Jennings Chosen For Fina Team

Fina Oil and Chemical Company, the main operating subsidiary of American Petrofina, Incorporated, announced that 12 high school seniors, who combined athletics with classroom success and leadership in school and community life, have been named to the 1989-90 Fina All-State Scholar-Athlete Team.

Mia Marcel Jennings, senior at the Lazbuddie High School, was the only student from this area named to the elite 'Team.'

The Team members, representing public and private high schools throughout Texas, were selected by a panel of judges from the 64 finalists whose names were announced in January. More than 2,000 athletes, meeting the program's challenging eligibility requirements, submitted applications.

Each qualified applicant had to be a high school senior participating in varsity athletics at the interscholastic level, be in the top 10 percent of his or her class, and have a grade average of 90 or above.

Although they must have received a varsity letter, athletic ability in itself was not the major determinant in the selection process. In addition to athletic and academic achievement, the candidate was judged on leadership in worthwhile school and community activities.

At the time the applications were submitted, 10 of the 12 finalists ranked first in their class, while the remaining two ranked second. Most were either captains of their respective teams, class officers, or held student government positions. All were actively involved in their communities, schools, churches and local charities.

"The magnificent achievements of the young men and women selected to this year's Team makes us very proud," said Ron W. Haddock, president and chief executive officer of American Petrofina, Incorporated. "By spotlighting their great accomplishments, we hope to encourage others to emulate them and to accentuate the fact that the talent, dedication, and enthusiasm of high school athletes extend far beyond the playing field or arena."

Each of the 12 team members will receive a $3,500 college scholarship and will be honored, along with his or her parents and coaches, at a June awards banquet in Dallas.

He is moving to Muleshoe from the Seminole area.

He and his wife, Pauline, are the parents of Steven, 26, with the U. S. Navy in San Diego; Bradley, 19, with the U. S. Navy in Washington and Alana Lee, 17, a junior at Seminole High School.

Sheriff Jerry Hicks commented on the appointment, "Benny had contacted me some months earlier about the possibility of serving as a deputy in the Maple area if a third deputy was authorized by commissioners court."

"Although the timing right now is bad, in mid-February, Richard Bonham unexpectedly turned in his resignation to move to Florida."

"At this time," added the sheriff, "and recognizing the need for a deputy in the south part of the county, I am assigning Deputy Clifton to Maple."

Sheriff Hicks also said that as far as he can find in the sheriff's

HD Administrator Resigns; Interim Assigned Here

Wednesday afternoon, Rita Mason, Regional Services Coordinator for Methodist Hospital of Lubbock, announced the resignation of Phil Langston, Muleshoe Area Hospital District Administrator. He resigned on Tuesday, February 27.

Mrs. Mason said she will be interim administrator until a new administrator can be obtained for the hospital.

Methodist has a contract with Muleshoe Area Hospital District to provide the administrator, and Mrs. Mason said MAHD will probably have a called board meeting in the next few days to address the acquisition of a new administrator.

"We do not believe it will take much time," added Mrs. Mason, "we already have several names of persons who are interested."

"In the meantime, I will be at the hospital every day, and will be here for a period of time after a new administrator comes in," she continued. "We have been very busy and are making a lot of progress."

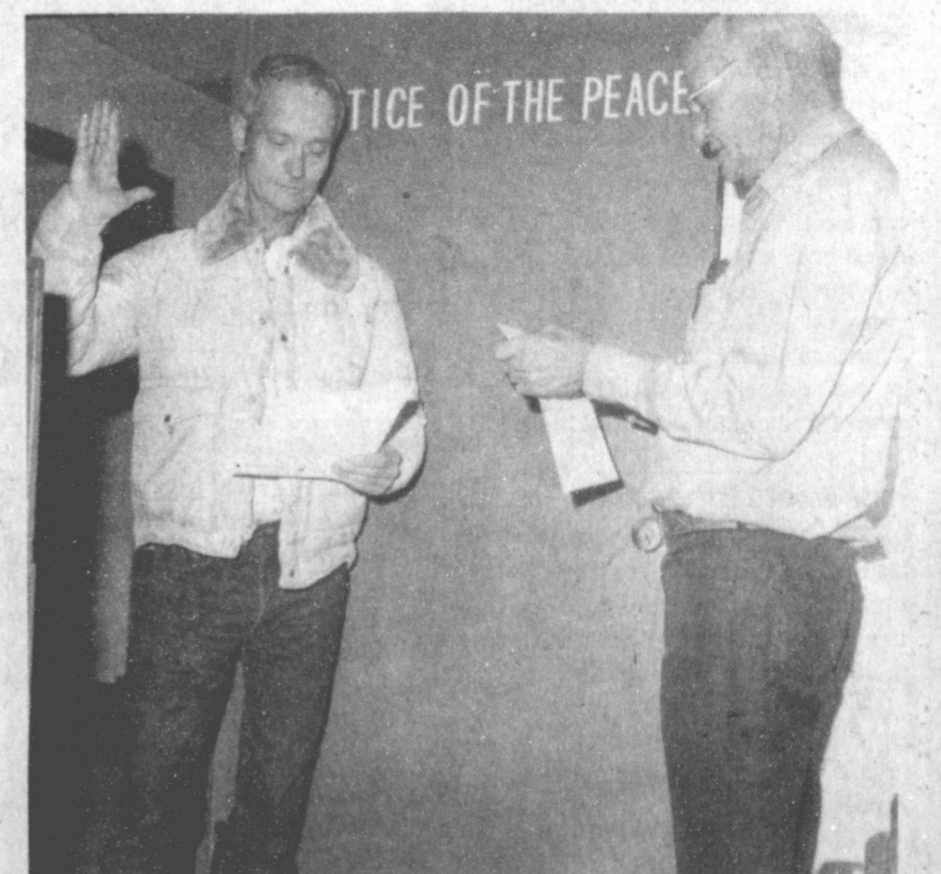

The interim administrator said she had a department meeting Wednesday morning, and the staff was very understanding, and hospital morale was good.

She said Langston, who had not moved his family to Muleshoe, had already returned to Oklahoma.

"I trust that we will make some decisions pretty soon," added Mrs. Mason.

AAUW To Sponsor Blue Ribbon Campaign

During the week March 4 to 10 AAUW will marshal its resources to focus on a national tragedy: adolescent pregnancy. In divisions across the country, AAUW members will implement The Blue Ribbon Campaign. An information/awareness project, the Blue Ribbon Campaign is designed to let people know the extent and impact of teen pregnancy. The Campaign encourages all AAUW members, as well as the general public, to wear a blue ribbon in order to generate public awareness and action for teen pregnancy.

In 1987, there were 45,396 births to Texas Adolescents between the ages of 10 and 19. Of these, 21,063 were out-of-wedlock.

Facts such as these make it clear that teen age pregnancy is rapidly becoming an epidemic in our state and nation. Aware of the negative impact the crisis has on all our lives and, more especially, on the lives of young mothers and their babies, the Muleshoe branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW) is joining other AAUW branches in Texas in encouraging their members and members of other concerned organizations to wear bright blue bow knots pinned to their lapels during AAUW week March 4-10 in the hope of generating public awareness of the enormous toll, emotional, social and economic, teen pregnancy is reaping in our communities.

For information on the blue ribbon campaign and ways to help reduce the incidence of teen pregnancy, contact Mary Umlauf PHD, 3224 22nd St., Lubbock, TX 79410. Ms. Umlauf is the coordinator.

EXENCIONES DE RESIDENCIA

PUEDEN REDUCIR LOS IMPUESTOS QUE PAGA POR SU CASA

Una exencion de residencia

le ayuda a reducir los impuestos sobre la propiedad que tiene que pagar por su residencia reduciendo el valor que se utiliza como base para calcular sus impuestos. Por ejemplo, si su casa esta valorada de $50,000 y usted recibe una exencion de residencia de $5,000, usted va a pagar impuestos de residencia como si su valor fuese de $45,000.

Usted puede recibir

una exencion de residencia si usted era el dueno de su casa el primero de enero y la usaba como su residencia principal en la misma fecha. No importa si su residencia es una casa, un condominio o una casa remolque.

Hay exenciones

que cualquier persona que es dueno(a) de su residencia puede usar para rebajar sus impuestos escolares. Exenciones adicionales se ofrecen a duenos de residencia que estan incapacitados o tienen 65 anos o mas. Otras exenciones pueden ofrecerse a propietarios por distritos escolares, condados, ciudades y distritos escolares.

Solicite todas

las exenciones que usted puede recibir en la oficina local del distrito de valoracion en la direccion que se cita abajo.

Si usted recibio una exencion para su residencia actual en 1989, usted no necesita solicitar para 1990 a menos que el jefe de valoracion pida que haga una nueva solicitud.

Sin embargo, si usted cumplio 65 anos o quedo incapacitado antes del primero de enero haga una nueva solicitud para recibir exenciones adicionales.

Si usted no ha recibido una exencion para su residencia actual o si se cambio de casa haga una nueva solicitud para 1990.

Usted tiene que hacer

su solicitud antes del 1 de mayo de 1990. Comuniquese con su distrito de valoracion antes de esa fecha si necesita mas tiempo para hacerla.

Para tener mas informacion usted puede recibir una copia gratis del folleto Los Derechos, Remedios y Responsabilidades del Contribuyente de Impuestos en la oficina del distrito de valoracion o puede pedirla del Consejo Estatal de Impuestos sobre la Propiedad (State Property Tax Board) en Austin.

Referendum Set April 4 For Producers

Texas corn producers will elect the board of directors to administer the statewide research and promotion program proposed in an April 4 referendum sponsored by Texas Corn Producers Board (TCPB). Referendum passage will establish a statewide unified program of market development and expansion and work on control of aflatoxin, insects and other production problems. The goal of the program is to keep corn a profitable crop in the nineties. Nine directors will be elected from a slate of nominees submitted by producers. Any corn farmer in the state is eligible to vote or to be nominated to serve on the board of directors. A nomination must be submitted to TCPB prior to a March 4 deadline. It must be signed by the nominee (agreeing to serve if elected) and ten other corn farmers.

The statewide referendum has been called at the requests of corn farmers throughout the state. Aflatoxin has threatened corn production throughout the Blacklands and South Texas regions. Insects and diseases have also been an increasing problem in many areas. Producers have called for a research and promotion program to be financed by a unified checkoff of a

TAXPAYERS' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities

Want to learn more about the property tax system? That's possible by reading a pamphlet the State Property Tax Board has written and made available at the local appraisal district office.

It's called "Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities" and it may help you save money. Learn about tax relief available through

- homestead exemptions
- disabled veteran exemptions
- special productivity value for farm, ranch, and timber land
- tax deferral for over-65 homeowners

You'll learn how your property is appraised. That way, you can decide if the appraisal district's value is reasonable.

If you think it isn't, the pamphlet tells you how to prepare an appeal to the appraisal review board. You'll learn the types of protests the appraisal review board can hear and useful evidence to bring to your hearing.

Important dates in the tax year are listed. You'll know what your responsibilities are and when you are obligated to satisfy them.

"Remedies" is free to taxpayers. Ask for yours today at maximum of one-half cent per bushel to be collected at the first point of sale. The assessment will be refunded by TXPB upon request of the producer.

Ballots will be mailed to Texas corn farmers in March. Ballots will also be available at county agents' offices. Marked ballots must be postmarked and returned no later than April 4. Producers in the current seven-county TCPB area will vote only on the directors and not in the referendum.

In a referendum, directors (by law) must be elected "at large." TCPB has voted to establish districts and directorships based upon production after the passage of the referendum. During the transition, every corn producing region will be represented by producer-elected directors and representatives.

TCPB currently serves a seven-county area in the Texas High Plains. The area produces over thirty percent of the corn in Texas. TCPB has been very effective in implementation of insect control programs and development and expansion of corn markets. Weldon Davis, TCPB chairman, encourages all Texas corn farmers to study the opportunities of a statewide program and to participate in the election process.

Creative Living

by: Sheryl Borden

Information on a "Survival Kit for Mothers," having the perfect picnic, and the newest in fashions will be the featured topics on "Creative Living" on Tuesday, March 6 at 12 noon and Saturday, March 10 at 2 p.m. (All times are Mountain.)

Kay Willis, founder of Mothers Matter in Rutherford, NJ, is going to share what she calls a "Survival Kit for Mothers." According to Kay, motherhood deserves the same recognition as other professions, and probably all mothers would agree. Some of the items she will show are obvious, some are a surprise, and some apparently whimsical, but each is chosen to focus on the principals of the Mothers' Matter philosophy.

Teresa Farney, with the National Turkey Federation in Reston, VA, will show how to serve a perfect picnic by choosing nutritious foods that are easy to prepare. Teresa is going to show an array of meals all made from nutritious, low-calorie lean turkey.

Jacqueline Davis, designer for Lady J in Clovis, will share her fashion forecast. Each season it is exciting to see what new colors, new styles, and new fabrics the designers will feature.

On Tuesday, March 6 at 9:30 p.m. "Creative Living" will not air due to the pledge drive, but will return to its regularly scheduled time on March 20.

On Thursday, March 8 at 12 noon, "Creative Living" will present information on making burgers out of turkey, decorating lamps, and making salads.

Teresa Farney, with the National Turkey Federation in Reston, VA, will demonstrate using lean ground turkey in a variety of recipes. Burgers will never be the same now that low-calorie ground turkey has been discovered.

Lana Schulte, Extension Home Economist in Socorro, N.M., will talk about ways to do budget decorating with lamps you make yourself--and it involves using items in the house that will personalize decorating. Lana will also show a lamp wiring kit--which can be bought in any hardware store--that can be used in several different household items--such as candle holders, gumball machines, even baskets. The result is that each of these items will be turned into usable and attractive lamps for the home.

Marlene Brown, a writer, consultant, and owner of Marlene's Cuisine in Los Angeles, CA, will demonstrate how three easy "off-the-shelf" salads can be made with ingredients on hand from the pantry or the refrigerator--and without using a specific recipe.

"Creative Living" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show is carried on more than 100 PBS stations in the United States, Canada, Guam and Puerto Rico and is distributed by Pacific Mountain Network, Denver, CO. Viewers can request copies of materials offered on the show by sending one 25 cents stamp for each handout requested. Send the stamps, along with your name, address and booklets

Unique Farm Planned By Extension Researchers

Lack of adequate rainfall for the past two years, coupled with lower than normal yields for last year's cotton crop, may mean South Plains cotton farmers already have enough of some nutrients stored in their soil for this year's crop, says a soil chemist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Considering the drouth we have experienced over the last two years, particularly last year, with the reduced yields that we had over the entire area, residual soil nutrients must be considered," Dr. Michael Hickey, head of the Extension Service Soil Testing Laboratory in Lubbock, cautioned cotton farmers.

"The low-yielding cotton we grew last year was unable to utilize the fertilizer materials that were applied," Hickey said. "And from the harvest until the present, we haven't had moisture that would leach any appreciable nutrients, in particular nitrogen, deep into the (soil) profile."

Much of the fertilizer applied last year will still be in the soil and can be used by this year's crop, which is yet to be planted, the soil chemist explained.

"If we don't consider those farther from Muleshoe than Clovis or Littlefield. They have drug problems there, the same as all small communities. It bothers me that we have not had an officer who can respond quickly if he is needed."

Sheriff Hicks said he would like to express his sincere appreciation to Five Area Telephone Cooperative.

He said, "They have done a superb job assisting in obtaining a phone in the new sheriff's substation in Maple."

"They have been very cooperative in assessing our needs and getting the phone installed."

The Maple sheriff's office number is 946-3300.

Sheriff Hicks explained that anyone on the Maple exchange can call that number and if Deputy Clifton is not there, the system is automatically set up to forward the call to the sheriff's office in Muleshoe. This is done without the user having to pay a long distance charge.

Deputy Benny Clifton officially began his new duties on Thursday, March 1. He has already moved to Maple. His wife and daughter will be joining him in Maple as soon as school is over in Seminole.

materials, the possibility exists for the over-application of fertilizer," which could have harmful effects, Hickey said.

Research at the farm will include conservation tillage, effects of wind on cotton, environmentally sound management practices, sustainable agriculture, use and management of plant residue cover, precise water and fertilizer application, optimal varietal response, insect interaction within farming systems, weed management, computer and economic modeling, and alternate crops.

Texas Public Schools Week was organized in 1950 by the Masonic Lodges of Texas to recognize the contributions made by the state's free system of education. Each year, it is held on the first full week of March.

"Texas Public Schools Week is one way that everybody can participate in our local educational system," Mrs. Watson said. "It is our responsibility, as citizens and taxpayers of this community, to see that our schools maintain the highest educational level and that quality education for all students is continued."

will include cotton, wheat, grain sorghum and other crops, such as sesame.

In addition to the site, the producers also are providing a low energy precision application (LEPA) center pivot sprinkler system; farm equipment, utilities, seed, fertilizer and chemical costs; and financial support for a technician to be located in Lamesa.

The Experiment Station and Extension Service will provide a research plan, technical expertise of research scientists and extension specialists and specialized equipment for special studies; will plan, conduct and evaluate the research, conduct tours and demonstrations, and disseminate results of the work.

All income derived from the operation of the farm will return to Lamesa Cotton Growers.

Operation of the farm for the next five years will be guided by a steering committee. Members of the committee are Dr. William Lyle, professor of irrigation engineering, and Dr. Wayne Keeling, assistant professor of systems agronomy, with the Experiment Station; Donald Vogler, producer, Lamesa Cotton Growers; Dawson County Extension Agent John Farris and Dr. James R. Supak, cotton specialist, the Extension Service.

Items on the agenda after formal opening include a financial report; approve new subscribers; consider the change and operational procedures following the resignation of Marjorie Merritt as secretary; purchase of 14 meal carriers and miscellaneous.

The president said "we would sincerely appreciate it if the volunteers who deliver the meals attend this meeting in order to better coordinate the procedures for delivery."

Coach Tom Duncan said a meeting of workers and volunteers for the Third Annual Mule Kickers Relays will be held at 2 Kickers Relays will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 6, in the high school library.

He encourages everyone who will be helping with the Relays on March 10, be present for the coordination meeting.

Consider being a foster parent. As a foster parent you can give abused and neglected children a temporary home -- your home. You'll help children and their families turn their lives around.

There will be an orientation on the foster parent program on March 6.

The session will be held at the office of the Texas Department of Human Services, located at 210 Marshall Howard Blvd. in Littlefield.

The session usually lasts about an hour and will begin at 7 p.m.

Congressman Combest Looks At Landfill Problem

Congressman Larry Combest, (R-TX) made the following statement this week concerning the proposed landfill regulations:

Government regulators are asking communities across the country to plan for cushioning, protecting and babysitting. . . . garbage. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has plans to require cities to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars to wrap an entire garbage municipal landfill in plastic or clay, cushioned above and below with sand. The EPA suggests rules for monitoring groundwater even when there is a lack of groundwater. Furthermore, local communities will have to bear the enormous cost of watching these buried garbage heaps for 30 years.

We cannot just dump our garbage without consequences to the groundwater we drink. However, rules must account for differences in the amount of waste cities bury in their landfills. While the big cities pack as many as 10,000 people living in a square mile of land, towns in our area count fewer than six people per square mile.

Mayors, city managers, and council members have called or written me about the financial hardship new EPA regulations will have on towns in the 19th Congressional District. Just this past week, representatives from Andrews and Denver City have come to my Washington, D.C. office to personally express their views and mounting concerns. Garbage collection that may currently cost six dollars, might escalate to thirty-five dollars if the EPA dumps their regulations on West Texas residents. I will fight this type of overregulation every way I possibly can, but I must be straightforward: just like the garbage, this issue will not go away. However, there are ways to make these environmental regulations workable and reasonable. Ribbons of red tape regulations cannot mandate landfill operations without consequences to the economic survival of towns required to safely dispose of solid waste.

I would much rather see West Texans deciding what is best for our skies and water based on our own circumstances. If Congress legislates the control over landfill regulations back to the states, provisions could be made for unique areas like ours which experience little rainfall, and have fewer people threatening groundwater pollution.

We might think the EPA will bury us alive in government regulations. Environmental regulations are real, not reasonable. However, town governments can continue to urge their associations and municipal leagues to unite with me against the garbage of overregulations.

Texas A&M philosopher says the military needs to support ethical behavior

COLLEGE STATION — Ethical behavior in the military and society as a whole frequently goes unrewarded and soldiers are often castigated for taking moral stands, says a Texas A&M University philosopher who serves on a national council that makes recommendations to the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

As a result, ethical negligence weakens the military's ability to avoid dramatic incidents of moral lapse, cases which undercut the military's attempts to educate soldiers in ethics, says Dr. Manuel Davenport, who has specialized in military ethics for more than 20 years.

Davenport contends the structure of the military organization should change to support ethical behavior in daily incidents and not just to avert sensational violations.

The military, particularly the Army, is educating its soldiers on ethics, Davenport said. Because of that, military professionals are, in some regards, more ethically aware than many average citizens, he said.

Researchers study how to reduce brucellosis in U.S. buffalo herds

COLLEGE STATION — Lots of discouraging words are being heard where the buffalo roam, say Texas A&M University scientists.

Brucellosis-infected bison roaming out of the federal Jackson Hole Wildlife Refuge and Yellowstone National Park threaten the health of cattle adjoining rangeland in Wyoming, Montana and Idaho and the economic health of the cattle industry in those states.

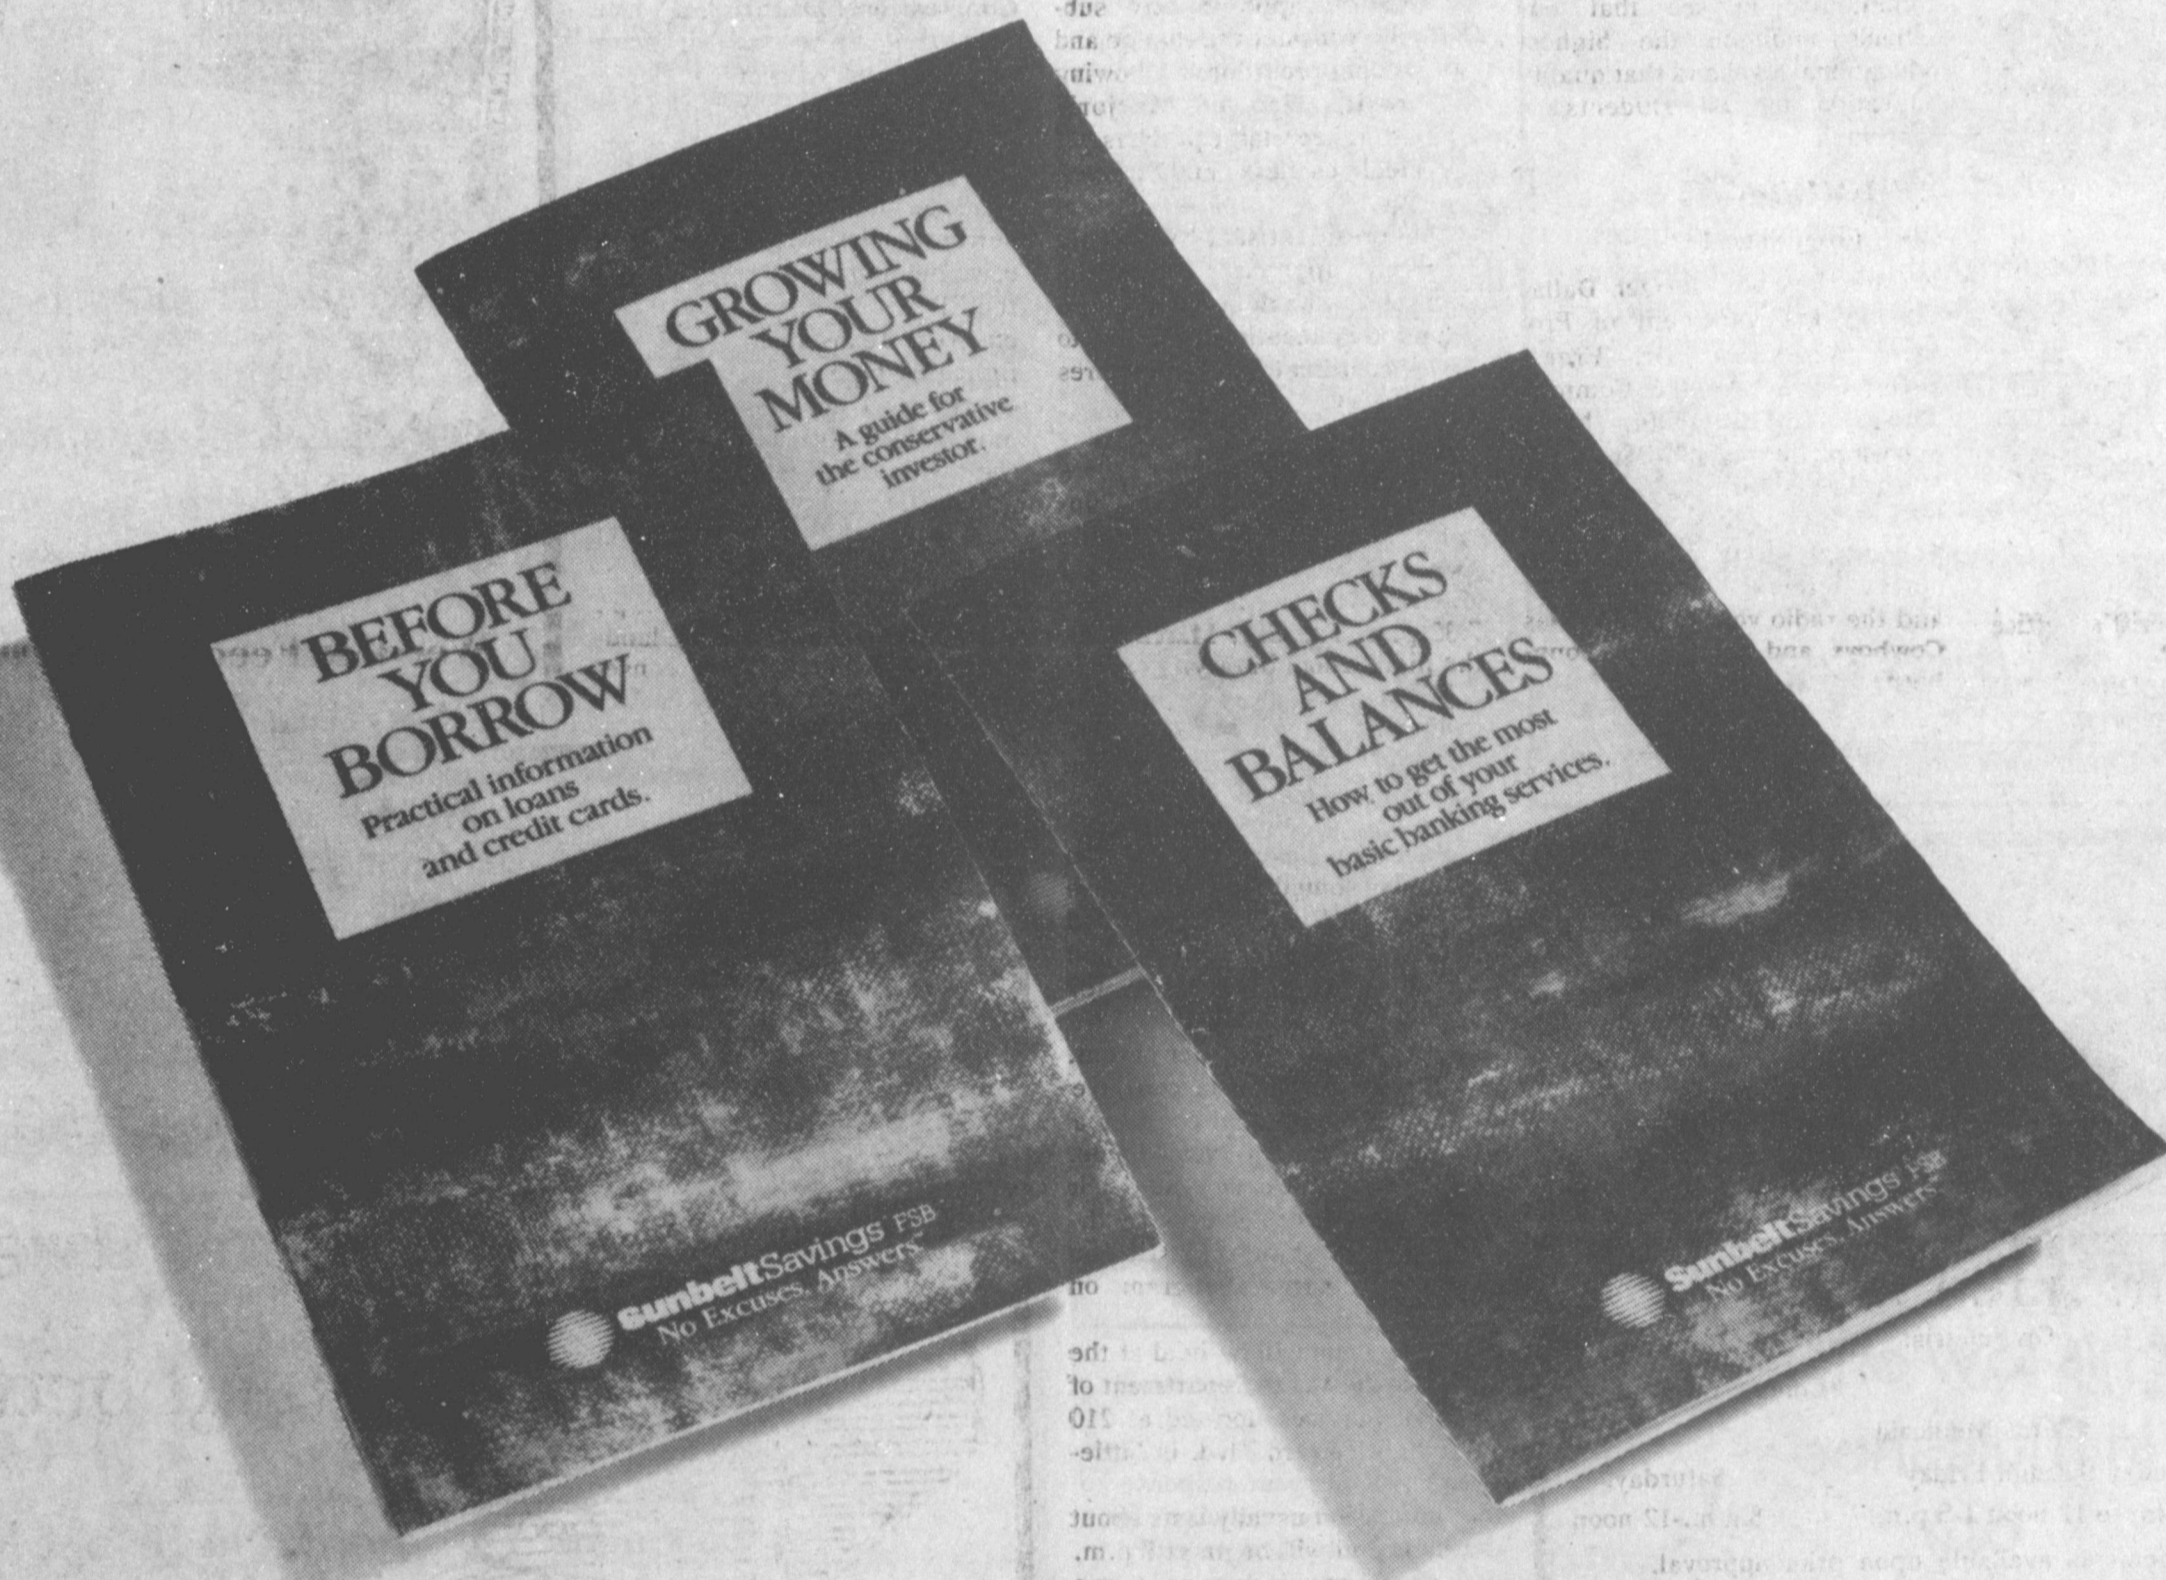

The threat has cattlemen up in arms, literally.

"They've shot more than 500 of the animals," said wildlife disease specialist Dr. Don Davis, a member of a Texas A&M University research team conducting the only continuing study of brucellosis in buffalo.

Davis is a scientific adviser to the Tri-State Technical Advisory Committee, an organization of veterinary and wildlife officials from Idaho, Montana and Wyoming and federal agriculture, wildlife and national parks officials who deal with brucellosis in buffalo in their jurisdictions.

Brucellosis is a long-standing problem in domestic cattle, where it causes some $170 million a year in herd losses due to spontaneous abortions, calf deaths, calves with low birth weights and reduced milk production. It's also a potential health hazard for humans exposed to it and has been linked to undulant fever, meningitis and arthritis.

Kiwanis News

By R.A. Bradley

"Good Morning Texas" fourteen Kiwanians, two honorary Kiwanians, Jon Keith Turner and Chad Johnson, three guest, Cody Turner, Nelda Merriott, and James Warren, met Friday morning, Texas Independence Day at the Old Corral. Amy Montgomery, the Kiwanis Sweetheart was absent, couldn't you get your dad up? If you can't get your dad up, come on anyway, as we miss you and always need you present.

President Jim Lutz called the meeting to order. Eddie Morris led the club in the pledge to the flag and the invocation was given by J.O. Parker.

Larry Parker, our new member, had the friendship coin and since James Roy Jones was working so hard and had already been to the Corral twice Friday morning, then James Roy needed the friendship coin. James Roy, you will have to slow down long enough to bring it back someday.

Mickey Merriott was in charge of the program and he introduced James Warren, the Republican candidate for Bailey County Judge. James stated that he was a Republican, very conservative and would be a Judge for everyone. James is bringing with him four years of experience of county government. James stated that things in the Court House need to change and now was the time to make that change. James said that he believed that you could always set down with department heads and work out any differences. James said he had seen Muleshoe grow from about two blocks long with dirt streets to where it is now. He said he hated to see the vacant buildings on main street in Muleshoe. James would like to see Muleshoe continue to grow. Since James is running on the Republican ticket without an appointant for the primary, be sure and check the box beside his name or it would not be counted. As this writer has said before, learn the candidate, find out what they each believe and their plans for the future and vote your conscience for the one who you think will do the best job. Be sure to VOTE.

Our guest, Nelda Merriott, slipped in to present a three minute pitch for the Jenny-slippers road side booth at the Mule Memorial today and her pitch for Muleshoe and Texas to help Toast Texas at 2 p.m. to help celebrate Texas Independence Day. Nelda was granted the three minutes to tell about their plans and activities at the rest stop at the Mule Memorial and the things that have already been publicized about Muleshoe and Texas, they will be celebrating Texas Independence Day all over the world today. This celebration is sponsored by the Texas Highway Magazine. Many stories and publications are going out all over the world and in this there is a paragraph about Muleshoe. It states that everyone ALL of Muleshoe would be at the Mule Memorial at 2 p.m. today to hear a speech from Mayor Turner and a TOAST to Texas with 100 percent Texas water. Be there, it should be fun. We gave Nelda her three minutes and about 20 some minutes later she sat down. Do Not give Nelda over three minutes on any program. If you gave Nelda 30 minutes you would be there all day!! All kidding aside, if half of this community was half as excited, and enthused and worked half as hard as Nelda, this community would be bubbling over. Nelda we appreciate you and love you. Come back.

Operation Drug Alert won many awards, and thousands of club projects made ODA one of Kiwanis' largest and most successful service programs. In 1973, the Kiwanis International convention considered women's membership for the first time, but there was little support. US Kiwanis clubs marked the Bicentennial of the American Revolution under the theme "The Volunteer and the Nation." Kiwanis continued to grow slowly, but membership reached 300,000 in 1979.

1980-1990

Recognizing Kiwanis' 60-year record of service to young people, "Children—A Kiwanis Concern" was adopted as the organization's continuing service theme. Membership for women was debated at every annual convention, and support grew while Kiwanis, like the other men's service clubs, had to litigate the issue in court. The change was approved in 1987, and 15,000 women joined Kiwanis clubs in the following year.

School-age drug abuse was a prime service concern, and Kiwanis joined with First Lady Nancy Reagan to conduct a major, multi-media campaign to raise public awareness and educate parents and children. At the end of the decade, Kiwanis membership had reached 315,000 in 74 nations. KW893783

Flouridation Helps Cut Cavities; Says Research

Officials of the Texas Department of Health (TDH) have reassured Texans that the state's fluoridated water systems provide safe drinking water.

"At the level of fluoride in natural and 'adjusted' drinking water systems, no evidence of increased health risk has yet been documented," Dr. Donald Crow, D.D.S. said. "Only the health benefit to humans is evident--that of decreased tooth decay in all population groups at all economic levels."

Dr. Crow is chief of the TDH Bureau of Dental and Chronic Disease Prevention.

He said that recent media reports, suggesting possible adverse health effects of fluoride, are based on "premature, and incomplete data, leaked from a study being conducted by the National Toxicology Program."

Early data from the study showed that in a two-year test, groups of laboratory rats drank water with increasing levels of fluoride concentration. After the fluoride dose was increased to 45 New drug education plan takes 'no-use' approach to drug abuse prevention

COLLEGE STATION — An imaginative new approach to drug education curricula for Texas schools intends to help pupils and teachers become a part of the solution to our nation's drug threat.

The long-range goal of the new concept, says the Texas A&M University researcher who led efforts funded by the Texas Education Agency (TEA), is a basic change in the very environment of the state's schools.

The massive curriculum — nearly 1,100 pages — has detailed lessons for students from pre-kindergarten to 12th grade built around the theme of "Education for Self-Responsibility: Prevention of Drug Use," said project director Dr. B.E. "Buzz" Pruitt, a Texas A&M associate professor of health education.

The essential difference in this drug education curriculum and other drug prevention courses being taught is the concept of "infusing health promotion at all levels," Pruitt said.

"The curriculum strives to infuse a consistent and continuous 'no-use' message at all grade levels.

times the normal amount in municipal water, the first abnormality in one rat out of 50 began to occur. When the rate was raised to 79 times the normal concentration, four out of 80 rats developed abnormalities, Dr. Crow explained.

He said that state and national officials found no cause for public alarm, since the fluoride concentrations affecting the test rats had been so much greater than that of water fluoridated at levels sufficient to reduce tooth decay in children and adults.

"These same authorities also noted that if fluoride had been a significant cancer causing agent, there would be higher than normal cancer rates in areas of the country where the naturally-occurring fluoride level in drinking water is several times higher than the ideal," Dr. Crow said.

He explained that repeated National Cancer Institute studies using human subjects -- including a study in Texas -- show that cancer mortality neither increases nor decreases with the presence of fluoride in community drinking water.

In Texas, more than 70 percent of the population drinks fluoridated water. This includes water systems with naturally-occurring fluoride, plus more than 185 cities where fluoride is added.

Dr. Crow said that in the last 45 years, water fluoridation--combined with better nutrition, better education programs, fluoride in toothpaste, and greatly improved dental care-- has dramatically reduced the tooth decay rate in both children and adults in Texas.

He added that all Texans benefit from a fluoridated water supply, whether or not their economic status allows the added benefits of good nutrition and dental care.

Year Credit Contract, Limits Are Explained

Part three in a four part series:

This is the third installment of a four part series on the topic of using consumer credit. In the first two installments, credit worthiness, building a credit record and the types of credit were discussed. In this part we will discuss the credit contract, credit limits and the costs of credit. The final part will discuss credit histories and preventing credit problems.

The Credit Contract

All credit, even revolving store credit, involves a signed contract. Be sure you read and understand everything in the contract before you sign it. Some questions you should ask before you sign a contract are:

-Do the payments fit into your budget?

-Can you make the payments for the length of time agreed upon?

It may be better to keep your monthly payments smaller for a longer period of time than pay out more money than you can afford each month. Although extending your payments costs more in interest, you can pay off the debt sooner if money is available. If you agree to make large payments and money becomes tight, you find yourself in a difficult situation.

What are the consequences if you default on the agreement? What will you lose? When an installment contract is not paid by the terms agreed, the creditor can repossess the collateral. You would lose not only the item, but also any money that you have already paid. You may even owe additional money. READ THE FINE PRINT BEFORE YOU SIGN A CONTRACT to avoid situations you can't handle.

Your Credit Limit

When you receive a credit card, you will be granted a credit line. This is the total amount that you can charge. You may continue charging goods and services to your account until you have reached your credit limit. You must make monthly payments of at least the minimum amount required.

You may find that your credit limit is higher than you can comfortably repay. Don't let the limit fool you into spending more than you should. In the end, you are responsible for repaying the credit limits you reach. Setting your own maximum monthly credit limits is advised.

Credit Costs

Credit is like food or vacuum cleaners. You buy it. Therefore, you should "shop" for it. To find the best value, understand how much it costs, what you get for your money and compare different agreements. For example, repayment terms can vary from creditor to creditor. The creditor determines these variables, but you can find credit to suit your needs and situation on terms you can live with--if you shop around.

One credit cost is an annual fee. Many financial institutions charge an annual fee of $20 or more for a bank credit card. To avoid surprises, be sure you understand if there are fees involved.

Another cost is the interest charged on the amount you borrow. The best way to compare interest charges is to look for the Annual Percentage Rate (APR).

Advertisements may claim you can get a bank card without a prior credit history. These cards have a high annual fee and interest rate. This protects the financial institution from higher risk customers.

Before deciding to use credit, determine whether you really need the goods or services or not. Sometimes it is better for you to put a specified amount of money into a savings account each month until you can pay cash for these items rather than purchase them on credit.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

MHS News

Johanna Wrinkle's Senior English Classes spent an exciting day away from the mundane daily life of Muleshoe High School. The classes split in two and some left on the 20th, and others on the 21st. The seniors loaded a bus at 8:20 a.m. to prepare for the journey to Portales. The first stop was the Eastern New Mexico University Golden Library. A short tour and informative briefing of the library prepared the students for the long endeavor ahead--Research! Computers, thousands of books, and microfilms were merely the beginning of the confusion for the seniors.

Through careful listening and major help from sponsors Johanna Wrinkle and Barbara Milburn, the seniors managed to complete many hours of diligent research.

The ever-so-dreaded "Senior Research Paper" was slowly seeming to be within completion. After research and a few tours of the campus, the final leg of the trip still remained. Of course, after hours of work, the seniors deserved a lunch break. The Cattle Baron Restaurant seemed like the ideal place for lunch. After a simply delectable meal, the journey would soon end.

Through and through the day was a complete success. Many complimentary comments about the conduct and expertise of the Seniors were made by the library staff to the sponsors. Such is the life in a day of a Senior!

GOD'S WILL

The greatest commandment is that we should love our God.

This is a free choice that man has, but it is God's desire that all would seek Him. He is our heavenly Father, and desires only the best for us.

ATTEND CHURCH

The Church is God's appointed-agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

'New' First Ladies Emerge In Politics

Presidents' wives, who once disappeared into the White House after their husbands took the oath of office, now occupy a high-profile position as the country's first lady, said a Texas Christian University historian.

"Our earliest first ladies had very low profiles," explained Dr. Paul Bolter, emeritus history professor. "Sometimes the president would take his oath of office, his wife would simply move into the White House bedroom, and that's the last you'd hear of her."

The home, not the political arena, was once a woman's place, noted Bolter of early America. While some first ladies were "invisible women," others became gracious hostesses including Martha Washington and Dolley Madison.

"George Washington was very reserved, and when people were around him they felt tongue-tied," Bolter said. "But with Martha by his side at public receptions, people relaxed and felt good."

Religious training thrived in the woman's domain of the home resulting in women upholding moral and religious standards as well as being church goers.

Bolter noted that President Polk's wife, a devoutly religious person, insisted on church attendance for her husband's political visitors who met with him on Sunday. "So some of these political leaders began to avoid going to the White House on Sunday morning," he added.

The phrase "first lady" was coined by President Taylor, Bolter said. "Dolley Madison's husband had long since died, and she had returned to Washington to continue her work as a hostess there. President Taylor referred to her as a 'true first lady,' and that was the first use of that expression," he explained.

While Dolley Madison was the first to be called a "first lady," Eleanor Roosevelt was the first president's wife who broke out of the home-barrier image. As she helped her physically crippled husband Franklin cope with the pressures of running the country, she changed the public's expectations of a first lady.

"After Eleanor Roosevelt, being first lady was never the same. Americans began to expect their first lady to appear in public and be more active," Bolter said.

"Eleanor Roosevelt was an innovator. She broke precedent and showed that the president's wife could be a very interesting person, a very important person," he noted. "After Eleanor, I think first ladies felt they wanted to do something crucial to improve the country."

During the last 30 years, Bolter suggested that first ladies have felt compelled to take on special projects. "Lady Bird Johnson emphasized beautification of American highways. Betty Ford emphasized women's rights. Rosalynn Carter emphasized mental health as well as women's rights," Bolter said.

Nancy Reagan, who had no special projects when she entered the White House, adopted the anti-drug campaign after her popularity polls plummeted.

"There were emergency meetings among the president's advisers, and they finally persuaded Mrs. Reagan to get a special project. This was the anti-drug crusade," Bolter said.

Bolter believes Barbara Bush is doing a fine job as first lady. "She's very open, honest, down-to-earth and completely lacking in pretension," Bolter said.

"There's something refreshing about this candor on her part. She seems like a real person," Bolter said.
