REWARD FOR SLAYER INCREASED

Midland Oil Man Sells Valuable Lease to Cosden

NEW PECOS AREA GETS GOOD PLAY

$90,000 And Eighth Royalty Paid For 80-Acre Lease

Sale of an 80-acre lease in Pecos county was completed Monday by Fred Turner Jr., of Midland, to the Cosden Oil Company.

The lease is the north 80 acres of section 1, H. E. and W. T. Ry. Co. survey, Pecos county, located seven miles south of Girvin, and a half-mile southwest of the Rowan and Tong producer. The consideration was $90,000 cash and a one-eighth overriding royalty.

Announcement of an immediate test for oil on the lease was made by representatives of the Cosden Company, the well to be known as the Cosden No. 1 McDonald.

Leases in the Rowan and Tong area have sold for as high as $3,500 an acre since the producer came in, according to reports here.

Files On Strips Turner, who has lease and royalty holdings in the various West Texas fields, has two suits in the higher courts, whereby he is pushing his claim for title to valuable vacancy strips in the heart of the Yates field. Defendants in the suits include some of the major oil companies and land owners in the Pecos county field.

Aromatic Smoke Screen Invented

It is to be presumed that Cleopatra held her pretty nose between her fingers when Mark Anthony "lit up," or to be more precise, fired up the "old stogie," or in other words lit his pipe in the evening.

At least, the idea has been handed down that all pipes are possessed of an unusually foul odor, and give no pleasure to the smoker until they are old enough to give out that "essence" to the smoker, that distinctly is a pungency to those who do not smoke.

However, it is certain that our former society editor has changed her mind about that one thing.

The story is this: The office—well you know—"there's at least one in every office," came in the other day with the sweetest "eau de cologne" perfumed pipe that has ever invaded the sanctum, perfumed the pipe of the city editor in the same manner, and proceeded to wave said pipe underneath the nose of Miss Wimberly.

"Why, I didn't know you could buy tobacco that smelled that well!" the young lady said.

"Oh, yes, yes, that is the latest thing out," was the answer.

The source of the fragrance never having been explained, it is certain that Miss Wimberly is pursuing her studies in Canyon, content with the fact that she will never be subject, in future life, to believe that "all" tobacco is obnoxious.

Be it said that Mr. Jimmy Harrison, manager of the Commercial Printing Company, was the gentleman who established so conclusively the new school of thought.

Permit For Big Bus Line Sought

AUSTIN, Sept. 17.—(UP)—The Southland Red Ball Motor Bus Company is to buy the West Texas Coaches, Young's bus line, and the South Texas Coaches, in a $1,150,000 deal, subject to the approval of the bus division of the State Railroad Commission. The application has been taken under advisement by the commission.

Comes Through Midland The route of the West Texas Coaches passes through Midland hence if the deal is permitted, traffic on their route will be under the new and greater organization.

This does not affect the Pageway lines, operating from Big Spring to Pecos and from Pecos to Roswell.

Baby Not "Act of God"

Birth of a baby is not an "act of God," so ruled Actors' Equity Association in ordering Jea Harris, producer, to pay the salaries of six actors who were thrown out of work two weeks ahead of time when the play "Coquette" was closed in Los Angeles because Helen Hayes, above, featured star, expected birth of a child. Miss Hayes is the wife of Charles MacArthur, playwright.

LITTLE THEATER ORGANIZED AND BOARD OF DIRECTORS NAMED; MUCH INTEREST

A Little Theater organization was perfected Monday night at the Vickers studio in the Petroleum building, when eight directors were elected, and a number of members of the old organization, The Midland Players, and other interested persons signed a registration list which made them charter members of the new group.

M. C. Ulmer, Dr. L. B. Pemberton, Fridolf Swenson, R. C. Hankins, Mesdames Harry Tolbert, George Abel, and Leon Goodman, and Misses Fannie Bess Taylor and Mary Hogan comprise the executive board, to which three other members are to be added by the board and a chairman elected.

The meeting began with Miss Fannie Bess Taylor acting as chairman. A rising vote of thanks to Mrs. George Abel, last year's director of The Midland Players, and to Miss Lillie B. Williams, president of that group, was given. Members who registered signed opposite their names one of the following activities, into which this year's work will be divided:

Acting—occasional, or a more systematic study of the drama with a view to more intensive work, character acting; Stagecraft—those interested in stage setting, lighting, properties, building and painting of sets, etc.; make-up and costume; play-reading; floormen and those who meet and entertain guests and visitors, and furnish music at productions; ticket sellers, and sign painters.

It is planned that monthly meetings will be held. The executive council at these meetings will report, and there will be old and new business brought up; a lecture on instructive phases of the Little Theater technical matters discussed, and a social hour.

Aero Club May Come From Wed. Meeting

A meeting, from which may grow an aero club, is called for 11 o'clock Wednesday morning on the mezzanine floor of Hotel Scharbauer.

Everyone interested in aviation, whether he be a flier or not, is invited to be present.

The purpose of the proposed organization is one with other aero clubs which have been organized in Texas—giving impetus to a more ardent citizenry, boosting the local airport, extending the aeronautical control of the city over the area, and promoting all things classified as aerial.

The meeting will be presided over by Captain Frank D. Gore of the aviation reserve, and was called at the request of fliers and aviation enthusiasts.

MEXICO RANCHERS INTERESTED IN GIST HEREFORDS

Interest among Mexican ranchmen in pure bred Hereford cattle is on the increase, and a letter was received today by John M. Gist, asking for prices on Hereford bulls and cows. The ranchman had been directed to Mr. Gist as a recognized breeder by the department of agriculture of Mexico.

Mr. Gist stated today that he and a group of Maria Hereford breeders plan to make a good will trip into northern Mexico a few days before the Highland Fair at Maria, and they expect a number of leading Mexican ranchmen and business men to attend the fair there. Mr. Gist will have a show herd on exhibition.

His letter from the Mexican ranchman follows:

City Working On Air Mail Line

For months Midland has been trying to get an air mail route through here. Every argument has been used, qualifications and needs have been stated, her influence has been exerted in conjunction with that of other places between Dallas and El Paso.

At Big Spring's airport opening last week 1,295 signatures were secured on the application for this air mail line, according to an article in the Big Spring Herald.

One Day Strike Is Paid Little Heed

BESSEMER CITY, N. C., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Results of a call of the National Textile Workers' Union and the Communist party for a one day strike of textile mill workers, as protest over the death at the hands of a mob of Mrs. Ella May Wiggin, appeared to have been negligible at the hour set for her funeral today. Funeral services were postponed an hour when the expected strikers failed to arrive.

Whether the state will offer additional rebuttal testimony depends on facts testified to by the defense, District Attorney Blindell said.

"I Am Innocent!" Maude Raines Says

Editor's Note: This story, published exactly as it was written, was done by Maude Raines, in the county jail charged with having been connected with a diamond theft at Inman's, local jeweler. Maude Raines insists she is "an innocent woman," and will plead her own case in next week's court.

By MAUDE RAINES. I was born near Daingerfield, Morris county, Texas, in the mountains, in a Christian home. My parents were Annie Dell Banks and Avalon Raines. My parents married in 1875, month unknown. They moved to Wood county in 1900, near Mineola. My mother died in 1901, leaving five small children. Father moved then on the Sabine river and lived there for five years.

I became hardened to hunger and cold and neglect. I had swamp fever, which was the cause of the death of two of the children. This left three, Maude, that's me, Walker and Turner. Turner died in 1916 while at work with the T. & P. railroad.

I ran away and married in 1912. The man who I did not know, who did not have any principles, of the lowest dye. A many a night I cried myself off to sleep.

NO DECISION ON PRORATION RULE IN HOWARD AREA

H. C. Harveson, of the California Company, was the only Midland oil man at the hearing in Austin Monday before the Railroad Commission to determine whether or not proration rules in the Howard-Glasscock pool will be lifted.

Mr. Harveson presented testimony in favor of continuing the proration rules. Much testimony was presented on both sides, leaving the proposition somewhat muddled in the minds of members of the Railroad Commission. The Midland man is expected home this afternoon.

At present, according to some of the testimony, the daily allowance of 37,500 barrels for the field is not being reached, the present output being about 30,000 barrels. The daily potential, however, was estimated by E. F. Andrews, umpire in the field, at 43,000 barrels. He recommended lifting the proration rules.

Those arguing for continuance said that a drilling campaign at this time would set a bad precedent for West Texas.

All three commissioners, Clarence E. Gilmore, chairman; C. V. Terrell and Lon A. Smith, members, and R. D. Parker, chief of the oil and gas division, presided at the meeting. Among the witnesses were M. B. Sweeney, Dallas, chairman of the field's advisory committee; E. G. Allen, Dallas; A. Benheke, Amarillo; R. T. Piner, Big Spring; H. C. Harveson, Midland; J. J. Brewster, San Angelo; Warner Clark, Dallas.

In addition to the proposition of eliminating proration for the entire field, there was a second drop regulation of production for wells on the 2,500-foot level. Sweeney, who was the first on the stand, declared if the proration order is abandoned, the field's production likely will run to 60,000 barrels.

SEVEN JURORS SELECTED IN MURDER CASE

Seven jurors had been selected by 2:30 in the case of The State of Texas vs. J. H. (Blackie) Hill, charged with the murder of Jay Brewer in the Ballard Cafe here several months ago. The case came up this morning when argument in the case of Mrs. Josephine Sloan vs. W. H. Sloan et al was postponed through until probably Friday.

Jurors selected were W. R. Lake, J. D. Bartlett, J. R. Choat, Ira Cole, Ben Driver, B. G. Hale and Evans Smith.

EXPERTS TO TAKE STAND IN TRIAL OF BECKY ROGERS

NEW BRAUNFELS, Sept. 17.—(AP) The state rested its case this morning in the trial of Becky Rogers. Otis Rogers announced that he would call three expert witnesses for rebuttal testimony, Dr. Livingston Anderson of Corpus Christi, Dr. W. J. Johnson, superintendent of the San Antonio State Hospital, and Dr. F. E. Karback, New Braunfels physician who has been making daily examinations of Becky for a week. Rogers was granted a brief recess to outline the rebuttal plan.

Whether the state will offer additional rebuttal testimony depends on facts testified to by the defense, District Attorney Blindell said.

"I Am Innocent!" Maude Raines Says

I was a Christian. I had been taught to love God and man, to do unto others as I wish them to do unto me.

He drug me from place to place. We will call him John Brown. For the children's sake. John was a man not wanted or loved by any that knew him. He would work long enough for a man to win his confidence, then leave owing him. He would cut crops after crops, fool with whiskey, get drunk, go fishing while I ploughed in the field. I've lived on Natchez river. When my little girl came, Oh! the horrors (Continued on Page 3)

To Know Fate Soon

The state began its rebuttal today in the case of Mrs. Rebecca Bradley Rodgers and the defense rested. Mrs. Rodgers is called the "Flapper Bandit" and is charged with having robbed the Farmers' National Bank of Euda, Texas, of $1,000 in 1926.

Proctor To Winter 13,000 Head Cattle

With some of the best pastures of the Midland cattle country leased, including the Blakeney ranch, the M Bar west side, the Gray place, some of the Wolcott country, the Medina, Schreck and some of the Bryant land, Roy Proctor is preparing to winter 11,000 head of the select calves from leading Midland herds. These cattle, with approximately 2,000 head of cows, will be pastured from 200 to 250 sections of country.

Mr. Proctor has just returned from a trip to the west coast, and was pleased with the range conditions here when he got back to Midland. Leaving here about three weeks ago, when the range was getting dry and new engines had been installed at all of his mills to prevent getting out of water, the appearance of things after the recent rains was changed.

In his cattle connections last year, Mr. Proctor wintered 22,000 head.

Lions To Barbecue Friday Afternoon

The Lions club has further postponed its picnic, which was to have been given by Donald Hutt for the membership of the beasts and of every school teacher of the county.

"At 4:30 Friday, at Cloverdale," Lion Chairman M. C. Ulmer announced over the telephone after noon.

Wet weather, and a threat of more rain, was given as the cause of the second postponement. Formerly, the picnic was announced for Monday afternoon.

"Donald Hutt has all the maverick meat imaginable," a committeeman said, "and he is ready to barbecue it upon instant notice. If the weather is right, the barbecue-picnic will certainly be announced by Chairman Ulmer."

Rangers Believe Will Solve Murder, But Will Take Time

BORGER, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Texas Rangers, aided by Hutchinson County officers, continued the search today for the slayer of John A. Holmes, county prosecutor, but no new clues for the slayer or the motive have been found. Reward for the slayer's or slayers' capture have been raised to more than $3,000 with the announcement that Borger citizens have contributed $2,500 in addition to Governor Moody's $500 reward and the $250 by the Texas district and county attorneys association.

Missing confession of Roy Harmon and Eddie Bailey in the Borger deputies sheriff murders of 1927, loss of which is believed the motive of the assassination of Holmes, were found last night. Rangers admit that they have made little headway, but feel that the affair finally will be solved, but it looks far in the future as they continue to run down clues.

FREEMAN TRIAL IN ABILENE; CASE WAS POSTPONED

The case of D. W. Freeman, Midland wrecking yard proprietor, will come up in 42nd district court at Abilene Wednesday morning, rather than as announced, a telephone call to the Abilene Morning News this morning revealed.

A technicality resulted in the case being postponed, however. Veniemen in the case have been warned to appear at 9 o'clock.

May Be Glass-Sand Near Monahans

Sample specimens of the famous white sand near Monahans were recently sent to Monterey, Mexico, where analysis will be made, to determine its value for the manufacture of glass, states the Pecos Enterprise. There are hundreds of thousands of acres of flowing white sand in that county which, if found to contain certain chemical elements, would be the largest glass-sand deposit in the United States.

One of the chief requirements of glass-sand, is that it pass through a screen containing 160 mesh to the inch according to the analyst, and the sand near Monahans is understood to meet this requirement.

Once a hunting ground for the Comanche Indians, where buffalo and antelope were in great herds, this sandy country was fatal to travelers of early days. Legends are told of a lost wagon train which was buried in the heart of these sands; and today evidence of the lost train is still intact. The oxen yoke, spokes and wheel hubs, and iron bows of great size are still at the place of the fatal blow from the Comanche tribes, records the Enterprise.

EDUCATION IN OIL

The past decade has witnessed the adoption by many colleges and universities of oil education as an important feature in their curricula. It is perfectly natural that any industry as vast as the petroleum industry, with its marked influence on the world at large and upon a considerable portion of the population, should command attention educationally.

Our schools have wisely decided to provide the student, in most instances, solely with a background; only where conditions are ideal for it do they undertake to teach him the practical phases of business. In offering the student instruction in the basic principles of petroleum and permitting him to gain his actual experience in the field itself, our educational institutions intelligently realize their mission and serve the industry well.

Sister Marys Kitchen

Since many of the fruits generally used for preserves and jams have been high in price this year, a few recipes for quinces may not come amiss.

Plain canned quinces are excellent in winter fruit salads. They have a tang which combines well with other fruits and their firm texture prevents them from crushing and becoming mushy.

Quince honey is decidedly old-timey. It's delicious with hot rolls or baking-powder biscuits for "tea." A preserve used with a warm bread often makes a dessert unnecessary in an informal meal and saves a busy housekeeper the time and effort of making a cake or pudding.

Quince Honey

Six large quinces, 6 pounds sugar, 66 cups water.

Pare, quarter and core quinces. Grate or put through the fine knife of food chopper. Put sugar and water into preserving kettle and cook ten minutes. Add quinces and cook 30 minutes longer. Pour into sterilized jelly glasses and cover with paraffine when cold.

Chopped Quince

Pare, core and chop quinces. Measure. To three cups of fruit add one cup of water and cook until tender. Add four cups of sugar and cook for fifteen minutes longer. Pour into sterilized pint cans, and seal.

Quinces are also good as spiced sweet pickles. They are pared, quartered and cored and simmered in vinegar syrup until tender. A good rule for the spiced vinegar syrup is one pound light brown sugar to each cup of cider vinegar and one teaspoon each of broken stick cinnamon, cloves and all-spice tied in a bag. The spices of course can be varied to suit individual tastes. Ground spices can be used, but the pickled fruit will not be as clear and delicately colored.

What happens in a good ICE refrigerator

ICE, in a properly constructed and operated refrigerator, creates a constant circulation of pure, cold air, thus removing food odors through the outlet and preventing unappetizing interchange of food flavors. The cycle of air in a well iced refrigerator is exactly as shown in the right-hand illustration. And it is this constant circulation of cold purified air which explains the incomparable freshness of ICE-kept foods.

To enable ICE to serve you most satisfactorily, be sure you have a refrigerator that is well insulated, tightly joined together and built to let air circulate freely. We shall be glad to help you select a properly constructed refrigerator and to see that it is kept well filled with ice.

VAN PELT TO VOTE FOR PROPOSED COURTHOUSE

When this section of the city and county of the state of Texas, as represented by thoughtful citizens right around us, decided that we needed a new court house no hasty decision was indulged in and what is more to the point no political expediency, as politics go, was even remotely brought into the consideration of the matter in any form.

When it is said that thoughtful citizens decided that a new court was needed it is not meant that our entire of a majority of our citizenry reached a decision to that effect, but rather that those who had been entrusted with the details of our local government had, from daily usage, found that they were serving the people that had placed them in positions of trust, in a manner that could be improved upon if they were furnished with satisfactory and dependable tools to work with.

The ability of those elected or appointed was never in question nor their loyalty to the interests of the community, but the best man in the world cannot rope a steer, that has any speed, with a six foot lariat and be mounted on a three legged truck horse.

The writer is not trying to be funny; he is simply calling attention to the undeniable condition that obtains around our inadequate system for the administration of our municipal affairs.

Neither can the writer refer to reasons advanced by individuals who may or may not want the new court house. They have their arguments, for and against, pro and con, if you wish, and they may stand up under analysis, but for or against, pro or con, the writer must be emphatic over the impossibility of making a satisfactory ship out of an old row-boat that has seen service in a small mill pond.

The old school house is not to be despised but who in the wide world wants it back. We have gone way beyond its limitations. Our high school, with its great power for education that is daily being demonstrated under the best that can be obtained for our advancement in intellect, could not possibly be dispensed with.

None of these things, these improvements, are of the character wherein money that came from the tax-payer is being handled carelessly or squandered. It is, rather, a good business move, if one wishes to view it from a purely commercial angle.

It becomes an asset. Without going into statistics in proof of that contention, which is easy to do, ask yourself this question, "Under existing circumstances how much of an asset, in any way that it can be considered, is the present structure?"

True, it is doing duty, but it is doing it just like a man on crutches; it is just getting by. And the tax payer is entitled to something more than that. That is what he pays taxes for and the Commissioner's Court is asking the tax payer for permission to have a structure erected in which his business can be transacted with the greatest efficiency.

In order to be on solid ground in advocating the new court house this writer consulted with members of that court and learned, with gratification, that it is their serious opinion that, in the circumstances our taxes for the coming period will not be increased a single penny.

That comes pretty near being a condition where one can eat his cake and still have it. The court contends that it can substantiate that as demonstrable, that is to say, "with figures."

This writer is for it, and as he has paid his poll tax, that is the way he is going to vote next Saturday.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 16.—(UP)—Twelve miles of cables will carry current for lighting Randolph Field, the "West Point of the Air," which the Army is completing near here. Flood lights with a half-mile radius are to be installed. Other lights will border the entire field. Flood lights will enable night use of either of two landing fields. One is for use when north and south winds prevail and the other for use when winds are east or west. The average depth of the ocean is from 10,000 to 15,000 feet.

All. My other baby was just 13 months old and him a cripple at that time. The oldest, A. C., was not three until Nov. 3th of same year, 1919. I was expecting the third baby about his time. I was the mother of six boys, two sets of twins which died a few weeks after their birth, that's the first set did, but the second set caused by receiving a lick from the hands of a woman. Call her Susie Anna. Of course I had seen my husband in her company. Wife like I resented it. She kick me. And from that day, August 27, 1914, until Jan. 1, 1915, I was in bed. The children were born Jan. 9, 1915 and April the 9, 1915, they died. On April 22 I walked to the kitchen, and took my first real meal. They had starved me. John and his old maid sister, my sister-in-law, she lives some where in the west. I hope I will never see her again. I ate eleven biscuits that day. I had been sick so long. I was so hungry it did not hurt me. Dr. Puckett said it would of killed anyone else. We were living near Wimsboro, Tex., so in 1917, Nov. 3, I became the mother of my boy that is at Taylor now in high school. A. C., he is so pretty, a lovely voice, and can play the harp and piano. God only knows his future life. I hope it will be good. I pray he will be a man. I can look up and say, "Well done, faithful one." So the war, yes, the great war, came. Of course we had to take his parents and his old maid sister, so they all rented a place near Tyler, moved from Wimsboro in Dec. 1917. The baby was one month old, just as the first fuss over it came up. My mother-in-law was going to change his name. They disliked to cal him C. A. as I said. I ploughed in the sun in June, carrying my baby to the field. I would quit to go cook dinner and get back to the field at 1 o'clock, work til dark, go to the house and milk the cows, fix supper for everybody and go to bed and get up at 4 o'clock, do the same things, wash, iron, clean the year, and cook on Saturday. Then I was not allowed to go to my church on Sunday, my in-laws and old maid sister-in-law stayed at the house and grumbled. They would not let me keep my baby which was a bottle baby. Fleet Of Oil Company Airplanes Will Be At The Great Tulsa Oil Exposition

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 17.—In pronouncing aviation one of its greatest benefactors, the petroleum industry, at the sixth International Petroleum Exposition and Congress in Tulsa, 5-12, will draw upon the air fleets of the oil and gas companies and upon the nation's military aviation fields, William G. Skelly, Exposition president announced today. More than twenty-five oil companies have indicated that their airplanes will take part in the derby to Tulsa during the oil show. The executive committee of the Exposition has set aside $15,000 to be used as prizes in connection with the aviation activities. Some of the air features include a dummy bombing barrage over the Exposition grounds, the catapulting of a glider over the show plant, military maneuvers, twenty-five mile races over a five mile course. On certain nights during the oil show a large bombing plane will mount to slightly more than 1500 feet over the grounds and entertain the spectators with a dazzling pyrotechnical display. An anti-aircraft battery on the ground will search for the bomber with powerful light-shafts and on locating it will set up a dummy attack, sending harmless bursts near the air cruiser. More than 100 oil companies have been asked to take part in the Exposition aviation program and a large percentage of these are expected to announce their decision this week.

FEDERAL FARM FACTS The index of the general level of farm prices jumped from 140 to 143 per cent of the pre-war level during the period from July 15 to Aug. 15, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports. This figure is 4 points higher than that of a year ago. Larger yields are indicated for crops of the south and smaller for those of the north, according to a survey of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Major crops of the north, such as corn, wheat, oats, potatoes and fruits, are expected to be smaller. Cotton, tobacco and sweet potatoes, the south's major crops, are expected to be larger. An extensive campaign has been waged this season by farmers in the northeastern and lake states against the currant and gooseberry bushes. These bushes are hosts of the fungus which causes destructive blight of pine trees. More than 67,000,000 bushes have been destroyed, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

PECOS "PLUNGERS" MAY TAKE HEAVY HAND IN GRIDIRON RACE

MIDLAND LIKELY TO ENGAGE CLUB

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of stories out of the training camps of teams which Midland high school expects to meet this grid season. Other stories will be forthcoming as material can be collected.

From a standpoint of brawn the Pecos high school gridiron team this season should have an edge on most other schools of this district. The team can easily average 160 pounds if the coaches revert to simple selection.

The Pecos Enterprise, in a recent issue, gave the following account of the team and its chances. The account follows:

Thirty-five huskies, the largest squad to appear for practice on a Pecos field, cavorted around the practice field of the Pecos high school, Wednesday afternoon, overcrowded with pep and zip, for the first of the season of hard knocks.

Plenty of Reserve
A team averaging around 160 pounds or better can be easily picked from this gang of young toughs, with plenty of boys just as heavy setting on the sidelines waiting their call. This year's team will not be like the ones, we used to have, that averaged 120, sometimes.

Guy F. Walker, the new principal of the high school, is at present coaching the team, getting them in shape, until the new coach has been selected by the board of trustees. He has formerly coached good teams in the south Texas town where he formerly lived, but had not expected to have the job here. He is especially pleased with the large turnout, and expects still further additions to the squad.

Same Quarterback
Captain Billy D. Prewitt, who had his first year of football last year, and that at quarterback, is out there with a big grin, ready to do his stuff, and weighing 200 pounds more. He is an earnest little devil, quite content to call it right, and give the real interference, with the real team play spirit.

With Billy D. are the other new veterans: Bunk Moorehead, left half and 163 pounds of the toughest gallop; boy in the district; "Molly" Breaux, a bearcat end, now out for the backfield with his 165 pounds of dynamite; Melvin Cowan who played tackle last year, and did it well; Pink Powie, the full back now weighing 145; Bill Bush, who played tackle, and now wants to use his 164 pounds as a half; Delery Strubbs, an end at 160 pounds; Arthur O'Neill, the redheaded scrappy center who now tromps 'em down to 143, and is just twice as tuff, (watch him this year); and Allen Wilkenfeld, who was used as a guard last year, though he was quite a pass tosser.

New Players
With this array of former letter men, are some of the boys who got in many games last year. Harrison Beauchamp, a guard; Truett Poer, an end; Hallie Bryan, a self-styled drawback; Dutch Mier, a 170-pound guard; Jesse Bush, and others.

In the new players are some mean ball players, and some that are going to run the regulars clear out of the lineup, if given a chance.

Ellis McPhaul, one of the Arizona wildcats, is here ready to take over one of the tackle positions. He only weighs 190, and handles himself as easy as a tight rope walker. He'll give them all something to think about this year.

Hooligan Harrison, just a freshman, and plenty cocky, is out for an end, and if we are any good on guessing, he's going to make the opposition look pretty bad.

Jennings Doak, a former Austin Hi star, at El Paso, is now living here and ready to show his wares, which he learned after plenty of real work. He is big, and experienced, and will be a big help.

"Creamy" McCree, a former tackle at Artesia, is here to win one of those berths, or hurt somebody trying.

Harper Wicker, a brother of the Sul Ross fullback, is out and ready to prove that brawn and ability run in the family.

L. Tennant, the high class standing guard of last year's cage team, is out to show Arthur O'Neill a big fight for the pivot position.

J. Spencer, a freckled youth weighing 170, and full of vim and vigor is out there planning on playing the game, or knowing why.

Some Indeterminists
Among the others, whom we haven't watched in action, are Dick Slack, "Mark" Anthony, Junior Boatright, Jim McCaslin, J. Goodrich, Chester Armstrong, Grady Durdin, Paul Spencer, A. Z. and Wesley Hart, Paul Armstrong, Brown Seay, and Cecil Turner.

J. Y. "Ox" Crum, the big center of last year, is fooling around school this year, but has finished his four years of interscholastic competition, and has won enough letters to fill up a hope chest.

Perry Colwell was elected business manager of the Plungers again, and will direct the destinies of the boys.

SPEAKING OF SPORT

Punts and Passes
Carnegie Tech will have a line average of 196 pounds from tackle to tackle, with the ends averaging 186 and the backs 167. . . . New York University has a pony backfield, composed of Vincent Ciavarelli, 145, Dudley Hormel, 125, Johnny Shapiro, 116, and Maurice Rogers, 116. . . . Notre Dame will close its season this year against Army at Yankee Stadium. . . . Florida is going after big games with Harvard at Cambridge November 2 and the University of Oregon at Miami December 7 on its schedule. . . . Harry Rehbolz, Wisconsin's veteran fullback, spent the summer as a highway patrolman. . . . His best trick was to make his college pals who parked by the way move on. . . . Indiana has two sets of jerseys. . . . One set cardinal in color and the other black.

Since Chicago, Colgate and Ohio State all wear red jerseys, Indiana will wear black sweaters against those teams and the cardinal ones in all other games. . . . Charlie (Foot) Clements, Alabama tackle, who hails from Rouer, Ark., has to have his football shoe specially made because his feet are so big. . . . He is also managing editor of the Alabama yearbook, the Corolla. . . . Wisconsin and Notre Dame probably will play to a full house at Soldier's Field, Chicago, October 19. . . . Five and a half tons of football poundage will report to Coach Jimmy Phean of Purdue at Lafayette, Ind., today. . . . The combined weight of the 65 Purdue candidates is 11,109 pounds. . . . John Hered, 202, tackle is the biggest.

Midland Apprized Plaes Are Safer

The accidents which happen to airplanes are watched with interest by every person, be he flying enthusiast or merely scolding critic. Midland's interest is one of a fraternal character because of the association her people have by virtue of the airport, with flyers and flying passengers.

Although the Cowboys may not have two good men for every position, Coach Bridges said as the training started, and the outlook thus far confirms his prophecy. Some of those who are showing up best and promise to offer some of the fourteen letter men trouble in holding positions are: Rhodes, of Port Arthur, end; Goodwin of Port Arthur, half; Pearce of Comanche, Okla., guard; Weiman of Port Arthur, half; and Webb of Mineral Wells, guard.

What Ho! Sheriff Shoots Over Limit
CLEBURNE, Tex., Sept. 17.—(UP) Speaking of stories, here's a hunting story that rates on a par with most of the better fish stories.

Sheriff Joe Crawford recently went dove-hunting. He had rather good luck and wound up the day with fourteen birds. As Sheriff Crawford knew quite well the bag limit was fifteen, so in order to make it the end of a perfect hunt, sought about for one more dove.

He presently spied a pair sitting about a foot apart and in all probability catching up on their billing and cooing. Taking dead aim the sheriff blazed away and lo and behold—both doves dropped dead.

Now Sheriff Crawford could have quietly tossed one of the birds away and said nothing of the affair. But being an honest individual, he sought the advice of County Attorney Penn J. Jackson.

He presented the quandy he was in, explaining that although admittedly guilty of exceeding the bag limit, he was merely a victim of circumstances and the demise of the second dove was wholly unintentional and unexpected. He asked for a ruling on the case and after deep meditation the county attorney decided that in view of the second bird dying by accident, Sheriff Crawford could not be held responsible for exceeding the bag limit.

APPOINTMENTS OF HIS DEFENDED BY GOVERNOR MOODY

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 17.—(AP)—Someone recalled last week it was a rule of the lamented Governor James Stephen Hogg that there should not exist, after sundown, a vacancy he could fill by appointment.

"Never let a sun sink on a vacancy," was Governor Hogg's maxim, according to this authority.

The recollection was made after it had been pointed out that Governor Dan Moody had a number of important places to fill by appointment and invariably put off as long as possible the duty of making them.

But the governor did not hesitate in filling the place left vacant by the death of J. T. Robison, veteran commissioner of the general land office. He put J. H. Walker, chief clerk of the land office for 21 years, in Mr. Robison's place.

Those who quoted Governor Hogg's attitude in making appointments contended he realized that the longer one put off an appointment the more applicants there were with the result there were many disappointments when the place actually was filled.

Governor Moody replied to some one who criticized his apparent procrastination in making appointments by this declaration:

"I made one hasty appointment, and I have been disappointed in the appointee ever since; I decided I would take my sweet time in filling vacancies thereafter."

At any rate, Governor Moody probably has had to make more appointments than any of his immediate predecessors.

In addition to filling Commissioner Robison's office, it will be necessary for him to appoint an attorney general to succeed Claude Pollard. These are two elective offices, and it is seldom a governor is called upon to appoint two elective officers during his term.

Two vacancies on the supreme court commission of appeals must be filled. The governor announced some time ago he had submitted to Chief Justice C. M. Cureton and Associate Justices Thomas B. Green and William Pierson a list of probable appointees with a request that they approve it before the commissions actually were listed.

The supreme court justices had not replied, he said, on the 17th. There was talk that the court would refuse to nominate the successors to Judges Luther Nickels and Cole Speer, whose terms expired last June. Judge Speer still is sitting with the commission, while Judge Nickels turned in his resignation. There is a report that the supreme court justices favor retaining Judge Speer on the commission.

Also there has been considerable talk that the two places would be given to Mayor Walter E. Monteith of Houston and Joseph Ryan, city attorney of San Antonio.

Other appointments pending include two members of the industrial accident board, one member of the board of pardons and paroles, a state auditor, three members of the state fish, game and oyster commission, and one member of the board of education.

Puffs A Pipe As She Is Waved At 58
POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Sept. 17.—(UP)—Getting her first permanent wave, Mrs. Josie Forbes, 58, believed a fitting celebration of the event would be to smoke her trusty old pipe.

She asked permission to enjoy her smoke before "lighting up" and when she was assured that it would be all right she settled down into a chair ready for the beautifying operation.

Daily Market Report DALLAS COTTON

The cotton market was comparatively quiet, with trading narrow and featureless. Prices averaged slightly higher during the first half of the session, being attributed to the bullish feature of the Garside crop report on Texas which promoted small trade buying, October in New York selling at 18.62, December 18.95, January, 18.95, and March 19.25, or 12 to 13 points net higher during initial trading. A better Liverpool than was expected was also probably a supporting feature, but on the advance there was realizing and southern hedging which was fairly well absorbed by the continued small trade demand, but there appeared a disposition to await the weekly crop and weather summary. Late in the morning, trading became quiet and on noon calls the list was 9 to 11 points over the previous close. The Garside bureau says the average condition of the cotton crop declined four points during the first 11 days of September.

YOUNGSTERS FORSAKE OLD BELL-RINGING PROFESSION

HALESWORTH, Eng., Sept. 17.—(UP)—The indifference of the young men of Halesworth to the fine art of bell-ringing threatens to bring to an untimely end the town's Society of Bell-Ringers which has been in existence since 1503.

The present team of ten ringers in the church of St. Mary the Virgin totals about 700 years in age. The oldest, Lionel Hammond is 76. He lives three miles away and does his 12 miles each Sunday, walking twice from home to church and back.

John Funchard, 61, a volunteer or "visiting ringer," walks from his home in Bramfield, two miles away, when he is wanted.

The young men of the village hitherto refused to join the society but, a last attempt is being made to keep up the 400 year old tradition.

ELECTRO-MAGNETIC TRUCK SHOWS PERILS FOR TIRES

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17.—(UP)—Everything from a button-hole scissors to bottle caps are among the findings of the electro-magnetic truck devised by the Missouri State Highway Department as a safety measure to lessen blowouts and possible fatal accidents. In a recent run, over twelve miles of road between Jefferson City and Ashland the magnet picked up 120 pounds of blowout perils. Another trip over the same stretch, ten days later, yielded 86 pounds of scrap.

Nearly 700,000 spiders, it has been estimated, would be required to produce a pound of web. A single spider has been known to spin a thread 34,800 yards long.
