$25,000,000 IN BILLS PRESENTED TO LEGISLATURE THIS MORNING

OIL TAX IS MEASURE OF NOTE HERE

Taxation Subject of Special Session, Moody Says

AUSTIN, April 29.—(UP)—Bills totaling $25,000,000 to the state's income were introduced in the legislature today, immediately after the Governor had submitted taxation as the subject for the special session.

Representative Cox offered a bill raising the gross production tax on oil from two to three per cent.

Mauritz offered an income tax bill, a gasoline tax bill, calling for four cents a gallon, and a bill taxing intangible assets of pipe lines, electric railways, terminal companies, telegraph, telephone and motor bus companies.

Many Bills Up

Other bills introduced included groups of court procedure bills by Representatives Prendergast, Jenkins, and Sinks.

Another bill would require children under 15 to attend school seven months out of the year.

A bill to elect county superintendents for four years, three prison concentration bills, and one regulating paroles of prisoners were offered.

TERRY ELKIN BUYS VALUABLE WEST END BLOCK

Purchase of an entire block of choice real estate in the West End addition was made today by Terry Elkin, one of the owners of the M System stores, from W. C. Baker, of Anson. Mr. Baker was here in person to close the deal, returning to his home at noon today.

The property is in block 30 and is unimproved. It is one of the last complete blocks of land in the new thickly settled portion of West End, and Mr. Elkin is to be congratulated on securing these valuable lots. He has not yet announced his plans for improvement.

What's "13" To a City Like Midland?

Thirteen has its bugaboos for the superstitious, but that number makes no difference to the publicity department of the Chamber of Commerce. One big state daily yesterday had 13 Midland stories. However, the jinx may have been broken by the fact that the paper also carried a picture. Four of the stories were on oil and four on farming and ranching.

Calf Rides in Car As Driver's Masochist

Something new in the way of masochists was seen this morning on Midland business streets when a small Jersey calf passed in an automobile. The animal evidently took the place of a dog with the driver of the car, as it from time to time climbed over into the front seat and lay there with all the nonchalance in the world.

When the car stopped at a street intersection several men went over to satisfy themselves that the calf was not tied in; but the animal was as friendly with them as a pup, licking their hands in much the same fashion and showing no sign of fear.

CLEAN-UP WEEK OVER CLEAN-UP YEAR BEGINS IN MIDLAND

The week part of clean-up week has ended, but the clean-up hasn't, city officials declared Monday. Officials expressed great appreciation for those citizens who are co-operating in making Midland a clean city, declaring most citizens were showing a fine spirit. "The people realize that they are not cleaning up their yards just to please us, but they are cleaning up their premises and co-operating in keeping the streets clean, because they are doing it for themselves and their city," a councilman said.

However, a few forgetful persons are still violating the city ordinances, the records show. Saturday circulars were distributed on the streets and placed in cars despite laws against such distribution.

This law was not passed as a mere whim; it was passed in the best interest of the city to keep the city clean, and it is to be obeyed, the authorities said. Movement of the city to keep the streets free from paper and refuse is said to meet the hearty approval of all thinking people.

Another violation coming to the attention of officers is failure of owners of vacant lots to clear them. It is pointed out that failure to clear lots, not only makes the town look ugly, but actually constitutes hazards to health and could become fire hazards. City officials say these vacant lots must be cleared of brush and rubbish.

GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN TROPHIES TO BE RECEIVED BY LEGION POST

Shipment of an assortment of captured German and Austrian war trophies allotted to Midland and the local American Legion post as a result of what was described as a "fine showing made in membership and other worthy Legion activity in the War Trophy contest held last year, will be made by freight within the next few days, a letter from Ross R. Cole, adjutant to the American Legion to the Chamber of Commerce said.

The governor of Texas and his war trophy committee, and the department commander of last year, Walton D. Hood, joins with the present commander, Rufus F. Scott, Jr., and his headquarters staff in complimenting Midland, the letter stated, on having a Legion post that stood among the first 140 posts in Texas in this contest.

"It is the desire of the Legion to state officials that the general public be allowed full privileges of viewing these trophies at all times. It must be understood that they are not distributed to the individual membership of the Legion, but belong to citizenship and are placed in the care of the American Legion for safe-keeping," Cole went on to say.

The adjutant stated that army cleaning methods should be employed in keeping the trophies in the right condition and that a dedication service should be held, at which the public would be invited.

SOLO STUDENT SHOWS "AIR WHOOPEE" TO NEWSPAPERMAN SUNDAY

The old song of the Shakespearean witches at their medicine making on the health underwent a modern parody yesterday that would have made the wrinkled hags of the Avon days pucker up their brows and wonder at the efficacy of their own nostrums.

"When shall we three three meet again?" sang the aviator. "—in thunder, lightning or in rain?— Anyway, hold my coat for me, will you? And give me one last cigarette.—I may not need another."

This last assertion was addressed to his wife just before he and a newspaper man on the staff of The Reporter-Telegram took the ether for a brief session of air "whoopie."

A running story of the circumstances would sound like this: "Monocoupe" Byrne, Big Spring distributor of the ship from which comes his appellation, and a student of flying under T. J. Richards, young pilot who is well known to all Midland and southwestern flying enthusiasts, and just had his solo flight. He naturally felt an appropriate "cockiness" in having come down from aloft with all his members, and those of his ship, intact.

Accordingly, it was with some dampening of spirit that came over him when he asked several persons if they would fly with him as his first passenger. All were positive in their refusal. They had seen him "jazz the field" they told him, and didn't care to set the scribes in the Big Spring newspaper office to untimely writing of obituaries.

So Byrne came up to tell the newspaperman from Midland all of his troubles. The look that came

DECISION MADE AT MEETING

Two Hundred People Asked to Give To Fund

Charity work in Midland is to be revived in a scientific, orderly manner through the dispensation of funds to be raised by committees from the chamber of commerce, clubs and churches, it was announced this morning after a meeting of the welfare committee of the chamber of commerce.

A drive is to be made asking 200 people to give $1 each for each month until Nov. 6. It is felt that the fund the money necessary to relieving conditions that are said to exist here among the poor.

Clubs Will Aid

County Judge M. R. Hill was made chairman of the committee in charge of distributing the funds. Each check drawn against the fund will be signed by him and by W. Edward Lee, administrator of the United Charities fund.

A late report said that the Rotary and Lions clubs and church women would hand out the cards. Those who would like to aid in this commendable cause are asked to get in touch with the chamber of commerce for more information, or with the committeemen. No one will be asked for more than $1; more will gladly be accepted.

Hill To Investigate

Each expenditure of money will be made only after personal investigation has been made by Judge Hill, the committee decided. In this way guarding against "misplaced" charity is done.

The meeting this morning was called by Chairman W. I. Pratt. The following members of the welfare committee of the chamber of commerce were present: Homer W. Rowe, Mrs. Andrew Faskin, Judge M. R. Hill, R. D. Scruggs, and Mrs. John Haley.

NEW YORK, April 29.—(P)—A steel train and a wooden one, jammed with between 2,000 and 3,000 workers, collided on an elevated structure just above the Yankee Stadium today, killing four and injuring two score, half of them seriously.

Fire and panic followed the crash, and for more than an hour police and firemen fought with men and women trampling each other in a wild scramble to safety.

The accident, a rear end collision, occurred at the 167th street station where subway trains emerge from their underground tunnels and run on the same overhead tracks as the elevated railroad trains.

Those killed outright were J. Cullen, motorman, William Schultz, 17, and an unidentified passenger. Michael McClain, 34, died in the hospital today. About half of the injured were hurt in the scramble to get out of the train.

'NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK' TO BE OBSERVED BY MIDLAND GROUPS

Observance of National Music week, beginning next Sunday and continuing until May 11, is to be emphasized in Midland by several clubs offering musical programs for local music lovers.
Governor Dan Moody lately made a proclamation to the people of Texas in every city, town and village to observe National Music week. Many mayors of cities in Texas and other states have also proclaimed that this date be observed.
Local committees from clubs are requesting that social affairs be suspended in order that every one who desires to attend these programs be allowed to do so. Four programs will be presented, the first being on Tuesday evening by the Midland Players, who present a one-act play, 'Cajun,' at the high school auditorium and repeating this play on Thursday night. On Wednesday the Watson School of Music will give a musical program at the Baptist church at 4 o'clock. Friday afternoon at 3:30 the Fine Arts Club will present local artists in the program in the Crystal room of Hotel Scharbauer. At the churches during next Sunday the ministers will speak on music and also the choirs will do their part in observing this occasion.
In co-operation with the efforts of the Midland clubs the following information is given:
'An increase in the degree of music-making on the part of our people is expected as the result of a special idea which is being stressed in preparation for the Sixth National Music week, on May 5-11. The keynote of that observation is to be active participants in music in addition to listening to it. 'Hear Music—Make Music—Enjoy Music' is a suggestion to the public made by the National Music week committee in connection with the coming celebration. To that statement of man's triple relation to music the committee adds this special injunction regarding participation. 'Make Music for Music Makes Happiness.'
Dora Wall, May Beth and Kathryn Seruggs; Messrs. Earl Nelson, Preston Bridgewater, Elmer Peshek and Dr. D. K. Patliff.
H. J. Phillips has returned to his home from the Thomas hospital after a operation there last week.

MIDLAND LOOKS BETTER

Clean Up Week has passed, but its results are clearly visible and the example which was set during these few days should be a factor in keeping Midland up to its present standard of cleanliness.

The majority of the Midland yards have been carefully cleaned, eliminating weeds, trash and filth; landscape gardening is well under way, and the residential sections of the city are becoming more and more attractive.

It is believed that out of clean-up week will grow a year round clean up campaign, and that Midland people will take pride in keeping clean yards, alleys and premises permanently.

THE COMEDY AT GENEVA

By Bruce Catton

The meetings of the disarmament commission in Geneva reported daily in all the papers at greater or less length, would be highly amusing if there were not such a grim, tragic overtone to them.

We have the spectacle, you see, of delegates from the great nations of Europe spending day after day and week after week trying to find some way to reduce their armaments, when all the while none of them really intends to do anything of the kind.

If you don't believe it, look at what happens whenever someone proposes a plan that would abolish red tape and delays and provide for a real reduction in national armies, navies and air forces.

The Russians, for instance, proposed the other day that every nation, without further ado, cut its armaments in half.

Now the motives of the Soviet delegates, quite possibly, are open to suspicion. But that suggestion for a forthright 50 per cent reduction would seem, on the face of it, to be quite reasonable. It would leave the relative positions of all nations the same; those that now have pre-eminence would still have it; and those that are outclassed by their rivals would be no worse off than before. And there would be real reductions.

And yet, in the face of all that, nobody needs to be told that the Russian suggestion will be allowed to die of malnutrition in the very near future.

The whole spectacle almost makes one suspect that the delegates are trying, not so much to reduce armaments, as to find ways and means of escaping doing it.

That would be quite funny, considering the intense gravity, not to say pomposity, that attends their activities, if it were not for the tragic background to the whole thing.

The very fact that the disarmament sessions are being held at all shows that every government on earth knows that its people want no more war. There are in the world too many millions of families that were thinned by the last war, too many millions of men who served in that war and are determined that such things shall not happen again.

These people, having eyes, see that the stage is being set for a new holocaust. They are striving, frantically, to avert it. The only way that occurs to them is to cut down the sizes of armies and navies. Hence every government is under pressure. Hence the disarmament sessions at Geneva, where the old game of international politics and intrigue has been complicated by the announcement of the plain people that they don't want to play it any more.

The spectacle would be rather funny—if it were not that many, many lives may be lost if no solution is found.

THE ARMY IS READY

Try to imagine the emotions in the breasts of the U. S. army men now stationed along the Mexican border—and then ask yourself what would happen if the Mexican rebels should again drop bombs on American territory.

The soldier's life, in peace time, is a bit dull. The endless round of drill, guard mount, fatigue duty and the like gets irksome, at best. Now, however, the brawny youngsters of the regular cavalry and infantry are being held in readiness for combat; and it has been announced that they will move on the rebels bodily if any more bombs fall north of the international border.

The soldiers, you can bet your last dollar, are just aching to have some misguided rebel aviator overstep that line. An unexpected flight, even if it lasted only half a day, would look like a Godsend to them.

THE LUCKLESS UMPIRE

The opening of the new baseball season brings up for study one of the most interesting of American phenomena—the almost religious fervor with which the average citizen, seated in a baseball grandstand, will hurl vocal abuse at the umpires.

Everybody knows that the umpires are earnest, conscientious men, chosen because they are able and honest. Everybody knows that they can see what happens on the field far better than the man in the stands. Why, then should they be the targets for so much criticism?

The psychologist, perhaps, could explain it easily. He would suggest, we believe, that the average man is under too much repression. At home, at the shop or office, in his automobile—everywhere, he is compelled to hold his tongue and refrain from 'talking back'—whether it be to his wife, his boss, or the traffic cop.

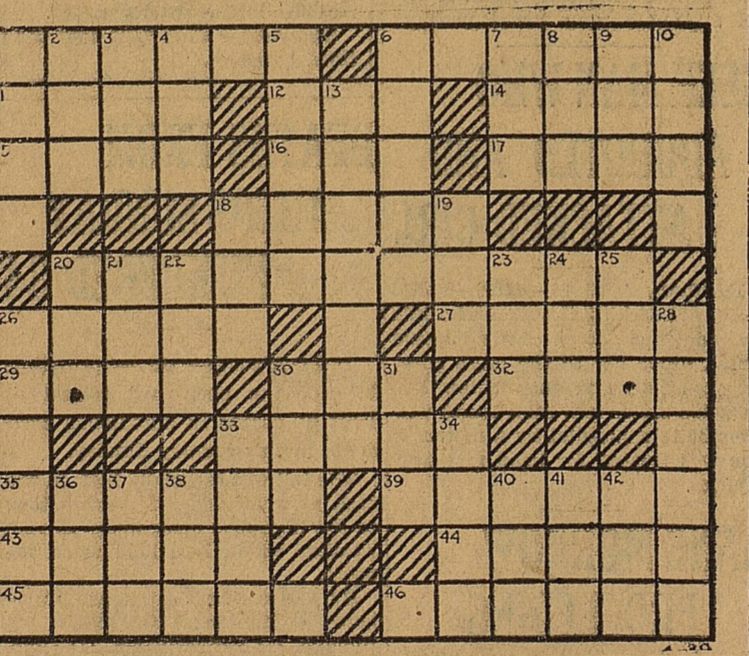

At the ball park these repressions vanish. He can take it all out on the umpire. The accumulated soreness of a week or more can be relieved by the simple process of yelling, 'Kill the big bum.'

This may be hard on umpires, but it is probably very good for the average man's soul.

whistling in a steep bank rather close to the ground is a sensation any time, but with the novice it is well, crowded with mixed emotions.

"Watch me give T. J. a scare," Byrne said. "We'll let him think we are trying to land too fast and steep." And, rearing his motor to where the needle kicked over past 2,000, he forwarded the stick and shot down like a bullet at a steep angle that would barely give him clearance of the high tension wires on the highway, straight at the field where the anxious young instructor

(or who appeared by his waving that he was on needles) stood watching, straight at the assemblage of parked automobiles. Just when it seemed that the ship must touch where the needle kicked over past 2,000, he forwarded the stick and shot down like a bullet at a steep angle that would barely give him clearance of the high tension wires on the highway, straight at the field where the anxious young instructor royo poked hills, the air was filled with varying temperatures and we fell into pockets and rough going. But the Velle on the nose kept pounding out its rhythmic song, and Byrne's hand on the stick was light.

To the southwest of the port, the most beautiful scene ever to have stretched before the eyes of the newspaperman rolled out like a panorama. Planted fields, greening meadows, broken and ranchland took on angular form--like a vast checkerboard. At 1000 feet furrows could be picked out with ease. Higher than that they lost their identity in a dun mass that had run through it a sort of woven texture, more like mercerized threads.

Oh yes, the song was changed-- and Byrne was the young fellow along the air's "tin pan alley" who was singing it. He was now convinced that he would be able to smoke other cigarettes, could wear his coat again. After getting by with what he had done, he felt an awakening of confidence, the lack of which had prevented him from spinning down earlier in the afternoon.

TEXON BEATS COLTS IN NINTH; CONLEY HITS TWO HOMERS

TEAM BEING CUT TO 18 MEN THIS AFTERNOON; 8 PITCHERS REMAIN

Yesterday's ninth inning upset, when Texon administered a genuine spanking and took the game 9-6, showed Skipper Seagrist a thing or two about his men, and he will cut the squad down to 18 this afternoon, he told a reporter at noon today.

Seagrist gave the following names for those who survive the first cut: Infielders—Shires, Storey, McKinney, Ritz, Smith, Flynn and Seagrist; Outfielders—Dave Cheeves, Elmo Johnson, and George Manley.

Stagner is ill and in bed today; he may not be able to report for practice for more than a week.

Eight Pitchers Hanging

Eight pitchers have been kept. Ward, Wright, Davis, Jones, Andrews, Dansforth, Milton and McCann will have to go through further elimination process before the final cut, by which there will be three class pitchers and two rookies on the regular roster.

"The next fifteen days will tell more about the outcome," Seagrist said. "Men who show up are the ones we want—not necessarily those who have records."

The manager said that the team is showing up "pretty good."

Rally Beats Club

Yesterday's game was taken away from the Colts in the first of the ninth. Confusion resulted from a mile-high fly off the bat of Conley, manager of the Colts the latter part of last season, which fell behind third base near the foul line, and before the battering had ceased the score had been tied and two other runs chased across to banish Midland's chance.

Incidentally, Midland's former manager shows that he can still ping pong the ball. He belted two for the circuit during the course of a busy afternoon.

Opener at Big Spring

Midland will probably have no more exhibition games before the league opener in Big Spring on Wednesday. Two games will be played there in as many days, after which there are to be three games in Midland with the same aggregation, then a sixth game with them in their own park. The first six days with Big Spring should either give the Midland ship a definite course toward a chance at the first half, or should leave it marooned with the calms just long enough to make the boys get in there and hustle in an attempt to make up for lost time.

At any rate, Seagrist's words may be more prophetic than they first sounded. "The first fifteen days will tell something more about it."

A JOINT RESOLUTION

proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas providing for a Supreme Court of nine members, and for continuous session of that Court.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 2 and 3 of Article 5 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to hereafter read as follows:

"Article 5. Section 2. Supreme Court shall consist of a Chief Justice and eight Associate Justices, any five of whom shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of five shall be necessary to a decision of a case; in other matters, until otherwise provided by Law, the jurisdiction of the Court shall be exercised under such regulations and orders as the Court by a majority vote may prescribe. No person shall be eligible to the office of Chief Justice or Associate Justice of the Supreme Court unless he be at the time of his election, a citizen of the United States and of this State and unless he shall have attained the age of thirty years, and shall have been a practicing lawyer or a judge of a court, or such lawyer and judge together at least seven years. Said Chief Justice and Associate Justices shall be elected by the qualified voters of the State at a general election, and until their successors are elected and qualified, and shall receive such compensation as may be provided by law. In case of a vacancy in the office of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the Governor shall fill the vacancy until the next general election for State officers, and at such general election the vacancy for the unexpired term shall be filled by election by the qualified voters of the State. The Judges of the Supreme Court who may be in office at the time this amendment takes effect shall continue in office until the expiration of their term of office under the present Constitution, and until their successors are elected and qualified. When this amendment takes effect, the Governor shall immediately appoint six additional Associate Justices of the Supreme Court for terms of office so that the terms of two of such appointed Associate Justices shall expire with the term of office of each of the present members of the Supreme Court, and upon the qualification of such new Justices, the Commission of Appeals of the State of Texas shall terminate."

"Article V. Section 3. The Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction only except as herein specified, which shall be co-extensive with the limits of the State. Its appellate jurisdiction shall ex-

Jolson In "Singing Fool" Gets Crowd

The first appearance of Al Jolson in his talkie, "The Singing Fool," at the Ritz theatre yesterday was attended by numbers of people from Odessa, McCamey, Big Spring and other nearby towns, according to the registration book at the theatre.

In "The Singing Fool," Jolson was first seen as a carefree singing waiter in a New York cabaret, but eventually there comes to him the weight of sorrow that changed his entire life. Little Davey Lee playing the Sonny Boy was undoubtedly Al's best character supporter. Jolson's singing of popular ballads was also an important factor of the entertainment.

This being the second performance of Jolson in Midland, he had already firmly established himself with local people, but after appearing in this production he has won the highest favor of everyone who attended.

Greta Garbo Has Glamorous Role

Greta Garbo, who is undoubtedly one of the most fascinating personalities ever to appear on the silver screen, has a part that should delight her fan following and win her thousands of new admirers in "Wild Orchids," new M-G-M film with synchronized score and sound effects, now showing at the Grand theatre.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer evidently had a happy inspiration in commissioning John Colton to write an original story for Miss Garbo. Colton, author of "The Shanghai Gesture" and co-author of "Rain," two of the biggest hits in theatrical history, selected the island of Java, off the Malay Peninsula, as the locale for his plot, which is replete with action, thrills, love, suspense and picturesque glamour.

Until otherwise provided by law, the appellate jurisdiction of the Supreme Court shall extend to questions of law arising in the cases in the Courts of Civil Appeals in which the Judges of any Court of Civil Appeals may disagree or where the several Courts of Civil Appeals may hold differently on the same question of law, or where a Statute of the State is held void, and shall extend to such other questions as may be within the Court's Appellate Jurisdiction under the Statutes of the State in force when this amendment takes effect. The Supreme Court and the Justices thereof shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus, as may be prescribed by Law, and under such regulations as may be prescribed by Law, the said Court and the Justices thereof may issue the writs of mandamus, procedendo, certiorari and such other writs, as may be necessary to enforce its jurisdiction. The Legislature may confer original jurisdiction on the Supreme Court to issue writs of quo warrants and mandamus in such cases as may be specified, except as against the Governor of the State.

The Supreme Court shall have power, upon affidavit or otherwise as by the Court may be determined, to ascertain such matters of fact as may be necessary to the proper exercise of its jurisdiction. The Supreme Court shall be open at all times and shall sit at the State Capitol for the transaction of business at such times as may be designated by the Court.

a Clerk, who shall give bond in such manner as the Supreme Court shall appoint; and he may hereafter be required by law, and he may hold his office for four years and shall be subject to removal by said Court for good cause entered of record on the Minutes of said Court who shall receive such compensation as the Legislature may provide.

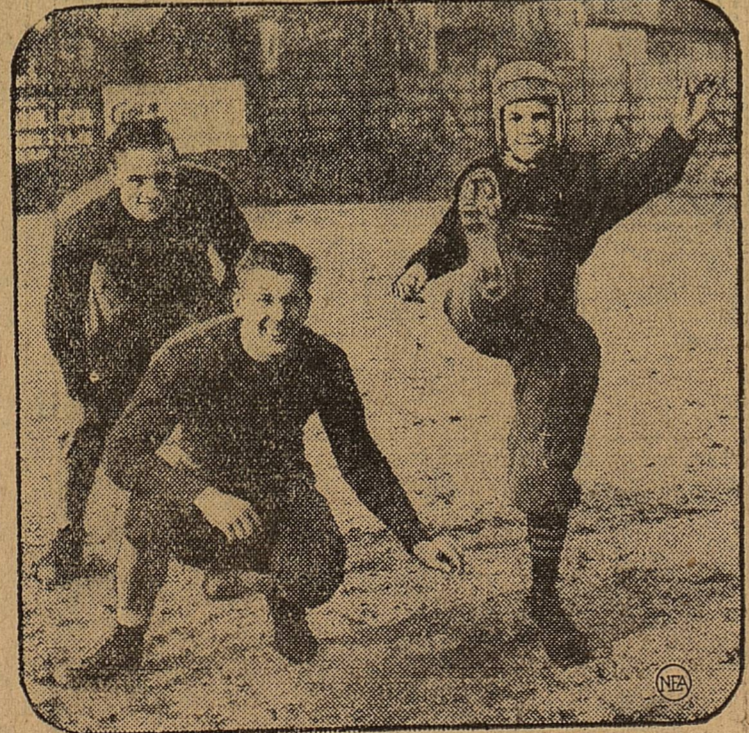

Sec. 2. Said proposed Constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at a special election to be held throughout the State on Tuesday, July 16, 1929, at which election each voter opposes, said proposed amendment shall scratch off of the ballot with a pen or pencil the following words printed on said ballot: "For the amendment to the State Constitution providing for a Supreme Court of nine

These Sun Baths O. K. In Omaha-In Private

Omaha, Nebraska, received a shock the other day when several members of the weaker sex tried taking these "all-over" sun baths. The order went out that so long as the girls took the baths in private it was all right, but no such bathing would be allowed at the bathing beaches this summer.

Jackie Coogan Gets Workout

When Jackie Coogan visited Milwaukee recently, for a vaudeville engagement, nothing would do but what he would work out with the Marquette football squad in spring training. The boy Hollywood star surprised the players by showing them he knew what was demanded of a football player. He is shown here, making a kick. Ken Radick, Marquette tackle, is shown at the left. If it appears from the returns of said election that a majority of the votes cast are in favor of said amendment, the same shall become a part of the State Constitution.

Sec. 3. The Governor shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election and have the same published and said election held as provided by the Constitution and Laws of this State.

Sec. 4. The sum of Five Thousand ($5,000.00) Dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby appropriated out of the State Treasury to pay for the expenses of said publication and election.

SECOND GUESSING ON SPORTS

By BRIAN BELL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Chicago Offensive
Before the current major league season is opened, the Chicago Cubs were rated as the most powerful offensive club in baseball, not excluding the New York Yankees.

Joe McCarthy's young men are living up to their reputation. They lost no time in starting in to slaughter opposing pitchers. Sometimes a club is rated strong at bat and its leading hitters fail. But the Cubs of 1929 have so many powerful hitters that when one falls down another steps up and knocks the ball out of the lot.

Charley Grimm, for instance, was not counted among the leading sluggers of this new "Murderers' Row" of the majors, but he opened up with a home run attack which had the opposing team hurlers bewildered. "Hack" Wilson, who had to step down a peg and bat fifth when the Cubs acquired Rogers Hornsby, made good his promise to do even better in his new position in the batting order by hitting .500 during the opening series. "Kiki" Cuyler, and Riggs Stephenson were not far behind, and even Hornsby, with everything stacked against him, came through like the real ball player that he is.

If the Cubs can keep it up they will take a lot of stopping, despite the speed of the New York Giants and the new life injected into the St. Louis Cardinals by the success of "Chick" Hafey.

"Chick," after being practically written out of baseball because of sinus trouble and other handicaps, took to spectacles this season and busted right out with a series of home runs which kept the Cardinals on easy street during the opening week of the National League pennant race.

The Kentucky Derby

Now that racing is in Kentucky, attention of the turf world is turning towards the forthcoming Derby at Churchill Downs.

While not comparable to the Epsom Derby, the Louisville classic probably outranks all other American races in the matter of public interest. It is true that the Cofroth Handicap, the Futurity, the Belmont and other races offer richer purses. Doubtless horsemen will tell you that they are far better tests of thoroughbred horses. Still, there is something about the Kentucky Derby which makes it stand alone in the estimate of race fans.

Blue Larkspur is a favorite this year, and the Bradley stable, which has sent winners to the barrier in the past, believes the colt can win. Clyde Van Dusen is another outstanding contender, and so is Roguish Eye.

E. B. McLean, who never has won a Kentucky Derby, but whose horses have finished in the money for the past two years, has four candidates this spring, chief among them a black colt by Colin out of Black Flag named Neddie.

Reign County's Shoes

Mention of the Kentucky Derby recalls the hard luck which Reign Count, winner of the 1928 race at Churchill Downs, has been having in England. Reign Count failed badly in his first two starts. Then they decided he needed new shoes.

This takes us back to the troubles of Papyrus, an Epsom Derby winner, which came here to race Zev at Belmont Park and was beaten ten lengths. They said at the time that Papyrus needed different shoes. The fact is that a thoroughbred seldom does its best on foreign soil.

Envoy to Resign

Henry P. Fletcher, above, will resign as American ambassador to Italy as soon as President Hoover has appointed a successor, according to reports from Rome. Twenty-seven years a diplomat, he was mentioned for the post of secretary of state in the Hoover cabinet. Now he has been suggested as a possible senatorial candidate in Pennsylvania.

One Leg, No Arms
