Trial to Determine Slayer of Williams Begins Today

VENIRE OF JURYMEN CALLED

Case One of Most Interesting In Many Years

LAREDO, June 24.—(UP)—The trial of Thomas Hernandez and Raymond J. West, Laredo policemen charged with the murder of Harry Williams, former Muncie, Ind., newspaperman, was continued today until Tuesday.

A special venire of 100 jurors was subpoenaed to report Tuesday morning.

LAREDO, Texas, June 24.—(P)—The mystery which has shrouded the slaying of Harry Williams, 24, Laredo and Indiana newspaper man, whose decomposed body was found in the Rio Grande one month after his disappearance from here Jan. 19, last became a matter of court consideration today when the trial of two peace officers charged with the killing got under way.

Thomas Hernandez, 31, motorcycle officer, and Raymond J. West, 25, deputy constable, will take the principal roles in the concluding chapters of the mystery which sent federal, state, county and private agency officers scouring the border in one of the most extensive man-hunts ever known to south Texas.

The two indicted by a Webb county grand jury for the murder have said nothing since their arrest and subsequent release under $3,000 bond. Robert Lee Bobbitt, former speaker of the lower house of the Texas legislature and now district attorney, has remained equally as non-committal on the course the prosecution will take in the trial.

The indictments charged the officers with striking Williams over the head with a blunt instrument, of choking him and then tossing his body into the river which marks the division between the United States and Mexico. It was believed from that indication that the prosecution would maintain Williams was slain while the officers were attempting to make an arrest and they threw the body into the river.

For a month after the disappearance, the Williams case took its place alongside other national mysteries. A likeable youth fresh from Indiana suddenly was swallowed by the borderland to which he had

Frame-Up, Says Young Heflin

Thomas Heflin, Jr., son of Senator Heflin of Alabama, admitted to police he'd been drinking when his automobile collided with a laundry truck in Washington. But he pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of narcotics, and declared it was a frame-up. Young Heflin is shown above after his release under $1000 bond.

Woman Asks Agent For Husband, But Is Not Supplied

A new duty may be added to those already assumed by the home demonstration office, Miss Genevieve Derryberry says. "If others in the county follow suit, this office may become a matrimonial agency," she said.

A woman of the county made the singular request that the demonstration agent find her a husband. It appears that the woman in search of a spouse has designs on a philanthropic sort of an individual, features regular, sex decidedly masculine.

Everett Praises Midland's City Hall-Fire Station

"The new city hall to be constructed here will be one of the most modern I have ever seen anywhere," J. O. Everett, head of the J. O. Everetts Construction company, said this morning. Everetts has the contract for the building. His company is now engaged in building the Hotel Scharbauer addition.

"I have built city halls for several Texas cities," Everett said, "and have made it one of my duties to study plans on all others within a radius of three hundred miles. This qualifies me to state that no other city hall in a city of this size has even approached the standard set for the future by Midland."

Everett called attention to the provision made in the plans for an additional story to be added to the main part of the building, and to the Spanish architecture so well fitted for this climate.

INCOME TAX IS KILLED BY HOUSE; CITY INTERESTED

AUSTIN, June 24.—(UP)—The proposed state income tax measure was definitely killed by the House today, by a vote of 59 to 55.

A motion to reconsider it and to table the measure was adopted after voting against the state income tax. The parliamentary effect of this was to prevent it from coming up again in the House during this session.

Friends of the bill asserted the belief in the House today that it will be the chief issue in the next state campaign.

AUSTIN, June 24.—(P)—The House repassed the four cent gasoline tax bill today in order to obtain the hundred votes necessary to place it into immediate effect should the senate favor it.

The state income tax bill was killed definitely for this session when the house refused to order it printed on the minority report.

Transcontinental Flyer Passes Over Midland, Thought

ALBUQUERQUE, June 24.—(UP)—Captain Frank Hawks, flying from Los Angeles, passed over this city today bucking a heavy headwind. Hawks, holder of the west to east non-stop record, left Los Angeles early today. He will attempt to make a new record on transcontinental time from the east to the west after he arrives in New York. He was proceeding to New York today by easy stages.

It was not known whether Hawks would fly over Midland on his way to the east today. Field-Manager H. M. Becherer said, however, that he believed a Lockheed Vega monoplane a few minutes before noon. Hawks has always flown this model craft on other flights and the ship went over the port at about the time scheduled for cruising flight out of Los Angeles.

Fifth Floor On Addition To Be Poured Thursday

Work on the garage section of Hotel Scharbauer's new addition will begin immediately, following the arrival here of two cars of structural steel. Great 60-foot trusses will give clearance on the floor of the section, J. O. Everetts, who holds contract for the addition, says.

Forms under the fifth floor of the guest room section of the addition are being constructed today. The fourth floor was poured Friday. Columns under the fifth floor will be poured Tuesday, steel on the deck placed Tuesday and Wednesday, and the slab poured Thursday, according to indications.

Construction on the building is proceeding at an exceptional pace.

PLANES AND SHIPS TO PLY

Investigation of Hoax Will Be Held by Authorities

MADRID, June 24.—(P)—Alarmed by the disappearance of Captain Ramon Franco and three companions on the flight to New York via the Azores, Spanish authorities today dispatched destroyers and airplanes to scour the sea between Spain and the Azores. The Spanish government is particularly eager to run down a report from a British merchantman stating it had seen airplane wreckage floating in the sea about 100 miles off the Azores. No persons were reported to be aboard.

PORTUGAL TO AID UNDATED—The Spanish government, aided by Portugal, exerted every resource at its command today to locate Commander Ramon Franco and three airmen in the seaplane Dornier, No. 16, believed to have been lost somewhere between Portugal and the Azores.

The British embassy at Madrid was solicited to lend aid of an airplane carrier from Gibraltar to aid the search.

Coincidentally, the Spanish government opened inquiry regarding means by which the Spanish people were hoaxed Saturday through unconfirmed and baseless rumors that the flyers had landed safely at San Miguel island, most easterly of the Azores archipelago.

Rabbit Almost Wrecks Driver Coming Here

Ralph Cliff of San Angelo had a peculiar experience when driving to Midland. A jackrabbit tried racing across the road ahead of Cliff's speeding automobile. When it saw that it would be unable to get across, the rabbit tried jumping the radiator, but crashed into the windshield in front of Cliff.

Glass was shattered into the face of the driver, but he was fortunately scratched only lightly.

The body of the rabbit was badly cut by the trip through the windshield. The driver let the animal lie where it fell, on the floor of his car. After driving for about twelve miles, the rabbit felt animated enough to leap out of his speeding prison and into the road, where he set a bewildering course for the brush fringing it.

She, hailed as one of America's foremost young musicians, is appearing in a series of recitals at the recently opened exposition in Barcelona, Spain. And you'd know she plays a pretty tune.

THE GOVERNOR'S SALARY

Jas. E. Ferguson, former governor of Texas, and later husband of the governor of Texas, has written a letter to the editor of The Reporter-Telegram with respect to the two constitutional amendments to be voted on by Texas voters on July 16.

While The Reporter-Telegram takes no part in politics, the editor does not regard these issues as political, but as matters of business to citizens of Texas. Hence, the part of Mr. Ferguson's letter which concerns the governor's salary is printed in the "letters to the editor" column, and a reply is made herein.

The other part of Mr. Ferguson's letter has reference to the increase of the supreme court from three to nine judges. He is against that amendment, and this editor may agree with him. At least, the subject will not be debated here.

Mr. Ferguson takes the attitude that the increase in the governor's salary from $4,000 to $10,000 sets a bad example.

In the opinion of The Reporter-Telegram editor, there never was a worse example of backwardness than the paying of so small a salary to the highest officer of the state. The small salary does not attract able men unless they have other reasons for wanting to hold office.

The average man whose ability is sufficient to enable him to make Texas a good governor is making from $10,000 upward. If he is willing to give up his private business or professional to serve as governor, especially when the expense of being elected to office is considered, it is possible that he has "an axe to grind", desires the office as a "stepping stone", or seeks fame or "notoriety."

None of these desires to hold office are proper to attract a governor for Texas. The emolument of the office should be sufficient to attract men of exceptional executive ability, which would ordinarily mean that the good man would be elected to office, as the average voter would rather play safe than to elect a sensational candidate whose purpose in seeking the office is questionable.

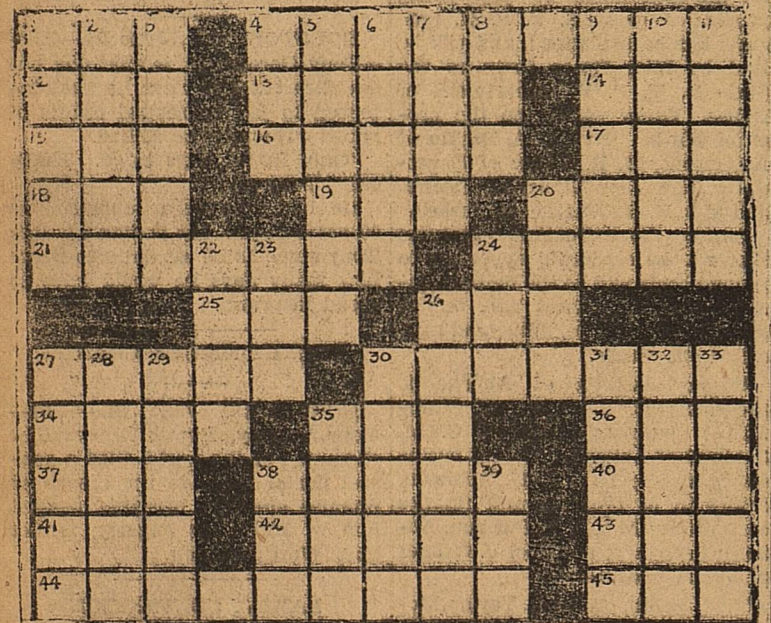

VAN PELT, JR. ON THE WHITE HOUSE TEA DISPUTE

EDITOR'S NOTE: Our friend, Dedrick Van Pelt, Jr., has touched a matter of general interest in this humorous balancing of chips on both shoulders. He, while not adhering to the editorial policy of this paper, is to be commended by the modern sociologist who believes in community of relations in the social sense up to the point where these enter the limit of what is termed "miscegenation," a blending of the two types through intermarriage. The writer writes from an experience that is not assumed; he has been at the capital, inside the walls of the capitol, in Washington. Even at that, however, we suspect the gentleman of being humorous to the neglect of conviction.)

NO FUN INSPECTING AIR FIELDS ON HORSEBACK

Senator Bingham of Connecticut, known as the "Flying Senator," airs some of his views on the many problems that confront the air service. Bingham has worked to bring about a reorganization of air affairs in the army and navy.

"It is hoped that, as a result," says Reuben Maury, "the next war will not see quite so many incidents like the one which Bingham relates of the cavalry officer who tried to inspect a flying field on horseback, whose horse was frightened by the whirling propellers, and who accordingly bellowed: 'Stop those fliers. Don't you see they scare my horse?'"

"During the war Bingham, then a Lieutenant-Colonel of air service, had charge of the important aviation instruction center at Issoudun, France, training ground of so many American aces.

LEAD US TO UTOPIA—ALL WOMEN ARE PRETTY

First aids to feminine beauty will be unpopular in the new Utopia, or ideal state, as it is conceived by Professor John B. Watson, noted founder of the extreme school of behaviorist psychology. "All of the women in Utopia will be considered beautiful," he writes. "The stock from which all these women come was chosen with reference to that point. Again, all the women are graceful and strong, due to their outdoor life, dancing and athletics. They are small to medium in stature. . . . There are no fat women in Utopia and no fat men. Fat is looked upon in the same way as incontinence in other bodily functions."

Greta Garbo

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of "Close-Ups" of motion picture stars—brief, sparkling interviews on beauty topics—which will appear in The Reporter-Telegram.

By MABEL DUKE For NEA Service

There's a legend in Hollywood concerning the eyelashes of Greta Garbo. When she first came to this country from Sweden to make pictures, it is said she was asked to clip the ends of her lashes to remove the shadows they cast on her face before the camera.

Be that as it may, those long, thick, curling lashes are responsible for much of the mysterious allure which is hers.

"Any girl may have long thick lashes if she will give them the proper care," advises Miss Garbo, "and, incidentally, they require as great care as the hair, hands or complexion."

Making the Lashes Grow

"The two factors I've found important in encouraging their growth are nourishment and stimulation. Yellow oxide of mercury is best for nourishment. Rub it into the lashes each night before retiring. It also may be used to remove powder from the lashes after making-up by those who find mascara too obvious. "Vaseline may be used instead of this preparation.

"For stimulation, form a habit of pulling the lashes gently with the thumb and first finger, pulling out the loose hairs. Don't pull too strongly, for it will break down the tissues of the eyelids. Further, brush the lashes each night with a soft-eyelash brush, always brushing upward for the upper ones and downward for those beneath, encouraging a graceful sweep of the lashes."

LETTERS to the EDITOR

EDITOR'S NOTE—Readers of The Reporter-Telegram are invited to use this column. Scurrilous and defamatory articles will not be considered. Typewritten copy, preferably triple-spaced, will be given preference. All letters must be signed by the correct name. No others will be accepted.)

Austin, Texas, June 19, 1929.

Dear Editor: On Tuesday, July 16th, next, there will be held an election to determine whether two constitutional amendments submitted by the present legislature shall be adopted by the people.

One of these amendments is to raise the governor's salary to $10,000.00 a year.

Contrary to custom to submit constitutional amendments at the general election these two amendments are submitted on Tuesday when it is hoped that the farmers in the country and the working people in the towns won't take time to go and vote on a week day. These two amendments were hatched in the minds of certain corporation and political lawyers who are trying to slip upon the blind side of somebody and pass two amendments which are not needed or demanded by the people.

It looks like every time we turn around we meet some politician wanting to create a new job and pay somebody $10,000.00 a year. It looks like it is time to call a halt on this $10,000.00 a year foolishness. If the thing ain't stopped everybody we elect will begin to want $10,000.00 a year.

The idea of these two amendments is to set the example of $10,000.00 for the governor and the supreme court and then there will be about 100 more state officials that will want the same. These two amendments should be defeated for no other reason than for the people to put their foot on this continual raise in official salaries.

The governor already gets $4,000 a year and in addition he gets a full mansion house to live in, he gets his servant hire free to keep his house clean, cook his meals and keep his yard and flowers. He gets free his ice, light, water and fuel.

He gets free telephones and telegraph service and $500 a year traveling expense. A private citizen would have to pay at least $4,500.00 a year for this service. This added to his salary makes $8,500 a year. It is enough and it is a waste of public money to want to give him $6,000 a year more. This is no time to raise salaries let alone more than double them.

Yours truly, (Signed) Jas. E. Ferguson.

BACLANOVA WEARS FORTUNE IN JEWELS IN NEW CINEMA

A fortune in jewelry; a collection of diamonds, pearls, platinum and gold valued at $100,000, is worn by Baclanova, the great Russian actress, in Paramount's picture "The Wolf of Wall Street," all talking, which stars George Bancroft.

Such a display was not premeditated by Rowland V. Lee, the director of the picture, but came about purely through fortunate coincidence.

On the morning the "jewel scene" was being filmed at the Paramount studios in Hollywood the set was visited by a diamond broker, Joseph McCloskey, who had come to the studios through appointment with Bancroft, McCloskey, through years of dealing with the stars of Hollywood, has built up one of the greatest jewelry businesses in the world.

The broker, of course, brought case after case of samples of his stock and it was from this collection that Lee "borrowed" the $100,000 collection for Baclanova to wear in the picture in place of the past jewelry that the property department had supplied. Showing at the Ritz now.

AIR PLANE PHONE SERVICE

Suppose you were playing bridge some evening and upon answering your phone found yourself conversing with a friend or relative who was, at the time, traveling at an altitude of many thousands of feet in the air and at a speed of a hundred miles an hour? Impossible as this may sound it has been accomplished successfully, as explained in The Advance of Aviation in America by the Hon. William P. McCracken, Jr., Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics, in the June issue of the Texas Commercial News. The article states that phone service is just one of the miracles of present day aviation. The reliability and safety of plane travel with the radio to warn of danger, the radio beacon to guide the pilot, and master minds of the age bending every effort toward improving air travel is pointed out by Mr. McCracken. The article is accompanied by two photographs, one of an early plane and another of a modern twelve passenger air liner. These tell the story of the remarkable development of aeronautics. Very few of us would care to risk a ride in the first type plane which heralded the approach of our present swift and safe air liners.

The prodigal was identified by a missing tooth, which has been kicked out by a mule.

Tailtwister Aided Wooden Leg, Judge Tells Lion Club

Due to three reasons—the hangover of public interest in the recent Lions club tailtwister election, the demand of members of the organization for its publication, and the certainty of value in occasional speeches of that sort in the club—the stump speech of Judge J. M. Gilmore in defence of his preference, Doctor David M. Ellis, is reproduced below.

The address incited howls of laughter from both factions in the club.

"Being intently modest and of a reticent and retiring disposition, it requires a Herculean front on my part to push myself into the limelight on an occasion like this, by raising my feeble voice in the defense of a brother Lion who has been charged by his opponent with various and sundry offenses against the laws of our community and the commonwealth.

"So I wish to say to you that when my bosom friend and candidate, Lion David McAleb Ellis (Heaven forgive his parents for giving him such a misnomer) was being bitterly assailed by his antagonist and his antagonist's cohorts, who have entered into an horrible conspiracy to rob my friend of what was dearer to him than life itself, his good name, would I not be a base ingrate if I did not fly to the assistance of this worthy brother? For was it not said by Shakespeare, the Bard of Avon 'He who steals my purse steals trash; but he who filches my good name steals something I never had?'"

"You would, possibly like to know how strong is the bond of friendship and brotherly love that exists between David McAleb Ellis and myself. I will say to you that he is to me as Jeff is to Mutt—and lest there be a scintilla of doubt in your minds as to how strong, sincere and ardent is this bond of indissoluble friendship between us, I will say that he is to me as Barney Google is to Horseface Klotz.

"And why do I hold this eminent and skilled practitioner of the arts chiropractic, who so deftly and successfully manipulates and adjusts the vertebrae of his ailing patients and so wondrously massages the pulses of his subjects with such high regard and esteem, that I am willing, yes anxious, to thrust my head into the Lions' den as Daniel did in days of old and try to save my friend from those ravenous and rapacious beasts who fain would devour him. It is because of the fact that when it seemed for a while that if I did not have skillful treatment I would be afflicted with hardening of the arteries in my wooden limb, which might result in chronic rheumatism, this kind hearted doctor, the noble Roman, this skillful doctor, flew to my relief and without the hope of fee or reward, did so tenderly and gently and patiently and lovingly massage the muscles of ligaments of my wooden leg that I was instantly relieved of pain and made such skillful adjustments in the buckles and straps of this cork limb that I am entirely cured and am a happy man.

"So, my fellow Lions, do you not think that after being the recipient of all these favors at the hands of my benefactor, that I would be profoundly ungrateful and anything but a true and trusted friend if I did not so far as I am able try to defend his reputation and character—if any—so that when the coterie of character assassins bring before this club such a bunch of detestable, abominable, despicable, contemptible, atrocious, odious, horrible, terrible and diabolical charges as they have brought against my bosom friend, do you think that I could sit still and hear him vilified? Nay, Pauline, I could not do so.

"This leads me to inquire who the perpetrators and instigators of this villainous attack on my friend's standing in our club are. Aha, I have it like Sherlock Holmes and Hawkshaw the detective. I have deduced the fact that it has been done by a bunch of henchmen or hirelings or myrmidons of a certain ruddy, rubicund, obese, robust gentleman who has been badly stung by the bee of ambition, whose burning desire to emblazon his name on the scroll of fame by becoming the tailtwister of this notable organization, and so eager and impetuous is he to attain to success he has adopted the tactics of a Mussolini and if not halted will ride rough-shod and ruthlessly over the body of my friend who has unfortunately been stung by the same bee and aspires to go down in history as the greatest tailtwister of the twentieth century. This is a very laudable emotion and I am here to back him up in this manly effort to immortality, even if it takes all the blood in my wooden leg. "My friends, the worthy opponent of my candidate friend has attempted to tell you in separate electioneered convalescence that I am not dependable, either as a man or as a booster for my candidate. He has told you that I will not repay money borrowed. He introduced me to this honorable organization a few months ago by the statement that, in substance, I owed him $3, had, in fact, owed him this insignificant bill for three years.

"Fellow Lions, the reverse is the real truth. I loaned the rival candidate's manager $7 to shoot craps with several weeks ago and I have only succeeded in extracting from him the sum of $3. When I suggested that if he could not, or would not, pay the principal on the debt that he at least pay the interest, he replied something like this: "It is not to my interest to pay the principal, neither is it my principal to pay the interest."

"Fellow Lions, let it not be said that a candidate with such a henchman is known as tailtwister of a noble organization like this. It would be more than absurd."

Dana Bible Faced With Weak Team At U. of Nebraska

By NOLEN MULLOCH United Press Staff Correspondent LINCOLN, Neb., June 24.—(UP)—Faced with the loss of seven starting regulars, one of the hardest football schedules in the country, making his debut into a new conference—and yet optimistic. That is Dana X. Bible, new head coach of the University of Nebraska.

Bible, former dean of Texas football coaches, had just finished a workout with his coaching school for Nebraska high school coaches when he commented to the United Press: "Things look pretty good in Nebraska for next fall." Then he grinned. "Sure, we have a tough job ahead of us—awfully tough."

He grinned again. Down in Texas at College Station they swear by that grin. Behind it is the fighting spirit which turned out five conference winning teams during the 12 years that Bible was head coach of A. & M.

"We are going to have a lot of work to do. We lost seven starting regulars, virtually our entire line, and two stellar backfield men. Of course, I haven't had an opportunity to see what we have in store for next fall, except I do know we have a rather stiff schedule."

The schedule consists of Southern Methodist University of Dallas, Syracuse, Pittsburgh, and Missouri as the first four games of the season. The four teams are rated among the best in the country.

THE ONE THING THAT SEEMS TO BOTH NEW CORNHUSKER COACH MOST IS ADJUSTING HIS MEN TO THE NEW STYLE OF FOOTBALL HE WILL INTRODUCE THIS YEAR.

Ball Players Just Will Get Nicknames; Explanation Comes Out From Camps

DALLAS, Tex., June 24.—(P)—Ordinarily the inspiration for an athlete's nickname is obvious, but occasionally one crops up that defies the imagination. Take the case of James Catoe Galloway, pilot of the Wichita Falls Spudders, and William Harrison Sears, former Cat outfielder and now a respected member of the umpire's fraternity.

Those are their correct names. "Bad News Jim" Galloway and Ziggy Sears, as they are known to every Texas League baseball fan, were provided with good, sturdy handles at the christening. How they came by their nommes de horsehide is the story.

Due to his penchant for socking balls over the fence in the palmy days, Galloway's colorful cognomen has been attributed widely to the effect his appearance at the plate had on opposing pitchers. But Jim says that's all wrong. He came by it 20 years ago, he revealed recently, while playing with St. Louis, and it had nothing to do with his batting prowess.

One day Jim wanted to play hookey from the game and go fishing, or something. He arranged with a messenger boy to deliver a wire just before the game started, informing him of his grandmother's death. A couple of Jim's teammates were wise to the scheme, so they arranged for several more boys to present similar messages. The result was a deluge of "bad news."

One of the first things Bible will be forced to work on will be a new line. Nebraska lost Holm, guard; James, center; McMullen, guard; Munn, tackle; and Ashburn, end. In addition, four first string substitute linemen were lost through graduation or dropping out of school. They are Lyon, Zuver, Galloway, and Lucas.

In the backfield the Cornhuskers lost "Blue" Howell, one of the greatest ball carriers in years, and Russell, sensational quarterback. Another disadvantage will be the fact that Southern Methodist, the first team to be played, starts training Sept. 10 and plays two games before coming to Lincoln to open Nebraska's schedule. The Dallas school has won national recognition in the past few years for its sensational teams.

Trained hard and developed into quick form for this important game, the Huskers then jump to Syracuse for a second game, back to Lincoln for a third with Pittsburgh, then to Columbia, Mo., for the biggest of the Big Six games. Last year, for the first time in three years, the Cornhuskers defeated Missouri.

Before Jeems finished reading the first message, another boy dashed up to the dugout, and they kept coming for some time. From then on it was "Bad News Jim," and it stuck through the years.

Sears credits Jakey Atz with dubbing him Ziggy, and manages to get a laugh out of it. The name was hung on him the day he reported to the Panthers from Detroit, he says. He has never seen anything else in the Texas League.

Two weeks before Sears reported to the Cats, a left-handed pitcher named Ziggy Shears had been sent down from St. Louis for a tryout. He appeared at the Fort Worth station with a bird cage in one hand containing a parrot and an umbrella in the other. Sears swears, and an umpire must be truthful. The news spread, and for the next 10 days Shears was a sensation in the Panther camp, nothing less. At the end of that period he was shipped elsewhere, and the Detroit Sears appeared in camp.

Atz gave the newcomer the once over and grinned: "Get out on the field, Ziggy, and show us what you can do."

Sears knows no other name now. His insurance, his bank account, his automobile license, everything is made out to Ziggy Sears.

"Don't some of the boys call you something else when they think you've missed one?" he was asked. "Not very loud," Ziggy replied.

NE WYORK, June 25.—(P)—The four-hundred hitter has returned to the National League in the person of Frank O'Doul, the hard-hitting Philadelphia, who did himself no harm on his home field last Wednesday in the serious business of losing two to the Giants. O'Doul's run of six hits in ten times at bat in those two games lifted his average to an even .400 for the period ending Wednesday, the last date included in the figures made public today.

leads the league in runs batted in with 69 and his teammate, Taylor Douthit, in runs scored with 57. Kiki Cuyler of the Cubs is the best base stealer, with 17 to his credit.

Although Burleigh Grimes suffered his first defeat of the season last Sunday when the Reds became unruly, he still heads the pitching procession with ten victories and one defeat for a percentage of .909. Grimes also shows the way in total innings with 120, but Red Lucas of Cincinnati shades him in complete games won and one lost for .857.

Regular batsmen following the two top men in the individual list are: Herman, Brooklyn, .387; Frisch, St. Louis, .376; Klein, Philadelphia, .373; Roush, New York, .370; Stephenson, Chicago, .369; Traynor, Pittsburgh, .352; Hafey, St. Louis, .351, and Cuyler, Chicago, .345.

The Phillies led in team batting with .316, followed by the Giants with .306. The Pirates have .296. The Giants and the Cubs are tied for the top in team fielding, each with .974, three points above the third-place Reds.

BRADY RANCHER GETS

BRADY, Texas, June 24.—(P)—A E. Neal, rancher and weather prophet, may be a prophet without honor in his own country, but he has made plenty of money wagering that it would rain on a certain day.

There are few skeptics left when it comes to putting up their money against Neal's weather predictions. For the last ten years he has foretold the course of the clouds and has hardly ever missed a forecast.

Neal has not a single meteorological instrument on his ranch now, has he ever taken a course in meteorology.

More than 1,350 shocks were felt during the Japanese earthquake of 1923, which took a toll of 200,000 lives.
