Borger Civic Club Protests Action of Invading Rangers

"PUBLICITY BAD FOR A TOWN," SAID

Special Investigator Of Governor There To Make Report

BORGER, Sept. 25.—(UP)—The business men of Borger met this morning to protest against martial law. The meeting was called following information received that General J. F. Wolters was on his way to Borger to make an investigation of the lawless conditions there.

The unfavorable publicity martial law would give the town was the reason given for the protest.

BORGER, Sept. 25.—Brigadier General Jacob Wolters of Houston arrived here today to investigate and report to Governor Moody whether he thinks martial law should be declared in this oil town.

Special Investigator Clem Calhoun and Ranger Captain Hickman met the general in Amarillo and escorted him to Borger. They went into conference immediately.

General Wolters said he probably would not make telephone recommendation to the governor, but would go to Austin to deliver his opinion in person.

PISTOLS DISAPPEAR BORGER, Sept. 25.—A feeling of tenseness prevailed here today as it came that Governor Moody was sending a special representative to consider the possibility of martial law.

Meanwhile, Borger for a time today was wholly in the hands of city and county officers, as the search for clues in the assassination of District Attorney John A. Holmes spread outside the immediate vicinity of this tumultuous oil town.

Special Investigator Clem Calhoun left to meet the Governor's representative in Amarillo tomorrow to escort him to Borger, where he will make a personal investigation, possibly reporting to the governor by telephone.

Four rangers, Gonzaulas, Smith, Kirby and Purvis, who talked with Calhoun until nearly dawn, had gone to Amarillo today to appear before the federal grand jury, it was reported. The grand jury was said to be considering 14 arrests made by rangers in a July cleanup here. Holmes, instrumental in the arrests, was to have appeared before the jury with data he had collected.

Clues Searched The data has disappeared and officers recalled Mrs. Holmes' eyewitness story of her husband's assassination September 13. After Holmes had fallen to the ground in the garage of his home, the assassin bent over the prosecutor's body, according to witnesses. Investigators said the slayer might have been assuring himself that Holmes was dead or extracted papers from his pocket.

As rangers redoubled efforts in search for clues, the possibility of martial law was considered. Some merchants expressed opposition, but others said martial law would benefit the town in the end.

No statements were made by Calhoun or the rangers on the possibility of martial law, but it was known that the prosecutor talked with Governor Moody by telephone from Amarillo yesterday.

Tenseness was indicated in many ways. A pawnshop which had 56 pistols of various calibers in its window the first of the week, yesterday contained only rifles and shotguns. The proprietor, however, said: "I have sold more guns today than any other day." Then he corrected himself: "I mean shotguns and rifles."

SERVICE CLUBS TO HOLD FATHER AND SON BANQUET

Decision to effect through a committee to work jointly with a Rotary club committee to be appointed, a Father and Son banquet during the Rayburn Evangelistic campaign was made at the Lions club today. The committee will confer with that of the Rotary club and report later.

The matter of making a decision of a nature calculated to do a great amount of good for school children of the city came up when the Reverend Stanley Haver, pastor of the Methodist church, spoke of a school nurse. This issue will come up at a later date, also. The Lions club has made notable progress in sponsoring the examination of the eyes of school children enrolled in the public schools of the city.

At a program, at which several guests were present, through the program committee, Charles Yonge and J. B. Wilkinson. Yonge spoke on a division of the Lions code of ethics. Miss Lura Bess Birdwell sang two vocal numbers, one of them the inimitable "La Paloma," in Spanish.

Miss Stella Mae Lanham read two numbers, one of them a humorous bit of rallery of a father to his suddenly "educated" daughter. G. W. Otteson, sang a chorus from "Pagan Song" and followed by a humorous silloquy, "Ask Yer Ma!"

The Reverend James Rayburn spoke briefly. Miss Lillie B. Williams, Lions Club Sweetheart, played all piano accompaniments.

Some Midlanders To Be Fired This Week

Membership rolls of the Midland Chamber of Commerce are being revised to include only those members who pay their dues by the end of this week, or else who make satisfactory arrangements for extension of time. The organization started four different lines of activity last week on farming, road building, oil development and rail rate saving which many business men say will be worth to Midland the entire cost of operating the organization for a year. These activities cost money, directors say, hence, the appeal for delinquent members either to pay up this week, or see the bookkeeper and make a satisfactory arrangement. Some of the delinquents who refuse to pay and who ignore notices are to be dismissed this week from membership. Their names will be presented to the 20 directors for action.

Arrest Man On Old Charge Of Forgery

BOLTON, Texas, Sept. 25.—(UP)—After 13 years, A. B. Crouch, former wholesale grain dealer at Temple, Texas, was arrested in Helensville, New Zealand, on a charge of forging grain bills of lading and obtaining $100,000 from the City National Bank of Temple and an amount believed to be $25,000 from the Farmers State Bank of Temple. He was identified by Sheriff John R. Bigham of Bell County. He was operating in Helensville as a land agent, under the name of John Gray.

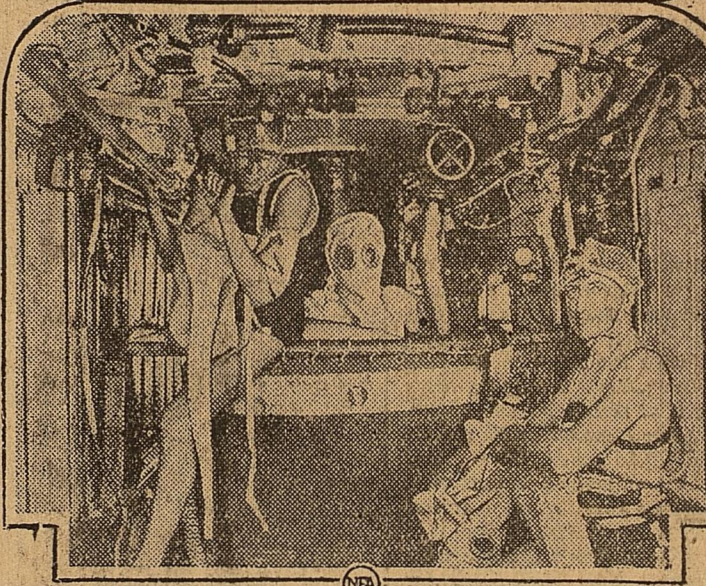

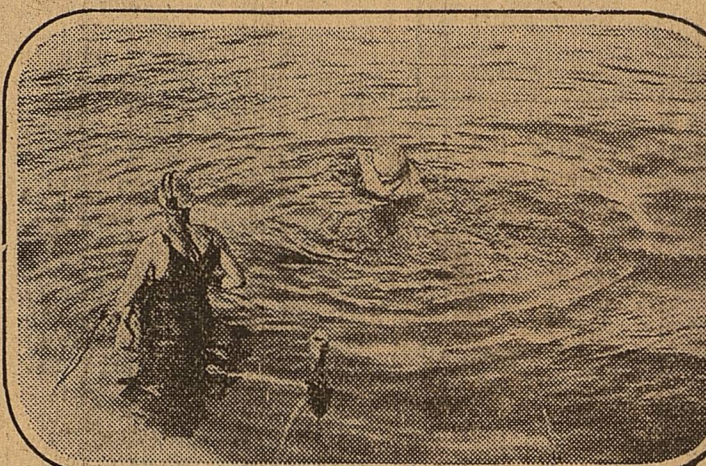

Air Race Ship Here On Way To Coast

Two planes landed at Midland Municipal Airport today. R. C. Woodward of Fort Worth, flying a Challenger-Robin, stopped here on his way to Phoenix. He carried his wife as passenger. Dick Dobb of Cleveland was on his way to Los Angeles. He was flying the ship Gladys O'Donnell, entry in the recent Women's Air Derby, used in her cross-country flight.

Bobbitt Named Attorney General

AUSTIN, Sept. 25.—(P)—Robert Lee Bobbitt, of Laredo, has been appointed attorney general of Texas, succeeding Claude Pollard who recently resigned to engage in the private practice of law. Formal announcement will be made by Governor Moody today on his return from Kerrville. The governor was en route home at noon.

Italians Escape From Submarines

Perhaps there won't be any more submarine disasters. The Italian navy, using two submarines, has successfully demonstrated escape from submerged vessels. A small device which covers the head like a diver's helmet and enables the wearer to come to the surface safely was used. Above, a member of the submerged submarine's crew is shown coming to the surface; below, in the submarine, head-gear attached, waiting to escape from the "stricken" undersea boat.

MIDLAND RANKS TWENTIETH IN WEEK PAST FOR BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED

For the first time this year, Midland ranked last in the Associated Press compilation of the 20 highest ranking cities of the state in building permits issued during the week. With a total of $2,500 for the week and $808,720 for the year, Midland's building permits for the year bested those of only one town, Big Spring, which had a yearly total of $632,006.

Crowd Of 125 Men Listen To Rayburn

With 125 men at the business men's meeting held this morning at the Midland Mercantile, Dr. James Rayburn delivered a logical speech on the story of Peter who denied Christ, as applied to present day denial of Christ.

Announcement was made that the meeting Thursday will be at the Texas Electric Service Company. G. W. Otteson sang both before and after Dr. Rayburn's speech this morning. Three classes of men deny Christ, Dr. Rayburn said, one class being the lowest "seum of the earth"; another being a little higher up, those who love the praise of men better than the praise of God; and the third class being like Peter, those who profess to follow Him, but who deny Him in time of real crisis.

Auto Registrations Ahead Of Last Year

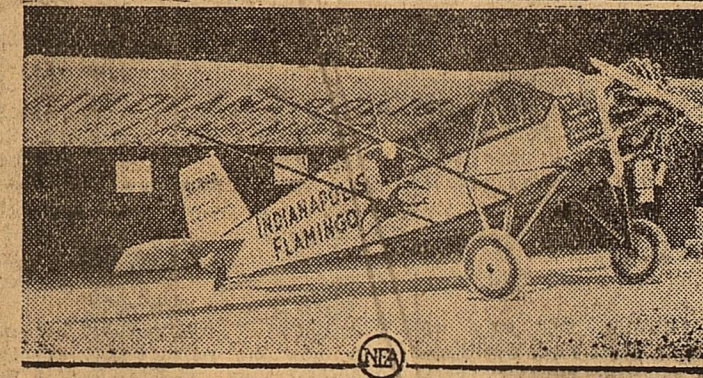

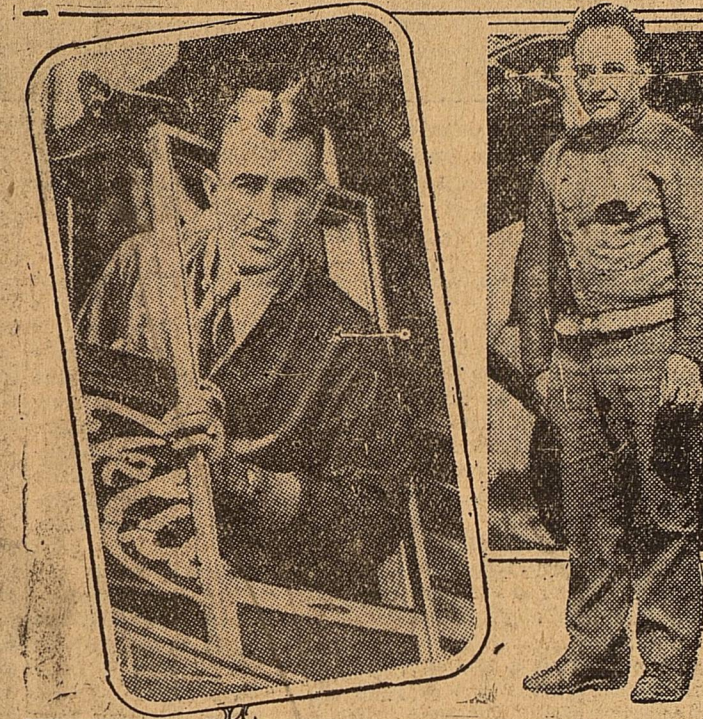

Automobile registration for the year 1929 thus far have already exceeded the total number for 1928, it has been learned from the sheriff's office. The total for 1928 was 2,050, and the total reported up to Tuesday for 1929 was 2,456. This is regarded as proof of the continually increasing population of Midland.

Only Two Buildings Left After Flood

EL PASO, Sept. 25.—(UP)—The town of San Marcial, New Mexico, was swept away by flood waters of the Rio Grande, leaving only two buildings standing, which were housing 45 residents who remained in the town. The damage was estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars. The population of the town was about 1000.

The remaining people have food for two days, but expect to attempt to leave the town on rafts today.

In Indianapolis Endurance Flight

Allen Holder Has Tough Luck With His Calf At Fair, But Midland Poloists Win

Allen Holder, Midland champion roper and rodeo star, mounted on the crack mount, Coondog, finished way down the list in competition at Abilene Tuesday when, as the Abilene News said in this morning's issue, he "drew a mean calf and had trouble in getting him to the ground."

The News gave the following story to the competition, which included the win of the San Angelo Polo Club over Abilene's fast riders. Two Midland malleteers were in the saddle with the winning aggregation:

Crosby Wins Abilene's own world champion cowboy, Bob Crosby, did his stuff Tuesday for the home town fans by grabbing off first money in the calf roping event by a wide margin. The Abilene fans, however, had to stand by and see the invading San Angelo team beat down Abilene's polo club by a score of 8 to 3, at the mixed rodeo-polo performance that consumed most of the afternoon and made up the day's athletic attraction at the West Texas Fair.

Crosby had his calf roped, thrown and tied within 174 seconds after the animal crossed the foul line. The closest approach to this mark was made by Cecil Childers also of Abilene, who finished the same assignment in 24.8 seconds. Childers' roping act was turned in after he had finished playing six chukkers of the full eight-period polo game.

Record Is 11.2 Bob was six seconds over his record of 11.2 seconds, which none other has ever beaten or tied. The calf Crosby drew got off lazily, saving the champ a second or two, but Bob made fast time in tying it. That was where most of the contestants lost lots of precious moments. On the other hand, about a dozen of them registered speedy and fancy lassoing.

Third and fourth prizes were taken by Dick Truett, Oklahoma champion, and by Vance Cotton, respectively. There was only a fifth of a second's difference in their performances—Truett being clocked at 27.6 and Vance at 27.8. Vance lost some good seconds in the pursuit that he made up when he came within shooting distance with his rope coil.

Holder's Luck Allen Holder's horse Coondog was haled by the corral hands as the best animal to go on the field, but Holder drew a mean calf, had trouble getting him to ground, and finished far down the line.

Much Interest Here In West Texas Fair Interest in the West Texas Fair at Abilene, in session this week, is maintained in Midland by reason of the fact that a number of local people are attending it on various days. Allan Holder is entering the various rodeo events with his famous horse, Coon Dog, and also because J. B. Wilkinson, vice-president of the Midland National Bank, is an active director in the fair association.

His son, I. N. Wilkinson, cashier of the bank at Winters, is also a director, as is Jack Wilkinson, who is son of J. B. Wilkinson, now attending school at N. M. M. I., at Roswell. Jack, at the age of 14, was the youngest fair director in the world and attracted wide publicity for Midland.

Contractor Starts Work On New School Contractor J. H. Williamson began the foundation work today on the two-room Mexican school which is to be completed in about six weeks, according to Supt. W. W. Lackey of the city schools.

Mr. Williamson and J. V. Lawrence, school board member, drew up the plans for the building, which will be of brick, and the plans were blue-printed by Clinton Dunagan. Superintendent Lackey states that there are more than 20 scholastics among the Mexican and negroes here, which, if they were enrolled at present time, would make the total of city school attendance pass the 1,200 mark.

FRUSTRATES MEN WHO PLAN ENTRY INTO "M" STORE

Merchants should observe two cautions in order to protect themselves and insure more protection to the night policeman, W. T. Blake-way, night officer, said after reporting a Monday night frustration of a burglarizing of M-Store No. 2. "If merchants will not pile their goods boxes at the rear of their stores after opening up new merchandise, thieves will not have places in which to hide when the watchman passes by; and if they will either observe the custom of letting their light burn in their establishments each night or else never leaving it burning, he will know whether or not anything is wrong and can, therefore, better safeguard their property."

Blake-way saw a torchlight moving around as men picked their way around a pile of goods boxes behind the M-Store. He had been attracted to the place by a sound. He knew by the scurry to the safety of the boxes indicated a burglary attempt. As he advanced on the hiding place of the men they dodged from behind their shelter and ran down the alley. He fired at them, but could not continue because of danger of firing into a cross street.

"Merchants can save themselves money and possibly save an officer's life," the night man said. "Hidden burglars are hard to find, and are sometimes bad men to deal with. An officer should have reasonable cooperation of those he serves if he is to be expected to discharge his duties."

FAITH EXTOLLED, UNBELIEF DANGER, SAYS EVANGELIST

All the categories of social, religious, political, economic and other sciences were delved into by Evangelist James Rayburn Tuesday night when he spoke to the tabernacle crowd on "What Must I Do to Be Saved?"

His answer, the universally known and read "Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and Thou Will Be Saved," applies to any question asked by man, not only that one asked of Paul and Silas by the terrified jailer who, awakened by the convulsion of the earth following a terrible series of quakes, thought his prisoners were gone and that his head must pay forfeit.

There are many questions in life which call for answers, the evangelist said. He listed a series of perplexing problems which daily arise in the selection of one's business career, marriage relationship, and other activities.

"None of these compare with the all important question of the salvation of the soul, however," the minister said. "One hundred years from now there will be no questions of earthly things from you who sit in this audience all questions will have ceased. Things of the eternal will then be before you."

Characters listed by the evangelist, asked primary, not secondary questions. They did not resort in times of duress and mortal terror to evasive questioning, but went directly to the point of their sought out meaning.

Superficial pomp has nothing to do with one's eventual asking of the

AMBUSHED RETURNING FROM RAID

Nine Held By Police Following Fight Early Today

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 25.—(UP) Charles Stevens, prohibition agent who was shot from ambush this morning, died at noon today. Nine persons are held by police for questioning in connection with the shooting.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 25.—(P)—While Charles Stevens, veteran dry agent, and ambushing victim, laid critically ill of bullet wounds today, combined efforts of police, prohibition detectives and the sheriff's department had brought eight people under questioning in connection with the shooting.

One man, said to be a police character, has been jailed. Stevens was shot early today in a pitched battle between six or eight people and two prohibition agents near here. The second agent, Pat Murphy, routed the ambushers and is believed to have wounded two men. He was not injured, not injured.

Pedro Jardo, Mexican, was also critically injured. Stevens, Pat Murphy and R. H. Hirtzel were returning from a dry raid in Atascosa when they were stopped by a woman whom they gave a lift. A short distance further, they were stopped by another woman who was picking up cabbage which had fallen from her basket.

As the prohibition car slowed down, the ambushers opened fire. Stevens was the only agent hit. The two women and Jardo are held for investigation.

Cowboy Band Will Spend Night Here

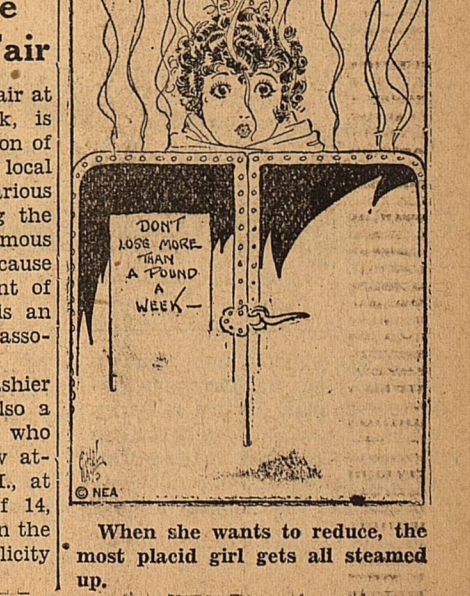

Twenty-nine Simmons University cowboys will spend tonight in Midland enroute to El Paso. The Cowboy Band will play in that city tomorrow or next day. The Simmons University band, which was the official Hoover Delegation band at the Inaugural ceremonies March 4, is the most popular and well-known school band in the country.

It was thought that Midland would hear the cowboys at this time, but other engagements make it impossible for them to play tonight.

PAVING BIDS OPEN

Word was received from the city hall this morning that bids on paving provided for in the April election will be offered to lowest bidders, Friday.

ROGERS IS RIGHT

Will Rogers, at Clovis, N. M., yesterday, struck the keynote of public concern about the recent T. A. T. airplane crash.

It was the suspense that made the sensation, said Mr. Rogers. The search was prolonged. Day after day it continued, and the newspapers were filled with it. People speculated about it. As soon as the wreck was found, the story was quickly ended. Had the crash occurred in plain sight of the world, it would have been a one-day's sensation, then a closed incident.

There was no disposition in any quarter to make the T. A. T. crash any worse than the facts justified. It was the mystery, the search, that made the story draw out from day to day.

The crash of that ship does not prove aviation hazardous as compared with other modes of travel. There are automobile wrecks every day, numbers of them. Train wrecks, ship wrecks, though few, are not unknown.

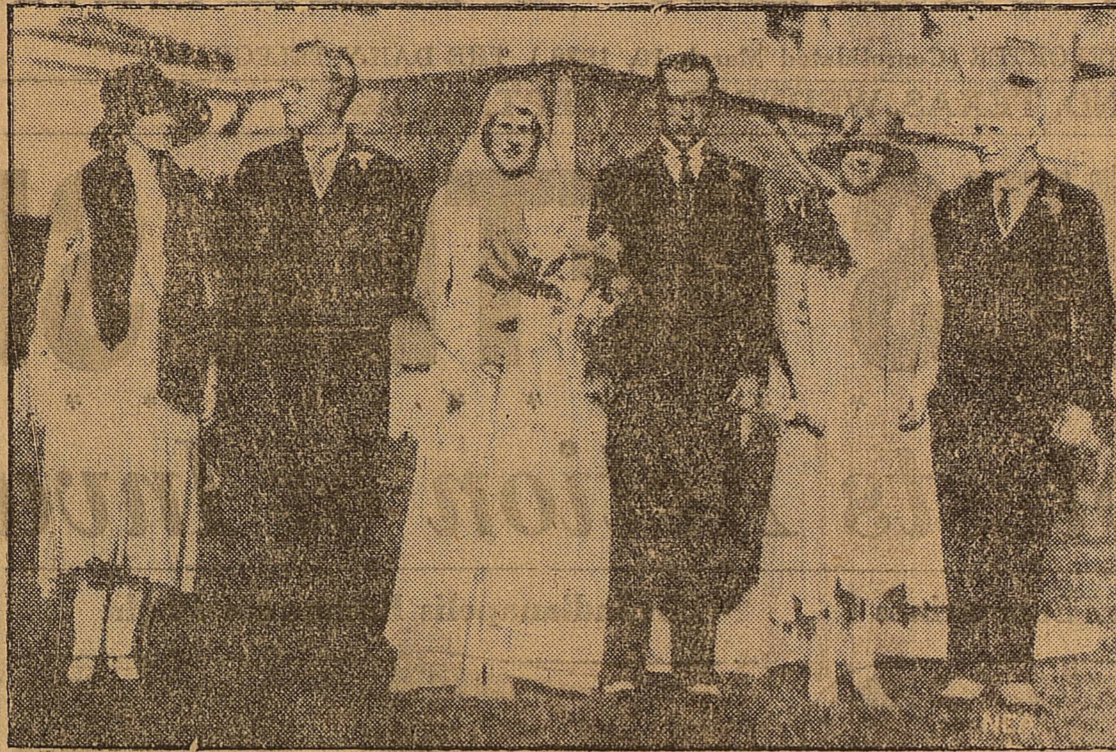

It does seem that a pilot ought to be able to avoid hitting the side of a mountain whose peak was only 10,000 feet high. He should have dodged it or flown over it.

It does seem that a pilot, flying in country where there were hazards of terrain, should have been well above them; should have been up to 12,000 or 14,000 feet, even if this took him above the clouds and obliged him to fly by instruments.

But the fact remains, passenger transport planes are making their schedules day in and day out all over the United States, flying a total of millions of miles per year, and only to one ship, now and then, is anything happening to mar their safety record.

As Mr. Rogers so well puts it: "When one can eat breakfast in eastern New Mexico and dinner in Los Angeles, no one can have any more doubt about aviation. It is here, not coming."—El Paso Herald.

They'll Be Busy, Thrifty and Self-Sufficient; Florence to Do Cooking

By JULIA BLANSHARD, NEA Service Writer.

PLAINVILLE, Conn., Sept. 25.—John Coolidge and his bride will start their married life in an early American setting, quite in keeping with the early American traditions of genuineness and simplicity that produced both the Coolidge and the Trumbull families.

"Mrs. Coolidge is giving us the loveliest early American furniture for the bedroom," Florence told me, her fresh young face alight with happiness.

"Mother is making us a present of Governor Winthrop's own desk, a very early American piece," she continued. "And I have picked the pine tree pattern of silver."

Aided in Picking Furniture Along with the high boys, four-poster bed and two rocking chairs that the former First Lady of the Land chose, there are simple frill-of-curtains, old-fashioned patch-work quilts and replicas of old Colonial hooked rugs. "Mother and Mrs. Coolidge helped me pick out most of the rest of my furniture," Florence said.

Seeing Florence, this type of setting would seem most appropriate. The fondness of the town-folk, who all call her "Florence," the way the pleasant-faced, middle-aged maid who opened the door spoke of her, the way she and John went to the minister to make wedding arrangements instead of summoning him to come to the governor's daughter—all these bespeak the wholesome simplicity of the most famous September bride.

Rooms filled with gifts attest her popularity. They have come from all over the United States, two or three dozen daily for the past month.

"Don't Look for Presents. We have received several lovely rugs," Florence began, listing some outstanding gifts. "One is a lovely Chinese blue one, two are Persian orientals. We've had several handsome lamps, vases, some exquisite linen, pictures, china, silver candlesticks—I just can't remember them all."

"But the funniest presents are cook books from all over creation. I guess everybody's worried because I'm going to do the cooking and have admitted that I don't know very much about it."

Florence's young laughter rang out gaily. She really meant to start learning before now, she admitted. But she has been too busy. She has lacked neither bread nor pies, as yet. But she intends to learn, and a lot of other things about house-keeping, too.

"I am going to do all my marketing, run the house on a budget, do the washing, ironing, and even scrubbing," she declared, authoritatively.

She'll Be Own Manicurist I asked her what about her hands, and her nails, which are beautifully kept. She looked at them. "I can do them, too," she said, quite as though she already were her own manicurist.

John and Florence chose their four-room apartment in the Westville section of New Haven partly because of its nearness to an excellent marketing section.

John is coming home to lunch every day. So Florence will cook three meals a day, including a seven o'clock breakfast to start John off right.

"I think keeping house for someone you care for is a real career," Florence said. "I have never wanted to work outside, the way so many girls do nowadays. Anyhow," she smiled, "I know I won't have time for more than keeping house. And that will always come first."

House-Dress in Trousseau Florence has some gay little house-dresses in her trousseau which proves she means business. She looked so young in her soft blue jersey sports suit that as she talked joyously of such mundane things as marketing for carrots and spinach and scrubbing floors she seemed like a little girl playing make-believe house.

Florence's wedding gown is her first dress with a train. It is a lovely white satin princess one, with a very long court train, simple, elegant, with the Duchess lace veil its one decoration. Her going-away costume is of Hunter's green velvet, a three-piece ensemble, with a little green turban to match. Other pretty things in her trousseau include a couple of rich blue flat crepe frocks, one with a lace collar is ecru.

John and Florence's ideas of thrift will extend to their entertaining, for it is to be economy all along the line if they are to live on John's salary. "And we are," Florence insists. "I have always kept within my own allowance."

"We aren't going to lead a social life," she continued. "Neither of us likes night clubs or formal dinners out. We'd both rather eat at home. And I think it will be the most fun in the world having dinner parties right in our own home. Both John and I want the same kind of home life our parents have."

SAYS IT WAS A BIG SURPRISE

Young Business Woman in Charge Coffee Shop, Naylor Hotel, San Angelo — Praises Orgatone

"I have gained wonderfully in health on three bottles of Orgatone, and feel like my old self again," said Miss Billie Preston, in charge of the coffee shop, Naylor Hotel.

"I was in a very much rundown condition," she explained, "from stomach disturbances, and most everything I would eat gave me trouble. My food would sour on my stomach and form gas that made me miserable for hours. My nerves were all on edge so I got little rest at night and when morning came I was most as tired as I was when I went to bed. I had headaches most all the time and felt so wretched and no-account I hardly had any life or energy left to do anything."

"I heard so many people telling about the good that Orgatone had done them that I decided to try it. The way it took hold of my troubles was one grand surprise and I hardly know how to begin telling of all the benefits I have derived from using it. I can say, though, that it just made a new person out of me. The gas has stopped forming in my stomach, my complexion is clearing up, I can eat anything I want without trouble, I sleep well at night and feel well all the time."

Genuine Orgatone may be bought at Midland at the Midland Drug Company.—Adv.

REPORTER-TELEGRAM STAGES WORD DUEL WITH APOSTLE OF BLUE BACK SPELLER; "CLOGGED DICE" WAS ISSUE

The Reporter-Telegram vs. the old "Blue Back Speller."

Such was the case which disturbed the lazily envisioned days of a vacation spent by Fred Wemple in Blossom, Texas, a small town near Dallas.

It all happened when Wemple and Dr. J. C. Marshall fell a-talking of the various merits of their respective towns. The doctor boasts his ability to spell any word in the blue back spelling authority of the days gone, still maintaining that that is still the leading authority in spite of revised dictionaries, encyclopedias and the like.

"Take your newspaper," the doctor said. "I can spell any word ever used there, and will lay a bet on it."

Fred Wemple looked through the pages of the particular issue of The Reporter-Telegram he held in his hand.

"All right," he said, "here is a word I have never seen before. 'Cogged Dice.' How do you spell 'cogged'?"

The doctor thought a minute. "There's no such word," he said. "The newspaper means to say 'cooked dice.'"

"I will take your bet," Wemple said. "You can't spell 'cogged.'"

The doctor maintained there was no such word and would never risk his reputation for spelling ability on it, Wemple said after reaching here. Wemple came into the office of the newspaper plant and explained the matter.

"Is there such a word, or is the doctor right?" he asked.

A staff writer was called, the one who had turned the story back to the machines. This man remembered having seen the word several years back, but was not certain where. First dictionaries consulted failed to show the word. An old dictionary, however, proved that the word, now obsolete, means "fraudulent."

The staff writer finally remembered that he had run across the word in Bulwer-Lytton's "Last Days of Pompeii," and went to the library for confirmation.

In chapter VIII of the first book of the famous novel, the following chapter title was given: "Arbaeus Cogs His Dice and Wins the Game."

The title is at that particular place in the novel where the young and doubtful Apaecides knocks at the door covered with strange and mystic wrought inscriptions and characters unfamiliar to the eye.

Towards the close of the novel, when the first rumble of disaster was beginning to be heard from the crest of Vesuvius, the word occurs more specifically. At the fashionable feast of the Senator Diomed, Clodius, a gambler, drew as his prize a pair of cogged dice, signifying that he was not always one who played for the love of the sport found in the cubes, but who might be expected to use various unfair methods to win.

The use of cogged dice brought out the following footnote of the famous English novelist, whose conversation is still recommended to the young reader:

"Several cogged dice were found in Pompeii, showing that some of the virtues known today may be new, but that it is quite clear that all vices are ancient."

Now that the doctor is found to be wrong when he took a stand that there was no such word as "cogged dice," preferring to believe that The Reporter-Telegram should have used the word "cooked," several of the local jokers have been busy.

"Once upon a time," Aubrey S. Legg, district manager of the Texas Electric Service Company, started out in a serial bedtime story voice, "a postal employee, dressed in his uniform, stopped off in Blossom en route to Dallas, and the sheriff shot him, thinking he was a Union soldier."

And ad infinitum—Fred Wemple will go to Blossom again next year just to collect his bet.

The mortality rate of airplane pilots during the first six months of 1929 in contract mail operations was one to every 1,063,293 miles flown.

"I Am Innocent!" Maude Raines Says

EDITOR'S NOTE: In jail, in fights, drinking whiskey and taking dope, getting shot with buckshot and a .30-30, these are some of the things related in foregoing installments of the life of Maude Raines, now Maude West, who wrote the story behind bars of the county jail here. The woman is out on bond awaiting trial in connection with an alleged diamond robbery here. The story is reproduced as written, a copy of which is on file in The Reporter-Telegram office. The case aroused interest when the woman refused to have an attorney, maintaining that she would plead her own case, and ordering sent over to her cell a volume of revised criminal statutes.

By MAUDE RAINES.

After all these things and I had joined my babies, I said I would never part with them and I have not, but then the doctor ordered my little Charles removed out of the city. Bronchial T. B. was sure to set in. He was 9 years old and weighed 46 pounds. Oh, my heart ached. My sweet baby boy had to go.

So I had saved enough to pay my way there, so I sent my three babies back to Tyler. So on Thursday, at eleven o'clock, I put them on a bus for Tyler, wired ahead for friends to meet them there, and at Friday, 12 o'clock, I left for San Antonio afoot. I walked 20 miles that evening. I had one nickel. I slept in a church that night. Oh my feet hurt. Next day I walked about 30 miles. And a salesman picked me up.

I slept Saturday night on a haystack. The salesman bought my supper. He was very nice. I had my baby's card and their pictures and that was proof enough. I started out Sunday morning so tired and worried, but I was determined. I was picked up that day 12 miles east of Waco and carried on to Tyler, when I got there I had to have help to get my tiny shoes off. I was in bed three days.

Baby was all right.

So I picked peas through July and August, got $3 a day for bread for my babies. So in September I went to the cotton field and picked cotton all fall and then last winter I worked for Jackson Sipe company as an office girl until the Fat Stock Show at Ft. Worth.

So I went to the Fat Stock Show and caught the measles. Then I went to Lubbock and met my other trouble, my present trouble.

Jail house bound, yes. I try to be good, but now you know trials like this cause criminals. I try to govern my temper, but when I get out I feel like I will go away where no human will ever see me again.

(Fresh thought.)

When I quit him for murder while he was out on bond (the woman here refers to one of her husbands) he caught me on the road and carried me a way to the Red river bottoms and locked me in a vacant house and I stayed there nine days with not a bit to eat and very little water.

clean place. Not the place of confinement, that hurts me, but the charge.

What will the good western people think of me. I came out here to live and forget, but now where will I go and how can I forget and forgive. No, no.

Apes Make Monkeys Out Of Policemen

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 25.—(AP)—A one-time prisoner in the Breckenridge park zoo is making monkeys out of the police force here, Police Commissioner Wright says.

Twenty apes from India broke jail here. Banana laid traps enticed all but one of the "culprits" back into their cage.

What Park Commissioner Jacob Rubiola describes as the world's most energetic monkey still is at large after two weeks of roaming.

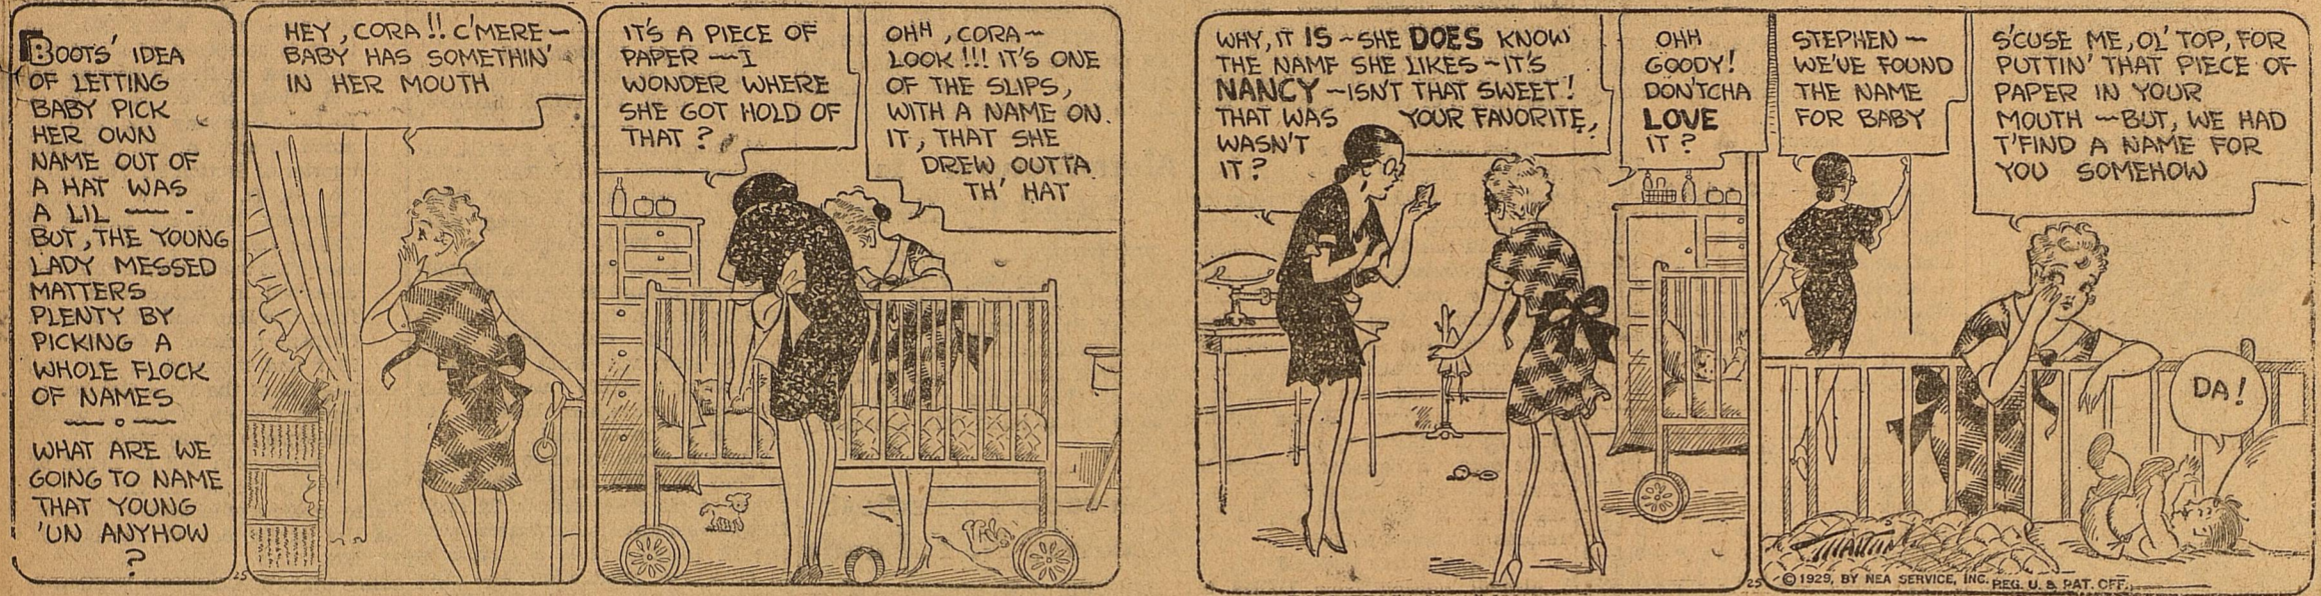

Answering frantic telephone calls from Alamo Heights, north of town the riot squad rushed out to catch the ferocious ape said to be parked on a woman's doorstep. While the police were still in Alamo Heights, the monkey aroused a housewife in Harlandale, in South San Antonio.

known as "The Border Way" will send a motorcade of at least 100 automobiles to El Paso for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, October 24, 25 and 26, according to announcement received here today from H. Wren, secretary of the association with headquarters at Del Rio. The party will arrive in El Paso on the night of October 23 and plans to hold the third monthly meeting of the organization on the morning of October 24. Every city and town between El Paso and San Antonio is expected to be represented in this party. It is expected also that other highways leading into El Paso will organize motorcades for the trip into the convention city.

BIRMINGHAM AND DALLAS ALL SET FOR DIXIE OPENER TODAY

BOTH CLUBS ARE PRONOUNCED IN GOOD TRIM FOR GO; INTEREST IN SOUTHERN CITY

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 25.—(P)—The arrival last night of the Dallas Steers accompanied by a vociferous delegation of citizens found the Birmingham Barons, Southern league champions, in readiness for their second try at a Dixie series championship within two years.

The Steers were pronounced in top form when the Texas contingent docked at the terminal station shortly after 11 o'clock. Manager Milton Stock pushed his charges off to bed and a good night's sleep before the initial game today, the result of which it is predicted will have a heavy bearing on the way the series will go.

Dobbs Calls On Vet Johnny Dobbs, the baronial ace, will depend upon the experience and master mind of old Ray Caldwell, who has been under every kind of fire, known to moundsman in his 20 years of pitching up from the bushes and through the major league, in the initial game.

Opposing Caldwell probably will be Whitey Glazner who will be serving them up to his former mates. Glazner played with the Barons and against them along other league fronts and their every whim is known to him. This will be a big factor in his favor.

An earlier story, coming out of the Birmingham camp to the Dallas News said:

Either Sarge George Connally or Charlie Barnabe will be on the hill for Dallas when the Steers take on the Southern Association champion Birmingham Barons in the opening game of the Dixie Series here Wednesday. Of the two Connally is the most favored. Skipper Milton Stock indicated while en route to the Barons lair Tuesday, Manager Johnny Dobbs of the Barons is also reported as uncertain about his starting hurlers. It lies between Bob Hasty and Bill Ludolph, two right-handers.

Interest here is at high pitch and a record-breaking crowd is expected to watch the opener of the annual Dixieland classic.

Frasier Out Victor Frasier, ace of the Steer staff, is considered definitely out of the series so far as Birmingham is concerned. His injured arm is responding well to treatment, but it is not thought possible that he can be used before Saturday's game in Dallas.

Stock planned to let his athletes sleep late Wednesday morning in an effort to shake off the weariness of the long trip. He plans to have all hands out at the Barons park early in the afternoon for a long batting drill before the game. Jim Moore Tuesday reported his injured knee was feeling much better and there is a chance that Stock may insert him in the lineup Wednesday. Stock has not made any definite decision about that, though, had as he wants to use his big slugger. He intends to look Jim over in batting practice. If Moore looks okay he'll get in the game. Otherwise he'll be out of the series, as Stock intends to certify Red Harvel if Jim's knee still continues to bother him.

Polywogs Take On Varsity Next Week FORT WORTH, Sept. 25.—Coaches Dutch Meyer and Hobo Carson, freshman mentors at Texas Christian University, still have a squad of more than 50 men reporting daily for football practice. Hereafter there has been only about 30 or 40 who would stick past the heavy grind of the first week's practice.

Fully half of the freshman squad at the Frog school is composed of former high school stars, and from every indication the first-year team will be the best in the history of the school.

First scrimmage between Freshmen and Varsity will be held next Monday, a regular feature of the training program.

Southwest Conference rules provide that the freshman team from each school is allowed only three intercollegiate contests. The Polywogs have scheduled but one game definitely—with Terrell Prop of Dallas in November. Negotiations are under way for games with Decatur Baptist College and Weatherford Junior College for the other two games.

Reduced Tax Rate Bexar Is Announced SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 25.—(P)—The new Bexar tax rate for the fiscal year 1929-30 will be 10 cents less on each $100 valuation than last year, according to figures released by Walter S. Kendall, county auditor.

The new rate, based on a report of the board of equalization, calls for a levy of 7 cents on each $100 valuation for the budget, 25 cents for the general fund, 15 cents for the road and bridge fund, and 37 cents on the hospital, jury and outstanding bonded indebtedness funds.

Great Britain uses about 122,000,000 tons of coal and lignite annually, Germany at least 100,000,000 tons, and the United States 269,000,000 tons.

Girl Trainers And Elephants With Circus

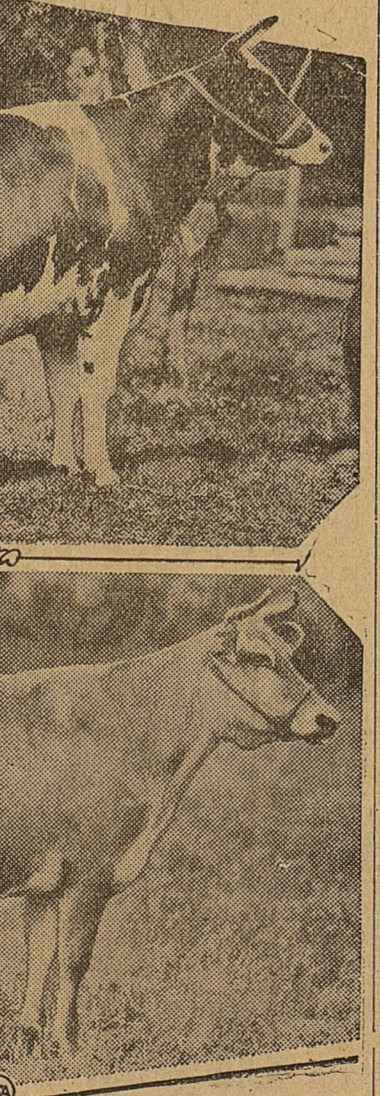

Everyone knows that the elephant is an intelligent animal and the fact that the elephants perform better for women trainers than for men, proves it beyond a doubt, when one looks at the girl trainers with the Al G. Barnes Circus-Dixie Whittaker and Rhea Jack—it is easy to understand it all, for the girls are very, very attractive, as you will agree when the world's largest wild animal show comes to Midland Thursday, Oct. 3 with all of its spanglared stars and menagerie of 1200 trained jungle beasts. The elephants take leading parts in "Alladin and the Parade of Gold," edition 1929, and the most beautifully arrayed spectacle ever seen in America, and the wardrobe and trappings represent a huge outlay of money, as well as the best work of the nation's leading costume designers.

Coyle Buys Three Polo Ponies Here Sale of three polo ponies to G. H. Coyle was made this week by Elmer Jones of Midland, one of them, a valuable dun colored animal of the Bryant stock, bringing a fancy price, according to reports. The horses will be delivered to Mr. Coyle at Brownwood where he trains them for eastern polo horse markets.

MEXICO HAS LEPERS MEXICO CITY, Mex., Sept. 24.—(P)—El Universal says that in view of the fact that the government's situation does not allow for creation of a leper asylum the lepers, presently at large in the republic will be obliged to submit to a medical process removing the danger of contagion.

Champ Cows Believe In Mass Production

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Two cows stand out in the dairy world as the champion producers of their class. One is Queen Bessie Pietertje Ormsby, Holstein-Friesian, owned by R. V. Rasmussen of Deerfield, Ill., and the other is Sophie's Emily, a Jersey, owned by W. R. Kenan, Jr., of Lockport, N. Y.

raked two between the posts in that round, but they were immediately annulled when Lithicum and Woods tabulated in the fifth.

Fast Polo The sixth and the seventh were scoreless, but Henry Widmer of Abilene broke the ice again in the eighth after Luther Weeks had tapped the wooden sphere into position. Nasworthy of the invading contingent was hit between the eyes by an opponent's mallet in the seventh inning, but he was not seriously injured.

question, "What must I do to be saved," the revivalist exclaimed. The leader of the Assyrian hosts had leprosy and was not even given a personal notice when informed that his salvation lay in immersing himself in curative waters of a certain fountain. His faith was not outstanding, but eventual cure lay in that action. Others must some day find the same problem staring him in the face.

Inconsequent questions used as a bulwark against conviction of religion constitutes a lack of faith, sometimes forcibly held to. "Why should one ask where Cain got his wife, or such questions? What good does it do to ask a question which cannot be answered, and how intrinsic an argument does this failure to answer questions result in to him who desires to keep away from the church?"

Prayer Meetings Make Good Report

In 21 prayer meetings held in Midland homes this morning, there were 145 present, and 121 prayers were given. District No. 3, with Mrs. G. H. Butler, superintendent, was 100 per cent throughout. Places for Thursday's meetings are as follows:

Northern Glasscock Gets 4th Producer

Production in the fourth well of the new northern Glasscock county pool was encountered early this week when the Sun Oil Company's No. 1 Phillips filled with 1,800 feet of pay at a depth of 2,250 feet. Reports received here were to the effect that the hole would be deepened to about 2,290 feet before testing. This well is located 330 feet from the west line and 2,310 feet from the south line of section 14, block 33, T. & P. Railway Co. survey.

AIRMAIL SOON AS BEACONS ERECTED SAYS A DISPATCH

Midland's air-minded population is interested in an Associated Press dispatch from Los Angeles, quoting an announcement from Walter F. Brown, postmaster general of the United States, that another trans-continental airmail route, via Atlanta, Birmingham, Dallas and Phoenix, is to be established when installation of beacon lights is made along the route.

"That means Abilene will be on the line," Mayor Hayden of Abilene said to an Abilene News reporter this morning. "One of the prime factors in the decision of the board of city commissioners to put the airport amendment and $100,000 bond issue before voters of Abilene, last spring, was the practical certainty that another trans-continental airmail line would come soon, and probably this way. Flying conditions govern travel by air, and the route over the Bankhead airway in Texas offers the finest flying conditions in the United States, as the records abundantly show."

Airmail routing from Dallas to Phoenix in all probability would be over the Bankhead line through Fort Worth, Abilene, Sweetwater, Big Spring, Midland, Pecos and El Paso, for some of the following reasons: Like the Bankhead highway, the Bankhead airway is further along in development than any other east-west route through Texas; Texas Air Transport, Inc., already is in operation with the only east-west daily schedule, flying the Bankhead route;

Airport development along this route is farther advanced, and on a larger scale, than anywhere else in Texas. Dallas, Fort Worth and El Paso have completely equipped ports and Abilene and Big Spring are soon to enter the AIA class, with high-type night-lighting equipment including beacons;

High lines for beacons follow the Bankhead nearly to El Paso; The towns are larger, promising more traffic, and already are acute-air-minded.

An organization already is working for airmail service from Dallas to Phoenix, heading up in Frank H. Hitchcock, former postmaster general. Hitchcock now lives at Phoenix. The association which he heads has been working for an extension westward from Louisville via Nashville, Memphis and Little Rock to Dallas.

Daily Cotton Market Dallas Report

The early feature in cotton market was irregular trading. Especially in old and new October position in New York due to tenders in the option, and the old contract opening lower, while that of the new was 14 points higher with later months 9 to 11 higher. The somewhat better Liverpool. Continued rains in the eastern belt and tropical storm situation were supporting features of the early market, promoting covering and some trade buying during initial trading, with October old in New York selling at 18.42, or 17 net higher; December 18.75; January 18.73 and March 18.98. Early October tenders estimated about 35,000 bales, while later advises indicated that there were 70,000 bales old and 40,000 new, all apparently absorbed by buying against sales in the later deliveries with the differences in the later options narrowing as if being stopped. At noon the list was unchanged to 10 points over Tuesdays' close with the market quiet and narrow.

Largest Air Sign On Snyder Ranch

SNYDER, Texas, Sept. 25.—(P)—The 9-R Ranch, west of Snyder, boasts probably the largest air designation sign in the country. Each letter in the sign is 25 feet in width and 30 feet high. The ranch is the property of the Reynold Brothers Cattle Company.

The new field gives Scurry county four good stopping places for air fans.

HOORAY! AL IS COMING WITH DAVEY LEE IN "SAY IT WITH SONGS"

Al Jolson, the world's greatest entertainer, comes to the Ritz theater Sunday, next, in a Warner Bros. latest all-talking, all-singing picture, "Say It With Songs." "Say It With Songs" is a personality-plus picture and packing personality into pictures is Al Jolson's particular gift. Call it fervor, magnetism, luck, wit—what you will—this strange ability to electrify everybody everywhere belongs to just one person—Jolson!

There is probably more of Jolson in "Say It With Songs" than in either of his other talks. In some inexplicable way he dominates every one he touches while a picture is in process of production and the talking-camera and the taking-camera together catch all the brilliant high lights, and tender by-lights of his remarkable voice and presence.

"While the early scenes of "Say It With Songs" were being recorded, the same difficulties that have beset the early scenes of "The Jazz Singer" and "The Singing Fool," appeared. The crew and cast became so enthralled during Jolson's first song that business practically stopped.

"It always takes a little time for us to get used to working while Al sings," Director Lloyd Bacon explained by a bystander. "I'll never get used to it," a camera man remarked, "but I hope I will know enough, not altogether to forget what I am doing, when that same scene is shot again!"
