in there to the cattlemen and then burn it off in the fall, so they would have early grass for their ponies in the spring.

TAT OFFERS CUP TO ROTARY CLUB THAT FLIES MOST

FORT WORTH, May 14.—With a view toward stimulating flying, the T. A. T. Flying Service, Inc., is offering a silver loving cup to the Texas Rotary Club having the largest delegation flying either over the T. A. T. lines or by private craft to the International Rotary Convention to be held in Dallas from May 27 to 31.

Believing that Texas is the greatest flying state in the union, Robert J. Smith, general traffic manager, is eager that no other state shall exceed Texas in the number of delegations going by air.

The Houston club has already made seven reservations by plane and indications are that several others will be added to the list before the convention date.

Rotary headquarters report that 30 planes will carry delegates from Wichita, Kansas and that numerous delegations are coming by air. Indications are that this convention will be one of the most unusual on record, showing more diversity of means of transportation than any other ever held.

Bell to Preside Over Convention WTCC at Seymour

STAMFORD, May 14.—Tom N. Bell, of Crowell, director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will preside at the Lower Panhandle District convention to be held in Seymour next Thursday, according to Homer D. Wade, manager of the regional organization.

J. A. Kemp, WTCC vice president, of Wichita Falls, who was originally scheduled to preside will not be able to officiate on account of his continued sojourn in California.

The Band contest which is being featured by the Seymour Chamber of Commerce with six prizes aggregating $100.00 is creating much interest among the thirty towns of the Lower Panhandle district. Stamford's Firemen's Band was the first to notify WTCC headquarters that it would attend. Dick Roland, director of the band, announced that the Fire Boys were going to Seymour in a body, confident that they would return with a prize.

Book on Market Of Cotton Gets Good Response

AUSTIN, Texas, May 14.—Altho it was written primarily for farmers and relates to the problem of low and unstable prices of cotton, "The Cooperative Pattern in Cotton," written by Dr. R. H. Montgomery, associate professor of economics at the University of Texas, has received very favorable comment from educators and cooperative leaders in other agricultural fields.

Dr. Montgomery has received letters from practically every state in the United States regarding his book, although it was published only in April. It has been reviewed in the leading newspapers and periodicals of the country, and reviewers are of the opinion that it will be accepted as an authority in cooperative movements in cotton. It is the first book published on this subject, and the publishers report an advance distribution of several hun-

The WOMAN'S DAY

By ALLENE SUMNER

Thomas Edison is hunting the brightest boy in America. His lantern is a questionnaire which he is sending to schools the country over, asking school principals to administer it to their most likely pupils.

Mr. Edison's questionnaire caused quite a stir some time ago when college boys, applying for jobs in the Edison plant, were given it and fell down disastrously, whereup Mr. Edison, Self-Made Man, had a few things to say about the inadequacy of our modern educational system, and so on.

ETHEL

By Ethel Hays

OUR "INCONSISTENT" COMPLEX

He Was "Guyed"

There was no little "guying" directed at the questionnaire and Mr. Edison for assuming that a youth's ability to tell when Rome fell and why means real intelligence. Many critics who resented his "showing up" of higher learning reminded him that anyone could find out specific facts, but that education created a trained mind which knew what to do with facts, as well as where to find them.

Typical
Other critics said that the preparation of a questionnaire which sought to learn the exact information which a college boy had rather than to seek to learn what he would do with facts was indicative of a self-made man's misunderstanding of the whole aim of education.

He's Brave

However all this may be, Mr. Edison is as brave as the judge of a baby contest, for finding the brightest boy in America involves parental pride in offspring, and nothing raises such a hubalaboo as a clashing of some several hundred thousand samples of said parental pride, and so on.

Can't Be Done!

While there is little doubt that no possible imaginable method can really pick the nation's brightest boy any more than a beauty contest can ever really find the prettiest girl, these attempts of successful age to help yearning youth always bring a mellow glow.

That grand old woman, Schumann-Heink, used her swan song audience to set upon the singer's road a young girl.

Women and men seem equally generous in this attempt to pass on to youth those things which they attained through soul-blistering endeavor.

It is not a sex trait to be generous or niggardly. It's axiomatic that the really big human does this; the small one does not.

Let Girl Do It!

Speaking of youth, a political row reared the ranks of the Cleveland League of Women Voters. After weeks of bickering with the usually dignified organization almost split, a girl of five years out of college was given the acting presidency and the challenge to caulk the seams of the splitting vessel.

Probably she'll do the job and do it "stick," but, by the same token, there is little doubt that any number of older women could have been found to do it equally well. The point is that we are living in an age of youth, with youth having everything its own way from the time it takes its new weekly pair of silk stockings for granted while mother goes in cotton, down to the time when a woman of over 35 is evicted from the job in order that a younger one may have it.

LEXINGTON, OKLA., TRAINS MINUTE MEN OF ITS OWN

LEXINGTON, Okla., May 14.—(UP)—Bank bandits and gangsters who have their eyes on Lexington merchants had better read the feats of the Lexington "Minute Men" during the American Revolution. For the counterpart of that famous band has been formed here.

Lexington merchants are planning a reception of hot lead for the next gang that invades their peaceful hamlet. The men have formed an emergency committee holding rifle and pistol practice regularly. Practice dates are kept secret so bandits will not know when the group are out of the city on their rifle range.

Africa Studied At Methodist Society

"The Teachers in Africa," from the mission book "Friends of Africa," was the chapter for study at the meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the Methodist church yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. G. E. Green, teacher of the class, gave the introduction telling how teachers in this foreign field build a bridge from the old life to the new life of the natives. She also told how much of the old life had to be forgotten and the difficult problems that confront the missionaries.

The unusual eagerness of the natives to learn the new teaching brought by the teachers was told by Mrs. E. B. Patterson. Mrs. Earl Moran explained the effects of Christian teaching on the heathen natives. She told of the interesting changes in the appearance of the villages—how, from their heathen ways of living, they change into the true lives of Christians.

Girls' schools in Africa were described by Mrs. A. J. Norwood. The high ideals taught the young women, who were students and how they refused to marry men who had not studied and turned from the old life of heathens was, too, told by Mrs. Norwood.

Following this interesting study of Africa, a business period was held at which time a report on the market held last Saturday was made. The report stated that $42.00 was netted on the sale.

NEW BOOKS HERE

"A DISH FOR THE GODS"
By Cyril Hume.
Cyril Hume's first novel must have been an adopted child. Certainly there seems to be relationship between it and the three that have followed it. "The Wife of the Centaur" may have been immature, but it possessed a breathlessness, a glamour and restlessness that is rarely glimpsed in the books that came after it.

One feels that the first one was written from the heart; it is sometimes clumsy and imperfect and again unrestrainedly beautiful. It is an emotional book, filled with youth and heartbreak and ecstasy, and one feels the author's mad adoration of words throughout the book. It is as if he worshipped them, held them in awe, wondered at their prismatic gorgeousness.

But the other novels have lost that wonder. They are more restrained, they are brain children, classically brilliant, polished painstakingly. He has learned to use his words, to make them serve him, and his first longing and ardor has cooled. But what he lacks in passion he makes up in technique, and the others are, I daresay, better written and better literature.

This latest book, "A Dish for the gods," is certainly worth reading. The story of Aline Naught from her unusual childhood, to the death of her husband just after her child is born is always interesting and almost always convincing. It is not the romantic drivel that the sentimentalists prefer, neither will it entirely satisfy the cynics.

It is, I believe, a very earnest attempt to show the reactions of this young and still attractive widow to life as it is dealt to her. We meet Aline in these pages not as we would know her here in town were we to meet her, and not as she knows herself, but as she really is. Mr. Hume is occasionally cruel in his analysis, sometimes merciless, but always understanding and psychological.

NOT ENOUGH OHIO THIRST TO PAY FOR ISLAND BAR

SANDUSKY, May 14.—(UP)—Unless the coming warm weather creates an appetite for highballs, rickys, beers and other alcoholic beverages, Pelee Islands who went to considerable expense to prepare for thirsty Ohioans, may find themselves in bankruptcy ere long.

The drinks are to be had all right. But no one seems "dry" enough to seek them at the island in Canadian Lake Erie, just over the international boundary line 20 miles due north of Sandusky. Only a few persons have taken advantage of the "service station."

Maybe She's a Wild Party

With all those chaps and things, you might think this little girl a rather wild party. She is Natalie Burgraf of New York City and she wore the cowpuncher's outfit for the annual Farmer and Farmerette Field Day at Wellesley college the other day.

DIRECTOR WAITED THIRTEEN DAYS FOR THE RIGHT CLOUD EFFECTS

Waiting thirteen days for nature to create the proper cloud effects so that an entire sunrise might be photographed by a motion picture camera was the experience of the Merto-Goldwyn-Mayer company that filmed "Desert Nights," the latest John Gilbert starring feature with synchronized sound effects that will be at the Grand Theatre next Sunday.

Desiring certain lighting effects which could be obtained only by the intermingling of misty black clouds with the light reflection of the horizon, Director William Nigh posted a cameraman at a certain point every night for thirteen nights to catch Old Sol in the proper setting.

A different shift was sent on "watch" every morning and no time was lost by the company, for if there were no clouds in the sky at the very break of dawn the vigil was useless and the watch relieved. The sunrise effects, so clearly seen in the production, are no doubt the most beautiful ever obtained for a motion picture for the sun can actually be seen coming over the horizon.

This is just one of the many gorgeous scenes of the colorful drama which is based on a daring diamond dober yin dark Africa, and the experiences of its participants when they are later lost in the desert.

Mary Nolan and Ernest Torrence are seen in prominent support. William Nigh directed the picture from the story by John Thomas Neville and Dale Van Every.

thing his boy has ever done in his life. It doesn't take money to show our children that we really care about what they do.

How about the tired father who would rather read his paper, but goes out and pitches ball on the lawn with his son so he can make the team?

A Real Father
How about the man who puts down his mystery story to help solve a tough problem in arithmetic, or does without lunch money to buy a saw for the boys to build shanty in the back yard?

Is that the type of man who re-sents being bothered long enough to sign a report card without even looking at the marks or caring what they stand for?

I think as a general rule that fathers leave boys too much to mothers. Boys need mothers, to be sure, but they need fathers, too. They need fathers who care about them and are vitally interested in everything they do; not the heavy critical now-you-step-lively-young-man kind, but the real friend who treats his son as one man treats another.

Not many, I'm pretty sure.

ANGELO LUCKY TO GET TOTAL OF FOUR HITS

Pewee Moore, diminutive Colt port sider, tied a knot in the wins of the league leading San Angelo club on Monday afternoon when he let them down with four widely scattered hits and one run while his team mates gathered a total of five runs. The young Colt left hander went the first four innings like a house afire and hardly an Angelo player reached the first base. Then in the fifth Parma scratched a single to right and Cy Williams followed him with a double to score their only run of the afternoon. One other Angelo hit came in the sixth and the last in the ninth, both singles. Eight men when the strike out route before him. At no time was Moore in any danger while Smiling Rufus Hall, Angelo moundsman, was continually kept of the defensive by long hits from the bats of the Colts.

By CHARLES C. WATSON, JR. McMillan, right gardener for the visiting club, made a beautiful running one handed catch of Stagner's hard drive in the eighth, deliberately robbing the Colt catcher of at least a double.

Colts Start Early
The Colt scoring was done in the early part of the game, the first and third innings. Burrows led off and worked smiling Rufus for a walk. Flowers followed him with a stinging double and Burrows walked into the home plate. Kinneer singled after Cheeves had fled out and the Tiger scored. Rounding into the third Chevee led off with a single. Kinneer forced him at second. Van Landingham and Segrist both were safe in succession on errors made by Jenck while Kinneer scored. Crozier doubled and Van and the Cowboy came across with the last two counts.

Cowboy Segrist dropped his fast growing list of consecutive hits for the past few days by going to the bat four time Monday without a hit.

First Inning
San Angelo—C. Williams grounded to Van Landingham. Janck out to Burrows. Pipkin grounded to Burrows. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Midland—Burrows walked. Flowers doubled to score Burrows. Cheeves fled to Williams. Kinneer singled to score Flowers. Van Landingham fanned. Segrist fanned. Two runs, two hits, one error.

Second Inning
San Angelo—McMillan grounded to Moore. D. Williams was safe on Crozier's error. Coleman fanned. Alexander walked. Parma fanned. No runs, no hits, one error.

Midland—Crozier rolled out to Hall. Stagner popped to Pipkin. Moore singled. Burrows fled to C. Williams. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning
San Angelo—Hall fanned. C. Williams fled to Cheeves. Janck out to Segrist. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Midland—Flowers out to Janck. Cheeves singled. Kinneer forced Cheeves. Van Landingham was safe on Janck's error. Segrist was safe on Janck's error. Cheeves scored. Crozier doubled to score Van Landingham and Segrist. Stagner fled to D. Williams. Three runs, two hits, two errors.

Fourth Inning
San Angelo—Pipkin line out to Kinneer. McMillan was safe on Moore's error. D. Williams forced McMillan. Coleman walked. Alexander fanned. No runs, no hits, one error.

Midland—Moore fled to D. Williams. Burrows rolled out to Hall. Flowers grounded to Janck. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning
San Angelo—Parma singled for Angelo's first hit of the game. Hall fanned. C. Williams doubled. Janck grounded to Burrows but Parma scored. Pipkin grounded to Moore. One run, two hits, no errors.

Midland—Cheeves singled. Kinneer fled to C. Williams. Van Landingham forced Cheeves. Van Landingham took second on Hall's error. Segrist popped out to Pipkin. No runs, one hit, one error.

Sixth Inning
San Angelo—McMillan singled. D. Williams fled to Crozier. Coleman forced McMillan. Alexander went out to Van Landingham. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Midland—Crozier grounded to Janck. Stagner took the same route to Alexander. Moore walked. Burrows forced Moore at second. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning

SPEAKING OF SPORT

BY FRANK GETTY, United Press Sports Editor

Golf Honors for All

The American professionals who journeyed abroad this spring in a quest of the British open golf championship, not to mention their unsuccessful attempt to retain the Ryder cup, are in the midst of a barnstorming tour which should provide cash and titles for each of them.

Our pros plan to return only in time to get in a bit of practice and participate in the national open at Mamaroneck.

There will be competition at Manchester and at Moortown this week. While Gene Sarazen will play in Rome and Johnny Golden, who is of Czech-Slovakian descent, is heading for Prague. Ireland has tempted the American golfers, Belgium has a title or two waiting to be gathered, and France will stage team matches next week.

If any of the pros who went abroad comes back without a title or two, it will be his own fault. There will be plenty to go around.

The First Davis Cup Test

The United States has become so accustomed to being in the finals of the Davis Cup ties that the intra-zone preliminaries have come to be regarded as more or less of a necessary evil. For a number of years, our team, defending the trophy, was not called upon to play through the preliminary rounds. Since the French won at Germantown, we have had to do so.

"Big Bill" Tilden and Francis T. Hunter have not considered their services necessary in the American zone, but later this week the United States team, composed largely of youngsters, will have to face the Canadian Davis Cup squad at Montreal.

The Canadians have always been reasonably easy victims of ours at tennis, but with a young squad one never knows. To be put out before the intra-zone finals—event before the challenge round—would be a severe blow to American pride.

But watch the Canadians at Montreal this week.

The Greatest Race

You may talk about your Belmonts, Futurities, and other domestic classics of the turf, but the fastest ribbon event of American horse racing.

Other races pay more money. Some may possibly attract larger crowds, and some may be worth more from the point of view of the expert in horse flesh. But the charm of the Kentucky Derby is something that cannot be imitated, nor replaced.

The lure of the so-called "Blue Grass" country, its soft-spoken men and beautiful women, is a unique American characteristic. Nowhere else save in Kentucky do men of this land have quite the same re-

Few Changes In Tax Laws Made By Legislature—Wade

STAMFORD, May 14.—The present called session of the legislature will make no radical change in the tax laws of the state, is the opinion of Homer D. Wade, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, who has returned from a trip to Bryan, where he, in company with President A. M. Bourland, attended the fourth annual convention of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, and remained until the session of the convention was over.

In referring to the matter Wade said, "On Tuesday of this week, the second day of the convention at Bryan, a large number of the legislators were in attendance, having come by special train to make inspection of the A. & M. college, as well as to attend the convention. President Bourland was strong in urging the legislators with whom he came in contact that radical changes in tax laws without very mature consideration would result disastrously, and that months should be given to a study of the question before action should be taken. President Bourland did not hesitate in opposing the gross production tax, nor the proposed one cent per thousand feet on natural gas. He said the income and other proposed tax measures should be given full consideration, and that the people who were most seriously affected by such taxes should have the right to be heard.

Joining with the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, the executive officers of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, entered strong pleas to have the tax measures that had been reported favorably by the committee on revenues and taxation, sent back to the committee, in order that full and exhaustive hearings might be had.

A telephone message from Chairman Victor H. Gilbert of the committee on revenues and taxation, advised the officers of the West Texas organization that the bills had been referred, and that the session of the legislature was so near over, that it would be impossible for the measure to come up during the life of the special session, and that he was sure that the committee would take no further action upon them."

VOLUNTARY GUIDE FINDS SERVICES ARE EXPENSIVE

GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 14.—(UP)—It cost William Carlson $110

GOLD DISCOVERY

MOAT, Utah, May 14.—(UP)—Rich gold-bearing rock, which is said to carry in excess of $3,900 per ton has been discovered near Floy, 30 miles northwest of here. The news of this discovery has created much excitement in the Green River section and hundreds of speculations are being made for miles around the discovery claim.

It costs very little to recondition a MODEL T FORD

THE Ford Motor Company is making a new car, but it is still proud of the Model T. It wants every owner of one of these cars to run it as long as possible at a minimum of trouble and expense.

Because of this policy and because of the investment that millions of motorists have in Model T cars, the Ford Motor Company will continue to supply parts as long as they are needed by Ford owners.

So that you may get the greatest use from your Model T, we suggest that you take it to the nearest Ford dealer and have him estimate on the cost of any replacement parts that may be necessary.

You will find this the economical thing to do because a small expenditure now will help to prevent costlier repairs later on, increase the value of the car, and give you thousands of miles of additional service.

For a labor charge of only $2.60 you can have your generator put in first-class condition. A new universal joint will be installed for a labor cost of $3. Overhauling the carburetor costs $1.50; steering gear, $3.50; radiator, $7.50. A complete overhauling of the rear axle assembly runs between $5.75 and $7 for labor. An average price of $22.50 covers the overhauling of the motor and transmission.

These prices are for labor only because the need and number of new parts depend on the condition of each car. The cost of these parts is low, however, because of the Ford policy of manufacturing and selling at a small margin of profit.

Charters Granted In April 262, with $24,471,000 Stock

AUSTIN, Texas, May 14.—New corporations organized during April reflect the generally optimistic outlook for business in Texas over the next few months, according to Bernard Nichols, assistant in charge of index numbers in the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas.

"Ordinarily, a decline occurs from March to April in the number of new companies formed, whereas there was a sharp gain between the two months just passed," Mr. Nichols said. "Moreover, the number of new charters granted in April by the Secretary of State was the largest for any April on record.

"During the month, 262 new companies, capitalized at $24,471,030, were organized, compared to 247 corporations with capitalization of $8,748,000 in April, 1928. While many of the new corporations are small as has been the case in the past six months, four building and loan associations, capitalized at $5,000,000 each, received charters. The average capitalization per company was $9,300 in April against only $4,000 in March.

Eighteen oil companies were organized, compared to seventeen in April, 1928, and public service corporations increased from three in April a year ago to thirteen in April, 1929. New manufacturing concerns numbered 53, against only 27 in April last year, while banking and financial institutions fell from sixteen to eleven. There were 25 real estate

GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 14.—(UP)—Few men have milked a buffalo cow and lived to tell of their experiences. Frank Rose, warden on the bison reserve in Lake county, is one of the few, and he's probably the only man in the Northwest who ever tried to say "so-o-o bossy" to a buffalo.

Rose received a request from Salt Lake City for some bison milk for laboratory purposes. He obtained the milk, but declared that the operation would have to be performed by somebody else hereafter.

So far as he could determine, nobody had ever written a book of instructions telling the novice how to go about coaxing a lady buffalo in being milked. He found that milking a buffalo cow was somewhat different from milking the

"There is no old or new Tammany. There is and has been just one Tammany. Tammany has always been Tammany."

—John F. Curry, new leader of Tammany Hall.

"The Republican party, that rose with Lincoln and fell with Grant, that was auctioned off by Mark Hanna and given away by Roosevelt, has been operated as a private enterprise for several decades. The Democratic party of Jefferson and Jackson fell to pieces in the Civil war; and neither the tar of public plunder nor the glue of noble words has been ever strong enough to stick Humpty Dumpty firmly together again."

—Donald R. Rieberg, counsel of the National Conference on the Valuation of Railroads.

COTTON BIG FACTOR IN TEXAS LIFE

AUSTIN, Texas, May 14.—Importance of improving the quality of Texas cotton was pointed out by A. B. Cox, director of the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas. Many people lose sight of the magnitude of the industry and its future possibilities, he declared.

"Texas needs to become cotton conscious," Dr. Cox said. "Cotton is the backbone of the economic life of the state. The significance of it can best be shown by a few figures. In 1925, the total value of all crops in Texas was $756,000,000. Of this, cotton lint accounted for $554,311,000 and cotton seed $70,500,000, or, put in another way, cotton and cotton seed equaled 82.6 per cent of all crop values. According to the 1925 census, 410,000 out of the 465,000 farmers in the state grow some cotton. The greater part, therefore, of our agricultural population depends either entirely or in part on cotton for money income. The 1920 census classes Texas population as 54.8 per cent agricultural. In other words, the production of raw cotton alone is the source of income for at least 40 per cent of our population.

"Cotton growing is only one of a number of interrelated parts of the Texas cotton industry. There are approximately 4,000 gins in Texas which have a value of about $100,000,000 and give employment to about 20,000 men. The movement of the cotton from the gin through the local market requires the services of several groups of tradesmen such as local buyers, weighers, draymen and bankers. From the local market the cotton goes into the central markets which are fewer in number and better organized but even here the industry is so big that a great many highly specialized people are required to handle the business efficiently. The mention of a few trades such as cotton classing, compressing, transporting, warehousing and merchandising suggests the diversity of the interests involved.

"Cotton, even after it has passed through all these hands, is merely raw material. It must go through one or more of several manufacturing processes before it is available for human consumption. These manufacturing industries in the United States taken together add $688,000,000 to the value of the finished product, or almost as much as the price of the raw cotton delivered to the mills. Texas is not yet great as a cotton manufacturing state, but her mills consume annually over 100,000 bales and the product is worth about $20,000,000.

"The significance of the cotton industry does not stop with these primary phases of the business. Texas produced in 1925 2,201,000 tons of cotton seed. Over a million and a half of these were milled in Texas cottonseed oil mills. The value of the products was about $80,000,000. The products of oil, meal, linters and even hulls become the raw materials for still other industries.

"This does not by any means exhaust the list, for there are many service industries such as the manufacture of bagging and ties, of power and a legion of different kinds of machines and tools for cultivation, processing and manufacturing of cotton. Even the success of such unrelated industries as creameries, cheese factories and condenseries depends on dairy cows which are fed to a large extent on cotton seed meal and hulls.

"Indeed, the cotton industry is so diverse and vital that in some one or more of its phases it affects the welfare of every citizen of the state of Texas.

"I do not wish to be sensational or classed as an alarmist, but the facts show we are living in a fool's paradise. The foundation of prosperity of the cotton industry rests on the volume of production and the quality of the products. According to facts developed, the yield per acre of Texas cotton has declined on an average over one pound per acre per year during the last 30 years, and the biggest decrease has occurred in the black land belt, the heart of the cotton growing industry. During the last six years the mode of staple length produced has declined from 1 1/16 inches to 7/8 of an inch.

"The objects of the Texas Cotton Committee are to increase the yield per acre of Texas cotton by improving soil fertility, seed stocks and cultural practices and lessening losses due to insects and disease; to raise the price of Texas cotton by improving its quality and developing a good will for it because of its uniformity and dependability; to lower costs of production through better farm organization and practices; to improve the quality of our cotton by bringing about the sale of it by the farmers on its merits; and to lower the costs of marketing by lessening the buying expenses, risks and other middlemen's costs of the merchants and others in the business.

"The accomplishment of these aims is clearly beyond the power of any individual or group. Individual efficiency lies in specialization, group efficiency and co-ordination and co-operation. The cotton industry presents an extreme case of the need of specialized individual efforts welded into a comprehen-

REAL CHORUS GIRLS IN "THE BROADWAY MELODY"

In going through the long lines of girls from which were "weeded out" the sixty members of the chorus in "The Broadway Melody," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer all-talking, all-singing, all-dancing production which will open at the Ritz Theatre next Sunday, an effort was made to select a number of varied types. Director Beaumont and his assistant, George Cunningham, had a rigid list of requirements to which all the girls selected had to conform, yet at the same time they were looking for photographic individuality. The result was that many were called before even a few were chosen.

Among the girls in the line are Diana Vorne, dancer in "Chu Chin Chow," and "Artists and Models," Alice Pittman, captain of the Tiller Sunshine Girls; Alice Weaver, a Broadway featured dancer; also the Angeles Sisters, and many show girls and dancers who have scintillated with the "Follies," "Vanities" and George White's "Scandals."

The average height of the girls is five feet, two inches, and their average weight is 110 pounds. Blondes are distinctly in the majority and about one-third of the streams of syncope have long hair. No inexperienced applicants even had a chance of "getting by." Incidentally nine of the girls are about 15 per cent claim college diplomas—a development that might have amazed the leg-of-mutton epoch, when brains in jumpers were undreamed-of commodities.

The featured players of this scintillating M-G-M production are Bessie Love, Anita Page and Chas. King. The plot is founded on backstage show life.

LATEST T. A. T INSTRUCTOR HIT PEAK IN GIRDING

Twelve days in a wilderness of ice and snow! Lieutenant Al Harvey, newest instructor in the T. A. T. Flying School, knows what it feels like to wander along through barren cold, hoping to reach some outpost of civilization before food and strength are gone.

He had such an experience when the plane in which he and Major F. L. Martin were flying on an "around-the-world" cruise was wrecked against a mountain peak in Alaska. In 1924, newspaper readers will remember, four planes started at San Diego to girdle the globe. Harvey and Martin had taken off from Chignik, Alaska, for Dutch Harbor in the Aleutian Islands. Flying through a thick fog along the Alaskan peninsula, they crashed into a peak, badly wrecking the plane, though the fliers miraculously escaped injury.

Then followed the twelve days of weary trudging toward Port Moller, a salmon fishing camp. The sole food of the two was a quart bottle of concentrated beef. A spoonful of the precious fluid in a glass of water composed a meal. There was no fire to warm by at intervals during the nightmare of stumbling over the frozen wastes—the airman had matches but there was no wood to burn.

They finally reached the camp and returned to the states while their more fortunate fellow fliers continued the flight to Siberia, Japan, India, France, England, Iceland, Newfoundland, Boston and Washington.

Only two of the ships finished the flight. The other was lost 500 miles north of the Orkney Islands when Lieutenant Leigh Wade was forced down in the Atlantic. The pilot was rescued but the ship was damaged beyond repair in being towed in.

Harvey was a sergeant at the technical school at Chanute Field, Illinois, when he started in the history-making flight. For the past three years he has been an instructor at Brooks Field, San Antonio. He is now instructing students and has charge of the ground school course for pilots and mechanics.

That each of the defendants is claiming title to a portion of said premises by reason of a Deed purporting to convey to him one or more lots according to the map or plat of the town of Shafter Lake in Andrews County, Texas. That by reason of such description there is appurtenant to each of said lots a private right of access to the lot so conveyed from the actual settlement on the townsite of Shafter Lake on the North part of the Northwest Quarter of said Section 12, which actual town is not fenced in and is not wholly owned by plaintiff. That none of said lots is entirely surrounded by a tract or tracts owned, claimed or fenced by plaintiff.

That any settlement that may ever have existed on said townsite was in the North part of the Northwest quarter of Section 12 about Block 25 designated as the Court House Square on said plat and is remote from the premises herein sued for. That no use of said premises has ever been made as town property and neither defendants nor their predecessors in title nor any other persons have ever occupied said premises or any part thereof for habitation or as town property of any character. That there has been no necessity or occasion to use the Streets and alleys shown on said map to be on said premises as streets and alleys and same have never been used by defendants or the public or any persons whatever as streets and alleys and plaintiff's possession has not been interrupted by the claim of any persons for the use of such streets and alleys. That if there had ever been any intention of any person of using any part of the premises herein sued for for townsite purposes of any kind, such intention had long since been abandoned by each and all such persons at the time of the beginning of plaintiff's adverse possession herein alleged.

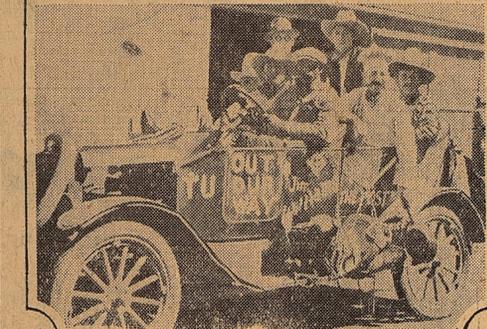

Wherefore plaintiff prays that the defendants be cited to answer this petition, and that plaintiff have judgment for the title and possession of the above described premises for his damages, for costs of suit and for such other and further relief as he may be entitled to either at law or in equity.

Herein Fail not but have before said Court, at its aforesaid regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Andrews, Texas, on this the 22nd day of April, A. D. 1929.

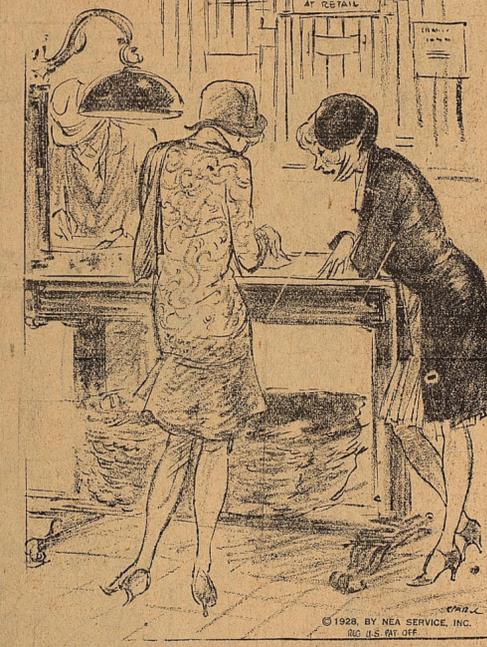

(SEAL) SAM M. SMITH, Clerk, District Court Andrews Co., Texas. (April 23, 30—May 7, 14.)

"Out Our Way" Comes to Life in Texas

"Cotton" and "Curly," two characters out of Jim Williams' comic strip, "Out Our Way," rode right into El Paso, Texas, the other day to compete in the rodeo. At the top, Cheyenne Kiser, left, is shown as "Cotton" and Mack Harmon, as "Curly." Below is "the gang," entered by the El Paso Post, in the parade opening the El Paso rodeo, characters being taken from Williams' drawings. "Cotton" is a "bulldozer" and "Curly" is a bronco buster. Williams once was a cowboy on a New Mexico ranch near El Paso.

Arrest Strikers In Textile Row

ELIZABETH, Tenn., May 14.—(AP)—More than 250 strikers were arrested today on a charge of intimidation. They were escorted to the court house square by a company of National Guardsmen. The jail here is too small to hold the prisoners.

50 Generations Traced Back in This Dog Family

Loren D. White, local jeweler, has a hobby that has made him money, as well as having afforded him great pleasure. White has four pups out of Berna Von Kilmak, sired by Rex Von Abballen, registered with the American Kennel Club in New York City. This sire is a grandson of Nores Von Der Kreminalpolzei, the side of Strongheart, the movie dog. He is the great grandson of Flock Von Bern, only dog to hold the U. S. double championship—field and bench.

The blood in White's dogs here has noble heritage. Three brothers to the litter are in Colorado, where they are being especially trained for camera work.

"Yes, I like golf and such sports, White said, "but I have little time to devote to it. With my dogs, however, I find a few minutes each night and morning. It is incredible how much enjoyment one can get out of such simple association."
