NEWPORT, Ark., April 12.—(UP)—Six separate communities, Alicia, Swifton, Parkin, Lorado, Guion and Wynne have yielded a toll of 57 dead and scores injured as rescue workers penetrated Northeastern Arkansas today in the path of the tornado which Wednesday night swept a 50-mile semicircle path of destruction through five counties.

Whole towns destroyed. Property damage has reached well up into the millions. Whole towns have been destroyed. Red Cross workers are giving aid to those left homeless, and the governor is sending further aid to those of the stricken area.

VICTIMS BURIED. LITTLE ROCK, April 12.—(AP)—The group funerals for victims of the tornado which Wednesday swept sections of North Arkansas, taking a toll of life which stood at fifty today, were to be held this afternoon at Guion and Swifton, two villages which bore the brunt of the storm.

Council Asks That Refuse Be Properly Disposed of Here

Former El Paso Deputy Visits Here This Week

The visit of S. "Sarge" Braden, familiar rodeo clothing representative of the Hicks-Hayward company, and known to old timers of the Southwest as "Brigham Young," to Midland this week revises stories told on the man, long a picturesque member of those who have helped make history in the section over the past decade.

Braden, for a time deputy sheriff of El Paso county, never quite gave up the earmarks of that office. His star he always carried, whether in El Paso, Mexico, or in other counties of Texas. He carried no gun, and made only one arrest—that of a person who was "assiduously beating up on his wife," according to the deputy.

The nearest the man ever came to getting into warfare was when Pancho Villa and his followers had a pitched battle in Juarez in 1900. Braden was on the roof of the Del Norte hotel with Ranger Captain Tom Hicks at the time.

Young Cowboy To Ride Bull Buffalo Here

A young boy, James Kennedy, will attempt to ride a buffalo Sunday when a rodeo and ball game will be staged at the fair grounds. Kennedy's father is a friend of H. A. Johnson, the promoter of the rodeo, years ago when each man was a cowboy in Arizona.

Cowboys of the county say that young Kennedy can ride with the best of the punchers, despite his age. The boy is described as a wonderful rider.

A special invitation has been issued to local ranchers to be present at the rodeo. If there are wild horses on their ranches, the promoter would like to use the animals in the bronc riding, he says.

Truck Driver Is In Advantageous Position at Fight

W. B. Waugh, truck driver who plies between El Paso and the Midland area, has a curiosity complex somewhat more developed than the majority of Southwestern inhabitants despite the fact that the tradition of the section had to do with gun fighting and a rough life in general.

Waugh was in El Paso at the time of the fighting in Juarez between federals and rebels. Attracted by the sound of firing, he went down to the river's edge on the American side and watched unperturbedly the action on the Mexican side.

Bullets rained about him but he remained in his place. "About the only excitement came when a sudden shift came in the fighting and a detachment of rebels took possession of a salient and began pouring in a cross fire that found me too closely in line with the intended victims to be comfortable.

COMMISSIONS TO STUDY MOVE

Organization To Be Complete; Clubs Give Support

In a sweeping movement which is to be conducted by the city council, civic bodies and the women's federated clubs, National Clean-Up Week, scheduled to include the dates April 21-27, inclusive, will attempt to completely carry out a program of community cleanliness and betterment.

The announcement was made at the city hall this morning following issuance of a proclamation by the mayor, who feels that this is a movement by which individuals, regardless of creed, race, prejudices or politics can unqualifiedly get behind their community.

Announcements Pending. Complete arrangements as to how the movement is to be prosecuted have not been announced, but indications point to a following out of the methods employed last year, when the women's federated clubs got behind the movement, elected a chairman, zoned the town, and, with the aid of individuals and boy scouts did a most commendable work.

CLEANING UP MIDLAND
City officials and civic organizations of Midland are preparing to stage a clean up campaign which is designed to rid the city entirely of rubbish, filth and unsightly objects.

Midland is much better from a sanitary standpoint now than it was a few years ago. Careful work on the part of officials has resulted in cleaning up and keeping clean the alleys and streets in the business section; and with the building of new homes over the city, property owners are taking greater pride in attractive appearance around their premises.

With the good work which has been done in recent months, Midland people now have an opportunity to put the city on the map for cleanliness and beauty as well as for sanitation.

Let each citizen enter into the clean up program with the desire to make Midland the cleanest town in West Texas.

DEATH UNDER THE WHEELS
Unless the motorists of the country are very careful, the toll of traffic accidents can be expected to rise sharply during the coming month.

The arrival of warm weather brings a much greater number of cars on the highway than the winter months have seen. The increased congestion, naturally, renders the possibility of accidents greater, and puts on each driver an added responsibility for care and caution.

In addition, many cars did not get the care during the winter that they get in the summer. A number of drivers will be using cars that need mechanical adjustments or repairs—in brakes, steering knuckles, and so on—in order to make them really safe. This, of course, adds to the hazards of driving.

Every motorist should see to it that his car is in good working order, and should bear in mind that conditions are more hazardous now than they have been during the last few months. In this way the "spring rush" of traffic can be robbed of its terrors.

THE NECESSARY EVIL
Taxes are a necessary evil. We must have courts, roads, armies, schools, and all those things which are a part of society.

It has often been said that the taxpayer has no complaint; that for his tax dollar he gets a generous return, but no matter how true this may be, it is no reason for protesting against inefficiency and waste.

Modern business is remarkable chiefly because, through sounder economic practices and greater efficiency, it has been able to give more for less money. Government has failed to keep step.

Our local units of government, especially, grow more and more expensive to maintain. Their slightest act entails a duplication of effort and waste motion and unnecessary expense. And the taxpayer pays.

Only public protest and public action can raise the standards of government to a high state of efficiency and economy. There is too little sound business in modern government.

TRANSPORTATION AND PROGRESS
Mass production has been the foundation for mass production, declared A. G. Pack, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, in a recent discussion of the railroads' place in industrial development.

The ability to transport great quantities for vast distances, bringing hitherto inaccessible locations within comparatively easy reach of the centers of consumption has resulted in expansion of agriculture, stock raising, mining, lumbering, etc., which in turn created a new demand for manufactured articles and for labor.

It has made it possible for people in general to indulge their desires for better things, not only because they could be obtained at a lower cost and with less outlay in distribution, but also because the greater industrial activities have increased their earning power to the point where they are able to purchase more freely.

Mass production, as we understand the term today, and production possibilities with the ability of the people to buy and consume, will largely determine the growth of business. As transportation facilities improved and made it possible to exchange commodities profitably, a demand grew up for inventive genius to devise machines that could produce articles in quantity and at reduced cost, and for new articles that it was anticipated the public might absorb.

Our position as the industrial leader of the world could not have been attained had it not been for safe, efficient, prompt and rapid transportation furnished by the railroads.

EVERY MEMBER OF COMPANY MUSICIAN

The Musical Laynes Vaudeville company, opening today at the Grand theatre for a two-day engagement, presents a complete company of musicians. Every member of the cast either plays some instrument or sings. Not only recognized as musicians, but in addition to the swift moving melody of musical refrains, appears one of the most versatile juvenile performers appearing on the stages of Texas theatres, according to recommendations in behalf of little Mary Layne. She is called the child wonder by some, and an accomplished acrobatic dancer and singer by all, according to the Grand theatre management, who has known the members of the company for a number of years.

her theatrical tours. Thus her career was to be assured, and her school work not to be neglected. Although a child, she is the star of the show, and her work can be measured by local patrons when she appears as the central figure of the accomplished musical aggregation making up the vaudeville company appearing at the Grand theatre today and Saturday. The show is said to open with a reveille of music and continue through a medley of music, song and dance to a finale of extravagant harmony and song. It is recommended as one of the most genuinely high class attraction ever brought to Midland.

Reporter-Telegram Blanks

Being new at this column writing business, we hesitate to form opinions too quickly, but it sounds reasonable that if we start it off with a good joke the readers may follow on through.

A prominent citizen entered a newspaper office and said: "Look here, I want to see you about this paragraph announcing my resignation from the Chamber of Commerce." The editor said: "But it's quite true, isn't it?" To which the caller replied: "Quite. But I should like you to explain why you've printed it under 'Public Improvements'."

Seven stitches had to be taken in a new golf ball Thursday afternoon when the writer of this column engaged in mortal combat at the local country club with the manager of a certain printing company.

Speaking of the golf course at the Country club, have you seen it since the recent rains, and since the green grass has been mowed to an even length? If every lawn in Midland had such a well kept appearance, Midland would be a beautiful city.

Up at Amarillo, the new mayor is making war on bootleggers. Erasmus Tack, the Tactless Texan, in the Amarillo Globe-News, reports receipt of the following letter:

"I see where you state that there has been an exodus of the bootleggers. I can testify to the truth of bootleggers who left Amarillo last night in a truck. They started for El Paso for another load. "A REGULAR SUBSCRIBER."

Midland's city officials are instituting a clean-up campaign. This clean-up is planned to take in not only the homes and yards, but also the vacant lots of the city. For a long time, the writer did not say much about vacant lots which had grown up in weeds and bushes, but now that one certain tract on Lorraine street has been plowed, leveled and scraped, this column is ready to make war on unsightly vacant lots.

Police Commissioner Russell of Chicago advises people to avoid walking in dark streets by night. But we thought all the robbers in Chicago slept nights after such busy days.

DOUG AS DARTAGNAN TALKS TO AUDIENCE

Douglas Fairbanks as the valiant D'Artagnan will open the story of "The Iron Mask," which comes to the Grand theatre on Sunday by stepping from a huge tapestry representing The Three Musketeers and speak the prelude to this story of the undying love and valor of the brave guardsmen in whose hands rested the safety of a kingdom. This spoken prelude will vividly and dramatically present the theme of the story as well as introduce an entirely new and perhaps revolutionary method in sound films. The complete film will be presented with sound and orchestral synchronization as well as the spoken interludes in which the various important characters voice their intents and motives.

More than Hundred Attend Last Class At School Today

More than one hundred Midland home executives attended the last session of the cooking school, under the direction of Mrs. Luella Fisher, who has been here for the past week. The West Texas Gas company has been the sponsor of these classes.

Today the time was used in the explanation and demonstration of cake baking and broiling. Several delightful recipes were given by the hostess and much interest was manifested by her audience in these recipes. An added feature was the parfait made by Mrs. Boydston and passed to the women. It was frozen in the gas fired refrigerator.

The entire equipment was again explained by Mrs. Fisher which included the gas stoves, gas fired refrigerator, gas water heater and the gas laundry dryer.

It was most interesting to hear Mrs. Fisher explain the mechanism of the gas fired ice box which she says is the greatest boon to civil sanitation and pride.

She says: "Since we women are so fortunate to have been selected as manager of a great enterprise and become a partner in a most important corporation, the home, we should set ourselves to studying the fundamentals of home engineering. The successful business man is the one with the mental and material equipment which is kept at par with the female partner, who furnishes adequate and proper fuel to the human machinery of her family. We all know that an automobile requires a certain weight of oil and very careful attention in order to keep it in running condition. So it is with the human body. Our food is fuel to our body machinery and improper food will cause the delicate and intricate part to break down. It is, therefore, important that the housewife select her daily menu with utmost care with the prime thought of building the body and not pleasing the appetite."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By WALTON HINES Heart of Lesson: 2 Chron. 30:1-9, 25-27.

Golden Text: "The Lord, Your God Is Gracious and Merciful." 2 Chron. 30:9.

Last week we spoke of the death of Uzziah and the inauguration of Jotham as king of Judah. Isaiah was prophesying as to the fate of the nation because it had forsaken God. Following Jotham came Ahaz, one of the most wicked of all the rulers of the Jews. He plunged the nation into a wild orgy of wickedness, vice and shame. He led the people away from Jehovah and into worship of paganistic gods. He despoiled the temple built by David and Solomon to pay an Assyrian monarch for aiding him in treacherous acts toward his allies.

It was in a time like this that his son Hezekiah came to the throne. The young king had seen Ahaz sacrifice his brothers and sisters on the altars of pagan gods. He witnessed the debauchery of life in the court of his father, and his heart was turned toward the God of Abraham and of Isaac.

Hezekiah saw that destruction was imminent if he did not do something to arrest the sinful condition of the country. His idea of reform was well-planned and laid out. He invited the co-operation of Isaiah the prophet, of the statesmen, and of the princes and took counsel with them and gained not only their approbation, but received what ideas they could give that would improve the program of revival.

The temple was made clean and suitable for worship before his intentions were made known to the people. The king was a very thorough man, and because preparations could not be completed before the second month of the year he set that month in which to invite the people to his religious revival.

Then he sent out his proclamation to the people, inviting them to the passover. It was to serve as a means of getting the people together for the past few weeks. He is much better and expects to remain in Midland now.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan R. Gannon are visitors in Midland from Dallas today.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Skinner were in from their ranch yesterday and today.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Graves left this morning for Lubbock after spending several days in Midland in interest of the cooking school, sponsored by the West Texas Gas company. Mrs. Graves being home service chairman of the West Texas Gas company.

Mrs. J. W. Green and son of Odessa are in Midland today.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dunn of Andrews are shopping in Midland today.

er and turning them toward God. No stronger appeal could have been held out to the people than this, for the feast of the passover was a celebration of the event of God's sparing their first born and destroying the first born of the Egyptian families while they were in bondage.

The royal proclamation invited every one in Judah and Israel, from Dan to Bersheeba, to attend. No one was to be excluded; the differences of the northern and southern kingdom had been forgotten when the Assyrians carried off captive most all the people of Israel. The proclamation was persuasive. "Ye Children of Israel, turn again unto the Lord God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel, and he will return unto the remnant of you that are escaped out of the hands of the Kings of Assyria." "Not be ye yet stiffnecked, as your fathers were, but yield yourselves unto the Lord and enter into his sanctuary—and serve the Lord your God, that the fierceness of his wrath may turn away from you." The proclamation was assuring. "For if you turn again unto the Lord, your brethren and your children will find compassion before them that lead them captive, so that they shall come again into this land; for the Lord your God is gracious and merciful, and will not turn away his face from you, if ye return unto Him."

Some of the people laughed at this proclamation; some of them mocked, but there were many who came in humble obedience, and it was a great revival. In the passover all were equal, and there was a unity of purpose among them. The requirements of God's law were fulfilled by placing Levites in all the offices of the priesthood. Prayers were offered up, and God answered them. The people were so happy because of their new conversion that the feast was extended to double the period of time first intended.

They went back home rejoicing and with joy in their hearts. Their altars and false gods were destroyed. The religion of God had remade them, and transformed the society of a nation in a fortnight.

A king had become an evangelist. His greatest proclamation was not social, not political, but religious. He realized that righteousness exalteth a nation.

There is no substitute for righteousness in the life of a nation. The United States is trying prosperity, peace, power, and national contentment, but according to the Bible and the records concerning nations of the past they are only poor makeshifts for the real thing. Should the nations of the earth use the money toward spreading Christianity both at home and abroad that they use building up armies and navies, I believe that peace, happiness and prosperity would be more wide-spread.

The president of the United States holds the most powerful position of any man on earth, and when he does call a nation the size of ours to prayer and thanksgiving, the Lord must surely be pleased. "When nations bow to one God, and become sharers in the spiritual kingdom of God, then they will be of one heart."

COULDN'T LEAVE THE HOUSE FOR SIX MONTHS

"I had just about given up hope of ever being well again when I heard about Sargon. It is just wonderful what it has done for me."

MRS. J. W. MANESS

"I was in a dreadfully rundown condition as a result of stomach trouble. I became so weak I was confined to the house for six months and four months was on a milk diet. I suffered terribly with gas and a cramping pain. Awful sick headaches forced me to bed for hours at a time. I lost weight and strength and my color was unhealthy. I was so nervous that life was a misery. I simply couldn't sleep well.

"After the first few doses of Sargon my appetite returned and I eat anything I want. I don't suffer with gas or cramping pains anymore, nor do I have those dreadful headaches. My nervousness is entirely gone and I sleep just fine. Doing the housework now seems just like play, compared to what it used to be. I'm rid of constipation, my color is good and I've gained six pounds.

"Sargon did more for me in a few weeks than all the other medicines and treatments put together did in years." The above statement was made recently by Mrs. J. W. Maness, 1510 Pearson St., Houston, Texas. Sargon may be obtained in Midland from Midland Drug Store. (adv.)

CLASSES HEAR NOTED LECTURER

Biology, chemistry, physics and home economics classes attended several interesting and instructive lectures given by Mrs. Fisher in Chemistry laboratory Tuesday and Wednesday. Mrs. Fisher, a demonstrator for a gas company, showed the uses of gas in relation to heating, cooking, and refrigeration. She impressed on the minds of her listeners the relative importance of oxygen as an aid to gas. She demonstrated a new automatic cut-off for water heaters, devices for controlling heat in ovens, and also the use of gas heating in a new type of refrigeration. Her lectures were very interesting, according to those who heard them. She is demonstrating the many uses of gas this week at the Masonic Temple.

SENIORS TO GIVE PLAY

"Just Out of College," a high class comedy, is the play which has been selected to be presented by the Senior class in the near future. Mrs. Bishop, director of the play, has wired for copies of the play, and these are expected to be here soon, so that practice can be started immediately.

The characters, twenty-six in all, will be assigned their parts at an early date.

I KNOW IT

Dear Diary:

Evelyn Garlington is either very popular, or fickle, one. It seems as though she and Frank Midkiff must have up a terrible case. Jewel is never seen in the big Buick any more and I heard she found some of Evelyn's gloves in their car. Cupid shoots his bows too fast. I can't keep up with all the new "crushes."

I wonder how C. W. and Annie Laurie will look together. I think, sweet, well, I bet they go together soon, any way. Tuesday I saw him giving Annie one of those "long moon-calf stares" and he even moved in a seat nearer her.

Janelle and Archie have a terrible time trying to get along. They seem to be on the outs again. I would love to know who the third person is this time.

Well, it looks as if Dick and Ida Beth have finally been drawn nearer. Everyone has been holding his breath waiting for them to "get acquainted."

John Southworth has certainly made a big sensation in school and has even made some of the girls believe they were real young again and they put on socks, but they are cute and if mother doesn't object I believe I'll buy some, too. His clothes seem to be effective.

Mead and his little one are almost as bad as Archie and Janelle. They don't seem to be so very happy lately. No one seems to be speaking to anyone else lately in the halls. Well, any way, there will be better order.

It seems the dances are getting fewer all the time. I guess the nights are too pretty to stay inside. If you do have a dance the boys stand outside and gaze at the sky. And we poor girls have to dance with each other.

Elma always seems happy but her thrilling moments are short and far between. K. E. came to see her last week; so naturally she has been very easy to get along with this week.

Midland Has Representative in National Oratorical Contest

Lucille McMullan will represent Midland in the National Oratorical Contest. The district contest will be held in San Angelo April 20. It will be interesting to the students and teachers who heard Miss McMullan's declamation in chapel Wednesday morning to know that she composed her own declamation.

Midland High appreciates the ability of Miss McMullan, congratulates her on her entrance in the contest, and wishes her the best of luck.

WHO'S WHO

Last week a question was asked in the Diary which is evidently very easy to answer. If you remember, the question was something like this: "The 'Son' of high school is often heard yelling 'Heavy!' Who is this over large person?" Well, you know that some nicknames never fit a person, but this one has been given to Helen Hodges, who of all people, does not deserve it. But it does seem rather appropriate for some reason or other, so let it stand.

Helen is one of those "bubbling-with-joy" seniors. No class is complete without her all-round good humor and bright, shining face. Helen has a Chevrolet which is used as a delivery truck for carrying students to and from town and to and from home. No one ever sees it without several dozen students packed on the inside. But watch your step!

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

The H. E. club met last Tuesday afternoon and decided to give a pantomime in chapel Tuesday, April 16. The theme will concern a bachelor, who, tired of washing dishes, advertises for a housekeeper. A number of girls come in and try their skill. From these he chooses one. Everyone is invited to come. Admission will be 10c and 25c.

The local contest of the clothing department will be the latter part of the week. The winners will be sent to the State-Wide Girls' Clothing Contest at Dallas, May 2-4.

"THE NOCTURNAL ORGANIST"

By Sally Belle Jones

PART II

At first, horror struck the mind of the drowsing girl and her Spanish romantically-turned mind wandered to every imaginable shape stealing through the hallway from the organ. A sensation filled her that she had never felt before. She was by no means cowardly, but her imaginative mind led her to see things that a common practical mind would not. She thought perhaps it was the spirit of her mother or the spirit of one of the grand old musicians of her mother's family returning to touch the notes of the beautiful organ.

She listened intently, straining every nerve for the least audible sound, step or note. In vain she listened, for there was no other sound to be heard in the old mansion but the ticking of the large clock at the foot of the steps—ticking away the small hours of the night and each tick was like the beat of an anvil on the girl's ears. Finally, exhausted, she sank into deep slumber.

The morning dawned upon the old mansion with the early, Southern California sun turning all the windows red, for a few minutes, seemed to shake the gloom that hung from the large old trees over the house.

Dolores dressed; clean and fresh, she hurried down to breakfast with her father and Dick, Jr. She went by the upper end of the lower hall, casting a swift glance at the organ. She observed how much prouder and stouter it looked as a thousand sunbeams danced about it.

The usual good mornings were exchanged as the family sat down to the breakfast. Mr. Elegante remarked, "Why, Dolores, are you ill?"

"Not a bit, father."

"Just staying up so late," he replied. "It must stop. You look as though you haven't slept."

"She didn't get in on time," interrupted Dick, Jr. "I know when she came in. It was about—"

"Dick, do be quiet. You irritate me. Father, I wish you would see that Dick, Jr.'s tennis court is set up again today so that he will have something to do," said Dolores as she left the table.

"She's afraid that I'll get in on her affairs," blurted Dick again.

"Son," replied Mr. Elegante, somewhat gravely, "you must not say such things to your sister. She may not be well."

"Well!" Sarcastically.

The beautiful day faded away into evening, and John was making his usual evening call on Dolores. She was seated in the hammock in the beautiful garden surrounding the Elegante mansion.

Her other companion, Tabby, her little Persian kitten, was sleeping, nodding and blinking at turns in her lap.

"I must see your father before I go," said John in his manly and most polite way, which always thrilled Dolores, but his sudden statement caused her face to turn some shades deeper than usual, just as the sky was getting a shade deeper and more beautiful. He kissed her hand and took leave of her.

"Mr. Elegante," he said in his fine, clear voice, "I am terribly worried about Dolores. She is excessively nervous and looks almost ill. Is there anything I might know that is troubling her?"

"Not a thing, I am sure," replied Elegante. "Just needs a rest, that's all."

"Aw, she's just jumpy because she thinks I might be listening in somewhere, that's all," croaked Dick, Jr., making his usual entrance at the wrong time.

The conversation being thus interrupted, the men made each other good-bye, and John went down the little walk, walled on each side by huge rose bushes, to his car.

The World's Quality Oil made still better!

Leading lubrication specialists improve the quality of Mobiloil to meet today's demand for a superior lubricating oil

Today's high-speed driving conditions place a new burden upon lubrication. Your engine requires a better oil, especially adapted to these conditions.

This need is now met with the New Mobiloil, superior to anything produced before. At 35c a quart, you will find this Mobiloil the most economical oil you ever used.

MAKE THIS TEST

Drive to the nearest Mobiloil dealer... have him drain all the old oil from your crankcase and... fill it up with the correct grade of the New Mobiloil. You know from experience how your engine ran the last time fresh oil was put in the crankcase... Now--notice the difference!

Look for these results--

Increased Oil Mileage: Often 100 extra miles per quart from the New Mobiloil.

Increased Gasoline Mileage: Many tests show gasoline consumption reduced as much as 16%.

Faster Pick-Up—More Power: Quicker get-away, more "pep" on the road, less labor on the hills.

Smoother Operation: A quieter motor, a velvety smoothness of acceleration, less vibration when speeding.

new Mobiloil 35c a quart

The dealer who sells a quart of the New Mobiloil for less than 35c (except Mobiloil "EP" the chatterproof oil for Model T Fords at 30c) is not making his fair reasonable profit. Lower prices often accompany substitution.

VACUUM OIL COMPANY
Specialists in the manufacture of high-grade lubricating oils for all types of machinery.

Contributors to this issue are: Lillian Dunaway, Elma Collins, Ruth Wolcott, Ernest McKinney, Sally Belle Jones, Rita (Merle) Young, Bush Elkin, Jewell Dillard, and Laura Helen Sowell. Typists were Ernest McKinney and Bennie Sue Ratliff.

SH-H-H! IT'S COMING!

Shrieks and screams, murders and mysteries of the audible sort will be here at the Ritz Theatre Sunday and Monday in the form of an all-talking Vitaphone picture "The Terror." Anyone doubting the statement that the picture will cause one's hair to stand on end need only to ask Mr. Shiflett, who will vouch for the truth. It is hoped that Ovel Ellen Clarice, Helen and others of nervous temperament will not be incited to any barbarous shrieking when they see the picture.

"THE COLLEGE MURDER CASE"

Miss Kerl and Her Right-Hand Men Unearth a Mystery in the Old Midland College Building. A True Experience.

"The monotony of life was broken recently," says Miss Helen Kerl, in giving a report of her most thrilling experience, "when I visited the old Midland College building in company with four of my reporters. Last Tuesday afternoon, I went to the building in search of old magazines from which I might glean stories of modern authors which were studying. I did not go prepared for any thrilling experiences, but I had them—and how!"

When the intruders entered the old dilapidated building, a most disagreeable odor permeated their nostrils. "Dead cow," advised the smallest of her reporters. Through the dusty halls and classrooms of the building they wandered, until suddenly, a loud crash reverberated through the building, and Miss Kerl was headed in the other direction. The crash echoed throughout the gloomy hall, and everyone was terrified until C— (wouldn't you like to know who it was?) showed his face and announced that he had let out one of the doors slam. Everyone was put at ease, until C—, E—, and B— decided they wanted to climb to the top of the building via the fire escape. Miss Kerl and L— were terrified at the thought of being left alone in the huge, gloomy classroom, but everything was all right when E— and B— came back down, and C— had to come down another way: from the top of the building, climbing down the rafters inside the attic, and through the eaved-in ceiling. When he was safely down, with a torn shirt the only damage, Miss Kerl regained her composure.

Suddenly, a shriek was heard from L—, who had wandered ahead of the party. The others rushed to her aid, and here they uncovered the mystery, one that no one else had ever thought could happen in the building. Cautiously, stealthily, the group approached the dim, ghastly room. Over the ransom, a faded, yellow curtain flapped in the breeze, which made the mystery all the more intriguing. Each time the curtain flapped out, a corpse could be seen dangling from the ceiling of the dim, ghastly room. Drawing out her only weapon, a pair of scissors, L— approached the room in company with B—, who had the key to the room. When the door was unlocked, the group, with all their strength, forced open the door against the strong wind that was blowing. Immediately, a sandstorm resulted in the dusty hall. And then—a terrible sight met their eyes.

A poor, mutilated figure was seen tangled in the curtains and cobwebs. Murmurs of pity were emitted from Miss Kerl's and L—'s lips when they saw that the poor little

REAL BATTLE FOR LOOP LEADERSHIP IN S. W. BEGINS TODAY

Aggies Do Not Fear Outcome of Game With Longhorns

BATTLE LOOMS IN STEER-AGGIE CLASH

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., April 12.—Coach Bob Countryman's Texas Aggie baseball nine will go on its first road trip of the season Friday when it will journey to Austin to open a two game series there Friday afternoon with Uncle Billy Disch's Texas Longhorn charges, favorites of a majority of critics for Southwest Conference honors again this year.

The games this week will be the first of the season between the Aggies and Longhorns and will be the second series of conference games by Coach Countryman's nine. The Longhorns will be entering their fourth conference series of the year. Both the Aggies and the Steers have met and defeated the Rice Owls twice and the Longhorns are also credited with victories over T. C. U. Horned Frogs and the S. M. U. Mustangs.

Split With Cubs
Thus far in the season the Aggies have lost but one game, that to the Waco Cubs of the Texas League, on whom they turned the tables in the second game of the series. In their only other game with a Texas league team, the Aggies battled the Houston Buffs to an 11 inning tie. The Longhorns' only defeat has come at the hands of the New York Yankees and the New York Giants in exhibition games early this year.

Beat Notre Dame
The showing made by Coach Countryman's team in stopping the triumphant march of the Notre Dame Ramblers last week has made Aggie prospects much brighter for the season and this game and others previously played brought to light pitching strength that was unexpected to most Aggie supporters. In Mills, Kasprovic and Wendt, Countryman has three twirlers who have shown much ability on the mound and with Gorman and Rechenberg, who have worked only in relief roles so far this season, also in

County Agent's Column

BELIEVES IN TERRACING
H. A. Jesse has about finished terracing 450 acres on his farm. About 200 acres of this land was terraced and listed before our March rains came. When these rains fell each lister furrow caught its own water and held it until every drop soaked into the ground. At first Mr. Jesse had planned to terrace only a part of this field as an experiment, but after seeing so much water saved from the first rain, he decided to terrace the whole farm. Mr. Jesse is now thoroughly sold on the terracing idea.

MORE RAVEN POISON
Midland county farmers and ranchmen have been keeping the county agent pretty busy making raven poison. We will make some more in the morning. Lots of good is being done by those who are using this poison. Keep the good work going.

AGGIE STOCK HIGH AS OWLS WINK AT TRACK CHANCES

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., April 12.—Fresh from victory over the Texas Longhorns, one of the first defeats handed the Steers by the Aggies at Austin in several years, Coach Frank Anderson's Texas Aggie track and field team will go to Houston Saturday for a dual meet that afternoon with the Rice Owls, track champions of the Southwest last year.

Saturday's meet will probably go a long way toward determining the favored team for the conference meet at Dallas at the close of the season, for with the Aggies overwhelming victory over the Longhorns, the Owls and Aggies now remain the outstanding favorites of a majority of scribblers for conference honors this season. Last year, however, the Aggies defeated the Owls in a dual meet at College Station, and the Owls carried away the conference title, the Aggies coming in third place and finishing below the Longhorns with whom they had divided a pair of dual meets. The Aggies will enter the meet this week-end handicapped in the broad and high jumps, for Tommie Mills, crack jumper of the team, will be in Austin with Coach Countryman's nine and it is possible that Farmer, who dropped out with a strained leg muscle after jumping one time at Austin, will not be in shape to work. However, with Holsonbake in the high jumps, Mills' absence will not be felt so keenly in that event.

Except for the absence of Mills, Coach Anderson's team will enter the meet with the Owls in equally as good shape as it was against the Longhorns. Captain Dan O'Neil indicated at Austin that he had regained his former good form and with Badger now back in harness the only man on the sick list is Bob Graham, sprinter, fast recovering from a pulled muscle. It may be that Graham will not be ready for competition before the conference meet.

Speaker Depicts Evils Resulting From Wrongdoing

Excerpts from the Thursday night lecture of Mrs. Jennie Miller Sharples, national secretary of the Purity League, show why the audience was impressed with the logic of her message.

Mrs. Sharples speaks from close observation of conditions around the greatest cities of the country and has a first class knowledge of police records on crime, and reveals in a frank manner the fruits of her experience.

"Weighed in the Balance" is the next subject to be considered by the evangelist. The woman addresses men of the city Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m. in the district court room.

Excerpts from last night's speech follow:
Impurity is a contagious disease of the soul that robs and slays and spares no one.

Purity is strength, health, power, and character. Prevention is the best cure of any evil. With the sacredness of God's wondrous plan well in mind, we teach purity, as Christ taught it, to all ages and all ways in a pure way.

Whatever part of our lives, whatsoever sphere of activity is not vitalized by the Christ and baptized with His redemptive purpose, belongs to the waste of the universe. To be consumed in the quenchless flame of God's own purity.

Our conviction is, therefore:
1. That the Great Physician has diagnosed the case correctly when He locates the social evil in the moral nature.

2. That it is folly to busy ourselves with the stream without purifying the spring.

3. That every crusade of action must be preceded by a crusade of education and agitation and that we can not expect a victory with a short time program and a few spasmodic efforts.

4. That it is the divinest work to lead safely through the perils of childhood and youth into a clean and strong maturity.

5. That sin being the root and cause of impurity, salvation from sin alone will work a real cure of the evil.

By Bob Cantrell

AUSTIN, Texas, April 12.—Crippled, but still winning, the Steers will begin their fight for the loop leadership when the Aggies invade Austin for a two-game series this Friday and Saturday. Texas and A & M are the only undefeated clubs in the loop at present, as "Buster" Walker, T. C. U. pitching ace, got right against the Bears Tuesday afternoon and sent them scotching down to a 3-2 defeat.

When the Steers line up against Bob Countryman's club, they will more than likely present the same team that swamped the Ponies in both games of their series here Monday and Tuesday. Five Texas regulars were out of the Pony series, and the prospects are that these five men will still be out when the Aggie games get under way. "Ducky" Rhoads is out for the season, and "Tex" Hughes' ankle was a good deal worse than was thought at first and may keep him out of the line-up. Bill Ford has recovered from his attack of ptomaine poisoning, but it is doubtful if he will be in the A & M series, as he is still pretty weak, and Disch doesn't want him in the fray before he is entirely well. "Doc" Leach is still at his home in Thornton with his father who is seriously ill. Oscar Peoples, sensational rookie right-hander, turned up with a bad case of tonsillitis Tuesday and will likely be out of the affairs.

Steers Hit by Injuries
When injuries hit the Longhorns, Uncle Billy shoved his rookies into the line-up and the boys have been performing with perfection in all their clashes. The work of Carl Basset, Van Lamm, and Bob Carr in the outfield was one of the outstanding features in the S. M. U. series. This trio swings from the left side of the plate, and they showered the right field with base hits, while Basset clapped his hitting with a drive over the right field wall in the second S. M. U. game. The work of White and Word, rookie infielders, was good enough to merit attention. "Doc" Leach will have a tough time of breaking into the line-up when he returns. Word started both games at second and handled himself well, but two bobbles in the second game caused his downfall, and White was sent into the game to play shortstop, while Captain Hopkins was moved back to second base.

Aggies Are "Big Berthas"
The Aggies are bringing one of the heaviest hitting clubs that has faced the Steers this season, and the Dischmen will have to hustle to come through with a pair of wins. Johnnie Ralston, Mike De La Fuente and Lefty Browning will find themselves faced with a difficult task in stopping the Cadets. Brooks Conover, Tom Mills, "Frog" Pompeil, and Byron Lackey have been leading the Aggies at the bat, pounding out extra base blows with impunity of professional hurlers as well as collegiate moundsmen.

Dads and Mothers Attend
The second game of the series will be thrown open to the Dads and the Mothers of the University of Texas students who are in Austin that day for the regular Dads' and Mothers' Day program.

A double win over the Aggies would leave Texas sitting high, wide and handsome, as they would be sitting alone on the top rung of the conference ladder with wins to their credit over every club in the loop save Baylor, who is expected to give them their biggest amount of trouble this season.
