Wise Donkey Is Student of Boy Scout Actions

A donkey owned by one of the newsboys in Midland has an adaptive way of watching human beings and then, after forming his own interpretation, utilizing what he learns to do some tricks of his own. The donkey once belonged to a Boy Scout in San Angelo. He was an interested camp hanger-on, especially when there was any food left around the camp garbage cans. Particularly did he watch the Scouts on the march—fifty running paces and fifty walking. Now the donkey trots for about fifty paces and then goes into a series of pitching jumps that never fails to unseat his rider, who slides down the lowered neck of the resourceful donkey. In crossing one block of Missouri street, near The Reporter-Telegram office this morning, the small rider took three coppers and was saved from the fourth by locking his legs tightly around the animal's throat near the "Adam's apple."

Hyatt in the Thomas building, and at the Chamber of Commerce.

The number was one more than enough to acquit the governor. Senator Gilbert, administration supporter, introduced a statement before the Senate court, signed by 15, who said they no longer endorsed the court proceedings because they believed the charges adopted after April 6 at the close of the special session were illegal. REVERSE THE PROCESS

President Hoover recently declared that the solution of the problem of law enforcement was more vital to the preservation of American institutions than any other question. All crime, from murder to forgery, he said, had increased in the United States to the point where life and property were relatively more unsafe than in any other civilized country in the world.

What we are facing today... is the possibility that respect for law is fading from the sensibilities of our people. Whatever the value of any law may be, the enforcement of that law written in plain terms upon our statute books is not, in my mind, a debatable question.

President Hoover is right. The remedy is not in the passage of more legislation further restricting law-abiding citizens on the theory that this will curb the crook.

We must reverse the process and have more enforcement and less legislation if we would reduce crime and create respect for law.

A TANGLED PROBLEM

The American Petroleum Institute has been working in conjunction with the Federal Oil Conservation Board to secure practical conservation in the oil industry. Editorially, the Kansas City Journal-Post says: "Apparently President Hoover is not in favor of an administrative appeal of the Sherman Act, nor does he indicate that he would favor a repeal by Congress."

The Federal Oil Conservation Board, as a way out of the dilemma, has suggested that the problem of curbing oil production should be worked out in cooperation with states affected and this proposition is now under consideration. Commenting on this latter phase of the situation the Milwaukee Journal says: "The government should lend every legitimate assistance by way of views and expert counsel. It should give all the cooperation possible for the sake of conservation of oil that would be promoted."

In the meantime, instead of becoming discouraged at the difficulties encountered, the American Petroleum Institute has announced that it is "the unanimous opinion of the Institute directors that the Institute shall cooperate with the Federal Oil Conservation Board in the study of its program and in any further efforts toward the conservation of petroleum and that it should lend its aid in the continual study of any undertaking which promises best to bring about this result."

SAFETY STRESSED IN AUTOMOBILE CONSTRUCTION

The most important trend in automobile design today is safety, from the body itself to the smallest parts. The 1930 cars feature fuller vision, all-steel bodies, non-shatterable glass, ball bearing spring shackles, easier steering, centralization of light controls on steering wheel, four-speed transmission and bright colors.

Already six million of our 25 million cars are equipped with all-steel bodies as a safety factor. An increasing number of the new models have adopted this construction as well as installing glass which will not shatter or splinter in accidents. Ball-bearing spring shackles which require no lubrication or attention and improve the riding qualities and improve the riding qualities and control of cars on rough or slippery roads, are the newest development to be adopted by some of the most important car makers by making a car easy to handle another safety factor is added and it is said the ball bearing spring shackles last the life-time of a car without rattle and squeaks.

Bell System In Southwest Adds $3,300,958, March

The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, operating in Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and a small part of Illinois adjacent to St. Louis, authorized gross additions to its plant, or telephone property and equipment to the amount of $3,300,958, during March, 1929.

These authorizations provide that $328,586 worth of worn and obsolete equipment will be removed, leaving a net addition to the company's telephone property of $2,972,372.

Rodeo Planned at Texas State Fair With $14,000 Up

DALLAS, May 16.—(UP)—Plans for a "world championship" rodeo were being made here today by officials of the Texas State Fair. A total of $14,000 in cash prizes was called for in a contract signed between T. E. Jackson, president of the state fair, and W. T. Johnson, millionaire West Texas cattleman. Johnson produced the rodeo during the national convention of the American Legion in San Antonio last fall. Because of the fair rodeo being the last of the season, fair officials believed it would draw the largest number of entrants ever entered in any rodeo. Plans for the livestock department of the fair were also being accelerated with appointment by Otto Herold, director in charge, of A. L. Ward as general superintendent. Ward, formerly of Texas A. & M., now heads the educational department of the Texas Cotton Seed Crushers Association.

GILBERT'S COSTUME SHOWS WHAT TO WEAR IN AFRICAN DESERT

What does the well dressed man of the desert wear? Just enough to protect the body from the burning rays of the sun, the less the better for comfort's sake and those few clothes should be made of washable linen, according to John Gilbert, who will be seen in the latest desert attire in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature "Desert Nights," which will be at the Grand Theatre next Sunday. This latest of Gilbert pictures is based on the sensational and daring robbery of a South African diamond mine; the participants later becoming lost in the wastes of a vast desert. Much thought was given the matter of proper dress for this sequence and it was, finally decided to make a very short pair of pants, similar in style to those worn by athletes, a pair of long wool hose, regular laced shoes and a soft tan linen shirt with short sleeves and rolled collar. A regular straw sun helmet was used as a head dress, and the entire ensemble looks very appropriate for the locale of the picture. Mary Nolan, the heroine, is dressed in a costume similar to that of the star while Ernest Torrence appears in heavy riding boots, breeches and white linen shirt. Texas leads the United States in the number of domestic livestock animals on farms and ranches—Texas Commercial News.

Fine Arts Club Holds Final Meeting

Members of the Fine Arts club met yesterday afternoon in the last meeting of this season at the home of Mrs. Roy Parks. Miss Lillie B. Williams was co-hostess for the affair.

The study class for the meeting was on a general resume of the entire course of study taken by the club this year. Mrs. Parks, leader, gave the distinctive qualities of modern drama and also gave a brief review of the dramas studied this year.

Mrs. Paul T. Vickers read a paper on Drama for Mere Amusement. Drama for Artist's Satisfaction and Drama for Instruction. She also discussed a drama of each group that had been studied by the class lately. Other dramas in connection with these groups were reviewed. Her talk was followed by a class discussion led by the leader.

At tea time, the hostesses served refreshments to the group.

THE "FLOUR BAG" TWINS

Jack and Jill went up the hill in frocks alike as pins. And folk would smile For many a mile To see such cunning twins.

Of course only twins know all the fun that it is to be twins, but there is no reason why any little brother and sister who are both within the ages of two and six years can not assume the twin-prerogative of dressing alike.

The little "Jack and Jill" dresses shown here are examples of what can be done in this way, without either of them sacrificing their personalities. And without sacrificing the family pocket-book, either. For both of these little dresses were actually made from used flour bags, the kind that come into the kitchen by way of the grocery boy or which can be bought over the bakery counter for a few cents apiece.

This material is so firm and closely woven and durable as to be especially suitable for children's clothes. The bags are quickly ripped and the stamping removed in any one of several ways, by covering with lard or kerosene for a few hours and then washing in warm water, or with javelle water, or they may be sent to the general public laundry.

Flour bags take dye beautifully, especially in the darker shades such as yale blue or forest green. Used in combination with the natural material, the effect is charming.

In the dresses shown here, Jill's little box-pleated skirt and Jack's mammoth shorts are of the dark material, the blouses are natural colored, and the collar, cuffs and ties of the dark goods.

The number of flour bags required for making the two suits will, of course, depend on the ages of the children, but in any case the cost will be negligible.

2 Midland Girls in "Broadway Melody" Coming Here Sunday

Particular interest is attached to Melody" which starts at the Ritz Melody" which starts at the Ritz theatre Sunday when it is considered that two Midland girls appear in the film.

Bessie Love, one of the stars in the drama, lived in Midland when a small girl; and Jimilee Poole, who moved from here to California a few years ago, appears in one of the spectacular dancing scenes.

Bessie Love, whose name is Bessie Horton, lived here from about 1908 to 1912, while her father was section foreman, and she was then almost a baby.

Jimilee Poole, daughter of Mrs. Edith Poole and niece of Mrs. M. R. Hill of Midland, was studied in the Belcher School of Dancing at San Francisco and has made quite a name for herself on the Pacific coast.

Will Lindy Lose Love Wager?

Col. Lindbergh will probably write a check for $1,500 to Phil Love, a friend and fellow aviator, immediately after his marriage to Anne Morrow. When the friends were flying the mail together a long time ago they made a wager that the first to marry would pay the other $1,500. It looks as if Love will collect on this love wager, unless he goes and falls himself.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

Anne Morrow is the modern equivalent of the fairy princess in the old gay covered fairy books. And all the modern Cinderellas who are Cinderellas only as far as the kitchen corner version of it, and never to the ball and silver slipper ending, are demanding their fairy tale about her prince, the wedding in the fairy palace, and where they go to live happily after.

PRINCESS IS SNOOTY

But the fairy princess to hundreds and thousands of Cinderellas is denying her lessers all the colorful tidings of romance they crave. She and her prince charming, Col. Charles Lindbergh, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Morrow, are saying to the demands of the multitude that it's their event and they have a right to the dignity of personal privacy.

Perhaps, who knows, they are really giving the clamorous multitude more in this example of the well-bred role of conduct than in supplying them with the details for which the mob clamors.

But I'd give my eye teeth, if any, to know what Anne's buying in her trousseau, and what the Colonel gives her for a wedding gift!

THE MARTYR'S PRICE

After all, though, it's an injustice and all that, Mrs. Mary Ware Bennett's conviction has done more for the cause of decent scientific enlightenment than all the pleas for that very thing ever written. There's nothing like the humanly appealing martyrdom of one individual to put over an idea. One hopes that, there's comfort enough in that knowledge to make the martyrs feel that something is worth the price they pay.

Likewise, the raiding of the Birth Control League by a police-woman who deliberately set out to trap that organization, has furthered its cause more than months of quiet operation.

POOR OLD HANK!

A reading of Francis Hackett's "Henry the Eighth" makes one wonder again why women always "get the breaks" in historical recording of their goings-on.

Hackett seems sure of his facts and he presents the Henry traditionally maligned for his cruel and selfish treatment of women as a rather patient and long suffering soul treated rather badly by all his spouses.

"NAPPY," TOO!

Some recent biographies of Napoleon have shown him up as more crucified by Josephine than crucifying. Is it traditional gallantry that has done this? Made the man in the case always the villain, the women always the innocent victims?

And yet on the other hand, Cleopatra has never been gilded over much, whereas history proves that she, and Lucrezia Borgia, too, were sinned against as well as sinning.

Anyway, such books as "Henry the Eighth" raise a question mark and do no little in stirring up prejudicial convictions of tradition.

"WHY DID I?"

Tom Walton, Jr., 21, of Amarillo, Texas, told his mother that he had secretly married Theresa Hamilton, 19, daughter of former Judge R. H. Hamilton of the Texas Supreme Court's Commission of Appeals. His mother urged him to tell the judge. He did so and was shot to death.

Tradition might say that, even so, the mother is glad that she sent Tom on his duty. We cling to our Nancy Hank's traditions. Common sense would say that this violation of the maternal instinct is so great that she would have aided and abetted him in a much graver wrong forever rather than have her child killed.

Women are mothers first—people after that.

YOUR CHILDREN
by Olive Roberts Barton
© 1929 by NEA Service Inc.

Children four years old are often as puzzling as the X in an algebra problem. Up to their third birthday they are babies, we might say, with habits, tastes, and general loveliness that old Grandma Nature put there.

But suddenly, like the mother bird in the nest, old Nature gives them a pitch out, so to speak.

If Billy suddenly becomes a little tyrant, Jane develops a surprising contrariness, Johnny turns into a regular all-around bad little boy, and Dot a regular all-round naughty little girl, old Dame Nature doesn't hold her hands up in horror and say, "What a mess I have made of things!" She just remarks complacently, "They'll learn. I can't expect them to be perfect all at once.

Puzzles or Pleasures

Probably it will give their mothers a shock to find they have not the little cherubs they thought they had, but it is exactly what other mothers for centuries before them have had to discover, too—all's well that ends well, and these four-year-olds as a general rule will be all right after they have learned a few first-hand lessons.

Now all mothers of four-year-old children don't have trouble. Indeed, quite the opposite, for children at this age are often the most lovable, fascinating little people in the world. They react beautifully to this new consciousness of self and stand up admirably under their new independence.

But if they don't, if the social emotions they develop for a time are all wrong ones instead of the right ones, don't despair and don't worry too much. Above all, don't give up.

Keep Them Busy

If Billy flies into rages because he can't have his own way, or Jane openly defies you, with a reasonable amount of effort on your part there will come a time when you won't have so much trouble.

Don't scold too much. Because I don't think it will do very much good anyway. The best way is to keep these children very busy—so busy with play and exercise that they are too tired to argue.

Don't let them see they are upsetting you. If you begin to make it a battle of wits, that is what they want, and the chances are you'll lose. Don't let it come to that if you can help it.

The fourth year should be a happy year, for it is the year that fear complexes are likely to have their beginning. That makes it difficult. I'll admit, but patience will do wonders, if you can just possess your soul until a little later on.

"THE BROADWAY MELODY" IS SUPER-COMBINATION OF ALL STAGE CRAFT

"The Broadway Melody," an elaborate production filmed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer with all-talking, singing and dance effects, is the attraction which will be at the Ritz theatre next Sunday. It is the most vividly portrayed drama of back stage life to reach the screen, with all the glamour, tinsel and clatter for which life behind the scenes is famous, reproduced in truthful and vivid manner.

The story, an original by the celebrated playwright, Edmund Goulding, relates the sad yet humorous experience of a small town "sister act" that looks like material for the Folies but flops in rehearsal. Through it all runs a humanly interesting romance, such as is carried on only in the average life of show people, whose chief aim in living is to entertain the public for which they perform.

The dramatic climax is a most heart-gripping episode, for after struggling to keep her "little sister" from wandering off the straight and narrow, the good samaritan sees true love take its course by sacrificing her own lover. Anita Page and Bessie Love appear as the "sister act," and Charles King, musical comedy star, as the helpful song-and-dance-man lover.

Kenneth Thompson plays the idle rich and handsome stage door Johnnie, who endeavors to gain the attentions of Miss Page and is the ultimate cause of the cyclonic climax. Mary Moran, Eddie Kane and others of note are in the supporting cast.

Harry Beaumont, responsible for "Our Dancing Daughters" and other successes, directed the new production, which is interspersed throughout with specially written musical scores.

HOWE SUMS UP
ADVERTISING IN POETRY

John P. Howe has his own ideas of advertisement. He told a staff writer of The Reporter-Telegram this morning of the variety of ways for putting one's firm or business before the public, and stated that those ways are embodied in a little poem he carries in his pocket.

Reproduced, the poem would sound very like this:

When You Advertise

A lion met a tiger,
As they drank beside a pool;
Said the Tiger, "Tell me why
Your're rearing like a fool."
"That's not foolish," said the lion,
With a twinkle in his eyes.
"They call me king of all the beasts
Because I advertise."

A rabbit heard them talking,
And ran home like a streak;
He thought he'd try the lion's plan
But his roar was just a squeak.

A fox came to investigate,
Had luncheon in the woods,
So when you advertise, my friends,
Be sure you got the goods!

COLTS KNOCK HERDERS FROM TOP RUNG TO A TIE WITH ACES

WIN GIVES SWEEP OF 3-GAME SERIES

Midland not only took Wednesday's game from the tame Sheep Herders of Angelo, but, by virtue of the win, swept the series. The score was 7-3. This win drew the Herders down into a tie with Abilene for first honors. Midland stole a march on Big Spring, who lost to Coleman.

The Angeloans, who have been making sweet music on their shepherd's pipes to drive other teams before them, were completely baffled by the Colt hammering. In the sixth the disciples of pastoral life began making errors, and before the inning was up the game, as far as Midland was concerned, was on ice.

Davis, Midland flinger, had an easy time of it save on three brief occasions. Blackwell, Angelo hurler, could not go the route, giving way to Milton, Colt cast-off. Andrews, another cast-off, was in the Angelo lineup.

Play by play:
First Inning
San Angelo—Cy Williams and Janick went out by the Van Landingham to Burrows route. Rawlings flew out to Cheeves. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Midland—Burrows walked. Flowers forced Burrows at second, Rawlings to Janick. Cheeves popped out to Alexander. Kinnear fanned swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Inning
San Angelo—McMillan was out, Van Landingham to Burrows. D. C. Williams singled over short. Coleman hit into a double play, Van Landingham to Crozier to Burrows. No runs, one hit, no errors.
Midland—Van Landingham fanned swinging. Segrist was out, Janick to Alexander. Crozier was out, Coleman to Alexander. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third Inning
San Angelo—Alexander reached first on Crozier's poor throw. Parma on an attempted bunt popped out to Crozier. Blackwell was out at first. Davis to Van Landingham to Burrows. C. Williams doubled to right center to score Alexander. Janick singled over third, Williams taking third. Rawlings flew out to Flowers in right. One run, two hits, one error.

Midland—Stagner was out Janick to Alexander. Davis doubled against the left field wall. Burrows doubled to score Davis, but was out sliding into third in an attempt to stretch it. Flowers was out on a bunt down the first base line, Blackwell to Alexander. One run, two hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning
San Angelo—McMillan singled to right. D. C. Williams was out. Segrist to Burrows who doubled McMillan off second by a fast throw to Van Landingham. Coleman fouled out Stagner. No runs, one hit, no errors.
Midland—Cheeves beat out a slow roller to Rawlings. Janick knocked down Kinnear's roller with his bare hand, but failed to make his throw to second to catch Cheeves. Van Landingham was out to Rawlings. Segrist advanced both runners by a long fly to C. Williams in center field. Crozier singled to score both runners. Stagner was out, Janick to Alexander. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning
San Angelo—Alexander walked. Parma flew out to Cheeves. Blackwell fanned. C. Williams popped out to Crozier. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Midland—Davis was out to Alexander, unassisted. Burrows walked. Flowers forced Burrows to second. Rawlings to Janick. Cheeves flew out to D. C. Williams. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning
San Angelo—Janick fanned. Rawlings flew out to Kinnear in deep center. McMillan was out, Crozier to Burrows. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Midland—Kinnear went to second on D. C. Williams' error on a long fly near the foul line. Van Landingham walked. Van got caught off first and Kinnear stole off towards third when Parma threw to first. A play to Coleman at third resulted in his throw to Janick at second who missed the catch, allowing Kinnear to third. Segrist hit to Rawlings who threw low to the plate trying to catch Kinnear, the ball going to the stands. Parma threw to third attempting to catch Van who in turn threw to Janick who caught Segrist at second. Van scored on the play. Crozier was safe on Coleman's error. Davis hit into a double play, Alexander to Rawlings, to Alexander. Two runs, no hits, 5 errors.

Seventh Inning
San Angelo—D. C. Williams popped out to Burrows. Coleman struck out. Alexander was out, Davis to Burrows. No runs, no hits, no errors.
Midland—Burrows singled through short. Flowers fanned. Cheeves doubled, Burrows drawing up at third. Kinnear fanned. Van Landingham flew out to C. Williams. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning
San Angelo—Parma tripled. Francis, batting for Blackwell, fanned. C. Williams was hit by a pitched ball. Janick popped out to Crozier. Rawlings scored both runners by a double to center. McMillan was out, Segrist to Burrows. Two runs, two hits, no errors.
Midland—Milton, released Tuesday night, took the box for San Angelo. Segrist facing him was safe on Rawlings' error. Crozier flew out to McMillan at right. Segrist stole second. Stagner scored Segrist by a hard hit double to the boards in center. Davis singled to right. Davis stole second, but was out when hit by a batted ball from the bat of Burrows. Burrows stole second. Flowers walked. Cheeves was out, Coleman to Alexander. One run, two hits, one error.

Ninth Inning
San Angelo—D. C. Williams reached first when Crozier's throw to Burrows was low. Coleman went out to Kinnear in center field. It was a beautiful one-handed catch after a long run. Williams took second when Kinnear's throw to first was high. Alexander walked. Parma flew out to Cheeves. Andrews hitting for Milton, was out, Davis to Burrows. No runs, no hits, two errors.

Hamilton Case Recalls Incident To Baylor Alumni

WACO, Texas, May 16.—(UP)—The recent jailing of R. H. Hamilton for the alleged sylvan of his son-in-law, Tom Walton, Jr., recalled to alumni of Baylor university here how he once horse-whipped W. C. Brann, then editor of the Iconoclast.

Brann had published an article said to reflect on the character of young women attending Baylor. Hamilton and a group of friends appointed themselves as a committee to "right the wrong." Capturing the editor, they forcibly took him to where a crowd of students were meeting and made him in the presence of the group, sign a retraction to the article.

Soon afterward Hamilton and two other students encountered the editor on a street corner where Hamilton delivered a horse-whipping to him.

In April of the following year, Brann and one of Hamilton's friends shot each other to death on the post office steps.

Hamilton was a professor of economics and history at Baylor from 1901 to 1919. It was after that he became an assistant attorney general of the state and a member of the supreme court commission of appeals.

Immediately after leaving Baylor, he became president of Howard Howard Payne college at Brownwood, serving there for one year before moving to Port Lavaca to practice law until called to the high state offices.

Hamilton made an enviable record as a student at Baylor from where he took his A. B. degree in 1899.

Second Special Session Of Legislature Looms

By GORDON K. SHEARER
Austin Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, Texas, May 16.—(UP)—

Time for reconvening the state legislature which must end its second session of the year by next Tuesday will be left to the wishes of the members.

Governor Dan Moody is willing to let them decide whether to come back at once or to take a rest between sessions. Members generally seem to want from one to two weeks between sessions to go home and look after private business.

When this session adjourns next week, the legislature will have been in session 90 days this year. The regular session was 60 days. The first special session apparently is going to run the full 30 days, the maximum for a special session.

The second special session may not last so long. There is no minimum time limit. The only provision for special sessions is that they must not last more than 30 days.

If the governor submits only taxation and appropriations, as many members desire, the second special gathering may be short. The finance committee of the senate has appropriation bills ready. The house will have its bills ready either at the opening of the session or a few days later. The only task will be to make the two agree.

The chief difference in the tentative bills is that the senate has made larger appropriations in some instances and has made lump sum appropriations for the educational institutions. Where the senate appropriates a lump sum for operation of a school, the house bills specify so much for a professor of economics, so much for another professor, and so on through the list.

The governor can eliminate any item in the house bills. In the senate bills this cannot be done. The house bills may be made still more explicit if a plan proposed by Rep. W. E. Pope, Corpus Christi, is adopted. This plan is to cancel the appropriation for a position that is not filled. In the past, institutions have been allowed to use all of the appropriations for several institutions in a department by paying higher salaries to a less number in the same department.

Adjustment of highway funds promises one of the big fights of the second session. While imposed as a registration fee, which properly should be the amount only necessary to pay the cost of registration, number plates and keeping records of motor vehicles, the registration fee is in actuality a big part of the fund used for highway maintenance. How much of the highway funds should come from this and how they should be divided between the state highway commission and the county commissioners' courts have been fought over in recurring sessions of the legislature.

If the legislature is called back for the second special session within 24 hours of final adjournment of this session, it will save the state the mileage allowed members for returning home and coming back to Austin. If more than 24 hours elapse before the next session, they are entitled to the mileage costs.

A second special session is not unusual. There were four in 1910, the 31st legislature, and four for the 35th and 36th legislatures. Three extra assemblies were called during the 33rd and 38th legislatures. The present body is the 41st.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE by Ahern

SPEAKING OF SPORT

BY FRANK GETTY
 United Press Sports Editor

All Aboard for Louisville

By road and rail and air, sportsmen are heading for the Blue Grass country today, to line the rails and jam the stands of Churchill Downs on Saturday during the fifty-fifth renewal of the historic Kentucky Derby.

Traffic on Kentucky's highways and railroads tells the story of the tremendous interest in this most picturesque American race.

Once more it will be East against West, and once more, as in recent years, the western entries are favored. Col. E. R. Bradley, whose colts have been out in front a number of times, is shooting with Blue Larkspur, a colt rated by its trainer, H. J. Thompson, as better than Bubbling Over. Another western hopeful is Clyde Van Dusen, and this pair seems to have the edge on anything the East can send.

Kentucky Derbys are not won in winter books, however.

Back in 1780
 When we point with pride to the historic elements in our Kentucky Derby, Englishmen smile politely. The Epsom Derby, to be run early in June dates back to 1780 without interruption.

From Aristides to Reigh Court

Kentucky Derbys date back to 1875, when Aristides, ridden by Lewis, won from Volcano and Verdigris. Last year, the winner was Mrs. Hertz's Reigh Court, now in England. The colt has disappointed in several starts.

The English had great respect for our Derby winner, and assigned Reigh Court top weight in several fixtures. The colt was nowhere in two starts. Then they decided Reigh Court needed new shoes. So would his owner's children if it had kept up much longer.

Some Derby Winners.
 Famous names are on the list of winners of the Kentucky Derby. One that is missing is that of Man-o-War, greatest of them all. The champion wasn't eligible. He won the Preakness in 1920, as a three year old, and could have breezed in at Churchill Downs but he hadn't been entered.

Some of the Derby winners of late were Whiskery, Bubbling Over, Flying Ebony, Black Gold, Zev, Morvich, Behave Yourself, Jaul Jones, and Sir Barton.

The last named won in 1919, with Johnik Loftus up, after having won the Preakness as well. Sir Barton is the only colt that ever turned this trick. Many others have been hurried from Baltimore to Louisville, the faces coming within eight days of each other. The journey seems to take something out of the most of them. A "double" of this sort has been the ambition of horsemen since Sir Barton accomplished it ten years ago this week.

JUST A GRAND OLD RACE---THE KENTUCKY DERBY

By HENRY L. FARRELL
NEA Service Sport Editor

So much heavy and able literary effort has been expended for years in putting the story of the Kentucky Derby in words that there is hardly a new angle from which the reporter can approach to get a new slant one on of America's greatest sporting events or there is no new floss from which he can spin a fancy tale.

It seems, after all, that the Kentucky Derby is a horse race, the oldest and the greatest classic of the American turf, and that the

Year	Winner	Time	Value
1919	Sir Barton	2:09 4-5	$20,825
1920	Paul Jones	2:09	30,375
1921	Behave Yourself	2:04 1-5	38,450
1922	Morvich	2:04 3-5	46,775
1923	Zev	2:05 2-5	43,625
1924	Black Gold	2:05 1-5	52,775
1925	Flying Elony	2:07 3-5	52,950
1926	Bubbling Over	2:03 4-5	50,075
1927	Whiskery	2:06	51,000
1928	Reigh Count	2:10 2-5	55,375

Sir Barton carried 112 1-2 pounds. All others carried 126 pounds.

race this year is to be the fifty-fifth revival of an event that used to be the greatest thing in the life of Old Kaintuck.

There are figures galore dating back to 1875 but figures are boring and those who visit Churchill Downs this year are not so much interested in the winner of 1890 as they are in getting the inside on the winner of 1929. They have paid off on the winners of all the past races.

It may not be out of the way to mention that the race is over a course of a mile and a quarter and the record for the distance was made in 1914 by Old Rosebud. He went the distance in 2:03 2-5. The best time made in recent years was 2:03 4-5 by Bubbling Over in 1926 and the lowest time by Reigh Count, 2:10 2-5, last year.

The first Derby was worth $2,850 and the record purse of $55,375 was paid last year. The winner this year will get at least $50,000 because the purse hasn't been below that amount in the last eight years.

The only filly ever to win the classic was Harry Payne Whitney's Regret. She won in 1915. The green and white colors of the E. R. Bradley stable will attract the most attention. The Bradley colt, Blue Larkspur, is the heavy favorite and probably will go to the post as the shortest priced favorite in the history of the classic. He was well liked in the winter books but his price was hammered to the ground by the unusual betting activities of his multi-millionaire owner and by the scratching of the greatly fancied Roguish Eye, High Strung and Twink.

Innocent Victim

Dry officers fired on the car carrying J. W. Hendricks, above, and his companions at Abington, Va., but no liquor was found in the car when searched. As if to take the administration of justice out of human hands, fate stepped into the case when James Crowe, one of the deputy sheriffs involved in the shooting, was stricken with a probably fatal illness.

BORGER PLANS TRIP.

BORGER, Texas, May 16.—(UP)—Plans are being made here for Borger's first trade trip to be held in the latter part of June. The tentative list of towns to be visited include Dumas, Hartley, Dalhart, Texline, Texoma, Guymon, Gruver, Spearman, Perryton, and Stinnett.

Plans Visit in U. S.

You rather wonder how any plane could carry all this title around, yet Baron Friederich Karl, Freiherr von und zu Warthausen, the "Lindy of Germany," lugs it around with him. The Prince of Siam gave him the Siamese kitten as a mascot at Bangkok, where the flyer stopped on his oriental flight. He plans to visit the United States very soon.

Next to Blue Larkspur, the Man o' War colt, Clyde Van Dusen, may be the heaviest played colt in the race. The players like his blood lines.

Then there are Ervast from the stable of Baron Long, the millionaire California sportsman; Karl Eitel, owned by Alderman John Coughlin of Chicago, and Neddie, owned by Edward McLean, the millionaire Washington publisher.

Alderman Coughlin, who is known in Chicago as "Bath House John," thought he had the race in the bag

MAN O' WAR REPRESENTED BY FIVE SONS IN DERBY

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—Five sons of the great Man o' War are entries in the Kentucky Derby which is to be run over the Churchill Downs course on May 18. They are Clyde Van Dusen, Shipmaster, Battleship Gray, Annapolis and Wart Time.

Clyde Van Dusen, owned by H. P. Gardner of New York, is one of the heavily backed favorites and it may be that he will do something that his illustrious sire never accomplished. He may win the greatest classic of the American turf. Man o' War was not able to win the Derby because he was not started when he was eligible.

The records of the four other Man o' War colts are not impressive and it is unlikely that they will be started.

with Roguish Eye but the colt went bad in training and his hopes had to be transferred to Karl Eitel. He said a few days ago that Roguish Eye was a better cold but that he felt sure "Eitel" would be in the race.

Chief interest of the spectators probably will be centered on Blue Larkspur because it is reported, from reliable sources, that his owner will be enriched by a half-million dollars if he wins. Also because the Bradley stable has an illustrious Derby record.

Two Bradley horses, Behave Yourself and Black Servant, ran first and second in the 1921 Derby and in 1926 two Bradley horses, Bubbling Over and Baoggenbaggage, finished one-two in the classic.

that consciousness of the American Legion in the city as a potential restraint factor in lawlessness is gratifying, and that collective consciousness of this is the greatest factor in believing that no such call will have to be issued. He pledged Major McCarty that the Midland post will do what is expected of it, and praised the Midland commander for unswerving work.

Wassaf spoke of Vice-Commander Goodman's straight-from-the-shoulder manner of speaking and of the pride of the Legion in having him as mayor, and other Legionnaires as other public officials.

Allen Tolbert and Newell Ellis spoke on the value of each member of the Legion paying his dues promptly. "Buddy" Fowler suggested that a committee be formed for the purpose of trying to awaken interest in a "headquarters" house, "Buddy" Hyatt remarked that he had belonged to one of the first Legion organizations in the state. Post No. 19, Wassaf praised "Buddy" Ligon for doing the work of the organization with a strict regard for detail. He stated that the record of Midland in Legion work merited the attention of the government and that, in recognition, war relics will arrive here within a few days. These, he said, had been held up through failure to make full appropriation for transit charges. He said that Midland is in the 20th place on the honor roll of the state, a good record considering that the size of the city does not nearly fall into this classification.

Several speakers arose at this juncture and told humorous incidents, which, for authenticity might be questioned, as other speakers said.

Wassaf introduced Major McCarty, honoree of the evening, as "the first shave tall who made me salute him."

McCarty after telling a series of humorous incidents, said he had come to Midland, not to find fault, but to help the city by telling what is being done in other places. "It reminds me of a little story, this avowed purpose of coming to you," he said. "A little red rooster who took great pride in escorting his flock of gentle hens around the barnyard found occasion to go out into the great world one day. He discovered a hole under the fence and took advantage of it to go out into the meadows, hedge rows and by paths. After an extended stroll he found an ostrich egg. Somewhat at a loss to understand such magnificent proportions in an egg, he decided to carefully roll it back and show it to his flock. This he did after much effort, over the meadows, hedgerows and by paths. Through the little hole in the fence he teetered and brought up beside the barn where it was his custom to hold forth. Flapping his wings and crowing lustily, he succeeded in getting his religious followers.

"Ladies," he began, after clearing his throat, "I didn't call you here to find fault with you, but I just wanted to show you what other communities are doing."

McCarty gave the evolution of the American Legion; showed that it operates under charter of the U. S. Government as do two other organizations, the Boy Scouts and the Red Cross. He said that the fact that a congressional committee reviews all work done in conventions of the Legion is reason enough for pride to the body. He scored those who want to forget the war, saying that the war should not be forgotten, that respect for future peace and for those "buddies" who "went west."

"What do we stand for?" McCarty asked. "For God and country, we associate ourselves together for the following purposes: to uphold and defend the constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a one hundred per cent Americanism; the memories and incidents of our association in the great war; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the autocracy of both the classes and the masses; to make right master of might; to promote peace and goodwill on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness."

Buddies Pope, Moran and Tolbert were named for the house committee and Stokes, Fowler and Ligon on the membership committee.

The Midland Black Colts, Negro baseball aggregation, will play the Big Lake Black Crows at Cowden park Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. It is likely that, in the absence of the Colts, the Negro club will have other games. S. Sneed is manager for the team.

Dempsey Refuses To Fight for Less Than a Million

NEW YORK, May 16.—(UP)—Dempsey is without intention of returning to the ring, he told the United Press here today, unless he receives $1,000,000.

He has received offers to fight at Tia Juana for $800,000, Montreal for $250,000, Chicago $500,000, all of which he turned down, he said.

CHICAGO, May 16.—(UP)—Paddy Harmon, Chicago promoter, announced today that he had telegraphed Jack Dempsey an offer of $500,000 for a match between him and Otto Von Porat here this summer.
