THE DEMOCRACY OF GOLF

Golf used to be considered a recreation for rich men—for rich men and for men who were too feeble to perform any hard manual labor.
Now, however, golf seems to be the most democratic game there is.
The New York, New Haven and Hartford railway held its annual employees' golf tournament the other day at New Haven, Conn. President John J. Pelley was one of the two men to win top honors, having a low gross score of 78. And the man he shared the top perch with was none other than Jack Garrity, fireman on the Shore Line express, who turned in a low net of 67.
The democracy of the links seems to be a genuine thing. Incidentally—who would have thought, a score of years ago, that a railroad fireman would ever be able to win top place in a golf tournament?

A CARELESS NATION

America evidently still needs a lengthy course in safety education before it can handle a major holiday properly.
Over the Labor Day week-end, 205 people were killed by accidents of various kinds.
Some of these mishaps came in auto traffic. Others were due to fires, explosions, airplane crashes and the like. Drowning claimed, as usual, a number of lives.
It's too late to do anything about it, of course. But the thing to be remembered is the fact that nearly every one of these 205 deaths was caused by carelessness—carelessness on the part of the victim or on the part of someone else.
A nation that sacrifices 205 lives to carelessness when it makes a holiday is almost too carelessness when it makes a holiday is almost too careless to be trusted with holidays.

OUT OUR WAY By Williams

FOR OR AGAINST BOND ELECTION

BANKER UPHOLDS PROPOSED COURT HOUSE, WOULD SAVE "TIME, MONEY"

There is an impression among many good business men and citizens that the erection of a new building is a cloak to cover the unnecessary expenditure of money belonging to the tax-payers. There have been instances where this held true but in Midland our public officials have worked for the benefit of the city along lines of the strictest economy, and this is said without fear of any attempt at successful contradiction. But these officials of ours have for years been working under a condition that did not lend itself to efficiency through, however, no fault of theirs. It is impossible to make a good job of anything if the proper tools are lacking. Records are piling up in our inadequate system of recording, and valuable time is wasted in looking up documents that are valuable to us, and from personal experience this has proved the necessity of having a dwelling that will properly house methods that will work, rapidly, for the benefit of the citizens of this city and county. A courthouse that will give all of us proper facilities for handling our public business is fully in order, and in advocating the erection of the new courthouse I have in mind that which will help us all as local citizens to attract material attention to the city of Midland. A new courthouse is a good investment. It enhances the value of this city as a business center. It is a progressive move, and the good word of our progressiveness is carried to other parts with the result that financial interests look upon us with more favor than if we are satisfied with methods that are obsolete, and obsolete methods never, in the history of the world, increased the value of any community. A new courthouse is the logical result and a required need to assist the intelligent efforts of our city and county citizens in keeping this section of the state out in front in the race for legitimate financial supremacy.

SOCIETY

Novel Program Given At Presbyterian Auxiliary

The subject of the program for the Presbyterian Woman's Auxiliary at yesterday's meeting was "Synodical, Presbyterial and Congregational Home Missions."
Mrs. Florence Richardson led the devotional and presented the program in a most novel manner. On one table was a poster bearing the words "What We Have Done" and also various objects representing some phases of work done by the auxiliary during the past few months for missions. Another table bore a poster reading "What We Want to Do" with each object representing what the auxiliary hopes to accomplish during the next six months of the auxiliary year.
Plans were discussed for the group conference which will be held in October at Big Spring. Mrs. Andrews Fasken, president of the Midland auxiliary, is chairman of this group meeting.

HARRIS'

OPPORTUNITY SALE OPENS THURSDAY

As has been the custom of Harris' store for years, the annual sale will be celebrated on Thursday, September 12 and continue for 15 days. The store buyers have spent the greater part of the summer in securing the cooperation of the leading manufacturers, who generously contributed with extraordinary value so that the public might profit by buying the best at way below their standard prices and receiving their utmost value for their money on anything they might purchase. Will Harris, together with the entire organization of the store, has been preparing this sale for the past three months. This sale will outrank all previous sales due to the fact that the stocks are larger and more complete. It's unnecessary to enumerate the advantages of Harris' sale to the people of Midland as the buying public of this territory is well acquainted with the phenomenal values and true bargains which they have taken advantage of in the previous seasons. The success of the store is entirely due to truthful advertising service, quality merchandise and low prices which have gained the confidence and the support of the buying public.

MAUDE ADAMS' SUCCESS IS MADE AS ALL-TALKING MOTION PICTURE
The dramatic vehicle that swept Maude Adams to new heights of glory has now been transplanted to the screen as an all-talking motion picture.
The rights to Sir James M. Barrie's renowned play, "Half an Hour," were acquired by Paramount and made into a full length all-talking production under the title of "The Doctor's Secret," and will be presented at the Ritz theatre today and Wednesday.
Ruth Chatterton, H. B. Warner, John Loder, Robert Edeson, Ethel Wales, Wilfred Noy and Nanci Price comprise the cast which is stage-taunted. William C. de Mille, famous stage and screen director, not only directed the production but adapted the story as well.
While there is a whimsical touch evident in most of Barrie's plays, such as "Peter Pan," it is not so evident in "The Doctor's Secret." This is a play of dramatic intensity, filled with suspense and ruthless realism, and pierced with flashes of almost sardonic humor. It is one of Barrie's finest plays, "Half an Hour," and with its being transplanted to the screen as audible entertainment, fill mfans and lovers of the drama may be assured of perfect enjoyment.

RODEO WILL HEAD FAIR TO BE HELD AT ABILENE 24TH

ABILENE, Texas, Sept. 10.—A Wild West Rodeo with bucking horses, untamed steers and elusive goats and calves along with a horse show and polo game will be presented by the West Texas Fair on the afternoon of September 24 in front of the grandstand as one of the items on the entertainment program of the fair for this season.

Willis Cox, member of the fair executive board, will direct the rodeo and horse show program. He already has a good assortment of four-footed performers lined up for the affair and with the stable cash prizes that will be offered to the winners of the various events he anticipates a large list of talented leather and hemp artists taking part in the different contests and programs.

Complete details of the affair will be announced within the next week. Mr. Cox said. Cecil Childers and Phil Griffin will assist in arranging the events and securing stock and contestants for the meet.

Instructions have been given Mr. Cox and his assistants by the executive board of the exposition, to put forth every effort and to spare neither time nor expense in preparing for the rodeo program at the fair.

Arrangements for the military program to be staged at the fair on the afternoon of September 26 under direction of Captain Earl Hoppe, and to be participated in by the three National Guard units in Nowadays the American menu reveals an inclination to drift away from the old fashioned heavy meals with their hearty meats and rich desserts. Our menus are made with attention to a balanced diet and our choice of foods is not limited to the season.

Our closer contacts with other countries have taught us many new dishes. The excellent commercially prepared products have lightened the preparation of meals. The increasing knowledge of women regarding the value of various foods plays an important part in the selection of the daily bill of fare.

The following dinner menus are unusual, seasonable and perfectly balanced:

Menu No. 1

Brased calf liver, stuffed baked tomatoes, Parker House rolls, jellied cabbage salad, peach upside-down cake, coffee.

The tomatoes are stuffed with a to pulp and cheese. The combination provides a pleasing contrast with the rather highly seasoned liver.

A prepared lemon or pineapple jelly can be used with the cabbage for the salad. Threads of green and red sweet peppers add color through the mold.

Fresh or baked peaches are used for the dessert.

Menu No. 2

Stewed chicken in rice border, creamed onions, tomato and lettuce salad, mint ice cream with chocolate sauce, crisp cookie, coffee.

Tender young chickens are disjointed and simmered gently until tender. One cup of chicken stock in combined with one cup cream and the liquid is thickened with one tablespoon flour rubbed to a smooth paste with one tablespoon butter. This is brought to the boiling point and poured over the chicken rice in a gorder of steamed rice.

Cut head lettuce in slices and arrange with alternating slices of peeled tomatoes. Serve with French dressing.

To make the mint ice cream crush peppermint stick candy and add to any plain ice cream recipe, omitting the sugar. Use one-half pound candy to a quart of ice cream

FINANCIAL MEN FAVOR CREDIT TO BREEDER-FEEDER

Banks look with favor upon extending credit for feeding out cattle in the Midland, Marfa and other city areas over the outwest. Thinking men of financial circles of the state see this as the possibility of the future.

A letter bearing out concretely this idea was received this morning by the Midland Chamber of Commerce from Fred L. Pelton, vice-president of the Stockyards National Bank of Fort Worth. The letter follows:

"Our bank wishes to pay its tribute to the purpose of your meeting, believing that you are promoting a cause that is economically sound and will prove a source of increasing wealth for the people of our state."

"Feeding of live stock by the producer of feed crops, makes a market at home for his crop without transportation costs, makes a market for Texas live stock produced on the range, and finishes stock for sale at higher prices. Texas does not now produce enough finished live stock and Texas people are using live-stock fattened in other states."

"We believe Texas has enough advantages that will prepare fat stock for market at a lower cost than other states and that live stock feeding is a profitable industry."

"We look with favor upon extending credit for feeding and assure you of our co-operation in the good cause you are advancing."
