She's Smart, Too

Margaret Bryan's beauty last year won her the title of "cotton queen" in Oklahoma, and now she is to become secretary for Rep. James W. McClinton of Oklahoma in Washington.

Home Talk by Betty

Pete Hardesty, home for a few days from the East Texas oil field, tells in interesting fashion of how "the Big Spring boys" down there fight over Rufus Elliott's copy of the Big Spring Daily Herald.

At least, such a tale is interesting to the writer. Pete says the paper comes to Rufus at the Hayward-Elliott Tank company's office near Gladewater. Rufus lives in Longview and when he comes to the office and finds his paper missing (and it is missing every day) he sets up a howl without success. Because it is liable to be in the hands of any one of a dozen fellows.

Stump Alderson, Bill Riggs, Dr. Barcus, Bob Taylor, Dewey Miller, Hob Ellis, Bill Hovis or another of the "gang" is liable to have it.

And, Pete adds, all of 'em would give like to be back in Big Spring. In fact, all the boys who were in the West Texas oil country during its period of greatest activity, are anxiously awaiting the day when conditions out here bring them back, he says.

It is significant that of the nine men named above, four—Riggs, Hardesty, Ellis and Hovis—still maintain their homes here.

Potential value of the Broadway of America, 900 miles of which is within Texas, and on which Big Spring is an important point with hotels and various facilities for tourists second to none is brought out forcibly in an article by C. M. Hammond in a recent issue of The Texas Weekly.

We have not been in full sympathy at all times with the policies followed by the Broadway of America association, especially that section of the organization functioning when it has functioned—from El Paso to Dallas.

The "north loop" or state highway 1-A, from Abilene via Albany and Breckenridge to Metcalf Gap has been a source of much trouble. Towns on that loop have wanted it to be designated part of the Broadway along with the section of state highway No. 1 from Metcalf Gap through Strawn, Ranger, Eustland, Cisco, Putnam, Baird and Clyde to Abilene.

There have, also, been too many "field workers" whose salaries were about ten times too high for the association's cash drawer. In several instances able men who happened not to be employed at the moment have used personal influence with friends to obtain paid positions with the association at salaries out of line with the financial resources.

This, however, does not shake our belief in the value of such an organization when properly operated.

If there is a town on the Broadway that ought to take advantage of every opportunity for promoting itself it is Big Spring.

Mr. Hammond's article in last week's Texas Weekly follows:

Extending across the United States from the Atlantic to the Pacific, the Broadway of America highway connects New York City and San Diego, California, with a broad, unbroken ribbon of concrete and asphalt 3,247 miles in length. The route it follows passes through New Jersey, Pennsylvania, the District of Columbia, Virginia, Tennessee, Arkansas, Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona, and 600 miles of it, or more than one-fourth the total distance, is in Texas. To the cross-country tourist this highway offers many advantages over the Election Of C-C Directors To Begin Soon

Ten To Be Named For Two-Year Terms; Method Is Democratic

Directors of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce empowered President Joseph Edwards to appoint a nominating committee of five to select twenty men as candidates for the ten vacancies that will occur on the board at the end of the year.

The board consists of 29 elected members and they have the right to appoint as many as five additional directors for one-year terms. The elected directors serve two years, ten being elected annually.

Method of naming directors here declared by Chamber of Commerce officials throughout West Texas as the most democratic of any city in this section, is by ballot of individual members of the organization. In most places all officers are named at the annual meeting merely by adoption of a committee report.

Printed ballots bearing 20 names will be mailed to each firm or individual paying membership dues into the Chamber of Commerce. These will be marked, each voting for one man, returned to the Chamber's offices and the vote canvassed.

The board decided to put on the annual membership drive before December 15 and hold the annual banquet during the week beginning December 6.

Directors who have served two years or more and whose terms expire this year are: E. L. Cook, W. D. Bedell, E. A. Kelley, R. L. Price, George White, Joyce Fisher, Fred Keating, J. B. Pickle, Dr. G. T. Hall. One of the places to be filled by election this year has been vacant several months.

Youth Mourned

GENE MGINNIS
The bright smile of this 16-year-old lad, star football player for Stanton high school and until this session one of the leading students of the Lomas school, was taken away by death Saturday night. He was a victim of blood poisoning which followed the infection of a small scratch on his hand. His mother attended services in his memory here and in Cleveland, Texas, former home of the family, where he was buried. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McGinnis, of Merita, west of here, where his father has charge of the Magnolia Pump Station.

Support Of Chest Urged Before Club

Task Must Be Performed, As Duty Speakers Declare

George White, chairman of the community chest, was the principal speaker on the program in charge of H. L. Rix at the Business Men's Luncheon club today at the Methodist church.

"The drive for the chest budget of $10,000 will be started next Tuesday and we hope to complete the drive the first day. The plan of getting every man in town to give one day's salary to the chest will enable us to do this if the business men will talk the chest over and sell their employees on the idea," Mr. White said.

The charity cases in Big Spring will be handled this year to a greater extent than last year by the Salvation Army. The Salvation Army officials are in a better position to investigate the charity cases than anyone else in town and the work will be turned over to them. This drive for the chest if put over as we hope will do away with all requests for donations from firms and individuals for the year, Mr. White stated.

A comparison between the cost per capita of the budget for Big Spring and for towns the same size and larger than Big Spring was given by C. T. Watson.

"The budgets as prepared in the majority of towns run from a dollar to nine dollars per capita, while here it is less than one dollar per capita," Mr. Watson explained.

"Legislation is not going to get us out of the depression. We will come back to normal in time but until we do there are certain people we are going to have to care for and it is going to be up to the more fortunate people of our city to perform this act during the coming year. Every organization participating in the Community Chest is worthy of our support and we should feel it a privilege to get behind the organization and put the drive over in the shortest time possible and in the biggest way," Carl Blomshield said.

Aggressive Attitude Of Army Grows

Russia's 'Sphere' Invaded In Occupation Of Tsitsihar

TOKYO, Nov. 18 (AP)—The government was informed that General Honjo's army had occupied Tsitsihar, capital of northern Manchuria province of Heilungkiang and in the sphere of Russian influence. It is eighteen miles north of the Chinese Eastern railway, controlled jointly by Russia and China. Many feared Russian action as a result of the movement. Japanese routed Chinese in sudden offensive, cavalry leading the attack. They fought in bitter sub-arctic weather, storming Anganchi, "unchanging and Tsitsihar successively. Honjo said recently he would not attempt to hold Tsitsihar, to avoid offending Russia. He said he planned to scatter Chinese forces to remove possibility of future danger.

PARIS, Nov. 18 (AP)—The league of nations quarters were alarmed by news of the occupation of Tsitsihar. It was considered evidence of aggressive militarism and contrary to the constitutional expansion of the Japanese government. Some observers maintain that the Japanese league delegates have been asking for delays so as to aid the army in preparing an offensive. The Japanese repeatedly have declared the army in northern Manchuria was kept there only to repair the Nonni river bridge.

Encouraging Reading of Good Books

Extracts From a Paper Read Before the West Ward P.T.A. On This Subject

Someone has said, "where there is no vision the people perish." Through books we give our children vision. So today, when we are to discuss good reading for children, the field is so broad and so much can be said that we shall have to confine ourselves to the most essential points in bringing this vision to a realization.

One cannot begin too early to stimulate the child's imagination. Wise parents read for hours to the baby, even before the child is 2 years old. He enjoys it, gets ideas, acquires new words. He learns to respect a book to develop affection for it. Long before he goes to school he has a desire to read and when he learns to read alone, he reads for enjoyment.

The School Child's Reading

We are thinking this afternoon more especially of the school child old enough to select his own literature. How can we as parents direct the desire and encourage the right kind of reading habits?

In most schools our children are well guided. Often we can stimulate the choice of better books by means of approval and rewards. Often, too, we are disconcerted by sensational serials and the low level of magazines. But we can keep our children from poor literature and as we keep wholesome reading more attractive.

Do not tell a girl of ten that she must not read the serial in the newspaper, or you may make her more sure of reading it and tempt her to deceive you. Ask her not to read if a reward will help divert her attention; use it.

The comic strips and puzzles in the daily papers help in keeping the child from reading that which might be objectionable. The sport pages are wholesome, especially of interest for older children. We parents can encourage such interests.

Good children's magazines also protect our children from bad reading.

We are urged to start our children's book shelves at an early age.

Schools Need Libraries

Every school room should have a library for reference, for reading and for profit. We are aware of these facts and have begun a library in this (the West Ward) school which we hope will grow with the years and be used in the school room as much as possible.

But we want to stress the responsibility of the home in children's reading this afternoon. The question comes to us: Why must children have books?

The answer is to open to them the wonderful world of literature and wisdom handed down through the ages; to give them a good and adequate vocabulary; to teach them to reason and think for themselves and to draw their own conclusions.

Brown and Yellow Used As Party Color Scheme

Mrs. Jess Phillips entertained the 31 Bridge Club with a Thanksgiving party Tuesday afternoon. The rooms were decorated with lovely chrysantheums.

A color scheme of yellow and rich brown was effectively carried out in the bridge accessories and the refreshments. Tiny individual nut cups filled with brown and yellow fudge were served to each member during the games.

Mrs. Ripps made high score and Mrs. Franklin second high score and E. Maddux received a unique dice ash tray for great low.

A salad course was served to the following: Meses. A. M. Ripps, P. B. Franklin, I. D. Martin, A. E. Jones, R. S. McDonald, L. E. Maddux and Opal Greene.

Mrs. Greene will be the next hostess.

Mrs. J. D. Bites will entertain the members of the Friday Luncheon Club at the Crawford Hotel Friday at 1 o'clock.

Salvation Army To Give Hungry Ones Thanksgiving Feed

The Salvation Army is planning to give a big turkey dinner to the hungry children of the city next Thursday at noon. Just how much the children have to eat and whether that dinner is a success depends on the cooperation of everybody.

The Army will gratefully receive any thing, even a single apple or orange. It will appreciate turkeys, chickens, meat of any kind, canned food, fruits, vegetables, cranberry jelly. A few women in town have cooperated by sending cakes but not enough to even fill out a dent in the tummies of this city's hungry youngsters.

The Army may be reached in many ways. Telephone 1071 and they will call for the donations. Or leave them at the home of Ensign Grief at 402 Park St. or at the Salvation Army headquarters at 107 Main street (formerly the City Drug Store).

The point is: leave something. There is no better way to express gratitude for whatever sort of Thanksgiving dinner you expect to have than to share part of it with a hungry child.

The Fashion Parade

Jacket Costs Carve Niche In Winter Styles

PARIS (AP)—Jacket coats have a prominent place in the fall and winter style picture. A brown caracul coat with a scarf collar is one of the new models, designed by Le-long.

This jacket has puff sleeves and a high belt; effective set off by a green frock. The belt is of brown leather.

With this model also is worn one of the new "airplane age" hats which have supplanted the plumed Empress in the favor of smart Paris women. It is of brown felt and is distinguished by its smallness and trim lines.

The costume, which is called "evening star," is designed with a close fitting bodice and full skirt and is accented at the waistline with three silver star-shaped flowers. It is worn with a snug waist-length jacket lined with cloth of silver.

Museum Association To Be Formed At Open Meeting Soon

The directors of the high school museum announces that a public meeting will be held Monday evening in one of the mezzanine rooms of the Settles Hotel for the purpose of forming a permanent museum association.

The museum has been given a good start by the high school boys and girls, announces Mrs. Victor Mellinger, a director. The time has come when it should be taken over by the town. The purpose of the meeting is to decide what to do with the museum and the best manner of handling it for the public good. A program will be given, the details to be announced later.

The meeting is open to everyone interested in the promotion of such a project. Its success, say the directors, depends on the number of people who turn out Monday evening.

Simplified Lines Set Off Velvet Coats

PARIS (AP)—Velvet coats are finding favor with chic Parisiennes. A brown velvet model for formal afternoon wear is offered by Patou. The collar, cuffs and bottom are trimmed with brown. The lining is of jade green.

The long simplified line is a modification of the closer silhouette of fall styles. The tie fastening, however, allows the coat to be fitted in at the natural waist line.

A chic brown hat and brown shoes complete the ensemble.

Bustle Is Banned By Washington Girls

WASHINGTON (AP)—Much taffeta and satin was worn by the young set at festivities arranged for Mile. Joette Laval, daughter of the French premier.

Few gloves were worn, and most of the dresses were practically without backs to the bodices. The bustle effect for evening dress finds little favor with the smart young women of the capital. Long, light fitting models are more in vogue.

OBSERVANCE OF GOOD BOOK WEEK

During the last ten or more years there has been an increased tendency of people to read more. This may be readily seen by noting the statistics of the leading libraries throughout the country. The increase in many of them has been several hundred per cent. This is partly due to the efforts put forth by the originators and instigators of "Good Book Week." During this week of the year, (which date is, incidentally, was decided on early in the year by a group of directors and teachers), reading of books, especially new ones, is promoted throughout the nation. The theory is that there is tremendous strength in a great number of people doing the same thing at the same time.

Agitation was begun for "Good Book Week" about thirteen years ago by a group of publishers for the main purpose of advertisement. This movement was taken up by schools when it was seen to be beneficial to the public in general. Not until about four years ago, however, did the movement become nation-wide. It seems to gain strength every year and some day in the future may become world-wide.

In the different communities the event is spread through the different clubs, pulpits, and schools, as well as by the press. One week out of the whole fifty-two does not seem to be much time to devote to the reading of books, but, if pupils as well as others interested in books read more than usual during "Good Book Week," they may be stimulated to increase their amount of time to be spent in reading. Of course, the professional men of today have little or no time to spend in the diligent perusal of a book which is not concerned directly in their profession. However, if they would read at least one new good book during "Good Book Week," it is hard to estimate the good it would do. One single idea in the book might have a tendency to influence their lives to a great extent.

THANKS, SWEETWATER
On Armistice Day, several hundred loyal fans of Big Spring ventured to their neighboring city Sweetwater, to see a football game that proved to be the most sensational contest of the whole season thus far.

We thought we had a good team one that would probably go far into the coming tussles. We did, and still have that same team. However, we were not that confident, for a superior team, an ancient rival, but we were just as proud of our boys as we were before they went down in defeat, even more so. "They know how to take a defeat."

When our train rolled in, we were met by a band and Sweetwater's Pep Squad. A parade was made to the Bluebonnet Hotel where rides were furnished by the splendid people of that city and we were taken to the opposing squad's field. There we wore our colors, our slogan, "There shall be no regrets." Sweetwater treated us royally, even more so after the game.

We lost Sweetwater was glad but they didn't raze us as most teams would do. Never before has a visiting school in our district been given a warmer reception. We thank you Her's hoping that the same welcome will be given you when you invade our territory next year!

MUSEUM NEEDS YOUR COOPERATION
When the Current Event History Club was organized in 1929, the club chose as its object, the establishment of a museum. The teachers and pupils of Senior High School have carried out this object to a great extent. At the meeting on November 9, of this year, the museum was turned over to a board of trustees of Big Spring and Howard County.

We are sure the museum will progress more rapidly under the auspices of the trustees and its committees than under the limited opportunities of the Current Event History Club.

We solicit the cooperation of the citizens of Big Spring and Howard County in the development of the museum. We extend an invitation to all citizens and friends to send relics and contributions of all kinds to the director of the museum, Mrs. Mary Bumpass. They will be labeled and housed safely. These exhibits may be in the form of a loan or a gift.

UNUSUAL STUDENT BODY
Our student body is unusual this year inasmuch as we have a number of students doing post-graduate work. We have several graduates of this high school among our number. We feel that they belong to us and we're indeed happy to have them come back to us this year. We have several ex-students from other schools and we welcome them to B.S.H.S. Then we have some who have done some college work. We appreciate them all; they lend dignity and brains and we need 'em!

Paul Roberts received a broken bone in his hand while playing football at Sweetwater, causing his absence from school last week.

Tack Dennis was absent from school last week due to a severe cold and injury received at Sweetwater.

Forty Books for Boys and Girls Listed By High School Librarian

(Editor's Note: Miss Eloise Agnew, Librarian of the High School has compiled this list of books that every child should read.)

1. Children like to be astonished, and ever since the world began long before books were dreamed of great story-tellers traveled up and down the land telling wonderful tales. Some of these tales have been sung and told and finally read, over and over again, for hundreds, even thousands of years. So many were handed down by word of mouth for generations before they were recorded. Then we have the newer tales which were written to be read from books.
1. Tanglewood Tales—Nathan Hawthorne.
2. Anderson's Fairy Tales—Hans Christian Anderson.
3. Arabian Nights.
4. The Water Babies—Charles Kingsley.
5. The Little Lame Prince—Dinah Craig Murlock.
6. The Prince and the Pauper—Mark Twain.
7. Grimm's Fairy Tales.
8. The Wonderful Adventures of Nils—Selma Lagerlof.
11. Do you wonder that the little boy ran away, night after night from that great luxurious house of his father, the old black Uncle Remus's smoky baby's house of his father, to bear about Miss Meadows and how Bear Bare Lo's He Tail? Do you not all rejoice in the spunk of the animals who came out of the sea to put the great Solomon in his place in Just-So-Stories?
9. Aesop's Fables.
10. Uncle Remus: His songs and His Sayings—Joel Chandler Harris.
11. The Jungle Book—Rudyard Kipling.
12. Just-So-Stories—Rudyard Kipling.
13. Story of Dr. Dolittle—Hugh Lofting.
14. A Dog of Flanders—Ouida.
111. Great wreathe tales have been written in order that those who sit at home may read and marvel at their exploits. Odysseus was the first of these great ones. Then we have the newer adventure stories. There were vast open spaces, too, of continent to be explored, broad wastes and land holding as many terrors to overland as the ocean.
15. The Adventures of Odysseus and the Tales of Troy—Padriac Colman.
16. Treasure Island—Robert Louis Stevenson.
17. Robinson Crusoe—David De foe.
18. The Swiss Family Robinson—Johann David Wyss.
19. The Man Without a Country—Edward Everett Rice.
20. Captain Courageous—Rudyard Kipling.
21. The Oregon Trail—Francis Parkman.
- IV. When the world became too rough to be tolerated even by spearsmen in coats of mail, a gentler spirit stirred in men's hearts and an age of chivalry began to dawn. King Arthur was its greatest early hero, far back in legendary times. Then our own Howard Pyle has set forth the training of youth for such a life in his hero tales, Men of Iron.
22. The Boys' King Arthur—Sir Thomas Malory.
23. The Merry Adventures of Robin Hood—Howard Pyle.
24. Ivanhoe—Sir Walter Scott.
25. Joan of Arc—Mark Twain.
26. Men of Iron—Howard Pyle.
- V. But adventure often lurks in country dooryards, hidden by lilacs of New England, or in quiet valleys, shadowed by Alpine peaks. Even a child by himself, in a garden may have adventures.
27. Little Men—Louisa M. Alcott.
28. Little Women—Louisa M. Alcott.
29. Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm—Kate Douglas Wiggin.
30. Understood Betsy—Dorothy Canfield.
31. Heidi—Johanna Spyri.
32. Adventure of Tom Sawyer—Mark Twain.
33. Adventures of Huckleberry Finn—Mark Twain.
34. Joan of Arc—Bad Boy—Thomas Bailey Aldrich.
35. Hans Brinker—The Silver Skates—Mary Maples Dodge.
36. Master Stuyvesant—John Bennett.
37. Boys Life of Abraham Lincoln—Helen Nicolay.
38. A Child's Garden of Verses—Robert Louis Stevenson.
- VI. In a class by themselves, the following must be put:
39. Gulliver's Travels—Jonathan Swift.
40. Alice In Wonderland—Lewis Carroll.

Tack Dennis—Brown eyes, red brown hair, about 5 feet, 10 inches tall—dark complexion—in other words an ideal type. Taking history B. economics, English B. and physics. Likes history best. Favorite color—blue; favorite car—Ford; favorite sport—marble; hobby—"hunting for 'dears' and 'mimics'." His ideal is a brown-headed girl with blue eyes anywhere from five feet four inches tall to five feet nine, and weighing 129-2 lbs. Likes to drive into greasing shed by filling stations to wait for rains to cease. If you think this "ideal" concocted and sarcastic you don't know what you're talking about because he really has a very charming personality.

Mattie Satterwhite—Has brown hair, blue eyes and a very pleasing personality. She is secretary of the Senior Class, secretary of the H. I. K. E. and belongs to the Pep Squad Commercial Club, and is a reporter for the Wheel. She takes English B, economics, typing, and shorthand. Typing is her favorite subject. Mattie's favorite pastime is "car riding." Red is her favorite color and she likes to eat peanuts. Her hobby is chewing gum. A person with black curly hair, brown eyes, who is rather tall is her ideal. She plans to go to school at Simmond and then teach some ignorant child how to become president of something or other.

They will take part in the county inter-schoolistic meet to be held in the spring. For the past three years teams representing this school in the county meet have won the tournament.

They will also have a track team which will take part in most of the events in that line. They will be represented in literary events with a group of declaimers, spellers, music memorizers and arithmetic students.

At the present time there are 521 students enrolled in the school with 21 absent Tuesday. There has been no new equipment added. The only change in the faculty has been the changing of one teacher from classes to study hall teacher.

File Of B.S.H.S. Publications To Be Museum Goal

The West Texas Memorial Museum has undertaken the project of making a complete file of all the publications of the Big Spring High School. Mrs. Mary Bumpass, director, has announced.

The first loans for the file were made by Robert Hailey, freshman student in the school, who brought in old numbers of "La Reata" published in 1916 and 1917. It was published each school month before being replaced by the "El Rodeo," an annual publication.

The officers of the museum are asking ex-students of the school for names of any numbers that may be needed to complete the file.

Sport Notes

BEAT SAN ANGELO THANKSGIVING! OR MAYBE WE SHOULD SAY "BEAT SWEETWATER SATURDAY." for the game at Angelo this weekend-end is really the one which will decide whether this Turkey Day fray will be a second chance for the district championship or just another ball game.

In the event that the Cats should defeat the Steers Saturday the Steers will again have a chance to start the last leg of the race neck and neck with Angelo and Sweetwater. If Steers, Mustangs and Bobcats all get mixed up what a great battle it is liable to be.

When we get down to brass tacks, this Turkey Day battle will no doubt be one of the largest games of the season. San Angelo's one great ambition of the entire season has been to beat Big Spring. If they should beat Sweetwater their chances for the district title will be enough to make them put all they have into this game and if they should lose the game Saturday their one consolation would be in beating Big Spring. But there is a bunch of Steers who're going to see that this doesn't happen. Speaking of tactics there is one particular tack which will use this game as an opportunity to show a certain Bloddy Cross of Angelo, whether he has been overrated as Texas' greatest punter as well as an all-around gridiron performer. Furthermore, there are ten more who will leave no doubt in the said Cross' mind as to whether they were in the ball game.

Having tasted defeat at the hands (or maybe the hoofs) of the Mustangs the Steers will be more determined than ever before. Not having had any real competition prior to the Sweetwater game was probably one of our handicaps but we're not trying to make any alibis for if there is anyone who can take it on the chin and like it when necessary it is the Steers, as has already been seen.

"BEAT SWEETWATER SATURDAY!" and then "BEAT SAN ANGELO THANKSGIVING!"

By FRED ROBERG

The game over. We fought and lost. "There shall be no regrets," Mattie will say. It was the freckle-faced West Texas ever witnessed. However, Tuesday the Steers took the first practice since the "11th." They are pointing to the Angelo game.

In the three years of class A Big Spring has lost one game 14 to 0 and tied the Cats last season 6 to 6. They are out to even the count and there will be a great game here on Turkey Day.

Dyer will be on crutches when the whistle blows. He played a great game against Sweetwater even while his ankle was broken. His place on the all-district will be hard to get because of his absence in the coming game.

However, the rest of the team seems to be O. K. with the exception of Mike Roberts whose hand is in plaster cast. However, both these cripples will have another shot at the Mustangs and there will not be any broken ankles or hands.

Perhaps the season will end for the Steers Thanksgiving and may be not. There will be a goodly delegation at Angelo from Big Spring and it won't take three guesses to tell who they will be yelling for.

Tomorrow—Faith in Common Sense

By HERBERT PLAMMER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (UP)—It is a little thing in politics these days to try to induce the widow of a senator or representative to take his place in congress when he dies.

It is not hard to explain. Congressional widows in the past have had a way of stepping in to fill their husbands' shoes.

Now it's Mrs. Caraway

Mrs. Caraway will be the second woman to take the place of her husband in the U. S. House of Representatives.

When Mrs. Caraway was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives, she will be the first woman to take the place of her husband in the U. S. House of Representatives.

ROLLO AND BACCHUS

She turned the young man with the spectacles. What was his name? She had forgotten.

He started talking about the empty glamor of society. Her gaze went toward the room where the young man with the spectacles looked sorry but hurried toward the silver tray in the butler's hands.

Spark Of Western Romance Kept Glowing

By 'Original Cowgirl' On Oklahoma Ranch

MULHALL, Okla. (UP)—On a small Oklahoma ranch, remnant of a once magnificent 80,000 acre estate, Lucille Mulhall, the "original cowgirl," has been left to carry on, almost alone, the traditions of the old, romantic west.

President Roosevelt called her the "last woman rider" in the saddle, and it was at his suggestion that Colonel Zach put her on the stage.

Lucille Mulhall, returning with her father to Oklahoma when her troupe days were over, found a changed order.

Folks we have the low down on what will happen in case the Bobcats win from Sweetwater Saturday and then drop the Thanksgiving tilt to the Steers.

The home stretch is just around the corner for the school boy finalists of the Interscholastic League.

Our good friend Cope at Sweetwater is always running off at the mouth about something and his time as usual he is all wet in his muttering.

Perhaps we should have said "was" instead of "is" as the center is through for the year.

Results of the Angelo-Sweetwater game will be available at the Herald office Saturday afternoon.

"QUEEN OF THE PLAINS" AND HER MOUNT

Lucille Mulhall, the "original cowgirl," boundless friendliness of the cattle says, "This new day is probably coming."

Something fine has passed with range and the open prairie and the by would agree.

There should be some conclusions to be drawn from this, but maybe the list speaks for itself.

Effects of New Discoveries

THE way in which science can upset long-established theories by means of new inventions is strikingly illustrated in two little news dispatches which appeared in the papers recently.

Whether either of these processes can successfully compete with the natural product is not yet clear.

Graduated State Income Tax Legal

AUSTIN, Nov. 15 (UP)—Former state senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas contended before the state tax survey committee here today that the state has the power under the present constitution to levy a graduated income tax.

Love advocated the income tax and abolition of the state ad valorem tax. He asserted that talk of reducing the cost of state government is futile.

of the list of major industries. No other state has as fully appreciated the importance of cultivating this tourist trade as has California, and the marvelous growth and development found there is the result of the intensive, well-directed efforts that have been made to attract tourist visitors. The annual advertising expenditure, for this purpose, is approximately one million dollars and the fact that it is possible to raise this large amount of money year after year, by State taxes and voluntary subscriptions, shows that the people of California know that it is money well spent.

Apparently, however, Texas has not yet realized what the tourist business might mean to our state, or realizing it has failed to appreciate the power of the weapons nature has placed at its disposal which would give it such a tremendous advantage in the intense competition to attract the tourist travel of the country. We have not only great advantages in climate, and variety and beauty of scenery, but also many points of romantic and historic interest in the state, which would attract thousands of tourists if we would tell the people of the country about them. In the tourist business, just as in other industries, we are suffering from lack of proper merchandising. We have the goods tourists want, but they are growing dusty on our shelves, so to speak, because we have not made the proper attempt to sell them.

It is for this reason that the work on the Broadway of America Highway Association in Texas is a step in the right direction and should have the support of the people of this state. Realizing the possibility of exploiting the favorable features of the Broadway route, this association was organized in 1928, for the purpose of inducing tourists from the East to use it in motoring to the West Coast. The activity of the organization was first directed toward closing the unpaved gaps which then existed in Arkansas and Texas. This has been accomplished and preparations are now under way for beginning the program of publicity and advertising in those sections of the country in which the major portion of the tourist travel originates.

The success of this advertising campaign is of immense importance to Texas for we stand to receive many benefits from an increase in tourist travel to and through the state. Entering at Texarkana on the east, the Broadway of America becomes state highway No. 1 which runs across to El Paso by way of Dallas and Fort Worth. In traversing this distance of 900 miles the tourist stays in the state an average of three days and purchases about 70 gallons of gasoline on which he pays to the State as gasoline tax $2.80. It is estimated from an official count by the state highway department of tourist cars using the Broadway, that these tourists will pay into the state treasury this year over $5,000,000 in gasoline tax. This sum is equal to about two and one-half per cent of the cost of the 900 miles of the highway in Texas.

Based on this same count, the total expenditures in the state of tourists along the Broadway is estimated by the association to be over $5,500,000. This huge amount is almost equal to the total value of the 1931 cotton crop in those counties through which the highway passes. When it is realized that this tremendous income from tourists is possible with practically no effort on our part, one is amazed at the possibilities that lie in well-directed efforts toward developing the business. There is no business in the state that will allow of such rapid development or show as great returns on advertising expenditures.

And contrary to the general belief, the tourist's dollar is pretty well divided among many different lines of business instead of going only to the filling stations, tourists camps or hotels, and restaurants. According to Dr. Klein, out of the average dollar spent by the tourist twenty-five cents goes to retail stores, twenty cents to restaurants, seventeen cents to hotels and camps, twelve cents to garages and filling stations, ten cents for transportation, ten cents for theaters and amusements, and six cents to confectioners. Thus the direct financial gain benefits many classes.

But the direct financial gain from money spent by tourists is not the only benefit which a state derives from the tourist business. It is a definitely known fact that an appreciable number of tourists eventually become residents of the states through which they travel. A great portion of the population of California is composed of people who came to visit and remained to live, and the same is true of other states which have made special efforts to attract tourists. Usually this class of settlers is far above the average both financially and otherwise and makes the most desirable of citizens. So in its role as a great colonizer, the Broadway of America Highway should appeal to the people of Texas. The large influx of visitors, which its exploitation will bring, will do more than anything else to increase our population with the right kind of citizens and to build up our state. In performing this service the Broadway presents the rather unusual case of highway working to the benefit of the railroads. Texas railroads are striving to bring in settlers and build up the country along their lines, and are spending thousands of dollars in advertising the virtues of the state. By cooperating with the Broadway Association and thereby bringing prospective customers to see these virtues for themselves they will have a much better chance of selling them. Every tourist through the state is a prospective settler and naturally the more prospects the more settlers.

Thus the increase of tourist travel over the Broadway through Texas offers two outstanding benefits to the state. First it will bring in, to be divided among the people, hundreds of thousands of dollars every year which will give employment to thousands who are directly or indirectly engaged in serving tourists. And second, it will serve to place before thousands of outsiders the advantages which Texas has to offer as a place to live, and thereby increase our population with the kind of people we want and need here.

The route has all the other transcontinental highways that this increase can be brought about in a short time if the proper effort is made by the state which will be benefited. Naturally, better results can be obtained by a well-directed, coordinated campaign than by sporadic, individual attempts on the part of each state, and for this reason our efforts should be exerted through the Broadway Association. The Broadway of America offers us the opportunity to share in this great three billion dollar tourist business. Figuratively speaking we have something which thirty or forty million tourists want and for which they will pay real money, but we have never realized its salability nor properly presented it to prospective purchasers. And our supply is inexhaustible for no matter how much the sales the stock is never depleted. Our climate, our scenery, and our background of historic romance will always remain to us undiminished, and even growing in appeal, when properly presented and merchandised. It is to be hoped that Texas will realize the value of this golden opportunity.

as well as other industries. The figures were obtained in a survey made by the state labor department at the request of the governor's state wide unemployment conference held here recently. It shows a larger number than had been estimated heretofore.

Sterling Refuses To Shoot At Deer In Drought Region

AUSTIN, Nov. 18. (UP)—Governor Ross Sterling returned to Austin today from his southwest Texas ranch without having taken a shot at a deer on the season's opening day.

"Deer hunting is not a sport in that section this year," the governor said. "It has been so dry that all the hunter has to do is sit by a water tank, wait for the deer to come to drink and murder them."

"You needn't tell me — I know Camel is the fresh cigarette!"

Milder because they're fresh CAMELS are never parched or toasted!

FOLKS who smoke really fresh cigarettes made from choice sun-ripened tobaccos never have to give a thought to their throats.

That's because such fresh cigarettes retain natural moisture—and are gratefully smooth, cool, throat-friendly, mild.

Camels are the fresh cigarette—everyone knows that now—they're blended from the finest Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos that money and skill can buy.

We would never dream of parching or toasting these choice sun-ripened tobaccos—that would only drive off or destroy the natural moisture that makes Camels fresh in nature's own mild way.

The Camel Humidor Pack protects a fine cigarette fresh with natural moisture—it could do little or nothing to freshen a cigarette that is dried-out or factory-stale.

If you smoke for pleasure, see for yourself what freshness means in mildness and flavor—switch to Camels for just one day—then leave them, if you can!

THE WHEEL Campus Chatter

By MATTIE SATTERWHITE

Cheer up, cheer and every one of you! Sweetwater may have beaten us, but it is gonna be "our boys" that go places and do things in Texas football this year. Just wait until Saturday when the Bobcats beat the Mustangs and then our worries will be over, because we know what the Steers are going to do Thanksgiving afternoon.

We still say the faculty is very selfish. Just think—they had a barbecue Friday night—forty pounds of beef, and only thirty-seven present, and that included George, Jr. and Miss Butler! It seems that the student body should have been represented at that too, but the only reason Mr. Gentry will give us is that they were not in the "depression." Guess everyone understands.

The pilots that took up the passengers in Big Spring Sunday and charged them according to their weight informed us that their financial worries are over since Lilian Crawford, Eddie Ford and Griffith Martin went up Sunday. It seems the depression has passed over these girls' houses or someone else's. Anyhow they took an airplane ride.

Strain our eyes as we might we failed to discover any of these 1111 members who a black eye Friday afternoon. Everyone was really disappointed about it, too. The paddles that the "B" association is using in initiations are certainly neatly made. And are being used to a good advantage—so they say. The people that happened to be down in town about 4:45 Monday afternoon complimented the boys on the splendid entertainment they furnished for them. The members of the student body who have gone through initiation sympathize with Denton, Orr, and Currie. It seems that there are two clubs in school that certainly know how to initiate new members, the "B" association and the H.I.K.E.

You have to look twice to tell whether this is an institution of higher learning or a hospital since the Armistice ball game. It's too bad that since they had to break a hand it couldn't be the good right hand, so they could at least miss one of two history tests.

We are so glad that the boys of our group are taking up the habit of using lipstick and curling their eyelashes, and we hope they will soon be arching their eyebrows. For further details see Tack Dennis, Bill Flowers, Cecil French, Virgil Sanders and Cecil Ford.

If in doubt about how many times a movie actress dyes her hair or how many kisses Ruth Mellinger, R. V. Jones or Curtis Bishop. They have just missed a movie for six weeks (thanks to Alexander Hamilton). R. V. says he hates to make them all, but the one he misses means forty cents. We are beginning to believe a few of the historians and statesmen of the past can be of service to modern youth, but we are unable to see why the authors of text books ever existed.

The campus lost one of its most favored students when Tye Shepard died in her books and moved to Bryan. In this case our loss is Bryan's gain.

Speaking of our loss being the gain of someone else, El Paso certainly gained one on our stand Leola Moffett when Tommye Lucille Gooch moved to El Paso.

Notice the worried business look

Personally Speaking

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Davenport returned last night from a week's stay in Fort Worth and Dallas.

Mrs. F. B. Mallory of Fort Worth stopped here Monday en route to El Paso. She visited her sister, Miss Nell Davis.

A. J. Bishop, the senior bidder, has taken the brakeman's run on T&P passenger trains 1 and 6, operated by R. L. Crownrich.

W. R. Ely of Abilene, chairman of the state highway commission, stopped here a few minutes Tuesday enroute home. He had a bucc strapped onto his car.

Mrs. Bernice Clayton, home improvement specialist from A.&N. College, has been in town for the past few days, looking at living rooms in the county and talking to club bedroom demonstrators.

Mrs. F. F. Gary and her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Biving, and son left today for a motor trip to Fort Worth and Dallas. They expect to be gone a week and may return by way of San Antonio, where Mrs. Fletcher Etheridge is now living.

The Rev. W. H. Martin, accompanied by the male quartet and organist of the local Episcopal Church motored to Midland Tuesday evening to hold services. With Mr. Martin, went Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Thomas, Wayne Martin, Seth H. Parsons and Bob Utley.

Joe Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Meyers, was accidentally hit just below the eye Tuesday at school recess, with a baseball bat, which broke a blood vessel and bruised him badly. He is doing very well today.

Mrs. J. L. Milner has her nephew, Wilmer Warren, of Pomona, Calif., as a visitor.

Mrs. W. W. Pendleton is doing very well at the Big Spring Hospital; she will probably remain there for four or five more days.

Mrs. Carrie Horridge of Vinton, Iowa, was expected to arrive Wednesday. She will spend the winter with her nephew, C. C. Quinn, and family, of the Tex hotel.

Man Held In Detroit For Bank Robberies

DETROIT Nov. 18 (AP)—James Overstreet was held with one man and two women in connection with bank robberies in Michigan, Kansas and Oklahoma. He first gave the name of Hall, but later admitted his identity. He escaped from prison in McAlester, Oklahoma, last June, where he was under sentence of twenty years for a bank robbery in Shawnee six years ago. Police said they found Overstreet by tracing his lawyer. Overstreet mistook a police lieutenant for another lawyer. His arrest followed.

FOUND SLAIN HOUSTON, Nov. 18 (AP)—H. I. Bennett, 72, was found slain with a shotgun in a cottage on a chicken ranch near here. He lived alone. Police expressed the belief that a tramp was responsible for the act. A partly finished letter was found on a table. Justice Campbell Overstreet's verdict was that he was slain by parties unknown.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Beale were guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. Earl P. Powell, of the Har N Ranch 12 miles north of Stanton for a wolf hunt. They killed 8 wolves. Mr. Powell has put up a wolf proof fence for a sheep pasture and is trying to get rid of as many coyotes as possible.

A jury decided the ownership of a dog at Canton, Ohio, by its stunts. Buckets of sand are the traps recommended by the bureau of fisheries to catch the small snail-like drills menacing oyster beds.
