Probable Starting Line-Up Will Be Well-Prepared Eleven

A stiff workout was given the high school football squad Wednesday as training neared an end for the Lamessa game here Friday afternoon.

Coaches Brown and Bristow have not announced their starting lineup, but it was expected that the team which would lead these men on the gridiron ends, Kester and Coste.

This And That

By Mark Benny Lee Boynton, former All-America quarterback at Williams College, and now football official in the Southwest Conference was in town yesterday and tells this one of Obie Bristow.

Boynton was out looking the Steers over yesterday and expressed his belief that the Boviner should go places and do things in the newly created District 4.

AL G. BARNES CIRCUS

SOON TO BE HERE

The red wagons are coming! The Al G. Barnes Circus, one of the world's largest will exhibit in Big Spring on Saturday, Sept. 19. Three special trains are used this season to transport this great organization from city to city. Traveling with the great organization are 1,080 employees in addition to 108 advance men. Twenty-two tents covering twelve acres of ground house the transient city in the daytime. The circus has its own doctor, lawyer, dentist, U. S. postman, detectives, blacksmith, carpenters and, in fact, every artisan found in the average small city.

The famous Al G. Barnes menagerie, declared to be the finest and most complete traveling zoo in the world, is a part of the show. Many new, rare and costly specimens of the wild animal kingdom have been gathered from all parts of the globe. Tapirs, gnus, Visak Varks, lions, tigers, camels, dromedaries, zebras, leopards, panthers, yaks, amias, jaguars, elands, seals and three herds of elephants are but a part of the traveling university of natural history.

The wonder spectacle of all time, "Persia," and the Pageant of Peking, is used this season as a prelude to the circus proper. An immense theatre would be naught compared to this supreme epic of all drama the expression. More than 1,000 men, women, horses, camels and elephants take part in this never-to-be-forgotten pageant of enchantment. Upwards of 70,000 was expended on wardrobe. The mighty audiences which daily greet the magnificent production are among the largest that have ever been drawn together in the history of the amusement world.

Great stars from eighteen foreign countries, the respective champions in their line, participate in the gigantic display of acrobatic numbers. The trained wild animal displays are headed by Miss Mabel Stark, Johnny Myers and Capt. Terrell Jacobs. In massive steel girted arenas will be seen performing lions, tigers, jaguars, and pumas, all subjugated by master trainers. Forty dancing horses and forty dancing girls will be seen in a horse show unparalleled. Among the sixty equestrians will be the Belmont family, an English importation; the Grezelle troupe come from Belgium to amaze and thrill you in their riding numbers. The great Gretonas from the Imperial Winter Garden in Berlin perform high up in the dome of the arena, riding bicycles on a slender thread of steel and performing gymnastic feats. From Mexico comes Alex Azevedo in a daring and sensational slack wire act. Sixty clowns will furnish fun to the little folks.

Performances will be given at 7 and 8 p. m. Doors will be opened an hour earlier to permit inspection with the five rings that give play to this supreme epic of all drama the expression. More than 1,000 men, women, horses, camels and elephants take part in this never-to-be-forgotten pageant of enchantment. Upwards of 70,000 was expended on wardrobe. The mighty audiences which daily greet the magnificent production are among the largest that have ever been drawn together in the history of the amusement world.

Ideal Homemaker Sketched By Cooking Expert

A sketch for the "ideal homemaker":

She must have executive ability. She must be a good purchasing agent and know how to buy intelligently.

She must be something of a chemist in order to watch her family's diet.

She must be an economist and a gracious hostess.

Mrs. Myra Oliver Dougan, who is to conduct the Herald free cooking school here Sept. 29-Oct. 2 admits that this outline may sound formidable, but she has compiled it from the many characteristics of women whom she has met in her widely divergent lectures and travels over the United States. And its achievement is within the power of the average American woman, she believes, who has personal ambition and an eager interest in her family.

Man Is Responsible

But she does not place the entire responsibility upon the woman of the household. She calls on the husband to assume a certain share of the efforts his wife must make to fulfill her role as homemaker—and the "short" of this challenge to the husband is—

"Treat your wife as a business partner in the home."

"Of all the tales that are told to me," Mrs. Dougan declares, "by hundreds of women who are struggling with the problems of the home"

Canning and Preserving Recipes To File Away That Will Keep the Wolf Away This Winter

Dear Club Women: Here are some good recipes for canning vegetables and making several kinds of fruit preserves. I have also included an unusual remedy for keeping weevils out of dried peas.

Canned Okra
Only young tender okra should be canned. Dip in hot water until it wilts, then plunge into cold water; remove the cap without cutting into the seed pod and pack whole. The pods should be uniform in size. Fill jars to overflowing with brine made of 3 tsp. of salt to one gallon of water. Process by steam pressure for one period of 60 minutes at 12 lbs.

Canned Beets
Select small young tender beets about one and one-fourth inches in diameter. Cook until peel will slip off easily. Leave the root and about two inches of top on, until beets are cooked tender. Peel, pack uniformly in the jars and fill with hot water. Process quart jars one hour at 12 pounds pressure.

Canned Carrots
Use recipe for beets.

Tomato Preserves
1 qt. tomatoes, peeled and quartered.
3 c. sugar.
1 to 1 1/2 lemons, sliced thin.
Cook the mixture until it is thick and clear. Pour it into sealed jars and seal.

Pear Preserves
Mellow pears are not good for preserving, but may be used for marmalade. Firm juicy pears such as the Russett or Kieffer are good preserving pears. Quarter, peel, core and measure pears. To every 2 c. of pears use 1 to 1 1/2 c. sugar and 1 c. water. Boil the syrup ten minutes, vigorously. Add pears a few at a time. Cook until pieces become transparent. Remove the fruit from the syrup. Cook the syrup until it reaches the consistency of honey. If desired, slices of pineapple may be added to the syrup twenty-five minutes before removing from the fire. Plump the pears by pouring the syrup over them, and allowing them to stand over night. Pack cold the next morning. Cover with syrup. Remove air bubbles. Process fifteen minutes.

Watermelon Rind Preserves
Cut 1 pound of rind in one-inch squares. Remove peel and pink part; soak overnight in lime water made by using 2 tsp. lime (calcium oxide) to 2 qts. water. Next morning drain, allow to stand in cold water for 2 hours. Drain, drop in boiling water, cook very rapidly for 10 minutes. Drain again, and add gradually to the syrup (made by boiling together 3 c. sugar and 2 c. water). Add to this the juice of one-half lemon and three extra slices of lemon. Cook until the mellow is tender and transparent. Allow to stand until cold, arrange the pieces attractively in the jars garnish with slices of lemon, cover with the syrup, process and seal.

Plum Preserves
Pick the plums with a coarse needle. Allow 2 c. sugar to 2 c.

fruit and a cup of water to each 2 c. sugar. Let boil, and skim, add the plums a few at a time, letting them boil gently about twenty minutes. Remove the fruit to jars with a skimmer and let the syrup boil until it gives the test for jelly. Fill the jars 5-6 full of plums, finish filling with the syrup, and seal.

To Keep Weevils Out of Dried Peas
Fill a bottle with carbon disulphide, loosen the cork, and place in the top of the bin where peas are kept. Fumes will escape around cork. These fumes are not poisonous. Peas should be kept this way until used.
Sincerely yours,
LOUCIE ALLGOOD.

Hoover Ignores Pleas For Beer As Relief Agent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (UP)—New pleas for beer and wine as a depression relief measure are regarded by President Hoover as ill-timed proposals which have no chance of being put into effect.

Efforts to legalize wines and beer have received new impetus because of the depression. It is argued they would bring in millions of dollars in taxes at a time when the federal treasury is facing a huge deficit. It is stated that manufacturing and marketing of these products would give employment to thousands, stimulate numerous lines of business furnishing supplies, equipment and transportation, and provide an outlet for surplus grain and grapes.

The campaign was started over Labor Day by a group of labor leaders headed by Matthew V. Peck, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor and Rep. James M. Beck, Penn. Pa. The labor committee declared insurrection has the strength to throw Volsteadism through the mud. Prohibition this winter. A bill modification would bring in $200,000,000 in taxes annually.

President Hoover has met with silence all such argument which has been directed at the White House in steadily growing volume for some months.

In accordance with his established policy, there is no expectation that he will break this silence with any public statement unless the agitation should gain considerably more momentum.

Some of the president's intimate advisors are being reported as privately sympathetic to the beer and wine proposal.

Mr. Hoover, despite rumors which circulate every time that he is about to declare prohibition.

Mr. Hoover's personal view is understood, is that the argument of the beer proponents is illogical and does not meet realities.

Don't forget the big pep rally at the high school tonight at 7:30. There will be speeches, yells, and songs galore. If you are interested in a successful season be out there tonight and let it be known by your presence. The Steers deserve and need all the support they can get.

Gladd to see our friend Tiny Reed back in town. Judging from his appearance, a mere shadow of his former self, he has had a hard summer. He may be bragging but he claims to have really picked up some valuable information this summer in the University of Colorado. He will be seen ambulating up and down the sidewalks each and every time the Steers go into action.

Chicken Barbecue To Be Sold By Methodist Women At City Park

A benefit chicken barbecue will be given by the W.M.S. of the First Methodist Church at the City Park Tuesday evening.

The tickets are very reasonable but they must be ordered by Monday since they can not be sold at the City Park and the women will barbecue only enough chickens for the number ordered.

Mrs. V. H. Flewetten, chairman of the Ticket Sale, announces that the meal will consist of a half of a barbecued chicken, potato salad, iced tea, toast and pickles.

BODY OF MIDLAND WOMAN SENT TO MILLSPAP

A Texas and Pacific train Tuesday night bore the crushed body of Mrs. Marion F. Peters, 22, Midland, to Millspap for burial. Mrs. Peters was killed Monday night when a truck overturned shortly before she was to have been given a surprise present in token of work she had done with a B.Y.P.U. unit and other young peoples organizations.

Ray Coleman, 21, suffering from a fractured skull when the truck bearing B. Y.P.U. plunkers overturned, was reported slightly improved late Wednesday. Rudie Lee Lowe, with her pelvis bone broken in seven places and suffering from loss of blood, was in critical condition. Other members of the party of 25 were only slightly injured. The accident was said to have occurred when watermelons shifted the weight on the truck bed as the wheels slid into sand.

Mrs. Peters was caught under the body of the vehicle. She regained consciousness twice before death.

household, I find that lack of understanding and cooperation between husband and wife is responsible mainly for unhappiness in the home. One tells me that her husband cannot see any reason why she should have a definite sum each month for the expense of the home, herself and children; another that her husband refuses to budget personal and household expenses; another that she never knows what becomes of her husband's salary each month—all relating to the same point of contention—money. For this reason, the home economist expert declares, many women are leaving their homes to seek employment that will give them, at least, definite remuneration.

"A man would not expect one of his employees to work for him without any agreement as to salary," Mrs. Dougan says further; "no more should he expect his wife to carry on the huge and heavy task of caring for his home and children without some definite and stable basis of management."

The family budget is one of the means which Mrs. Dougan has found will go far toward producing a smoothly running household. It is possible for every family to adopt the budget system, she believes, and will explain many of the phases of this method of management in her daily cooking school lectures.
