Important Day at Rotary Convention

DALLAS, Texas, May 30.—Election of international officers and decision on a dozen or more important resolutions made the Rotary convention session today one of the busiest of the week. In between these activities were short addresses on topics related to the successful operation of a Rotary club and the responsibility of a Rotarian business or professional man for maintaining a high ethical plane in his own business and his own trade or craft association. How this latter problem is viewed by the business men of Europe was the subject of an address.

FREEMAN'S BOND IN TWO CHARGES SET AT $2,500

D. W. Freeman, remanded to jail without bond in Abilene Wednesday on a charge of murder, refuses to make a statement of any sort, and Judge M. S. Long has ordered the 42nd district court grand jury to convene at 9 o'clock Saturday morning to consider the case.

Freeman is being held in connection with the death of Warren Hudson, 21, who died following a collision on the highway near Tye early Monday morning. He is charged with running his truck into a motorcycle upon which were mounted Hudson and his young wife.

Bond has been set in two of three charges, driving while intoxicated and failure to stop and render aid, bond being $2,500 in each case. Bond for the third charge, murder, has not been set by Justice of the Peace P. B. Ford.

T. A. Richardson, about 25, related to Freeman through marriage, will be held as a material witness. It was due to his testimony that Freeman, who has a junk yard here, was arrested. Richardson outlined to Sheriff Audley Francis of Midland county the trip to Abilene, telling of a "few drinks along the road" taken by Freeman, but none by himself.

Post Leaves for Chicago To Visit Majestic Factory

C. W. Post, manager of the firm of Texas Music Co., Majestic radio dealers in this city, will leave Friday for Dallas to join a party of 150 Texas Majestic dealers, salesmen and service men who are starting from that point Saturday afternoon for a visit to the great Majestic factories in Chicago and to attend the National Radio Show.

While in Chicago, the dealers will be the guests of Grigsby-Grunow Co., manufacturers of the Majestic, at the Stevens Hotel, the entire 24th floor having been reserved for them.

This is the first time any wholesale distributor has ever made it possible for retain radio dealers to study the actual production of the receivers which they sell. It is felt that the trip will prove beneficial not only to the dealers but also to future owners of Majestic sets, who will be enabled to make their purchases from men who are radio technicians as well as salesmen.

The dealers will make a thorough study of the various departments of the Majestic factories and will have the privilege of discussing their problems and getting information from the nationally known radio engineers who supervise Majestic manufacture.

The 150 Texans, while in Chicago, will be the guests of honor at a party to be given by the Majestic manufacturers at the Majestic Night Club in the Tower Ballroom of the Stevens Hotel, and will also be entertained at luncheon by the company.

Time to see the sights of the city will be given these radio dealers before their special train leaves Wednesday evening, June 5th, for the trip back to Texas.

Village Grateful; Has Boys Stand on Their Heads

LEIGHTON BUZZARD, Eng., May 30.—(UP)—This town has a queer name but even queerer is its manner of expressing gratitude. Figuratively speaking, the town of Leighton Buzzard stands on its head to say "Thank You."

In the days of Charles I, a wealthy London merchant, Edward Wilkes, left several parcels of land to Leighton Buzzard, the income from which was to be devoted to charity. He stipulated in his will that the ceremony of "beating the bounds," in which the parish officials go over the chief boundaries tapping them with a long willow stick on Ascension Day, should be concluded with a public entertainment.

For years Leighton observed this stipulation and then suddenly decided it would be nice to honor the memory of Sir George by having a boy stand on his head on each parcel of land during the beating of the bounds.

This has gone on for generations, and each year, months before the ceremony there is a strong competition among the boys of the village to be elected the official "head-stander."

While the parish official reads the clause of his will dealing with each parcel of land on which they are standing, the boy remains in a feet-up position on the parcel. This custom has shown no signs of dying out.

MEMORIAL Submitted by Woods W. Lynch Post No. 19, American Legion of Midland, Texas

"Again our nation has assembled to honor its heroic dead. A thousand battles on land and sea echo the glory of their valiant deeds. Under the quiet sod, or beneath the murmuring waves, their bodies sleep in peace. But in the destinies of men, their souls go marching on. Because of them our lives are free. Because of them our nation lives. Because of them the whole world is blest.

"When we recall the things they did, the hero hosts seem mighty in our midst. When peril threatened and their country called, with what divine self sacrifice they left their paths of peace to spring to arms, to make their breasts a barricade against the nation's foes. No sorrow for the loved ones left behind could dim the purpose in their souls. No weariness or march and watch could keep them from their heart's desire. No horror of the field or trench, of gas or bomb, could beat their courage down.

"They fought for us; for us they fell. Now with one accord, in deepest reverence, we do them honor. Let us not remember them in anguish; they would not wish our pity. For their sakes also let us not forget the loved ones left behind. Our tears or words of sympathy cannot bring back the comfort of those loving hands or the music of those voices stilled. Only the solemn pride of having given more than all the rest is theirs who live to weep. But all the world, because of what they gave, is debtor to them.

"Comrades, on this Memorial Day, let us pledge ourselves anew to patriotic service. Let us make ourselves the friend and brother, son and father, of those who shall not see their own again in mortal flesh. Let us grasp with fearless hands the flag so nobly borne before, and, like those others, plant it always on the battlements of righteousness.

"All who stand with us today, will you not consecrate yourselves with us to emulate their sacred service that those who rest in heroic graves may not have died in vain?"

Mrs. J. A. Finlayson favored the Rotarians with a solo and was encored. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Kenneth Ambrose.

Air Ranger Flies Around The State For New Record

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, May 30.—(UP)—No matter how much old time Texas Rangers stretch the stories of their record rides during frontier days, they can never make them compare with that of young Lieut. V. H. Taylor of Kelly Field who recently flew around the state of Texas in one day, covering 2,087 miles.

Lieut. Taylor, himself a former Texas Ranger, sat in the cockpit of a Curtiss pursuit plane for 15 hours and 55 minutes. When he landed at the field near here at night from where he started in the morning he had flown from San Antonio to El Paso, to Fort Sill, Okla., to Galveston, to Laredo, to Brownsville, and back to San Antonio.

The purpose of his flight was to determine the distance coverable in one day in a regular service type plane not specially equipped for the flight. Officers at Kelly Field believe he established a record distance for one-day travel in a service plane not specially prepared for a test flight.

Cameraman Just Catches Ship; He Liked City Well

"Scoop" Miles, Pathe News cameraman who was here with the detachment of bombers, transports, tenders and pursuits of the army Tuesday and Wednesday, liked Midland so well that he almost stayed over when the ships left.

He spent much more time at this occupation than he thought elapsed.

At the field, officers were walking up and down the rows of planes in search of Miles. Just as it was thought advisable to take off, McCormick's car was seen racing toward the port.

The cameraman says he will have his films shown at a local theatre soon.

EUROPE GLAD TO PAY HONOR TO U. S. DEAD

By SAMUEL DASHIELL United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, May 30.—(UP)—The graves of the American hero, dead from the far north of Scotland to the Alpine Vales of Northern Italy, will be decorated today during Memorial Day services which have been the special care of private and official organizations on both sides of the Atlantic.

Today's ceremonies, especially those in the seven great cemeteries dating from the World War will take place for the first time in view of the completed white marble crosses, those permanent tokens which according to their faith comprise the Christian Cross, or the Cross of David over the last resting place of those who gave the supreme sacrifice.

Paris itself will resound to the tramp of American and French troops falling in behind the Stars and Stripes and the Tricolor of France, in picturesque ceremonies which begin at the American Cathedral on the Avenue George V and at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church.

Wreath of Unknown's Tomb — A splendid cortege will march to the Arch of Triumph after the services, where the American Diplomatic Representative will place a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, in the name of the American people, following by placing of a wreath by Dean Beekman representing the American Legion, the Protestant and Catholic Churches and other associations interested in maintaining the soldiers' graves.

Thousands will proceed to the great American cemeteries scattered throughout France, where they will join with many French inhabitants in paying tribute to the graves.

The American Overseas Memorial Day Association, which was founded nine years ago for the decoration of American soldiers' graves in Belgium, France, and England, has undertaken the placing of appropriate wreaths on every grave, and including those of French and British monuments which are adjacent those of Americans.

The week was seasonable in temperatures during the first part of the week, with warmer weather during the last part over the northern portion of the district. Range conditions generally continued to improve, and range and livestock conditions were said to be excellent. The greatest temperature recorded in Midland over the week was 94, lowest 50.

CLASS DAY CROWD GOOD AT HIGH SCHOOL WED.

A good size crowd was present at the class day exercises of the high school Wednesday night. Students on the program were unusually clever, humorous or logical.

The program began with an invocation by the Reverend George F. Brown, Reading, "The Quality of Mercy" and "The Chambered Nautlius" was given in concert by high school students.

"The Angelus" and "Come, Thou Fount" were sung in chorus by the high school.

Ford Schirock gave the class history in a manner that showed him a thorough student.

The girls choral club sang the Spanish "Carmena."

One of the funniest addresses ever made in the high school was heard when Robert Caldwell gave the class prophecy. He had many allusions to the future to convulse the audience.

The boys glee club sang "On the Road to Mandalay." Miss Lura Bess Birdwell, contralto, sang "The Answer."

Miss Bennie Sue Ratliff, girtorian, presented the class with novel little presents suggestive of campus and academic life.

William Blodgett gave the class will. He called it his "Last Will and Testament." This was executed in a style which would stand legal probing in any court.

"The Song of the Viking" was sung by the high school chorus to conclude the program.

At the beginning of the program, a chorus from the Negro school, directed by P. H. Whitte who also played the accompaniment, sang several unusual songs. Harmony was the keynote of this feature.

One chant was highly enjoyed by the audience. The chorus sang "Carolina Moon" and a male quartet of "soprano" voices sang "Dream Train."

AID OF PAPER IS ASKED BY BARKER AND OTHERS

Attention through publication to senate concurrent resolution unanimously adopted by the senate and house has been asked of The Reporter-Telegram by Bob Barker, secretary of the senate.

"We would respectfully ask that you give the provisions of said resolution such publicity as is in keeping with the policy of your publication," the letter containing the request said.

Heretofore, Barker said, there has been a tendency on the part of the qualified voters of the state to give little attention to proposed constitutional amendments, and that two amendments should merit the support of the people.

The state concurrent resolution, No. 13, follows: Whereas, the 41st Legislature of Texas, at its regular session, submitted to a vote of the people a constitutional amendment providing for a Supreme Court to be composed of nine members, instead of the present Supreme Court of three members, assisted by six commissioners, drawing substantially the pay of Supreme Court Judges, but whose work must be reviewed and approved by the Supreme Court; and,

Whereas, the adoption of said Amendment would not materially increase the cost of our Supreme Court, and would largely reduce the injustice resulting from the laws' delay under the present system; and,

Whereas, the said Amendment would also provide that the Supreme Court shall be open for the transaction of business throughout the year, instead of for only nine months, as required by the present provision of the Constitution; and,

Whereas, the 41st Legislature has also submitted to a vote of the people another Constitutional Amendment, providing that the Governor of Texas shall receive a salary of Ten Thousand Dollars per year, and no more, and,

Whereas, the adoption of this Constitutional Amendment is necessary in order to provide a living wage for the Governor of Texas,

THE AMERICAN LEGION'S PROGRAM

The American Legion is winning the support of many good citizens who believed that its stand for adjusted compensation was the primary objective of the veteran's organization. Relief of disabled, Americanism, community betterment and other altruistic Legion enterprises were overlooked by thousands whose opposition to the compensation measure was so great as to forget all other items on the Legion program held of equal importance by the Legionnaires themselves.

With compensation out of the way, the veterans' organization has concentrated its activities on world peace measures, community betterment enterprises, Americanism, and naturalization projects, in addition to its determined stand for relief of disabled fighters and the raising of a national endowment fund to care for the orphans of those who fell in the world conflict.

The American Legion is demonstrating that it proposes to live up to the preamble of its constitution, which states, "For God and Country, we associate ourselves together." To this end the Legion asks Congress to enact a universal service act, drafting the nation's resources of labor, capital and industry, as well as fighting men, in the next war. It is supporting General Pershing's program for an adequate national defense. Through these measures, the Legion believes the possibilities of bloody war will be lessened for the future.

In addition, American veterans are working toward a world peace through an international organization, composed of service men of associated powers.

Better and more efficient service on the part of the United States Veterans' Bureau is sought by the Legion, which stated in its last convention that it would be satisfied with nothing less than "super-service" for the disabled. The Legion obtained the passage of the Reed-Johnson bill which carried benefits for 100,000 veterans and their dependents and codified and liberalized the laws affecting the disabled, a measure called the greatest piece of constructive legislation since the creation of the Veterans' Bureau.

Legion members apparently are vigorous young men looking for work. The nation has many large tasks for them. Let them carry on in the same spirit of the Argonne as the patriotic citizens of the United States will back them to the limit.

A PLEA FOR COURTESY

The approach of warm weather brings us to the verge of a new motor touring season. In a short time the highways will be filled by autos from every town in the Union, each loaded with a happy family and a more or less complete camping outfit and each beginning the kind of vacation that can only be had in the United States and Canada.

In this connection the American Nature Association issues a timely plea—a plea for courtesy and consideration. It urges all motor tourists and campers to give a thought to their neighbors; to put out campfires they build, to clean up their rubbish, to leave forests and fields undisturbed and to respect the rights of others wherever they go.

Most motorists, we feel sure, will heed the warning. The democracy of the open road calls for thoughtfulness on the part of each driver. Most tourists are intelligent enough to realize it.

BARGAINS FOR OCEAN TRAVELERS

The tourist-third cabin scheme installed on Atlantic liners which offers comfortable accommodations to travelers at a very low rate, has proven so popular that the Canadian Pacific steamships have been forced to cut the price of their first class tickets to compete with it.

William Baird, passenger traffic manager of the line, reports that too many well-to-do people are patronizing tourist-third cabin accommodations. Thus people who cannot afford to pay for better quarters are often crowded while those who could easily afford the best on the line are taking inferior accommodations just for the thrill.

Consequently, the Canadian Pacific has slashed ten per cent off the price of its first class tickets. If wealthy travelers are looking for bargains, they'll be accommodated.

Advocates Museum For State Relics

AUSTIN, Tex., May 30.—(UP)—The museum to house state historical exhibits and relics was brought to the attention of the legislature in its first special session by Rep. Grady Woodruff, Decatur, when the House was asked to accept as a gift to the state the service flag of A. & M. College bearing 55 gold stars. Woodruff opposed acceptance of the flag with the statement that all similar schools had an equal right to preserve their standards in the capitol, and that there was no place to drape the emblems. Every organization that desires should be given an opportunity to represent the legislature with their flags," he said. "I believe that there is a need for a museum, not only for these emblems, but also for other trophies which public-spirited citizens may in later years give to the state government. Action on the resolution calling for acceptance of the A. & M. flag, which bears the stars of 2,200 former students in the service of their country during the world war, was deferred until the approaching special session.

JUDGE HAS RECORD

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., May 30.—(UP)—Judge J. C. Hutcheson Jr. established what was believed to be a record here when he assessed 69 sentences on the opening day of the May term of the federal district court. The sentences were meted out between 11 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. Eighty-eight sentences were assessed in an all day session a year ago.

The court disposed of 54 cases within two hours when Judge Hutcheson sentenced violators of the immigration laws to the time they had already spent in jail and turned them over to immigration authorities. All the cases were handled at the same time.

Expect Harmonious Session Legislature

By R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer
AUSTIN, May 30.—(UP)—Need of political weather vane indicates the second called session of the 41st legislature, called to convene June 3, will be the "most harmonious" of either the regular or first extraordinary session.

Speaker W. S. Barron said the legislators are all "pepped up" to put over the appropriation bills, enact measures providing for adequate revenue of the highway department, and do almost any "reasonable thing" Governor Moody asks.

The graciousness of the Governor in permitting the legislators to go to their homes for a two weeks' interim was praised up and down the capitol before the members departed last week.

Should Mr. Moody decide that the prison concentration measure is a "judicious bill" and sign it, his action will have a good effect on the returning lawmakers and add to their peace of mind, observers claim.

Speaker Barron senses the help such action of the governor would be and issued a statement before leaving for his home in Bryan declaring that it is his wish that the chief executive may see his way clear to approve the bill as a "start" towards solution of the worrisome problem of reorganizing the penitentiary system and placing it on a business-like plane.

Friends of the governor assert he will sign the bill if, after digesting its provisions, he can satisfy his own mind that something may come of it.

Under its provisions the governor would appoint a committee of nine citizens to act independently of the Prison Board in making an exhaustive survey of the present properties to determine if any of the present-owned lands are suitable for a central plant of modern construction. Should the committee decide there is a site available it would report to the governor who would direct the prison board to proceed towards consummating the concentration.

However, should the committee decide that present properties are

Ranger Is One Actor Who Uses No Double

"Do dog stars have doubles?" Some do and some don't! Ranger, FBO's canine screen star, who comes to the Grand Theatre here tomorrow in "Fury of the Wild," is one four-footed celebrity who comes under the latter classification.

Although he is one of the oldest stars on the screen, in point of experience, Ranger has yet to use a double in a scene. Strange as it may seem, he actually senses the importance of portraying his own roles and no matter what the scene or how difficult or dangerous it may be, he is there with the same self-assurance that he so nobly depicts in his close-ups.

unit for the central plant, then the lieutenant governor would name three Senators and the Speaker of the House eight members of that branch to act with nine members of the prison board to make another survey, both of the present-owned lands and available sites elsewhere in the state. If they should determine upon a site off the State lands, the legislature would act upon such recommendations either in special or regular session within the discretion of the governor.

Mr. Moody is inclined to the belief that the bill sets up a second committee to do something the first may not agree to do, "thus intensifying disagreement," as he put it in his language.

If the governor does decide to sign the prison bill, accomplishments of the first called session will have been somewhat pretentious. It will have put through at least three major measures that were not disposed of in the regular session.

The Board of Education bill failed in the regular session, but was pulled out of the fire in the closing hours of the special session. It in fact to dispose of it the legislators overlooked amending the caption to conform to some eliminations made in it, but it is believed this will not invalidate the bill. The caption recites that the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall be appointed by the Board of Education, but this section was stricken out at the last minute. It is contended that where the caption recites something that is not in the body of the bill no harm is done, but should the caption not include something directed in the measure then the bill would be invalidated.

Add to prison concentration and the Board of Education, the State Auditor bill and there are three proposals sought by the governor. The state auditor measure even incorporates some of the features of civil service, turned down three times since Governor Moody has been in office.

Not such a bad harvest, after all?

COLTS WIN BEHIND MOORE'S TWIRLING AND MATES' HITTING

Electric Device Times Racers to One 500th of a Second

PORT SIDER LETS BALLINGER DOWN WITH FIVE SCATTERED HITS, AND 11 MEN BOW TO WHIFFS

By CHAS. C. WATSON

The port side offerings of Lefty Pewee Moore proved too much of a puzzle for Ballinger to solve Wednesday and the Colts won the second game of the present series 6 to 3. Eleven men went the strike out route while only five scattered hits were chalked against the young hurler, one of these a home run by Fant in the sixth which scored Ratliff ahead of him. Moore struck out every man on the Ballinger list with the exception of Dockery and Ratliff and neither of these two were able to hit him safely. Ratliff got to the first bag four times, one time on a walk and three times on errors. Dockery reached the first sack once by a free pass. Only eight men ever reached second and five of these died on base.

Cheves and Van Homer
 Dave Cheves and Van Landingham both found the fence for circuit clouts. Van's came in the third inning with no one on while Dave's was administered in the sixth following a single by Big Ed Kallina. Stagner went the entire afternoon with a perfect day at the bat, lashing out three stinging singles in his three trips to the plate. Moore took two hits, one of them to score Williamson.

Big John King, while going hitless for the afternoon, tied into one in the seventh that made Kyle in center stretch his legs to get under far back against the wall. Had the big boy shifted his sights a trifle to the right the ball would have cleared the wall with feet to spare. King, a new addition to the Colt roster on their recent road trip, while outblitting every man on the trip has failed to connect safely once at home.

New Men in Orchard
 Another new face was seen in the lineup when Speck Williamson, for the past month playing in the Arizona State League, trotted out to take his position at the hot corner. Speck is a first class third baseman and many remember instances when he has placed one over that left field barrier at just the wrong time in games with the easterners from Big Spring last year. Just how long Williamson will stay is uncertain. Since the sickness of Kal Segrist the Colt lineup has been shifted considerably and it is not known just what his plans are for the future.

First Inning
 Ballinger-Kittrell fanned. Kyle fanned. Lynch walked and stole second on the next play. Dockery flied to King. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Midland-Van Landingham walked. Flowers singled. Both runners advanced on a wild pitch by Van Frank. King grounded to Lynch. Kallina was safe on a fielder's choice. Van Landingham was out at the plate. Flowers went out trying to steal home. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Second Inning
 Ballinger-Mueller fanned. Ratliff was safe on Crozier's error. Fant fanned. Bales struck out. No runs, no hits, one error.

Midland-Cheves singled. Crozier flied to Kyle. Williamson fanned. Cheves went out stealing. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning
 Ballinger-Van Frank grounded to Kallina. Kittrell grounded to Van Landingham. Kyle lined to Flowers. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Midland-Stagner walked. Moore hit into a double play. Mueller to Fant. Van Landingham dropped one of Van Frank's fast ones over the left wall near the foul line. Flowers walked. Flowers was out stealing. One run, one hit, no errors.

Fourth Inning
 Ballinger-Lynch fanned. Dockery walked. Mueller singled. Ratliff was safe on Crozier's error and Dockery scored. Fant flied to Cheves and Mueller was thrown out at second. One run, one hit, one error.

Midland-King grounded to Lynch. Kallina grounded to Fant. Cheves grounded to Kittrell. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Midland-Crozier flied to Mueller. Williamson singled. Stagner singled to left. Moore singled to score Williamson. Stagner stole third. Van Landingham flied to Bales and Stagner scored. Flowers was safe on fielder's choice. King grounded to Lynch. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning
 Ballinger-Mueller flied to King. Ratliff was safe on Crozier's error. Fant drove a fast one over the left center wall to score Ratliff ahead of him. Bales flied to Crozier. Van Frank lined to right for what would have been a double, but failed to touch first and thrown out. Two runs, one hit, no errors.

Midland-Kallina singled. Dave Cheves laced the second strike and it dropped on the outside for four bases. Crozier fanned. Williamson fanned. Stagner singled. Moore grounded to Lynch. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning
 Ballinger-Kittrell singled. Kyle

TEXAS AGGIE SPORT BRIEFS

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, May 30.—Seven members of Coach Bob Countryman's Texas Aggie baseball team, winners of third place in the conference race just closed, finished the season with a batting average of .300 or better. "Beau Brummel" Bell, left-fielder from Bellville, led the list of regulars at the bat with an average of .345 although "Fritz" Rechenberg, right-hand utility twirler from Dallas, led the squad with an average of .666. Austin Bray, right-fielder from Dallas, followed closely on Bell's heels with a .343 average for the season. Pete Wendt, Brenham, south-paw ace of the Aggies; Brooks Conover, fleet center-fielder from Dallas; "Lou" Cody, Celeste, third baseman; and J. M. Russell, utility infielder and outfielder from Fort Worth, were the other hitters who came within the .300 class. The average of the Aggie team for the season was .263.

The election of Ed Thompson Jr., Cameron, as captain of the Texas Aggie track team in 1930 and Frank Mondrick, also of Cameron, as captain of the Texas Longhorn team next year places two former team mates as leaders of opposing teams in the race for the conference title next season. Thompson and Mondrick were at memates at Yoe high school, Cameron, several years ago. Thompson won the half-mile championship of the conference for the Aggies this year while Mondrick was the Longhorn crack hurdler. It is also interesting to note that Don Slocumb, who took the low hurdle title at the conference meet this year, and H. V. Harlan, winner of the high hurdles in the conference meet, are also products of Yoe high school and former team mates of Mondrick. Harlan, Slocumb and Mondrick carried away a majority of the honors in the hurdles this year, all of them placing in both events.

Carrying off the honors of the annual Gulf Coast meet sponsored at Galveston by the Galveston Beach Association for the third consecutive year, the swimming team of the Texas Aggie Swimming Club took permanent possession of the silver trophy cup at the close of the annual meet last week. The Galveston meet also completed a perfect three-year record for the Aggie matrons.

In the meet at Galveston Dan Humason, Aggie back stroke artist from Houston and holder of all Southern A. U. back stroke records, established a new time in the 100 yard event while Curtis Everts, Houston, established a new record in the 100 yard free style. The Aggies stepped in Houston enroute to Galveston and in an exhibition race the Aggie mile relay team, composed of Humason; Herman Cox, Fort Worth; R. L. Suggs, San An-

Slim Love Going Great Guns In Southern League

DALLAS, Tex., May 30.—Fuel has been heaped on the Controversy between Texas League and Southern Association fans over the respective strength of their circuits by the imposing record being run up by Edwin "Slim" Love for Birmingham.

The former Dallas hurler who was not effective in the Texas League the last two seasons, has won four out of his first five starts for the Barons this year and is batting around .350.

Eckhardt Hits Ball Hard For Coast League

AUSTIN, Tex., May 30.—(P)—Oscar Eckhardt, Texas University football and baseball star of 1922 and 1923, is having a great year with Portland of the Pacific Coast League. At last reports the big fellow was hitting .354.

Eckhardt was a pitcher and outfielder with the Longhorns and is regarded by many as the greatest halfback ever to wear the Orange. After leaving school he coached West Texas Teachers College at Canyon for several years.

SAYS DOMEN HURT FARMS

RALEIGH, N. C.—(UP)—Governor May O. Gardner believes that women are responsible for the present agricultural depression. "They go and starve themselves to keep slim," the executive said, "and you know what happens when millions of women quit eating bread, potatoes and meats. The prices on these commodities drop."

toni; and A. A. Sproule, Denison, clipped four seconds off the national Y. M. C. A. 100 yard relay record. Cox, a senior student at A. & M., is coach of the Aggie team.

Company "H" Infantry, winners of the 1928 intramural track and field championship at A. & M., went into a tie for their second consecutive title with the Battery "B" Field Artillery, team in the annual meet at Kyle Field this week, both teams scoring 26 points. Troop "C" Cavalry took third place honors with 22 points. J. F. Rodgers, Longview, was high point man with 15. With 185 men taking part in the meet a new participation record for intramural track was established. Last year 149 athletes took part in the meet. The large field of entries this year represented twenty organizations from the A. & M. cadet corps.

Can the Giants Climb?

The New York Giants, who open a series at the Polo Grounds with their "cousins" from Flatbush today, may take advantage of the opportunity to start that hard uphill climb which admirers of John J. McGraw expect from the club.

The Brooklyn Robins, guests of the Giants in a four game series, should prove a good stepping stone for McGraw's youngsters. An then again, the Robins may prove slippery footing. You cannot tell, these days, when even a Brooklyn club will turn.

They have called the Robins "cousins" of the Giants because of the belief in west that when McGraw needs a ball game badly he arranges to play it with Brooklyn. It isn't so, but they believe strange things of us, out in the west.

If ever a ball club was a disappointment in the merry month of May, the New York Giants are the boys. They looked to be the fastest, peppiest outfit in the National League when the barrier was sprung. The critics picked them to battle with the Chicago Cubs for the pennant. And then the Giants dogged it, and would have fallen right into the cellar if their Brooklyn neighbors hadn't been on hand to break the fall.

John McGraw may get the club up there yet before the end of September. It is just a question of how much heart the club has, and whether the Giants can climb.

The Weather at Belmont
 It is to be hoped that the track will be fast for the Belmont Stakes next month, following the cloud burst which swept a yellow lake over the track at Churchill Downs on Derby Day.

The year's best three year old mud larks have had their fling and we know that little Clyde Van Dusen is the best and gamest of the lot. But the Man-o-War gelding will not be at Belmont for sufficient reasons, and the others deserve a fast track for a real test of their greatness.

In the judges' stand of the great Indianapolis Speedway sits Odis Porter operating a device, as shown in the inset, that keeps accurate records of the auto racers as they trip a wire across the track. The large photo shows a view of the track as the competitors line up for the start.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 30.—(NEA)—Seconds are shattered into hundredths of divisions of time by the electrical device used to record the accurate running history of every car in the international 500-mile automobile race held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway today.

The timing device has sent stop watches, which divided seconds into fifths, into the oblivion racing cars sent Old Dobbin. It would be humanly impossible accurately to record the time of race cars with stop watches competing against this uncanny electrical timer.

Its operation, admittedly intricate, is ever accurate in the hands of Odis Porter, a retired electrical engineer, who over a period of 13 years has continued its development and improvement for the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. The timer is used in recording the world's speed championship runs for water, land and air events.

Wire Crosses Track
 At the Indianapolis Speedway, where foreign cars are competing with America's best this year, a copper wire is stretched across the track directly in front of the judges' stand. As the car roars down the straightaway its front wheels depress the wire, which normally is an inch and a quarter above the track. So rapidly do the cars move that the wire does not have a chance to spring back in place to be depressed by the rear wheels.

This impulse of the front wheels depressing the wire is transmitted to what is known as the trap, a device with a spring arrangement which causes a broken circuit in the electrical current that operates the timer. This broken contact is transmitted to the judges' stand and timers' floor of the officials' pagoda where the timing machine is located, causing a normal six volt current to give way for an instant to a 12 volt one.

In the instant that the 12-volt current holds sway, a set of metal hammers is forced down on a ribbon much like that on a typewriter. Underneath this ribbon is a paper tape which receives the printed figures.

Tape Holds Records
 The only figures which can be printed on the paper tape are the ones corresponding to the correct time by the chronometer, which is a part of the timing device. Thus is printed on the paper tape the exact time the car hits the wire, this time being divided into fifths of a hundredth part of a second.

The American Automobile Association, with headquarters at Washington, D. C., is the governing body of the speed sport in America and the complete tape of the race is sent to that office immediately after the race so that in 100 years from now, if the paper tape has not disintegrated in that time, a curious person may see just exactly how his favorite driver ran in any lap of any race in which he has competed on the Indianapolis track.

That, briefly, is all there is to it, although it requires longer to write about it than is necessary for a car to spring the wire and travel around the two and a half mile Indianapolis course to spring it again.

The electrical chronometer is one of the finest in the country. It is frequently calibrated at the Naval Observatory at Washington. When a record is timed with the Indianapolis instrument it is accepted by all official bodies throughout the world.

LITERARY ADDRESS FOR SENIORS AT HIGH SCHOOL THIS EVENING

This evening will mark the closing commencement program for the Midland Public Schools with the forty-eight members of the senior class receiving diplomas at this time. Dr. Frederick Eby, professor of History of Education at State University, delivering with literary address, which was preceded Sunday by the commencement sermon by Dr. Charles C. Seligman, president of Southern Methodist University.

As a custom three programs during the commencement week are devoted almost entirely to the graduating class. These include the sermon on Sunday morning, class day exercises on Wednesday evening and the graduating exercises on Thursday evening.

Mr. Bill Blodgett, has been president of the class this year and through his efficient work and the cooperation of the other seniors, this class has been able to accomplish unusual work. The yearbook was sponsored by this class and is the best ever published here and has been declared as one of the best high school annuals in the state.

The senior class play, "Just Out of College" was presented during the past few weeks and artists here have said it to be one of the best produced by amateurs here.

Other class officers include Mr. Tom Potter, vice-president; Miss Bernice Hill, secretary, and Miss Elma Collins, treasurer.

Dance Recital Will Be Given at Ritz Theatre Friday

When enthusiasts of classical dancing gather Friday evening about 8:30 at the Ritz theatre to see Mrs. Vickers' class offered in recital they will have occasion to see exemplified the adage that "the parents of all artistic dancing seem to have been religion and man's natural need for expressing emotion in movement"—an aesthetic combination. Tiny children and willowy girls in their first grades at school will show the rhythmic results of what modern teaching methods are doing for the newer generation.

For the cave man who drew the outline of a mammoth on the wall, the dance was another way of expressing what and how he felt. When he grabbed the tousel-haired cave woman who shared his lair of dried leaves and whirled her around in his pleasure at having made a kill, he was laying the foundation of the social dance. For he was expressing pleasure, taking pleasure in expressing pleasure as he felt it. Modern social dancing for the pleasure of rhythmic motion in close touch and strict time is only a modern expression of the same impulse for seeking pleasure known to the primate.

All this is exemplified in the recital. Doris Harrison is to be featured in "Glow Worm," in the midst of moonlight pool effect. Later she will do a Spanish costume dance to "Chiquita."

The class will give modern jazz steps.

Lixie Jane Cragin has a toe dance feature.

Billy and Dolores Barron will do a song and dance in an atmosphere bearing close resemblance to the humorous setting of a Mediterranean villa terrace.

Three-year old Francis Meek will dance a butterfly number, and an old fashion skit will be given by the class.

Mrs. C. Y. Barron and Mr. Wallace Wimberly at the piano and J. C. Duffey at the Ritz organ will accompany the dancers.

PERSONALS

Frank King, prominent business man of Big Spring, was a business visitor in Midland this morning.

J. L. Ryan of Lubbock is transacting business in Midland today. He is connected with the West Texas Gas Company.

Mr. and Mrs. William Simpson in Midland today making plans to locate here soon. They are now connected with the California Oil Company in Colorado City.

Heith M. Robertson of the R. R. Penn Oil Company of Dallas is a business visitor here for a few days.

Geo. D. McCormick, manager of the Midland Hardware Company, has gone to Big Spring and Lamesa on business today.

Mr. M. A. Jared is on a business trip to Pecos and Ft. Stockton for a few days.

K. E. Nutt, Jr., and Francis Meade of Lovington, New Mexico, are visiting friends here today.

Mike Adams of the Prairie Oil & Gas Company has gone to San Angelo on business for a few days.

PERSONALS

Right reverend George Washington Hanner, who stalked forth from the performance of "Miss Cherryblossom" after the first kiss, and who issued a later statement to the effect that when a town's young people could so shock their elders that the elders were forced to leave an entertainment given by them, it was high time something was done about it.

Indecent, Eh?

"The play that utter disregard for decency," he said. "It had sexual appeal in one scene. All of 50 American boys and girls come on the stage with their arms about each other, and later they actually kiss."

Just imagine that, Ignace and Imogene—they "actually kiss!"

Just thing of all these years that the very right reverend George Washington Hanner, a middle-aged widower has been living quietly and staidly with his sister, going about in his ministerial habiliments of frock coat doing his clerical duty, quite shielded from the knowledge that kissing was going on in the world, only to have it suddenly thrust upon his attention by not one osculation, but 50!

It was May. The minister bolted through the door, only coming to a few hours later to level thunderous bolts against these young who had disturbed his serenity.

"They actually kissed."

"There was actually sexual appeal in the play."

Such an outrage! Here all these long years the two divines had gone about their ways, trying to ignore and condemn by silence the fact that their Creator had made such a mistake as to include sex in his plan for the world.

They never actually complained about it. After all, they realized that when he made the world in six days he necessarily did a hurry-up job and had to make a few slips. That sexual business was one of them. But as for them, they'd just ignore his faux pas, pretend it never happened, and if other people would only do the same thing, the world could manage to waltz along in decency.

But here were they confronted with the fact that their supposedly decent little town's young people were not ignoring and pardoning the Creator's slip, but were ac-ually daring to recognize the existence of sex, and didn't even apologize for it!

Those Worn Queries

Meanwhile the divines are intoning thunderous sermons as to why young people don't go to church, and what is the world coming to, anyway.

The only answer to the first question is that youth, thank goodness, is too clear-thinking and clean-minded to permit itself to follow the leadership of those who prove by their fear and outraged dignity at the sight of kisses or so that they themselves are the evil-minded ones and not to be trusted or followed as leaders.

Oh, perhaps we're a little hard on them. After all, we are all pretty largely products of our own time and the traditional viewpoints of that time. Our time, thank goodness, accepts sex in the casual, natural way it was meant to be.

Lupe Velez Makes Others Happier

"Champion gloom dispeller" is the title Lupe Velez won while on location in the California high Sierras with the unit from Paramount's Hollywood studios filming the part-talking film version of Harvey Ferguson's novel, "Wolf Song," which starts Sunday at the Ritz theatre.

Whenever she was not working before the camera, Miss Velez busied herself entertaining the other members of the company. Seemingly tireless, she would sing and dance for hours, while everyone who was not otherwise occupied gathered around her.

"She is the best morale doctor imaginable," Director Victor Fleming declared upon return from the location trip. "Gloom and that girl simply could not stay in the same vicinity."

HAS PARTY FOR FORMER FLAMES

LONDON.—(UP)—Recent articles by a noted film actress on the man she has loved and lost gave James Loze, wealthy Malayair bachelor, a novel idea for a dinner party.

He invited all the women with whom he had ever been in love, to a party at his home. Loze, who is 68, numbers his affairs of the heart at nine, but of these he could only reach six.

"I am no longer young," said Loze, "and I thought it would be pleasant to look once more upon the faces of the women who in days gone by I have loved and lost."

His old loves come from widely separated places, from Manchester, Moscow, Edinburgh, Madrid, and Vincenza, in Italy.

Dance Recital Will Be Given at Ritz Theatre Friday

When enthusiasts of classical dancing gather Friday evening about 8:30 at the Ritz theatre to see Mrs. Vickers' class offered in recital they will have occasion to see exemplified the adage that "the parents of all artistic dancing seem to have been religion and man's natural need for expressing emotion in movement"—an aesthetic combination. Tiny children and willowy girls in their first grades at school will show the rhythmic results of what modern teaching methods are doing for the newer generation.

For the cave man who drew the outline of a mammoth on the wall, the dance was another way of expressing what and how he felt. When he grabbed the tousel-haired cave woman who shared his lair of dried leaves and whirled her around in his pleasure at having made a kill, he was laying the foundation of the social dance. For he was expressing pleasure, taking pleasure in expressing pleasure as he felt it. Modern social dancing for the pleasure of rhythmic motion in close touch and strict time is only a modern expression of the same impulse for seeking pleasure known to the primate.

All this is exemplified in the recital. Doris Harrison is to be featured in "Glow Worm," in the midst of moonlight pool effect. Later she will do a Spanish costume dance to "Chiquita."

The class will give modern jazz steps.

Lixie Jane Cragin has a toe dance feature.

Billy and Dolores Barron will do a song and dance in an atmosphere bearing close resemblance to the humorous setting of a Mediterranean villa terrace.

Three-year old Francis Meek will dance a butterfly number, and an old fashion skit will be given by the class.

Mrs. C. Y. Barron and Mr. Wallace Wimberly at the piano and J. C. Duffey at the Ritz organ will accompany the dancers.

I am inclined to froth at the mouth rather readily, but rarely frothed such a really swell froth as when reading of the very right reverend (no capitals) Ira E. Hicks, Baptist minister of Toms River, N. Oh, yes, we frothed just as good a froth at the Evangelical minister of the same town, the equally

Important Day

(Continued from Page 1) dress by Louis E. Steinmann, head of a firm of ocean shippers in Antwerp, Belgium, entitled "The Influence of Tradition in Business." Business dealings there, he said, are largely governed by practices which have become traditional through years, sometimes centuries, of usage and these are not changed in a day. Under the growing influence of business standards in other countries, he said, the customs of commerce are becoming internationalized and trade vies with the learned professions in dignity.

The various factors entering into the adoption of a code of ethics for a trade or craft association were discussed by Arthur Chadwick, advertising man of London, England, who is president of Rotary International-Association for Great Britain and Ireland. These codes, he said, are the modern expression of the rules established by the ancient guilds. In the United States, standards of practice have been set up in many varied industries in recent years to overcome the public feeling that the motto of big business was "the public be damned."

The contrasts of "war and peace," as described by Private Peat, the famous British World War hero, winner of the Victoria Cross, brought to a climax this series of addresses on international trade subjects. The lessons of war and the blessings of peace were described by Private Peat as one who had seen and suffered all the misery and wastage of conflict. The debate upon the report of the resolutions committee developed some of the most vivid informal discussion of the convention. One of particular interest to those thousands of Rotarians who are convention veterans proposed to establish as a fixed rule, the custom of recent years of holding every third or fourth Rotary convention outside North America. Edinburgh, Scotland; Toronto, Canada; and Ostend, Belgium, have entertained Rotary conventions in the past eight years. Next year's convention will be held in Chicago, as it is in celebration of the Silver Jubilee of the founding of the first Rotary club, in Chicago, on February 23, 1905, by Paul Harris and three of his friends. It is the recommendation of this year's international board of directors that the 1931 convention be held abroad, and one convention resolution would make that decision.

The academicians have proposed a resolution which would discontinue the use in Rotary of the expression "He profits most who serves best," on the ground that it injects an unworthy motive into service which should be without thought of reward either moral or material. There are those who hold that Rotarians are primarily business men, interested in an ethical profit for the success of their business or profession. An interesting debate between the advocates of the business man's point of view, and those who feel that part of the motto does not truly express the thought of Rotary service, entertained the convention visitors. The phase was the climax of a speech at the Portland, Oregon, convention nearly twenty years ago, by Arthur Frederick Sheldon of Chicago, one of the pioneer leaders of Rotary.

The resolution was adopted as a companion expression to "Service Above Self" though the proponents of the resolution, the Rotarians of Great Britain and Ireland, declared the motto sentiments are not in harmony. Another resolution would recommend to Rotary clubs all over the world the study and expression of the international service phase of the resolution suggests a constructive survey of the world to learn the characteristics of nations and races, and points of friction and the forces making for goodwill.

These discussions of international questions fittingly introduced Thursday afternoon, where ways and means of cultivating international friendship and goodwill were debated. Two of these twelve assemblies were guided by chairmen from other countries, Ernesto J. Aguilar, Mexico City manufacturer, and Stanley Leverton, London, England, business man.

The gala carnival at the Fair Park amusement section tonight will give the Rotary visitors an evening of fun for the last night of the convention, which closes tomorrow afternoon. Many of the Rotarians from other countries brought along their native fiesta costumes, and these, with the addition of strolling minstrels, special carnival acts, and brilliant displays of fireworks made an unusually picturesque scene.

The result of today's ballot on international officers will be announced tomorrow morning in the addresses on international service and "What Rotary means to Rotary Clubs and Rotarians Around the World," by the delegates from distant countries.

Strawberries Are Important In Food Value By SISTER MARY NEA Service Writer At last the strawberry has reached a place of importance among foods and we may feel a certain amount of virtue as well as pleasure in consuming quantities of the luscious fruit.

According to recent investigations and reports, it seems that strawberries are unusually good mineral substitutes for oranges. Although slightly lower in lime, strawberries are four times higher than oranges in iron content per unit of weight. Vitamin C, the scurvy preventative, rates about as high in strawberries as in oranges. Vitamins A and B however, the growing and building elements, are lower in berries than in citrus fruits.

It is also interesting to know that science has discovered that commercially canned and home canned berries by the cold pack method lose practically no vitamin B through the canning process. Since this is the vitamin that is so susceptible to heat and storage, it's apparent that strawberries are worth canning for winter use when fresh raw fruits and vegetables are not plentiful and cheap.

Many housewives must face the problem of buying fruit and canning it, or buying the commercially canned product. If she must pay a comparatively high price for fresh berries she may find she can effect a decided saving by investing in commercially canned berries by the dozen cans.

The woman who lives in a small town or is in a community easily accessible to berry markets may want to do her own canning. The hot-water bath, steam pressure cooker and heat controlled oven all represent satisfactory equipment for home canning. The general preparation and packing of the fruit in the jars for any of the devices is almost identical.

Jazz Artists Share Talking Screen Hit Earl Burnett's popular Biltmore Hotel Orchestra furnishes the dance music for the night club scenes in "Lights of New York," a Vitaphone talking motion picture with spoken dialogue and soundeffect throughout.

Much of the rapid action of this story of New York night life centers around the cafe in which Helene Costello, dances and where her lover is charged with murder. A group of talented dancers form the chorus of the night club revue directed by Larry Obeallos, well known ensemble and dance creator, who has conceived and staged the routines for numerous Greenwich Village Follies and other Broadway musical comedies.

Gullen Landis and Helene Costello head the cast of "Lights of New York," which Bryan Foy directed at Warner Bros. studio. Gladys Brockwell, Mary Carr, Eugene Pallette and Wheeler Oakman are included in the supporting cast of prominent players in this all-talking Vitaphone production of feature length, written by Murray Roth and Hugh Herbert.

"Lights of New York" comes to the Ritz Theatre today. Fort Davis Chamber of Commerce, has asked Manager Wade of the Wests Texas Chamber of Commerce for cooperation in the securing of the physician.

Calmly Phones To Admit Killing

In a calm, matter-of-fact tone, Richard Burrows, 19, arrested in Denver, talked over long distance telephone with police in Phoenix, Arizona, and told them where they could find the body of Jack Martin, 27, whom he confessed slaying. Discovery of the body substantiated Burrows' admission that he had killed the man who had picked him up while hitchhiking through Arizona. His parents live in Chicago, and he ran away from St. John's Military Academy, he said.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL TRADE IS WELL STIMULATED

DALLAS, Tex., May 30.—(P)—A sustained volume of wholesale and retail trade, further improvement in agricultural conditions and a record-breaking volume of construction work were major developments during April disclosed by the monthly report of the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank, issued today. Conditions of livestock and grazing ranges also improved and livestock prices again turned upward.

Breaking all previous records, the valuation of building permits at principal cities in the eleventh reserve district in April totalled $19,442,938 as compared with $16,134,114 in March, 1928, the previous high level. The volume was 124 percent larger than in March, and 186 percent greater than in April last year, the report said.

Department stores sales reflected a seasonal decline of nine percent as compared with March, but exceeded those of April, 1928, by two percent. Wholesale distribution of merchandise, while showing the usual decline at this season of the year, was substantially larger than in April last year.

Although high winds, sand storms, dry weather and torrential rains affected adversely in varying degrees agricultural developments in some sections, farmers generally made favorable progress with planting and other farm work. Heavy general rains towards the middle of May offset bad effects of the previous drying winds and left a good season in the ground in practically all sections. The wheat crop which had begun to deteriorate was greatly benefited and present indications, according to the report, point toward satisfactory yields.

Planting of corn has been completed and most of the crop is well cultivated. Early corn in South Texas is beginning to mature. Cotton planting in all districts except Northwest Texas is nearing completion, and a considerable portion of the crop, especially in the southern half of the district, is chopped to a stand. Reports indicate, however, that some replanting will be necessary since the early May rains, sand storms in West Texas on May 1 destroyed practically all the cotton which was up, says the report, but subsequent abundance of moisture will enable farmers to do the necessary replanting. Cotton in South Texas has already begun to square.

Texas fruit and berry crops promise well, the review stated, prospects pointing toward a 70 percent full peach crop despite damage resulting from hail storms in April and early May. The strawberry and blackberry crops in East Texas promise good yields. Movement of fruit and vegetables from South Texas already exceeds that of last year by several thousand cars.

The fruit crop continues promising in Southern New Mexico. While a slight increase was noted in the number of business failures in the district during April, the indebtedness involved showed a further decline from the previous month, which the review said is significant in view of the comparatively low mortality rate throughout the current year. There were 51 defaults with indebtedness of $515,003 compared with 49 failures in March that owed $559,130. In April last year there were 46 insolvencies with indebtedness aggregating $1,283,614.

Output of crude oil in the district amounted to 24,480,070 barrels in April, a reduction of 823,554 barrels from the high level reached in the previous month. Although the number of completed wells was slightly larger than in March, initial production was considerably smaller.

COMMITTEE WANTS EAST END CLEANED UP REPORT SAYS

Removal of junk piled along the highway east of the city and some kind of a city ordinance or method to remove the unsightly junk yards on this highway—this is the paramount need in cleaning up Midland all of the members of the sanitary committee appointed by the city council agree. Elliott F. Cowden, chairman, and Sam Preston and Jack Hazeltine, making separate reports agree in this one particular—that the highway east of the city should be cleared of junk and rubbish.

A stiff penalty for violation. He Cowden thinks junk dumped on private property along the highway east of Midland should be dumped in an excavation made several years ago in making street fills. He says the city should pay for this cleanup and then pass an ordinance which thinks owners of junk yards should be required to keep their plunder at least 100 feet back from the highway and be required either to seek a new site or conceal their junk with a high board fence. He favors a zoning ordinance to prevent future unsightly piles of such debris.

Sam Preston wants this junk cleaned up, but he places as most important what he argues is the necessity of clearing the city of mess and rubbish. He favors the city grubbing the land from taxes or public subscription. In pursuance of his clean-up ideas, Preston wants citizens to remove unsightly fences, rubbish and trim their trees. This ranchman and civic worker favors a lower water rate to induce more tree and flower growing instead of operating it for any revenues possible.

Hazeltine wants garbage container ordinances enforced, and favors hauling into court violators of these sanitary provisions. Hazeltine also wants the ordinance against hand bill distribution enforced. In short, he is ambitious to see his city neat and clean as he fits "the most ambitious city between the oceans."

The chairman, Elliott Cowden, goes farther in his condemnation of hand bill distribution. He wants them outlawed even from distribution in yards or stuck behind doors of residences. He also agrees with Hazeltine on enforcement of the garbage container and collection law. He advocates fines for those who dump rubbish in alleys without putting it in containers. Cowden agrees with Preston on the lot clean-up campaign, except as to method, he differs from Preston, declaring that owners of the lots should be required to pay for their cleaning.

Cowden, in his detailed analysis of Midland's sanitary needs, would also have all contractors and builders prevented from throwing sacks and other material containers about a new building so they may be blown about the city.

The chairman recommends to the City Council that those who violate sanitary ordinances be warned by a placard exhibited on their property and be allowed a definite time to comply or suffer the penalty. Cowden would completely banish outdoor toilets. He concludes by saying: "We believe that when the new sewer system has been completed and the new disposal plant completed that living conditions will be improved; that with a limited amount of work the city can be put in much better condition, and with the cooperation of the people and a systematic plan for caring for garbage that it can be kept that way."

SEEK NEW RAIL LINE WASHINGTON, May 29.—(P)—The Gulf and West Texas Railroad has applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to construct a new line from Fredericksburg to San Angelo.

WAR IN ARABIA JERUSALEM, May 29.—(UP)—More than 1,000 were reported killed in a battle between two Nejd tribes southeast of El Sarar, in Central Arabia, advices received here today said.

There were 553 completions in April of which 272 were reducers of oil yielding 126,689 barrels of new production compared to 548 completions in March that netted 281 producers with an initial flow of 206,640 barrels.

Debts to individual accounts at banks in principal cities of the district declined 4.0 percent in April compared to March, but showed a gain over the corresponding month last year of 15.3 percent. The volume of acceptances executed by banks and outstanding at the close of April amounted to $4,103,881 which reflected a further decline of $594,444 during April. Savings accounts of 88 reporting banks amounted to $148,039,855 on April 30, representing a decline of 0.2 percent to March 31, but an increase of 9.7 percent over those of a year ago. Loans to member banks increased during April and at the close of the month amounted to $22,525,972, which was $8,197,737 greater than on March 31. Federal Reserve notes in actual circulation at the close of the month aggregated $37,568,715.

SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE FACES BIG TASK

By R. W. BARRY Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Texas, May 30.—(P)—The second called session of the 41st legislature, which convenes June 3, will have to get up and hustle if it completes the program of work to be laid out for it within the constitutional thirty days.

Unless the legislators get off on the right foot it is problematical if it will be able to pass the general appropriation bills providing for financing the government for the biennium beginning Sept. 1, under the full period of time.

The Senate and House are far apart on some of the appropriations. The House appropriations committee has been inclined to hold the items down to rock-bottom, while the Senate has a disposition to be guided chiefly by recommendations of the Board of Control. This should not be taken to mean that Board of Control has not been conservative, because every one agrees it has been. But the House committee is bent on keeping the ad valorem tax rate around 30 cents and to do so would eliminate some of the items the control board was constrained to allow.

To show how conservative the Board of Control was some figures need only to be quoted. Request as submitted by institutions and departments totalled $64,284,840, while the budget sanctioned by the board aggregated but $45,359,767.

A brisk controversy is brewing in the House over allowances for educational institutions, especially. There are two factions. One believes that managers of institutions of higher learning are "fudging" and the other group will contend for an attitude of generosity towards these. The matter of making allowances for salaries of instructors will be particularly troublesome. The House committee does not look with favor upon the custom of allowing "contingency" funds which may be utilized in "making up" salaries in order to retain instructors who threaten to go to other institutions for more money.

As important as the appropriation bills, is the necessity of providing ample revenue for the highway construction program. It will be necessary to increase the gasoline tax from two cents to three or four cents per gallon in order to make up for the loss which will be incurred in revising the motor vehicle registration fees downward to meet a rather insistent demand of the "people." It is generally agreed that present fees will be reduced thirty percent.

Governor Moody is likely to submit regulation of public utilities, a legislative question that has been exceedingly bothersome in the past. Revision of the blue sky law is another subject the governor is almost certain to place before the special session. Water rights also are apt to come in for some legislating.

There are likely to be other matters, including probable fireworks incident to the report of the joint investigating committee on certain alleged actions of J. T. Robison, commissioner of the general land office.

Should the wave of impeachment and attempted impeachment which lately has engulfed Oklahoma, Louisiana and California spread to Texas there is no telling how many special sessions will be necessary to wipe the legislative slate clean.

Britain Goes to Polls For General Election

Seventeen Hundred Candidates Seek 615 Seats In Parliament

By KENDALL FOSS United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 30.—(UP)—Polling is proceeding today in the 615 constituencies of Great Britain and Northern Ireland to choose a new Parliament.

More than 1,700 candidates are seeking seats in the new House of Commons.

The present strength of the parties follows: Conservatives 397 (3 vacancies) Labor 162 Liberals 46 Independents 7

The voting booths have been open since 8 o'clock this morning and will remain open until 8 this evening. Few policemen are in evidence at London polling stations and it is expected the day will pass off quietly.

Today is not a general holiday, though in many parts of the country it is the regular weekly early closing of shops day. Nevertheless, a big rush is expected in the last few hours when working people and business men come to cast their votes.

Polling is done in school houses wherever possible or else in some convenient county or municipal building. Every effort is made to prevent duplication, impersonation and other forms of evasion.

No Party Ballots The voter is presented with a slip on which are printed the names of the candidates alone. There is no indication of which party each represents. Voting is generally done in open booths partitioned off from one another. Party representatives are present at most polling stations to instruct those who do not know which party the candidates stand for.

Immediately after 8 o'clock tonight the boxes will be sealed and taken to the town or county hall where the doors are locked and the counting begins. In cities and thickly populated areas the counting usually is under way by 9 o'clock and the first returns are announced well before midnight. In scattered districts where it is difficult or even dangerous to transport the precious ballot box to the counting rooms at night, the work does not commence until the next morning.

Owing to the addition of more than 5,000,000 new young women voters to the register, it is expected that the task of counting will be unusually slow this year. Although in many districts the staff has been doubled, it is believed unlikely that much over half the returns will be in tonight. When it is impossible to begin counting until after ten, the work is usually postponed until morning, hence no returns appear after about 3 o'clock in the morning.

Friday afternoon is the earliest the probable composition of the new House can be judged, according to Which Party Would You Support If You Were Voting in England?

Conservative Labor Labor will ask support on a platform undertaking cure of unemployment, reduction of armaments and resumption of full diplomatic relations with Russia. Complete revolution and reorganization of the transport system is visualized by the party's leader, Ramsay MacDonald. Improvement of education, extension of old age pensions, and early ratification of the Washington Hours' Convention are other measures which it is expected will alleviate the problem. It is proposed to modify the structure of the government so as to co-ordinate the spending departments under a watchful committee which shall work for economy. Support of the International Labor Office at Geneva is to be vigorously carried on. The principles of conciliation and arbitration are to be considered as the basis of foreign policy. A naval agreement with the United States is promised.

Liberal Liberals believe that the "scourge of unemployment" is the most important issue before the country and them. Cure for unemployment consists of a broad scheme of state loans amounting to approximately 200,000,000 pounds to be used in road-building, harbor improvement, land reclamation, and extension of London's subway system. Lloyd George and his followers assert that the road-building program alone will employ, directly and indirectly, half a million men. They claim that the country is in bad need of improved trunk roads. After the roads are completed they hope the resulting lowering of freight rates will speed up industry that the half million can return to their regular jobs. Reduction in armaments. An extension of the present exports credit scheme to aid Britain's suffering foreign trade and assistance to agriculture are matters on which the Liberals promise to do their utmost.

Communist Communists are contesting 25 of the 615 seats under a banner of: "Class against class." Almost all of the leading figures in the Labor Party are being challenged by Communist candidates. The Communist headquarters has issued circulars declaring themselves "fundamentally opposed to all parties." They seek: The leadership of the working class in the overthrow of capitalism; The establishment of a revolutionary workers' government; The eventual establishment of a communistic society, Class war; A world federation of workers' and peasants' republics. It is explained that Communists are participating in the election only as a means of exposing the "hollow sham of parliamentary democracy and as a preliminary to the elimination of classes."

Lupe Velez Teaches Self Dance Steps

Learning to dance without the benefit of a teacher, Lupe Velez, Castilian beauty from Mexico City, has literally travelled on dancing feet to the pinnacle of success in the screen firmament.

As a child in her native city below the Rio Grande Miss Velez taught herself to dance by watching others and then doing the same steps herself. She was both a good teacher and a good pupil since her innate love for the dances of her people, she explains, made it easy for her to become a star on the Mexican musical comedy stage at an early age. She was soon "discovered" and brought to Hollywood, where she is co-featured with Louis Wolheim and Gary Cooper. "Wolf Song," a Paramount romantic thriller of the frontier days in the Southwest.

Playing the role of a daughter of the Dons she does the folk dances of her race in a typical Mexican "baile" scene. Talking and singing parts give her an additional chance to display her versatility in this splendid, part-talking, sound production, Ritz, Sunday.
