

Chest Subscriptions Low On First Reports

Every seat in the Ritz theatre should be filled tomorrow evening at 11 o'clock when the Community Chest benefit performance sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce through generosity of the Hughes-Franklin theatres opens.

Indications are that the Christmas shopping season opening, for which plans were started Monday, will go over with a bang.

Such a plan will without doubt launch the holiday season fittingly and make Christmas more enjoyable for all.

As a year ends in which most of us have been wont to reveal in discussions of "hard times" and how come and how long they'll last it is but sensible that efforts be made to forget things as much as possible should be more energetic than usual.

It looks to us like New Year's is going to be a pretty lucky day for the whole country. After January 1 we can't compare 1931 with 1930. We'll be comparing 1932 with 1931.

And it begins to look like that comparison will not be conducive to pessimism, at least not so much as the 1931-30 comparison has been.

Moore Lynn, the state auditor, appears to be the sort of fellow who not only is a leader in his profession who has found the knack of adapting the things he does to conditions that change throughout the state and also using these facts as the basis for recommendations on future policies.

His statement of today, pointing out his idea for tax reform, should be read by every tax payer.

One of the most valuable pieces of legislation enacted in many years was that creating the appointive office of state auditor. Little did we realize a few years ago when we witnessed the ceremony in which Moore Lynn took a fine Colorado City girl as his bride that he would in so short a time be filling such a useful place for the state of Texas.

As good food for thought we reprint an excerpt from an article in the current issue of "Nation's Business," entitled:

Decline of retail sales in all lines in smaller cities may be due to "warefare" in the community. One says "its competition," without being any more definite than just that. Another blames the chain stores. A third indicts the motor car. Still another declares it is the people themselves.

"Many a community, one finds, owes its static condition to warfare among its own merchants. This fight has been going on for many years and has weakened the whole fabric of the community, undermined its initiative and enterprise and actually reduced consumer buying power.

"While business men have been fighting their local competitors, their customers have been lured to other cities to do their buying.

"The extent to which this competitive feeling may go was shown recently in a survey of Topeka, Kan., where wives of 58 merchants preferred to buy their merchandise in other towns rather than patronize the local competitors of their husbands.

"There, too, many small town merchants are themselves addicted to the out-of-town buying habit—victims along with other local consumers of a complete demoralization of the buying obligation. In one California town of 3,000, for example, seven van loads of household furniture and furnishings from a firm in a neighboring city were delivered in a single week. The manager of the local newspaper learned that three loads had been delivered to merchants—all of them advocates of the "trade-at-home" movement.

"If we ask consumer-residents about local buying conditions we hear complaints of inadequate merchandise; poor quality; high prices; bad salesmanship; untrained, even discourteous personnel; incompetent management—and perhaps lack of civic loyalty on the part of merchants."

Efficiency In Prison

ANY TEXAS farm family that raised 80 per cent of the food it consumed would be considered highly efficient group. It is doubtful if there are more than a handful of such families in Texas.

Yet the Texas prison system, with more than 5,000 inmates, this year is raising 80 per cent of the food stuffs consumed by the convicts, we are told by a staff correspondent of the Dallas News, who has been studying the system under Lee Simmons, prison manager.

When Simmons took charge, only eight per cent of the food consumed by the convicts was being produced on the prison farms. Now, after about 18 months of efficient management, the prison farms are producing 80 per cent of the food eaten
by prison inmates—and the convicts,
we are assured, are given plenty of good wholesome food
all times.

There are no idle men in the Texas prison population today. Every man is given something to do, and that is a blessing to the convict, for there is nothing so soul-destroying as idleness.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Film Stars Economizing
Frank Conroy in the Saturday Evening Post:

THEY are not spending money out
there in Hollywood as hilariously as they once spent it. They are, so to speak, sailing a trifle closer to the wind, or cutting the burmose
according to the raw material.

In recent times there has appeared a new feeling on the west coast,
a conviction that, perhaps, it is all wrong, the minute a person gets a job, to trot out and purchase a house costing $150,000, order in $50, 000 worth of stuffed furniture, buy
three of the latest and largest cars,
and telephone for butlers, footmen,
maid servants and men servants
and a herd of Japanese gardeners.

For many seasons expensive houses have been the fashion and if an actor was a star and lived in a small way, with one servant, one car
and a small lawn everyone instantly perceived that he was a faint and unimportant luminary in the cinema sky.

Those days are fleeting rapidly into the limbo of the past. Everything is changing in Hollywood, and prominent movie persons can gaze upon the very largest and most ornate homes without a twinge of envy. Many have gone in for flats and living in a flat doesn't call for $700 a month to keep the lawn clear of devil's grass.

The movie star who steps into a good contract these days wonders not how to squander the stipend but whether he is likely to retain his job for any given time, and, secondly, how to prevent the weekly unfurling of a new contract, which is fat 4 per cent against the incoming day of his age and obsolescence.

HOW'S your HEALTH

ST. VITUS DANCE
St. Vitus Dance, or chorea, is a form of rheumatic fever in which the involvement of the nervous system is the most prominent feature.

However, the disease is not limited, but may at the very same time, or subsequently, extend to and involve the heart.

All present indications point to the virus of rheumatic fever which has not as yet been isolated or established as the cause of chorea.

Presumably it affects the brain
tissue and causes changes therein
which are responsible for the jerky,
sudden, uncontrollable movements
which are characteristic of the disease.

Chorea is more common in children than it is in adults. It may be the first manifestation of rheumatic fever.

Chorea is two to three times as common among girls as among boys.

There appears to be a constitutional predisposition in those affected with the disease.

A picture of the typical girl suffering from an onset of chorea
would show a rather tall, anaemic, thin youngster, between the ages of seven and twelve. She is usually bright, conscientious, emotional and fidgety.

Excessive study, worry and fright, while not causes of chorea, may in the rheumatic child predispose it to the development of the condition.

Early symptoms of the involvement of the nervous system are changes in temperament.

The child may become headstrong and resentful. It is likely to show emotional instability, to cry at the least provocation, to be moody and to lack the power of concentration.

The child is usually fidgety
There may be present jerky movements in the face muscles.

The child's handwriting will sometimes reveal irregular movements in her hand muscles. Muscular weakness is nearly always present.

Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER
WASHINGTON—Before the widelyheralded meeting of Governor Franklin Roosevelt and El Smith in New York the other day Roosevelt scoffed at suggestions that it would have political significance.

"Reminds me of the little boy who ran into the house," said the governor, "shouting 'Mama, mama, mama' and told his mother
there were a thousand airplanes flying over the house. The mother doubted the story, and finally the boy said, 'Well, mama,
there are two airplanes, because I counted them.'"

Whereupon some skeptic asked the governor: "But what has that to do with your meeting with Smith?"

LADY with a PAST
BY HARRIET HENRY

SYNOPSIS: Venice Muir hopes to find in Paris the key to popularity. Several seasons in New York have left her with a dismal consciousness of her diffidence,
her lack of bright appeal. Mrs.
Muir has done her best to preach
the importance of social success;
and all Venice's life she has urged her daughter to try to be attractive. But Venice finds herself repeatedly a wall-flower. She has only found one man, Drake Farrelly, who appears interested in her genuine spontaneous self.
Venice is lovely, with copper-colored hair, slim grace, and a wistful, heart-shaped face. She believes that she could be popular,
if she only could learn to toss light conversation, and forget herself in a situation. Mrs. Muir has brought her to Paris, to give her a new start. Venice fears defeat, but anticipates an opportunity to begin again where she is not known.

Chapter 14
ASPIRIN AND THE LEFT BANK
The most seductive of sirens
Paris in the late spring; sky yet brazen, elusive yet obvious, laughing in the gay sunlight, sombre in the futile spring rain. But there it most sunshine, a soft powdering
of sifted gold.

It was lovely that first week in Paris. Down the years it stayed in Venice's memory, a carefree seven days of fascinating shops, rich foods, occasional cocktails and no contacts that caused her embarrassment or the exertion of summoning heavy repairs.

The only blot on the horizon of those sunny days was Mrs. Muir's cold. She complained of it a great deal and developed a short, mouning, little cough. Venice could not determine whether it was a real cough or something affectively nurtured. But ever the cold brought its advantages. Mrs. Muir decided to wait until it was cured before she communicated with certain acquaintances in Paris and cousin Alicia Foe at Antibes. The interim of no friends gave Venice a delicious respite, nothing to worry about. It was a period of seven days in which she never once had to bother over what any one thought of her. Lovely, Venice being just Venice, no necessity of summoning sudden smiles, sudden gay rejoinders. The cold also gave her several unforeseen opportunities for prowling about on her own feet, conversation with the girl
with the big eyes, a conversation which gave her a mental start,
a glimpse of a new point of view.

It was their sixth day in Paris
Mrs. Muir and Venice were in the former's bedroom after luncheon.
"What'll we do this afternoon,
Mother? Let's sit in the Tuileries.
It's such a lovely day."

Mrs. Muir sighed.
"My head is all stopped up," she complained fretfully. "I don't think I'll go out."

Venice glanced back at her with genuine sympathy. Her mother's nose was really unduly red.
"But the sunshine might do your cold good," she suggested.

Mrs. Muir pressed a hand to her forehead.
"You don't realize how miserable
I am, Venice."

"Yes, I do. But a heavy cold is just a heavy cold. Come on Mother."

"It would be most imprudent. I can't just tell you one thing, Venice can't. If I die over here you can bury me some place around Paris.
I don't want those rough sailors pushing my coffin about on shipboard."

"Venice tried to smile.
"Oh, don't talk that way, Mother."

was comfortably in bed Venice went downstairs to the lounge. She felt unaccountably depressed. The afternoon had been so lovely and somehow it had all dissolved itself in terms of aspirin and hot water bottles and fretful reproaches. The room was empty except for a girl about her own age who bent over a centre table examining a map of Paris. Venice watched her. She was comparatively well-dressed with a pale face devoid of any make-up.
Suddenly she looked up and Venice
was startled by the size of her earnest blue-grey eyes. The girl took her in and smiled.

"Do you know where the Rue de Grenelle is?" she asked.
Venice felt unexpectedly pleased.
She moved to the centre table and leaned over the outspread map.

"It's on the left bank, I think let's see."
Their index fingers traced various streets and boulevards.

"Here," cried Venice, "here it is."
"Of course, and I've been hunting for ten minutes. Some friends have asked me to meet them here
at a place called La Petite Chaise tomorrow and I couldn't imagine where it was. Thank you so much."

Venice straightened and felt awkward as to the next conversational move.
"Sit down, won't you, and talk to me," suggested the girl.

"Yes," said Venice and suddenly realized that this was a new person and she was being her customary diffident self. She gave an exact imitation of her mother's most wintling smile.

They made themselves comfortable at adjacent sides of the table.
"I'm over here alone, are you?"
"No, with my mother."

"I broke loose from mine. My family is party mad. I hate parties."
Venice forgot to be anything but natural.
"So am I," she cried. "Why do you?"

Venice learns a valuable new viewpoint, tomorrow, and Johnny Maple turns up.

Museum Assn. Gets Active Start

The West Texas Memorial Museum association met in a public meeting Monday evening in the auditorium on the southwest corner of the Estline Hotel maintaining, for a very delightful and informal program.

The program opened with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" led by Mrs. Bruce Frasier, accompanied by Miss Katherine Sangster at the piano. Mrs. R. T. Piner
read a splendid paper written by Anna Billings Galpy, Curator-in-chief of the Brooklyn Children's Museum, relating the practical value of the museum and the help it had been to the high school and college students in the decision of vocations for life.

Mrs. Frasier rendered sympa-thetically the song "Yesterday and Today," with Miss Sangster at the piano.

Six of Mrs. Billie Gill Frost's pupils gave specialty numbers. Jack and Jane Humphrey gave an Apache dance; Jean Porter and Alene Killingworth, a military tap dance;
Edward Fisher a turkey dance and La Fern Dahlinger a ballet number.
Mrs. H. W. Killingworth was the pianist.

Mrs. M. Taylor spoke on the value of a museum to the city in a very pleasant talk.
Informal talk: from the members
concluded the program, Mrs. B. F.
Wills related her idea of a cactus garden in the City Park; Mrs. Bunn-ess told the history of the Current Events Club which originated the Museum movement; Miss Nell Brown, curator, urged everyone to donate articles to the museum; and Mayor Pickie expressed his appreciation of the movement.

The association voted to meet every 4th Monday in the same auditorium.

CANDY SALE TOMORROW
The members of St. Mary's Auxiliary met at the home of the rector Monday afternoon and made candy which they will sell tomorrow in a Thanksgiving Eve
sale at Albert M. Fisher's store.
They will also take orders for food which they sold at their last sale.

The Auxiliary lamp will also be given away tomorrow.

The members attending yesterday were Misses Shine-Phillips, V.
Van Gieson, W. H. Martin, C. L.
Thomas, Wilburn Barcus, C. S.
Blomfield and George Garrette.

Friends here were advised Tuesday of improvement in the condition of Chester Holland, Jr., son of
C. C. Holland, San Angelo jeweler.
The lad underwent an appendicitis operation, the organ having ruptured. E. V. Spence, intimate friend of the family went there Monday on being informed of the boy's illness. He returned today.

Interstate Commerce Via Highways Held Under State Control

AUSTIN, Nov. 24.—Interstate commerce over state-owned highways is subject to state regulation, Assistant Attorney General Elbert Hooper has ruled in one of the most far-reaching policy constructions ever placed upon Texas statutes.

constitution. It held, in substance, that if the fees to be levied by the state are for the building and upkeep of public highways, then the state has the full right to regulate the fees and the traffic involved in their levy.

Johnnie Chaney Re-elected President Busy Bee Class

The Busy Bee Class of the First Methodist Church met for the election of officers recently and re-elected Johnnie Chaney as president.

Others to receive offices were: Maurice Smith, vice president; Janice Smith, secretary; Arlyne Chaney, treasurer; Jane Vaughn, reporter.

The following were promoted to Mrs. J. L. Webb's class: Florine Rankin, Lillian Crawford, Louise Flowers and Laura Belle Underwood.

The class has not yet decided who will be its teacher, since the departure of Mrs. Bailey.

CHOIR PRACTICE TONIGHT

There will be choir practice tonight at the First Baptist Church at 7:30 o'clock, announces Mrs. Bruce Fraser, director. All members are urged to attend.

LECTURER NOT TO COME

Due to a last minute change of plans, it will be impossible for Jan Iabell Fortune, well-known writer, poet and lecturer, to come to Big Spring this week. It was hoped that Mrs. Fortune could visit her sister, Mrs. W. A. Stall, after her lecture in San Angelo. The Hyperion Club was planning to hold a reception for her on Saturday if she came.

New Plan by Makers of Vicks Cuts the High Costs of Colds

Save Money, Time and Health by Better "Control-of-Colds"

Test of Plan Offered by Big Spring Druggists on Unlimited Guarantee of Satisfactory Results

The high costs of colds are more than ever a problem this winter. In every family, therefore, it is news of peculiar interest that the makers of Vicks VapoRub have developed a Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in the home. A Plan to reduce the number, the severity and the costs of colds.

A New Vicks Product

The Plan is made possible by a new preparation—Vicks Nose & Throat Drops. Based on a new idea in "preventing" colds, it is a companion to Vicks VapoRub, the modern external way of "treating" colds. The two aid and supplement each other. Together, they make possible further reduction of the burdensome family "Colds-Tax."

Trial Offer to VapoRub Users

Use of this Vicks Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in your home will mean fewer colds—less severe colds. It will mean cutting your high costs of cold troubles—a saving in money, loss of time and health. To say nothing of the discomforts of colds and the severe ills that often follow colds. Test the Plan for yourself—without risk. Get a bottle of the new Vicks Drops today. Use it with Vicks VapoRub as directed. Unless results are entirely satisfactory, your druggist will refund the price of the Nose Drops—and the test will have cost you nothing. Here, briefly, is the Vicks Plan for better "Control-of-Colds."

1—Before a Cold Starts

Use Vicks Nose Drops—a few drops up each nostril—whenever you have been exposed to anything which your own experience tells you is apt to give you a cold—contact with others having fresh colds, crowded, stuffy ill-ventilated rooms, public places—a night on the Pullman or a dusty automobile ride—sudden changes in temperature, wet or cold—inhaling smoke, dust, gases—excesses in living, such as over-eating, smoking or drinking—after a hard day, when you are overtired.

2—After a Cold Starts

At night, massage the throat and chest well with Vicks VapoRub—now available in white "sterile" form, if you prefer. Spread on thick and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed clothing loose around the neck so that the medicated vapors arising may be inhaled freely all night long. During the day, use Vicks Nose Drops every few hours—any time, any place. (If there is a cough, you will like the new Vicks Cough Drops, actually medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub.) This gives you full 24-hour treatment and without the risks of too much internal "dosing"—which so often upsets the digestion—especially of children—and lowers body resistance to disease at a time when it is most needed. Don't "dose" colds except on your doctor's advice.—Adv.

Positive Proof of FORD ECONOMY

City of Detroit purchases 137 new Ford cars Hundreds now in use prove low cost of operation

THESE 137 new Ford cars represent one of the largest deliveries ever made to a municipality at one time.

21 radio-equipped Ford scout cars were traded in on this purchase. They had been operated day and night for two years in heavy traffic and all kinds of weather.

Their individual records ranged from 78,434 miles to 143,723 miles with a grand total of 2,283,097 miles. The operating cost of the 21 cars was 2.284 cents a mile—less than 2 1/3 cents. This cost included all fuel, oil, tires, repairs and every other item except depreciation and insurance.

Of 577 Ford cars in Detroit City service, the 300 in the Police Department traveled a total of 6,591,937 miles during the past fiscal year, at an average cost of 2.9 cents a mile.

Many claims have been made on operating costs, but here in the carefully kept motor car records of the City of Detroit is positive proof of Ford economy.

In the paragraphs above, it is seen that 21 Ford scout cars averaged less than 2 1/3 cents a mile and 300 Ford cars in all branches of Detroit police work averaged 2.9 cents a mile!

Day and night, twenty-four hours a day, these Ford cars are in operation. Few branches of transportation demand such grueling service. The records show that low fuel and oil consumption is but one of the Ford's many economies. Ford materials, simplicity of design and accuracy in manufacturing provide unusual strength, stamina and freedom from replacements and repairs.

The individual car buyer as well as the purchasing department of a city or a business cannot afford to ignore the proved economy of the Ford car.

Indians Believed Devil Haunted Mountains In Van Horn Area Jim Daugherty, King Of Range, Says

SIERRA BLANCA, Nov. 24.—When Jim Daugherty, the king of the Devil mountains, loped into here a half century ago and built the adobe house which he still occupies, musing sounds in the caves of these four-mile-wide mountains had caused the Indians to believe that devils haunted them. Long and snake-like mountains and as rugged as any upthrust in the world, they can be crossed at only one place and that in the famous Apache canyon. But today that road is so difficult that even it can not be made unless a man is on horseback. The only way to get over these granite formations is to go around.

For forty miles, beginning a few miles north of Van Horn, these wierd mountains of green, brown, blue, pink, and yellow rise in the quiet stillness of a land of few people. In the spring they show every color and even the miners in the two shafts dug into their sides gaze in wonder at the miracle.

The Diablo mountains once were the province of the Baron of Desolation, Jim Daugherty, as courageous a cowboy as ever forked a horse. He came here from South Texas, and soon had 800,000 acres under his control. His house was built thirty-five miles from what is now Van Horn and there he has lived until this day.

He knew John Chisholm, former cattle king of the southwest, and rode his spirited ponies in the shade of mystic mountains. He watered his cattle in 6-foot ditches dug in the salt flats, fifty miles long and twenty miles wide, and got along well with five to ten cows to the section. Once there was a famous spring which flowed soft cooling waters but today it has turned to salt even as the eyes of Jim the cowboy have weakened.

Diablo the Biggest Peak
The biggest peak is the Diablo, which rises to its ultimate height, making a 500-foot precipice from the top to the nearest spot below. The Indians called them the Diablos and yet they rallied to them in time of distress. Stone breastworks show the just stand of the Indians, and in the home of Jim Daugherty are the skulls of Indians found dead after battles.

The escarpment, usually white in this country, is purple, and in it appear caves which the wind, father of erosion, has carved. At one place is an old Indian dwelling, a cave, with pictographs and a fretze made in a bit of vagrant limestone.

There are fine springs in the mountains though not many, but away from them stretches the desolation of the salt flats, that move in mysterious ways from one part of the country to another.

Once Salt Wars Fought
Once salt wars were fought there and men died and their bones rotted for salt. An Indian arrowhead was picked up there the other day by H. L. George, surveyor of San Angelo. It was small and purple, of the sort that Indians used in a blow gun, a primitive catapult.

Water has been a problem, but recently Jim Daugherty, dug a well about three miles from a mountain near his home. Stock drink the water furnished by the cottonwood windmills, but human beings have a distaste for it. There are the Apache Springs with fine water and the Cottonwood Springs, once covered up by the Indians but now in use again. An Indian woman brought here to hunt hidden gold, found not the old but the springs of water. Even now poor fences are found in that country of the devil. Not far away is the famous black mountain, formed of solid rock, while the Beech Mountains carry on the work that the Diablos leave off.

Daugherty Real Cowboy
Jim Daugherty is not a motion picture cowboy—he is small in stature, not frail and not robust, and has a commanding appearance as every king should have. His dress is neat, there are tan polished boots, a mustache, a smallish hat, straight legs and a voice that is amazingly deep for a small man.

Four adobe buildings from his hacienda. Once he was a great rider. He has quit the horse now, but has not forsaken his love of cattle and of activity. Cattle graze high up on the Diablos and in the winter often spend many days without coming down their rocky sides to drink water below. They say that no man can sleep in the Diablos, and that regardless of his steel nerve, the moans and cries he hears at night will send him down in the morning sleepless, and trembling.

Mr. Daugherty, who still has one of the biggest ranches in the state is proud of his mountain sheep, his bear and deer. He makes frequent trips to Van Horn where a daughter lives, but finds his "den" at his old adobe home, his original abiding place, when no one else lived in the Diablos the most interesting of all.

An Indian said that one mistep on these mountains opened the door to Hell.

TO OPEN CANAL BIDS
GALVESTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—Major Milo P. Fox, United States district engineer, announced bids for construction of the Galveston county section of the intracoastal canal would be opened tomorrow. The cost will be about $2,500,000 and the program will extend through two years. The canal will open an inland waterway between Galveston and the Mississippi river.

Enforcement —Not Repeal

MAHATMA GANDHI PRAISES DRY LAW

"It was a brave step, worthy of America, to have undertaken the most difficult task for her of total prohibition," wrote Mahatma Gandhi, the great man of India, in a letter addressed to Arthur J. Davis, state superintendent of the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League, which was read on October 16, at a meeting of the prohibition leaders at Tremeno Temple, Boston.

HOW THE WETS VOTE
Positive knowledge have I none. But my aunt's washerwoman's son heard a policeman on his beat say to a laborer on the street. That he had a letter just last week. All hand-written in the finest Greek.

BUT LINDBERGH DIDN'T JOIN
While Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh were stopping in Ottawa, Canada, on their flight to the Orient, James Hall, wet propagandist of New York, obtained an audience with Lindbergh and tried to induce him to join the "Crusaders," a misnamed organization fighting prohibition. Colonel Lindbergh didn't join. "I won't even discuss it with you," he told Hall and that ended it. They don't put anything over on Lindy.

STERLING TO EAST TEXAS
AUSTIN, Nov. 24 (AP)—Governor Sterling will start tonight a two-day inspection trip into the East Texas oil field. His itinerary had not been announced. It was to be his first visit since his martial law proclamation of August 17 and will occur on the first anniversary of the discovery of the field, which is now prorated on a basis of 125 barrels per well daily. He is considering the establishment of an acreage basis.

BODIES FOUND
BOSTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Goodale and children Anna, 4, Mary, eight months, and William, three months, were found in their home at Dorchester today. The family had evidently been asphyxiated. Mr. Goodale was a school teacher. He had been missing from work since Friday. A neighbor called the police to investigate which resulted in the discovery of the bodies.

Smart SHOPPING

"How good is it?"
That's it!

ABOUT anything and everything they buy, smart shoppers like to ask one question—"How good is it?"

Chesterfield welcomes smokers who buy their cigarettes that way.

OUR tobacco buyers are smart shoppers, too. They "shop" for the ripest, mildest, sweetest-tasting leaf that grows. And they won't take anything else.

"How good" are Chesterfields? Well, consider their blending.

Blended and cross-blended... not merely mixed together. Blended first by crops and countries... then cross-blended again and again... to produce a flavor and aroma that are Chesterfield's alone.

That's how we get that better taste... that's why Chesterfields are milder. Even the paper they're rolled in is the whitest, cleanest and purest that money can buy.

And the package... clean, bright, fresh-looking... see how easily it opens, yet how tightly it's sealed.

OPEN a package. Note the aroma... delicious foretaste of pleasure ahead.

Now—pull out a Chesterfield... round, firm, well-filled.

"HOW good is it?" Light up... then you tell us!

Milder? Right! Taste better? You bet they do! They're pure, too—and they certainly do satisfy!

Good... they've got to be good! There's value here. We know, because we put it in... and you'll smoke it out with every one you light.

"Sure I shop for cigarettes—Chesterfields satisfy me"

Have You Been Reading The Big Spring Daily Herald Regularly During 1931?

Have you kept up with the news of the day as it happened? Have you known what was going on in your town, in your community, in your state, and in the world while it was real NEWS? Have you kept up with these things? Has your family kept up with them? Have you read about the current events over the world every day? If you have been doing this very long we feel safe in saying that you will not stop now. If you have not been reading and keeping up with the things that happen over the world and in your own town or community we feel safe in saying that you are missing a lot that would mean pleasure, entertainment, and real savings to you.

Just think of several men whom you know and who have done real well, who amount to most in your community, in your town or state. Those men read. They read daily papers that keep them well informed about what is going on all over the world. And on second thought, can you name any man or woman who has stepped higher and higher in his standing in the world socially, politically, in his business, or otherwise, who is not a regular reader of current events? Perhaps you have not done as well as you would have liked to in the past and perhaps it is just because you did not keep up with just what was going on around you—things that affected you in a social, business, or other way.

It may be that had you known something earlier you could have saved money. Perhaps you could have bought things you bought at a better time and then maybe you would have known better when to sell. Maybe your trip would have been more pleasant if you had kept up with the weather by reading a daily paper. And perhaps you could have saved a few dollars on last month's grocery bill if you had known who sold for less. Maybe you could have saved a few dollars on that suit you bought or on the dress your wife bought. Or perhaps you could have enjoyed the visit with your neighbor more if you had been as well posted on the happenings of the day as he was. Maybe now you would know more about whether to hold your products to sell in the future or whether you should sell them now.

All these things mean money or pleasure to you. And money saved now means independence in the future for you. If a few cents spent to buy your paper can give you information that will save you many dollars, is it not a wise thing to buy that paper and read it? If all those you know who have done well in life are readers of daily papers, is that not sufficient proof that it is the right thing to do? And where can you find a successful man who does not read daily papers? Try to think of one?

Let's just check up a little and see how much reading you have done and what you know about things that have happened in the past. Could you carry on an intelligent conversation about things that have happened? If you can it is very well; if you cannot, it is safe to say you would like to be able to do so. Did you know that right here in Big Spring during the first half of the year 1931 there were 22 cars stolen, 15 of them recovered? There were 63 marriages and 33 divorces. Some of these things affected people you know.

Did you know that on July 1 a man in East Texas had a 35,000 barrel oil well but could not sell the oil? On the same date there was a man in another state who was fatally hurt but kept on working. His neck was broken and his skull was fractured. Did you read about "Grappling With the Truck Market Problem" in the Herald of July 1? The story was very interesting and informative. There are daily sketches of men in official life at Washington. Did you know who attended a certain party at a certain person's home on a certain date? Did you know where those whom you knew went, what they did, why they did it, and what the result of it all was? Did you keep up with it all as it happened?

Would you like to know what you do not know about all these things? Anyone would. Did you know that on July 2 you could have bought lettuce in Big Spring for 7c per head, tomatoes for 5c per pound, three pounds of sugar for 15c? Maybe if you had known this you could have saved some money for you had to buy these things somewhere for some price. Did you pay more? Did you know that on July 2 there was a rich baron 30 years of age who sighed and wished he were poor? Did your little boy or girl read "Regular Fellers" on July 2? He would have enjoyed it a lot.

Did you know that there were 31 violent deaths in Texas during the week ending July 6? Did you keep up with the Schmeling-Stribling fight? It was great. Did you read about the Republicans opening their fight on Communism on July 7? And did you know when Germany closed her stock exchange and did you realize what the effect would be on you? Did you know when the Howard county tax rate was reduced twenty-one cents? July 14 Herald told all about it. Did you know about the "Downtown Day" in Big Spring on July 16? Did you save on that day? You could have saved money on many things. Did you know where the new postoffice will be located? Do you know now?

Have you kept up with Governor Murray of Oklahoma and all his work? It is very interesting: Did you know why a court order closed a Westbrook church? The Herald told all about it. Did you read all about the Old Settlers in the Herald of July 23? Did you see the pictures and read of Howard county's first two settlers? This was in the Herald of July 24, 1931. The first settler was Mr. Roberts and he settled at Moss Springs in 1879. Do you keep up with the doings in all the oil fields and at Austin and all over the world? Did you know about all that was going on during the Oklahoma and Texas oil trouble? Could you carry on intelligent conversations about all this without being embarrassed? Or did you have to take a back seat and let the others tell you all about it. Were you the one that had not kept up with it all? Did you wish you had read all about it in your daily paper?

Do you know about the cotton law? Do you know all about the oil situation? These things interest you and have much to do with the welfare of you and your family. Are you keeping up with the Chinese and Japanese troubles in the Eastern Hemisphere? Are you thinking about what all this may mean to you and to the world? Do you want to watch the outcome of it all?

1932 What Will Happen In 1932

1932. What will happen in 1932? What will it all mean to you; to all of us? Don't you think you would know more about just what to do about many things if you would keep up with the happenings all over the world? Keep up with the market prices of the things you have to sell, and with the cost of the things you have to buy, always buying where it is cheaper for you in the end. These things and many, many others are in the Herald every day it is printed. The Herald is your own paper printed right here in Howard County and is put out by men who spend their earnings here with you and who have their interests here with you. They are helping to build the town and work for the things that help you and help themselves. They fight for what they think is right and will help the people in this territory. This paper is your mouthpiece and is here to serve you and yours always doing what it can for the most benefit to all.

Now since you have read above just a few of the topics that have appeared in the Herald (and those mentioned are just a few when compared with those written every day), don't you think it is better to read your own home DAILY paper, The Big Spring Daily Herald, than to pay the price of two papers to get the world news and the Big Spring and surrounding country news? There is no other daily paper printed in Big Spring, so if you get much news from over the world you must take a daily printed out of your territory and then you do not get your local news. So then you have to take a local paper to get your own news and news about your own community. Why not get it all from all over the world and from your own territory, all the news that is important and that interests you in one daily paper every day (except Saturday)? In the Herald you get the world and local news for much less than you can get it any other way delivered to you. The special rate by mail now is only $3.95, and by carrier in Big Spring only $4.95 per year. This is just a little more than a penny a day and if you were to mail a copy to a friend the postage alone would cost you at least a penny. Just think of it! Any other paper would cost you that much or more and then you would have to take a Big Spring paper to get your local news. Read over some of the things mentioned above again. Wouldn't you like to have some of the stories mentioned above with you now? Why not subscribe for The Big Spring Daily Herald, your own home daily paper now, while the Special Rate of $3.95 by mail or $4.95 by carrier is on and then each day after you have finished reading the papers, file them away so you can get them for future references. It is real interesting and often it is worth real money to you and your friends. What would you give for a certain paper containing a story about something of much importance to you? The thing to do is to take your home town daily paper and then after you read them each day file them away. You will want them again. Resolve today to do this while the Special Rate is so little.

Fill in the coupon and send in your remittance and you will have the news of all the next year, election year, and one that promises to be filled with important happenings, brought to you every day (except Saturday). Both your own news and world news for only

His headline over the story of the game began—"Hugs and Hicks 'Plucky' Red Sheridan, the outstanding performer for the Mustangs, was not mentioned. We have no objection to giving a man credit for a nice game, but the reason for giving Hicks preference over Sheridan after Saturday's contest is beyond this department.

Even Blundy Cross, who has been seriously considering Hicks as all-district material did not even mention the Rambler in his story of the game. Hicks did not impress the Concho pressman as having the stuff to qualify for the backfield, he is going to name, Sheridan, according to Blundy, is head and shoulders above the mighty Hicks. In some ways Mr. Cross is plenty smart.

Schubard, who started at end for the Bobcats Saturday, impressed us as being all-district material. He may not be able to perform against the locals as he did against the Popties, but in case he does the likelihood of his holding down a wing position is strong. For the day Schubard was the outstanding wingman on the field.

The Steers are going through their paces preparatory to the contest Thursday with all the pep and fire that anyone could ask for. The cool weather has put that old fire and ginger into the boys and things are going to pop in the final game of the season.

The experience gained from the Sweetwater game should stand the locals in good stead when the Kittens drop in for the Thanksgiving frolic. We expect to see football as has not been played by the Bobcats this year displayed for the entertainment of the fans Thursday.

Tack really does his stuff and folks we feel plenty sorry for the boys trying to pick yardage through the line Thursday. Speaking of the line the matter of interesting conflicts we can point out one that will be worth your money. Blundy Cross opines that Delker is in the class of all district fullbacks. Just watch Delker and Dennis for the following things and then make your choice, punting, line punting, end runs and off tackle smashes. Right now folks we offer for your consideration the greatest defensive fullback in the state—Tack Dennis.

We expect to enjoy a nice little tuck after his game Thursday with Mr. Cross providing the groceries and accessories. Blundy is quite confident that the diminutive Harrison will show Dennis up when it comes to advancing the pigskin and we have ideas to the contrary. Hence the chance that we have of enjoying a meal at the expense of the Angelo scribe.

Things will be rather warm at the State Teachers' Convention in Amarillo Friday when the big boys get together on the matter of the one year rule. This rule in many ways has advantages and then too there are points about it that we do not like so well. It is not for us to decide though, so will sit patiently and see what the solons have to say about the matter and then accept their decision just as if we had made it ourselves.

Ties Possible In Two Races Within TIAA

A.C.C. Has Advantage In West, A&I, North Texas In East

DALLAS, Nov. 24. (UP)—The T.I.A.A. football schedule will be completed this week with possibilities existing for ties in both the Eastern and Western divisions.

The chance for a deadlock is stronger in the eastern half where North Texas Teachers and Texas A&I, the only elevens in the section which have not played each other, probably will be found in the top position. A&I finished its schedule undefeated and untied earlier in the month and North Texas can do the same by beating San Marcos Wednesday.

Abilene Christian College has the advantage in the western half and can take the championship with either a tie or a win in the Thanksgiving game with Daniel Baker at Brownwood. Daniel Baker and McMurry, however, remain contenders. If Daniel Baker defeats A.C.C. if McMurry wins from West Texas Teachers at Amarillo Friday, the two Abilene schools and Daniel Baker will finish in a tie.

Last week's results:
 Western Division:
 McMurry 34, Sul Ross 7.
 Eastern Division:
 North Texas 19, Sam Houston 0, San Marcos 14, East Texas 0, Texas A&I 20, Schreiner 6.

Magnolia Head Cited To Appear In Austin Court

DALLAS, Nov. 24. (UP)—E. R. Brown, president of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, was cited today to appear in the district court in Austin Jan. 4 and answer how many shares of stock of the company is owned by the Standard Oil Company of New York.

The citation is made under the term of a writ of garnishment served by Deputy Sheriff W. C. Clinney on the outster suit brought by Attorney General James Alford against the Magnolia and 14 other oil companies charged with violating the Texas anti-trust laws.

The writ also ties up any money or property of the Standard Oil Company which is now in possession of the Magnolia, up to the amount of $1,021,500.

Last week officers failed to find any stock in Dallas when they sought to serve writs of attachment on the Magnolia and the Shell Petroleum Company, whose parent company is said to be the Shell Union Oil Company.

Interest Increases In Series Of Sermons

Interest is increasing in the meeting being held in the Federation Clubhouse by Evangelist J. B. Hampton, he reported Tuesday.

He announces sermon subjects for the remainder of the week as follows:
 Wednesday evening, "The first day of the week in the New Testament; did Christ and the apostles change the day of rest?"
 Friday evening, "The beast of Revelation 12, with seven heads and the number, 666, in his name."
 Saturday evening, "The United States, its rise, work and future as foretold in Biblical prophecy."
 Sunday evening, "The sealing of the hundred and forty four thousand of Revelation 7."

EXPLOSION KILLS GIRL

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 24. (UP)—Miss Nellie Wrinkle, 23, fatally injured in a gas stove explosion in her room here was buried here today. Before her death yesterday, she told officers the explosion occurred when she lighted a match to light the stove.

SEEK NEW TRIAL

AUSTIN, Nov. 24. (UP)—A motion for a new trial for Frank Poston, Jollyville farmer, will be filed by his attorneys announced here today. A jury, Sunday, gave Poston a two year sentence on conviction of killing Reuben Hollingsworth, a neighbor. The two had disputed over water. Poston claims he shot in self defense.

Personally Speaking

Mrs. Frank Boyle, accompanied by Miss Valilla True and Messrs. Coulter Richardson and Jake Pickle, will leave this afternoon for Dallas to spend Thanksgiving. Miss True will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. B. Williams, while Mrs. Boyle will join her husband, Frank Boyle, who is attending Baylor Medical school in Dallas.

Marcus Snyder, well-known West Texas cattleman, has purchased a 400,000-acre ranch in the state of Chihuahua, Mexico, near Chihuahua City, H. L. Ellis, who returned Monday night from a hunting trip on Snyder's ranch north of Sierra Blanca, reported. The Mexico ranch is noted for its wild game.

Judge J. P. Coon, Monroe Lewis and son, A. L. Tapp and George and Albert Howie, of Terrell, and Glen Crisp of Kaufman were here Monday for the trial of Louis Whisenant, charged with murder in the killing of H. F. Howie, local policeman. The trial was continued to November. The Messrs. Howie of Terrell are brothers of the slain officer.

When you go out to Steer stadium Thursday to witness the fray between the Bobcats and the Steers you will be seeing in a black and gold uniform for the last time 13 Steers who have helped make the present season a big success. We hate to cast a shadow over the coming game but peruse this list and then watch how the boys conduct themselves in the final game of their high school career.

From the line will go: Currie, V. Sanders, Orr, Hildreth, Martin, Harlie, Hopper and Forrester. Lugging the ball in the backfield for the last time will be Captain Bill Flowers, Heblacu, Coburn, Denton, and Tack Dennis. Be not surprised folks if these men make their last appearance one never to be forgotten by the fans of Big Spring.

Wild Bill was out there teting the oval yesterday with all his old time form. The knee injury which has handicapped him in the past seems to have been forgotten and Bill is out to show the fans that he can carry the leather with the best of them. This makes us feel lots better concerning the outcome of the fray with the Taylormen. With Flowers, Heblacu, Coburn and Dennis all in condition the Bobcats are going to have a full afternoon. Flowers should write fine to his athletic career with a performance that will never be forgotten.

Heblacu will be cracking that old line for the last time and we expect to see him outpunch the powerful Delker during the afternoon. Heblacu has the ability and power to make things miserable for the Concho front line defense and we feel certain that he is not going to hang up the muleskins without giving every ounce of his energy and effort to crack that Bobcat line from one end to the other.

Returning to his regular position, Tack Dennis will be strutting his stuff at fullback, with Heblacu playing half. Full is the place where

This And That

We hear a little gossip around town to the effect that the Steers will have easy pickings when the Bobcats come over Thursday. They may have pickings but it will be of the leaving if they go into the fray Turkey Day with an inflated idea of their ability and thinking that the Cats will be setup. Now nothing in the world could be worse than to get the old idea that it is all over but the singing and go out there and receive a nice drubbing from the Taylormen. People, we are going to have a hell of a game around these parts Thursday and we are trying to convey the idea that everything the locals have in the way of football is going to be needed to subdue the visitors and send them home a chastened and meek bunch of Kitties.

Millard Cope the Sweetwater scribbler, must have the Hicks complex. He either knows little or nothing about football or he did not see the game in Angelo Saturday.

Returning to his regular position, Tack Dennis will be strutting his stuff at fullback, with Heblacu playing half. Full is the place where

Mrs. Faust Honoree At Nice Shower

Miss La Vell Barbee Entertains Friends Of Bride

Miss La Vell Barbee gave a miscellaneous shower Monday evening honoring Mrs. W. P. Faust, formerly Miss Kathryn Meador, in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Barbee, at 1900 Johnson street. The guests brought the honoree many lovely gifts and spent the time in games and conversation. The hostess related how she had helped the young couple secure the license for their secret wedding last summer. A delicious plate luncheon, consisting of chicken salad sandwiches, pickles, cake and coffee, was served to the following: Meses S. M. Barbee, J. P. Meador, mother of the bride, Glenn Lovelace, Marvin King, A. D. Meador, D. J. Sheppard, J. B. Shultz, T. R. Lovelace, N. R. Smith, H. E. Meador, J. C. Lane, Mack Simmons, W. T. Bell, Ralph Smith, G. E. Fleeman; Meses Dale Barrett, Allene Bell, Hazel Nance, Claudine Miller, Oneta Prescott, Maury Shultz, Jamie Lee Meador, John Anna Barbee; and little Meses Dorothy Ann Meador, Mamie Jean Meador and Helen Lenore Smith. The following sent presents but were unable to attend: Meses Tom Slaughter, G. W. Hill, Frank Powell, J. W. Hawk, Homer Johnson, C. C. Nance, Jack King, L. M. Smith, C. D. Miller, C. A. Shull; Meses Marcela King, Mary Bell, Golla Nance, Julie Johnson, Billie Sikes, Georgia Belle Fleeman.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Reagan and L. S. Patterson have returned from their trip to San Antonio. Mr. Reagan and Mr. Patterson attended the dedication ceremonies of the Woodmen Chapel at the Woodmen Tu. hercular Sanitarium in San Antonio. Mrs. Reagan visited sisters in Brady and Coleman.

J. Y. Robb went to Dallas Monday, accompanied by his brother Harold, who was returning from fishing condition on the California coast, where he caught a large swordfish.

So. Ward Circus Nets Large Sum Says PTA Head

The South Ward P. T. A. held a circus Monday evening in the school building that netted them $48 clear and was one of the most successful and hilarious... from an entertainment point of view that the town has ever seen.

Mrs. Jess Slaughter, president, in the name of the organization, thanked the following for their generous donations: the mothers who made candy and brought it in in paper bags, and who donated peanuts and popcorn balls, which were completely sold out before the circus was over; Eddy Ray Lees, the only outside performer, who did a Hula-hula dance; Mrs. E. F. Houser, who contributed her music; James A. Cusick, who gave them doughnuts; Geo. H. O'Brien, who donated paper bags; the C. and C. Hardware Co., who donated the rope to furnish the beard for the bearded woman; W. E. Harper, milk; Mrs. R. E. Slaughter, the ten, which was the toothless woman; Mrs. Ada Ramsey, the prizes for the bean-guessing contest, a applauded bath mat; Mrs. Lee Weather, ballyhoo; and the members who turned in wholeheartedly to make the affair a success.

The circus contained all the side shows one could ask for; such as animals, stonget man, a fishing booth, wild man from Coahoma, dancers, and many take-offs. Each room had its baker. The money will go for improvements which the school needs.

First Baptis MWU Holds All-Day Meet

The members of the First Baptist W.M.U. met at the church Monday for an all-day meeting with the Highland Park Circle in charge of the program. The topic was "The Crucible of World Destiny."

After the business meeting the members had lunch. Mrs. R. C. Hatch led the morning devotional. The following made talks on their assigned subjects in the afternoon session: Mrs. Wright on "Crucibles"; Mrs. Fanny Gee on "Fires That Burn"; Mrs. Robinson "Scout of Baptist Fires"; Mrs. A. L. Woods and Mrs. Taylor on "Tales that Tell"; Mrs. Heywood on "A Western Girl in an Eastern Land." There were also reports from the state W.M.U. convention.

The following attended: Meses K. S. Beckett, R. E. Day, Joe Campbell, F. Gee, Libbie Layne, J. L. James, L. A. Wright, D. J. Dooley, R. Miller, J. A. Boykin, W. D. Garza, E. N. Dett, Christine Robinson, Nat Shick, B. F. Robbins, E. J. Heywood, Homer Wright, R. C. Bryant, H. P. Wood, L. C. Taylor, A. S. Woods, J. Tom Mercer, J. C. Douglass, R. C. Hatch, Harry Stalcup, S. C. Bennett, W. W. Grant, D. C. Maupin, R. V. Hart, M. L. Ivie.

Presbyterian Women In Memorial Service

The Presbyterian Auxiliary, before it convened in its regular fourth Monday business session, held a short but beautiful memorial service in memory of Mrs. O. D. Dubberly, one of its loved members, yesterday.

After an appropriate song and prayer, Mrs. Barnett read the beautiful poem, "No Thorn Without a Rose" by Frances Ridley Havergal, and Mrs. McDowell feelingly sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." Mrs. Caylor gave the devotional, reading the 13th chapter of Corinthians and applying the beautiful love chapter to the character and life of Mrs. Dubberly and her firm and constant trust in her Saviour, day by day, which made her kind, courteous, conscientious, gentle, affectionate, unassuming, unpretentious, lovable and true in all the relations of her earthly career; a real and faithful friend.

During the business meeting plans were made for the packing of the Orphan's box on Friday, of next week and members were reminded to be present with their contributions; also plans for church night on Dec. 2. Secretaries of all causes gave splendid reports of work being done.

The members present were Meses W. C. Barnett, Emory Duff, C. P. Rogers, W. R. Settles, C. W. Cunningham, H. W. Caylor, E. E. Fahrnkamp, Roy Tucker, Robert T. Piner, W. L. Bell, Geo. W. Da-

Ex-Big Springites 'Officials' of New East Texas Village

Through a letter to W. D. (Pete) Hardesty, home from his work in the East Texas field due to illness in his family, The Herald was advised Tuesday of an important election in East Texas.

"Voters" of "Willow Springs," an area between Longview and Gladewater of which the Hayward-Elliott Tank company's office is the center, held an "election" a few days ago with the following results:

Mayor, Bob Taylor (won by wide margin); Rufus G. Elliott, city manager (won by narrow margin over Dewey Miller); commissioners, W. J. Riggs, L. H. Alderson, L. A. Low; W. D. (Pete) Hardesty, chief of police (with O. E. Miller acting in his absence); sanitation inspector, J. M. Parker; city physician, Dr. J. R. Barcus.

WANTED: GOOD CLEAN COTTON BAGS. BRING TO HERALD OFFICE.

How CARDUI Helps Women

"I WAS passing through a critical time in my life, and I suffered a great deal," says Mrs. Mat Howard, of Quilan, Texas. "I improved very much after I had taken Cardui for a while. Since then, I have given Cardui to my five daughters. As each one of them arrived at womanhood, I gave her Cardui for several months. I found they were less nervous and felt stronger. All of them have continued the use of Cardui in their homes. In my home we have all been better for having taken it."

Methodist M.S. In Joint Social Meet

The First Methodist W. M. S. and the Erdie Bailey M. S. met in a joint social session at the church Monday afternoon, with a program of "Rising Churches in Foreign Fields." Mrs. Chas. Morris, of the W. M. S., had charge of the program.

Mrs. Flewitten gave the devotional, followed by papers on various topics: Mrs. Stripling on "Mexico and Brazil"; Mrs. Miller on "Churches in Japan and Korea." Mrs. Faust sang a solo. Mr. Spann, wife of the new pastor, spoke on the work done by her father, Bishop Meador, in Brazil, in organizing and presiding over the first self-governing Methodist churches of that country.

The program was followed by a social hour, in which the members of the Erdie Bailey M. S. were hostesses and served refreshments. The following attended: Meses Calvin Boykin Hal Hart, W. H. Remble, Tom W. Davis, H. F. Williamson, John Davis, M. L. Musgrove, L. W. Croft, G. E. Fleeman, Jimmie Mason, L. E. Magdus, A. Schmitzer, C. T. Hall, V. H. Flewitten, Tom J. Coffey, Felton Smith, W. J. Riggs, G. A. Hartman, Wal-

To the Merchant

Are Your Windows Helping You Sell?

EVERY merchant in town maintains displays of his wares in his windows. Every merchant expects his window displays to attract attention and to create sales.

A most important point—proper illumination—is often overlooked. Without doubt, the most effective windows in town are the best lighted windows. Passers-by just won't stop and look at a window dimly lit. Make sure your windows are well lighted—poor light, poor results.

MAKE YOUR WINDOWS SELL

Good lighting makes window displays an actual sales force. Many windows need almost as much artificial lighting in the daytime as they do at night. Lighting is too important to guess about. Hundreds of stores have seen "sales out of the window" increased 20 to 30 per cent when window lighting was bettered.

Speed up the Hesitant Buyer

Good lighting means good seeing. Much of the indecision of shoppers is due directly to poor seeing. The merchandise does not reveal its texture, shade or workmanship, clearly and instantly. But wholly apart from the difficulty of good seeing, poor lighting is depressing. Good light is stimulating—it creates the buying mood.

Well Lighted Stores Are Busy Stores

People instinctively shun gloom and seek brightness. Asked why they prefer one store to another, they may give every reason but the right one—but the fact remains that the busiest, most popular stores in every community are the stores that are best lighted. Perhaps this only means that the cleverest merchandisers understand the value of good lighting.
